mind you, not only the Jews, but also the Germans, which makes it clear from the outset that it is not anti-Semitism or religious narrow-mindedness, but only the desire to keep the uncomfortable competition of foreigners at bay. At Charles Fielding & Co. (29 Poppius Court, Fleet Street, London E. ©.) is A leaflet costing only one penny has just been published, which the title: "The Jews, Germans and other Foreigners among us. A warning and an appeal to the electors of Great Britain". and "the dangers" which the English faced from this foreign invasion migration threaten, portrayed in very dark colors. The Jan

The number of Germans living in London is estimated at 80,000, in the whole of England estimated at 250,000, while the Pahl of all Jews and foreigners

e million; at a

In another place, of course, 150,000 or 200,000 Germans are Speech, who are supposed to live in London. These are obviously over= expulsions, but can poor Germans and Jews.

not sufficiently discouraged from emigrating to England

From leading German and Jewish sources in London

There are repeated demonstrations in this regard, but a unfortunately still do not seem to be sufficiently taken into account become." .

The above shows that in England the Jews are certainly not wants more, and that from a certain side, which is without judgment, Germans and Jews are thrown into the same pot. This is completely wrong, as has already been sufficiently demonstrated in this book, but we find here once again that the Jew loves to

to sail under the German flag and to identify with the Germans.

The German shall be held responsible for all the misdeeds and shameful acts of Judaism. One can see that, the more

The sooner one breaks away from this society, the sooner the German Name will return to its former good reputation.

Jews in Russia.

A landowner is about to harvest; suddenly he is faced with ft his best horses stolen. He immediately turns to the man of God of the children of Israel in his district and, behold,
He is omniscient. He knows in whose hands the stolen
The estate is located and ensures that the landowner's animals are kept in return for a large sum of money
This happened last year near Düna= burg, and then someone should say that a rabbi is not a completely an extremely useful member of human society.

This way of the children of Israel, collecting taxes from the natives Raising money is common practice in Russia. One can see that there they have already made much more progress than in our country, where there is still an artificial stock exchange mechanism is needed to select the peoples from:

8 15*

– 228 –

In view of such facts, one must, however,
A blush of shame rises in the face when one hears that the Russians fo prefer to get rid of fellow citizens, and one should really seriously consider whether it would not be appropriate to help the poor, unfortunate persecuted Jews a permanent home in Germany–
to found a country. |

I now read some excerpts from the Riga Daugava– Newspaper from May=June last year follows:

– On the Jewish question, the “Kiesn” learns that at present a
An inquiry is being conducted into how in many areas
Jews came into illegal possession of farmland, that they now live among the peasants, simply as usurers and "businessmen ", corrupting and ruining their surroundings. Against This phenomenon is now to be strictly controlled by law-

be gone. | |

%

From the reports submitted to the Government of the Province on concerning the settlement of foreign Hebrew craftsmen in the cases where the craftsmen in question were in breach of the prescribed Trade certificates were provided, but after the Examination proved that they do not understand the craft, - it has
It has been shown that the rules laid down by the elders or guild masters-required certificates about the knowledge of the examinees mostly highly are vague and imprecisely worded, which means that in the Gou-Parliamentary government difficulties in deciding the question on the right of residence of the Hebrews, for settlement-craftsmen employed. a ts 15 that due to the § 12 of the Guild Statutes of the City of Riga for each guild a befpecial commission of experts exists which, if necessary should be carried out to estimate and inspect the work of craftsmen-
In the future, if there is reason, suspicion against to foster one of the Hebrew craftsmen living in Riga, and it proves necessary to subject it to an examination, this Hebrews to the elder of the respective guild, so that he is examined by a trustworthy local master, where-for the work done by the elder under the supervision of the master-man to the above-mentioned commission, which after Be-inspection of the same is obliged to sign a document signed by the members-to issue a protocol containing the description and estimate the quality of the work, as well as the report of the commission must, whether the certified Hebrew craftsman has sufficiently to be recognized as a master or journeyman, whereupon the said protocol to me for further forwarding to the governments-Government, enclosing a report on the settlement of the Hebrews is to be submitted.

| - After the "Minuta", the provisions in be enacted, according to which no person of Jewish descent may

-

=; 999.

manage a newspaper or magazine published without preventive censorship or may publish. .

– The Chinese government has, like the “Hop. Bp.” addressed to our embassy in Peking with the request that Russian General Staff officers to be transferred as teachers for the a few years of existence, now reorganized and significantly expanded expanded military school in Tientsin, which until now had mainly German Officers whose contracts are now expiring.

– 2.11

The last note is very interesting. Until now, German officials were at the military establishments in Tientsin as instructors and now the Chinese government turns to the hostile:

Germany asks for instructors. How can this be solved Riddle? I believe I am able to give the solution: This is one of the “diplomatic successes” of German history. sent Mr. von Brandt. I do not believe that the Chinese Government, when it made this application, knew that Mr. Brandt was a Jew, but she did describe his actions as Jewish efforts, just as they accomplished the same with the Jew Mandl

The German officers mentioned in the note and whose contract expired, had Mr. von Brandt at the big General Staff, in the Ministry of War and elsewhere in a state of indictment It is self-evident that the Chinese government Officers who are hostile to the ambassador and who are also hostile to the ambassador, cannot get along; she will thereby brought into a bad situation, and since Mr. von Brandt had already fallen out with a number of instructors has, it is understandable that she is fed up with the quarrels and now requests Russian officers. –

Here I will quote some other newspaper articles:

The “Nordd. Allg. Ztg.” takes from the “Deutsche Odesaer Ztg.” the following social views prevailing in Russia in a peculiar way illuminating public announcement of the Rear-Admiral Selenoi, Governor of Odessa:

Many honored citizens of Odessa often turned to the

Please ask me to limit the rampant impudence of the Jews during the gathering of the public, but especially during of taking the seats on the wagons of the trains arriving at the city According to the petitioners, the Jewish young people stormed into the wagons, instead of the people of advanced age or those wearing uniforms that are whose high position indicates, to show respect, and in doing so, the rules of politeness and decency, yes, they allow themselves even to insult the other travelers verbally and physically, that they are forced to give in to the audacity, since they are in such In this case, they do not have the Jewish audacity. Such a borne by the Jews, which as a result of the Because of the crowds and the short stay of the carriages, remains unpunished, arouses hatred against the Jewish population and can easily give rise to violence against person and property of the Jews. As a result, I declare hereby, as a warning and to prevent similar disorders that every Jew who is involved in such disturbances in places where gatherings of the public take place, or in the boarding points of the railways that touch the city, or indeed guilty of dishonor or insult against anyone immediately subject to severe administrative punishment which are against the public peace harmful people. At the same time, I request the Odessa police officer lizeimefter, to issue orders that in public places where Jews gather in larger numbers, police supervision and I am concerned about every single Jew who is among the above Anyone affected by the disorders described must report them immediately.

Ertl,

– 230 –

| The following article comes from No. 69 of the Kreuz=Zeitung from February 11, 1890 and was given to me by a Russian, as the worth dividing, handed over. f

The political significance of the Jewish question in Russia.

For a correct understanding of today's political current in Russia, it is necessary to deal with the widespread and Government-led anti-Semitism is to be expected. It occurs in Russia appears in two forms: in the hateful form of religious fanaticism, which only waits for the signal to cash—to find expression in the persecution of Barbarossa – we think of the Jews—

rush, which not a full 9 in the western and southern governorate and which, by their nature, similar regrettable aberrations of the Western Middle Ages remember – and secondly in the form of determined and systematic Rejection of Judaism for certain strictly geographical reasons bordered areas, as in the exclusion of the same from a range of professions.

In general, the area in which Jews are permanently stop to look at every country that has ever been in political fchem connection with the Kingdom of Poland: so Poland, Lithuania, West and Little Russia, as well as New Russia, in which Odessa can be considered as the Russian Jerusalem. It feems that it is not considered possible here to increase the 3 to 5 mil= lion heads to displace the Judaism valued by the rest of the soot= land, i.e. from Muscovy proper, from all of Asia and the Russian acquisitions on former Swedish soil: Finland, In Ingermanland, Estonia and Livonia the Jews are principally from= closed. Only merchants of the 1st Guild, holders of a university diploma about obtaining a scholarly degree and pharmacist are taken.

– 231 –

Here, too, a restriction has been made in that Jews were denied access to middle and higher educational institutions fword has been. Through a grey of December 1886, the number of Jews in the middle educational institutions to 10 pCt. of the total= number of pupils in the area of permanent settlement of the Jews, to 5 pCt. in the rest of Russia and 3 pCt. in the two capital cities ft restricted. At the universities, however, they should not be more than 5 pCt. If you add to this that the entire The area of education is completely closed to Jews and that they fystematically kept away from public service, it is subject to There is no doubt that today's Russia is in the defense of the Semitism takes first place.

Of course, these restrictions do not apply to the rich Jews, who find in Russia the favorable ground to conquer the to abolish the current laws, but it is also very important for the difficulties and especially the costs of obtaining an exception= position. The fact that the Tsar himself was Jewish= Anyone who is hostile to them will get in their way everywhere.

It is all the more surprising that the Jewish It is the press that not only advocates Russia's politics, but Jewish capital everywhere also makes itself subservient to the Russian colossus. Financial operations possible for Jews are only possible with the help of the Judaism has become possible. The business of the moment separates precisely because the Russian values are precisely as a result of their Insecurity makes a lot of money, raises above all religious and national sentimentalities. ä |

But another moment, and this time a highly political one, comes
The idea of a Russo-French alliance is supported by French Judaism and finds its origins in this Basically, so far no mercy in the eyes of the Tsar. He may the republican-Jewified France, yes, that in= directly the fact of the great influence of Judaism in Frank= rich, very much against the will of these circles, to a peace guarantee
The Tsar is too proud and arrogant to give them the to lend a hand.

To illustrate these things, a diary entry of the "Grashdanin". Prince Mefchfchersky has been successful for years tried to be the echo of the mood in Gatifchina, and the Ar= ticle that we present to our readers today is quite in usum, not delphini, but by the Tsar himself. It reads:

"The Jewish question has two forms in Russia: a visible and an invisible one. This is the difference with France, where the Jewish world invisible, but as a terrible, all-encompassing and penetrating power. There the Jew is everything and everywhere, but no one sees him, except perhaps Rothschild and his clan.
But even with him you come across a lot of Raouls, Duvals and Francois D'Aubignes, who found genuine and real Jews, outwardly

- 232 -

but appear as Parisians. It is precisely this invisibility that causes the tremendous power of Judaism. One has accusers and Victims, but not defendants. All are Jews or Jewish comrades, but nobody admits to being a Jew: art, the press, the stock exchange, the journalnaliftik . everything is in Jewish hands, but the Jew himself listens and You can't see it. The "Figaro" with editorial and administration is entirely Jewish; every party or faction paper is, above all, Organ of Judaism: Legitimists, Orleanists, Bonapartists, Re-publicists - in their press they are all Jews. But nobody sees it, everywhere you hear genuine Parisian names, adopted by Jews or by Jewish comrades. It must be emphasized, however, that This strengthening of Judaism is a work of the Republic.
Napoleon III only came in his last years, when the Dutch
With the Republic, Judaism did not grow from day to day, but hourly, and the decade of the republic Canadian regiment was enough to shut down the entire press and thus the
to play the entire public opinion into the hands of the Jews.
And the faster the conquest of France by the Jews went, the more Judaism hid behind foreign hanging sign, under a strange name and a strange mask. But today

The invisible omnipotence of Judaism reigns in France. Destruction of the Church, monarchism and military power triotism – these are the three foundations on which the Hebraism has established its throne. It is worth noting that that no one more than the infallible masters of France, the fashion who cultivates Franco-Russian sympathies in Paris. The calculation It is understandable: Paris was once the head of general civilisation – today it is the capital of Semitism, and all The efforts of the a are aimed at achieving, under various preconditions, walls to sell the Russians to Paris. The Tsar of France, who Hebrew, knows very well that the French, who sympathizes with Russia, Zose do not learn religiosity and monarchical attitudes from us is that, on the other hand, the Russians sympathizing with France in the School of modern Paris will learn to be cosmopolitans, and absorb the ideas of spiritual indifferentism Those Russians returning from Paris are said to be proselytes of the lying nerian glories of the Republic make propaganda for them and are indifferent to the question of whether the Jew in Russia becomes stronger or weaker. |

The calculation is satanically clever and correct. Anyone who Mr. Suvorin (editor of “Nowoje Vremja”) says: I love Frank – rich, although it is republican, will be faced with the make peace with the annoying, politically demoralizing Jewish rule. This is an inevitable, spiritual, elementary process. half I will, as long as I live, fight against that stupid fashion of the franco-Russian sympathies. These sympathies mean in today’s France the vanguard of Jewish rule in Russia.” These statements by “Grashdanin” are certainly noteworthy to a high degree.

– 233 –

Understanding Russian politics is extremely difficult, and a Rufe recently told me that he had not found a single Fate had found correct information from his

There is an extraordinary rich literature in Russia itself, where one is now forced to tries to regulate the question to some extent.

Whether it will succeed is questionable. Russian diplomacy is infested with Jews and it seems a tremendous fraud on the Tsar – court borrows Mr. Giers (in German “Hirfch”) the head of:

current politics is suspected of being Jewish, although Major Osman Bey, who described these diplomats in his brochure “Revelations about the assassination of Emperor Alexander II.” Fr is not mentioned.

A very 8 book about Russian conditions is "La Russie juive" by Kalixt de Wolski and also another book "Russia and the Jews" by Baron von der Brüggen seems to be a valuable source of information to contain the information.

1) 1700.

2) 1725. H

4

3) 1871. Scharff Scharffenstein, Herm. from. That exposed Jews of thum of the modern era. I. The Jews in Frankfurt am Main.

6) 1875. Beta, O. Darwin, Germany and the Jews or the JudaJefuitism. Third from Leipzig, Commission . 75

ELifte

some concerning Judaism by the author used books.

German.

Judaism. Two parts. Frankfurt a. M.

(Excellent work. On the Jewry 40 years under later by King Frederick I of Prussia on Reprinted at own expense. Testimony of the scholars for faithful Translation from 196 Jewish sources, is located on the presses, and

Berlin Regional Court.)

Jewish Hertz. Zelle and Leipzig.

interesting old work.)

Zurich, publishing house. Price Mk. 1.50.

" – The Unmasked Judaism of the Modern Age. II. The Jews in Bavaria. Zurich, self-published by the author and in commission at the publishing house. Price Mk. 1.50.

5) 1872. – The Secret Activities, Influence and Power of Judaism in one hundred years

uflage. Stuttgart, by Heinrich

(17711871). Second

Killinger, book and music publisher. Price Mk. 1.50.

at Schulze & Comp. Price M

7) " Dieft=Daber, Otto von. Money Power and Socialism. – Individual shadows on the internal politics of the uren Bismarck. Second edition. Berlin, by Putt= ammer & Mühlbrecht.

8) 1876. Rebbert, Prof. Dr. Protection of Christians – not hatred of Jews.

Third edition: Paderborn, Verlag der Bonifacius=

Printing house (J. Schröder). Price Mk. -.15

Eisenmenger, Johann Andreas, Professor of Oriental Languages at the University of Heidelberg. The discovered

Osmann, M. Sigismundo, Confiftorial Councilor and Preacher at the town church in Zelle. The difficult to convert

– 235 –

9) 1876. Martin, Dr. Konrad, Bishop of Paderborn. Glimpses into 10)

11

12)

130

14) 1877.

15)

17) 1878.

18)

19) 1879.

200

21)

22)

23)

24)

25)

IL

76

Talmudic Judaism. Edited by Prof. Dr.
Joseph Rebbert. Paderborn, publishing house, Bonifacius=
Printing house (JW Schröder). Price Mk. -.60.

Glagau, Otto. The stock exchange and founding fraud in Berlin. Fourth, revised edition. Leipzig, by Paul Frohberg Price Mk. 5.-.

u

Rohling " Prof. Dr. The Talmud Jew. Fifth
N Edition Munich, 1876, by Adolf Rufell. Price
. 1.-

Wilmans, C., Royal City Court Counsel. "The Golden Internationale" and the necessity of a social Reform Party. Fourth edition. Charlottenburg, Allge=
my publishing agency. Price Mk. 1.50.

Dieft=Daber, Otto von. Replies to the attacks of Messrs. Lasker, von Bennigfen and others together with explanation about the privileges of the Central=Boden=Credit=Gefell= Berlin, at Puttkammer & Müählbrecht.

Glagau, Otto. Actien. W Play in 5 acts.
Leipzig, by Paul Frohberg. Price Mk. 3.-.

– The Börjen and Founding Fraud in Germany.
Leipzig, by Paul Frohberg. Price Mk. 7.-.

Bankberger, Dr. Hilarius. The so-called German Reich= bank, a privileged stock company of and for Jews. Berlin, at F. Graf Behr. Price Mk. 1.50.

Glagau, Otto. The Bankruptcy of National Liberalism and the "Reaction". Ninth edition. Berlin, by Friedrich Luckhardt. Price Mk. 1.-.

Dieft=Daber, von. For the clarification of the anonymous writing= piece and the attacks of the representative Lasker. Daber, published by the author himself.

Marr, Wilh. From the Jewish Theater of War. Fourth Edition location. Bern, by Rudolph Coftenoble. Price Mk. 1.-.

– The Victory of Judaism over Germanism.
a Edition. Bern, by Rudolph Coftenoble. Price

2 1.-. i

Marr the Second Myrmidon Zero). Jeiteles Teutonicus.
Harp sounds from the messed-up Germany. Bern, by Rudolph Coftenoble. Third edition. Price M. 1.50.

Naudh, H. Israel in the army. Berlin, with Otto Hentze.
Price Mk. -.50. /

Glagau, Otto. The Empire's Need and the New Culture= fight. Third, revised edition. Osnabrück, by Bernhard Wehberg. Price Mk. 4.-.

Naudh, H. Minister Maybach and the "Poison Tree". Third Edition. Berlin, by Otto Hentze. Price: Mk. -.60.
- Lecturers on Israel. Berlin, Otto Hentze.
Price Mk. -.60.

N

- 236 -

26) 1879. Racowitza, Helene v., née v. Dönniges. My relationships to Ferdinand Laffalle. 10th edition. Breslau and Leipzig, at S. Schottlaender. Price Mk. 3 -. |

(Picture of the Jew Ferdinand Laffalle, from that Jewish community-loved. Shows Lassalle's true character and the end-goals of his policy.) %

27) " Henne=Am Rhyn, Otto. Cultural History of Judaism . from the earliest times to the present. Jena, near Herm. Costenoble. Price Mk. 12.-.

28) " X. Israel and the Goyim. Contributions to the assessment the Jewish question. Leipzig, by Friedr. Wilhelm Grunow. Price Mk. 5.-.

29) " N Jungfer, Hans. The Jews under Frederick the Great. Leipzig, by Friedr. Wilhelm Grunow. Price M. 1.-.

30) " Marr, Wilh. The Road to the Victory of Germanic Culture on Judaism. Fourth edition. Berlin N., Otto Hentze's publishing house. Price Mark 1.-.

31) "Advokat, A German. The Cheating Jew. Fourth edition. Paderborn, printing and publishing house of the Bonifacius=Druckerei (JW Schröder). Price Mk. -.25. N

32) " Dühring, Dr. E. Robert Mayer, the Galileo of the nine= | tenth century. Chemnitz, by Ernst Schmeitzner.

Price Mk. 4.—. | |

33) " N Germanicus. The Frankfurt Jews and the Capture of the people's prosperity. Fifth edition. Frankfurt a/ M., Germanicus Verlag. Price Mk. 1.50. |

34) "— New stock market fraud. Frankfurt a/M., Germanicus Publisher. Price Mk. —.50.

35) 1881. — The latest robbery of German national wealth. Frankfurt a/ M., Germanicus Verlag (Emil Richter).

Price Mk. —.60.

36) " Liberals, from a former. Vote of an Un= biased. A contribution to the Jewish question. Berlin, at F. Heinicke. Price Mk. —.50.

37) " Dühring, Dr. E. The Leffings and their Advocacy for the Jews. Karlsruhe and Leipzig, at H. Reuther. Price Mk. 1.80.

38) "N Andree, Richard. gu Folklore of the Jews. Bielefeld and Leipzig, at Velhagen & Klafing. Price Mk. 5.—.

39) " X. The i Petitions concerning the restriction

| the Jewish power position. Second, significantly increased

Edition. Leipzig, by Paul Froberg. Price: Mk. —.30.

40) 1882. Germanicus. The Rothschild group and the "monumen" tale" Conversion=Fraud of 1881. Third edition. N a/ M., Germanicus Verlag (E. Richter). Price

41) "V Brügggen, Baron von der. Russia and the Jews. Culture= 11 LDHLDe sketches. Leipzig, Verlag von Veit & Co. Preis

— 237 —

42) 1882. Wahrmond, Dr. Ad. F and to thum. Leipzig, at FA Brockhaus. Price Mk. 6.—.

43) " N Rohling, Dr. Aug. Oracles and Magic Miracles. Mainz, near = Franz Kirchheim. Price Mk. 1.20. 5

44) 1883. Rohling, Prof. Dr. Aug. My answers to the rabbis. or: Five Letters on Talmudism and Blood= ritual of the Jews. Third in Prague, by J. Be:

man & Comp. Price Mk. —.

45) “— The Polemic and the 8 of Rabbinism.

N Third Thousand. Paderborn, Verlag der Bonifackus=

Printing house (JW Schröder. Price Mk. 1.60. \

46) “ Naudh, H. The Jews and the German State. Eleventh, ver-Price Mt 1 Leipzig, published by Theod. Fritfsch.
rice M

47) “ 5 The second Paris crash. Leipzig, near
Fr. Wilh. Grunow. N

48) “ Dühring, Dr. E. The Replacement of Religion by Perfection=

meneres and the expulsion of all Judaism. Charles=

| peace and Leipzig, at H. Reuther. Price Mk. 4.50.

49) “ Juftus, Dr. Judenfspiegel. Fourth edition. .
Published by Bonifacius Printing House. Price Mk.

50) 1884. — Author of the Judenspiegel. Talmudic “Weicher

4600 highly interesting fairy-tale sayings of the Rabbi. Paderborn, Publisher of the Bonifacius=Druckerei (JW Schröder). Price Mk. —.85.

51) “ Ecker, Dr. Jakob. The Jewish Mirror in the Light of Truth= heit. Second, improved and enlarged le Pader= born, published by the Bonifacius printing house (J. Schröder).

| Price Mk. 1.80.

52) 1885. au Friedr. The spread of the Jews in German

| 9 7 50 Berlin, at Puttkammer & Mühlbrecht. Price

53) “ . Joseph. The Jewish Question. A list of the / Jewish Question of 1875 — 1884 in the various countries Prize we World . Writings. London, Trübner & Comp.

rice Mk. 2.—

54) “ — Glagau, Otto. German Crafts and Historical Citizenship=

| thum. Fifth 9 Osnabrück, at Bernhard Weh=
berg. Price Mk. —.

55) " Wahrmund, Prof. Dr. Ad. The Christian school and the Judaism. Vienna, by Kubafta & Voigt. Price Mk. 1.-.

56) 1886. Wellhanfen, J., Prolegomena to the History of Israel. 3rd edition edition. Berlin, Georg Reimer. Price Mk. 8.-.

57) " Lagarde, Paul de. German writings. Göttingen, Dieterich ' fche Publishing house. Reis Mk. 10.-

58) " Scherr, Johannes. Porkeles and Porkeleffa. location Berlin and Stuttgart, at W. Spemann. Prize 3

- 238 -

59) 1886. Osman Bey, Major. Revelations about the assassination Alexander II. Bern, at Nydegger & Baumgart. Price Mk. 2.50.

60) " Dühring, Dr. E. The Jewish Question as a Question of Race-harmfulness. Third, 1st edition. Berlin and ele at H. Reuther eis Mk. 3.-.

61) "Sinclair, Thomas. Humanitarian Studies, translated from the English translated by Hans i Müller. Strasbourg, near Karl J. Trübner. Price Mk. 2.75.

62) " Drumont, Eduard. Northern France, Part I. Berlin, by A. Deubner. Price Mk. 2.-.

63) 1887. - The Jewized France. Second part. Berlin, at A. Deubner. Price Mk. 2.-.

64) " Wahrmund, Dr. Adolf. The Law of Nomadism and the "Today . Berlin and Leipzig, at H. Reuther. Prize M

65) " - The " . fen and Europe. Berlin, at H. Reuther. Price M

66) "Victor, Abbe Dr. Clemens. Profefor Dr. Rohling, the Jewish Question and Public Opinion. Second Edition= location. Leipzig, at Theodor Fritsch. Price Mk. 1.20.

67) 1888. Pavly, Dr. Johannes v. Shulchan Aruch (Set Table) or the ritual and care of Judaism. Basle, at Stephan Marugg. price per delivery Mk. 4.-.

(Of the approximately 25 deliveries of the entire work, only the four first appeared. The publication of the remaining deliveries have thwarted the Jews.)

68) " é Blavier, V. Address Book of the Jews 7 Berlin, in Self-published by V. Blavier. Price Mk. 1.-.

69) "King, Di itten a./d. R. A Uubenftlät conceived to a man Shi to re _ bases in W, at Herm. Rifel & Comp. Price M 70 " Germanicus. The banking and banking diploma, 2,000 copies.

and a. M. Germanicus=Verlag (E. Richter). Price

71) 1880-1888, "Slogan, Otto. The cultural warrior, magazine for N public affairs. Issue 1- 144 (12 volumes).

Berlin, copy of the culture warrior. Price approx. Mk. 90.-.

72) 1888. X. The murder at Lutfcha. 1 presentation. Mar= castle, at the Imperial Herald. Price Mk. -. 20.

73) "X. The Murder at Damascus. Documentary Representation.

| Marburg, at the Imperial Herald. eis -. 20.

14) " KX. Dictionary of the Jewish-German language. Marburg Heffen), publisher of the "Reichs Herold. reis Mk. -.50.

75) " Fritsch, Theod., Antifemific People's Calendar for the Year 1888. Leipzig at Theodor Fritsch. Price ME. -.50.

76) " G Radenhausen, C. Esther, the femitic immorality in battle against State and Church. N edition. Leipzig, at E. Thiele. Price Mk. 2.50

- 239 -

77) 1888. Osman Bey, Major. The conquest of the world by the Jews. - Revelations about the F israelifische Allianz. Bern, Commission Publishing House of Rud. Jenni's Book=

action (H. Köhler). Price Mk. -.50.

78) 1889. X. The Talmud or the Moral Teaching of Judaism.

79)

80)

31)

82)

83)

84)

85) 86) 87)

88)

80

90)

91)

92)

93)

94)

Seventh edition. Inexpensive popular edition. Marburg (Heffen), Publisher of the Reichs-Herald. 125 Mk. -.50.
Fritsch, Theod. Antifemific People's Calendar for the Year 1889. eihaig, by Theodor Fritsch. Price Mk. -.50.
Bergner, Rudolf. The Jewish Rule in the Carpathians= countries. Sensational revelations. Marburg, Verlag of the Imperial Herald. Price Mk. 1.-.

Wald, Alexander. The Jewish Myth. A Study.
Pressburg=Leipzig, at Rudolf Drodttleff. Price Mk. -.80.

Seifarth, 5. Revelations about the so-called German Third Edition. Berlin, G. Hoepner. Price

. -.50.

X. Anti-Semitism, as well as its purposes and goals.
The Prussian Jewish legislation. Dortmund, by Eduard
Otten. Price Mk. -.50. |

friends, by German. Bernhardt Förster, a writing for remembrance and justification. Leipzig, near Theodor Fritsch. Price Mk. -.50.

Türk, Karl. The Judaization of Austria. Ninth edition.

Berlin, at G. Hoeppner. Price Mk. -.15.

German, Ein. Rembrandt as nn Fourteenth Edition=
Location: Leipzig, at CL Hirschfeld. Price: Mk. 2.-.
Mehring, Dr. F. The Lindau case. Fourth thousand.

Berlin, by Kurt Brachvogel. Price Mk. 1.-. |

X. The Galician human trafficking before the Wadowice court).
Vienna, Deutsches Volksblatt. Price Mk. 1.-.

X. Collect the whole thing!! Wake-up call to form a national=progressive Freedom Party. Leipzig, near Rauert and Rocco.

Fritsch, Theod. Antisemitic Catechism. Tenth edition.
Leipzig, by Theodor Fritsch. Price Mk. 1.-.

Nihilists, from a former German. Open letter to His Serene Highness Prince Bismarck. Berlin, at Ad. Zoberbier. Price Mk. 1.-. Ä

Zimmermann, Oswald. Are the Jews still the ones who= chosen people? A contribution to enlightenment about the

. Dresden and Leipzig, M. Buſch. Prize

Wald, Alexander. To the proletarians of all classes. A Mahnruf. Vienna, from the author. Price: Mk. -. 60.
Jonge, Dr. Morris de. An Act of Modern Torture.
II. Delusional Letters. Berlin, Vaterländifische Berlagsanitat.

H. Oberwinder. Price Mk. 1.50.

- 240 -

95) 1890. Ahlwardt, Herm. Der Juden hun. rl der Aryan 9750 with Judaism, published by

N G. Höppner. Price Mk. 3

96) " Müller, Curt. Judaism in the German student movement=
Leipzig, by Arnim Bauman. Price Mk. -.40.

Addendum.

97) 1876. Perrot. The Bleichröder=Delbrück=Camphausen era (the N Aera=Articles etc.). Berlin, at M. Ant. Niendorf.
Price Mk. 1.20.

98) 1884. X. The devil's claw. On the history of blood sacrifices.

Leipzig, Kößling'sche Buchhandlung. Price Mk. —.50.

99) 1889. X. Ennobled Jewish families. Special reprint from the u ! ift 1 Salzburg, publishing house of the "Kyff= outer rice D

100) 1832. Moltke, H. von. The Study of the Internal Relations of Poland.

Berlin, at H. Fricke.

1)

French.

1) Toussenel, A. Les juifs rois de l'öp0que. Histoire de la féodalit& finance. 2 volumes. 1846–1886.

2) Des Mousseaux, Gougenot. Le juif, le judaisme et la judai-sation des people chrétiens. 1 volume. 1869–1886.

3) Drumont, Edouard. La France Juive. Essai d'histoire contemporaine. 2 volumes. 1886. N

4) – La France juive devant'' opinion. 1 volume. 1886.

5) – La fin d'un monde. Etude psychologique et sociale. 1 volume.
1889. Ä

6) – La derniere bataille. Nouvelle etude psychologique et sociale.
1 volume. 1890.

– L'Europe juive (en preparation). |

7) De Biez, Jacques. La question juive. 1 volume. 1886.

8) Chirac, Auguste. Les rois de la republique Histoire des juiveries. 2 volumes. 1888.

9) – L'Agiotage sous la troisième r&publique 1870–87. 2 volumes.
1888.

10) – The high bank and the revolutions. 1 volume. 1888.

11) – La prochaine revolution, Code socialiste. 1 volume. 1886.

2) – La venalite dans le journalisme. Brochure. 1888. |

13) – Les pots-de-vin parlementaires. Brochure. 1888.

14) – L'infamie, 3 ne partie des rois de la r&publique. 1 volume. 1889.

15) Meynie, Georges. L'Algerie juive. 1 volume. 1888.

16) – Read it in Algerie. 1 volume. 1887.

– 241 –

17) Wolski, Kalixt de. La Russie juive. 1 volume. 1887.

- 18) Tridon, Gustave. You molochism juif. Etudes critiques et philosophiques. 1 volume. Brussels 1884.
- 19) Desportes, Henry. Le mystère du sang chez les juifs de tous Les temps with preface to Edouard Drumont. 1 volume. 1889.
- 20) – Menées juives incident Manning-Adler. Brochure 1890.
- 21) Rohling, Auguste. Le juif selon le Talmud avec preface d Edouard Drumont. 1 volume. 1889. Traduction par A. Pontigny.
- 22) Pontois, Honoré. Les odeurs de Tunis. 1 volume. 1889.
- 23) Nemours Godré, L. Les Cyniques. Le dessus du panier – Sous le pressoir. 1 volume. 1889.
- 24) Corneilhan, Georges. Juifs et Opportunistes. Le judaïsme en Egypt and Syria. 1 volume. 1889.
- 25) Pendrie, H. Nos chemins de fer et leur reforme radical. 1 volume. 1887.
- 26) Doctor Martinez. Le juif, voila l'ennemi. Appel aux catho- liques. 1 volume. 1890.
- 27) Savine, Albert. My process. 1 volume. 1890.
- 28) Richard, Pierre. The process of the League of Patriots. 1 volume. 1889.
- 29) Bergot, Raoul. L'Algerie telle qu'elle est. 1 volume. 1890.
- 30) Bournand, Francois. Le Clerge sous la troisième république. 1 volume. 1890.
- 31) Kimon. La politique isra@lite. Etude psychologique. 1 volume. 1889.
- 32) – L'art de vaincre les juifs. 1 volume. 1890.
- 33) Bontoux, E. The General Union sa vie et sa mort. 1 volume. 1888.
- 34) Hamon, A. et Bachot, Georges. L'Agonie d'une Société Histoire d' aujourd'hui. 1 volume. 1889.
- 35) Pascal, G. de. La juiverie; with letter-preface by Edouard Drumont. 1 volume. 1887. |
- 36) Havard, Oscar. M.Ed. Drumont and La France juive. 1 volume.

- 37) Desportes, H. Le juif franc-macon. 1 volume. 1890.
- 38) X. La fin d'une république. Popular edition. 1 volume.
- 39) Eldé, Cri d'alarme. 1 volume. 1890.
- 40) Juglart, Raoul de. Les Evenements d'Angoulême. 1 volume. 1889.
- 41) Taxil, Leo and Verdun, Paul. Les Assassinats maconniques. 1 volume. 1889.
- 42) Taxil, Leo. La ménagerie politique with 21 designs. 1 volume. 1890.
- 43) Drault, Jean. Le dernière Sire de Lavardin. 1 volume. 1890.
- 44) – Youtres impudents. Brochure. 1890.
- 45) Lafargue-De6cazes, G. Son Excellence le citoyen Vénal. 1 volume.

90th

- 46) Rochefort, Henry. Les depraves. 1 volume.
Iv. 16

– 242 –

- 47) | Gyp. A gauche celebre. 1 volume.
- 48) Bonnieres, Robert de. Les Monach, Roman Paris. 1 volume.

1

- 49) Charnacé, Guy de. Le Baron Vampire. 1 volume. 1885.
- 50) Cucheval-Clarigny. La situation financiere en France. revue des deux mondes September 15th / October 1st 1886.

English.
England.

1) Thomas Sinclair, MA Humanities. London 1886, at Trübner & Comp. 1 volume. (German: "Humanity Studies", translated by Hans Schiffert Müller, Strasbourg 1886, at Karl J. Trübner.)

2) Eliot, George. Daniel Deronda. 4 volumes. Leipzig, Bernhard

Tauchnitz. |

3) Jacobs, Joseph. The Jewish question. 1875–1884. bibliographical hand list. Trübner & Comp.

4) Macanlay, Th. B. Critical and Historical Essays. London 1849. 3 vol. Civil disabilities of the Jews p. 295 fl.

Ehina.

5) Thirkell, Ino. Geo. Some Queer Stories of Benjamin David

Benjamin and Mess" ED Sassoon & Co. Wealth, fraud and poverty. "Les juifs entre eux." 1 vol. Shanghai 1888. Celestial Empire Office.

Amerilia

Minerva Publishing Company, 10 West 234 Street, New York.

6) The 3 Mr Jacobs. 1 volume. (50,000 copies immediately sold.) | | |

7) The American 1 volume each. (60000 copies before release sold to the public.)

8) Judas Iscariot. 1 volume. 30,000 copies sold immediately.

9) A peep at om cousins. Pamphlet (suppressed in England). Sur Editions: 100,000 copies.

10) Dr. Phillips. Novel. 1 volume.

total content.

Foreword.

The book is written only for Germans. – Warnings for rulers, Officials and the entire German people. – Anti-Semitism, a noble Movement. – Socialism. – The Banquet of Life. – Talmudic Crimes. – Secret incitement of Judaism against other nations. – Saints in Judah. – A tremendous spiritual fraud. – Has one Kaiser suppressed the teachings of the Talmud? – Types of Jews. – On call to all Germans, from the prince to the last day laborer.

Printing errors, omissions, corrections, notations.

Printing errors and complaints. – Reprint. – Briman. – Alliance israélite universelle. – Speech of a Grand Rabbi. – Jews and the Christian Church. – Prince Bismarck and the Jews. – Jews and the Army. – Jews in the justice system. – Jewish crimes. – Synagogues= fire in Neufthtin and the crime in Skurz. – Wadowice. – Monsieur Constans. – Privy Councilor Dr. Rudolph Virchow. – The B'ne Briss Order. – Jewish cliques. – The Jewish Protection Society. – State Councilor Baare. – Baron Andre. – Empress Frederick in Paris. – Julius Neumann. – Preference for Jews and Jewish comrades over Germans.

– Gustav Freytag. – The living Esther Solymosi. – The Agony d'Israel. – Ignorance of Jewish legislation. – Windthorst. – Chancellor von Caprivi. – Morris de Jonge. – Mr. Jencke. – New books. – Humorous.

Part I. My friend von Brandt.

Table of Contents nnn " LXVII

1) Tertt 1

Previous book p. 1. – Information about 1 von Brandt and the Ver= faffer p. 4. – A powder contract p. 9. – Situation of Peking p. 11. – Extortion attempts p. 12. – Mr. von Bleichröder and not Fürft von Bismarck rules in the Foreign Office p. 17. – The assassination attempt p. 21. – Rape p. 29. – Internment p. 37. – Intrigues in Tientsin p. 41. – The Reichsgerichtspräsident von Simfon p. 42. –

16 *

– 244 –

The Jew Mandl p. 46. – Deputies p. 49. – von Brandt in Europe p. 51. – Threats of Mr. von Brandt p. 43. – von Brandt's Escape p. 53. – The family of Samson ©. 54. – Jewish Ver= manner of defense p. 56. – Mysterious deaths in China p. 58. – Diplomatic successes of Mr. von Brandt p. 59. – An edict of Emperor of China p. 60. – Petition p. 63.

2) List and characteristics of persons, authorities and companies 65

Li Hung Chang. – Marquis Tfeng p. 65. – Lo Fong Loh. – The Tfungli
 amen 66. – Sir John Walsham. – Mr. Henry Howard. – Alexis Coumany. – Prince Anatole Lobanov de Rostov. – Colonel Denby. –
 Mr. Woodville Rockhill. – J. Rodriguez y Munoz. – M. Shioda-Saburo.
 – Colonel Kajiyama. – Mr. W. Cartwright. – Timothy Richard. –
 M. von Brandt p. 66. – Baron Clemens von Ketteler p. 68. –
 Dr. Philipp Lenz. – Georg Lange. – Baron Bernhardt von der Goltz
 p. 69. – Emans. – Ernst Aßmann. – Peter Scheidtweiler. – Löhr. – Küster. – Hummelcke. – Sir Robert Hart p. 70. – Dr. Dudgeon
 P. 71. – Dr. BC Atterbury. – Professor E. Pander p. 72. –
 William Hancock. – Collingridge Bing. – Peter Kierulff. – Frieda
 Kierulff. – C. Imbeck. – Jeanrenaud. – K. Bethge p. 73. – Gustav Detring. – Eveline Detring. – Charles Feindel. – Dr. Schrameier.
 – Boos p. 74. – Constantin von Hannecken. – Hermann Mandl
 P. 75. – A. Mickie. – JJ Dunn. – Cox. – Jardine Matheson & Co.
 P. 76. – JJ Buchheifter. – Buchheifter jun. – Die Zollpof P. 77.
 – The Ring p. 77. – The Bank p. 79. – The Ostafia=
 tische Lloyd p. 80.

37 Political discussions with von Brandt and Allerlei to Peking 81

Aphorisms p. 81. – Judstitia p. 83. – Felicia and the Fairy Tale
 p. 84. – The journey to the far p. 84. – Bishop Anzer
 p. 87. – A raffled-off bishop and an empire based on shares
 p. 88. – The Crown Diamonds of the Hohenzollerns p. 89. – Solomon's Wisdom p. 91. – Prince Bismarck a Jewish offspring p. 92. – Mr.
 Conftans p. 93. – Order p. 97. – The treife loan p. 99. – The Piglet Max and Moritz p. 100. – Will we see the bloodbath again?
 live? p. 102. – The Old Testament p. 103.

4) How to become an anti-Semite, Journeys around the globe 104
 The Founding Period p. 104. – Jews in Westphalia and Jews in England
 p. 105. – Jews in the cloth business p. 106. – Jews in Paris p. 108.
 – Nobiling's assassination p. 109. – Jews in New York p. 110. –
 Corbinism and Jews in Saratoga, the Niagara-Yal p. 111. – Jewish Espionage p. 112. – Rudolph Lindau p. 113. – Marienbad and Zermatt p. 114. – Simfon, Lazarus and Sacher Mafoch p. 115.
 Mr. Mofte p. 117. – The Friedenthals p. 119. – Jewish Insolence= heits p. 120. – Jews at sea, in New York, Chicago, Colorado, the Mormon City and San Francisco p. 120. – The Pacific Ocean, the young Mr. Göfchen p. 121. – Jews in Japan and Canada p. 122.
 Benjamin and Levi, Dr. Joseph Hertzfeldt p. 123. – Berliner Hof= banquiers p. 124. – The cursed house p. 125. – Jews in

– 245 –

Page

Singapore and Saigon p. 127. – A birthday Jew. – Around the Cape

of Good Hope p. 128.

5) General observations and supplements . 129

The famous essay by Aurelien Scholl from the Evenemen p. 130.

– A reprimanded judge p. 133. – Classification of the 100 Laws from the Shulchan Aruch p. 135. – The Jews show the Germans, that they are masters in Germany p. 136. – Who is the stronger?

p. 137. – The Jewish Protection Association p. 138. – Anti-Semitism p. 139.

– The Death of Bismarck p. 140. – The Sinking of the Elisabeth p. 141.

– The Privy Counsellor Manché p. 142. – A Jewish anecdote

p. 143. – Herr von Bunfen p. 144. – The Libyan Desert p. 145.

The Reichstag p. 146. – Postage stamps and orders p. 147. – The giant Antäus p. 148. – Jud' Süß Oppenheimer p. 149. – The Jews and the Templars p. 151. – The Decline of Spain p. 153. –

The Kali=Graf p. 155. – Ahnenraub and Georg Ebers p. 158. –

Rothschild's letter p. 160. – Accepting the hospitality of a Jew, means exposing oneself to the dangers of a robber's den p. 160.

Part II. Documents.

Table of Contents – – – 87 8 ke de a ar a ae ee a de

Works in Paoutiugfu and Peting az 1

Reports 1 and 2 and private report to the 10 German ambassadors=

– An audience with the Viceroy Li Hung ni – House of a Chinese ruler 9 1–11

Memorandum No. 1 on Railways and Mines in China ae

Memorandum No. 2 on Railways and Mines in China . . . 29

Memorandum No. 3 for the Imperial Government, the Russian concerning the Trans-Caspian Railway . . – 39

Three confidential memoranda A, B and C to the Imperial Bench

Ambassador in Peking, concerning Chinese relations 43

Proposed way to establish a German bank in the East 62

Founding Fraud in Hong Kong g 66

Work in Tientsin and Molohama. 69

Diplomatic Correspondence with the Imperial German Ambassador . 72

Mr. von Brandt is accused by Prince Bismarck . . . 81

Report No. 7 to the Imperial German Embassy, such an interesting

Report about the Jew Mandl and others, that he was at the customs post

loren went, about which more details can be found in the appendix p. 193 ff. ft . 83

Report No. 16 to the Imperial . e how to make a envoys nailed down . 103

Letter to His Serene Highness Prince Bismarck 8 en . . 113 Report No. 18 to the Imperial German . in which Mr.

is completely exposed by Brandt |:

Working in Berlin and Minden 129

Letter to Prince Bismarck, in which all responsibility for the creation of this book is rejected. 8 of the on von Brandt and von Ketteler 130

the,

– 246 –

Trial with Mr. von Brandt i
Mr. von Brandt's financial skills, threats

Attachment

- a) Interrogation of the Chinese servant Matthias “ Nighttime break-in by Mr. von Brandt. Robbery of the Correspondence thoughts and mysterious actions.
- b) Medical and other certificates
- c) List of objects presented by Brandt to scientific institutes
- d) Postal notices, correspondence with the customs post office in Tienzin and Mrs.
Eveline Detring, as well as the Reich Post Office in Shanghai . . .
- e) Two articles from the North China Herald concerning the address of the Shanghai merchants to His Excellency Mr. von Brandt:
 - 1) The Germans and their ambassador
 - 2) Providing an address to the German Consulate General.
- f) Newspaper article about a powder contract by H. Mandl & Co.
- g) Article from The Chinese Times about Captain von Hannecken, who shows what a great strategist he is. 5
- h) Short extract from an In memoriam prepared for His Excellency dug.
hails the Prince of Bismarck. . 82 25

subject index

III. Cheil. The F Demon J.
Table of Contents ee 8 i

Introduction

The Talmud

First impression of the same A an unbiased person

»The Shulchan Aruch . N

The Jews do not tolerate translation

The Victims of Jewish Rage;

The Hundred Laws from the Shulchan Aruch

– Is the murder of a son to be overlooked by the Jews?

purposes allowed or not?

Dangerousness of the Hundred Laws

L'Alliance isra6lite universal

The organization of the Alliance.

The call Crémieuxnx s .

Blockade of the Russian–German troops by the above–mentioned Alliance 8

The Map of the Blockade

The Central Committee of the Alliance

The Jewish Press and its Work

Speech of a Chief Rabbi, nr the rn of . in ir portrayed in a literal way

Excerpt from reports and notes by be e in St. Petersburg, which explains the machinations of Judaism in practical terms.

Jewish practice e he ee Ba el ne me

The Ringworm ©. 67. – The wealthy non-Jews are responsible for the Jews only fattened pigs p. 68. – Jewish officers, officials and Rankings p. 69. – Jewish Charity p. 70. – Jewish Associations follow p. 72.

Jews

Characterization of the Jews from Antiquity to Modern Times p. 73. –

Jewish deceptions. – Artificial foreskins. – The dead Levi. –

Lasker's Confession of a Man's Soul p. 76. – Ritual Treatment of the German Reich's gold p. 77. –

Baptized Inden .

Sham baptism is permitted. – Danger of baptized Jews p. 78. –

Baptism is of no use p. 79. – Disraeli's Baptism p. 80. – The English Treasurer Mr. Göschel p. 80. – The Delbrücks p. 82. – Proffor Franz Delitzsch p. 84. – The name Spaniard among the Jews p. 87.

Jewish offspring

Isidor Schiller, Daniel Deronde, Zedek Khan and verjubele fraiche

Nobles p. 88/89.

Jews and rulers

The bloody sacrifice of a king of the Gentiles is ben: Jews v vor especially holy. – The teachings of the Shulchan Aruch concerning the King of the non-Jews p. 96. – King Louis Philippe p. 92. – Mustapha Ben

Page

89

90

Ismail, Bey of Tunis p. 93. – Kaiser Friedrich III. p. 93. – The ö

Emperor of Austria and the Jews p. 95. – The Activity of the Jews in regicides and the overthrow of thrones p. 97. – Jewish Auxiliary forces and resources p. 98/99. – Jewish clouds around non-Jewish thrones p. 100. – King Itzig and his Mifchpoche, two short stories with Replay p. 100. – The Kahal or Kagal p. 104. – Heinrich Heine and the Kingdom p. 106. – Jews around the Emperor p. 107. – The Kaiser, the Kaiser captured p. 108. – The Saffoons on the English royal court. N x
The Jews and the Christian Church .

Pastor Dr. Schwalb in Bremen p. 110. – Battle of Talmudism with Christianity p. 111. – The hostility of Judaism P. 112. – St. Stephen's Cathedral in Vienna soon to be a synagogue P. 113. – The sacred grove of Egeria leased to the Jews p. 114. – The ge baptized Jewish fraudulent bishop Johann Maria Bauer p. 114. – Bapft Pius IX. a Hebrew p. 116. – Cardinal Antonelli, also a He bräer p. 117. – Judaism and the Jesuits p. 117. – Doctor Paulus (Selig) Caffel and the Privy Legation Counsellor P. Kayfer p. 118. – Clergy as joint-stock companies p. 119. – Business clergy in the South Carolina p. 119. – An example that baptism is of no use p. 120. – Mrs. Adelheid von Mühler, née von Goßler as Prussian cult= minifter p. 121. – The Ministers of Culture Falk and von Goßler p. 122.

– The Jewish=Catholic Bishop Field Provost Aßmann p. 123. – The Antifemitism p. 124. – What is a Socialist? and the core of Christianity p. 125. – Why is the knowledge of the laws of

110

– 248 –

Shulchan Aruch withheld from the Germans? P. 125. – The holy Itzig p. 126. – Beware of the teachings of the Talmud p. 128.

Andes, politicians and diplomats

Various remarkable testimonies pp. 130–132. – Letter from the Count von Wimpffen p. 133. – Machiavelli p. 135. – German Diplomacy in East Asia p. 135.

Prince Bismarck and the Inden

His alleged Jewish origin. – Paul de Lagarde on fine real lichen Merits p. 139. – His assessment of the Jews p. 141. – His use of the Jews and his dealings with them p. 145. – Prince Bismarck and the Jew Bleichröder p. 145. – Prince Bismarck and the Jewish Press of Dr. Hirsch Hildesheim p. 148. – Fürst Bismarck and Mr. Abranyi p. 149. – Le prince de Bismarck de-masque ©. 150.

They Jews and the Army i

Pharaoh and the Jews. – Jews and Buboni. – Their Inadequacy for military service p. 151. – Egyptian Cavalry p. 152. – The Hope of our army and the Rabbi of Jastrow p. 153. – The Aims of Judaism in the Army p. 154. – Jewish military doctors p. 156. – Indebtedness of the officer class p. 158. – The Synagogue during the war 1870/71 p. 161. – Entry of the Germans into Paris

1871 p. 163. – Entry into Berlin 1871 p. 164. – The stock exchange during

of the war p. 165. – The next war p. 166. – Jewish military= clergy and nurses p. 168. – Probable Jewish rule after the next war p. 169.

Inden and civil service. . ee hr

Indebtedness of the civil service p. 172. – Audacity of the Jews towards our civil service p. 174. |

The Indians in the Jufitary.

Impunity of the Jews p. 177. – The Reich Court President 1 von Simfon p. 178. – Judith Grévy p. 180. – Bargaining Jewish lawyers

Page

130

139

151

172

etc. p. 181. – The Hildesheim transfer case p. 182. – A Privilege for the Jews p. 183.

Jews as doctors .

An experience in Potsdam p. 185. – Luther, Naudh and Radenhausen about Jewish doctors p. 186. – Jewish doctors and Professor Dr. Koch p. 187. – The Case of Levi p. 188.

The Insane Asylum in the Service of the Jews and the Moral Decline of Judaism Börne wants to put the Germans in the madhouse p. 191. – Mendels= fon about the moral decay of Judaism; he is fupon by his followers were taken to the madhouse p. 191. – Dr. Morris de Jonge, an act of modern torture p. 196. – The Jews Dr. Mendel and Dr. Baer. – Alberti Sittenfeld, modern Judaism p. 199. – The youngest Germany p. 201. – Insane asylum letters and Lettres de cachet p. 202.

Jews and Colonial Politics. 8 8

Baron von Bleichröder, Professor Dr. Virchow, Emin Pasha, 135 Ab-ordered Bamberger, Rabbi Eliezer and "Lieutenant" Siegmund Israel
 P. 204. – Who is Emin Pasha? P. 205. – Emin Pasha's rescue and the Prophet Elijah p. 206. – What do the Arabs think of the Jews? p. 208. – The so-called English intrigues in East Africa

P. 208. – A huge fraud P. 212.

Jews and the Aristocracy

Judaization of the nobility, the Almanac of Golgatha p. 217.

Jews and the Social Democrats

The Jews are the originators of social democracy p. 222. – Means, to fight it p. 223. – Aristocracy and Kakistocracy p. 224.
 – Ferdinand Laffalle (ne Feift Laffal) and his Queen p. 224. – Karl Marx, the social-democratic chief p. 226. – He is said to embalm and throw it into the chimney as a mad herring laffen p. 226. – The Jew Singer p. 228.

Jews in Literature, Art, Science and Theater

Jewish poets in ancient Rome. – The salon of the doctor Marcus Herz.
 – Rahel Levin, Dorothea Mendelssohn p. 229. – Paul Lindau in America. – Meyers Conversation Lexicon. – Leffing a plagiarist
 p. 231. – Heinrich Heine. – Germany in its deepest humiliation
 P. 232. – He should have a monument P. 233. – Jewish
 P. 234. – Theater Jews p. 234.

India and the Music a .

Meyerbeer. – Halevi ©. 236. – Levi. – Star. – Rubinstein. – Mareczek. – Strakosch. – Ullman. – Felicien David. – Hector Crémieux. – Offenbach. – Sir Arthur Sullivan. – The real ostrich and the Jew Strauss. – Liszt on Jewish Temple Music p. 237. – Moscheles. – Felix Mendelssohn. – Jewish Music Production p. 238.

Jewish Vanity, Arrogance and Cynicism

The Children's Ball at Rothschild's, p. 240. – A Frankfurt Vereinsthaler.

– Lord of Madai. – The Poison Tree. – “Hate” and Love p. 241. –
The company Bismarck & Son. – King Ludwig II of Bavaria. – Rothschild a family of Nimrods. – Der Jude Stern p. 242 – Baron Hirsch. – Baron Rothschild. – How beautiful the children of Israel are p. 243.

Jewish patriotism and love of country

The Rabbi Dr. Bernard Fifcher and Rohlings Talmudjude p. 245.

– A beautiful example from Hungary p. 246.

The Jew as a useful member of Aryan civic structures.

An essay with heavy content. Reprint prohibited.

harbingers of catastrophe.

Will we still see the bloodbath? p. 248. – The Jews are preparing fich for the extract before p. 249.

Page

204

229

236

240

245

– 250 –

The Solution to the Jewish Question A

All property of the Jews is illegal 1 and must be returned taken p. 250. – The Thugs in India. – It is easy to drive the Jews away. – The Jew is sick p. 251. – Should one lock them up in ghettos or send them away? p. 252. – New Guinea 253. –

The Jewish export business. – Where is the cat? – The Judometer p. 254.

– Brutus and Adieu Cousin Levi and Cohn p. 255. – The Deed! –

What a cosmopolitan night watchman says p. 256.

Part IV. The Jewish Demon II.

table of contents .

Jewish Crimes, Introduction 5 5

Rite Murders of the Indies from the Year 418 AD to Damascus 1840. The Murder of Father Thomas

Neufttin 1883, synagogue fire.

Introduction: Court proceedings. – (The aftermath of this

The process can be found under Skurz 1884 p. 66.)

Lutfcha 1881. u and Gittel three times to Ra a and a saved .

Tisza=Eszlar 1882. The Trial 110 the antifemitife EN ;

Fall 1884. The murder in Skurz before the court with a brief recapitulation of the Crimes of Tisza=Eszlar, Lutfcha, . e of Neufttin (aftermath of the latter trial).

Breslau 1888. Blood sampling. 8 g

Wadowice 1889. Human trafficking with

Damascus 1890. Blood Secret

Bialyftock 1890. The Jewish Boy

Painter Graef, his models and the Prefle –

Justice Councilor Simson. –Paul Lindau. – Professor Julius sung. –

Dr. Wolff. – Dr. Levin. – Dr. Liman. – Privy Councillor Dr. Siegmund.

Page

251

79

– Lawyer Caffel. – Karl Frenzel. – Davidfohn brothers. –

Holdheim and Phillips. – Fritz Dernburg. – Trainee lawyer Rosenstock. – Trainee Salomonfohn. – Trainee Ifaac. – Lawyer Bernstone. – Anna Adler.

Contemporaries, Images from the Present

The Lindau's : ee

They want fine Germans, writers and pastors' sons p. 121. – The

Lindau's Spartans? p. 122 – Rudolf Lindau, the Jew Mandl and Herr von Brandt p. 123. – Paul Lindau and Blumenthal p. 124. – Paul Lindau orders an expulsion p. 126. – Paul Lindau and Fraulein von Schabelsky. – The Theaterring p. 127. – Paul Lindau awards medals p. 135. – Paul Lindau threatens with his big brother in the Foreign Office p. 136.

121

121

– 251 –

f page

Mr. J. Neustadt, Episode from the Life of an e a ee |

but true poems . – – – 139

The Journey to China p. 139. – His Family p. 140. – Mr.

Neustadt has a court-colored complexion and wants to become Consul General. –

Mr. Neustadt and Profeffor Julius Leffing p. 143. – His

Fraud p. 144. – Mr. Neustadt in San Francisco p. 146. –

Mr. von Brandt's judgment on Mr. Neustadt, p. 146.

Monsieur Conitans, Minister of the Interior in France 147

Mr. Conftans as burglar and thief p. 147. – Mr. Conftans is accused of murdering his benefactors p. 148. – Mr. Constans commits fraud, bribes and thefts in Cochinchina and is by his successor, Governor General Richaud in a state of impeachment transferred p. 149. – The Marquis de Mores puts the things on display= light and confirmed that Constans had committed unclean acts in Peking

The Governor General Richaud is suddenly under suspicion

Circumstances died. – Further frauds and exposure of the

Mr. Conftans p. 151.

Privy Councillor Professor Dr. Rudolf Virchow 152

The Triumvirate of the University of Berlin p. 152 – the lion, the Friend of Virchow. – Virchow and the School Question p. 153. – Virchow and the Jews. – The Brussels Skull Collection. – The Matadors the Progressive Party and the holy Ludwig Löwe, ne Laib Levi. (Je Suis veuve d'un colonel . . . es-tu content mon colonel?) – Der Hungerfweide p. 154. – The Elephant Roftom p. 156. – The African African earthlings and the important discoveries of the Virchows. – The Dakota Indians and the Cowboys p. 157. – The Mexican Princess and the Jew. – Professor Virchow and the inalienable Rights of the people. – Versatility of the professor p. 158. – The ab carved human hand. – The Emperor's Civil List. – King Sigismouth of Poland and the Bishop of Krakow. – The Dechenhöhle near Lethmate. – The big hole p. 159. – The small hole. – Münster's Cab drivers about anthropologists. – A Berlin medical congress p. 160. – Gorilla, snake people, dwarves, giantesses, wild men, Megalithic tombs, dead Negroes, mummies, etc., Patent Media, p. 162. – Dubois Reymond competes with Virchow. – Fleur de mille juifs p. 163. – Professors' sons. – "Brave children of heaven's joy; For the pious Father's breast!" – The Electric Eel p. 164. – Professor Virchow as Strategist p. 165.

Mr. von Goßler for 166

Mr. von Goßler does not claim to be descended from Jews, nor does he Father-in-law, Lord of Simpson=Georgenburg, the German fort= fhrungsmann Frentzel, says so p. 168. – Rumors to the contrary "P. 171. – Aunt Adelheid von Mühler and the statues in the Ber liner Mfeen p. 172. – A relative of Mr. Ignaz Moscheles and the latter's achievements p. 173. – The Ministry of Culture and the Jews in Hesse p. 174. – Mr. von Goßler and the Social Democrat Friedrich Engels p. 176.

– 252 –

Mr. Miquel f | Re

Geite
177

Mr. Miquel as a politician. – Miquel and Bennigfen back on the Plan. – Miquel as Director of the Discount Company p. 177.

From different countries speak
Jews everywhere. – Jews and the North Pole p. 179.

Jews in China. Modern Judaism in China . .

Doctor Hirsch Hildesheimer proves from a reliable source that the German barbarians and the Chinese tolerant people find p. 180. –
What the situation with the Jews in China really looks like p. 181. – A high Chinese official sends a memorandum to the Emperor and brand= market two Jews, Mandl and Myres p. 184. – The German Ge= fentered should be requested to protect his countrymen from the Jew Mandl to warn. – The Emperor of China issues an edict to that effect
p. 185. – Mandl and Friedrich Krupp in Effen. – The Barber Abraham Höflich p. 186. – The Jew Oppert and the Saffoons p. 188.
– Foundations in Hong Kong p. 189. – The Man of God of the Children Israel in Shanghai p. 190. – Jewish Protestant missionaries p. 191.
– The German-Asian Bank p. 191. – Count Mitkiewicz p. 192.
– The Alliance in China p. 193. – Jews in the maritime customs service and Monfieur Conftans in China p. 194.

Jews in Siberia

Tenacity of the Jews p. 196. – Two honorable men p. 197. – How love the Siberians the Jews p. 198.

India in America

Antisemitism in America p. 199. – Jewish Millionaires in America
P. 200. – Profeffor Dr. Rudolf von Gneift on immigration of Jews to America p. 201. – Flower reading from the anti-Semitic Works The Original Mr. Jacobs p. 203.– The American Jew p. 203 and Judas Iscariot p. 205. – The distribution of these books p. 297.
– A Jewish Order p. 208.

Jews in Japan

The fruits of the legislation of Judge Noffe (Mofes). – – German= Jewish officials in Japan p. 213.

Jews in Suriname (South America)

The natives say that the Jews are thieves, robbers, fraudsters and Murderer find. – Desolate conditions p. 214. – The Negroes make a big difference between Europeans and Jews p. 215.

India in Italy i

Jewish Generals. – Jewish Fleet Officers p. 215. – Jewish Con-fuln. – Israel triumphs in Italy p. 216. – Antifemitism in Italy p. 217. – The Jewish Question in Italy p. 218.

Jews in France 5

The Forte end of the New York Herald on the Southern Question, p. 220.

Inden in England

Baron Worms p. 222. – The English and the persecuted Jews in Russia p. 223. – Anti-Semitism in England p. 224. – Pictures from

179

179

195

199

212

214

215

219

222

– 253 –

Page

of the Judaized English Society p. 225. – They want no more Jews p. 226. |

Jews in Russia 227

Usefulness of the Rabbis and the Rafal p. 227. – – Measures of the Russian government against the Jews p. 228. – The Chinese Re= government appoints Russian officers; a success of Mr. von Brandt

P. 229.– The political significance of the Jewish question in Russia p. 230.
book list 234

ö German books E 234. – French p. 240. – English p. 242

England p. 242. – China 242. – America 242.

Total contents ee ee a DAB

Name Index gn. 22254

End of Zud' – Everything Sud!

index of names.

A.

Abdelnour, Perc IV. 91.

Abdul Aziz III. 97.

Abou=el=Afieh IV. 12. 13. 15. 18. 19.

Abraham, 5 of, I. 130.

Abraham, Count of, I. 131.

Abranyi III. 149. 150.

Adler, Anna, IV. 102.

Adler III. 188

Agaffiz, A., II. 194.

Ahlwardt V. LXIII. I. 141. 142. III.
68. 95. 161. 164. 172. 173. 177. 198.
IV. 160.

Alberti, Conrad, I. 137.

Albrecht, Paul, III. 232.

Alcharifi III. 88.

Alexander II. I. 140. III. 43.50.97. IV. 238.

Emperor Alexander III II. 41.

Alexander VI, Pope, I. 90.

Alphonsus XII. III. 44.

Amman, Dr., IV. 119.

Ancona, Raffaoul, IV. 5

Anding, ! Ib. 199.

Andreas von Kinn IV. 2.

Andrée, Richard, III. 73. 76. IV. 215.

Andre, Baron, V. LIII.

Ange 1 . 140.

Angermann IV. 40. 45.

Annenkow II. 40.

Anzer I. 87.

Arari, Aroun, IV. 13. 14. 19.

Arari, Daoud, IV.
21. 22. 74.

Arari, Isaac, IV. 19. 21.

Arari, Poucef, IV. 19.

Arbib IV. 219.

Arndt IV. 66. 70. 71.

Armand, look, Jacob.

Afcher 4 Comp. III. 7

Aßmann, Ernst, I. 10. 11. 12. 15. 19. 23.
25. 26. 29. 30. 31. 39. 42. 70. II. 7.
86. 89. 118. 125. III. 181.

nominal I. 70. III. 124. 168.

Aftor 1
by Astrue, Marquis, I. 130.

Aftruc, EA, Grand Rabbi, III. 7. 52.

Atterbury, BC, I. 34. 35. 38. 40. 41.
72. II. 156. 160. 190.

von Auer I. 40. III. 68.

Augusta Victoria III. 96.

d' Aumale III. 242.

| B.

Baare V. LIII. LIV.

Bach, John Sebastian III. 238.

Rem, Regional Court Director, IV. 102

Baer, Abraham, Dr., III. 196. 198.

Baer, Edgar, I 138.

Baer IV. 213.

Baerwald, Dr., III. 52.

Balla, Johann, IV. 4.

Ballauf, H., II. 190.

Bamberger, Ludwig, I. 143. III. 77. 204.

215. 253.

Bamberger, Dr., III. 49. 52.

Bambenefiti III. 34.

Baranow III. 65.

Baratte IV. 150. 151.

nn III. 179.

Barcza, n IV. 55. 64.

Bardeleben III. 7

Baring Brothers i. 50 69.

Barker, John, IV. 5.

Barnay, Ludwig, IV. 127. 132.

Barnick, DENE: Il. 184.

12. 13. 14. 16. 19. Baronius IV. 1

Barfen IV. 41.

Dary, Vicenotary, IV. 55. 58. 60. 64.

Barzilai IV. 216.

eu Johann Maria, III. 114. 115. 116.

Beaconsfield, Lord, I. 92. 108. III. 45. 118.

139. 145. IV. 108.

Becker, Bernhard, III. 228.

Bedarride, G., III. 52.

Beethoven III. 238.

Behrend IV. 41. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74.

Belki IV. 57.

Ben Afcher, Jakob, III. 4.

Benide, Dr., III. 189.

Ben=Noud IV. 5.

Benthner IV. 41.

von Berchem III. 145.

Bergot, Raoul, III. 208.

von Berlepfsch, Minister of Trade, III. 99.

Berner, * II. 178. 184.

Bernstein I. 116. IV. 9. 79. 80. 81. 82.
102. 103.

Berr, Charles, III. 52.

Beta, Ottomar, III. 107. 177.

"Bethge, Carl, Baumeister I. 7. 73. 74. 99.
II. 96. 99. 100. 118. 119. 128. 154. 156.
161. 162. 171. 198.

Beuft, Graf, III. 133.

Beyer IV. 36. 45.

Bieber I. 144. II. 200. 201.

Bielefeld, 3: a III. 52.

Bigel II.

nn ages I. 33. 38. 39. 73. II.

210th

Bijgofaheim III. 135. IV. 225.

Bishop IV. 69.

von Bismarck, Herbert, III. 142. 143. 145.

von Bismarck, Otto, V. XV. XXIV. XXV.

XXXII. XXXV. XXXVL XLVI. I.1.

2. 3. 4. 6. 6. 17. 30. 39. 44. 46. 48. 49.

51. 63. 65. 82. 92. 113. 115. 140. 142.

II. 7. 9. 55. 72. 73. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84.
85. 102. 103. 104. 107. 110. 113. 114.
115. 117. 111. 129. 130. 131. 135. 136.

137. 138. 139. 142. 143. 144. 145. 200.

208. III. 38. 107. 122. 132. 139. 140.
141. 142. 143. 144. 145. 146. 147. 148.
149. 150. 163. 242. IV. 26. 122. 125.

126. 129. 131. 198.
von Bismarck, to I. 91. IV. 122.
Blue IV. 42. 4
von Bleichröder, V. LVII. I. 3. 5. 17. 55.

98 II. 147. 151. 154. 159. 163. 165.

168. 169. III. 102. 103. 104. 107. 108.
55 135. 141. 142. 145. 146. 147. 148.

Blind V. XLIV.

Blumenthal, Oscar, IV. 124. 131.

Blumenheim IV. 68. 71. 72.

Böhmert, Dr. Victor, IV. 201.

Bohmke IV. 41.

Bokhor 11155 Salonikli, Michone, IV. 12. 19.

Bontoux III. 69.

Boos V oh I. 44. 45. 75. II. 139.

Borfig, A, I. 4. 112. II. 49. 50. 80.

Bosmann I. 7

Boß, Heymann, IV. 68. 69. 70. 71. 74.

Boulanger III 105. IV. 220. 221. 222.

Bouree IV. 186.

von Brandt, Heinrich, I. 67. 145.

von Brandt, Maximilian, V. XX. XXII.
XXXII. XLVII. XLVIII. LVI–LAXL. I
II. III. 100. 101. 119. 132. 136. 137.
140. 143. 144. 145. 173. 177. 178. 179.

255

—

181. 216. 248. 249. 250. 251. IV. 123.

140. 142. 143. 144. 145. 146. 213. 229.
von Brandt, Colonel, I. 67. 145. IV. 140.
von Brandt, Police President, IV. 112.
Braßmann III. 10. 104.

of Brunswick, IV. 144.

Brentano III. 226. IV. 166.

Briedenbeck IV. 32.

Brillat Savarin B. XVII

Briman see Juftus.

von Brixen=Hahn I. 41. II. 68.

von Bruck, Ludwig, IV. 2.

de Brunetiere I. 140.

Bucher, Lothar, III. 145. IV. 123.

Buchheifter, JJ, I. 9. 77. I. 111. 203.

Buchheister Jr. A. 37. 77. II. 67.

Buchholtz IV. 30. 31. 5 36. 37. 38. 45. 66,

Budeus, F0, III. 4

Buhrow, e IV. 28. 30.
32nd

C.

Sagtite III. 114.

Cahn, Dr. W., IV. 122.

Camiz, Vittorio, IV. 215. |

Cammell Bros in Birmin em II. 55.

Cannaught, Ps von, III. 96.

Caprivi V. LVI–LXI. I. 62. III. 207.

Carlyle V. XL. IV. 205.

a ae of Württemberg I. 149.

v. desen arge. 1 49.

Cartwright J.

Caffel, Paulas, i 91. 137. III. 118. 119.

Cavallo, Jules, III. 52.

de St. Cére, Jacques, see Rofenthal.

Khalifa III. 208. 209.

Chamberlain, then III. 214

Chang Pei=lun II. 206.

Chateaubriand III. 90.

Chiarini IV. 5.

Child II. 74. 96.

Chinamann, John, II. 67.

180 250 1. 130. III. 125. 161. 179.

Chi. Hui I. 59. 60. 61. IV. 182. 183. 184.

Chryfander III. 148.

Chubli IV. 18. 23.

Claar IV. 127. 132.

Clairon d'Hausonville IV. 44.

Clamroth, 1 IV. 37.

Claudius III.

Clement V, Chapter I, 168.

Cleveland I. 10. 122.

Cocker, Captain, II. 205.

Cohen, Albert, III. 162.

Cohn, Ed., III. 52.

Cohn, Siegbert, III. 158.

Cohn=Deffau III. 108.

Cohnheim III. 164. 241.

Conrad IV. 39.

Conradi III. 201. 202.

Consalvi III. 117.

Confolini, Marquis of III. 116.

Devrient IV. 131.

Dickhoff IV. 98.

Dielitz IV. 103.

von Dies.=Daber V. LXI. III. 150.

Dietz IV. 102.

Dietze I. 157.

Disraeli V. XXXVIII. III. 107. 130. 131.

248. IV. 140. 207. 213. 223.

Domitian III. 114.

[ul j 1 V. XVII. XLVIII.] Dom Pedro II, Emperor of Brazil, I. 147.

14. 59. 93. IV. 146. 147. 148.

f from Douglas, Sholto, I. 155. 156. 157.

149. 150. 151. 152. 194.

Colquhoun, Archibald, II. 66.

Corbin, Austin, I. 110. IV. 199.

Cordes & Co., A., II. 91.

Cordes, C., II. 170.

Corneilhan V. XLV. III. 248.

Costa, Israel, III. 52.

Courbet, Admiral, II. 207. III. 166.

Coumany, Alexis, I. 66.

Cox I. 38. 76. II. 163. 210.

Cramer & Buchholtz I. 9. I. 202. 203.

Crémieux I. 92. 140. III. 40. 48. 46. 47.

48. 92. 139. 162. 248. IV. 10. 19. 75.

Crémieux, Hector, III. 237.

Crispi IV. 219.

Curtius, III. 73.

Caesar IV. 57. 60. 62.

Cfernatony IV. 58.

Cybulia, Onophrius, IV. 67. 68. 91.

D.

Dahlitz IV. 39.

Daniels, Alexander, III. 52.

Daube, GL, III. . 55.

Davidfohn I. 84. IV. 25

Delbrück V. LAXIL I. 122. III. 82. 83. 84.

IV. 195. 213.

Delitzfsch V. XXXII. II. 9. 85. 85. IV. 175.

Delfa, Government Councillor, IV. 47.

Denzin IV. 33. 34.

Derenbourg, Joseph, III. 52.

Derjawine III. 2. 68. 64. 65

Dernburg, Fritz, I. 52. 56. 84. 157. IV.

100. 117.

Deronda, Daniel, I. 90. III. 88. 89. 149.
"Henry, V. LXII. IV. 3. 4. 5. 9.

3

Detring, Eveline, I. 47. 74. II. 111. 112.

198

Detring, Gustav, I. 8. 9. 46. 74. 75. 76.
II. 104. 111. 118. 134. 184. 196. 197.

Deutsch, Dr., III. 185.
German de Hatvan, Bernhard, III. 52.

German Social Papers III. 76. 96. 147.
169. 170. 181. 183. 201. 220. 221. 232.

IV. 9. 82. 83. 92. 98. 121. 125. 176
217. 218.

7

III. 50. 97. 240.

158. IV. 169.

by Douglas, Wilhelm, I. 156. N

Dreyfus III 52. 179. 180. IV. 189. 220.

Dropsie, Moses, III. 52.

Drumont V. LXII, I. 83. 86. 90. 93. 101.
121. 123. 140. 152. III. 72. 74. 75. 80.
81. 84. 88. 89. 93. 115. 118. 148. 161.
165. 166. 177. 178. 242. 243. 246. IV.
8. 146. 152. 188. 194.

Dubois=Reymond, Professor, IV. 151. 152.
153. 163. 164.

Duri depron Claude, IV. 164.

Dudgeon, Dr., I. 9. 10. 23. 27. 28. 29.
31. 33. 34. 35. 38. 39. 40. 71. 72. 92.
93. 99. 100. II. 107. 108. 109. 121.
122. 123. 142. 147. 148. 153. 154. 156.
0 161. 162. 163. 189. 190. 191. 209.

Dühring, Eugen, I. 102. 139. III. 11. 128.
191. 226. 229. 233. 256. IV. 152.

Dunn, JJ, I. 76. II. 111. 112.

Duttengofer IV. 215.

Dyex, Ludwig, IV. 3.

E.

Ebel IV. 40. 0

S Ludwig von Württemberg I. 149.

150th

Ebers, Georg, I. 158.

Ecker, Dr. Jacob, III. 3. 5. 10. 11. 12.
36. 37. 389. IV. 77. 78. ö

Effendi, Mohamed, see Yakoub=el=Antabi.

Ehrlich, S., IV. 84. 86. N

Eichhorn, Rudolf, III. 124.

Einhorn, Wolf, IV. 84. 87.

Eisenmenger III. 10. 39. 40.

Elias III. 198.

Ellenberger, Heinrich, III. 36.

Emans 1. 25. 27. 70. II. 75. 100.

Emin Pasha III 204. 205. 206. 207. 210.

Angel IV. 36. 42.

Engels, Friedrich, IV. 176. 177. 199.

Eötvös IV. 57. 62.

Ephruffi III. 242.

Eppstein IV. 186.

Erbach III. 7.

Erich I. 7.

[Erichfson III. 9.

Erlanger, Michel, III. 52.

be alu III. 115.

lenburg J.
Exner I. 7.
F.
Fabian IV. 39.
alk III. 145. 182. 207.
arkas IV. 54.

rkhi, Mehir, IV. 14. 15. 19.
arkhi, Mourad, IV. 15. 19.

Fark i, Raphael, IV. 19.
arkhi, Doucef Menakem, IV. 15. 19.

Faustemann III. 254.

Favier II. 161.

geildenfelb III. 52.

Feindel, Sn I. 41. 42. 44. 45. 47.
74. II. 71. 93. 94. 97. 98. 101. 102.
103. 105. 108. 113. 114. 122. 123. 133.
138. 139. 140.

125 sus IV. 209. 211.

ing & 60. IV. 227.
inzi, Vito, IV. 216.
Ischer, Bernhard, III. 128. 245.
Flavius, Clemens, III. 114.
Focke II. 139. 201.
ödrich of Biala IV. 83. 87.
von Forckenbeck IV. 125.
Fornoraki, nn N 8.
Fournier, MH, IV.
Franchette III. 161.
Jan III. 52
anz Jofef von Oeft 0 III. 95.
. 116. IV. 62.

0 Aslan, IV. 19.
a

Franzos, Emil, V. XXIV
razer, John, II. 189.
rentzel I. 56. IV. 168. 169.

l Carl, I. 84. IV. 117. 118. 119.

Freytag, Guftap, V. LV. I. 138. III. 94.

by Friedberg V. XXV. I. 90. 91. 118.

124. III. 78. 157. 177. 178.

von Friedenthal, Pino, V. XXIV.

Re I. 109. 119. III. 145.

riedmann, Siegwart, III. 226.

Frederick I of Prussia III. 39. 40.

Frederick II of Prussia III. 153.

80 0 III., 9 1 Kaiser, II. 8. IV.

83. 93. 94 95.

Frederick, Empress 2 LIV.

Frederick William I of Prussia III. 94.

Friedrich Wilhelm IV of Prussia III. 111.

Friedrich, Wilhelm, III. 201. 202.

Fröbel Th., V. XLIX. III. 7. 11. IV. 178.

röbel Julius, III. 250.

v. in N OREUIEENN, Countess, III. 7.

Fuld, M., III. 52.

G.

Gaddane IV. 1.

Gallifet III. 115.

IV

257

Gambetta I. 92. IV.

207.

Bere Ne Se 68.

Gartz II

Gehrke IV. 70

Geifenberg IV. 40.

Gervalon, Antoine.

Geyer, Friedrich III. 227.

Giers IV. en

SER. "V. XIX.

Giovanni 217.

Gladstone III. 226.

Glagau, Otto, V. XLIII. I 56. 155. III. 78.
79. 194. IV. 8. 50. 51– 79. 94 120.
122. 166– 172. 177. 178.

by Gneist, Rudolf Dr., IV. 201.

Gödsche V. XLV. XLVI. III. 56.

Goethe III. 248.

Göschel, Minister, V. IX. I. 121. 122. 137.
III. 80. 81. 82. IV. 226.

Göfchen, Georg Joachim, III. 81.

85 en, Johann Friedrich Ludwig. III 81.
i I. 121. 122.

Goldberger III. 108.

ane III. 52. 145.

Goldfmid, Sir Julian, III. 52.

Goltz, Bogumil, III. 229. 955 161.

von der Goltz, Bernhardt, I. 12. 18. 19.
25. 26. 27. 28. 82. 41. 169 70. 144.
II. 1. 2. 3. 5. 6. 68. 89. 105. 125. 142.
143. 188. 189. 209.

Gordon II. 206.

by Goßler, Minister, 1. 133. III. 107.
122. 123. 145. 188. 231. IV. 166 – 177.

– Chancellor, IV. 170. 171.

Gould, Jay, I. 122. III. 249. IV. 200.

Graef, Guftav, I. > 795 IV. 1. 94 – 120.

Graetz, Dr., III. 5

von Grävenitz, Wilhelmine, I. 149. 150.

Granowsky, 3 IV. 92. 93.

Grant, Ulysses, I. 110.

Graffo II. 148. 149 150. 166. 168. 170.
173. 176. 178. 184. 185. |

Grau, Seiebrig), III. 238.

Greger III. 38.

Gregorovius IV. 9.

Greindl, Baron, III. 107.

Greifer IV. 37.

Greifow IV. 37.

Grévy V. XXV. III. 179. 180.

Gronemann, Dr., III. 174. 175.

Güßfeld, Dr., V. XXXI. III 108.

Guitean V. XLVL

Guttmann III. 52. 188.

Gyp IV. 224

H.

e ff e III. 55.

Haber IV

Hachette Bookstore III. 72.

Hacke, Severin, IV. 79. 80. 81.

Haebler, Konrad, I. 154.

Hagen, Sigmund, IV. 209.

Halevy III. 236. 237.

Hall IV. 203.

Hammacher I. 155.

Hammermann IV. 97. 101. 102. 113.

Hammermann, Helene, IV. 96. 97.
102, 113

von Hammerstein III. 219.

Se Ss & Schmidt – Leipzig II. 157.

Hancock, William, I. 39. 73.

Handel III. 238.

von Hänifisch, Director of the general War Department in Berlin, II. 202.

by Hannecken, Constantin, I. 9. 15. 40.
57. 62. 66. 69.
136. 204 205. 206. 207.

Hansemann 1. 52.

Hanser, Harduin, II. 159.

Harbrecht, I. 149.

Hariffson, Benjamin, I. 123

Hart, Sir Robert, I. 8. 18. 19. 38. 39.
70. 71. 77. 128. II. 103. 108. 113. 133.
134. 136. 161. 210. 211.

Hartogh III. 52.

Hartwig, Georg, IV. 129.

ale IV. 22.

III 241.

Haßfeld I. 113.

e II. 178. 184.
eifelder, O., II. 43.

ven 1 5 I. 86. 90. III. 79. 106.
112. 126. 232. 233. 241. 248. IV. 156.

Heinemann IV. 106. 109. 110. 111. 116.
117. 118. 119. 120.

Henry XIV of Le de Greiz III. 218.

von Helldorf=Bebra I. 157.

Helmholtz. IV. 152. 153.

Henke IV. 27.

Hen on Rhyn I 149. III. 230.

. Dr. all V. XLIV. IV. 24. 25.

Henter IV. 85

Hermann II, 5 II. 171. 178.

Herodotus III. 96.

Hersko . De 59.

Hertz I.

Hertzfeld, ae I. 123. III. 177.

Herz, Markus, III. 98. 229. 230.

Herz, Simon, IV. 83. 86. 89.

Heffe, Lucian, III. 52.

Sepbemann, Gustav, IV. 28. 29. 30. 31.

38. 43. 45. 47. 5

Heydemann, Frau, IV. 41.

. Hirsch, IV. 28. "op, 30. 31.

5. 38. 42. 48. 45. 47. 48.

Ber Heyden IV. 118.

Hildebrandt, Adolph III. 145.

Hildesheimer, Hirsch, V. XI. V. III. 37.

148. 174. 175. 176. IW. 209.

101st

208.

from 258 =

Sit ers, yolep III. 113.
5 2 a

47 B. XXXNI. III. 108.

Hinz, Baron, V. XXXIX. III. 52. 133.
134. 135. 242. 243. 249.

Hilton, Judge, IV. 199.

Höflich, Abraham, II. 111. IV. 140. 186. 137.

Hoeft IV. 66. 69. 71. 72.

Hoffmann IV. 33. 38. 39.

Hohenlohe, 0 III. 121.

von Hohenthal 1

Holdheim I. 84.

olleben III. 78.

from n III. 160.

Wood 110.

en IV. 56. 57. 60.

75. II. 56. 87. 112 125. Howard, Henry, I. 66.

Hfü Cheng Chü I. 59.

Hübner IV. 30. 35. 37.

Hugo, Victor, I. 138.

Huguenin I. 114.

Hummelcke I. 33. 37. 70. II. 166. 160.
Huri IV. 54.

Huri, Woman, IV. 54.

J.

Ibert, en IV. 34. 35.

Ibrahim IV. 22. 74.

Ibrahim Pafha IV. 20.

See I. 138.

Ihlami 1 IV. 225.

Jim II. 188. 189.

Ilgner, senior lieutenant, I. 78.

Imbeck, C., I. 33. 73.

Infeffura IV. 9

Innocen Vill IV. 9.

Iranyi IV. 54.

Isaac, the Don, I. 130.

Isaac,

Saat, I. 84. IV. 5 102. 103.

Ifidore III. 162.

N Siegmund, III. 204.

ferles, 1 III. 5. 6.

Istoczy IV

Sa Rare IV. 83. 86. 87. 89.

Jacobi III

Jacobi, Michel de, IV. 3.

Jäger III. 79. 117.

Jahnke IV. 33.

James IV. 3.

Jamieson, Colin, 1. 58.

Jantzen II. 200.

Jardine Matheson & Co. I. 8. 61. 75. 76.

II. 87. 88. 99. 110. 111. 112. 115.

125. 126. 203.

Jaffe, Friederike, IV. 32. 38.

Jauß 1. 9.

Jeanrenaud I 33. 73.

Jencke V. LXII. I. 52. 53. 54. 62. 76.

78. 80. 98. IV. 191.

u Zu 0 = 2 ZZ

Joeft, Wilhelm, I. 92

Jenner IV. 11.
Seröme, King of sogen, III. 97.

196. 197. 198. 199.
Johl IV. 104. 105. 106.
Jordan IV. 40.

| Joseph I, Emperor of Austria, III. 40.

Joseph I. 94.

Jof pphlen, 'Hermann, IV. 68. 69. 70. 71. |

Jen Shop IV. 70. 72.
Fefepptgge N: 52.

61st
Juvenal V. XVIII. III. 73.

K.
Kahn, W., III.

Koch I. 133. III. 187. 188. 189.
Koczis, Joseph, 1

193. IV. 195. Konig Dr.,

Kohut III. 147.

Kompert, I. 116.

Koppel, Arthur, J 47. III. 215.
von Korff, Baron, III. 104.
Kornisz IV. 58. 59. 60. 61. 65.
Korny IV. 91.

Koschiella, Franciska, IV. 70.
3 yo IV. 70.

ottek

Kraus, Atte von, IV. 77.

Krause, Member of Parliament, he = 156.
a Bernhard, I. 50. 51. 52.
von Krencki II. 139.

145th

Kahn Jadoc III. 52. 89. 161. 177. IV. 145. Krischen IV. 97. 101. 113.

Kahnheim III. 164. 241.
Kajiyama I. 66.

Kainz, Mop III. 97.
Kalb, Moritz, I. 80. IV. 192.
von Kalte, Baron, IV. 5.
von Kalnocky III. 133. 134.
Kandelhardt IV. 102.
Kanghi, Emperor of Ana, II. 22.
1 (Kakoczy) IV

Kapitz 33.

Charles V, 1111 87.

Karr, cgi I. 130.
Kafcht el

Katz I. 127.

Kaul IV. 35.

| ur a Dr., V. XXIV. XXXIV.

Kroll, Seamstress, IV. 70.
Kronau IV. 157.

| Krüger IV. 35.

pp LEG! B. XXIII. XXXIV. LIII.
40. 54. 61. 73. 75. 76. 78. 94. 98.

Ii 51. 87. 111. 115. IV. 184. 185. 187.

Küster I. 10. 15. 70.

Kugraf, 8 IV. 32.

Kuntze II. 184.

Kuo II 50th

e Rufferom I. 75. III. 145.

L.

de Lagarde, Paul, III. 48. 140. 256. IV. 79.

Lainez III. 117

. 91. 92. III. 107. 108. 119. Landerer, L Jaa, IV. 83. 86.

145. 1 IV. 122. 123.

Keckermann IV. 70.

Keller IV. 45.

von Ketteler, Clemens, Baron, V. LX.

I. 2. 12. 13. 14. 15. 20. 27. 40. 41. 46.

54. 57. 62. 63. 68. 75. 78. 81. 86. 93.

94. 97. 144. 148. II. 72. 84. 85. 86. 87.

88. 89. 104. 112. 115. 117. 120. 123.

124. 125. 126. 128. 131. 134. 138. 139.

143. 208. III. N 178.

Kierulff Frieda, I.

Kierulff, Peter, I. 255 73. II. 74. 76. 163.

Kimon III. 131. 132.

an a. III. 50.

Kisz

Klausner, Jacob, IV. 83. 86. 89.

Klausner, M. 925 IV. 136. 137.

Klec, Joseph, IV. 7.

Kleefeld, I 92

Kleinholz IV. 110.

Kleft=Retzow IV. 152.

Knaus IV. 118.

Kobak IV. 55.

Landsberg . XLIV. III. 49.

Lang II. 207

ie 679 I. 18. 25 26. 36. 69. II. 188.

. . 'm 35.

de Lannes V. XLVIII.

Lanzberg, District Judge, III. 181.

Lasker J. 82. III. 77. 83. 109. 139. IV. 189.

Laffalle III. 107. 224. 225. 226. 227. 228.

Laurent, Achille, III. 11. IV. 5. 10. 75.

Lautenburg, e IV. 131.

Lazarski, V. 86.

Lazarus, Moritz, I. 115. III. 48. 155. 181.

Ledebour IV. 135.

Legnado, Youcef, IV. 19.

Lehmann, Leonce, III. 52.

Lehmann, Lilli, IV. 25.

Lenz I. 21. 22. 23. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29.

69. II. 86. 100. 107. 121. 122. 126.

188, 209

Leo the Great IV. 1.

Leopold II, King of the Belgians, III. 107.

Leopold J., Emperor of Austria, III. 39.

*

Friedrich Leopold, Princess of Prussia,
III. 96

Leopold of Saxe-Coburg, III. 220.
en Hirsch, IV. 28. 29. 30. 31. 38.
. 37. 40. 41. 43. 44. 48.

cn. Leo, IV. 28. 29. 31. 33. 35. 40.
41. 42. 43. 44. 48. f

Lessing, Ephraim, III. 231. 232.

Lessing, Julius Dr. Prof., I. 56. 84. IV.
106. 107. 143.

Leuven IV. 152.

Leven, Nareffise, III. 52.

Levi, Clemente, IV. 216.

Leévi, Ernest, III. 52.

see Joseph, I. 127.
Levi, Ifidor, I. 47.

Levi, Leone, I. 108.

Levi, 1 IV. 4.

Levi, the dead, V. LIII. III. 76.

Levin, Rachel. III. 98. 229. 230. 233.

Levinfstein III. 195. '

Levy III. 188. 189.

Levy, Nachmann, III. 8.

Lewin I 84. 109. IV. 106.

Leyde IV. 28. 43.

Liebknecht III. 228.

Favorite IV. 35.

of Liechtenstein, Prince Alfred, III.

of Liechtenstein, Prince Alois, III. 7. 217

of Liechtenstein, Prince Franz, III. 7.

by EN Prince Henry, III. 7.

Songs I

Li Jong Pao I. 59. II. 51. 52. 53. 54.
55. 56

Li Hung Chang I. 7. 8. 9. 10. 12. 15. 16.

24. 40. 45. 46 65. 66. 74. 75. 78.

– II. 1. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 7. 8. 9. 10. 11.
28. 29. 33. 37. 38. 39. 43. 45. 50. 51.
52. 53. 54. 57. 58. 61. 68. 72. 74. 75.

76. 77. 83. 85. 88. 89. 90. 94. 98. 99.
100. 101. 102. 105. 109. 110. 111. 113.
116. 117. 119. 122. 124. 127. 131. 132.
134. 141. 142. 143. 144. 203. 204. 205.

206. 207. 208. III. 100.

Liman I. 84. IV. 106.

Limon III. 52.

Lindau, e IV. 122.

Lindau, Paul, V. XXIX. I. 56. 81. 85.
97. 112. 116. 138. 137. III. 145. 189.
231. 234. IV. 108. 115. 116. 117. 118.

V. XXIX. I. 5. 43. 53.
62. 67. 68. 76. 85. 112. 113. III. 97.
107. 136. 143. 145. 181. IV. 121. 122.

121. 139. 213.

Lindau, Rudolph, V

123. 213.

Lindenau IV. 55

Lindeck, 1

Liot I.

Lipka I. 85.

Lipperts 85 188

48, see Levi, Ifidor.

260

nn III. 182. 183.

Liu Han Fang II. 110.

Liu Ming Chuan II. 9.

ann 1 dla Fürft –, I. 66.

Lockroy a

Löhr, en. I. 10. 15. 70.

Löwe, Ifidor, III. 146.

Löwe, Ludwig, V. LI. IV. 153. 154. 218.

Lion, Wolf, IV. 31. 32.

une, Adolf, IV. 28. 29. 31. 35. 36.

Löwenberg, Julius, IV. 88. 86. 89.

. Schmul, IV. 85.

Lo Fong Loh l. 66. II 166.

Lolli, Eude, III. 52.

Louis Philippe III. 92.

de Luca, Ferdinand, I. 58.

by Lucanus V. XXXI.

Lucca, Pauline, III. 144.

Loyola III. 117.

de Lucinière, Cornulier, I. 127.

by Lucius V. XXV. I. 90. 91. 133. III.

by Luck B. LXII. I. 148. III. 178.

Ludwig II of Bavaria III. 95. 97. 220. 242.

Lüder II. 139.

Lühdorff III 145.

Lurix, Benjamin, III. 52.

Ifaak, Lurja III. 35.

Luther III 76. 112. 139. 186.

Luttofsch IV. 27.

Luzzatti, Jakob, IV. 219.

DEE

M.

Macartney, Halliday, II. 49.

by Madai, Police= Bräfient, 11 XXV.
1. 109. III. 102. 145. 177.

Magnus V. XXV. III. 146.

Malherbe IV. 147. 148.

Mallinger III. 88.

Manaffe IV. 43.

Some V. XLVII. I. 141. 142.

de Mondion. Maurel IV. 180. 181. 182.

Mandl V. LIV. LXIII. I. 8. 15. 40. 46.
47. 51. 53. 59. 60. 61. 62. 69. 75. 76.
77. 78. 80. 94. 98. 142. 147. II. 87. 88.
99 111. 112. 125. 134. 202. 293. III.
100. 101. 249. IV. 123. 130. 183. 184.
185, 187

Manning IV. 224.

Mankowski IV. 69. 71. 72. 73.

Manuel, Eugene, III. 52.

Mordechai III. 82. 98.

Marks, Benjamin, III. 213

Marks, Henry, III. 212. 213. 214. 215.

Marquard IV. 35.

by Marshal V. LIX. III. 107.

Martial III. 229. IV. 134.

Marx, Karl, III. 157. 158. 226. 227. 228.

Maffarani, Tullo, IV. 216. '

Matthias I. 44. II. 130. 188

—

u 261

Matej, Ignatz, IV. 5

de Maupaffant, Guy "in. 208.

de Maurel, . III. 150.

. . 13. 17. II. 35. 49. 80.
130. 131. 144. 198. III.

Mayer, Dr., IV. 28.

Mayer, Gaston, III. 52.

Medring, Franz, III. 227.

r '137. 138. 139.

Mehemed Ali IV. 20. 21.

Melzner IV. 71.

Mendel V. LXI. III. 198.

Mendelsohn III 191. 192. 201. 229.

241.

—

75th

Mendelssohn, e 98.229. 230.233.

Mendelssohn, Felix, III. 2

Mendelssohn, Bene, III. 229.

Merlato IV. 19.

Messerschmidt 1. 36. 42.

Mefchfchersky IV. 231.

Meynié, Georges, III. 153. 208.

3 ENDS, V. XX. II. 174. III.

Meer, Arthur III. 106.

Meyer, Ferdinand, III. 52.

Meyerbeer III. 104. 236. 237. 238.

Michaelis, C. B III. 40.

Michaelis V. LXII.

Mickie, A., I. 76. 80. II. 110.

Midhat Pafha III. 97.

Mihalkovics IV. 57.

Milan III. 97.

von Minnigerode I. 157.

Miquel V. LXII. I. 155. III. 107. IV. 177.

Mirbeau, Octave, I. 141. III. 165

MitkiewiczGraf '1.10. II. 57. IV. 192. 193.

Mnich, Franciska, IV. 50. 51. 65.

von Möllendor

II. 127.

Möwes IV. 35.

Mohr, Alexander, III. 96.

Moldavo, IV. 75.

von Moltke III. 100. IV. 159.

Mondovi, P. de, IV. 10

Monheimer, Heinrich, III. 8

i ae I. 92. 139. 140. III.

1. 55. IV. 20. 75. 89.

Montez, olg III. 156.

Moorhouse II. 121.

Mordecal III. 89.

Mordhorst, O., II. = 189. 190.

Mor lb Lina, I . 96. III. 70. 71.

de Moris, IV. 149. 150. 194. 220.

Morris de Jonge V. LXI. I. 133. III.

195–198. 201.

Morton, Levi P., I. 123.
Moscheles III. 288. IV. 173. a Motel IV. 192

Moses, Baron von, I. 131.

Moffe, Rudolf, VL III. 55

= e, Landes Sgericiärat, 1 er, 118. 122.
. 183. IV. 195. 213 5

89. 100. 107. 110. 113. 115. 129.

IV. 135. 136.

von Moßner III. 108.

Mourad=el=Fathal IV. 14. 15. 16. 17. 19.
5 8 N . V. XLVI. III.

Mozart III. 238.

Munck IV. 20.

von Mühler III. 121. 122. IV. 172. 178.
Müller III. 38.

Müller, Sandesgerichtöbiretor, IV. 96. 98.

103. 104. 105. 106. 107. 109. 116.

Munckel 1. 49. 138. IV. 111. 137. ee: =Ben=Ismail, Bey of Tunis,

by Mylius III. 38.
Myres I. 59. 60. 72 76. II. 108.
183. 184. 185.

IV.

N.
Napoleon I. III. 97. 232.
Napoleon III III. 115. 237. IV. 232.

Naguet, Alfred III. 93. 106. 251.
by Nathusius III. 231.
Naudh III 97. 106. 120. 151. 152. 153.
186. 251. IV. 160.
Nedhim Pafha III. 133.
Netter, Arnold, III. 52.
Neumann, Angelo, IV. 127. 132.
Neumann, Julius, V. LIV. LV. I. 127.
128. IV. 194.
Neumann, S., III. 52.
Neustadt, Julius, I. 89. IV. 139 –146. 187.
Nicholas, Grand Duke of Une, III. 7.
Nobiling I. 109. III. 101
Notko III. 64.
Nordau, Max, I. 115.
Novikoff IV. 224.
Nydegger & Baumgart, Buchhandl., III. 43.

O.
O'Connell IV. 121. 122.
Oechelhäuser I. 155. |
Ofenheim V. LXII.
Offenbach III. 152. 155. 237.
Ohlendorff III. 145.
Onody, IV. 7. 56.
Oppenheim IV. 225
Oppenheim, PM, III. 52.
Oppenheimer, Süß, I. 140. 150. 151.
Oppenheimer & Co., I. 127.
Oppert IV. 188
Oppert, Jules, III. 52.
d' Ormay IV. 162.
Ofchinsky, Th., III. 5
Osman Bey B. KLIV. I. 140. III. 1.46.
50. 55. 97. IV. 233.
Ottolenghi III. 155. IV. 215.

P.

Pasch, go. Reg. Nath, II. 80. 82.

Paasch, Banquier, II. 148. 151. 154. 155.
164 165. 168. 169. 171. 176.

– 262 –

Pale Oberförfter, II. 119. 120. a Won III. 56.
allavicini, es e III. 7. Reczky IV

re? Bishop, IV. Reim, Marie, IV. 113.
Pander, E., 8 I. 18. 24. 31. 35. Reichenheim I. 53.
36. 39. 72. es N 113. 192. Reimann IV. 68.
Pascal, III. 48. 4 Reinach, Salomon, III. 52.
Passavant I. 48. 51. | Reinach, Theodor, IV. 20.
Paul IV. 55. 58. Reitenbach, John, IV. 168.
Paul IV. 191. Rider I. 142.
de Pavly, Jean, u 7. 8. 9. 12. Renan, Ernst, III. 7 33 nn Reteliif V. XLV. Klv. III. 56.
Peil, F., Rettich II. 138. 139.
Pelldram, iAlred, III. 114. 125. 138. 139. Reuleaux, Prof., I. 106.
Pèreire, Eugene, III. 52. Richard the Saint IV. 2
nope. De * 188. Richard, ee e IV. 68.
Pertz Richard, Timothy 1. 66. 128.
Peters, De Tır. 108. 206. RNichaud IV. 149.
Pfeil, Graf, IV. 176. Re Eugen, I. 82. 105. III. 109. 154.
Philip I. 84. IV. 169.

of Philippsborn I. 109. 110. II. 49. he 54 c. lee: I. 10. 97. 112.
Philippson, Dr. Ludwig, III. 48. 155. II. 4. 9

Picard, Ernest, III. 164. Rickert, Beine, I. 138.

Picciotto, Ifaak, IV. 14. 15. 19. Ringelmann III. 85.

Pieper IV. 33. 40. 45. von Ritter III. 145.
von Pilgrim III. 175. IV. 171. Ritter, Gittel, IV. 50. 51. 52. 65.
Pindter III. 146. IV. 138. Ritter, Moses, IV. 50. 52. 65.

Pinner III. 11. Robert the Holy IV. 2.
Pinoff IV. 28. 30. 83. 34. 44. 45. 46. 48. | Roberts, Geo., II. 197.
Pius IX III. 48. 111. 116. 117. Robinson, Hercules, IV. 179.

Pleyer IV. 71. Rockefeller, Son, IV. 290.

Po jocielsti IV. 51. | Rockhill I. 66. II. 161.
aft I. 127. "von" Rodenberg, Julius, I. 137. IIL 231.
50 ini IV. 127. 132. Roderus IV. 2

Ompeius V. XLVII. XL III. Rodrigues Camile, III. 52.

re Honoré, III. 208. Rodrigues, e 102 52.

ope idenngffp= 1 son, IV. 189. 1%. nn y Munoz J.

Pofchinger I Rogge III. 169.

Prague III 174. 175 a 2 August, III. 7. 9. 11. 78.
Prussian IV. 72. 73. 90. 111. 128. 148. 236. 237. 245. IV.
Pringsheim I. 96. 2. 10. 76. 77. 79.

Puig y Puig IV. 146. 146. Koen 10 III. 145.

von Puttkamer I. 91. III. 148. IV. 69. Rofen IV. 173. 6 1

Przybylski IV. 70. Rofenberg, Adolf, IV. 114.

Rosenblakt, Dr., IV. 86.

0 Rosenfeld, Jules, III. 52.

x Rosenstock, never IV. 106.

Quaro, Joseph, III. 4. 5. 6. | > en al, 5 116. 117.

0

N Rother, Anna, IV. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100

. -102. 105. 106. 110. 111. 112.

Raabe III 10. Rother, Arfoftf IV. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100

von Racowitza, Bene née v. Dönniges, - 102. 110. 55

III. 224. 225. 226. ee nn . 96. 97. 98. 99. 100

Radenhausen, C., III. 80. 187. 251. 107. 108. 110. 112. 118,

Radwanski IV. 50. 114. eo

Radziwill, W an, III. 220. Rother, N, IV. 1

Raphael I ae XXVII. L 159 160. III. 7.

Raschdau, P., III. 107. 145. 162. 240. 241. 242. 243. 249. 251.

Ratti-Menton IV. 5. 16. 17. 19. 20. 22. IV. 145. 204. 222.

von Ser upt I. 157. von Rottenburg I. 157.

- Ravenna, Leone, III. 52. Rougeyron III. 171. 248.

Rouslane IV. 24.

Rudolp 999 Austria III. 97.

Rülf II

by Akteufiein Baroness, III. 220.

Rump, brothers, Carl and Emil, I. 41.

9115 153. 189. 190.

Upprecht of Bavaria III. 96.

Auf Charles, III. 214.

Rulllius, ee Prefekt, III. 78.

| Rzeszow IV. 5

N

S.

Schwarz IV. 61. 63.

Schwarzer III. 116.

Schweinburg V. XXV. 109. Iv. 138.

Schwenninger III. 146.

von Seckendorf, E., I. 81.

See, Ad., III. 52.

von Seemen II. 171.

de Segur V. XLVIII.

Seiffert, Eduard, IV. 58. 59. 60. 61. 64

Seligmann 1. 111. IV. 191.

Selenoi IV. 229.

Selim III. IV. 4.

Selinger, Ifidor, III. 160.

* „„ Leopold, I. 115. 116. ,aan, „ N 28. 31. 33. 34.

Sachs, 1. 111.

Sachs, Moritz, III. 96.

Salisbury IV. 226.

Salomon I. 84.

Salomonfohn I. 84. IV. 102.

Salvendi, A., III. 52.

Saffoon III. 109. IV. 188. 190.

Savarin V. XVII.

Savine, Albert, IV. 9.

Scribe I. 130.

von Schabelsky. Elfe, IV. 127. 128. 129.

130. 131. 132. 133. 134. 135. 136. 137.

138. 139.

Scharenberg, Dr., ur 185. \

Sal Jo ph, IV . 54. 62. 63.

arf, Samuel, IV. 54. 55.

Scharff von Scharffenftein, III. 11. 12. 86.
7. 116. 117. 118. 121. 156. 158. 163.

855 Moritz, IV. 55. 61. 62.

237.

Scheidtweiler, Peter, I. 10. 15. 19. 29. 70.

Scherr, Johannes, III. 113

. IV. 28. 33. N 88. 39. 47.

Scheuthauer IV. 57. 60.

Schievelbein IV. 35.

= iller III. 247.

Schindler III. 238.

Sareget, . 0 III. 113. 229. 230.

Schmid 38. 39. 43.

Sg, 644 II. 101. 102. 103. 113.

164. 189. 190.

son 1 I. 94. 95.

Schnell

nen. Dr. iy. 89. 90.

Scholl, Aurelien, I. 86. 88.

von Scholtz V. XXV. III. 109.

Schopenhauer III. 80.

Schreiber III. 10. IV. 32. 47.

Schrameier, Dr., I. 44. 45. 47. 74. IL. 74.
79. 138. 139. 152. 154. 160. 162. 163.

von 151 N Graf, IV. 176.
S

unck V. Xv. an 109. IV. 138.
8 9 I. 5. 98. 145. 148.
Schwalb Il II. 110. 111.

SS GG G aG GG GGG SWG | "ERAARARARRARAARAR

0. 46

Serouios IV. 8.

Seyd Ali III. 209.

Seyd Bargafch III. 209.

Shang Chitung, II. 206.

set »Pafcha IV. 16. 17. 19. 21.
Shioda Saburo I. 58. 66.

Siebs II. 200.

Siegmund IV. 106.

Siemens, G, III. 146.

Simmel S., IV. 211.

Simon, Jules, III. 99. 288.

Simon, Moritz, IV. 170.

Simon von 1 V. 3.

Simon IV. 3

Simoncino, B., IV. 185

Simonowicz IV. 51.

Simfon, det, 1 90. 112.

von Sam Juftizrath, V. XX. I. 53.
136. 149. 166. 171. 173. 178. IV.

15 8 er P V. XX. XXI

–, Reichsgeri 1 räfidet, V.
XXV. XX ; N 1. 42 . 43. 53. 54. 83.
84. 114 115. 146. u. 5. 145. 178.
179. 181. 251.

Simpfon, Charles, IV. 194.

Ben „ IV. 166. 168.

Singer III. 228.

Sipos, Lidi, IV. 7.

e III. 199. 200. 201. 200.
Skobeleff II.

Smierłowicz, Joachim IV. 3.

Smilovics IV. 57.

Smith III. 213. 214. 215.

Soliman IV. 13. 1 17. 19.
. Efther, LV. IV. 54. 55.
0. 62. 65. 65. 91.
Sen Gabriele, IV. 54. 56. 57. ,58.

Solymofi. Johanne, Iv. 54. 56.
Solymofi, Sophie, IV. 54. 56.
Sonnemann, Löb III. 243.
Sonnenburg IV. 33. 35.

von Souvree I. 130.

Speranski III. 65.

Sperling IV. 38.

Stambouli, Aaroun, IV. 14. 15. 19.
Stanley III. 206.

Stein IV. 136. 137.

Stern III. 242.

Stern, Simon I 10. IV. 192.
Sternberg IV. 80.

Stille, Dr., V. LXI.

Stochlinski, Marcell, IV. 50.

. 52.

Stöcker V. XXXI. IV. 95 in. 115. 170.

172. 177.

von Stofch II. 49. 50.

Strack IV. 78.

Strauß III. 237.

Streich, K. J. I. 81.

von Stremayr IV. 52.

Strousberg IV. 170. 171.

Stubbe IV. 38.

Sullivan, Arthur. III. 237. IV. 226.

Suworin IV. 232.

von none, Anton, III. 7.

Swolken 7.

Szabo, Baer, 1 7.

Szprada . 73.

Sachau, Profeffor, IV. 172

T.

Tait, Dr., III. 81.

Takals, Andreas, IV. 4.

Talleyrand V. XLVII.

Tallieu I. 18. II. 154.

de Tani 1. 121.

a Na Graf, I. 64. 81. 82. IV.

5 Tobi III. 227.

Theobald IV. 2.

von Thile III. 38.

Thirkell II. 66.

Thomas, Francesco Antonio; Pater in Damascus, V. XXXVI. XXXVII. III.

11. 40. 41. IV. 6. 10–22. 74. 75. 91.

de Thounnes, Jean, I. 153.

Thümmel IV. 27.

Thuman IV. 103. 119.

Thurau IV. 73.

Thutan, Gottfried v. Tours, I. 153.

Tiberius III. 113

Tillich, Mathias, iv, 4.

Ting I. 60.

Tisza IV. 54. 55. 56. 64.

Touffene1 III. 75.

Travers II. 125. 139.

Traytler IV. 56. 57.

von Tresckow III. 160.

Wa

264 –

Tiens, marquis I. 9. 10. 18. 21. 28. 59.

66. 72. 93. 99. 100. II. 10. 108.

121 124.

Tung Mung Lan I. 60. Iv. 183.

Tweften 195 168.

Tychfen, O. G., III. 40.

u.

von Uechtritz III. 101. 102. 103. 104.

Unger, Philipp, I. 106.

VB.

Val, Dominicus, IV., 2.
Valere, Dee III. 65.
Valy IV. 9

Vanderbilt 1 123.

Vanfelow, Dr., IV. 39.
Varnhagen III. 229.

.. Vafili, Comte de, 11 130.
Veit, Dr., I. 117. 118.

Veronefe, Paul, IV. 117.

Vefpafian III. 113.

Vial, Dr., IV. 174. 175.

Victor, Dr. Clemens, III. 11. . 2.

Victor Emanuel J. 117.

Vigoureux III. 9.

von Vincke III. 38. ö

58000 Hans, IV. 154. 157. 163.

Virchow, Rudolf, V. L. I. 138. III. 67. 170.
190. 204. 231. IV. 57. 152– 166. 172.

Vital, Chajm, III. 35.

Vitoux, Georges, V. LVI.

Völk V. XXV.

Vogel, e I. 78.

Volterra III. 9

Vulkan. A.≈G. Stettin, V. LV. LVI. I. 4.

II. 49. 50 51. 53. 54. 55

W.

Wagner, Richard, III. 79. 284. 236. 238.
1 V. XXVII. III. 9. 10. 75.
80. 92. 112. 118. 123. 124. 178. 238.
246. 256.

von Wallerfen, III. 220.

Wallich I.

Walloth, Wilh., III. 201.

Walfham. John, I. 66.

Warfchauer J. 80.

Wafferberger n 86.

Wellhaufen V. I

Werner IV. 30. 39. 42. 43. aa Werner IV. 118.
„ III. 108.

em „von“ Treskow, V. LXIII. III. Wertheim V. LX

Trion, Guftave, I.

Tfchenk'ki>Tong IV. 179. 180. 181 182.

Wienäcker IV. Fr
Wilhelm I. I. 81. 82. 91. 109. III. 47.

82. 94. 100. 101. 103. 164.

265

—

Wilhelm II. V. XV. XXX–XXXIL LX. Würzburger III. 158.

I. 57. 156. 157. III. 83. 107. 108. 242. Wu Tafcheng II. 206.

von Wilmowski V. 1

von

Wolf III

Wolff, Albert, III. 242.

Wolff, Dr.. I. 84. IV. 106. 131.

Wolff, Großrabbiner, III. 52.

Wolff'sches Telegraphenbureau III. 142.

Wollner IV. 55.

de Wolski, Kalixt,
IV. 233

Wrangel I. 45. III. 160.

III. 2. 62. 65. 105.

Wu Ting Fang II. 110.

Y.

Dakoub=el=Antabi IV. 12. 13. 22. 23.

3.

Zadoc Khan III. 52. 89. 161. 177. IV. 145.

Zampa, Anna, IV. 7. |

Zelle, Referendar, IV. 28.

ibell IV. 36. 37.

ichy, Graf, III. 183.

ilinski IV. 71. 72. 73.

ola I. 95.

wick, Verficherungsagent IV. 32.

5 \ N ;
* z N ! — 0 8
4 .
and 1 — ;
„ * 5 5 B * 3
. in 8 x 5
8 . U
. 1
* * N 85 9
. 5 j a 8 8 x g : .
1 5 2

R / . a
8 .
R ; R : a 7 oh
- 2
5 1 5
. a ; „ . 2 n 5
* „ „
— 5 „ 8 8 Is Mi
: a „ 5 5 * f

In the following five articles: L The Talmud | II. The Alliance israélite universelle, III. The Jewish Press, IV. Speech by a Chief Rabbi, V. A Jewish political initiative,
I believe I have brought together all the material necessary for understanding Judaism and the way in which it rules the world today, and could use it as a guide.

serve all politicians and laymen who desire to shake off the yoke of Semitism.

The Jews have always denied and will continue to deny that such abominable teachings exist in the Talmud.
Shulchan Aruch and that they are followed. Do not believe it! On the contrary, there are even worse laws and these are also followed. Open your eyes and see what is happening in the world! The Jews will say that what I am saying about the Alliance israélite universelle is a lie. Do not believe it! Stick to the facts!

Not only I, but hundreds of others have had the opportunity to observe the work of the Alliance all over the world, and everyone who wants to see how this Alliance works has the opportunity to do so if he opens his eyes.

The Jews try to refute what Major Osman Bey claims about the Jewish press. They further say that at the Israelite council meeting in Cracow in 1840 it was not Sir Moses Montefiore who gave the infamous advice to take possession of the press.

Who said these words can be of no interest to us; we should stick to what is actually the case. They have the greater part of the press of the whole world either possesses power, or exerts an influence upon it, and indeed solely for their own, the Jews, interests and to deceive and stun us. In the same way, they control the most important telegraph and advertising bureaus and exploit them to plunder the non-Jews.

Cejembassy II. cl

Jews out.

I have added the speech of a Chief Rabbi to the work of Kalixt de Wolski's "La Russie juive". I have not been able to determine whether this speech was actually given or whether it is fiction is (see preface). This is also completely irrelevant. It is a masterpiece and shows the goals which Judaism, and with | what means it pursues.

Every man is able to judge how far the

The content of the speech corresponds to the current state of affairs, and

I call on our German landowners, our

German industrialists, our German merchants and our German clergy to consider the same.

The report by Derjawine (No. W) is authentic and a proof of all previous articles. It shows what Aue Corruption can and "how it is done".

May these five articles solve the "Jewish question"
help spread!

More Talm |

There Kalmud.

A few months ago I was in Berlin with a good Beÿ knew each other. This gentleman was otherwise a worldly man and a devout Christian. We began to talk about the Jewish question, and it turned out that, although he was well versed in the Bible, he took the question very lightly and mocked anti-Semitism.

I told him that he was wrong; the question was very serious and it was actually the duty of every good person, and especially of such a great patriot as he was, to at least examine the question. He should take a look at the legislation of the Talmud. But he praised the Jews and wanted to hear nothing. | a' | A few days later I received a letter from this gentleman in which he asked me where one could get the Talmud; he had asked around in various bookshops in vain.

The book was not available anywhere. | | I replied that the Talmud was a book forbidden to non-Jews and gave him Dr. Jakob Ecker's Judenspiegel im Licht der Wahrheit for his information, from which he could gain some knowledge of the Talmud. | After a few days he sent the book back to me without any further comments; and when I met him again, I asked him why he had sent the book back to me, since I had given it to him; and now it turned out that he had the book in his hands.

which had become like red-hot iron. And what do you think about that? I asked. "We must not tolerate such a religion among us!" was the categorical answer! | But where is your tolerance
then? — No answer! — -

What do you think we should do? — All Jews must be baptized and become Christians! — That will be of little use,
You can't force them to do this; even mock baptisms are allowed; further discussion was fruitless and my friend tried to banish the evil thoughts; he did it like the ostrich, which buries its head in the sand when it is persecuted. He had taken a look into the terrible future and was excited!

K

So let us see what the Talmud is: % | 3

—— ee ee — The e
. nn .-

RT

fables.

The sources of the Jewish nec.

f Since the Talmud is intended to teach how to interpret and obey the laws contained in the Bible, and since only a small part of the laws of the Talmud are contained in the Old Testament, the Talmud is to be regarded as the main source of Jewish law.

I. The Rabbis tell us that Moses on Mount Sinai to the Torah, the law that he wrote down on God's behalf, still receive explanations and additions that are not recorded,

but should be passed on from generation to generation through oral tradition.

II. As the Talmud assures, the law could not be completely abolished.
be written because no book could have contained the material; and only a small part was recorded, so that other peoples would not copy the laws and take them for themselves.

III. Since the Bible only seeks to explain and distort the Talmud is to be understood, and by far most Jewish laws only contained in the Talmud, so the Talmud is, in the opinion of the Orthodox Jews, far superior to the Bible, and this can hardly be considered as a source of law anymore.

IV. The Talmud does not contain the laws in a systematic order, but rather they are scattered throughout it, with extensive discussions and subtle musings and sophisticated fictions and hundreds of useless stories and childish efforts and

V. The Babylonian and Jerusalem Talmuds are not the only sources of Jewish law: other older

Works, primarily those between the end of the Mishnah and the

f Gemara e books are considered secondary sources 3

The Jewish Code of Law.

For practical reasons, one had to remember the essentials from the extensive sources ER and zu

to put together and | thus the Shulchan Aruch.

This book met all the requirements that could be placed on a legal code: by omitting all outdated regulations, it contained all the applicable laws in a clear presentation, in certain clear sentences and short paragraphs.

1. The Shulchan Aruch was written by Joseph Caro, Rabbi

| in the Palestinian city of Safet (born 1488, died 1575), who was already

a commentary on the Arba'a turim of Jacob Ben Aher

At the Shulchan Aruch, which contains the quintessence of

He worked on this larger work for over 20 years. The first edition appeared in Venice in 1565.

The ö Aruch. dh 1 Bugeritee Table 5 "covered N

A

— 5 —

The “Tisch” (cf. Exod. 23:41; Pf. 23:5) is divided into four sections, like N Arba'a turim.

2. Since in some minor points there are differences between the legal customs of the Orientals and Occiÿ dental, Moses Iserles, Rabbi in Krakow (born 1540, died 1573), who had also written a commentary on Arba a turim under the title Darkhe Moshe, wrote additions and corrections to all four parts of the Shulchan Aruch, which received exactly the same prestige among Western Jews as the words of Qaro.

3. Like the original Shulchan Aruch in the Orient, written by Rabbi Joseph Qaro, the one written by Moses Iserles was accepted in the Oceident as a legal code and generally recognized as the true legal code.

The Shulchan Aruch Bu, generally recognized as the true Jewish law book, is still valid up to the present day.
day. (From Dr. Jacob Eckers: The Jewish Mirror in the Light of Truth.)

Talmud and Shulchan Aruch are therefore for our purposes | equivalent

*

*

| To impart something from our religious teachings to a non-Jew, is equivalent to killing all Jews. For if the non-Jews knew,

If we were to do something to them, wouldn't they kill us all?
N Dibre David § 37.)

*

The key to Judaism is the Talmud, and whoever does not knows what the Talmud is, is absolutely incapable of understanding the history of Judah to deify and penetrate their secrets. mn des er Le juif, ©. 78.)

If you want to get to know a people and their actions yo one must first of all study ae a.

- *

No ruler, no clergyman, no officer, | no civil servant, no tradesman and no farmer, in short Nieÿ

Nowadays one can practice one's profession without knowing the laws of the Talmud. |

*

| The translation of the Talmud as well as that of the Shulchan Aruch has been attempted at various times. But almost always the Jews knew how to thwart it. Complete reportÿ

To my knowledge, no translations have been published at all, and the translators have always been hindered in their work.

From the following it may be seen how much value the Jews attached to the secrecy of the laws of the North

Prospectus. | j No

people on earth possesses such an extensive wealth

than Judaism. The so-called "Poÿeqim" and "Saalothÿuÿ theÿuboth" alone comprise more than ten thousand folios. Two outstanding Jewish scholars, Joseph Qaro and Moses Iÿerles, who lived around the middle of the fifteenth century, set themselves the task of writing a work in which the quintessence of the entire religious literature of Judaism, from the Old Testament

starting from the latest caÿuÿist, 575 can be summarized and fulfilled their task by writing the Shulchan Aruch in a masterly manner. The Shulchan Aruch is a book in which all rites and laws, with the exception of those relating to the temple service in Jerusalem and especially to the time, and is therefore valid for years

hundreds of Jews from all parts of the world as the only authoritative textbook of their religion.

The need for a translation of this highly interesting book has long been felt throughout the civilized world.

However, the long-term work that a translation of this work would require has always deterred scholars from undertaking this undertaking.

We must now be all the more grateful to the learned authors of the present translation, who have undertaken this extremely difficult and almost ten-year-long task and completed it in the most brilliant manner. That the authors were guided only by the truth and not by any religious or social bias in their translation should be clear to every layman who reads the translation;

However, the erudition of the authors in this field will be

Convince experts sufficiently.

The undersigned publishing company therefore believes that it is not overestimating the value of this translation when it hopes

it, to see it appropriately appreciated and welcomed with joy by all educated people, regardless of their religious beliefs, and therefore allows itself to call on the highly praiseworthy libraries, the gentlemen experts, the gentlemen Israelites, as well as the PJ in general

Hg, audience for subscription to this work F a uladen f

Bayel, in November 1887. | eee yche ef

The above prospectus was visited by approximately 290

Contributions from all parts of the world. The work was to consist of approximately 25 deliveries at 4 marks each. The following countries were represented:

Germany with 51, England with 47, Austria-Hungary with 90, Russia with 24, Switzerland with 18, France with 11, Holland with 8, United States with 7, Italy with 6 subscribers. The remaining subscribers were distributed among Algiers, Corsica, India, Egypt, Balkan countries, Palestine, Turkey, N and y. 8

— 7 Dur:

For the sake of curiosity, I would like to mention among the subscribers: The Count of Erbach's Rent Chamber in Erbach in the Odenwald; 25 copies.

Anton von Suzänszky, Canon and Archbishop's Library

thekar in Gran, Hungary; 10 copies.

Th. Fritýsch in Leipzig; 3 colleagues Ernest Renan in Paris. | ai Dr. Auguýt Rohling in

Prague. His Majesty Dom Pedro II, Emperor of Brazil.

Countess FünfkirchenýLiechtenýstein in Vienna.

Prince Alfred of Liechtenstein in Vienna.

Prince Alois of Liechtenstein in Vienna.

Prince Franz of Liechtenstein in Vienna.

Prince Henry of Liechtenstein in Vienna.

Margrave Alphons Pallavicini in Vienna.

Some orders were placed for university libraries

For the Royal Library in Berlin through the mediation

The Jewish booksellers A. Ascher & Co. Even Lord Rothschild in London did not shy away from the great financial sacrifice and the risk of subscribing to three copies.

There are also various rabbis among the subscribers, and, significantly, a whole series of Christian pastors of Jewish descent, who one must assume have subscribed solely for the purpose of combating the anti-human and anti-Christian laws of the Shulchan Aruch and putting them in the proper light.

I will only mention one, namely Dr. Paulus (Selig) Caýýel in Berlin.

The work was dedicated to His Imperial Highness the Grand Duke

Nicholas, Crown Prince of Russia. After the first four deliveries were published, the others were not published. The following printed version was available from the publisher.

trcular:

Zurich, January 1890.

F. E

The inquiries I continually receive e the Erý

ýeem to be the continuation of | Shulchan

Aruch, the Ritualý and Law Book of Judaism ýc. compel me to declare that I have no “unfair interpretation” on this matter.

future, but can only state that the editor

Dr. Jean de Pavly, has disappeared and has not been heard from again

Thus, the publisher of the work, Mr. Stephan Marugg in Basel, is not in a position to publish further deliveries of the same.

Since I only have the commission distribution of this work, I can do nothing more in this matter than wait quietly until the publisher sends me a continuation of the approach 105 ä

* | —8 — |

With regret, I cannot give you any good news

I am signing | = | Yours sincerely,
Verlags-Magazin (J. Schabelitz).

| The "Jüdeŷche Preŷe" No. 28 of 10 June 1890 brings hereŷ
about the following article?! |

Basel, June 5. (Own report) "In January 1887, a prospectus was sent from here in all directions of the compass, in which, under the title "Schulchan Aruch", Laid Table, a translation of the ritual and legal code of Judaism, with explanations and remarks on all commentaries" was advertised.

was terminated. The editor was a certain Stephan Marugg, who gave himself the pompous title of Chef du Bureau national, and the translator was the association "Theologoumenon", whose president dent was supposed to be a Dr. Johann von Pavly, who allegedly had the "herŷ most outstanding scholars of Germany and England" as fellow workers. The editor assured that the "fullyŷ ŷtant manuscript of the translation" and that in it "there is not a single inaccuracy that is based on ignorance, hatred or sympathy for Judaism." There are many reasons why this supposedly purely scientific study take a suspicious look, and since "all those Israelites who cannot read the Shulchan Aruch in the original text" were also asked to subscribe, your correspondent felt it necessary to get to the bottom of the matter, to visit Stephan Marugg and to find out from him details about the translator Dr. Pavly and the "Theologoumenon" association. It then emerged that Marugg, the "Head of the National Bureau", ekes out a living in a small, dilapidated house as a job agent and knows neither Dr. Pavly nor his employees, although he has a contract with the former for a hundred thousand francs, which he gave me in Original! A few days later, M. wrote to me that Dr. Pavly was the private secretary of the Queen of Romania and, among others, a Rabbi Nachmann Levy in Stefaneÿti was his collaborator. When it soon became clear that neither a private secretary of that name nor a Rabbi Nachmann Levy in Stefaneÿti existed, there was no longer any doubt that it had happened.

It was neither a crude scam nor an anti-Semitic prank that also involved speculation on Jewish money.

Fortunately, our fellow believers were encouraged by the knowledgeÿ

The scientific figurehead was not to be deceived, and after the speculation had failed, the faisurists came to light with the real tendency by declaring in the anti-Semitic papers that the work brought "revelations about the dangerous content of the Shulchan Aruch" and that every "true Christian" was obliged to do the same.

support ÿc. 2c. Soon the most vicious insults were heard in all keysÿ seeks the advertising drum for the "meritorious enterprise"

7

— 9 —

touched, and, as usual, the Vatican press did the most monstrous things, even reporting the news that Marugg had been "attacked by three Jews and mauled with knives in such a way that his recovery was absolutely out of the question!" The anti-Semitic papers of all countries seized on this robber story, exploiting it for the most shameless hate attacks against Jews and Judaism: new advertising notices followed, and the "Marugg Shulchan Aruch translation" finally became one of the most outstanding weapons of the international hate clan, for which the "Osservatore Romano" in Rome, the "Reichsbote" in Berlin and the "Deutsches Volksblatt" in Vienna blew the trumpet of noise with full cheeks. But the effort was in vain, despite all efforts the enterprise failed.

The Zurich publishing magazine has actually published the book

The following information has been sent to dealers: ni The continuation of the much-mentioned work: "Shulchan Aruch.

The Ritual and Law Book of Judaism" has been discontinued. The editor, Dr. Jean v. Pavly, has disappeared and has not been heard from. As a result, the publisher of the work, Stephan Marugg in Basel, is also unable to provide further deliveries.

ments - 1 Ze | This laconic communication leaves

some questions open. Marugg had fanfaronically assured in his prospectus that he had acquired the "complete manuscript". Why is he "not in a position to to publish further deliveries"? Marugg boasted of the "collaboration of the most outstanding specialists in Germany and England" and their "great erudition, thoroughness and love of truth" - if none of these specialists (Marugg personally mentioned to me the professors Vigoureux Paris, Jovino Loewen, Delitzsch Leipzig, Erichson London) had been prepared to take over the work.

gonnene to continue? And what about the prepaid subscription? Immediately upon the appearance of this translation project you expressed the suspicion that behind Dr. Jean v. Pavly there was none other than the arch-scoundrel Briman Juýtus. The outcome of the enterprise supports this assumption, which was also supported by the fact that the blood-liar Rohling, Briman's employer, warmly recommended the translation and accepted orders for it. In any case, the history of this failed enterprise forms a new, quite instructive story.

rich contribution to anti-Semitic morality!"

One should note the anger expressed in the rabbinical journal. What is it really about? People only want to know what the children of Israel actually teach. The Shulchan Aruch is their law book all over the world. So why the secrecy if there is nothing criminal behind it? But we hear Wahrmond: |

"As obvious as it is to the expert that our Judaism forms a state within a state and aims at the destruction of the host"

yes

It state, yes, it is difficult for the literate layman to decide to believe this. But it is sufficient here to read Jakob Ecker's short work "The Jewish Mirror in the Light of Truth" (2nd ed. Paderborn born 1884), in which the legislation of the Talmud is briefly and clearly summarized, which has served as a norm for rabbinical practice for three centuries and has also been used in recent Years ago, the Shulchan Aruch, a code of law that has been explicitly recognized as such, was again highlighted. According to the provisions of this code, the Jew may not bring his Jewish opponent before a Christian court (see Law 90) and may not use non-Christian witnesses against the Jew (21); Christians may not testify before Jewish courts (as well as before Muslim courts) (23); marriage between non-Jews is not recognized as such, but rather is restricted to the union of life of animals (88, 96, 98); the Jewish court can impose the death penalty (19, 50); the Jew who some whoever betrays the national religious association of the Jews by denunciation to Christians or by apostasy from Judaism is to be killed (45, 46, 50) - all things by which the existence of the Jewish state within the Christian states is proven. In

In 1866, a Hungarian-speaking Jewish community consisting of 94 rabbis

The synod held in Jerusalem decreed that "the Shulchan should be observed in every place and at all times." In 1882, the now deceased Chief Rabbi and Reichstag delegate nete Schreiber in the name of the Rabbinical Council of Krakow of the Austrian Reich Ministry of Culture the state recognition of the Shulchan as the religious law applicable to the Jews

book, and this demand has since been renewed again

As I said, it has already become customary in Algiers for Christians to go to the Jewish consistories in disputes with Jews. Something similar also happens here and there in Poland."

(A. Wahrmond, The Law of Nomadism, pp. 121—122.)

As for the fate of those who in earlier times to make translations of the Talmud or communications from it, or even to write against the Jews, yo let the following instruct us:

The old Eisenmenger had to experience that his book was first was confiscated, then, when it became known that he had only stated the truth, that the Jews offered him 10,000 thalers (a very significant sum for that time, in 1700) if he refrained from publishing the book. | " |

Another scholar Raabe, who translated the Mishnah, \ 0

received an offer of 3000 Tha= from a Jew from Mannheim learn next to a beautiful villa on the Rhine, when he reads his book wanted to press. | and who | Braßmann, who had strange revelations about to Rabbinism, died in such a strange way that

No one doubts that he was poisoned according to Talmudic laws. "" | it |

A similar fate befell Doctor Pinner, who was surprised by death at the moment when he had translated the first part of the Talmud. |

Des Mouÿjeaux received his death on a Sunday morning judgment and he died suddenly on the following Monday. As for his book, the first edition of it was almost entirely sold in the shop of a small bookseller on the rue Casimir Delavigne, from where it never came out. er. | j

No one knows what became of Achille Laurent's book on the murder of Father Thomas in Damascus, a collection of documents incriminating for Judaism, which can no longer be found today. (According to information I have received from Paris, it was probably bought by Rothschild.)

Dr. Brimany Juýtus, the author of the Jewish Mirror, had undertaken a translation of the Talmud, even with the permission of the Austrian government. Nevertheless, the Jews managed to shamefully thwart the publication of the work and Briman is persecuted by the Jews to this day. (See more about this in "Profeýýor Dr. Rohling, the Jewish Question and Public Opinion", by Abbé Dr. Clemens Victor, 2nd edition, Leipzig, Verlag von Theoy

by Fritsch 1887) By |

According to the latest news from the "Jewish Press," Dr. Juýtus (who, incidentally, is a baptized Jew) is on Corfu. It seems that the Jews do not let him out of their sight for a moment and pursue him with implacable hatred. *

Professor Dr. Rohling, the author of the work "The Talmud Jew", has suffered greatly from the persecution of the Jews and still suffers from it, as does Abbé Clemens Victor, the author of the book "Prof. Dr. Rohling and the Jewish Question", and Dr. Jakob Ecker, who, at the request of the...

Court examined.

Dr. Eugen Dühring was violently removed from the University of Berlin because of his anti-Semitic tendencies. Mr.

Herrmann Scharff von Scharffenýstein had planned to publish the following books on Judaism:

1.ý. The Jews in Frankfurt a. M. 2. in Bavaria. 3. in

Austriaý

Reich. 4. in Bohemia and Moravia. 5. in Hungary and the neighboring countries. 6. in Prussia. 7. in the North German Confederation. 8. in Württembergý bergýBaden. 9. in Holland and Belgium. 10. in France. 11. in Spain. 12. in Italy. 13. in Serbia and Rumania. 14. in SwedenýNorway. 15. in Poland and Russia. 16. in England. 17. in America.

18. in Turkey and Greece. 19. in Asia Minor and Persia. 20. in Tunis and Tripoli. 21. in Africa and Egypt.

22. Newspaper Jews. 23. Theater Jews. 24. Morality of the Jews.

25. Jews as musicians. 26. as banknote counterfeiters. 27. as thievesý fences. 28. as founders of casinos. 29. Jews among the Jesuits.

30. Jews in the Masonic Order. | of these writings, which are the result of 25 years of study.

— 12 —

were, only No. 1 and 2 were published. en another brochure. Mr. von Scharffenystein named names and provided the most interesting material. This is from Mr. v. N ge

5 What happened to Dr. Jean von Pavly? 5 23

I will now follow the 100 laws, “simply without cite.
They are understandable for everyone. Anyone who wants to know get the book:

The Jewish Mirror in the Light of Truth, by Dr Jacob E EN *

Paderborn 1884, BonifaciusyDruckerei. Price Mk. 1.80, in which the Hebrew text and a strict criticism of the .

Translations undertaken on the 33rd contain tft.

The Jewish spy

or 100 undisclosed, still valid today, the traffic of the Jews and with the laws of the Jews concerning non-Jews; by Dr. Juýtus.

Fourth edition. Paderborn 1883, printed and published by W | ug (. 8
n Price 50 Pf. u

The 100 Laws from the Shulchan Arnd,

I know that after my departure, ravenous wolves will come in among you, and not those who spare the flock.
Acts Apost 20. 29. ö

Law 1. | “The Jew may not sell a garment that has Zisis Cranÿen (on 1 the corners Be of the garment, as the Jews wear during their morning prayer, | ý. 4. Moses 15, 37) to an Akum (= non-Jew)”; “he may not even give such a garment to an Akum (non-Jew) as a pledge or for the purpose of keeping it. For if an Akum (non-Jew) has such a garment with him, then there is a fear that he could deceive a Jew by claiming that he is also a Jew; and if the Jew then trust and would travel alone in his company, 2 the Akum Gout Jew) nx | Ä Law 2. 5 | 195 "Everything that the Jew needs ritually for worship (such as the above-mentioned fringes etc.) must not be an Akum (non-Jew), but only a Jew, because this must be made by humans and the Akum should not be considered to be for the Jews. * „ as un from

| Gef etz „ is
| "The Kadish prayer (gas) is a prayer which begins with the words:

"Ithgadal Vejthkadasch" begins, ie "before and sanctified" and u

\

yes

u bob the name Kadish prayer may only be prayed where ten

Jews are together, and indeed they must be together, so that an unclean. Gn like 2 8. 1 lord a Akum a Ghee yie en a" separates each other, Met di Ä

u "of etz 4. Bst "If a Jew is attacked by an Akum (non-Jew) with a cross

, it is strictly forbidden for the Jew to bow his head, even if he is praying at that moment; and if he

in his prayer he came to such a place where he "lifted his head

1 must (there are some places in the prayers of the. enen where yie * . e ae: jo * er es doch jetzt avoid."

50 5 ;

Gef etz 5.

“The sons of Aaron the high priest shall also now, when:

te neither temple nor sacrifice can be found anymore, but among the shÿ

Jews were given certain distinctions and honors from the ordinary Jewish people have in advance and always have the right to their blessing to be given to the Jews on every feast day; but this time to a child.

of the same has become an Akum (non-Jew), then the family is destroyed

5 . and consequently loses her . ne

0

There are 6.

“A Jew who has become a non-Jew is, to the same degree,

| that if he. lights or . . the eee

gives, it is forbidden to accept it."

at 00.00. Öefeg 7.

“The Symunÿ ÿPrayer (the prayer which the Jews recited after 35 Eÿen, in which at the end the host of the house is also blessed), may not be prayed in any Akum (non-Jewish) group I so = ber an eriariube) and be blessed."

Law 8

| "For every enjoyment of the smell, the Jew must say a short prayer of thanks, except when the spices or other fragrant items have been on a toilet once in order to remove the bad smell of the toilet, or when the fragrant items are in the hands of a woman, adorning smelling things to tempt people to sin, or when the fragrant items are in a church (namely of the non-Jews).
which yāt wellŷ

then it is forbidden to say a blessing for the 1 by passing it once through the abortion, and the H. . . or through.

the church has been defiled."

ä Geŷ etz 9.

"A 185 Jew is obliged, if he is present at a church (the

ö practice, which has collapsed, passes by, to say: .

— 14 —

Praise be to you, Lord, that you have eradicated this idol house from here"; and if a Jew in front of a still standing church (the nonŷ

. Jews) then he should say: "Blessed be you, Lord, for you prolong your wrath on the evildoers," and when he sees 600,000 Jews gathered together then he should say: "Blessed be you, white Lord"; but when he sees Akum (non-Jews), then he should say: "Your mother is greatly ashamed, and she who bore you has become a laughing stock" (Jeremiah 50:12) and when a Jew passes in front of a Jewish churchyard, then he should say: "Blessed be you, Lord, for you have created them righteously," and in front of a churchyard

ŷhould say: "Your mother is in great shame, etc." If a Jew sees well-built houses of Akum (non-Jews), he should say: "God shall destroy the houses of the arrogant"; but if he sees ruins of the house of an Akum (non-Jew), he should say: "God is Lord who takes vengeance." \ | ni To Law 10. | "On the evening of the Sabbath, every Jew is obliged, as soon as he sees light, to say: "Blessed are you, Lord, Creator of light"; But where the light shines from a church (of the non-Jews), it is forbidden to thank God for the enjoyment of such light."

| Law 11. 1 "On the Sabbath it is strictly forbidden for the Jew to buy

or to sell; but it is permitted to buy from an Akum

In this case it is permitted for a non-Jew to buy a house in Palestine, and even to write, so that in Palestine there will be one less non-Jew and one more Jew."

| Law 12. |

"Any work on the Sabbath that can be done to save a Jew from death is not only permitted, but obligatory. If a house or a pile of stones falls on a Jew on the Sabbath, one may carry the pile away to save the life of the Jew lying underneath; yes, even if several Akum (non-Jews) are lying underneath with the Jew and the Akum (non-Jews) would also be saved if we saved the Jew (and that, namely saving an Akum [non-Jew] from death, even on a working day, is, as we will see further [cf. Ges. 50], a great sin), we must still, in order to save the Jew.

save, take away that pile of stones." |

| Law 13. f |

"The Jewish midwife is not only permitted, but is obliged, to help a Jewish woman on the Sabbath, and in doing so to do everything that would otherwise desecrate the Sabbath. Helping a non-Jewish woman, on the other hand, is forbidden, even if one can help her without desecrating the Sabbath, since she can only be regarded as an animal." win Ber

Law 14. |

"On Passover Eve (the first evening before Easter) every Jew shall pray the prayer Shephoch (that is, a prayer of the Jews in which God is called upon to pour out his wrath upon the Goyim (non-Jews)) and if they (the Jews) will pray the prayer devoutly, then the Lord will undoubtedly accept the prayer hear and send the Messiah, who will pour out his n upon the non-Jews).

| Law 15

"On the festival days, when any work is forbidden, cooking is also forbidden; only everyone may cook what he needs to eat for himself. However, it is permitted if he cooking, it is necessary to put more food into the same pot than is needed for himself, even if he wants to use the extra food for the dogs; for we are obliged to let the dogs live. On the other hand, to put more food for an Akum (non-Jew) is strictly forbidden, since we are against letting him live.

are obliged. 8 Rn, Law 16.

ö "At the time of Cholhamosd (a festival of the Jews, which is the spring and the autumn,) is any business

Agitation is strictly forbidden; however, it is permitted to make profits with an Akum (non-Jew), since profits with an Akum are always pleasing to the good Lord." Law 17.

. the plague has broken out somewhere and as a result many people have become victims of the pestilence, the Jews should gather in the synagogue and, without having eaten or drunk all day, pray that God will take care of them.

pity and free them from the plague. But if a plague has broken out among animals, then none of this is necessary, but if it has broken out among pigs, then their inhabitants pasture are similar to human entrails and also when the plague is among Akum (non-Jews), because their bodies' natural constitution is similar to that of humans!

Law 18

On the Feast of Haman, all Jews must pray the prayer of thanksgiving Arur Haman, which says: "Cursed be Haman and all Akum (non-Jews), blessed be Mordecai and all Jews!"

Law 19

"Every Bethdin (ie Chief Rabbinical Office) may pronounce the death penalty, even today, if it deems this necessary, even if the crime itself would not deserve punishment."

Law 20

"If two Jews get into a fight with each other, be it over money

2; 0:

or other matters and find they are compelled to appeal to a judge, they must go to the Bethdin (rabbinical office) and submit to his decision, but may not go to an Akum (non-Jew), even before a royal

Court seek justice where Akum (non-Jews) are the judges; and

Even if their law is identical with the rabbinical law, it is a great sin and a terrible blasphemy.

But whoever has violated this commandment and sought justice with another Jew before a non-Jewish court, the Bethdin (rabbinical office) has the duty to condemn him (i.e. to excommunicate him).

ciren) until he asked his nearest Jew to release him from the demand made of him." ? | Zr; Law 21.

"A Jew may serve as a witness for his Akum (non-Jew) against another Jew. If, therefore, an Akum (non-Jew) demands money from a Jew and the Jew denies it to the Akum (non-Jew), then it is forbidden for another Jew, who knows that the Akum (non-Jew) is right, to become a witness for the Akum (non-Jew). But if a Jew has violated this commandment and has become a witness for an Akum (non-Jew) against a Jew, then the Bethdin (the office of Rabbi) is lost.

obliged to condemn him" (ie to excommunicate).

. en Law 22. | "Only he who has some humanity and honour can serve as a witness; but he who throws away his honour, such as the one who goes out naked on the street or who asks alms from a non-Jew when he has not received it in his possession,

"He who can do whatever he wants at home is like a dog, because he does not respect his honour, and is therefore not capable of testifying." N | | Law 23.

" he

"Only those who have the name of human beings can be considered as witnesses; an Akum (non-Jew), on the other hand, or a Jew who has become a non-Jew, is even worse than a (gey born) non-Jews cannot be considered human beings will see, therefore their testimony has no value!"

Law 24

"If a Jew has an Akum (non-Jew) in his clutches (in Chaldean the expression is: Magnrupia, ie to exploit, to continually cheat, not to let go of one's clutches), then another Jew may also go to the same Akum (non-Jew) and lend him money and cheat him, so that the Akum (non-Jew) gets rid of his money. For the money of an Akum (non-Jew) is the master's.

loose property, and whoever wants to has every right to take possession of it! " | 1 85

in |

| = Law 25. 0 | "The

citizens (namely the Jews) in a community have the right to forbid other merchants from coming to their place and selling goods cheaper; except if the goods of the foreigners are better than those of the residents. In that case the residents cannot forbid it, since the buyers would get better goods anyway. But of course that is only the case where the buyers are Jews, but where the buyers are Akum (non-Jews), then one can prohibit foreigners from doing so, because it is a sin to give good things to the Akum (non-Jews), since it is a principle among us (Jews) that it is permissible to throw a piece of meat to a dog, but not to a Nochri (non-Jew), because a dog is better than a Nochri (non-Jew).

judeh."""LLL. gt | | Act
26.

"If a Jew has a clerk in his business with whom he made it clear that everything he would find would belong to the principal, and the clerk had cheated an Akum (non-Jew) by collecting from the Akum (non-Jew) a debt that had long been paid. paid for again, or has given the Akum (non-Jew) an advantage in the calculations, etc., then this profit belongs to the principal, because.

Yuch profits are also to be regarded as found things." (The property of non-Jews is ownerless compared to Jews.

1 therefore the Jews can take as much of it as they can get.) |

| Law 27. .

"If a Jew sends a messenger to collect money from an Akum (non-Jew) and the messenger has befriended the Akum (non-Jew)Y deceitful and more than right is taken, then this belongs to the messenger."

Law 28. nz | "If a Jew

does business with an Akum (non-Jew) and another Jew comes and cheats the Akum (non-Jew), be it through false measurement or false weight or through false calculation, then both Jews must share the profit given to them by God (?)" | |

Law 29

"If a Jew sends a messenger to an Akum (non-Jew) to pay him a debt, and the messenger notices after he has arrived that the Akum (non-Jew) has forgotten the debt, then the messenger must return the money to the Jew who sent him; and the messenger must not say that he wants to change the name God thereby (namely by returning the money to the non-Jews) worship, so that the Akum (non-Jews) should say that Jews are honest people, because he can only do something like that with his money, but has absolutely no right to throw away other people's money! " | 2 =

Gefandthaf II. 2

IN

*

\ en — gi
— U 0 HE

a in m oe

”

— 18 —

Law 30

"If a Jew has sold something to another Jew, whether it be furniture or real estate, and it turns out that the seller stole the items and as a result the owner took them back, the seller is obliged to return the money he received to the buyer because he should not have stolen; but if he has stolen the items from a non-Jew and the non-Jew (non-Jew) takes them back, he does not have to pay anything back to the buyer."

Law 31

"It is strictly forbidden for a Jew to cheat his closest fellow human being, and it is already considered cheating if he has deprived him of a sixth part of the value; and whoever cheats his closest fellow human being deceived a person, he must pay it back. Of course, all this is only the case with Jews, but it is permissible for him to deceive an Akum (non-Jew), and he may not pay him back what he has cheated him out of. For it is written in the Holy Scripture: "You shall not deceive your neighbour brother," and the non-Jews are not our brothers, but, as mentioned above in Law 25), worse than dogs!" |

Law 32.

"If a Jew has rented a house from another Jew, a third Jew may come and give more than the first tenant and rent the house for himself. But if the landlord is an Akum (non-Jew), then he is banished (the expression in Chaldean is: Menuda, i.e. he may not come to the synagogue until the rabbi loosens his bonds of the ban) if he wants the non-Jew to get more!"

and Law 33. |

"It is a duty (namely for the Jew) to obey everything that a sick person has written in his will, except if he has ordered something sinful to be done. Therefore, if a sick person has told an Akum (non-Jew) something in his will šāyt, this must not be followed; because, as we will see later, it is a great sin to give something to an Akum en u aan)!

Law 34. N

It is the duty of a Jew who has something 12 1 5 to it living, be it inanimate things, it back to the owner admit. Of course, all this is only possible with a Jew who has lost something, but if the found item belongs to an Akum 1

(non-Jews), then one is not only not obligated to return, but it is a grave sin to return something to an Akum (non-Jew), except when it is done so that the N 5 can say, "the Jews are decent people." N

— 19 =

Law 35

"If a Jew encounters a loaded animal that has fallen under the load, or a loaded wagon in front of which the draught animals, over-exerted by the heavy load, have fallen, he is obliged to come to the aid of the animal driver or hauler, to unload the load and, if necessary, to help reload it. For such assistance is required of every Jew, both to his

"He owes mercy to his fellow human beings as well as to the animals; and therefore he is also obliged to do so even if the cargo belongs to a Jew and the animal to an Akum (non-Jew), or vice versa, if the animal belongs to a Jew and the cargo to a non-Jew and the driver is a non-Jew. But if the animals belong to a non-Jew and the cargo is also his property, then all compassion and mercy ceases, both towards the owner of the cargo and towards the animals, and in such a case no Jew is obliged to provide assistance to either the owner of the cargo or the animals."

Law 36. |

"If a Jew owes money to an Akum (non-Jew) and the Akum (non-Jew) has died, the Jew is forbidden to pay the money back to the heirs of the non-Jew; provided, however, that no other Akum (non-Jew) knows that the Jew owes money to the deceased non-Jew. But if an Akum (non-Jew) already knows about it, then he should pay the heirs the money, so that the non-Jews do not say: 'The Jews are fraudsters'." |

Law 37

"It is forbidden for a Jew to steal anything from either a Jew or a Goy (non-Jew), but it is also forbidden to cheat a Goy (non-Jew), e.g. to cheat him in arithmetic (in the Chalṣ)

"In Danish the same word is used as before, namely thauth = to cheat) or not to pay him what one owes him is permitted, but care must be taken so that no one finds out, so that the name of God is not desecrated."

Law 38

"If a Jew buys from a thief and sells the property, bought from another Jew, and then a third Jew comes and claims that the purchased item is his property and takes it for himself, the seller is obliged to give the buyer his money back. But if an Akum (non-Jew) comes to the buyer and the purchased item is his property, it will not be given to him. If he files a complaint with their (the Akum = non-Jew) court and he has the item returned through the courts, the seller does not have to give the buyer his money back" (because the person who bought from the thief did not make a mistake

in — .

— 20

committed, since it was the purchased goods that could be given to a non-Jew had stolen).

5 Act 39.

“If a Jew is a monopoly tenant (who grants the state a monopoly

for a city or a wider area for a certain amount has leased), then another Jew may not damage this monopoly lease (e.g. by smuggling), but if the tenant is a non-Jew, then the damage is permitted, because this is the same as not paying one's debts and that is permitted, as we have seen above in Law 37)." |

Law 40

“If a Jew is a Mucha (namely state tax collector or customs guard), i.e. he has the right (namely to collect the taxes) levy), but rather he collects the taxes for the state,

he is forbidden to use force against another Jew | to proceed. Why? Because the king (for whom he is treasuring) is a Goy (non-Jew), and not paying taxes is the same as not paying a Goy (non-Jew)'s debts, which, as we saw above (cf. Law 36), is permitted. Therefore, a Jew may not force another Jew to do so. But if the king has officials concerned feared the king that the matter would be revealed

can become, he can be forced against the other Jew proceed wisely. 8 Law 41.

“State laws must be obeyed. But this only applies of such laws from which it, the state, makes profit (money revenue) and also such laws (tax laws) do not need to be followed in full, but only those which relate to land (i.e. land and building taxes must be levied).

but as far as other tax laws are concerned, one needs

not to obey them. Land and building taxes must be paid because the land belongs to the ruler and he can say he wants | and let them live in their country on the condition that they pay them."

Law 42.

"It is forbidden to play Kubja with a Jew" (5 Ä

to cheat at cards or dice or other pocket games, because all this is robbery and robbing the Jews is forbidden; with

But with an Akum hae you can play Kubja.

Law 43

"If a Jew has sold something to an Akum (non-Jew) and taken more than it is worth, and another Jew to the Akum (non-Jew) and tells him that the purchased item is not worth much, and the Akum (non-Jew) returns the purchased item as a result, then the second Jew is in the first to compensate the seller for the difference between the value and the price for which the item was sold to the Akum (non-Jew)." | |

— 21 —

Likewise: "If a Jew has lent money to an Akum (non-Jew) at high interest and another Jew comes to the Akum (non-Jew) and offers him money at lower interest, then the second Jew is a Raschah (i.e. an atheist) and he is obliged to repay the first Jew what he has lent to the Akum (non-Jew) if the latter has lent the money to the second Jew.

money, could have earned more.” |

Law 44

“If a king is obliged to pay taxes in kind (wine, straw, etc.), but a Jew evades this payment in kind, but is denounced by another Jew and has to pay the taxes as a result, the Jew who makes the denunciation is obliged to pay the taxes in kind to the first Jew.

2 (and of course also other damages, possible penalties) to be compensated.” Ä

| Law 45.

| "It is permissible to kill a woman, that is, a person who boasts of wanting to denounce someone, where as a result the denounced person could be punished physically (e.g. with imprisonment) or with his property (with money), even if it is only a small amount of money, even today. One should first tell him: "Do not denounce".

If he then resists and says: "I will not

"If a man is afraid of a man, then it is not only permissible, but a good deed, to kill him, and the one who kills him first will be blessed. But if there is no time to warn him, then one can omit to warn him and kill him immediately."

| Law 46.

"If someone has denounced a Jew to a non-Jew three times, then, if he promises to improve and not to denounce again, then one should think of ways and means to get rid of him. The costs incurred to get rid of him must be paid by the Jews who live in the city (the place where the crime took place)."

o | | Law 47.

“If the ox of a Jew butts the ox of an Akum (non-Jew), the Jew is not obliged to compensate the Akum (non-Jew) for the damage, because it is written in the Bible (Exodus 22:35): “If a man’s ox butts the ox of his neighbor” ýc., the Akum (non-Jew) is not my neighbor. But he hasÿ the ox of an Akum (non-Jew) turned the ox of a

The „ --

Jew, 1 the Akum (non-Jew) must compensate the Jew for the damage because he is an Akum (non-Jew)."

Law 48

"It was not permitted for Jews to enter Palestine at the time when the fields belonged to the Jews, to keep small livestock, because this the neighbor could be harmed, 5 the same (small livestock) tends to seek its food in foreign fields; but in Syria and everywhere where the fields did not belong to Jews, the Jew was allowed to keep small livestock. Today, however, when even in Palestine the fields no longer belong to Jews, he is also allowed to keep small livestock in Palestine.

lāytina keep small livestock."

Law 49

It is forbidden for the Jew to have a bad dog, a manḥ
to hold the dog that bites without putting it on a chain.
But this only applies where Jews live; where Akum (non-Jew), however, the Jew may keep such a bunny dog

ab en." island 5

Law 50

Since the Sanhedrin and the Temple (in Jerusalem) no longer exist, death penalties can be imposed as before (by the Sanhedrin, i.e. the judges).

tern of the High Council) can no longer be imposed: only according to Law 19 can the death penalty be imposed by the Chief Rabbi's Office. Apart from the permitted killing of a muḥer (cf.

Law 45) in the following cases manslaughter is also pronounced without the ḥay of the Chief Rabbinate declared it a good work. a. (A case is reported here which we cannot report for reasons of decency.)

. "A Jew does a good deed when he kills an Apikores. Apikores means a liberal, an unbeliever, a scoffer, etc. who denies the teachings of Israel and boasts of his disbelief, or who is an Akum

(non-Jew). If he can do it publicly, let him do it publicly; if he cannot do it publicly because of the state authorities, let him think of ways to do it secretly.

The Jew does not have the Duty to have an Akum with whom he lives peacefully to kill directly, but N is allowed to save him from death to save. 5

Law 51

“An animal that is killed by an Akum (non-Jew) or by a Jew who has become a non-Jew is slaughtered, the Jew shall night as a dead animal.” |

Law 52. 1 | “The Jew may not own an animal that is not yet eight days old

| it, slaughter. But an Akum 10 comes to the Jew

a, Bd ge

to sell an animal, claiming that the animal is 8 days old, the Jew should not believe him, because the Akum (non-Jews) liars and deceivers.” |

Law 53

“It is forbidden for a Jew to take a non-Jewish woman as a wet nurse if he can have a Jewish one, because the nature and essence of a wet nurse is usually passed on to the child. go and the Nochrith (non-Jewish woman) dumbs down the child and teaches him bad characteristics.” |

| Law 54. | “The Rabbis have forbidden eating bread baked by an Akum (non-Jew) or anything cooked by an Akum (non-Jew) or drinking spirits with him, because this could lead to friendly social relations. But where there is no Jewish baker, one may buy from a non-Jewish baker (but not from a private individual), because

since the above danger is not so great to be feared. — On the other hand, a Jew may keep an Akum (non-Jew) as a kitchen maid if she cooks under the supervision, instruction or in the presence of a Jew, who thus assists in the cooking.” |

| Ä

. Law 55.

“The Jew may not deal in impure things (3. B. pigs, things from [non-Jewish] churches etc., as we will see below), but to take it from an Akum (non-Jew) (ie not to buy it, but to give it as payment for a fictitious debt to take) is permitted because it is always a good thing to snatch something from an Akum (non-Jew).” |

: Law 56.

“If a Jew takes dishes from an Akum (non-Jew), whether it is made of metal or clay, he must wash it clean, because the Akum (non-Jews) are unclean (in the sense of the Jews). Even if a Jew sells dishes to an Akum (non-Jew) and the Akum (non-Jew) returns them to him, the Jew must wash them clean again, because they are impure by the Akum (non-Jew).

touch of the Akum (non-Jew) is impure” (such unholy creatures find the Akum [non-Jews]). a

. Law 57.

The Jew is forbidden to drink a bottle or glass of wine that an Akum (non-Jew) has touched, because the wine is contaminated by the Akum (non-Jew)'s touch.” (The law also has the special purpose of preventing social contact between Jews and non-Jews.)

the God

| Gef etz 58.

“The Jew is forbidden from any enjoyment or advantage that he could have from an idol house of the Akum (non-Jewish temple), for example, he may not take wax candles, carpets, or items of clothing that the priest wears during the service (but not those that he otherwise wears as private person needs) who has been or used to be in a Christian church

He may not use non-Jewish hymn books for the Priests, but to the laity; but whoever

He who brings not to sell such things to the laity, shall be blessed. Furthermore, it is forbidden for the Jew to contribute to the external construction as well as the internal furnishing of a non-Jewish church

To lend money, even less may he trade with

Things used in the non-Jewish church. |

Furthermore, the Jew may not give or sell wafer to an Akum (non-Jew) if he knows that the person is going to baptize with it; furthermore, he may not sell incense that has been burned in the church.

- But if a non-Jew has such things to sell in the locality that are used in the (non-Jewish) church, then the Jew may also trade in them, so that the non-Jew does not earn the money. Even if some of these church things, which the Jew declares to be impure, were mixed with a thousand other non-church things of the same kind, then any enjoyment or benefit from these thousand forbidden to the Jew; likewise he shall rise from the ashes of such things or a burned down (non-Jewish) church no preŷ

cheilziehen." | Be 5 Law 59.

3 "The Jew shall not follow any cross or religious image that he finds in villages, on the roads or in smaller towns,

. have pleasure or advantage because they are for worship and is unclean for the Jew. But if he finds them in large cities, where they are not used for worship but for decoration, power, the ban does not apply. On the other hand, the ban is extended to every cross before which one kneels." | - Law 60. 5 "The Jew is forbidden any enjoyment or advantage from an Akumŷ

(non-Jewsŷ) Church, e.g. in the summer in its shade

walking, listening to the organ playing or looking at a beautiful picture of such, in order to delight in the sight ŷtrictly

forbidden." | ER Law

61. u "It is strictly forbidden for the Jew to live next to a (non-Jewish)

Church to build a house for himself. But if he already owns a such a one, which stands next to a (non-Jewish) church and the same has collapsed, yes, he should be replaced by the (non-Jewish)

Church further away and fill the space with human excrement." Br se u:

— 25 —

| Law 62.

“Of church goods (goods of a non-Jewish church, land
A Jew may not enjoy or benefit from the proceeds of the sale of land (such as houses, etc.) if the proceeds are used for religious purposes. However, if the proceeds benefit the clergy personally, he may enjoy or benefit from them, but without it costing him anything." |

| Law 63. |

"It is strictly forbidden for a Jew to make a contribution to a collection for a (non-Jewish) church. This only applies, however, where the church itself has to manage its own assets and thus uses the donations for itself. However, if the state has the administration, then it is permissible to make a contribution, as long as one can think that one is giving it to the state and that the state can also use it for other purposes." |

| Law 64.

| “It is a good work that every Jew should strive, as far as he can, to burn and destroy the (non-Jewish) church or what belongs to it or what is done for it, to scatter the ashes to the four winds or to throw them into the water.

Furthermore, it is the duty of every Jew to seek every (non-to eradicate the Catholic Church and give it a derogatory name

give." ar |

| 7 Law 65.

“A Jew who makes a statement by mentioning the name of a (non-Jewish) church shall be given 39 lashes; it is generally forbidden to mention the name of a (non-Jewish)

Church (only a derogatory name should be used for it). Even the feast days of the Akum (non-Jews) may not be mentioned by name, except for those which people have names" (e.g. Peter and Paul, St. Andrew's Day, etc.).

| "The Jew is permitted to marry the Akum (non-Jew) mock him by saying: "Your God should help you or bless your deeds. The Jew thinks that the God of the Christians, whom he considers to be idolaters, is powerless,
and yo bless, so he would not." — (The blessing of the

Jew towards a non-Jew is therefore only mockery and

| 3 Law 66. | "The Jew shall follow an Akum (non-Jew) three days before a his (the non-Jew's) feast, nothing borrow or lend, at all not do business with him, because the Akum (non-Jew) is interested in the

On holidays he could have fun with it. On the other hand, he may borrow against high usurious interest, so that the Akum (non-Jew)

1 pleasure because of the after-effects of the later payment come bad." Ä Ä

5 2

r ABEL VE the DR y § AUuÄ. —

ä

to 26ä —
and Law 67.

"It is forbidden for a Jew to give a gift to a non-Jew (a non-Jew) on one of his (the non-Jew's) holidays.
Only then is it permitted for him if he knows that the Akum (non-Jew)
Jew) is unbeliever. It is also forbidden for the Jew to give a gift from an Akum (non-Jew) on the feast day of that person

But if he fears that non-acceptance will have bad consequences could arise, he should accept it and throw it away secretly.

The day on which the Akum (non-Jews) receive a new king (the day of the accession or election) is to be determined by the Jews were treated the same as the other festivals of the Akum (non-Jews) become" (ie they are not allowed to give them any gifts, Fa deal with them, as only if they be the non-Jews

y̆wizzen can y̆c.).

Law 68.

| "It is forbidden for every Jew to enter the house of an Akum (non-Jew) on his feast day, so as not to have to greet him. But if he meets him on the street, he may greet him, but in a forced manner, " . lips and a heavy head).
(the text says: with

Law 69.

"It is always forbidden for the Jew to give to an Akum (non-Jew) to answer with the greeting "Peace be with you" or similar greetings" (because the Jews believe that peace will be given to the one who opposite the blessing: "Peace y̆c." for the second timey̆ is spoken.) Therefore, the Jew is advised, "as soon as he sees an Akum (non-Jew), to greet him first, so that the Akum (non-Jew) does not greet first, and he (the Jew) is prompted to answer him and thus, God forbid, contribute to the blessing of an Akum (non-Jew)."

Law 70

"It is a commanded good work that a Jew should (non-Jewish) church 4 cubits away (e.g. if his

It is strictly forbidden for a Jew to bow his head in a (non-Jewish) church. If, for example, he has stepped on a thorn in his foot or if money has fallen to the ground so that he must necessarily bend down, he should in this case turn his back on the church."

| "Located at the outflow openings of water bodies" images of non-Jewish saints or non-Jewishy̆

Symbols, the Jew may not drink from them, because it might seem as if he wanted to worship the holy image or symbol by leaning towards the opening.”

Law 71.

“It is forbidden for Jews to appear before kings or priests who have a cross in their vestments or who wear one outside

is

the chest, to bow or to take off the hat, so that it does not appear as if he is bowing before the cross. In order not to violate external decency, he should either remove his headgear before he sees the persons concerned (and therefore also the cross) or he should drop money as if by chance in their presence and bend down to pick it up. (His behavior should therefore appear as if he is showing respect to the person concerned, whereas in reality he is showing a different respect.)

ight.) Ze 2 | Law 72. |

“It is forbidden for Jews to live in any of the towns inhabited by them.

To rent or sell houses to 3 Akum (non-Jews) in a city quarter or in a street inhabited by them, so that it does not come to the point that the quarter or the street becomes a non-ġ

Jewish.” The sale of houses to one or two Akum (non-Jews) was previously only permitted for the "purpose that the houses served as warehouses, but not for living in them, because the Akum (non-Jews) had their idols in them," "but now that this is no longer the case, the Jews are allowed to rent or sell houses to one or two Akum (non-Jews) as apartments.

buy." |

| Law 73.

“It is a great sin to give a gift to an Akum (non-Jew).” However, it is permissible to give alms to the poor of the Akum (non-Jews), to visit their sick, to...

To pay the last respects to the dead and to console the bereaved, for the sake of peace, so that the Akum (non-Jews) might believe that the Jews were good friends of them, by showing sympathy." —

Law 74. a | “It is forbidden for a Jew to have an Akum (non-Jew) in to praise his absence, e.g. to say: “What a beautiful non-Jew he is” (if he is a physically beautiful person);

but it is a thousand times more forbidden to praise one's virtues, for example to say: "What a good man he is," or "What a learned man he is," or "What a clever man he is, etc. But if he intends, by praising the physical beauty of an Akum (non-Jew), to praise God for having created such a beautiful creature, then he is permitted to do so, for the Jew may praise God for the beauty of an animal and also of an Akum (non-Jew).

| Law 75.

“It is forbidden for a Jew to take part in the wedding feast.

-Akum (non-Jews) to take part, even if he can bring his own food and his own servant (ie eat kosher), because a social friendship is developing

PFF

r T T

and

— 28 —

Could (which is known to be avoided by the Jew); but if the

If a non-Jew sends a Jew live poultry or meat slaughtered by a Jew to his house, the Jew may keep it in his “Eat well at home.”

Law 76.

It is forbidden for the Jew to follow a non-Jewish doctrine

anflage his child for instruction or a non-Jewish to hand over one's child to a master to learn a trade, because the Akum (non-Jews) would lead the child to evil;

Furthermore, the Jew may never be alone with an Akum (non-Jew)

because the Akum (non-Jews) are bloodthirsty. Go

Jew and an Akum (non-Jew) up or down the stairs, yō

yhall the Jew go first when ascending and last when descending dalfo always over the Akum [non-Jews]), otherwise the Akum (non-Jew), if the Jew was of lower rank, kill him,

Furthermore, the Jew may not, in the presence of an Akum (non-Jew), do not bend down, because otherwise the Akum could cut off his head.

The Jew may also answer the question of an Akum where he (the Jew

Law 77

“It is forbidden for a Jewish wet-nurse to nurse the child of a to nurse Akum (non-Jews), even if she is paid for it, because she thereby contributes to raising an Akum (non-Jew); only when she is in great pain due to an abundance of milk and

If the milk can be dangerous for her, she is allowed to do so. It is also go, do not tell him the truth, so that the Akum (non-Jew) does not sneak

after him and kill him." | — %

It is forbidden for a Jew to offer an Akum (non-Jew) a craft by which he can feed himself."

Law 78.

“It is forbidden for a Jew to be treated by a doctor or a Pharmacist who is an Akum (non-Jew) free of charge to be cured because it is assumed that the doctor or pharmacist bartender would poison him in this case; but the Jew may need an Akum (non-Jew) as a doctor or pharmacist if he

ähn paid, because he would then be careful not to steal him poison, so that his reputation does not suffer. | Tr m be

Law 79.

“It is permissible for the Jew to be in a state of mortal danger Illness Unclean (ie what he considers unclean according to the law to keep and which he is otherwise strictly forbidden to enjoy)

enjoy if he believes he can expect healing from it; and Even in this case it is still permissible to use something for healing

to make use of what is (in the sense of the Jews) Aller impure, namely belonging to a Christian church"

iD

Law 80.

“It is strictly forbidden for the Jew to speak of an Akum (non-Jews) to have their hair (head or beard) cut, because the Akum (non-Jew) could cut off their neck; it is only permitted if several Jews are present or if they have a mirror in front of them in order to detect any possible evil intentions of the Akum.

(non-Jews) to cut his throat, immediately notice and quickly

then to be able to run away." | 2 =

Law 81.

"The Jew is not obliged to have an Akum (non-Jew)

It is forbidden for a Jew to kill a non-Jew (a Jew) with whom he is at peace, but it is strictly forbidden for him to save such a non-Jew from death, for example if he had fallen into the water and even if he promised him his entire fortune for saving him.

Furthermore, it is forbidden for a Jew to heal a non-Jew (a Jew), even if he receives payment for it, except if there is a fear that the Christians would develop hatred of the Jews as a result. In this case it is even permitted to treat him free of charge if he (the Jew) cannot avoid the treatment. A Jew is also permitted to test on an Akum (non-Jew) whether a medicine is beneficial or fatal. Furthermore, a Jew is obliged to kill a Jew who has been baptized and has converted to the Akum (non-Jews), and he is strictly forbidden to save such a person from death." |

Law 82.

"It is strictly forbidden for a Jew to lend money to another Jew at usury (at high interest); however, it is permitted for him to lend money to an Akum (non-Jew) or a Jew who has become a Christian at usury, for it is written in the Holy Scripture: 'You shall let your brother live with you.'" But the Akum (non-Jew) is not considered a brother.

Law 83.

"It is forbidden for the Jew to adopt the way of life of the Akum (non-Jews); rather, he should try to distinguish himself from them as much as possible, for example in fine clothing, hair style, house furnishings, etc. Least of all should he wear clothing that has something specifically Christian about it (cross or similar). However, certain Christian groups, for example

If doctors or craftsmen wear certain clothing, then Jewish doctors or craftsmen are also allowed to wear such clothing if they can earn money by doing so." 83 f

* 0

RER rr 7 7

st. e

— 30 —

Law 84. | Among
the Jews there is a rule that at certain times

Purifications (cf. III. Moses 12) by washing with water. "If after carrying out the cleansing they encounter something unclean, disgusting or an Akum (non-Jew), then they must carry out a new cleansing, because the mere sight of an unclean thing or an Akum (non-Jew), without any contact having taken place, is already contaminating." | Law 85. a

"If a Jew has stolen something from an Akum (non-Jew), denies this in court and is forced to swear an oath, then other Jews who know about the theft should make a compromise strive to mediate between the Jew and the Christian.

But if a compromise is not reached and the Jew, if he
If he does not want to lose the case and does not want to get past the oath, then he may swear falsely and take the oath in his heart.
because he thinks he can do nothing else. This law, however, only applies in the case that the Akum (non-Jew) cannot find out about the theft; if he can find out about it, then the Jew may not swear falsely, so that the name of God is not desecrated. It is a basic principle that the Jew may swear falsely where corporal punishment is threatened, even if he may be made to commit perjury and the name of God may be desecrated; but where only fines are threatened, he may only swear falsely if he is not made to commit perjury.

and the name of God cannot be profaned."

Law 86. cz

“It is forbidden for the Jew to give a denier even one Law and even more so it is forbidden to give a Jew who has Akum (non-Jew) to give alms or to do something because one is not obliged to let them live. However, it is permitted to give alms to an Akum (non-Jewish person) so that no hatred against the Jews arises.”

Law 87. | and

“It is strictly forbidden for a Jew to accept alms from a non-Jew,” because according to the Jews, the one who gives a Jew Zedaka, i.e. alms, is blessed by God, so the Akum (non-Jew) would be blessed if the Jew accepted alms (the Jews assume that the non-Jews still exist because they once gave the Jews something good). “If the Jews took this opportunity away from them, they would soon crumble like a rotten vessel” break” (ie perish). Therefore, if a king or ruler who is a Goy (non-Jew) sends money to the Jew to distribute among their poor, they should not give the money to send it back so as not to offend the king, but they should not to their poor, but in secret to the Christian poor.”

— 3] 5

“But if the ruler gives something to the synagogue, it can be be taken because the blessing from it is not so significant.

But a Jew who has become a non-Jew may not be accepted.” | Ä | Law 88. | Ä

“Marriages between non-Jews have a binding nature, that is, their cohabitation is like horses living together.” Therefore, children have no human-kinship relationship with their parents and, “if parents and children become Jewish, the son can, for example, marry his mother.” However, the rabbis have declared themselves against the application of this principle in life, “so that the Akum (non-Jews) who have become Jewish should not say that the Akum (non-Jews) are more pious than the Jews, since

(the Akum) it is not permitted for a son to marry his mother

marry.” Law

89.

The Jews had the law, “to leave something standing on the edge of the field during the harvest or to leave ears of corn lying on the field for their poor.” Since then, however, among the Akum (non-Jews) scattered and their fields lie between those of the Akum (non-Jews), this is forbidden because the poor of the Akum (non-Jews) could collect it.” |

Law 90. |

Among the 24 cases in which the Rabbi must excommunicate, there are the following two, which are of interest to non-Jews.

a) “If a Jew wants to sell his property to an Akum (non-Jews), he must, if he has a Jewish neighbor, give him a written statement on request that he will be responsible for all inconveniences that might arise from this neighborhood. If he does not want to take responsibility, the Rabbi should

damnen, ie excommunicate.” |

b) The second case is that provided for in Law 21.

Law 91. .

"If a Jew is present when another Jew dies, he should tear a piece of his clothing as a sign of mourning at the moment when the soul separates from the body, even if the deceased was a sinner. But if he is present at the death of an Akum (non-Jew) or a Jew who has become an Akum (non-Jew), this sign of mourning is forbidden, because the Jew should rejoice at such a case."

Furthermore, it is forbidden for a Jew to pay his last respects to an Akum (non-Jew), for example to accompany his corpse to the grave or to give a eulogy; he may only do so where it is done for the sake of peace."

EFF

pirt ist.“ |

— 32 —

N ! Law 92. | N os

“It is forbidden for the Jewish priest (cf. Gel. 5) to touch a dead person or even to be in a house to stay where there is a dead person.” But the person is only understood to mean a Jew, because in IV. Moses 19, 14 it says: “If a person dies in a house, everyone who enters the house is unclean.” But the Jewish priest may enter the house.

in which an Akum (non-Jew) died, “because the Akum (non-Jews) are not to be regarded as human beings, but as animals.”

Law 9

”
“If a Jew has an Akum (non-Jew) as a servant or a Akum Michtjüdin) as a maid and is this servant or this maid.

died in his house, it is forbidden for another Jew to console him over the death as the death of a human being, but he may say: “God compensate you for the loss,” as one says to a person when an ox or donkey kills him.

| Law 94. | re “It is strictly forbidden for a Jew to give to an Akum (non-Jew)

to give a gift on New Year's Day, because the Akum (non-Jews) consider this a sign of good luck for the New Year and be happy about it. But if the Jew does not comply with the custom

If he cannot withdraw the gift, he should send it earlier. But if he fails to give the gift on the day of the feast itself or to earlier sending could cause harm or hatred, yes it is | permitted to send him the gift even on New Year's Day.” oo

Law 95.8 “It is strictly forbidden for Jews to encroach on their churchyards” unclean, that is, to perform certain needs on it or to let an Akum (non-Jew) enter it. — It

Jews are never allowed to take food from a Jewish cemetery profit or advantage; but if the land of a Jewish cemetery belongs to an Akum (non-Jew), then it is permitted to sell any proceeds of the cemetery (e.g. grass or trees) in order to gradually acquire the cemetery as one's own property with the proceeds, since it is a disgrace for the deceased to rest on the property of an Akum (non-Jew)." . on | | Law 96. N "If an Akum (non-Jew) kills an Akum (non-Jewish woman) or a

| * yes

Jew who has become a non-Jew, a Jewess who has become a niece

has become a Jew, marries, the marriage is without obligation
Therefore, if an Akum (non-Jew) or an Akum

(non-Jewish) have become Jewish, they may again be called advise without the need for a divorce, even if it were earlier

-

N

20 years together, because the married life of the Akum (non-Jews) can only be considered as H. . . rei.

„ Law 97.5

"It is strictly forbidden for a Jew to tell his neighbor people (ie a Jew), even if he is a sinner, and whoever hits his neighbour is a Raÿcha, i.e. a godless person and is excommunicated until he has asked his neighbour for forgiveness. But the neighbour is only understood to mean a Jew, hitting an Akum (non-Jew) is not a sin at all. Is an Akum (non-Jew)

Jew) has become Jewish and the latter is beaten by a Jew, the latter must compensate for the damage (the healing process), but he will not be excommunicated and the offense will not be held so high.

as if he had struck a born Jew."

| Law 98.

"If a Jew has married an Akum (non-Jew),

he should be given 39 lashes and the marriage should not be binding and the Bethdin (rabbinical office) should banish him; yes, if a Jew has even married a Jewess, the Jew may, if she has become a Christian, take another wife without the need for a divorce; for the Akum (non-Jews) should not be regarded as human beings, but as horses." 1

Law 99.

"If a Jew has lost a member of his family and is mourning for him, he may not leave his house for seven days and may not do any business to earn money. However, if he has the opportunity to make money from an Akum (non-Jew), he may leave the house and interrupt his mourning, because this is a good deed that he cannot make up for if he does not take the opportunity."

Law 100.

"Every Jew is obliged to reproduce and attitude of the human race. He should therefore take a wife with whom he can still have children, not an old woman, or one with whom this (namely having children) is not possible. Only if the woman has money and he wants to marry her for the sake of money, then he is permitted to do so, and the Bethdin (rabbinical office) cannot forbid him from marrying such a woman.

advise him not to have any more children with her." |

"If a Jew has children who are bastards or stupid, he has fulfilled his duty to contribute to the propagation of the human race.
But if his children are Akum (non-Jews), then a non-Jew has become Jewish and has children from before who

Embassy II. 5 3

*

5 rr.

THE RR

2

I NER

have not become Jewish, then he has his duty to procreate

to contribute to the creation and preservation of the human race, because the children of the Akum (non-Jews) are not even to be valued equal to Jewish bastards and idiots.”

IA is the murder of a non-Jew for religious purposes permitted among the Jews or not?

I thought I should use the space left on this sheet of paper according to Law 100 to say a word about the much-discussed to add the question, "whether the murder of a non-Jew for religious purposes is permitted among the Jews or not." - Already from the fourth century we have reports that non-Jews were missing children, that they suspected Jews of having disposed of the children, and that here and there suspicion arose that the children were used by the Jews for religious purposes slaughtered. This suspicion has been given new impetus in every century by cases of this kind that have occurred repeatedly in the most diverse countries. To judge whether and in which cases non-Jews were murdered by Jews is to official purposes was a matter for the judges and is now a matter of historical research. It was the same in the Tiszaï Eszlaer Affaire It is the court's job to investigate the facts of the murder of Eýther Solymoýýy and the purpose and motives of the murder. The question that I am dealing with here objectively - apart from all and every case - is whether the murder of a non-Jew is considered religious among the Jews.

legal purposes is permitted.

In this respect I note: The religious books of the Jews, which contain their religious laws and teachings, fall into two classes: Peýhat and Kabala (also Nigleh and Niýthar, i.e.

Public and hidden. He gives a rabbinical expression for the different types of their teachings, namely “Pardes” which means Garden. The word "Pardes" is an abbreviation of Peḥat, Remez, Deraḥ, Sod.) Peḥat means something like aḥ and to this type belong the books of law: the Talmud and the excerpts from it, the Shulchan Aruch etc. According to

According to the Shulchan Aruch (cf. Law 50 and Law 81), it is not considered a sin if a Jew kills a Christian.

The Jews also have, according to the Talmud edition of Bambeneḥti (according to rabbinical spelling) (Amsterdam) of 1646 (Jewish calculation 5407): Sanhedrin Perek 10 (Cheleck) and Aboda Zarah Perek 1 (in the editions of the Talmud there are two places where after the words: "A certain man" a space of almost one side is left unprinted. In the above-mentioned edition of Bambeneḥti this space is described and the content does not form sentences to be reproduced about the Savior, as well as sentences about his followers, the non-Jews), the duty to the followers of the Nazarene

3

However, there is no law in the Peḥat books of the Jews, whereby the murder of a non-Jew for ritual purposes is prescribed or permitted.

Higher than the Peḥat books are the books of the Kabala.

Kabala means tradition: it contains teachings that have been passed down traditionally in a secret manner and is full of allegorical and mystical interpretations of countless passages of the Holy Scripture. |

Anyone who is not initiated into the study of the Kabala and does not have the key to understanding it may read the Chaldean words and sentences in it, but he will not understand the slightest thing about it.

The Jewish people are generally unfamiliar with the Kabbalah, even most rabbis and chief rabbis are ignorant of it.

understanding of the same. To give an example,

How scriptures are interpreted in the Kabala, I refer to Seph.

Halk. (Jerusalem) p. 131, 2. According to this, the passage in I Samuel 17, 25, which says: "The man who kills him (the giant Goliath), the king will heap wealth on him and give him his daughter," is interpreted as: "Whoever kills a Goy and creates him from the world, the Lord will give him his daughter, that is, God will unite him with himself." In another passage, Sepher Half. p. 156, the blood of virgins of non-Jewish women is especially regarded as God.

pleasantly explained. |

The passage reads: "It is written in the Holy Scripture (Proverbs 30:19): "The way of a man to a virgin" etc. (there are three things mentioned in the Bible, of which it says: Three things are too wonderful for me and the fourth in the following verse is marked: "The way of a man to a virgin"] I do not understand at all). What does the Holy Scripture mean by this? The meaning in brief words is as follows: It is wonderful that the virgin women's blood of the unclean, the Klipoth (the non-Jewish women), is such a fragrant sacrifice to heaven. Yes, non-Jewish virgins Shedding blood is as holy a sacrifice as the best spice, and a means of reconciling God with oneself and of drawing grace upon oneself. This is what the Holy Scripture means: It is wonderful

It is not surprising that the virgin is personally impure and a Klipa (non-Jew) and yet the shedding of her blood is such a precious sacrifice."

Further, cf. p. 156 and 157.

Furthermore, in the Kabala and Pri ez Hachajjim (Baghdad)
(Author is Chajm Vital, a student of Ijack Lurja) p. 33 folj
This act was praised as one that was particularly pleasing to God:

"It is written in the Holy Scripture: The wise will shine like the brightness of heaven. What does that mean? — This-
Those who nourish the power of God with the blood of the Gojim - and these are the truly wise ones - will shine like the splendour of heaven. For although the Lord has taken away from us the temple and the sacrifice, he has left us a substitute that will nourish the soul

8 © 3%

m :

wet

and and

Kg Ne rd 3 G nn rr en — nr 8 * u — en a Zar

re Man u . —

— * and

Again

—

—

r

.

nme —

They a

1

8 36 —

even more than a sacrifice illuminates and sanctifies: Blood of the Gojim on a dry (Zechiach yelah yts there) stone before God (ie in the face or before the opened tablets of the law, and these are found only in the synagogues).” There are many similar passages in the Kabala. | 0 |

Db according to this the murder of a Christian for worship Whether or not this is permitted among the Jews for certain purposes is left to the reader. |

I conclude with a sincere and heartfelt request, that the all-merciful God and Savior Jesus Christ, who said:

“I do not desire the death of the sinner, but that he should repent and live”, assumed the form of a servant in order to raise us, the fallen, to himself through his self-abasement, and without whom we all still in darkness and in the shadow of death, even the Jews themselves mercy and also wanted to show them the light of his truth, that with them the works of darkness, the truth of the Christian themselves open their hearts to him, the long-come Messiah Jesus.

Serve Christ through a virtuous life and his holy name

may praise forever and ever! 8 Pr. Juýtus.

The judgment of Dr. Jakob Ecker on the hundred Ge yet, which he himself gave as an expert before the district court in Münster at the beginning of 1884,

can be summed up in a few words as follows
To sum up: Real errors only relate to minor matters.

The worst sentences in the Jewish Mirror are correctly taken from the rabbinical

Original translated. It is expressly noted that Dr. Juýtus,

I could have cited numerous other laws, the mention of which would have been even more unpleasant for the Jews than some of those contained in the Jewish Mirror. Israel can therefore not complain if it is said that the Shulchan Aruch contains the inhumane laws that are contained in the Jewish Mirror. | ee The Jew Heinrich Ellenberger, who certainly knows Judaism, writes in his “Historical Handbook” (Budapest 1883, p. 47): “There are only Shulchan
Aruch Jews left!” | Whoever says this has to answer for it; but one thing is certain: | Every Shulchan Aruch Jew who still has a sense of shame must blush when he looks at his face in this “mirror”:

At the beginning of the chapter “The Talmud” I have the first entry pressure to describe which the hundred laws on an in Make a trapped mind. Must one not ask oneself whether it is possible is that in a civilized state such things are kept under cover—

cloak of religion? |

No one has ever prevented or wanted to prevent the Jews from worshipping their God, from practicing circumcision among themselves and from performing other ritual acts which are known to us —

AND. a

may seem outdated and outdated, as long as the keep it within the limits of humanity and decency. But I ask, is what is taught in the hundred laws called religion?

I call the Hundred Laws the worst criminal code that one might think a human brain could conceive.

But not only do these laws exist, but as Dr. Ecker tells us, there are even worse laws in the Shulchan Aruch.

Besides, there exist other books and unpublished secret teachings among the Israelites which teach even worse things.

It is not my purpose to discuss this subject further here; I adhere to the hundred laws.

These hundred laws incite a population living in Germany as citizens (Jews, baptized and unbaptized) against another class of the population (the native Germans) in a manner that endangers public peace; this incitement is all the worse and more dangerous because it takes place in secret, because it not only approves of murder, manslaughter, lies, fraud, etc., but under certain circumstances even commands it.

Are these hundred laws really taught?

They are not only taught, but they are taught with zeal! Not only in the Talmud-Torah schools, in the rabbinical seminaries, in the synagogues, but also in innumerable associations and in the families of baptized and unbaptized Jews.

For example, in Berlin there is a Talmud Society which, since its founding in 1852, has gathered its members every evening to study the Talmud. Such societies and Jewish orders exist today all over the world. One only has to read a few rabbinical newspapers to be convinced of this. One only has to read the classifieds section of the Hirsch Hildesheimer "Jewish Press".

Yes, they are not only taught with zeal, but also followed with zeal throughout the whole globe where there are Jews.

These laws are the product of the Jewish brain, which is different from that of all other peoples on earth.

For thousands of years we have known the history of the Jews, which ŷeŷt like a streak of blood and dirt through the history of other peoples there.

Long before the Talmud and the Shulchan Aruch were written, the Jews had the laws contained in these books—even the Old Testament provides us with the most unmistakable proof of this. g |

Countless attempts have been made at all times and by all peoples to improve the Jews.

But always in vain! In Europe they have been emancipated gradually in the various civilized states for about 100 years. In Prussia they were given the same right in 1848.

EN³ mgy —VU

FJJŷ ōVŷ Ü: 1 for all SE and ZB

and

3

Today we can hear the speeches that were given in 1848 at the United Diet, where the question of Jewish emancipation was discussed.

was traded, one would like to be transported into a political nursery requires belief.

The Minister of State von Thile, the MPs Baron von Mylius, Müller, Greger, Krause and especially Bismarck, the later Chancellor of the Reich, spoke out against emancipation.

The government was opposed to emancipation.

A number of delegates were in favour of emancipation and won the victory.

Among the supporters, the deputy von Vincke (district of Arnsberg, province of Westphalia) stood out, beginning his speech with the words: "The Jewish religion contains no rules that would prevent the Jews from being as good as we Christians."

And now I ask you to read the hundred laws!

People spoke of the Jewish religion as if they knew it far away. I do not know whether there were any baptized Jews present at the meeting who might have known the religion and then of course kept quiet. But I also believe that those who spoke against emancipation, although their speeches were factual and based on rich life experience, had no knowledge of the statutes of the so-called Jewish religion.

have have.

If the members of the united Diet had known the Shulchan Aruch, emancipation would certainly not have come about. |

Representative Krause said in his speech:

“cu. wit now emancipate Judaism, we want

--

in forty years, how it will be used for me! It

It may be that we will not all see it, I am also at peace with myself about that, but hopefully future times will

8 and history will judge the rulers who sit before me.”

The forty years are over. And what is the result of emancipation? We have a Jewish rule such as has hardly existed before in the world. Not only the German imperial throne, but but also the existence of our Germany is threatened by it.

In all countries of the world where modern European Culture, international Jewry reigns supreme. | 9

Like the longitudes and latitudes on a globe, this Judaism has covered the civilized states with a network of interests.

in which Pope, Emperor, Kings and Princes, large states and small principalities with all their families and dependants wriggle like flies in a spider's web.

It is a wonderful spectacle that the end of the 19th century offers us: the majority of the Aryan population of the world, like Panurge's sheep, is heading for certain destruction.

to see it fall, — but on the other hand it is again a

— 39 —

Feeling of swimming against the current like a salmon in clear water with an active minority.

How was it possible that such a situation, contrary to the Aryan nature, could arise, that a minority which lives among us and which we see every day and whose Old Testament we should not only know, but which we also use in our religious teaching, should become such a ruler?

is enough?

Because they have always known how to keep their criminal teachings secret from us. Because they try to conceal their race; because they disguise their race and religion, which in this case are the same thing, by fake baptisms, by adopting foreign names, by denying their origins, in order to be able to deceive us all the more surely under these masks.

| In every Jewish brain lies the tendency of these hundred like a seed that germinates and develops into a plant as soon as it is fertilized. The Jews know this very well. This explains why they always know how to find each other; why they stick together so much. They know their predators.

Nature only too well.

You will now . > the Jews always Jo big 9 honor of the Talmud or

Shulchan Aruch, which is why they did not shy away from poison or other crimes to thwart the translation and dissemination of their teachings.

| It is the knowledge of the Shulchan Aruch that we lack!

Ecker's or rather Juýtus's Jewish Mirror can once again
may serve as a substitute, but we also have other a.
Sources from which we can draw.

It is this: Eisenmenger's "Discovered Judaism".

Johann Andreas Eisenmenger was born in Mannheim in 1654, studied oriental languages in Amsterdam and died on December 20th.
December 1704 in Heidelberg.

This learned Orientalist, most recently professor in Heidelberg, had

He had worked on the work for many years and spent his fortune on its publication.

But it had barely arrived in Frankfurt a. M.

printed, the Jews offered the author a sum of money if he would refrain from publishing and give them the already finished edition.

When he refused, they obtained an imperial order in Vienna, as a result of which the entire edition was confiscated.

The imperial councillors had instructed them to take this measure through the Spiegelung. motivated: The work contains dangerous attacks against Catholicism. Whether there were also sound reasons behind this remains to be seen, although it looks very much like it.

The heirs of the author, who was deeply offended by this and died soon afterwards, tried in vain to have the confiscation lifted. They therefore sought help from King Frederick I of Prussia, who referred the matter first to Emperor Leopold I and then to Joseph I and explained to both of them the groundlessness of the Jewish predominance. He explained the strange words: he.

eat — ———

5

"It would be detrimental to the Christian religion if the Jews were so powerful that they could defend the same, as to suppress the book produced to refute their errors." ZZ

Nevertheless, nothing helped, the Jewish influence proved more successful in Vienna, as the intercessor of the most distinguished German imperial prince. Then this king took the truly royal measure of having the work reprinted at his own expense, which then

At the same time, this had the consequence that the useless

The confiscation of the first edition was lifted and the work finally reached the public. |

Frederick I ordered the universities of Giessen, Heidelberg and Mainz to investigate whether any position of Professor Eisenmenger was incorrectly quoted and distorted; at the same time he forced the rabbis to examine Eisenmenger's citations and to indicate whether and to what extent and where something was wrong. All of them unanimously declared Eisenmenger's Texts and versions for irrefutable ... The judgment of the named universities and rabbis were subsequently appointed by namy haften Orientalist, wie FG Budeus, AND Tychsen, CB Michaelis.

Wolf et al. have repeatedly renewed and expressly pointed out the importance of the work for governments and tribunals. The following assessment of this work has been deposited in the Royal Chamber Court in Berlin since 1787: |

“The works of Eisenmenger from classical Jewish writers

The extracts provided are delivered and translated with a fidelity that withstands any test. Since it is a crime committed by the Jews themselves, will consider their Rabbi's statements to be absurd, they can only blame themselves when reasonable people from

Poison does not make honey, nonsense does not make truth, intolerance does not make

Tolerance, no friendship and love out of enmity and hatredy even with the best will in the world.” (Pawlikowski, The Talmud. Regensburg 1866.) 3

| As regards the judgment of Eisenmenger's "Discovered Judaism" pending before the Berlin Court of Appeal, we demanded

A scholar had long since asked for the same for inspection. He was answered by being asked to provide further details, which was of course impossible for him.
Concerning the murder of Father Thomas in Damascus in 1840y

the documents were at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs occasions in Paris; they disappeared in 1870 under the ministry of the Jew Cröémieux.

Should the assessment of Eisenmenger's work be a similar

„ I“
—— — There is a

have experienced a similar fate? That would be worth the effort, and to investigate? |

Eisenmenger's work still exists in many copies. The most beautiful edition is that of 1700 from Frankfurt am Main. A Writer could earn a great merit if he famous work, omitting the Greek and Hebrew texts, in modern language.

=.

The Secret Teachings of Judaism, the Jewish Nation, the

We must get to know the Jewish race if we want to fight against the want to protect them. A translation of the Shulchan Aruch should be produced by the state and its content should be taught in all schools.

When the horrific crime of 1875 in Bremerhaven occurred had come, no nation would recognize the criminal Thomas as one of its own. In no legislation in the world, it was said, is there a paragraph which presupposed the possibility of such a terrible crime. - That was simply not true. In the Shulchan Aruch there is a legislation which, under the name of Fr, approves, praises and even commands such a hideous crime. ; Yes, gentlemen, the Aryan brain is made differently from the Jewish one. Our senses are hardly able to comprehend the infamy of such legislation. |

S Teviye of the Alliance.

II.

The Universal Israelite Alliance.

The General Israelite Alliance.

(Based in Paris.) |

I. The General Israelite Alliance has no legal existence either in France or elsewhere. |

II. The Alliance's coat of arms consists of an allegorical figure representing the globe, surmounted by the tablets of Moses. The Alliance thus announces its demand that these tablets should rule the world instead of the cross or the crescent.

III. The Motto is the same,

IV. If all Jews are in solidarity with each other, it is evident, that the pact which unites them makes them into a mass, a self-contained drawing body, in contrast to all non-Jews. |

V. If the Jews only show solidarity among themselves, how can they show solidarity with the peoples among whom they live and whose fellow citizens they boast of being?

VI. If the Jews declare their solidarity with each other with

Conclusion of the non-Jews, how can they demand civil and political equality from those who keep them away from their solidarity? This is a market where everything is taken and nothing is given! |

VII. Jewish solidarity consistently makes civil equality illusory; this solidarity destroys the social and political balance in favor of the allied Jews and to the detriment of the divided fellow citizens. A compact and strong minority faces a disorganized and weak majority.

VIII. If all Jews scattered throughout the earth

dariÿch, "All for one, one for all", every Jew represents one of 9,999,999 others, that is, of the cosmopolitan Jewsÿ society. In comparison with this powerful unity, what does the non-Jewish unity reduce itself to, whether it be a French, English or Russian citizen?

Very little! |

The national solidarity which supports the non-Jew is limited to one country, one race, it is illusory. That is the Secret of the rise which the Jews are increasingly enjoying at the expense of other races.

The task they have successfully solved is this: to concentrate at a given point (or person) from all five points of the globe a mass of power and influence capable of overcoming any resistance.

The noise of the "Union g n rale" provides the latest and most shocking clearest proof of the application of this theorem.

IX. But Jewish solidarity is furthermore incompatible with the civic duties and the oath of loyalty which binds the subject to his sovereign. The Jew who is in solidarity with foreigners, who has given his consent to an anonymous and foreign authority, to that very universal Israelite alliance, has in reality entered into a relationship with the country and the state of which he is supposed to be a subject.

broken, he stands outside the law.

X. It is through the alliance mentioned in the bulletins aÿ registered documents proved that the General Israelite Alliance is a corps, a political machine, hiding under the mask of philanthropy.

ites Bulletin 1874, p. 17: Report from Königsberg - the Alliance decides on the offensive by preventing the emigration of the Jews and instead driving them towards the center of the Russian Empire.

2te8 Bulletin 1877, p. 47 and 1880, p. 4. Depth of both.

Reports confirm the agr. c alliance in its Bcezieÿ hungen to Re

Tiles Bulletin. After an analysis of the reports and other documents of the Alliance (1875-1880), it is true that the Alliance in question set up a siege cordon of 56 revolutionary committees along the Russian-German border, from Memel to Brody, to support the nihilistic revolution.

Although the Israelite Alliance claims to be an eminently philanthropic society, it nevertheless has no qualms about getting rid of the Tsar by means of revolver shots and dynamite (see "Revelations about the Assassination of Alexander II." Bern, by Nydegger and Baumgart).

Ates Bulletin 1875, II. Semester: Mr. Crémieux's actions with the Persian government. P. 22: Intervention of the Central Committee in the Tunisian turmoil. |

5th Bulletin 1875, IInd Semester: The Alliance allows itself to denounce the Austrian-Romanian trade treaty; it accuses Austria of having sacrificed Jewish interests.

ötes Bulletin 187 7, p. 27: Intervention of the Central Committee of the Alliance at the Swiss Federal Council to protest against the incorporation of any provision in the Swiss Constitution that would harm the Jews.
Romanian trade agreement to protest.

7th Bulletin 1878: Intervention of the agents of the Alliance at the.
Berliner Congreß.

ee A

Stes Bulletin 1880, II. Semester: Intervention of the Alliance at the Madrid Conference on the occasion of Moroccan affairs. | gtes Bulletin. Hunt of the Alliance emissaries for the Shah of Persia, who was visiting Europe. The Shah was released afterÿ to whom he had promised to take Jews into his service.

10th Bulletin 1883: The Alliance is looking for an old one for the Jews expelled from Russia and Germany. She speaks the guest friendship of King Alphonsus XII and is heard. The Spanish ministry resists and the alliance takes revenge with that cowardly demonstration in Paris.

XI. The Universal Israelite Alliance, a Political Body
ity, a power; to tolerate it is to create a state within a state recognize. But what am I saying! It is even worse, it means tolerating permanent revolution, it means letting a volcano sleep beneath one's feet. As long as this Camorta, this hotbed of agitation and shady conspiracy, exists, there will be no peace or rest anywhere.

XII. The Israelite Alliance makes no secret of its policy and intentions, for it declares loudly that its aim is to fight all those who reject the Jews as such. Such a demand seems at first sight quite natural and justified. In reality, however, its aim is nothing more and nothing less than to overthrow all barriers which protect the existence of the other races; a true e is thereby opposed to

raised above the nationality principle. |

Let us cite a few examples and we shall see how far such a demand leads.

A market town is suddenly flooded with Jews: the frightened inhabitants seek refuge in security or, as they are called, protectionist measures. Immediately the war cry is sounded.

shouts of the Alliance: "You persecute the Jews only because they are Jews! Long live tolerance! Down with intolerance!

Down with the tyrants!"

This pious call brings with it a retinue of false rumors, Slander and intrigues, which throw everything into disarray in the country, and at the end of the song the unfortunate inhabitants see that that famous war cry: "They are expelling the Jews:"

wants to be yttanded:

"Israel shall eat everywhere and eat everything!" | z

Another example: The elections are approaching; some one born candidate believes he has the advantage over a Naquet or a Cohn. The Israelite alliance immediately takes up the feud glove and helps her Jew to triumph through intrigues and ringing thalers, precisely because he is a Jew.

| Finally, an example borrowed from family life. Simon asks for Miss Duprat's hand in marriage; but her father gets goosebumps and trembles at the thought of seeing his blood mixed with Jewish blood. He turns Simon down, while wishing him every possible chance elsewhere.

— 45 —

When the Jewish crowd heard this, a unanimous cry of indignation filled the air:

“What, they are setting up a unique candiŷ dating a rich, young, handsome, well-bred man who has all the good qualitiesŷ ŷeŷts, out the door because he is a Jew? Never, everŷ

2 more! Papa Duprat, you will have to deal with us!"

From that moment on, Duprat is of the sect which leads to the Lower who will stop at nothing to destroy her victim.

All kinds of rumors begin to circulate about him; people are looking for him to ridicule and discredit. A password flies through all editorial offices and bookstores, and in a few weeks

The author of “La Dame aux Giroflées” sinks to the rank of

‘to 30,000 francs!

Batzenŷcriber down; fine income decreases from 100 000

Fortunately, Duprat has a fine nose in financial matters and enough common sense and self-denial to

He embracing Simon and agreeing with philosophical equanimity to tell Grandpa about a

To become a quarter of a hundred most lovely and interesting little Jews.

XIII. Until now only such minor intrigues

the speech, which relates to society and internal affairs

— *

ties of a country. Only the universal Israelite

Allianz has (hence its title) its large global international Politics. Here it takes its political high ground and allows itself to negotiate from great power to great power.

XIV. Russia is the terror of the Alliance because it insists on treating the Jews as what they are, as Jews. The Alliance therefore fights this empire with all means;

in order to get in the way of the same, she makes common cause with the English in the Oriental question; to put it in Internally, it supports and fuels the nihilistic movement.

| XV. The Kingdom of Naples and the other states of the half islands continue to regard the Jews only as Jews. The Alliance gives the House of Savoy the mandate to subjugate them all. press, under the crocodile cry: "United Italy!" The most rebellious of all, the Pope, is brought into his chambers closed.

XVI. At the Berlin Congress, Beaconsfield and his accomplices from the Israelite Alliance of Rumania, Serbia and Bulgaria are seated and handed over to their hungry co-religionists, bound hand and foot. Waddington plays the role of an honest and obliging negotiator at this market; he lets Frank rich the merit, the halo of a beautiful action. The rich broth and the good morsels have fallen to Judaism, this bottomless, gaping maw. N

XVII. According to the general Israelite alliance against

According to the communications signed, the number of its affiliates amounts to  re

De u

IS

ET Scene

— 46 —

26,000. This meaningless figure was obviously invented for the needs of the matter. Without being a great mathematician, we believe we are right to add a zero, which would bring the number of Jews affiliated with the Alliance to 260,000.

is this figure in relation to the total of the Jewish population which is 10 million in both hemispheres.

XVIII. The alliance was publicly announced in 1860 by Crémieux, the famous triumvir of the “Government of National Defense”.

It is therefore very young, having only been in existence for 27 years.

Its wonderful development in such a short period of time should be enough to open the eyes of all, especially those who have been lulled to sleep by modern liberalism. If a European Congress does not hasten to take energetic measures against this enemy of all humanity, our ruin, our humiliation, our slavery will be sealed forever.

IXX. The conspirators’ chiefs of the Alliance meet three times a month on the second floor of a house (35) on Treviso Street. Nothing from the outside indicates to the traveler that this is the headquarters of a society who only needs to stomp on the ground to make us all dance.

XX. The house number 35 on Treviso Street is mainly inhabited by circumcised tenants; there is the beehive. The General’s quarters; one meets there correspondents, reporters, business agents , etc., all Jews. Several third-rate hotels further down the

The same street houses the rabbis and other Israeli notables who come to Paris especially to meet the
to discuss the Alliance.

XXI. Without Paris knowing it, a rabbinical seminary has been secretly set up, where the Alliance receives internals from all four corners of the earth and breathes into them the spirit which is to enliven the sect. This establishment is the college of Jewish sophistication.

XXII. Within the Alliance there is a select committee whose members are entrusted with important and delicate missions. There are only thirty of them in total, but they are well chosen and tested. They are influential, high-ranking people with (what could be more) pensions of 5,000 to 100,000 francs. In winter these secret agents visit the finest circles; in summer they go to sea.

baths and health resorts, where propaganda was made among Jews and the uny circumcised society is being spied on.

(OsmanÿBey, The Conquest of the World by the Jews.) 8

in AR Se.

Crémieux's call) to found the "Alliance israélite universelle".

The alliance we want to form is neither French nor English, neither Swiss nor German, it is Jewish, it is universal. The other peoples are divided into nations; we alone have no fellow citizens, but only religious comrades. The Jew will not be the friend of the Christian and the Muslim until until the light of the Jewish faith, the only

reasonÿreligion, will shine everywhere. |

Scattered among peoples who oppose our rights and teres, we will remain Jews above all. Our nationality is the religion of our fathers, we recognize no other.

We live in foreign countries and we cannot be interested in the changing interests of these countries as long as our moral and material interests are in danger. |

The Jewish teaching must one day fill the whole world.

Israelites! Although scattered across the earth, you always strive to be members of the chosen people. If you believe that the faith of your ancestors is the only patriotism
mus is; if you believe that despite your external nationality were only one people; if you believe that the Jews thum alone represents the religious and political truth, if

You all believe these things, Israelites of the whole world, come, hear our call, show us your approval. The work is great and holy, the success is certain. Catholicism, our hundred-year-old enemy, is defeated, struck on the head (frappe à la tête). Every day the net that Israel is throwing over the earth is widening.

spread, and the sublime prophecies of our holy books will be fulfilled. The day is coming when Jerusalem will become the house of prayer for the united peoples, when the flag of Jewish monotheism will fly on the most distant shores. Let us use all circumstances. Our power is great, let us learn to use it.

What do we have to fear? The day is not far off when the

The riches of the earth will belong exclusively to the Jews. (Les

"The riches of the earth will belong exclusively to the Jews.)" (Named after the French newspaper
"The Anti-Semite".)

When a few years later the Alliance had already made a powerful appearance

had gained momentum, Crémieux wrote in his reports under

*) Crémieux is the same man who, as Grand Master of the Lodge in 1870, placed a reward of one million francs on the head of King William of Prussia.

s

Others: "When the Jew rises, he rises honestly tig: We are making giant strides!" f

"He must create a new Messianic kingdom, a new Jerusalem stand in the place of the emperors and popes."

These few examples are sufficient to characterize this Jewish charitable society.”

(Thomas Frey, Antisemitics Catechism, Leipzig, 1889.) |

It may be mentioned here that the Alliance, at least in earlier years, used to hold its meetings in Paris in the Folies Bergère, a place which corresponds roughly to the Reichshallen in Berlin; and it is in such a place that the World Government meets.

The Alliance israélite founded by Crémieux is, as Paul de Lagarde quite rightly says, “nothing but a conspiracy for the benefit of Jewish world domination,” whose “mere existence confirms that the Jews living in Germany, France, and England are not Germans, French, or English, but Jews.” (Paul de Lagarde, Deutsche Schriften III, 27.)

Every member of the Alliance, whether open or secret, would therefore be a conspirator against the fatherland.

Germany would thus support a large number of traitors to the fatherland who hold office and rank.

For the sake of curiosity, I will quote from Pascal, “A Report on a General Synod of the Jews held in Leipzig in 1869.”

Strangely enough, it is the same year in which Pope Pius IX opened the Vatican Council, which, despite opposition, ŷay of the most respected bishops, under the personal influence of the Pope, accepted the dogma of papal infallibility.

For more information about the Jewish Synod, see also the book by Gougenot des Mouŷŷeauz “Le Juif”, Chapter 10, p. 331 et seq.

On June 29, 1869, a large Jewish synod was convened in Leipzig. Representatives of the Jewish ŷian nation from all parts of Europe under the chairmanship of Prof. Lazarus from Berlin. The debates among the various factions ŷtruc, the Chief Rabbi of Belgium, finally passed the following resolution, which was introduced by Dr. Philippŷon of Bonn and supported by the unanimously adopted by all members of the assembly:

“The Synod recognizes that the development and the forceŷ

"The realization of modern principles offers the surest guarantees for Judaism and its members for the present and the future. They form the most vital conditions for the growth and the highest development of Judaism."

We are not childish enough to understand the meaning of the great

Words: "modern principles" are not to be understood. Basically

— 49 =

This means nothing other than "the revolution", the "anti-Christian social revolution" which dominates everything. Those who know the history of the present compare the years 1869 and 1886! Can they deny that the "realization of modern principles" has become more and more complete? Do they doubt for a moment that through this ever more perfecting realization of Judaism and its members "the surest guarantees ties for the present" and are on the point of achieving a brilliant future"? Is the current existence of Judaism not at the highest level of world dominion and does it not run counter to "its highest development", "world dominion"? Who has predicted this realization of modern principles through which was voted at the Israelite Synod of 1869?

The Jew! This progressive Jew, whose humanity, whose philosophy anthropy and charity, whose tolerance is celebrated, etc.

(G. de Pascal, La Juiverie, Page 22—23.)

An article in the "Allgemeine Zeitung des Judenthums", No. 8 of February 19, 1891, calls for entry into the Alliance israélite universelle, which also contains a number of notable valuable passages that we cannot withhold from our readers. It says:

"The power and strength of the Jews lies in the unity of

Let us thank God that after centuries of dispersion and fragmentation we now have a center, a unity around which we can rally."

We always thought that the Jews were part of the 3rd people 3 That now does not seem to be the case. Continue

we:

"Membership of the Alliance should be consistent with being a Jew."

And then:

"Alliance members live everywhere, in all parts of the world, in Asia, Africa, America, Australia, China, Mexico, Canada, etc. Anyone in the Orient who presents a recommendation from the Alliance to political or civil authorities is assured by Jewish

Travellers of the East, doors and gates open to them. |

The Alliance israelite universelle has thus become a power that must be reckoned with in all circles, a power that spins its fine threads everywhere, that throws its net over the states and will subjugate them if they do not pull themselves together and forcefully tear the meshes apart. There is still time, but it is urgent.

(Deutschŷ a Blätter No. 133 of March 1, 1891.)

Embassy II. 4

— 50 —

| Blockade | of the Russian-German border by the Jewish forces organized and led by the Israelite General Alliance in Paris (from 1872 to 1882)
led committees. 3 | Left wing.
Right wing.
| Königsberg. af Liegnitz. To headquarters, under the command of the headquarters, under the command of Rabbi Bamberger, Lieutenant Dr. Landsberg, Lieutenant of the

the Alliance. Alliance.

Memel. Breslau.

Outpost of the attack cordon, under the Jarotŷchin.

Orders of Dr. Rŷlf. Pleŷchen.

Tilŷit. 2 Ostrowo.

Johaunisburg. | FKFoŷchmin.

Schirwindt. | Krotoŷchin.

Inŷterburg. | Drachenberg.

Gumbinnen. 5 Trebnitz.

Tapiau. Schweidnitz.

Proŷtken. | Oppeln.

Weiŷenburg. | | Falkenberg.

Lautenburg. Wieruŷowo.

Strasburg. ö ö Pitŷchen.

Graudenz. Gleiwitz.

Brieŷen. Ratibor.

Bromberg. Rybnik.

Peak. N | Pleŷ.

Thorn. N Kattowitz.

Strelno. | Tarnowitz.

Kruŷchwitz. Königshŷtte.

Inowrazlaw. Laurahŷlte.

Gnesen. | Zabrze.

Wreŷchen. Krakow.

Samter. > Brody.

Manure. |
Posen.
Costs.
Schroda.
Schrimm.

NB. A glance at the map is enough to see the whole sharp-edged ity of this strategic plan, which envisaged the encirclement of the Russian border had the aim of highlighting. This is impossible to attribute to a simple coincidence.

|

Nowhere else does one find such a massive concentration of Jewish forces or such a uniform distribution. The committees were divided: I. into attack committees, which were based on the Russian areas; II. in alarm committees, which were on the opposite side, i.e. those which in the rest of Europe

spread all kinds of news that seemed suitable to

to influence public opinion and help the nihilists.

(OsmanÿBey, The Assassination of Alexander II, pages 221— 223.)

OsmanÿBey wrote in 1885: “Since then, this remarkable worthy charitable society has made giant strides.”

The blockade system on the Russian border will of course continue to exist, but how many other such systems exist today?

Every ruler, every state is surrounded by such a system.

7

hl

The philanthropic society has had recent successes: the copper crash, the dethronement of the Emperor of Brazil, the terrible tinian calamities that Mac KinleyÿBill (for Mac Kinley serves only as a straw man) and finally the case of Baring Brothers.

To the Bank of England, this bastion of civilized prosperity
jired world, the Jews have laid their hands, and to the German

Imperial throne Semitism is becoming increasingly active in a worrying way.
We are facing a huge coup by the Alliance, which is ahead will obviously overthrow thrones and cost much blood and tears.

For a better overview, I had the following map made.

F ;
3 what | o

-
\
P
\
*

and 5 8 5 2
. 5th —
N 4 i 5
1 Riding
\
1 Me l 1
2 54885638
Div; E. Fg S ai 1 } ne.

I is f 6 2 8 2 8 0. — — 88285
+ 0 8 2 38 8 M

8
f 2 8 2

u —a— 3 ·ÿ— 2
1

SAVES END REACHED c ccc ccc (//(
* x ;

r n e m zZ ee

* PER
i . ---

rr ÿTLIII. 7 20T

Pe y y ———
LT —

--

. —

— — — y y — — — — —

--

--

2 Tree — 2 —
T

gathering

-

of the Central Committees

Universal Israelite Alliance. -

Members in Paris:

SH Goldschmidt, President.

Joÿeph Derenbourg, Viceÿ
President

Narciso Leven, Vice President.

Léonce Lehmann, secretary.

Ed. Kohn, Treasurer.
G. Bédarride.

Charles Berr.

Jules Cavallo.

Hartwig Derenbourg.

Michel Erlanger.

Lucien Hejŷe.

Baron M. de Hirŷch.

GroßŷRabbiner Zadoc Kahn.

Eugene Manuel.

Gaŷton Mayer.

Ferdinand Meyer.

Dr. Arnold Netter.

P.-M. Oppenheim.

Jules Oppert.

Eugöne Péreire."

Salomon Reinach.

Camille Rodrigues.

Jules Roŷenfeld.

Ad. See.

Ernest LéviŷAlvarss, Ehrenŷ
member. |

Hippolyte Rodriguez, Honorary Member.

Members abroad: EA Astruc, Grand Rabbi in Bayonne. . BR Dr. Baerwald in Frankfurt a. M.

Dr. Bamberger, Rabbi in Königsberg.

JM Bielefeld in Mannheim.

Sirasl Coŷta, Rabb. in Livorno.

Alex. A. Daniels in Amŷterdam.

Bernhard Deutych de Hatvan

in Budapest. |

Samuel Dreyfus-Neumann in Bayel. Be

Moyses A. Dropyie in Bhila-delphia.

Dr. Feilchenfeld, Rabbi in Poÿen.

Dr. Frank, Rabbi in Cologne.

Dr. Fuld, Lawyer in Frankÿ

furt a. M. 8

Dr. Graetz, Prof. in Breslau.

Sir Julian Goldÿmid, Bart. in London. N

D. von Gutmann, President of the Alliance in Vienna.

L. de Hartogh, Professor of Straight in Amsterdam.

Myer S. Iÿaacs in New Pork.

Dr. Joÿephthal, Advocate in Nuremberg.

Eude Lolli, GroßÿRabbiner in Padua.

Benjamin Lurix in Hamburg.

Dr. S. Neumann in Berlin.

Th. Oÿchinsky in Breslau.

Dr. Perles, Rabbi in Munich.

Dr. Leone Ravenna in Ferrara.

C. LimonýSalomon in Metz.

Dr. A. Salvendi, Rabbi in Dürkheim ad H.

Cr.-A. A. Wolff, K. D. Großý

Rabbi in Copenhagen.

| IM. u

The Jewish Press. u

Around the year 1840, an Israelite council was called to Krakow; the most prominent figures of the chosen people were present. The purpose of their call was to find the most suitable means to bring the Jewish world into harmony with the Jewish people.

to complete the conquest. | One of the attendees, a ruthless and cunning man, stands up and addresses his colleagues in a sonorous voice:

“Great are the advances we have achieved, our kingdomý Our powers are growing rapidly, our influence reigns everywhere; the Goyim (the unbelievers) are our subjects; but think, dear colleagues, what wealth there is still to plunder, what billions there are still to get their hands on! We must not rest on our laurels; we must hurry to rob the whole world; the faster we go, the sooner the prophecies will come true.

"I have found a means," added the worthy speaker, "of giving a new impulse to our operations; and that is the use of the press as an instrument to deceive the masses, to lull them to sleep, and then to pluck them at will.

I therefore propose an urgent attack on the press in all countries. We must acquire the monopoly of the press."

The cries of bravo and cheers and the clapping erupted from all sides, even before this ravenous animal had returned to its seat. had taken. |

"What a brilliant idea! What a discovery! On the one hand, the press will serve as a fanfare, on the other hand, the stockbrokers will catch the Goyim in their nets in droves. "Oh, what a dawn, what a dawn!" cried those in the hall.

wolves approach each other.

The following day, all of Israel received his watchword: “Get hold of the daily papers! The more we have, the better it will go!” |

Since then, it has been a fiery idea of Judaism that

To transform the press into a kind of powerful artillery, capable of

N

no

To remove any obstacle that might stand in the way of his conquest, whether on the political, as well as the financial, sphere.

For this purpose, the press in all countries is organized as follows: 1) Newspapers with a Jewish flag; 2) Newspapers with two faces, which are basically completely Jewish and yet still have some nationality; 3) Goyim newspapers, which are supported or muzzled by the Jews.

| 1) The journals of the first category are addressed exclusively to the Jews in order to enlighten them and to support their attacks on the other

To lead classes correctly. So says "Judenthum", "The Jewish Chronicle", |

"L'Univers israélite" and many others.

2) The journals with two faces are the most dangerous, because under the English, French, German, etc. mask the Jewish demon hides from the eyes of the deceived reader.

While the public in these organs is the reflex of public Opinion of Germany and France on this or that question believes it sees only Jewish puppets, of Jewish,

scorpions hidden behind the curtains.

Every country patiently carries some of these infernal machines on its back; the Times, the Daily Telegraph and the Echo are considered English and belong to France. Well, it will be objected, that is not much; but remember that the Daily Telegraph is a publication of 120,000 copies. The Jewish-French organs are less fat, but more numerous and more vociferous, as they are just necessary to amuse the French. There it says in first and foremost the “Journal des Débats”, the Patriarch under this masked gang, then the “Gaulois”, the “Lanterne”, the “Liberté” and the “Nation”.

As for the “Figaro”, a good number of fine gargons who shave and shorn the audience have come from the ghetto. Italy need not envy its sister nation, because there the Israelite choir is complete: the “Libertz”, the “Raÿÿegna”, the “Perÿeveranza”, Italia” and so on. Poor Italians, your ears are being torn out! A Jew named Oblieght wanted even buy up the press of the whole country. That was too strong,

In the beautiful center of the hemispheres, the Jews were greeted by a solemn

Kick! — In Germany there are a lot of Jewish papers, but all of them are known to the police; they are toads which hiss, but not too are allowed to shout loudly. The “Berliner Tageblatt”, the “Nationalŷ 3 the “Voÿÿiÿche” and the “Frankfurter Zeitung” are the most important Jewish organs in Germany.

In Austria, on the other hand, the Jewish national journals

a real witches' cauldron. The large blunderbusses underneath

the “Neue Freie Preÿÿe”, the “Wiener Tageblatt”, by Pava Szepsÿ Clemenceau and all the daily papers published in the major cities of the Empire.
5 . |

3) With regard to the newspapers of the third category, which consist of supported and gagged by the yawning Jewish fund, it is impossible for us to say anything; we would have to have a full police force to hunt them down and scare them out of their underground nests. What we have said so far is also sufficient to demonstrate the existence of a secret, but terrible, moral lic power. Truly, the hundreds of pages that follow the commands of Judaism are just as many fires judges, directed against us, to destroy and stun us.

What can the few little malicious cannons do, called upon to defend the honour, the interests and the existence of other peoples? Absolutely nothing; their voices are immediately drowned out by the infernal noise.

The attack on the press entails the usurious purchase of advertising agencies, telegraph agencies, printing houses, etc. The agencies Havas, Haasenstein & Vogler, GL Daube and Moÿe have set themselves the task of taking almost all the journals in Europe on a leash. These gentlemen lease the advertisements on the fourth page. That is enough for them to gain access to the editorial offices. In this way, they are sitting on the backs of all the editorial offices, and this combination is by no means stupid. |

The Jews claim the privilege of providing intellectual and spiritual nourishment to all of humanity, and do so solely for the purpose of deceiving and duping them at will. Woe to those who do not think like them! They are condemned to die of hunger on the pavement. (OsmanÿBey, The Conquest of the World by the Jews. Bonn 1888.) ö | 5

* *

x

“As long as we do not have the newspapers of the whole world in our hands to deceive and stun the people, our rule will remain a figment of the imagination!” These are the infamous words of the philanthropist Sir Moses Montefiore, which the Jews would only now like to refute after his death.

prayer of a chief rabbi held in a secret meeting.

Extract from an English work by Sir John Readclif: Report of the politicalhistorical events of the last ten years. |

Our fathers have given the elect of Israel the duty 15 to gather at least once every century at the grave of the Grand Master Caleb, the holy Rabbi Simeonÿ benÿlhuda, whose teachings gave the chosen of each generation dominion over the whole world and authority over all the neighbors.

come of Israel.

The people's struggle has lasted for eighteen centuries

Israel for the power that was promised to Abraham, but which was stolen by the cross. Trampled underfoot, humiliated by his enemies, always under threat of death, the persecution and insult of every kind, the people of Israel have not been inferior, and if they have spread over the whole earth, this has happened because the whole world must belong to them.

For several centuries our enlightened ones have been fighting against the cross with tireless perseverance. Our people rises gradually, and every day his power grows. Ours is the God of the day, which Aaron has erected for us in the desert, this golden calf, the universal deity of the present time alters! |

When we have made ourselves the sole owners of the gold of the whole world, then the real power will be in our hands, then the promises made to Abraham will be fulfilled.

. e fulfill.

Gold, the greatest power in the world, - the gold which is the strength, the reward, the means to every pleasure, everything that man fears and desires - see, that is the great thing secret, the deep science of the spirit that rules the world!

that is the future!

Eighteen centuries have belonged to our enemies, but the present and the future must belong to us, to us, the people of Israel, and will surely belong to us.

“8

in Ti

Behold, for the tenth time, after a thousand years of stubborn and continuous struggle with our enemies, gather in this cemetery at the grave of our Grand Master Caleb, the holy Rabbi Simeon ben - Ihuda, the chosen ones of each generation of the People of Israel to discuss the means of providing for our cause can benefit from the great errors and sins which our enemies, the non-Jews, continually commit.

Each time the new Sanhedrin has proclaimed and preached the fight without mercy with our enemies. But in none of the previous centuries had our ancestors succeeded in bringing so much gold—and consequently power—into their hands as the nineteenth century has bestowed upon us. We may therefore, without frivolous illusion, hope that we shall soon attain our goal, and look confidently to the future.

The time of persecution and humiliation - those dark and painful times which the people of Israel endured with such heroic patience - are fortunately over for us, thanks to the progress of civilisation among the non-Jews; and this progress

step is the best shield behind which we can seek protection and act in order to move through space with quick and sure steps which still separates us from the highest goal.

Let us now cast our eyes on the economic situation Europe and consider the resources which the Israelites have acquired since the beginning of this century, solely by accumulating immense capital in their hands, and which they have at their disposal at this moment |

Thus, the Israelites in Paris, in London, in Vienna, in Berlin, in Amsterdam, in Hamburg, in Rome, in Naples and in all the Rothschilds everywhere through the possession of many billions of masters of financial market; quite apart from the fact that in every second or third place they also possess cash, and that everywhere without the children of Israel, without their direct influence, no financial operation, no significant work can be undertaken.

den kann. N

Nowadays all emperors, kings and reigning princes are burdened with debts which they had to incur to maintain the numerous permanent armies to support their tottering thrones.

The stock exchange records and regulates these debts, and we are

Most of the gentlemen of the stock exchange on almost all places. In order to

To move forward, we must study the bonds to get to the sole regulator of all values and, as far as this possible, as security for the capital which we supply to the countries. the exploitation of their railways, their mines, their forests, their large ironworks and factories, as well as other real estate assets and even the administration of taxes.

Agriculture will always remain the great wealth of every country. The possession of large lands brings

| e | Poverty

is slavery, says a prophet. The proletariat

— 58 —

a always brings honor and great influence with it that we must also strive for our brothers in Israel acquire large land holdings. We must therefore avoid the fragmentation of the large land holdings in order to enable us to acquire them lighter.

The large landowners must bear the full weight of the taxes, and when the property has passed into our hands, then all the work of the non-Jewish day laborers and proletarians are the source of immense wealth for us is the lowly servant of speculation. But the oppression and.

the influence are the lowly servants of the spirit, to whom the cunning.

inspires and inspires. And who can give the spirit to the children of Iŷrael,

To deny wisdom and a penetrating view? | Our people are ambitious, arrogant and pleasure-seeking. Where

There is light, there are also shadows, and it is not without reason, that "our God has given his chosen people" the ability to live;

the snake's cunning, the fox's cunning, the hawk's gaze, the Memory of a dog, the mutual obligation and the

The beavers' instinct to unite.

We groaned in exile in Babylon, and we | have become powerful!

Our temples have been destroyed, and we have

Instead of building thousands of temples!

For eighteen centuries we were slaves, 1 in.

Peoples raised up!

It is said that a large number of our brothers in Israel

..
-

Under the pretext of helping the working classes,

| this century we have pulled ourselves together and risen above all others convert and take the non-Jewish baptism. It does not matter! ... the baptized can serve us well prove; they can become auxiliary troops for us to create new

Towards goals that are still unknown to us because the new converts always stick with us, and despite the baptism of their body, spirit and soul remain Israel

but always faithful. In a century at most,

It is no longer the children of Ifrael who want to become Gentiles, but the Gentiles will become our holy faith; but then Iŷrael will join them with reject contempt.

Since the non-Jewish church is one of our greatest enemies,

we must persistently seek to reduce their influence.

One must therefore inculcate as much as possible the ideas of freethinking, scepticism and unbelief into the minds of those who profess the non-Jewish faith and avoid religious disputes.

ities, which in the aan jo frucht hn for Zery division and sectarianism.

m ee

and

— 59 —

We must sensibly begin by asking the priests

degrade this religion; let us declare open war on them; let us suspect their piety, their private life; and then we shall undermine by ridicule and mockery the respect paid to rank and dress. |

The natural enemy of the Church is the Enlightenment, which...

The result of the widespread spread of schools is. Let us try to gain influence on the young students.

The idea of the Fortŷ

This step will result in the equality of all religions, and this will in turn lead to the elimination of non-Jewish religious instruction in the school curriculum. The Israelites will, through skill and intelligence, easily obtain seats and positions as professors in non-Jewish schools. This will push religious education back into the family, and since in most families there is no time to monitor this subject, object of judgment is lacking, the religious attitude will diminish and gradually disappear completely. |

Every war, every revolution, every political or religious ŷhock in the non-Jewish world is bringing the moment closer when we

we will achieve the highest goal we strive for.

Trade and speculation, two things which bring great profit, must never slip out of the hands of the Israelites.

We must be aware of the trade in alcohol, butter, bread and.

seize control of it, because by doing so we will make ourselves absolute masters of agriculture and farming in general.

We will be the givers of grain for all; but if Uny

If dissatisfactions were to occur as a result of hardship among the proletariat, it would always be easy for us to shift the responsibility for them onto the governments.

. All public offices must be made accessible to the Israelites, and once we are in possession of the offices, then, through the flexibility and ingenuity of our "doers," we shall be able to penetrate to the first source of real influence and real power. It goes without saying that this is the case.

here only those offices are concerned, which are associated with honor, power and-

Privileges are endowed; for those who want to know it, it is clear that the work and effort must be left to the non-Jews. The office of judge is for us an institution of the very first

Meaning. The legal career best develops the power of giving and initiates us most into the affairs of our natural enemies, the non-Jews, and thus we can make them serve us. Why should not Israelites become ministers of worship?

the one where they have been finance ministers so often? The Israelites must also strive to become legislators in order to bring about the abolition of the laws issued by the Goyim against the children of Israel, since they are the only ones who obey the holy laws of Abraham.

hams maintain loyal devotion. |

In this respect, our plan is almost complete.

because progress has recognized us almost everywhere and has the same civil rights as non-Jews; but what is important to achieve, and what is the goal of our persistent efforts

— 60 —

ytrenungen must be, this is a less strict law for banj kerotte. We will make a gold mine out of it for ourselves, which will be more productive than the gold mines of California. The people of Israel must direct his ambition to those places of power from which see and honors flow. The most effective means to get there long is: to dominate all industrial, financial and commercial societies and to beware of every trap and temptation

which could expose one to the danger of prosecution before the courts of the country. ö N | E !

It must therefore observe, in the selection of this kind of calculation, the prudence and tact which it requires for this kind of ÿe businesses are innate. We must also not be unfamiliar with such things which are suitable for achieving an outstanding position in societyÿ to conquer: philosophy, medicine, law, music, nationality Economics; in a word, all branches of science, art and literature form a wide field where success gives us a great advantage and puts our abilities in the forefront.

These professions are inseparable from speculation.
For example, the composition of a piece of music, even if it is mediocre, provides us with a plausible excuse to to raise the literary author to the pedestal and surround him with a halo. What the sciences: medicine and philosophy have to do withÿ

enough, they too must be drawn into our spiritual realm.

A doctor is privy to the innermost family relationships and has

as such the health and life of our mortal enemies, the nonÿ

Jews, in hands. | We must | and protect the marital relations between Sfraelites and | Seek to promote non-Jews; the people of Sirael have no fear in to lose in this trade, because on the contrary it can only be the introduction of a small quantity of impure blood into our God-blessed race cannot spoil it;

and our sons and daughters, by these marriages, procure for us connections with non-Jewish families of certain position and power. It is fair that for the money we give we should receive an equivalent of influence. Relationship with non-Jews does not entail a deviation from the path we have marked out for ourselves; on the contrary, with a little skill we can lead ourselves to Lenÿ core of their lives. It would be desirable for the Israelis there were no mistresses among the daughters of our holy religion region, but that they did not choose such out of the rowÿ Jewish virgins. It would be of great importance to us if the sacrament of marriage could be replaced by a simple contract before some civil authority, because then the non-Jewish virgins would come over to our camp.

stream. |

If money is the first power in the world, then the press is, without contradiction, the second.

| ze

2 Sb yes

But what can the second do without the first? ... But since we

Without the help of the press we cannot realize everything that has just been said and proposed, so it is necessary that our people be at the head of the management of all daily papers in all countries.

The possession of gold, the skill in choosing and selling

The use of means to make venal men of importance pliant will make us leaders of public opinion and

ung to give dominion over the masses. |

By advancing step by step on this path, we shall, with our characteristic persistence, repel the Gentiles and destroy their influence. We shall dictate to the world what it shall believe in, what it shall honor, and what it shall curse. Individuals may perhaps rise up against us and curse and condemn us; but the submissive and ignorant masses will listen to us and stand by us. Once we

Once we are absolute masters of the press, we can change our views on honor, virtue, and sense of justice at will and take the first step and strike the first blow against the most sacred institution, the family, and bring about its dissolution. We can then destroy faith in everything that our enemies, the non-Jews, have previously revered and, by forging a weapon out of passion, we declare open war against everything that is still respected and revered. 1

All this should be understood and remembered, and every child of Israel should adopt these true principles. Then our power will grow like a gigantic tree, bearing fruit called wealth, pleasure, happiness, power, and offering a substitute for the unworthy condition in which the people of Israel have languished for centuries! |

As soon as one of our people takes a step forward, another should immediately follow him; so that if he slips, his faithful help and support fellow citizens. If a Sfraelite is summoned before the courts of the country in which he lives, then his faithful hastened to give him help and assistance, but only if the accused had acted in accordance with the laws which Ifrael had strictly followed for many centuries.

Our people are conservative and attached to religious ceremonies traditions and customs which have been handed down to us from our fathers.

Our interests require that we be vigilant about the social issues on the agenda, especially those that concern the
When it comes to improving the lot of the workers, feign zeal; in effect
However, our efforts must be directed towards presenting ourselves to the public to seize public opinion with regard to this movement and to direct it to other general questions. The blindness of the masses and their inclination to be distracted by empty but effective eloquence ity that echoes through the streets, make they yame an easy and docile tool to gain popularity and trust. We will easily find our way among the

— 62 —

Find ours who are afraid of the expression of hypocritical structures and resounding eloquence is peculiar.— One must preserve the proletariat as much as possible and subject it to capital. In this way we can control the masses incite them when we please; we incite them to overthrow, to revolutions, and each of these catastrophes brings our secret interests a great step forward and brings us more quickly nearer to our only goal: that of dominion over all the peoples of the world, as was promised to our father Araham.

(Kalixt of Wolski. Jewish Russia. S. 4ff.)

a 22 0
— \ for u

V.
One

Jewish-political bribery story.
| Excerpt from “Reports and Notes” by Derjavine (Moscow 1860).

Derjawine was chief public prosecutor in St. Petersburg and a member of a commission appointed by the Emperor to study the Jewish question in his state.

Derjavine says that the Jews have staged all kinds of intrigues, taken steps and made seductive offers in order to ensure that the discussion of the Jewish question is left at rest and the matter is left at the status quo.

remained, i.e., on which it was when the Kaiser ordered the appointment of the commission. A letter which was received by a Jew Weiss

Russia and was sent by a chief rabbi of that country to a very wealthy and influential Jew in Strasbourg.

burg, bore eloquent witness to the powerful organization of the Jewish people and their willingness to spend enormous sums of money to fight with all, even the most dishonorable, to paralyze the activities of the commission appointed by His Majesty the Emperor of Russia, |

In this letter it was stated that the Jews had cursed Derjavine as the greatest enemy and persecutor of the Jews; that a heven (anathema) had been issued against him, which had been repeated by all synagogues in the world to which this had been communicated; that in order to arrange this matter (the commission) to their advantage, i.e. to let the Jewish question rest, all the Jews of Russia and other countries had to come together.

and sent a million silver rubles to bribe everyone who could be bribed to remove their sworn enemy, the Chief Prosecutor Derjavine, from the commission appointed by the Emperor, so that if all means were in vain to remove him from the commission mission, poison or any other means must be used to expel this great persecutor and enemy of the people of Israel from the world; that in order to carry out this mission, the Jews of St. Petersburg must be given a period of six years; in the meantime, all levers must be used to gain great influence through money - which is plentiful - in order to persuade the Jews question, because any hope of a favorable solution is illusory as long as Derjavine is a member of the commission was or had not ceased to live; that in order to assist the efforts of the Jewish Committee in St. Petersburg and to hinder and confuse the discussion of the Jewish question, the Commission appointed by the Emperor should send documents from all countries and in all languages, edited by qualified Jews, which dealt with the question and explained how it should be solved in Russia; for it was in fact an important question for the Jews, since it was about nothing less than that.

— 64 —

Right to sell spirits in small towns and on the

To take over the land where the art of stupefying the peasants through alcoholism, the abuse and falsification of the intellectual drinking has become the most productive speculation. | 8

| And indeed, a short time later, the Emperor's

The commission set up by the Emperor was inundated with a veritable flood of printed matter, brochures and all kinds of letters, some in German, others in French, others in English, all of which dealt with the solution of the Jewish question. However, all printed matter, brochures and letters were to be carefully examined on the Emperor's orders. 1 | ee While the commission was exhausting itself with this extensive work, a Jew named Notko, who had managed to gain Derjavine's trust by claiming to have a common idea about the solution of the Jewish question and by proposing the construction of factories that would provide the Jews with a means of subsistence through work, made the following confidential suggestion to him in a sympathetic and respectful manner: "You will never be able to overcome the great influence that is exerting itself in favor of the Jews," he said; and since I have been commissioned,

To offer you 200,000 rubles in silver so that you undertake never against the decisions of your colleagues on the Jewish question Oppoy yition, I sincerely advise you to accept the offer to take up arms and keep quiet," | Accepting this proposal would have been a threefold betrayal for Derjavine: betrayal of his own conscience, betrayal of the interests of the unfortunate Russian peasants and, finally, betrayal of the trust of his ruler! ... His refusal to do so paralyzed his opponents! Faced with such an alternative, he chose to turn directly to the Emperor, to explain to him openly and clearly the state of affairs in the Jewish question, in the hope that the Emperor, edified by his faithfulness and loyalty, would grant him his help and protection in this delicate question.

In fact, the Emperor was at first deeply moved by these sad revelations; but when Derjavine again asked him for instructions on how to behave, he

the Emperor contented himself with saying with a certain embarrassment: "Wait, wait. I will tell you later when and how you must act." " | Meanwhile, the Emperor had the letter which Derjavine had presented to him and in which he had spoken of the million for the corruption of the Commission, which was concerned about the attempt on Derjavine's life, had been kept back in order, as he said, to authenticate the

6

to have the secret police verify the authenticity of the letter.

After this conversation, Derjavine was convinced that the Emperor would henceforth distrust his entourage, who were not very keen on the gifts of the Children of Israel would be so easily accessible. But the family connection

The connection which connected the Emperor with Count Valdre, son of Alexander Zubow, had informed the latter of the whole story. Count Valdre, for his part, had as a friend a certain Speranski, Director General in the Ministry of the Interior, who was the factotum and first hand of Minister Koczubei. Count Zubow had now informed Speranski of all the details of the Jewish question which he had learned from His Majesty's mouth; and since Speranski had sold himself body and soul to the Jews (through an intermediary named Peress, with whom he was publicly friendly and with whom he lived), there was not an imperial ukase condemning and abolishing the unworthy tripotages on the Jewish question, but the commission decided that nothing would be done on the Jewish question, that is, that the Jews would continue to retain the right to sell brandy in the small towns and in the country.

But since Derjavine had not attended the meeting where this decision was made and therefore the decision was the most important of the

Since the formalities required, namely the absolute unanimity of the members, were missing, it remained unworkable and the question was not one step closer to being solved. Since then, however, the Emperor received Derjavine with a certain reserve and as for the letter which he had taken under the pretext of having it verified by the secret police, the Emperor not only did not issue an order to that effect, but also avoided to speak of it. | A draft for the solution of the Jewish question, edited by Baranow and commented on by Derjavine, was handed over to Speranski, who had completely reworked it in his own way and suppressed Derjavine's commentary. The latter's name did not even figure in the imperial ukase alongside the other co

members of the commission. When Derjavine was informed of the result of the When he heard the report, he had jokingly said to Baranow: "Judas sold Christ for thirty pieces of silver. For how much did you give up the fate of the unfortunate peasants?" To which Baranow had laughingly replied: "For 30,000 ducats to each member of the commission, except for me, of course, because the draft I edited was completely reworked by Speranski.

and his neglect of duty is well known." (Kalixt de Wolski. La Russie juive, page 53 ff.)

Embassy II. | 5

Yes; From, . . .

Jewish practice

If one tells an unbiased person something of the extraordinary |
Influence that Israel has on all levels of society, from the emperor to the last day laborer, he will shake his head in disbelief. Usually he has no idea of the existence of an "Alliance israélite universelle". He may not have heard of the name at all, or if he has, then as a charitable society. He has certainly heard of the Talmud, but as a boring religious book of the Jews in which strange stories are told.

ŷtrates about circumcision, slaughtering and the like, but he knows even less about the contents of this book than perhaps about that of the Koran. The name Shulchan Aruch is a strange village even for the average educated person. Rabbis and one hears little about it, and also about TalmudŷTorah schools and Jewish associations.

|

If one claims that the Jews control not only us, but the world through their teachings and their observance, one may under certain circumstances be suspected of being insane.

Everyone knows that there are social evils, but few know

ŷure, where they come from. Everyone thinks the next person is to blame;

because the Jews accuse everyone else in their papers, except yourself.

How could the Jews possibly have such a large

To be able to exert influence in a state which is Christian calls?

| Way to be harmed by Judaism.

However, whoever reads the Talmud, the Shulchan Aruch, the Jewish Mirror knows and has once been bitten by Jews, he sees the world with other eyes.

In the first two of the previous articles we have discussed the

| The legislation of the Jews and their secret organization were introduced, in the third one of their main tools, the press, in the fourth their quest for world domination and in the fifth an authentic tic report of a great bribery. | Basically, the whole of Judaism is already characterized here,

| but I will try to examine Jewish practice a little more closely shine.

\

—

— 8 of the „..

PR * .

Anyone who thinks like this is always in danger of falling into one or the other

pr

BE;

Above all, the Jews have the secret of blood; Jewish legislation is racial legislation, as exclusive as can be imagined. And now listen to the cries of the Jews when they are described or even treated as a special race, a nation. Then they complain about ignorance, intolerance and fanaticism, and yet they know best that they belong to a race that has a very special organism.

ñational talent and intuition. In order to make us forget this, they use all means, they get baptized, take

false names and deny their origins. They tolerate our speaking of other races, even of the Semitic race, as far as Arabs are concerned, but Judaism should not exist for any other peoples; that is a noli me tangere, they only want to know it themselves. |

Our great Professor Virchow, for example, the anthropologist par excellence, teaches us all sorts of entertaining things about the various races and sometimes knows how to find the subtlest differences, but when it comes to Judaism he is tricky. He also poses

He may have conducted surveys in Prussia about the color of hair and eyes, but ultimately he always comes to a result that deliberately ignores or spares the Jews. He even tries to prove that they will soon be absorbed into the other nations, and such results are then trumpeted all over the world by the trumpet of the Jewish press. Nevertheless, I believe that no one knows better than Virchow himself what Judaism wants, and I suspect that he wants to pull the wool over the eyes of the Goyim, these apostles of the great mishmash of nations.

Do you know ringworm? It is a common disease in India Coming skin disease. Several bright red round spots appear on the skin surface, which become larger and larger until the white skin reappears in the middle of the spots. The spots are circular rings, and these grow until two or three rings touch each other at their peripheries. These unite and soon form a geometric circle again, and when all the rings have united, they form a single large ring, which sometimes covers entire areas of the body, the edges of which are raised, and secretes a corrosive liquid until the disease finally disappears. It is not fatal, but it is sinister and disturbing.

causes an annoying skin irritation. It occurs in the miasmatic, humid, hot river valleys of India and always disappears in clean, cool air.

This disease is a true picture of the appearance of Judaism in the life of nations. The stain is the individual Jew, the small rings, the mixed families, the larger ones the Kahal, the lodges, the clubs, the orders and finally the Alliance isra6lite universelle.

This tendency to form rings which work together to attack the individual is what makes Judaism dangerous

ea FE Pe ae a

. wi The F...

day „ 2 5 3

Such rings are found everywhere where there is money, power, influence and external appearance to acquire, and the repertoire of auxiliary means that the Jews use to achieve their goals, heÿ ÿtres from the most cunning flattery and hypocrisy to Dagger, poison and dynamite.

In other chapters it is particularly discussed how they are represented in all professional circles and form rings and upwards

push. |

I would like to cite here some cases from real life which characterize Jewish practice, and

I would like to use as an example play the fate of a rich industrialist, who

Bi: Jewish friendship and Jewish fellowship had to pay dearly:

“After I wrote this months ago,” says Ahlwardt, “I am now, even while this book is being printed, having the same

The terrible news that Mr. Albert Thomas, this multiple Millionaire who has never known debt, who builds debt-free houses in the ViktoriastraÙe etc., cannot consume his income and has no children, is completely bankrupt and also has all the assetsÿ ÿcies. The reader will ask in great astonishment: How is that possible? I don't find it strange in any way.

The well-off Germans are to the Jew – forgive the expression, which is not intended to be offensive at all, but it fits perfectly – what the fattened pig is to the peasant.

The more capable such an animal is of fattening, the more

it is naturally fed. With its fat, with its ham

It more than pays for all the effort and costs. Mr. Thomas was intelligent manufacturer became very rich and had this wealth

by some clever speculations. The Jews knew to win him, caused him to speculate, whereby he always earned, let him look behind the scenes, and he counted himself already one of the initiated, who looked down on the stupid audience.

It certainly did him good when his back was scratched, that is, when his insight was praised. | |

Finally he was fat enough, got involved in big business, the abyss opened up and disputes amounting to many millions stared back at him. The rest is silence!' |

(Herm. Ahlwardt, The Struggle of Desperation. Page 101.)

This case is a very good example of Jewish tricks and shows how they know how to ensnare their victims. Like many others, have not already reached the same fate and how many Indus trial is not already in the clutches of the stock exchange, from which it will not be easy to escape. The Jews know how to cast their nets so calmly and apparently harmlessly! A Jewish buyer

A male director in a large establishment is usually the beginning, then come Jewish agents, and so it goes on until the whole industry is chained to the stock exchange. | a |

— 69 —

The same thing happens with princely and other large private fortunes, all of which are destined to gradually fall victim to the Jewish Moloch. |

We have just witnessed that one of the largest non-Jewish

Banks, Baring Brothers in London had to surrender,

This was brought about in a very similar way to the Thomas case and the earlier fall of the Union générale of Mr. Bontoux. In the German Reichsbank the Jews are all powerful, they also control the corresponding financial institutions in France, Austria and Italy and, it seems, the bank of England more and more into their hands. Once they have completely raped the latter, then their world domination will be a pretty a fait accompli. |

But we do not want to look at Srael on the way to world domination, but rather see how they intend to force their way into the civil service, the military and the administrations. |

Let us assume that the Jews wanted to make one of their own an officer. The Christian confession is still required in Prussia, but why should a Jew not be baptized today, since he can and must remain a real Jew anyway. |

It is said that the officer corps have the power to reject people who do not suit them for any reason.

How illusory this is can easily be calculated when one considers that by far the largest proportion of German officers are in the hands of Jewish usurers. Ahlwardt gives us some very frightening figures. Well, if an officer corps shows a tendency to reject a Jew or a Jew's offspring, then only a little bit of the golden whip needs to be swung to make the recalcitrant docile. The usurer, who has been informed beforehand, can show his claws quite gently. But this method is not even necessary so often nowadays. Jews

Officers whose descendants and relatives are Jewish are spread throughout the army and often already hold higher positions. Then, comradely considerations must be taken into account which limit free will. A military ranking list such as the one the Jews use for their own purposes must look strange. Every officer who is of Jewish descent, who has Jewish blood in his veins, who is Jewishly connected is listed there. Such people are even known in Jewish businesses, and they are treated with respect.

Then the assets of the various officers appear in these lists and, above all, the debts of the gentlemen and the usurer from whom they have contracted them. Such a list is, of course, an extremely practical tool in the hands of the Jews. 4

If one considers that the same is the case with the civil service, then one cannot be surprised that it is very easy for the Jews to accommodate their people everywhere, and that we can look forward to a future where all high offices in Germany will be occupied by Jews and their offspring.

«

The Hildesheim transfer case, where a number of young lawyers were transferred because they refused to have a Jew as a tabley | enjoyed - which is ultimately a purely private matter - to accept, shows sufficiently with what ruthlessnessy | ity of lÿraÿra. Who would have been behind the Higher Regional Courtÿ President von Bardeleben was looking for a Jewish offspring? It was only this incident that brought it to light. | x | us Apart from usury and corruption, the Jews have other 1 | means of advancing their people. There are, for example, aidÿ . associations for Jewish students, and it hardly needs to be emphasized that the officials launched into the civil service by such associations, regardless of whether they are pure Jews or half-Jews, are loyal to Judaism!

| find result | . in ! Then there are Jewish families who raise young Christians

0

support them and bring them into the civil service with the help of their tribesmen. Sometimes even several families participate in the charitable works, and then a real stock officer is ready. It goes without saying that the young German remains eternally grateful to his benefactors. | | In public ostentatious charitable work, Jewish women in particular play a major role, arranging festivals, bazaars, lotteries, etc. It is pure sport. That may be true in some respects.

ÿeen good, but the downsides of such kind of charity are not pleasant and mostly it only serves as a means to

Purpose. Through this charity, the Jews were able to gain access to the higher circles of society and then to maintain their position. They were certainly not lacking in activity, that cannot be said otherwise. In the lower

They have a fabulous activity in the provision of tickets for charitable purposes, in the procurement of items for raffles or for the buffets which are set up on such occasions. 5 developed, sometimes a barbaric one, reminiscent of the circus press. | Quite as far as in Paris, where the rich proceeds of such prosperity We have not yet reached the point where the committees celebrate their activities, but there is still a future ahead of us. By the way, I would like to tell you a story from my life. A Jewish lady showed me a letter from another Jewess, in which the latter asked for support for a poor Christian family. The circumstances described in the family in question were extremely sad. So I contributed. A Worldÿ

lady who was present asked me afterwards why I had eaten so much I thought that this really seemed necessary. Then I was simply laughed at for my naivety. Even talking, it was said, the letter writer pockets the money. | Much has already been written about Lina Morgenstern's commercial charitable work, and there too people complain about countless irregularitiesÿ

7 — — vj — — — ð .

— 71 —

moderations, with how much justification I do not know, but whose
So it is necessary that a Jewess should run this business of the public kitchen; why can't Germans do it? Does everything have to be left to Jews? It seems to me worrying yeem that Mrs. Lina Morgenstern only very recently in the opposite yt of doctors in favour of the use of saccharin. This seems to me to be the most unsuitable remedy for public kitchens, as it contains no nutritive substance. However, it is very cheap. Hopefully, if the authorities are made aware of this, they will take care of this matter.

Often such Jewish charitable undertakings have a less than happy ending. Who does not remember the story of the "German Woman" Simon, the important role she played in the last war and how it ended?

An officer who had taken part in the last war told me how, when he returned home, he found himself on one of the railway courts of Berlin sat down at a table to satisfy his hunger and thirst. When he wanted to pay, a lady, Lina Morgenstern, introduced herself to him and told him that she was the benefactor. Mr. Morgenstern was also brought out of a corner and introduced. "Now say thank you nicely," he was told, meaning he had to sign some document in which he could thank him for his free meal.

time. These are the documents with which one later acquires a name and influence. How many civil service positions may not already be the favorites of the public kitchens and charities

ity heroines are forgiven! | 1 |

I do not know whether any reasonable person still believes in humanity.
ity and love of humanity when people like Pereire, Rothschild or Bleichröder occasionally make bigger mistakes that are then trumpeted out to the whole world. I think that time has come over; these are merely bits and pieces that are thrown to the audience so that they can be exploited even more. | |

And as for the gifts of the famous Baron Hirsch to his fellow tribesmen, these are truly Trojan gifts.

Israel should arm itself with "education" in order to be able to control us. Anyone who wants to know something about the use of these gifts should read the booklet "Jewish Rule in the Carpathian Countries".
(See book list.) |

I know of a case in Russia where a Jew left his property for a newspaper that was specifically designed to demoralize the people. 5

In Germany we experienced a Jew leaving his fortune to the Social Democrats so that they could give it to Judaism. remains fat, and I am told of another case where a Jew stole his considerable fortune from an influential prince but only on the condition that he always gave his full river in favor of the children of Israel, that is, with others" so that they can plunder the subjects with as little impunity as possible

ürften. |

— — — nn 44 —

was 72 — |

At the end of this chapter, an authentic case may be shared of how the children of Israel knew how to persecute a man who was inconvenient to them. | h One cannot form any idea of what is meant by wiyye circumstances means the fight of one individual against an entire nation. See the journal "L Antisémitique". The

Hachette bookstore, which has the monopoly of newspaper sales at the railway stations, rejects it; the post office does not allow his numbers to arrive; they rent an office at No. 7 rue de Provence, and a German Jew, the tenant of the whole building, gives notice; they deposit their collections with a merchant. They have him seized by law and include in the seizure ye sale of the journal's collections, which are simply stored there, against all law. | Then comes a moment in which the unfortunate man thus tribulated can no longer distinguish his friends from his enemies.

knows how to separate; he insults some and confides in others. Then the illness which is called persecution mania comes quite naturally and is based on the very clear, very precise, very understandable consciousness of a persecution which has actually been endured. The Jewish or Masonic doctor, who is well informed, confuses everything and accuses the ruined man of losing his mind

loren because he drank too much. |

(Drumont. Jewish France II. S. 224.)

Jude n.

Greece was created by defeating Phoenician Semitism, and Rome owed its world dominion to the life-and-death struggle with Carthaginian Semitism. | Ä u (Curtius. Greek History.)

* *

*

If only Judea had never been defeated and overthrown, neither by the power of Pompey nor by Titus.

The poison of the cut plague boil is now spreading further

And its victors now oppress the defeated race.

(Rutilius. Roman prefect.)

*

*

*

The Greeks and Romans hated garlic (Hebrew schum), and this aversion may also have been expressed in garlicy eÿÿer have transferred. Horace (Epod. III) exclaims: j

“If someone has pressed the throat of his aged father with a wicked hand, he will eat garlic, more harmful than hemlock juice.” In his epigrams, Martial lists the jejunia Sabbathariorum among the stinking things. When Marcus Aurelius, the victor over Marcoÿ men and Quadi, passed through Palestine, the stench and noise of the Jews became so annoying to him, as Ammianus Marcellinus reports, that he is said to have exclaimed: "O Marcomanni, o Quadi and Sarmatians, I have found even worse people than you." (R. Andree, On the Folklore of the Jews.

©. 69.)

*

*

*x

Village. VL 51. . . . Neighborhood

Foreign customs brought into the city, dirty gold gained entry;

the power of our age was broken by the vile, effeminate offspring of wealth, which was addicted to extravagance.

(Juvenal. |

THE breast

Sat. III, 296. In general, it is not easy to rise — who has ability but no wealth. (Juvenal.)

* *

*

It was the state of revolt peculiar to all countries.

solution in which the Jews succeeded in removing all the motives of State, to control the economic situation of the same absolutely dominate. — it was _ This was the situation in which Poland found itself before eliminated from the ranks of nations. 1 The learned tell us more precisely about this point than the men of politics; they know the class of parasitic worms which live in colonies in the bodies of the various animal organisms. Nestled in the most nutritious parts, where the stream of red blood flows, where the yellow fat develops, the rich nutritive matter collects in laboriously produced juices; bladder worms in pigs or cattle, tapeworms in humans or dogs; eggs in the soil, embedded under the protection of stones or plants, they devour with hooks. sinister-looking creatures, ringed, grooved, in rows, | chains, in hangings, they fill up. Then they become lethargic and, satiated, remain quiet for a while. Suddenly they come to life again and continue their devastating migration, favored by their extraordinary ordinary digestive power, What is your goal? Where come? Which is their way? Sometimes lazy and sleepy, sometimes full of life in their absorptive activity, always harmful, they disturb the zoologist and the thinker. |

74 —

In the focal world, this faithful image of animal life, 5 the Jewish nation, which is merely a higher grouping of the latter, corresponds, feature by feature, to this vagabond bloodŷ

1 intrusive, agile and daring, always ready to strike with their hooks and destroy, cramped with gold, burdened with the guilt of innumerable crimes, aesthetically odious!

As these parasites ravage the strongest organisms, attacking the sheep in the pasture and the pig glistening with fat, so the Jews also attack the human being whose noble brain exposes him to the more lively counteractions, the fiercer and faster destruction.

weŷung is exposed.

Rampant barbarians, precursors of decay, these microbes attack the social histories that have fallen into decay.

They come from the Orient and move west, clearing paths for each other. Infinitely small, infinitely numerous, unbelievably fast, they produce two hundred generations a day. Sons of life.

Brothers of death, they form groups, colonies, multiply, plant themselves and - intensive destroyers - they produce suppuration, so that the unity must perish. They disrupt the connection through decomposition, transform the substance into liquid, the liquid into gases and the gases into any other state which our

| can no longer grasp the crude sense.

(Drumont, The Last Rn ©. N

* *

*

While the despotism of anarchy only the arrogant

and proud, it is different with the Jewish despotism.

mus des Geldjacks.

This penetrates both the poor man's hut and the palace of the prince. Like the subtle mercury, which by virtue of its

ur A

Heavy and thin liquid penetrates into all the pores of the barren rock in order to seize the smallest particles of the precious metal it contains; like the hideous tapeworm, whose parasitic chain links cover all the windings of the human intestines.

ÿelf body, the Jewish vampire sends his suckers

trunk into the last branches of the social organism to suck out all the power and all the juice. | ä (Zoufjenel, Les juifs rois de l'epoque, IS 134.)

* *

he *

Ä Recently, the "Agricultural Journal for Nieder:

Austria" under the title "Turkish Sabre and Jewish Exchange"

Article in which it was explained how the peasant families living in the valleys on the eastern side of the Vienna Woods, despite the terrible devastation caused by their presence during the repeated Turks invasions by fire and sword, but still worked their way up again and again, how their houses and stables rose again and again from the rubble, how the devastated fields and forests recovered again and again under their industrious hand and the old

Family names on the property inherited from the ancestors by the centuries continued until - Jews came. What the cruel Turk's sabre and the red rooster that he let fly over the roofs of their huts, over the fields and forests, had not been able to achieve, the smooth Hebrews accomplished - with loans and bills of exchange, with timely legal action and execution - within three years tenth. The old names disappeared from the valleys where they had been honored for centuries, some perhaps for a millennium.

were called since the first Bavarian immigrations, and Cohn and Levi from Egypt and Rosenbaum and Sprinzeles from Canaan are now intabulated. |

If such events, which have been taking place for three to four years tenth in almost all regions of Central Europe so often repeat, come to the public discussion, what do our statesmen say?

philosophers and economists in the truth-soaked columns of the Jewish newspapers? "They were unhealthy existences." — Why un healthy? — "The actual course of events has proven that they are were healthy, otherwise they would not have perished," is the answer - because why? because of that!

(Wahrmund, Law of Nomadism, p. 157 — 158.) a * * * b

*

Touÿÿenel is not entirely wrong when he writes: "The

Pig is the symbol of the Jew, who does not feel the slightest shame, wallows in the filth of meanness, of shame in usury, only to increase his capital, to whom no speculation is allowed.

appears criminal if there is only a profit to be made from it." (Dru mont, La France juive II, p. 765.) * 5

x

"The 14th edition of "Rembrandt as Educator" has just been published.

It has experienced a remarkable enrichment:

The author now takes a decisive position on the Jewish question, essentially in our sense. In the section "Polarity", pages 283-285, he illuminates the hostile alienation of Judaism within the German people in a way that is both factual and accurate. — "Their greed for exploitation knows no bounds" go, they go down crooked paths, their morals are not ours. They look down on art and science. They are democratically minded; they are drawn to the mob. They sympathize with the rot everywhere.

niß." "There is no covenant to be made between the sons of light and those of darkness." - (Deutsche öciale Blätter.)

* *

*

At the end of this selection of quotations I would like to cite some typical cases of Jewish deception: Even in old age
They used all kinds of means to conceal their race and religion. Richard Andree writes in his work: "On the Ethnology of the Jews": "When the Jews were dispersed, they were treated with hostility because of circumcision, and during persecutions where their origin could be established by circumcision, they repeatedly used artificial means to create deception in this regard.

At the time of Antiochus Epiphanes, some Jews who wanted to mix with Gentiles built a gymnasium.

But so that they would not be recognized as Jews during the games, where they had to appear naked, they made themselves as if deviating from Luther, the correct translation is a foreskin (1. Marc. 1. 16)." The recipe for the production of this artificial foreskin Andree also gives us skins, but I will not recommend it, so that those who are curious in this respect may rather acquire and read Andree's interesting work.

Another amusing case of deception from modern times is the following: |

In Königsberg there lives a Jew who is well-liked by his tribesmen and is called the "dead Levi".

The reason for this is as follows: Levi had previously been in Russia and had committed some crime there. The authorities were looking for him, and in order to escape persecution he let it be known that he had died. They managed to get a corpse, but now it was necessary for eight people to swear that the corpse was also that of the deceased.

were looking for Levi. Only seven Jews were available, and to complete the legal number, Levi bravely swore that the dead Jew was his own corpse. His co-religionists then helped him across the border. |

This last case is a vivid reminder of our late legislator Lasker. When he was at the height of his fame, he wanted to delight the world with his memoirs. To this end, he pretended to be dead, stone dead, like Levi, and published his failed love affairs anonymously in the "Confessions of a Man's Soul" expensive, which he had read to a Jewish family deeply saddened by his death. The small work, which the Jew Auerbach wrote as

no — 77 —

"of lasting value for German literature", the living Lasker quickly bought it back, because a ridiculous

There has hardly been a more important literary work than this.

It's a pity that it is so rare today! | Finally, I want to show Lasker, now really dead, at work deceptively with his living friend Bamberger: "During the "circulation" the crowns and double crowns may lose 5 per mille and the half crowns 8 per mille of their normal weight. Gold

"Pieces which lose even more value as a result of "circulation" and "wear and tear" and fall below the passive weight will be confiscated at the expense of the Reich." This beautiful law in relation to German.

We owe Reichsgeld to the combined efforts of Messrs. Bamberger and Lasker, and anyone who wants to know more about this should look in Glagau's "Des Reiches Noth" p. 200 et seq. That the Jews knew what this law was intended for Israel probably does not need to be emphasized. Since the entry into force of this law, all of our German Reich gold is said to have been re-minted five to six times. The Reich naturally has to bear the loss. (I cannot vouch for whether five or six times is correct; the information varies widely, but in any case an enormous amount of gold was newly minted). Worn Reich gold is almost never seen. How is it that, despite this, such a large

Wear and tear takes place? How can the riddle be solved? Let us try it by combining the word "circulation" with circumcision and translate the word "wear and tear" as baptism.

If one had previously observed the Jews cutting the gold pieces caught, they cried out about religious fanaticism and intolerance, because in their religion circumcision was a sacred ritual.

Circumcision actually does little damage to gold today, 5

Because of the knurling of the gold pieces, that is why people are baptized, in water of procreation of course. That is more modern, simpler and more productive. Circumcision or baptism, it makes no difference, the Jew knows how to get gold in one way or another, and in this case baptism is more dangerous than circumcision, and it is also dangerous in life. The circumcised Orthodox Jew is less dangerous than the baptized Jew or Jewish offspring. |

Couldn't Mr Bamberger just give us the patriotic bank?
Can you name the houses that perform this baptism? Please! (and then perhaps give a little information about the famous Honduras business. I would like to know whether Mr. Bamberger knows the people who made this latter business?)

Mr. Bamberger also speaks of the advantage of emigration ability of German gold. He is quite right, emigration is good for our German Reich gold just as the spa is good for the fat Jews and Jewesses who go to Marienbad every year.
and then come back a few pounds lighter and "pleasantly weakened". Our good German Empire must then feed them up again afterwards. |

r rer ee

ent

r 112 C C U N A E: a is art 2

| Baptized Inden.

"Where loyalty and truth towards people are not respected

there is no truthfulness in relation to the divine.

Therefore, Rabbinism teaches that the Jew may also outwardly profess Christianity. Joreh deah § 157 (ed. Wilna 1875 p. 365) states: |

"If the Jew can deceive the Akum (non-Jews) so that they think he is an Akum, it is permissible." The Jew who was sincerely baptized or who, after receiving a sham baptism, went within himself and sincerely became a Christian, is one who has angered God and must be killed; This is shown by Joreh deah § 158, 2: "The baptized who were baptized (pro forma) and then mixed themselves among the Akum in order to practice idolatry like them, they are like those who were baptized in order to anger God, and they are thrown into the pit and cannot be pulled out." The fake baptism and the fake confession of Christianity are clearly shown here as a

permitted thing, only the sincere acceptance of the Christian thumbs is a sin that angers God. This is also shown in the passage Chochen hammischpat § 425, 5. (Rohling, Die Polemik und das

Human Sacrifice of Rabbinism (p. 14)

* *

*

| Glagauÿche Trizeÿÿe.) On 2 November 1882, the Berlin Court of Appeal heard the motion to dismiss in the case of Messrs. Gartz and Friedberg. (The latter had been accused by Glagau because of his Jewish origin — he is a nephew of the former Minister of Justice

— want to reject).

Both judges had stated in the files that they had no

felt embarrassed, and Mr. Friedberg had explained: ÿhis father was still a Jew, but he himself was already a Christian born. —

“What do you have to say about that?” asked the Senate Presidentÿ
Mr. von Holleben accused the defendant. Glagau replied:

“In the Kulturkämpfer I have repeatedly developed how reasons of state and for the welfare of the people, not only to reverse the so-called emancipation of the Jews, but also to determine that the descendants of baptized Jews only in the fifth generation to state and community

Offices may be admitted. In my opinion, the Jewish question only racial and social question, are the old orthodox

Tg

Jews are still the best; I find the Reform Jews more questionable, but the most questionable are the baptized Jews and the immediate descendants come from the same. (Issue 143 of the Glagau's Kulturkämpfer.
"Anti-Jews and Judges" August 15, 1888, Glagau's Trials see also issues 45, 46, 53, 55, 58, 63 of the Kulturkämpfer.) 5

* *

*

"Baptism is the entrance ticket to European culture. | | By Heinrich Heine. e 1 *

"Do Börne and Heine also belong to Jewish history?
Indeed! Not only Jewish blood flowed in their veins, but but also Jewish juice in their nerves. The lightning that they let flare up over Germany, sometimes in rainbow-like colors, sometimes in bright colors, was charged with Jewish electricity. They both outwardly renounced Judaism, but only like fighters who take up the enemy's armor and flag in order to hit him all the more surely and destroy him all the more forcefully" (History of the Jews. Prof. Dr. G. Graetz, Volume II, page 367).

* *

*

"Above all, the writer of these lines must state that he was a Jew by birth and only became a Catholic Christian in order to have the right to remain a Jew without danger." (EM Oettinger, On the Purpose of Jewish Baptism in his writing: "Open Billet-doux to the famous Hepp-hepp-Schreier and Jews

freier Herr Wilhelm Richard Wagner." 1st edition, Dresden 1889, page 5.) |

* *

. *

"Professor Eduard Gans used to shout from the lectern: 'Baptism and even cross-breeding are of no use; we will remain Jews even in the hundredth generation, just as we were 3000 years ago.
We do not lose the smell of our race, not even in ten multiple crossing; and in any coitus with any woman, our race is dominant: young Jews emerge from it!" ("Discovery of the Soul" by Prof. Dr. Jäger, 3rd edition, I. Volume, Page 247.) (See also pages 246—248 of this book.)

* *

dd

"Since, if individuals, society and the state take seriously the idea that the Jews will convert to Christianity, this question is of the utmost importance.

The New Christians would become even more numerous in state and church; penetrate, and the Judaization of both could, for example, reach a similarly high level in Austria as it did in Spain at the time, which would again lead to defensive measures of an inhuman nature.

but it is known that the most enraged inquisitors and informers are Jewish

7

AND ALL

Ten is TE

— 80 —

ŷhŷn descent — they also made a business out of inguiŷtion. For this reason, the internment of larger

Maŷen, possibly as an international measure. The fate

Spain and Poland, France and Hungary serve as a terrible Warning sign to all those who take the matter lightly

believe. 5 oe

(Wahrmund, The Law of Nomadism. Page 245.) | What one of the baptisms that became fatal for the world

The following cheerful story shows what a motive is behind it:

The father of the famous Disraeli was appointed by the parish council elected as a member and refused this burdensome office.

promised to spare him if he paid a settlement sum of 500 liters. He, on the other hand, only offered 150 liters, and when the bargainers on both sides could not come to an agreement, he had himself baptized out of spite and so his Benjamin became a Christian; of course not to his sheep.

because only through this did he rise to the rank of first minister.

However, he remained a true Jew from head to toe, and he would not have failed to pray his “Shema Israel” on his deathbed. |

(C. Radenhaußen, Eßther, S. 88.)

Let us now turn to the present and give Drumont the floor:

Mr. Göychen.

English Treasury Secretary in the nn N Metropolitan Society in ondon. b

This John without Land, as Schopenhauer called the Jews, these fair Jews, merchants, begin to demand free access to the property of the native, the resident citizen; later they take away what is his and chase him away in the name of their right.

In Paris, as well as in the special newspapers where Israel

prepare their own little political soup and pass the laws which the Masonic lodges impose on the chambers, the Jews are still a little embarrassed; they at least observe some forms. In England they implacably proclaim their right to and to treat the natives of each country as invaders to treat.

"The Banner of Israel" translates this presumption into description of the paper: "The remnant of Jacob will be among the hot which is among many peoples, like a lion among the beasts in the forest, like a young lion among a flock of sheep, which no one can defend himself when he goes through it, trampling and tearing." Micah V, 7.

His glory is like a firstborn ox and his ears ners are like the horns of unicorns; with them he will push the nations in heaps to the ends of the land (Deut. 33:17).

Do you think that the unfortunate Irish people, who have been hundreds of them cultivate the land of Erin by the sweat of their brow / have the right to stay there? Don't give in to such nonsense believe that the Irish are strangers on their own soil; the rightful owner of Ireland is the Jew.

Under the title "Home rule in a new light", one reads the report of a speech which was held at the annual meeting of the Anglo-Israeli Metropolitan Society in Exeter Hall on June 6, 1889. The hatred of a Göschen (a German Jewish offspring who always claimed to be a good Christian) against the good Irish people is evident in the following bold declaration

error: r

HD The Irish," says the speaker, "forget, or are left quietly and happily ignorant of the fact that the

Mighty God has not only given their land to the children of İyrael as an inheritance, but that he himself has delivered it over to them to destroy them and that they are actually punished for having

İt have been eradicated immediately and on the spot.

This is the key to the whole question and the only possible solution. This is why the Catholics of Ireland are irreconcilable. The Roman cult is nothing other than Canaanite paganism, which passed through Rome and Greece and spread to Christianity.

thum; therefore all Irish Phoenicians are devout Catholics. It is absurd to demand Home Rule from them.

administration), since they are not found in abundance, but in İ

in the middle of İfrael's possessions and only a day's journey from the seat of the Israeli government.

Therefore, when they rise up, it is in fulfillment of the unİ apparent command of God, who wants them to perish.")

"Their downfall," the speaker explains a little later, "is their own fault." Ä |

This is the tone in which the gold-soaked Semites, the poor Irish, who barely have potatoes to satisfy their hunger, and the future Jewish mayors of London,

dons who do not work on Saturday speak. |

(Drumont La dernière bataille, p. 136.) | Let us now look at the Göyçen family, which we find in the Jewish-friendly Meyer's Conversations-Lexikon Folj gender: |

1) Georg Joachim, bookseller, born in 1752 in Bremen, founded the large publishing house, which was later taken over by the Freey was purchased by Mr. von Cotta. Died in 1828 on his estate Hohenstädt near Grimma.

2) Johann Friedrich Ludwig, born in 1778 in Königsberg; Professor of Law in Berlin and Göttingen, where he died in 1837.

3) Georg Joachim. English statesman, son of the Berlin Wilj helm Heinr. G. and grandson of G. 1, was educated under the direction of Dr. Tant, the present Archbishop of Canterbury. Later joined as a member of the into the banking business Frühling & G. Since 1864 Parliamentaryy

2

*) The Banner of Israel 17 July 1889. N. 655.

„ „ a Se ie. rc 0 Ur.

| Reintroduce private confession.

— 82 —

member. In parliament, G. presented himself as an advocate of liberal principlesy yentiments, especially in religion, so prominent that in 1865 Russell appointed him to the Ministry as Vice-President of the Board of Trade. 1866 Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. 1868 President of the Poor Office. 1871 First Lord of the Admiralty etc. Since G. has attained a political position in England, he has written his name in English as "Goÿchen", as he did in several cases.

circumstances, the homeland of his family is not very friendly nations has proven itself.“ : u £ Alfo before the middle of the last century, the family

Göschen in Germany and professed Christianity. In 1887, the brother of Minister Göschen, the Legation Secretary Göschen in Peking, whom I discussed in the article “How to Become an Anti-Semite”, denied his and his family’s Jewishness. And what do we now read in the “Banner of Israel”? — Do you not believe a fairy tale?

read - is that not the voice of Mardachal?

An English minister in office and dignity can dare to use such language? 3 | London the seat of the government of Israel?su Otherwise one hears that Queen Victoria, that an English

lyse Parliament governs there! b 5 No example is as suitable as this to show us the danger we are in. Mr. Göychen finds it time to throw off the mask that his family has worn. | When will our baptized Jews find it time to

To do the same?

Let us now look at a JewishGerman family that

Prussia and Germany played and still plays a major role.

The biographical notes also find their way into Meyer's conveyry yationsyLexicon taken: he

The Delbrück. | j

1) Johann Friedr. Gottlieb. First tutor of King Wilhelm IV and Emperor Wilhelm I, born August 22, 1768.

Magdeburg, studied theology and philosophy. In 1800 appointed by Frederick William as tutor of his two sons.

(1800 — 1809.) Died in 1817 as superintendent in Zeitz. Wanted

2) Johann Friedr. Ferdinand, brother of the previous one, born in 1772 in Magdeburg. Died as school councilor and professor of fine literature in 1848. j |

3) Martin Friedr. Rudolf, son of D. 1, born in 1817 in Berlin; studied law. Studied economics, was an assistant in the Ministry of Finance, then in the Ministry of Trade.

1848 really Go. Oberregierungsath. Since 1866 right hand Bisj marcks. 1867 President of the Federal Chancellery. Minister of State.
Received a grant of 200,000 thalers in 1871 for his services in the war. 5

1

The latter made the following statement in the Reichstag session of April 4, 1873, on the occasion of Lasker's founding speeches:
rung: 5 1 .

g "It is beyond the power of any legislation to prevent people who simply want to get rid of their money from doing so." This stands worthy of the Reich's claimj
day's delegate Dr. Alexander Meyer, which he later during the discussion of the usury laws, namely that "whoever commits usury should be placed under the guardianship of the creditor".

Both are the "voice of nature"; the nose speaks here purely and unadulterated, the statements are in my opinion nothing but a parliamentary reproduction of the text of Law No. 24 of the Jewish Mirror.

I am only quoting this one statement of the Minister. Anyone who is interested in more should read Glagau's works and one will find that not only other words of the Minister, but also his actions and those of a large part of the numerous rich Delbrück family only too clearly represented the Semitic race

guess. |

A member of the family is a professor of philosophy at the University of Berlin and his name is Hans Delbrück. This gentleman, if I am not mistaken, also played a role as an educator in the Imperial family and still seems to have connections with the court, at least with Empress Frederick. Around Easter 1890, His Excellency issued a decree.

His Majesty the Emperor issued a cabinet order against luxury of officers in the army. On April 17th of this year, the "Echo" published the following

note: || 5 g | 1

Hans Delbrück tells of his time as Crown Prince in his "Personal Memories of Emperor Frederick": "On a walkj
During a walk through the park of Sansjyouci, around the year 1883, the problem (the Jewish question) was discussed back and forth, and a defenders of anti-Semitism culminated in his argument with the sentence: 'If the Prussian officer corps were still fine, what it is, when the manors of the Mark and Pomerania once all from

from the hands of the Alvenslebens and Bredows into the possession of the Levys and Cohns?
The Crown Prince was somewhat taken aback and said: 'Yes, something should have been done earlier.' 8 5 The goods of the Alvenslebens and Bredows in the possession of the Levis and Lohns! |

The time will come and must come, and just as surely the time, when the castles of the Hohenzollerns and other German princes will be inhabited by Semites - if something is not done!

Professor Delbrück knows this as well as any of his tribe enjoyed. From the estates of the Alvensleben etc. to the estates of the princes is always only one step.

The Delbrücks have always been good patriots. The Göschens have also always been good patriots. The Delbrücks have long been

6 *

CCC r

— 84 —

were good Christians, the Göschens were perhaps even longer good Christians and still are nominally
so. In the Delbrück family we find all sorts of echoes of that, and relationships to the Semites thum. The same is the case with the Göschens. 1 ee Both families are undoubtedly of Jewish origin. Whether they have any Aryan blood in their veins and which of them has more remains to be seen; it is also basically irrelevant.

Drumont shows us in his book "La France juive" how every Semite dreams of world domination by Israel and how = Every time I hear a statement like the one above, which

Transfer of German possessions into Jewish hands and the future, necessarily resulting demoralization of the officer corps, circulated by yemitic "friends", it occurs to me

the representation of the Dance of Death before our eyes: "The image which is supposed to illustrate the power of death over human life, where death with veiled face embraces in dance the pope, emperor, empress, king, down to the peasant, youth, virgin, child." u 5 The Dance of Death is the image of Semitism in its present form! |

The Semite loves to see in his mind the ruins that his work must produce, and he even loves to show them to the victim. 8 ae

What is Professor Delbrück thinking when he prints this conversation with the discouraged answer of Emperor Frederick?

Is he happy about the sad state of affairs? I don't know. Does he regret it? I don't know either! But then he wouldn't have brought it down.

write or at least not publish. Have the Delbrücks ever done anything to prevent this impending evil?

to prevent these situations? Nothing is known about this publicly, but it is clear that several members of the family played a role in contributing to these situations.

May heaven protect us from complete Judaization.

But if it were to come to that, would anyone who knows the Jewish question be surprised if some Mr. Delbrück said to the German people, following the example of Mr. Göschen:

"Behold, for nearly a century we have served your emperors and kings, we have educated them. They have been overthrown, in fulfillment of the inevitable command of God, who says: You will devour all nations... You shall not spare them!"

I hardly believe it! because people only follow the relentless natural laws of the race, the law of nomadism, they cannot do otherwise. . |

A valuable example, perhaps the best of recent times, of how little use the baptism of Jews on the basis of a simple confession of faith is here and how much abuse can be made of it, is Professor Franz Delitzsch, who recently died in Leipzig. An insight into his aggressively pro-Jewish work and his character rakter can best be found in the following works by Rohling:

"The Polemics and Human Sacrifice of Rabbinism. My Anÿ words to the Rabbis" and in Abbs Dr. Clemens Victor's: "Bros.

feÿÿor Rohling, the Jewish question and public opinion.

Professor Delitzsch was awarded the Order of Merit in 1890.

Death was praised to the skies by all Jewish newspapers, but also by German Christian newspapers, which only knew about him through Jewish advertising.

had known, dedicated warm obituaries to this "Christian".
As the Bavarian Jews often did when changing religion

The "Munich Volksbote" reported on this under

May 9, 1852, the following amusing story:

"— — The Jews travel on possible trades: for the Hebrew lives by trade and haggling and fills his purse.

All this is nothing new, because they have been doing it since time immemorial: but now one of them is even going on a religious spree and "doing business in Christianity". A few years ago, a child of Israel,

Born in Wangen, he came to Munich and after the Christianity. A local clergyman taught him and a respected man was kind enough to take over the godparenthood for him, in short, the child of Israel was publicly baptized.

"Well," the reader will say, "that's nothing new,

at some Israelites are baptized and our Lord worships |

Minister Ringelmann himself is of Jewish descent." Quite right, says the Volksbot', but the best is yet to come. Not long after.

The same baptized Jew traveled to Vienna and there again asked to become a Christian, and again as a Jew of the Christian religion received instruction, was baptized again and then confirmed. Now someone might say that the second time the baptism would have been fruitful for him; but no, nothing of the sort, rather the same haggler was very recently in Munich again with a fresh Baden passport, in which he is recently described as an "Israelite". From this it seems that, because speculation has brought him all kinds of "profits" so far, he came up with the idea that "all good things come in threes".

Should the Jewish boy register somewhere again, the Volksbot' hopes that instead of the holy baptism, he will be given another baptism, which will have a healing effect, even if not on his

The whole story can be fully vouched for by the Volksbot' and only wants to

to add that the same person, who was baptized twice and yet lived as a Jew, wandering subject wanted to return from here to Vienna, presumably to make another "history of Christianity" on the way."

About another Jew, who also had business in the religious made a change of government, the same newspaper wrote the following on March 23, 1855: "— — Our supreme court has just declared the annulment ity complaint of a clean individual who has made himself notorious throughout the country. The same subject is called Henry 5 and is a Jew by birth, but

s

rr ie GO EE ZER To Ds

Because his Jewish community did not give him a scholarship, he became a Protestant. However, since his new co-religionists did not support him as he wished, he used all sorts of tricks and tricks to gain the favor of the Catholic spirit.

He knew how to obtain the faith by deception and then became a Catholic for a while, but again he did not find his "profit" in this, so he tried his luck with the Anabaptists for a while until he finally converted back to Protestantism.

During this time he pretended to be a writer and tried to make his money by collecting subscriptions and advance payments for books that would not be printed before St. Never's Day, whereby he was particularly interested in spirit swindled people and swindled considerable sums of money. For a while he also pretended to be a "professor from Poÿen" who had been dismissed because of his religious convictions, for which the clergy had to pay the price.

In the jubilee year of 1849 he was secretary of a democratic association, but afterwards he denounced the members of the same association to the government of Middle Franconia. With the forced

He has also already made acquaintance with the workhouse, and the people would have to be very much mistaken if he had not written about this bird in his paper a few years ago and warned the clergy in particular about it. Recently he has been doing "business" by convincing people of inheritance.

money out of his bag, and finally a farmer 50 fl., with which he ran off to "beautiful, free Switzerland", from where the honest rogue was returned as a vagabond, so that he was finally convicted of 13 crimes and 8 misdemeanors of the

The appeal court of Middle Franconia referred the case to the public session of the city court in Ansbach, against which Monheimerche has now taken up the appeal for annulment in vain, so that he will soon be granted a decent pension by the Ansbach court without a doubt." (Scharff/Scharffenstein, the exposed Judaism. Pages 20–23.)

At the end of this chapter I will give a story reported by Jews themselves, which is proof that Jews, in whichever country and under which "confession" they may live, always know how to find each other. * To corroborate the factuality of the following story

I can also add that an acquaintance in China, who had Jewish blood in his veins, once told me how Jews who had just arrived from Baghdad or Damascus and who had therefore never seen him before, recognized him and addressed him as a fellow tribesman. Such examples could certainly be given in thousands if one wanted to pay more attention to such things. 3 On the secret Judaism in Spain, its existence and existence of the German Jews until very recently

Time always denied, a Mr. Ullmann in Frankfurt a. M.

in a meeting of the local Society for History and Antiquity

— 87 —

In February 1868, he made the following piquant announcement when he reported on the Entö origin of the Frankfurt Jewish surname "Spanier"

He reported verbatim as follows: "After a oral declaration based on the Christian tradition in 1519, when

When King Charles I received the German imperial crown as Charles V, the Jews in the empire were worried because they feared that they would be treated in a similar way to the way their ancestors were treated in Spain, which at that time was forbidden to Jews to enter under penalty of death. Nevertheless, there were many Jews in Spain who were not interested in the Jews. They separate themselves from their ancestral religion, but in their innermost but because of the constraint she was all the more devoted to her love and hoped for the time when they would be freed from this constraint

This fear that the Jews in the Reich might be treated in the same way as in Spain, prompted the Jewish community in Frankfurt not to wait idly, but to send an embassy to Spain. Two brothers were prepared to undertake the journey, they dressed according to the local customs and set out to glides away from the community's blessings. They arrived safely in the Spanish capital; but only now did they think about the solution to the question that had troubled them on their way: How to get to the emperor? Their good fortune led them to meet a buyer of various customs in the market in Madrid.

a secret Jew, whom they followed, discovered themselves and were secretly brought to the Emperor by him, who was an imperial fool, who listened to their requests and signed a letter of protection for all Jews in the Empire. With this, after many complaints, they arrived in Frankfurt, where they were at the gate of the Jews gates immediately recognized and with the words: "The Spaniards find Come! The Spaniards are here!" were greeted by young and old alike. They kept the name "Spaniards" for all time, although until then they had been called Cohen." (Scharff/Scharffenstein, Die Juden in Frankfurt a. M., pp. 16 and 17.)

— — —in—

Your AND T

. Fudenfiwoflen.

"There are very strange, very peculiar cases of atavism. The race purifies itself and returns to the purely oriental type. Consider the young Iyidor Schiller. The father is German, strong, blond, chubby, the son huddled in on himself, with a very small head, like one drop of water to another.

captives of the bas-reliefs of Nineveh; he is a true time

comrades of the Menähe and Poyakim."

(Drumont, Jewish France IS 124.)

Daniel Deronda.

"Even the religious question plays only a secondary role next to | the racial question, which precedes all others. Even among those who have cast off Judaism for two or three generations, the Jew knows how to find his own people again; he notices know signs as to whether a drop of Jewish blood flows in their veins. Sometimes he even spares an enemy because he has recognized in him a brother who has gone astray.

In Daniel Deronda, that wonderful study of Hebrews, for which the Jew Lewes invited his life partner, George Eliot,

Dickens, the most important novelist in England, two to three hundred volumes of historical works read, this point is in admirable = Daniel Deronda is a novel hero in the full sense of the word; a young lawyer, handsome, clever, eloquent, who has no idea that he belongs to the Jacobs family; the attraction of the race makes him fall in love with a Jewess. Then Miordecai appears, one of those enlightened ones, those sectarians who are currently leading the world in favor of the Semitic cause. He has recognized the tribesman beneath the gentleman; he lifts a little of the veil that covers the politics of the century, which is incomprehensible to the superficial and simple-minded. | Daniel immediately understands the truth. He is the son of one. be:

famous singer, the Alchariyi. The Alchariyi has one of her lovey lord, Lord Mallinger, to adopt her son and to

to be educated as a future peer of England. While the child grows up, the singer pursues her successful artist career; she marries a German prince and when Daniel has grown into a man, she decides to tell him the secret of his burt, which she assumes will grieve him: "Mother," Daniel simply replies, "I am happy and proud to be a Jew." 2 Mordecai further initiates him; he shows Daniel the services he can render to his people, the actions he must undertake; he proves to him that it is necessary to restore the kingdom of Israel.

You have no idea why? "To serve as a model for liberated Europe!" Deronda has understood, he has, as he says, discovered his social calling." He leaves for the Orient, where all Semitism is stirring at the moment. He probably saw Gambetta before his death, with the Jewish bankers and a

He spoke to influential politicians and said to them: "Look, old brothers, let a few thousand of these stupid Frenchmen be slaughtered in foreign lands, that will be good for Israel, for England and for your stock exchange!" (Drumont, La France juive. I. p. 41.)

| (Eliot Daniel Deronda Leipzig. Tauchnitz. 2 vols.)

"It happens," said the Chief Rabbi Zadoc Kahn to the Parisian correspondent of the "Nowoje Wremja", which published this article on June 5th/17th, 1886, that a Jewess, when she marries a Christian, raises her children according to the rules of Jewish worship. This is what the Duchess of Grammont, a countess and a marquise do, who diligently attend the synagogue, although they are married to Christians.
| !

Look here, said the Chief Rabbi, here is a letter that I have just received from a young lady who married a Christian against her parents' wishes. Listen to what she writes. Zadoc Kahn read the letter.

The young girl apologized to the Chief Rabbi in the most affectionate terms, saying that she had news to give him that would not be pleasant. She was going to marry Mr. X., but he was a weak character, and she asked the Chief Rabbi to rest assured that she would remain true to the religion of her fathers, and asked him to keep a place in the synagogue free for her and her future family.

So you see how it goes, said Zadoc Kahn; this beautiful young lady, who has now become Madame X., will always be in our company. I will love her as before, and her way of life will not change in any way.

a (Drumont, Jewish France, before public opinion (P. 34 35.)

s

0 * " 27. .

8 and

8

„ a: *

\

N

= Inden und Berrfiher.

As has already been shown, the kings and maidens of the

Akum (non-Jews) stood out from the rest of the Akum, which is why their bloody sacrifice is especially holy. With regard to the prince's murder also says

German

English

Full text of " German Jewish Masonic Conspiracy "

See other formats

This is a reproduction of a library book that was digitized by Google as part of an ongoing effort to preserve the information in books and make it universally accessible.

Google books

<https://books.google.com>

Google

about this book

This is a digital copy of a book that was kept on library shelves for generations before it was carefully scanned as part of a project to make the world's books available online.

The book has outlived the copyright and can now be made available to the public. A book is in the public domain that was never subject to copyright or whose copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary from country to country. Publicly accessible books are our gateway to the past and reveal much of the cultural and scientific potential that is often difficult to discover.

Traces of use, notes and other marginal notes contained in the original volume can also be seen in this copy. A reminder of the long journey the book has taken from the publisher to a library and then to you.

Terms of Use

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize publicly available materials and make them accessible to the public. Public domain books belong to the public and we are only their custodians. Nevertheless, digitization of books is costly. In order to continue to provide this resource, we have taken steps to prevent commercial parties from using the files for commercial purposes. This includes technical restrictions on automated queries.

We ask you to adhere to the following guidelines:

+ Use of the files for non-commercial purposes We have designed Google Book Search for end users. Use files only for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ No automated queries Do not send automated queries of any kind to the Google system. If you are interested in machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to the full text of books is useful, please contact us. We encourage the use of publicly available material for these purposes and may help.

+ Retaining Google brand elements The Google "watermark" that you will find in every file this project and helps users find more material through Google Book Search. Please do not

+ Stay within the legality Regardless of your intended use, you must be aware of your responsibility to ensure that your use is legal. Do not assume that a book that we believe is legal for use is publicly accessible, is also publicly accessible to users in other countries. Whether a book is publicly accessible varies from country to country. We cannot advise whether a particular use of a particular book is legal. Do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means that it is available in every country in the world. Copyright infringement can have serious consequences.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and make it universally usable and accessible. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books and helps authors and publishers reach their intended audience. You can search the entire book text on the Internet at <http://books.google.com>.

ar

570 /suu

83L

Freemason Order

fine true meaning,
That means.

as a world order, in which and by means of which,
fine fine organism, a secret society the Revs-lutions against all existing churches and monarchies, fo well as the control of property, the estates and Guilds for the purpose of a theocratic -focial order-republic, prepared for three centuries, is carrying out and led.

In two fonts
the criminal courts and the Estates Assembly proven from history, from statutes and from the confessions of the order in its secret writings to motivate the associated application for

Abolition of the Order

from

Lawyer Eduard Emil Eckert, 77 77 +e ;

Editor of the frank Sachsenzeitung.

Dresden.

Published by the author himself.

1852.

SE

EUR TILL

Printed by Julius Blochmann Jr. in Dresden.

ai =.

Foreword.

Imbued with the conviction that duty of the citizen does not mean the negation of all participation not exhausted by legally prohibited acts, but rather a positive, strong contribution to the preservation and happier development of the state society and their purposes, I believed already in my youth= years, as a student and as a legal candidate, not to let public events pass by without interest to be allowed to, but to look at them and examine myself must decide whether and to what extent to continue to support or to seek to inhibit the individual citizen's duty for
If the results were still immature, and This resulted in many mistakes by Handelus, and the natural cause in the immaturity of life=, the Be= observation=, the years of experience; but I won in the=
from my youth the foundations for later cla= knowledge of temporal phenomena in their original form. –
To achieve this result, this clear insight,
through my professional activities as a public agent

ter in a provincial town in Saxony is necessarily very fevered, as my business work takes up all my time in it, and the place of residence was quite off-remote of the big cities, the heart chambers of the whole home revolutionary current that covers the whole floods the people's life, enlivens it and the revolutionary phenomena. Meanwhile, those who had

IV

At the end of the 1930s, there was a noticeable increase in and weight-heavy, worrying phenomenon in the field of church, politics and social life, in the chambers, in the press, in clubs, finally in the Leipzig and Annaberg events, to re-observe this phenomenon as carefully as possible events and to research into their sources.

So came the unfortunate year of 1848 and the new outbreak the general revolution, evident in Germany only by secret societies, almost without any popular participation- started and through abuse of government powers

It seemed as if only the screaming suffer from all honest and insightful citizens possessed, it seemed to be only an encouraging example need, this, through no serious government sins the more or less excusable destructive activity against the political, moral and economic reasons- of the common good, to put an end to and men-ner of higher qualifications and more specialized profession encourage them to recognize their duties and in word and Scripture to oppose the work of destruction. I felt the strength in me and believed in this profession, to set an encouraging example for others.

I took up the political pen on March 16, 1848, but I did not think of sacrificing my business to bring. I was wrong in my good belief in the patriotism of the educated classes, I remained alone, alone without any support for the whole

Course of the year 1848. – But my persistent
The work was not entirely fruitless, because soon after
At the beginning of 1849, there were some nobles who

V

supporting resources for expanded political activity offered; only one man could not be found to take my place
The fatherland had to surrender to the revolution= be let go without even saving the honour that my=
at least there were still men in the nation, a= fentious and patriotic enough to protect the common good defend myself unless I decided to make this public to continue the struggle in a wider scope. Now it was always the principle of my life not to do anything half-heartedly, to do nothing half-heartedly, I could not at the same time do my thing= walter business and also the duties of combating the Revolution; I believed the duty to contribute to the state= to contribute to the preservation of the earth as a higher duty to strive for, as that of economic self-preservation ment, devoted myself entirely to this higher duty and founded dete the frank Saxon newspaper. From now on only
The study of revolution in state and church, in the causes and effects, as well as their combat my sole task in life, and only in the course of the=
the most careful and undivided studies I came across Er= phenomena that aroused my suspicion that home conspiracy power, whose systematic, uniform
His work in Europe was unmistakably illuminated everywhere, which I long strove in vain to find, in the Freemason= rer=Order, to which only charitable and “finer social purposes I too until then good-natured and without further examination. In particular, the manifestations of the powerful revolutionary agi= tations for the purpose of surrendering Saxony to Prussia, which, as emanating from the Order, became clear to me.
Once I came to this realization, I turned with restless activity all my little intellectual and economic forces to decide about purpose and economy
ity of the Order to a comprehensive, clear and secure

iv

To gain knowledge and to create the means for myself,

To be able to document results as desired.

The task I had set myself to solve
I soon had to recognize it as the most difficult of my life=
nen, because no matter how large the mass of works is, which Purpose, organization and effectiveness of the Order were, but not only is there still no

Work that represents the true purpose of the Order, fej-
a total organism and its historical activity harmonically and doctofrically proven, but it

feven the existing works represent only the most diverse,
most confusing contradictions, created essentially by that the Order has a level of education that corresponds to today's furprisingly subtle conspiracy organism for

The basis is the elevation to the highest po= ōlitical dignities of the Order, without thereby affecting the in-nest purposes and the secret activity of the Order to reveal the most apparently contradictory systems

encloses itself. In addition, a large mass of writings indisputably by the Order itself for the purpose of Deception about his nature and work and for the sake of indirect refutations of individual . in the world was thrown.

And finally, the resistance of the external Or=

dens against his subordination to the inner order,

throughout human life and with temporary Success showed a huge mass of writings between both order divisions and between systems= called who had given him the task of verifying the authenticity only one branch of the order or one system the other Systems, whereby deformities of all kinds were generated.

But this bitter dispute within the Order itself led but also the disputing parties, in order to

y

vil

prove what one had claimed against oneself – the wich=
t most important order documents, albeit only as secret documents, printed in the order's printing works by brothers, to each other. And I managed to collect them with endless effort.

Only the most careful comparison of these mutual Order party documents and certificates by the un= involved, unbiased layperson could come to a clear conclusion Informing about the Order's secret purposes, organization= men and activities.

Having reached these results, I could no longer doubtful about the obligation of their publication; only a certain event concerning me personally suggested to me
the reason to go further, to the criminal investigation office.
initially for the purpose of indirect proof of the truth=
ity of certainty, expressed in a private writing by me
ner and me charged with statements the templates and to demand the State Government's repeal of the Order, whose influence alone gave me that Event, whose more detailed description here I consider nor prohibit, became understandable.

So the power of circumstances forced me earlier to publicly speak out against the Order when I I was forced to do so within eight weeks,
among other daily business, to provide a document of evidence,
which by its nature should be an annual work, and had to create a rich collection of the most valuable writings ten, which I only got through the kindness of the Consul General of the United States of America, for conservation and promotion of true human welfare for active gentlemen Schwarz in Vienna, from his extensive library em= pfing, still largely unused at present. And since I once felt compelled to take the official step to hurry, so I was also allowed to deal with the public Publica= tion no longer hold back; because the more isolated I am from the almighty high order to ensure the necessary

VIII

It is more important to make the whole world a witness of the clear justice and the faithfulness of my actions; I had to
to the public the writings, on whose content it can judge fshould, as I have reported to the chambers of the country= were handed over; I had to refrain from presenting the
to present an even more improved scientific work, fhowever keenly I wished for it, and finally unfortunately the information given by the State Government to the free press Conditions to a few, but regrettable, moments difieirungen of the part that the course of the latest Cr-events in Saxony.

May the general public enjoy the precocious work
be a lenient judge; his purpose is only to convince,
and for this purpose the given must be more than than sufficient.

Dresden, January 3, 1852. |

Eckerts.

zer — SE IG rso—

At
the bobe Estates Assembly
| in the Kingdom of Saxony,
first to the high first chamber.

Since the second half of the last century,
The prudent observer of the life of states knows, with feftreich and Russia, in the rest of Europe
a harmonious dissolution of the three legally recognized Churches, the monarchical orders and the Gis genthum.

He sees this phenomenon everywhere more and less fwifhly complete, finds everywhere regarding the causes of this appearing effects the same indications, the same Means of realization, the means of self-destruction through the governments through legislation and Administration and the means of rebellion.

He sees rebellion following rebellion, nowhere does he testifies to real need, nowhere arising from the Crowds, evoked everywhere with initially pitiful rejoicing follow from the scholarly world, but everywhere under protection and Support of the moral authority of the so-called educational claffen, everywhere in intimate harmony with the beginning of a new great era of dissolution by the state powers themselves.

The calm observer sees these phenomena just from the time when not only the general welfare=
ft, but also the general fubjective freedom, fo
how general moral and knowledge education reaches a high level degree, of which no older ee was a second example.

This happy general development was the fruit
the further development of the Christian monarchical power after its Victories over the party powers that emerged in the Middle Ages, for the heart of the Christian monarch was all good

10

The children of the country were close and the ftabulary had to be based on the line that is connected with justice and Welfare of the whole, on which they guaranteed
of general freedom, education and prosperity
Therefore, serfdom was abolished,
Even the easements were regulated by contracts which provided regulated certain moderate use, protected against arbitrariness and the replacement that would occur over time.
And the governments' aspirations for Revitalization of industry.

Yes, even more, one sees these rebellions and dissolutions= demands on church, state, estates and property according to every time their formulated demands are granted, everywhere always make certain new, more far-reaching demands, i.e.
never be satisfied. All easements were paid off, fo to the extent that they could hinder soil cultivation and personal services contained, i.e. as far as a national economic or a moral lic interest in the repeal, but still further Rebellion, further demand for the removal of usable property= omen rights that no longer interest the common good and of literary non-owners, for what? – there is only one reasonable explanation, for the purpose of progressive dissolution of landed property. And this was immediately destroyed by releasing the dismemberments. The landowner accepted these laws short-sightedly because he wanted to could sell for thousands more. He does not consider that he sold to the wisher to make money from usury for fine children to buy other land twice as expensive; that the land= possessions, finally fragmented into houses and garden plots, ceases to have and give value. And everyone knows

The surrender of monarchical rights became only a weapon, leading to enforce further demands. i Nowhere else can these rebellions be found, and even less so Self-destruction of the monarchical powers and their ftändis fhical foundations a natural explanation, so everywhere must ` fie as products of a plan of a secret, directed= ments themselves directly acting conspiracy ft, for the purpose of creating a theocratic and de= ma e ee world republic.
We have already come to the point where faith

BTL

1114

extinguished, so that the Church is dead in its essence; that the Mynarchy exists only formally, without all its foundations; that the vassal class could hardly obtain the bare necessities that the peasant class is being destroyed by dismemberment and that the class of urban commercial citizens only still visible as a dying shadow. l
All these phenomena therefore point to the purposes of a home connection that can only go there, the spirit= ual authority, state power, all intellectual and physical human labour of nations and their land ownership of and to draw them into the connection and to make them available to the benefit of the
If I have the property of a Nation its yields and millions mentally and physically= ly in federal factories, instead of the present guilds for. me and some fraternity brothers work, then I can afford the
Let socialism fall. |
Fotfceht: but after this general evil, destroy= the demon, so one finds, no matter how much one may research, but only one single phenomenon, which by virtue of its universality unity, its significant components and finally may their mysterious organism appear suitable, to accomplish something so terribly great, and this phenomenon is the Masonic Order, defen members of all states and communities deoffices push back the profane citizen, who has already brought it close to being a mason must in order to obtain offices or do business.
In contrast, only two perceptions seemed to raise concerns arouse, namely partly the participation of the most high-ranking and wealthiest people in the Order who professed faith in their revolutionary work, especially for the destruction of the ice genthums did not allow, partly the perception that bitter Party divisions of the revolutionary power in the history of Révolutions became visible, which opposed an equality of their ends and means, which spoke against their corporate unity. On the other hand, one could not deny that that destruction from above through the violence carrier itself, which undeniably progressed, at least just fo incomprehensible than the destruction of property by genthüms, that the one as well as the other alone only he= It will be made clear by discovering the existence of the finest, cleverest

12

Deception of these same high instruments in a way that Throne of Europe's spun conspiracy. And with it had to be considered that with the high level of formation of the state governments of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries= century, a conspiracy without one, the crime cherish purposes for the most extraordinarily wise time living organism could not possibly remain undetected; that either the existence of such a conspiracy denies or admits the possibility of such a subtle deception be done. If the apparitions now allow a denial= the existence of such a secret power, so the possibility of deception had to be accepted and sought And this possibility could only be realized in a homeland that encompassed the world and in the highest Circles was powerful because in these highest circles had to perceive the inexplicable phenomena.

The second concern was already very insufficient, because it strictly speaking only justified the belief in lack of discipline, disputes within the company society of conspiracy.

And such disputes were indeed in the Freemasonry= Order broke out between the inner (the Scottish) and between the outer (Johannis=) division of the Order over the latter subordination. –

Both parties gave each other the most important information clarifications and documents on purpose, organization and history of the Order in secret writings, and soon such in profane and also in my hands; and a multi-year tireless research, testing and comparing finally brought me not only to full subjective clarity, but also to the own knowledge of the world as truth through one's own

To be able to present the Order's confessions convincingly.

The Order, spread over the whole earth, which it already divided into Order governmental realms, shows an organism of such an admirable construction that history has never seen anything remotely similar has put forward, entirely calculated to present it to a closed number of relatively fewer initiates possible, Thousands of others become unconscious tools under unclear rem, fty fhining purpose to use them, to need for direct or indirect destruction, for money to protect by means of their influence or goodwill mens or to influence third high personalities.

13

And so all those so-called legal destructions in church, state and property, all those revolutions in these fields, from the Masonic Order and were prepared in him.

The Order's documents on purpose and organization, the declarations of the Grand Dignitaries in the Order and at deffen Parts express this clearly, distinctly and explicitly. And history provides harmonious confirmation of this.

I had in a, not intended for the public, printed lecture on the internal political situation in Saxony pointed out: "that the influence of these humanists= conspiracy can still be felt today in three ministries."

The Ministry of Justice has therefore launched a Criminal Proceeding cess against me, and I shall have my judgment from expect a judiciary which, for the most part, even in higher heads, consists of Freemasons. The Mason would thus become the judge and avenger in his own case against me. I had to put up with this all the less, as the Order in its capacity as a world association, the sacral contrary to the fist association laws, as the order obligations fpeculiarly incompatible with the duties of the judicial status; finally, when the Order pursued treasonous purposes ly conceals and strives for.

I therefore abhorred the vicious judiciary until the abolition of the Order, and carried out the execution eficient evidence of these three illegal acts properties of the Order in a Royal submitted evidence.

But I also informed the Ministry of Justice about this.
show made and requested: "the perhorrescence and proof
description of a high cognition and the abolition of the Order."

The only result I received was the strange resolution:
"The application belongs to the cognition of the Ministry of the Interior matters, and should therefore be referred to this ministry

I countered with a counter-representation to the judiciary Ministerio, from which the demand for the statement of the

\

14

"Revocation of the order according to the circumstances, at the Ministry of the Interior

had to be submitted, but also renewed the application for lifting of the order at the Ministry of the Interior immediately, but since then I remain without any further resolution.

These are not phrases, not even

Combinations of a sharp mind, it is about

Investigation based on statutes, documents and orders

confessions to investigate the existence of a conspiracy, which destroyed the Church, the monarchical order to the brink of the Ahgrund and partly already fell down, which the entire state existence and property threatened; yes

a conspiracy of such fine construction and management that capable of so many monarchs, so many of the best of every nation
tion into tools of their destruction.

Isn't, one asks Stannen, the first task of the

The existence of every government, the state society and the

to secure the lives, rights and property of individual citizens?

One has the privileges of birth in the civil service onraised. Should it be done fine, in order to actually have the dens, a state within a state, and the Generality of the citizens as profane by the state to push back the positions?

We have two ministries to protect against the Auscountry and defense surveillance, not a ministry for protection against the most miserable, most dangerous, against the inner enemy of State society. Surveillance of the most dangerous enemy of the lower, and unfortunately not even own officials but officials whose next main task is to: lizei against the so-called common criminals, who overloaded with such work, do not find the time to go to the deep Studies of general, revolutionary and conspiracy theories history, even less to the studies of the appearing the often extensive works on the revolutionary works ties and their activities. The higher ministerial Officials are responsible for recognizing the dangers of state life, after the once existing peculiar their powers belong to their superior stated supposedly higher scope of action for replacements, Trade regulations now, in short the revolution: has also ensured that their conspiracy was not . not can be viewed with clarity.

45

And yet I say nothing less than too much, and my Evidence will also make this clear: No state man today understands his time, the causes of the phenomena in the field of supreme politics, internal administration, the church, the school, the entire political and social life, he does not even understand the ordinary expressions that he, he does not know how general hears the official language spoken by the officials themselves be incorporated, e.g. movement instead of rebellion etc., in short he only sees phenomena and is not able to understand them properly it, and even less to treat them, if he does not the Masonic Order, in its innermost essence and in his work, studied and understood!' |

Every not entirely dull or reckless citizen and Farmer hears the never-resting hammer beneath our feet, without seeing what mysterious power was guiding him. Every says: "It cannot stay like this, the state building is fundamental got rid of it, it hangs over, either it must fall, or it the smashing hammer must be broken and with the greatest haste and strength the reason again underpinned and that . be raised up again."

Well, the longer the government hesitates, the sooner finally, at least to look seriously and carefully at who because actually wield the terrible hammer? so much the more holy

if it is the duty of the representatives of the state society to to undertake the investigation and then take the appropriate measures men of the government are strongly recommended.

I therefore present to the High Assembly of Estates Cos
pien of these documents with the most humble request: |

“to have them examined carefully and then to “high state government with the urgent request to “hand over: “the Order of Freemasons in Saxony

“to abolish, to prohibit participation in, to prohibit

“offered to be carried out with emphasis, and at the high “Bundestag the general abolition of the Sb in “Germany to apply.” | |

| Persisting with reverence

Dresden, 1 February 1852.

| Adv. Eduard Emil Eckert,

Report of the Freimüthige Fachzeitung.

46

»To the City Court of Dresden.

In addition to a very significant number of press processes, which in particular the most famous democratic personalities ten have brought against me because I
in my newspaper scenes of their democratic activities:
and called the Democrats, a name that which was once her pride in public, and which today is Circles nor is, except the Proceffen of this kind, I say, the
The developments often left me astonished, and this is also the result
Most High Resolution regarding my work for the Saxon a certain lecture of March 4, 1851 a Criminal= proceedings have been initiated against me.

I cannot follow the course of all these criminal procedures against me no longer to watch quietly, but must finally the hostile power that seems to be so influential in them destroy in order to save my own existence, I mean the Order of Freemasons, which also includes the judiciary only to a limited extent= richly represented, even presidents of higher courts and ministerial councillors in its ranks. Perhaps, perhaps I, I am wrong and I am far from the religious order to denounce the criminal justice system, but undoubtedly eloquent I am at least entitled to the expressed suspicion and then I am also entitled to do what I want to do here.

I abhor the wicked judges until it is done= abolition of the Masonic Order and protest until against every judgment of the criminal justice system against me.

I must deal with a justification of Le= gitimation point for this step of mine and with a general motivation of my desire and give me the special motivation within the next fourteen days before= keep, since the sum of the money in my hands Material is so extraordinarily extensive that at least such a time is devoted exclusively to processing must be done, which my thoughts did not allow me to do until now. Rur= preliminary general justification for this protest also it will be sufficient to state the following:

J. The Order is incompatible with Saxon legislation, therefore, every citizen must demand its abolition entitled. |

II. The Order is (apart from political questions)

17

with the welfare of the state, especially with the judicial He Ante.

8 the suspicion is justified, I say the suspicion, in the Order and by means of fine ftantädangerous Purposes are pursued; this justification is thought through the critique of reason, through the confession= niffe of the dignitaries of the order in the secret writings ten and partly publicly deposited, through fine ftratification in general; finally, through the phenomena of Modern times in and outside Saxony.

IV. The Order is hostile to me if the suspicion I just said here, because I then fts efforts are fought mightily, but he is in any case party against me, because he is also expressly and specifically attacked by me in my newspaper and fought against; my lecture itself finally knows that I see it, this order, as the

heime revolutionnaire power which demokra= tic personalities in three ministries, ie in three civil service branches into government offices;
so the judge, who is a member of the Order, may be involved in the investigation against me because of this Guilt of the Order, at the same time judge and party.
And to pervert such a judge, every attempt complained. Now the fact is notorious that in the judiciary such against me as a member of the Order fhared persons are present, however, their na=
men, because of the oath of secrecy, that they took, unknown, now the judges must first and foremost by abolishing this secret society of fuch cleaned.

Regarding I., the Saxon Association Law states:

1) that no association which has not been expressly granted the right to do so has been granted, form branch associations and join forces with their domestic and foreign associations in connection
may set;

2) that each association shall submit its status to the Authority and submit membership directories;

3) that it remains open to police surveillance;

A) that, if the society publishes a club newsletter,

2

18

also complied with the conditions of the Press Act and fo e.g. Caution ordered and the prescribed Submission of the published papers to the authority results in become.

The Masonic Order alone is in agreement with the first condition
folut incompatible, because it is notoriously a world order, a Association that extends over the whole world, to which all lodges, according to such different systems as they may work,
belong to uniform parts, because the different systems find little more than a few different business regulations, all believe and want a unified purpose, communicate the= half with each other, consider themselves as a unit, open their doors against the travelling members of other lodges as fraternity brothers and all are subject to a uniform oversight.

This relationship does not require any special proof,

it is world famous.

Continue to 2., | Ä DE

fo I do not know whether the Ordens = Gefellhaft the appearance of the Fulfillment of these conditions, but in no event can these conditions have been met in truth.

It is unthinkable because the authorities would have seen must ensure that the association in its nature and form does not local or provincial, i.e. not one which allow in Saxony.

It is unthinkable that the true purposes and the The entire statutes should have been presented, partly because Concealment of the purpose and the internal social activities= ity has always been the Order's condition of life. was valid and therefore from every teaching to be taken up= ling under oath or in lieu of oath depending on the lodge system must be sworn in, as everyone knows; partly because the Organism of society, as the statutes stipulate= must be recognized as one who is just in this form cannot possibly be tolerated by the state, as I will explain further in II., finally because after all reasonable examination, as I explain in detail in III. the Order's management in and with the Order can hardly be imagined= bare way can intend the purposes which one in the World as the purpose of the Order, and which as such made by the Order of the World Gosa * |

19

Suppose, then, that there are free statutes and members of the lists, the former cannot possibly fulfill the purpose and Organism exhaustively and the latter can at most include the members who are admitted to the local lodges were and remained at the place, but not those Brothers who have been admitted to foreign lodges, here ka= men, beer life and as fraternity brothers the entry into the Lodges are open, in short, members of the club society. And these are mostly the literary, the higher who did not live on like the craftsman and tend to die where they first settled. I would like well see statutes and lists to their I Ges to be able to check.

Furthermore, 3.

fuch is, as I have just explained and everyone knows, secret= tung the life condition of the whole existence and activity of the Order. It vows to maintain strict secrecy, as expected, to treat each member to be admitted as the most sacred of his

. in addition to their duties, they also take an oath. Own religious houses with closed gates open day and night only by the hands of serving brothers, only the brothers or on the orders of the lodge master. Under the Veil of night, Brother Maurer enters the secret full rooms of the Order; only in the glow of the nightly Stars, when the profane world falls into slumber, fam The master of the chair calls his masons to the secret work in work lodges, for communal Meals in dining lodges, or the brothers meet for social Conversations together. Master and Lo anxiously investigate officials ensured that no uninitiated person could enter the holy rooms. and in the mysterious circles of the consecrated brothers penetrated. Even instant death threatens the uninitiated intruder according to old law. To which hours and meetings. now the state has fine police agents? – Can the state even hope that it has Guarantee that the Order, whose life and work the condition of secrecy is bound, police agents to fine, mysterious nightly work with constant ge z scientific loyalty? – Does the state have guarantors? ftschaft that also his police chief, (it is also in Dresden:

*

| 20

not the case) that the middle and lower officials fhis police belong to the order and not as a palizei officers, but as members of the Order enter the Order rooms and leave? – Do you know every member of the order? – No. Finally 4., I am of course unable to say whether the only intended for Freemasons, printed by Masons and only to such upcoming Masonic newspaper, edited by Diako nus Fifcher in Leipzig, the provisions of the press laws since 1848 had been complied with; but I would also like to doubt, at least that since 1848, of the published Numbers were regularly delivered to the authorities fine, because if such a thing had happened, it would hardly be clarify that no authority can take action against a newspaper and against a Redaction intervened, which repeated the democratic revolution declared to be the child of the Order and to further active called upon the members of the order to provide maternal care for this child. I have already mentioned in numbers 187 and 196 of the “Frei müthigen Sachsenzeitung” such valuable passages of the Frei mason's newspaper and will be published in Section III. I feel compelled to submit this. I have now for today's purpose of legitimation

I would like to add a few comments to IV.

I have first and only of all political writings
ftenders in numbers 293, 295 and 303 of my newspaper from last year the continued existence of the Order of Freemasonry= rer, as incompatible with the welfare of the state, to be combated be=
And from that moment on, perhaps only as a result of a chance encounter – the official prosecutions
my newspaper with a strikingly feeming zeal sides of the royal circle direction. Mag
I am mistaken if I in a coincidence the effect of a ge= mysterious influential power, I might then at least to excuse fine; it does not go any further here either ter on it, but only on my motives of the here to legalize the step taken. The fact that the
The religious order attacked me, so that they Party fet, is available in the designated printed matter, finds fince then repeated hundreds of times in my newspaper and in incriminated presentation clearly oe |

21

And thus my application should be sufficiently legitimate and appear to be purely motivated, so that the further specific motivation does not appear to be a necessity; nevertheless, I believe it in the thorough implementation of points II. and III. within of the next 14 days.

May the future outcome of this fateful Steps may be as always, I do it today as an act
my self-defense, not for the purpose of denunciation. I knows that the Order monarchs and the noblest loyal Men besides evil members, I know that the noble= ren and befer elements, especially in the members of the three lowest grades none at all, in the last three grades
most members have hardly a vague idea of that,
for what they are abused. The orders presented to me= Documents demonstrate the most admirable organism, who divided the Order into classes of ordained brothers and lodges and into classes of collaborating brothers and lodges,
The latter serve the former to partly with their high and influential position with her pure good name to ensure the secret criminal endeavours of the former conceal, partly to protect the possibly compromised members save, partly the members of the order in the state offices and to the to raise the highest positions of power, partly with strong monetary taxes
To create means, partly and finally at least to replace the eternally true Church through the rational religion of the enlightened innermost Orient of the Masonic Order.

The further specific proof of these sentences must with reservations, it is sufficient here only one place from

"The History of Freemasonry," written by the famous Freemason Venturini under the assumed name of Everyone 1824, which page 149 reads verbatim:

"The access of the princes,
etc. Even if those great men did not see the building as a work= people and the masonry tools only made of silver cutely tapered in the buttonhole, they are nevertheless for the Federation important through their wealth as builders or through their extensive influence in the state. In addition, find. folde secret associations, no matter how free and independent they may appear may be, but »too dependent on good weather from Above, and thrive only in the sunshine. Where the prince fuld, one fears disgrace, to edify oneself. On the other hand, runs with full sails, as soon as a mouthful of favorable court= air blows in. May the distinguished guests of the highest, high and not high graces at least be freed from the Duty to build by the sweat of one's brow, just sit there, like Martin's hood stock, their counterpart fertilizes

22 |
There are many who find it difficult to do something in secret
To do something useful. Where they disappear, the construction stalls, like in a beehive without drones!"
I therefore humbly request:
"with dispatch of the documents, 14 days more,
"To show decency."
Dresden, September 8, 1851.

At the Royal City Court of Dresden Criminal= . Department.

I have in the investigation process, which is because of my,
for the Saxon Association, against me= has been directed to the fuchsian judiciary until the fevent= abolition of the Masonic Order and have requested the abolition of this order.

This request was subjectively motivated by me through the Note that the Order in the incriminated document is referred to as the,
in all probability clearly identified as a hostile power net, also often attacked in my newspaper as such fei, and since the Order is notoriously also in the Saxon Rih terft numerous, according to the order organism not personnel known members, towards me and especially in the question process as an interested party, which therefore through its members who does not judge me and my case against them chen may.

I base the objective justification on the following

Sentences:

I. The Order is incompatible with Saxon legislation.

II. The Order is, apart from political questions, especially incompatible with the judicial office.

III. It is justified to suspect that in the Order and by means of his pursuit of state-threatening purposes become. ;

I led the Iten of these * for the purpose of the engraved

23

Madweife's legal justification for my application immediately, the latter two, however, I reserved for myself for proof, and now do not fail to teach the same in the following, only fupon me the third movement to precede the first movement because I couldn't avoid repetitions.

So, first of all, we have to prove the following statement: "It is right= The suspicion arises that in the Masonic Order and by means of fine, all revolutions in the ecclesiastical, political and in the social life of modern times, to the outbreak led and managed.

This suspicion is justified

A. through the history of the Order in general;

B. through the explicit confessions of the dignitaries of the Order in the secret writings and partly publicly placed; '

C. through the latest phenomena in and outside Saxony;

D. through the critique of reason. "

| A) History. |

The present is the daughter of the past, it is incomprehensible without knowledge of the mother. Masonry is also only a sprout of ancient historical phenomena, therefore in their nature just so incomprehensible without an overview of their historical origins and development.

I therefore believe I am justified in starting to develop this story.

The grandeur of nature had to impress thinking people, the more his thinking power matured, the more he led to the feat of the origin and preservation of nature, the essence of

E power to explore, which created such wonderful things, finally this to worship every being. To this incessantly bold further Researchers have been working together since the darkest times of prehistoric times

the most outstanding thinkers of their age and people, and it

the bold, restless activity of these people succeeded in enforcing the laws and to find the primary substances according to which and from which the world= creation and in its continued creative self-activity
They recognized an eternal being that existed in the transient forms and the immortality of power;
only the nature of that eternal being, first of all the becoming of those primary substances, and the entry of life or spirit into the Form, these last and highest tasks remained the eternal ones to solving riddles. Also to investigate them, to make man divine

24

To raise up the Creator remained the most burning desire of human ual spirit. He also boldly strove for the last great secret, felf against the recognized failing will of the deity to wrest the word, the power to say: "Become", or the spiritual life, the divine fire of life. The myths of Storm of a human giant race on the sky, from Creation of humans from clay by humans, stealing of the heavenly fire or the active word "Become" by Prometheus and his cruel punishment, finally the Babylonian towers provide Finnish examples of this bold aspirations of the human spirit.

As far back as our world-historical sources reach,
We therefore also look at the appearance of scientific associations= ly more educated men who could carry out those researches and the promotion of human welfare as the purpose of their union of the, known, the nature and work of the Covenant in deep secret, worshipped a myftical nature religion, religious and political teachers and leaders of the nation ten, or at least strove to control themselves in such a way fhrers of the nation. We read that these ancient Only bring together people with outstanding abilities, knowledge, or outstanding political position or finally of entitlement by birth, also that they Recordings with tough multi-year tests and performance of sworn vows; that they wore allegorical clothing within their assemblies, that they fold themselves in higher and in lower classes, and finally, that they taught to represent it in symbols. We finally recognize in history that these associations have a religious and political To really gain dominion over the peoples of antiquity and used to claim. We find this phenomenon in Indien, saw them transplanted to Egypt, see them passed over into Judaism, transplanted to Greece and to the Cities of Lower Italy before the time of their subjugation by Rome; we find them here too, only in a smaller and with the increase the political power of Rome in more declining effectiveness, because Rome's citizens became masters of the world, political powers with non-Roman components, not in could find their interest. –

25

And it has preserved and propagated this phenomenon to this day, when it has become the most worrying phenomenon in the world. tion will be.

Until the darkest fabled times the traces are lost that bold human aspiration which we have seen appear to this day.

Such results of science, as I have called them, could only be felt and won only by the most capable people as long as the culture of a nation is still at a lower level They were a precious treasure of the individual, may he feel called to be the teacher and educator of his contemporaries, for the purpose of ennobling humanity The education required teaching and learning or recognizing nicht levels. Only the most gifted Contemporaries were able to do this, and the teaching of images corresponded to the Childhood of humanity. People got used to the results of human research in symbols. The same ftiger people grasped the interpretation of the images and found Admission, ordination for the higher teaching classes; the Mas

Ben took the pictures for what they represented. And so ordained teachers=schools and mysteries, mysteriö=fer teaching and symbolic nature religion, so the rule their mysterious teachers, the priests' schools about those who sym=bole of the teacher adoring measures.

The consecrated owners of higher knowledge had to Control of their contemporaries will be easy, as long as such were raw, were in childhood, and as long as the mystic=rien were also beneficial to them; but over time The number of initiates had to meet the need for priests far exceeding, a priest had to emerge from them= ftall, which then in its hereditary reproduction is not only spiritually lagged behind the electoral corporation of the mysteries, who not only gradually developed the higher conception of the symbolic religious rituals, but also the religious Ćin-flow of the Mysteries on the people for himself and whose for their own existence. Thus, the contrast between fic priesthood and folk religion on the one hand and the mystic rien on the other hand. -

The mysteries had a purpose, some of which was eternal attainable, partly capable of eternal continuation. The recognition of the essence of God, or the Creator and Sustainer of the 26

World alone only by means of human spiritual research

, remain forever insoluble, and refinement of humanity remained a purpose that is to be continued forever. Therefore, this double task remains with the human race, as long as not a divine revelation to man the understanding the former task. It was made available to people by Christ; only the human conceit remembered the older nations the images of the teachings of his philosophical Mysteries for worship, the members of the mysterious societies could not believe in truths, if the speculative human mind has not found and released them gisch deduced. The arrogance of the initiated had to the revelation was lost. Christ could only a consecrated mystic who has the highest task of Human spirit, "the knowledge of the eternal spiritual being, which created the primary substances, which allows the world forms to develop and in them the spirit that animates them, the heavenly fire fhuts, fuch as the exhaustion of human perfection had more or less solved, which led to a new System was designed for the purpose of human education."

-And so history showed the continuation of that Dop= pelzwecks by means of closed mystical corporations until today, and we see therefore that our present Corpo= ration of the species, the Masonic Order, of the creation of the world, does not count on the appearance of God in the Son in the world.

The form of processing this dual purpose had to be Over the centuries, during the transition of the teachings of the My= transfer of one people to another, for mobilize themselves in many ways, – as well as the doctrine of individual supposed or real Knowledge truths, but the original dual purpose could never be should change, for he was by his nature eternally unbending, for as long as faith was not able to abolish the former part.

On the other hand, we saw in all peoples the original natural logical consequence of the knowledge monopoly of the members of the mysterious Societies, the rule over the peoples, weaken with the divorce from the priesthood, because the monopoly of knowledge=pol had won the priesthood from the Mysteries and the=the dominion over the minds; now the priesthood=thum, the rule had to be lost with him. And for a double conflict was already given by itself, the religious between the positive beliefs of the people and the priest with the natural–philosophical view of God of the mysteries, and the political between the new in=possessors of political authority and the Mystery Order as its ancient former owner.

27

| Political power could be taken back from the My=ferien=Orden only, either by regaining the Means by which this political power was previously achieved had won and lost, ie by reconquering the priestly position among the people; or by conquering the Government power supported by material forces. Everyone The route had to offer an alternative, either the Path of amicable union with the secular or ecclesiastical Auto=ity or the path of overthrowing the authority in question! –

The path to regaining the priestly position upon, in order to suffice, at the time, that this state it retained its political authority. Was the=was no longer the case, then the other way had to be against the secular power. However, since no secular authority can last for any length of time, without the assistance of the ecclesiastical authority, because only in the people=believe in the sanctity of the duty of obedience, a guarantee=ity against the vicissitudes of power, it had to also every political power in harmony with the priest=thum. We have this connection of political and ecclesiastical power therefore at all times and in all bit core, seen with short temporary interstices, and These spaces of mutual division showed the beginning and imminent decline of political power. every political authority absolutely needs the support of an ecclesiastical, so she must create them again herself if they are lost had gone. This could have happened either by Degeneration of the priesthood, or through overly harsh a contrast between religious teachings and the general an educational level. In the former case, disciplinary res flauration of the priesthood, but in the latter case A new religious system had to be found and the faith of the people must be won over to it.

Depending on these given circumstances, we therefore also at all times and among all peoples the Nyfteria=Ver=

28

We saw, as expected, the ecclesiastical and pos litical authority and the latter with the general value the education or as a result of wars lose power nige or clases in the people, but they always understood each other, that one needs to be fit. So in India, in Egypt, in Paldftina, in Greece and in Rome. So earlier in all Christian States, as the Institute of the so-called regional churches teaches, even more so in Russia, as well as in Turkey and China. Napoleon also recognized this necessity, but since he Catholic clergy partly too inflexible, partly because of the lack of Catholic peoples, whom he strove to subjugate, sufficient, he offered his hand to the myftical Masonic Order, in order to obtain some replacement in it, at least temporarily.

| The higher the eternal human vanity the personal spiritual value of the initiates, the more worthy they fit to govern the peoples, so that they had to persuade: "the purpose of the existence of humanity, the purpose the highest possible intellectual and moral education, at the same time this highest purpose of the mysteries can only be achieved if the government of the peoples and the moral authority over fhe, always in the hands of the wisest, the most worthy, the The initiated rest, therefore it must also forever be the duty= gift of the Myftery=Orders for the benefit of humanity, to regain control of the government and the Priesthood to the Order again." And so they find we in the myfterifous associations the eternal, the human fpoor most peculiar passion, the desire for power prevails= fhowever, as far as our historical news goes back= We see these clubs as ideal for science and technology fens= and moral education essentially only to the peculiar Use of the Order as a means of expansion and strengthening ing its prestige among the people and superstition and Ignorance in the peoples, as long as the Order priesthood and political prestige. And with the Because of this validity we finally saw such orders operating against the existing political and religious authorities and against their foundations, the constitutions of state and Church. Then we saw them – they always called it enlightenment, – the concepts of the people teach the state and religious institutions to judge contemptuously. In such an oppositional situation

29

against church and state, but every such mysterious association of course a much more cautious, subtler Forms=Organisation, and more than ever the symbolic doctrine, which is capable of a double interpretation, a guiltless and of the intended teachings to protect against the dangers of to protect oppositional works. | |

At the highest level of moral and scientific We see in the pre-Christian times the mysteries Egypt. From them, as thought, all peoples, whose cultural history was later, among them the Magi Persia, the Greeks and the Jews, their mysteries and their Sciences, together with art, the peoples according to their moral Facilities, the state of their formation and the acquisition=ity of their climate. But the further the peoples, which. such later received, in sciences and arts had progressed, the less noble their modifications appear= tions of the Mysteries of Egypt. Moses, in the royal family Egypt and educated in Egypt's mysteries, gave fine people in his mysteries a morality that the individual could not ennoble and which the people, as moral per= fon, to a proud, cruel and deceitful nation lity. And Pythagoras and the great mysteries that left in Greece, especially those at Eleusis, show= not only a paradise for humans, but also for the earthly passions only too much, but it was quite There is also the suspicion that such a thing is based on speculative tives, in order not to be excluded from participation in the mysteries to deter, but to encourage their participation through flattery of the human senses, but in the masses of Members of the Mysteries, for whom power, influence and to gain income, while in Egypt one could hardly ly and only the most distinguished personalities were admitted. Here, in Greece, the exams were also very un= dangerous and easy.

The Folk Doctrine of the Egyptian Mysteries or Priesthood was, according to p. 25 of the "Myftagog", Osnabrück and Hamm by Perrenon in 1789, the one of the Masonic writers= knows best works about it, such as:

"There is an eternal God who, in his return= drawing into its unity the spirit of the whole universe

who is therefore the father of all rational creatures
 if. This spirit ruled the world after its fall; he first: in the stars, like the soul in the body. Through subtle input= flow, the stars become capable of divine effects. The human soul is an outflow of this world spirit, consequently it is immortal and returns after the death of the body, the matter, back to its original source."

"Matter is also immortal and subject to a fen principle, the enemy of human happiness, which nevertheless subject to good spirit. It is the source of everything Evil in the world is called Tiphon and to bring him sacrifices=
 With the moment of physical death comes the Soul of the good forever to the gods, that of the vice ten to a desolate joyless place, Amonthes; this must be like= which returned to the matter that gave life to it. Therefore, ly the custom of embalming to preserve the body of the soul to preserve, and the barrier against the sea, in which the bodies can get lost."

The teaching of the mysteries was:

"There is one true God, he is the author of the world, of people and creatures. He is great and powerful, eternal and invisible and therefore cannot be changed by any time= chen be trained." (Eusebius de Praepurat. evangel.
 Lib. 3 p. 664) We hold the confirmation of Pytha=
 goras, who is known to have received Egyptian ordination.

"There is a good and an evil principle. The destruction creation and reproduction of all things, the light and the Shadow, the physical good and the evil. In the Temple of divine truth one read the inscription: "I am everything that was, what is, what will be, and never will be a Mortal, penetrate the veil that covers me.

But their teaching was threefold, that for the volt, thefe for the members of the Mystery Society and one more qe:
 heimere for the highest dignitaries, their high priests, the never written, but transmitted orally among them
 To betray this highest secret doctrine of humanity
 therefore had to be expected to have the most dangerous consequences for them
 And this points to materialism, the assumption of which alone would probably destroy the moral bonds of humanity.
 And one might be even more justified in this assumption,

if one considers that the mechanism of nature is the symbolic
The sun was the teaching building of their religious doctrine.
the highest symbol of the deity, the source of the vitalizing
Life warmth, but also light, knowledge.

Man appeared to be the most capable being to comprehend full Knowledge of the innermost essence of nature, and in possession of the full knowledge, he becomes the God of the earth. He was it originally and will be again through moral purity, ie by liberation from the passions. The proof
for this give the acceptance=ordination. Ä

Herodotus and Dio dor both report that the Prie= fterdom was hereditary. There were priestly families in the hereditary Service of a god, all male members were then born priests in various dignities and the son entered in the father's place, and also in the high priest's place.

But as popular belief describes the creation of the earth=We= fen attributed to the combined action of sun and moon and in them the seats of the eternal ruling world spirit were imagined;
how to understand this benevolent rule of the eternal being of these celestial bodies, in royal regent acts
how the people therefore worshipped Osiris and who held Ifis in the highest honor, Ofiris also appeared and Ifis as an object of ceremonies and myfteries. It feems that the initiation to both myfteries has the same price required, and contained an equal revelation of the truths= ten have.

The Egyptian priests always occupied their neophytes with various symbols and allegories of the three truths ities which were the basis of their mysteries, and which to the eternally successive effects of the entire Nas
tur reminded.

- 1) that everything is formed by creation;
- 2) that the destruction of generation in all its works
follows;
- 3) that the reconstruction of what has been destroyed
shapes are restored.

The cross was for them the symbol of immortality, the Resurrection or regeneration of the sun, its Victory over the cold, which in the sign of Aries

In Greece, in the broader sense of the word, Pythagoras became the creator of a practical organism of the Myfteries. As a philosophical school for morals, folk= religion, music and other useful knowledge followed by ftitut was accepted by the people. His students were full of moral core sayings and praised legality. With The lessons of morality were started. The educated Man, they suggested that inside the institute there was a pure Religion was taught. The initiates themselves were People and government divided into different levels. They were led from one stage to the other to To learn to distinguish between ends and means, and in the end to time to realize why they are in the art of Silence and concealment had been so carefully practiced.

The esoteric (initiated, all-knowing) members, should be based on the exoteric (only a foretaste), and these in turn affect the profane, and those from the Members of the Order who have transferred to public offices should be brought into profane life for the good of humanity intervention.

The institution of the order, its teachings and the arts of Obfcurationism were to enable the Order to rule and bring the people to obedience. To the one who is far be= promotes in the Order to distinguish the true from the false had learned, he had to be a very fine, spun Artwork attracts admiration. There was a satisfaction in that one saw so many others in the same delusion, in which one had stood for so long; and one knew now, how one could use this to get other people to make it subservient. Now the recognized error was worshipped= thum because it was so useful. The establishment of the Or= dens was so struck that it created the most intimate connection had to be that everyone from his point of view expedient could be led, that only He led who was to lead knew how he himself had been led and that the highest Decision of the Supreme also the decision of the experienced= ften, expressed the idea of a man who wanted nothing more fshould have done more than to maintain and expand the institute.

33

But the sentence was not forgotten to be taught: "the Pythagory must always act in accordance with the law"; because it is in profane life not always according to the concepts of height= fure of law, the case could, however, occur to act illegally in the lower regions = - fen in order to fine in the higher law.

We celebrate in the former states of Greece, in further meaning of this name, the order the most influential gain political importance. We read that he then constitutions; we read that he appointed kings to his members, created thrones and endangered them.

But we also see that rulers and even peoples than religion and state constitutions, the civil began to pursue peace dangerously, even bloodily. The Order had to succumb to these persecutions, and only a few Members continued to work in silence, at least for the sake of preservation implementation of the basic idea.

It seems as if the Order made Kehler, not also the deception of the priests and their amicable union with the Order by offering an appropriate replacement in Order, but as if he had used it against the Order which outrages by attacking its foundation, the dominant religion attacked without offering them replacements in the Order. The Order was not only by monarchs, but also by people's uprisings against him were destroyed in all states, whereby the Priest after seems not to have been without powerful influence. This experience was not lost on the present-day Masonic Order.

Polybius answered the question: "How did people think in Greece by the initiates? – in the following form: "since their existence, the contempt for the oaths has become so much increased that one must freely admit, "it is in Greece. There is no longer a shadow of sincerity and loyalty in this country." – And Socrates refused the initiation offered to him into the Mysteries, saying: "If they were of such great Use, I would spread it and make it known to all people make; if I found them harmful, I would also then do not keep quiet about it, so as to prevent all people from doing so."

Moses gave to the Jews the pattern of the Egyptians | as the basis of his religion and doctrine, the cult of a single to the eternal God, the great Jehovah, and as subordinate

| | 3 no

+

84

net powers a good and an evil principle, which the Jews after the Babylonian captivity in Angels of Light and of darkness, which in the Bible are the four elements ten and rule the planets.

But he made Jehovah an unjust father over fine earth children, as Moses the grace of Jehovah to the Jews alone, and made them arbitrary masters of the Earth raised, yes dishonesty in dealing with non-threads His laws were mostly police = and such which the religious, political and judicial power into the hands of the priesthood. The name "Jehovah", the Moses on Mount Sinai from God directly received, was not allowed by the Israelites, even not be pronounced by the Levites, except by the Hohenprieſter only once a year with great celebrations on 10th of the month Thissohui, (March), a day of penance.

Moses also ordered that all land should be the community's property. thom fet and only temporarily to the members of the congregation for use; that the tribe of Levi should hereditary priestly clan and through taxes from the The priests should also in linen and the high priest hanging from the neck bear the image of truth as it was presented by the priests of Ifis and which was made of gold with sapphire and other precious stones. This jewelry was composed of four rows of stones; each row contained three stones, thus resulting in the mysterious number "twelve", which number of votes.

Josephus in Antiq. Judaic. Bb. 3 Gap. 7 writes: that every piece of the worship service made by Moses= directions an imitation and depiction of the world system had been.

When he divided the thirty-cubit tabernacle into three parts and two of them were made available to all priests as one ous and common place, he thereby showed more and land, because they are accessible to all. But the third He reserved this section for God alone, because heaven People are inaccessible. As he put twelve loaves of bread on the table he described the year as divided into so many months distributed. As he made the lampstand of seventy pieces, he indicated: divided into the decans or seventy divisions of the planets. The seven lamps on the candlestick related to the course of the planets and the creation= days, which are of equal number. The carpets, which are The fine linen could represent the earth, since the flax grows out of the earth; the purple the sea, where the color comes from the blood of a sea snail; the blue

35

Air and scarlet naturally the fire. The bra-ation of the High Priest of linen meant the earth; through the blue the sky, through the pomegranates the lightning, and through the sound of the bells the thunder. The body:
 rock showed that God created the nature of all things from the four elements; the woven gold probably referred on the light that illuminates everything. He placed the sign to the middle of the ephod, to resemble the earth, which occupies the middle position; and the surrounding belt meant the ocean that encompasses everything. Each of the two Sardonixes, which were like buttons on the shoulders of the bodicewere attached, showed the sun and the moon. The 12 Stones may be used as a representation of the months or the like Number of skernes of the circle which the Greeks Zodiac name, accept. The hat, as it was made dark blue, seems to mean heaven, because fouft would probably not be the name of God was written on it; that he was still with a crown, and indeed a golden one, happened because of the splendor in which the deity rejoices most
 – so far Josephus.

The tabernacle was only a tent, but still it had a great resemblance to a building. – It was a model of the Egyptian temples. – We must regarded as an imitation of the temples and palaces of the Orient – (Goguet expresses himself like this): The supreme being was both the Hebrews' god and their king. The foundation stone would have been built with the intention of corresponding to both names.
 The Israelites sometimes came to the point of calling on the Almighty-pray, and sometimes receive the orders of their ruler, who was present in a sensual way among fine people.
 The tabernacle was therefore a work which, according to the intentions God's style resembles the buildings in the Orient-

3 *

36

ity, which was both for the service of the gods and for the were intended for inhabitation by kings. The entire furnishings
 The design of the Tabernacle was the model of a regular and a building distributed with much skill, in which the Bers division of measure and proportion most carefully observed respected, and was perfectly well installed. In this the rear part was called the Holy of Holies, because God in the same through the Ark of the Covenant a visible sign of his glory and presence. In the tabernacle, as a small building, the length was only ten cubits,
 such as the width and height; since on the contrary in the temple was twice as much. First of all, the same was bordered by Junen the Holy One, of which there is in the tabernacle through a colorful curtain, which was very valuable, different In the first temple there was a door with two wings, which are always open and leaning against the wall

 But the view from the Holy into the Al-sanctuary a curtain. In the second temple this door was missing, In its place a curtain was put up, but this was other four cubits away. Inside was the Al-lersanctuary partly with precious marble, partly with carved cedar wood, also very densely gilded and with the most exquisite precious stones. The most noble jewelry was the Ark of the Covenant, which was made entirely of gold and first temple rested on a marble, which in the second Tempel was the only thing left after the lost Ark of the Covenant.
 the cover was the revelation of God, and Niemaud dared to approach the Holy of Holies without eyes-to be punished by God. Only at the general Days of Atonement, i.e. one day in the whole year,
 the high priest in his white linen robe with the blood of the general sacrifice of atonement into the Holy of Holies.
 But at the time when he went in, no one was allowed to Saint until he came out again.

Moses also gave a popular and a secret order
 fterlehre and this again as a secret for the Corporation and as a secret for the high priest, of which the latter transmitted orally by the chosen ones
 In the priesthood found * for the stages of knowledge take place:

87

One cannot fail to recognize that Jehovah's service of Moses and his mysteries, as well as the theocratic government-idea is almost just a copy of the service of Ostris and whose mysteries were with the theocracy of the Egyptians.

I have seen the outward appearance of the Jewish temple service and of the Tabernacle here in such detail because the fufhistorife will give the following conclusions: the Stiftstabernacle was the symbol of the world building in which Jehovah, fhis Creator, enthroned and fhis chosen Jewish people be-ruled. His earthly representative was the high priest fhis chosen people. He received Jehovah's divine King of the Jews, and announced it to the people and brought the people's homage to their God=King. The Solomon's Temple became only the more splendid Tabernacle and the lodges of today's Freemasons took their place.
 The highest master of the order took the place of the high priest
 fters, the initiated brothers in place of the tribe
 Levi and the other members of the order took the place of the ex-elected people. Compare the lodge symbolism of the Or dens and one finds the symbolism of Moses, with Templar History and recording mixed, completely again. Jesus had – as we shall see – after the secret orders= dogmas only a moral explanatory doctrine and this if in its most important parts only for the chosen ones Jehovah's service should therefore continue, to the Instead of the native people of the Jews, the people of Auser= elected from all nations, and in place of the tribe Levi and the high priest, a consecrated elite of this chosen people. Moral modifications of the

 The teachings of Moses through Christ appeared to be a valuable addition.
 "The successors of those chosen early Christians follow the today's mason. This is the esoteric teaching of the ben, the doctrine of the inner order, the Scottish degrees, while the exoteric teaching in the external order, in the Order of St. John, only the teaching: "Jefus teaches the principles and ways to the highest moral perfection of man on the Basis of brotherly love, freedom and equality and simply arbitrary, dogma-free worship of God as Father of creation." One sees in this exoteric teaching only the negation of the foundations of our state life, the Church

38 and the * according to prince and estates, as well as the Regas tion of property, and therefore the means of destroying it, which must first fall, the inner kingdom of the order falls to take a stand.

This understanding of the appearance and teaching of Christ,
 ft originally had no relation to the later mason=
 Order, found itself soon after Christ's death in many Modifications, consequences of the numerous personal various older religious and philosophical sects, among the first Christian communities; of course, as long as the interpreters tation of the doctrine was exposed to every individual, for a long time not a dis eiplinar power had been formed, all witty as well as sophisticated, speculative as well as ideal interpreters= tions find their followers. Has Protestantism not had the same experience before the monarchs with the. Hen= kerbeil, with expulsion and removal from office the doctrine of uniform dogmas=of faith? – And disintegrates yne fer Church has not visibly reappeared since the fear of no longer keeps the religious clergy in check? –

Therefore, after Christ's death, the teaching Pag :

“Christ and John the Baptist went forth of the Jewish Mysteries= Sect of the Esaeans, those Mysteries= Sert, which community of goods among themselves introduced and from the rest of the world. Their teaching of the deity was their sectarian secret doctrine and deviated from the popular religion. They did not make blood sacrifices, spurned the rituals of folk religion, and combined

filful prayers with much moral strictness. The admission into their The Federation could only be formed after passing certain exams. hen, and the order contained three levels, the degree of stre= the approaching and the familiar. The They cured all kinds of illnesses.

They considered John and Christ to be sons of their Or= dens explains and interprets her life and teaching rens vindicates. And this interpretation went as follows:

John the Baptist came to the purpose of the My=steries, the the restoration of human, moral and spiritual. Perfection in which man originally related the earth had come near, Jefus reached him completely and identified reconnected man with the eternally creative and holding beings, the Jehopah of the Mofes and the Jewish Myfteries, the supreme being, of which in the Ifis=Temple was written: “I am everything that was, is and will be, and no mortal has lifted my veils.” And by Jesus returning the human being to its original state purity, it redeemed from the rule of evil Principles, the lower passions, thereby dealing with the We= fen Jehovah, he had lifted this veil and which was lost through the moral decay of humanity past word of the distribution of the eternal life spirit, the Holy Spirit. Thus the doctrine of the Trinity is The unity of the eternal being in everything that exists, was and will be, Jehovah, his visible embodiment in perfect man, Jesus, and his distribution and infeclusion in the bodies, the Holy Spirit. And in his Praise, death and resurrection gave Jefus the teaching of the dens, dying and re-creation, this eternal law of the divine Creator."

E

39

"Jefus now wanted to bring people to this original divine dignity, but he recognized the foundation of a new religion and a general people= teaching is not the appropriate way to this goal, but rather wanted the education of people – as can be seen from certain passages of the Evangelists and Apostles – through a system for Chosen Ones and through them let it be completed, which is why he higher meaning of his teaching only to his most trusted students or disciples. He had, it was taught, through wise Enlightenment will bring morality to the highest level and a general moral regulations according to the model of the Effeers cine so that everyone can, without coercion, from the inner Conviction that only virtue can bring happiness, remained faithful to virtue. He had all people through to form a bond of brotherhood, all close Conditions which caused distress, need and struggle corruption and immorality, because by abolishing, and a close brotherly equality-ity, politically and economically, for which Moses found the reason in the determination that everything Land ownership is public property and only for a limited time to individuals, insufficiently laid down, again

40

He wanted to transfer the ten capable of governing themselves and consequently of all artificial institutions, all state constitutions, to be able to do without positive laws and the like.
So fi) the Revelation of John (Apocalypse) Cap.
XXI. and XXII.; a new Jerusalem should be built= ftstehen, a kingdom of the elect, the perfect human being= ity, living in and with Jehovah, in perfect happiness.
But excluded from this kingdom of the perfect human being= work, of the chosen ones, the uninitiated, imperfect men who remain profane people, and all their churches and religious communities in the world, regardless of whether they are Christian= lich, Mahomedan, Jewish or pagan, en
nothing but heretical communities."

Of significant influence on this mixture of principles of the ancient mysteries with this Christian-modified Judaism, was the philosophical school in Alexandria, where large parts of Jewish families were transplanted, where The rest of them fled after the destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans, fled. And the mixing of the teachings of Christ with this philosophical mysteries-life was found around to natural, as the soon occurring persecution of the young Christianity forced its followers to submit themselves to the tolerated mysteries.

So it can not be strange if we ourselves of churches-teachers of that time recognized such aberrations in large numbers must.

The most careful and striking evidence for this – “that and how in the philosophical schools of Alexandria »The Mysteries-Teachings of the Egyptians, Jews and Greeks with the participation of Christian-priestly aberrations to the unfortunate mixed doctrine, which the Masonic Order as confesses the Christian, only true doctrine handed down to him” – finds it in the one recognized by the Order as the true source and to his works “the Mystagog” 2c., Osna-brück and Hamm 1789. p. 191 ff. |

“This emerging mixed doctrine of ancient pagan, Jewish and Christian doctrines which were attributed to the Saviour, should – so it was further claimed – Jesus through his disciples, the apostles. From these should be ter initiations with the apostolic office, in hieroglyphs, as symbolic, namely exoterically and esoterically to be transcribed Secret Doctrine transmitted and thus through the Gnostics, Manichaeans, Ophites, etc., as well as in their exoteric part by means of the Roman construction corporations on the Crusaders and on the medieval building corporations, in their esoteric totality but passed to the Knights Templar-Order, finally through this to the present day and to the Masonic Order, the present form of the Templar Order, propagated herein.” This is still the esoteric teaching of the inner Order of Freemasons, the Scottish Degrees. By virtue of their consecration still today in Berlin, (cf. Sarfena 6th ed., p. 231) at Receptions in the 9th degree, the 5th of the inner order, in the Degrees of the Grand Cross of St. John or the Perfect Masonic Lodge, in the rest of Europe and in America in other Grades, the master greets the person to be admitted with the words Apostle of Jesus:

41

"I also give you power to sanctify all those
To administer functions which the Apostles of Christ in the first
th Church: Keep God's Word pure! —"

This history of the Order, its symbolism, its hiero= glyphs, fine documents and confessions, everything, everything in him carries, as we shall see, the SIENS on the:
fer teaching.

Against this esoteric, not also against this erotic'
doctrine and against the Templar descent has now the external order, the so-called symbolic order or the Johannismanry has been around for more than a century
rebelled, he often rebelled against his determination, to serve as a tool for the inner order, he still protests today and wants to be separated from the masonry corporations of the Middle Ages, but their connection with the Templars and the ancient Christian and pagan mysticisms fterien deny, which has recently been done by Krause et al.
with much ingenuity ijt.— But the story wi—
This latter negation, as well as the negation of the connection with the Templars. And since today the Cine unity of the World Order in an external and an internal or—parts are completely restored, and the external order of the Leadership by the highest, emanating from the inner order

To a

42

Directoria Authority, as by the Scottish Directorial= Situations that have been put in place, these protests take place without prats= tic value.

It can therefore be stated that, for the purpose of this document, remain, for what time the pagan=Jewish=Christian, focial democratic teachings have come to us, it is enough to show that and in what forms they exist. We see the exoteric doctrine, mixed with doctrines and organic Institutes of the Pythagorean Order in Europe first in Eng:
country, but in a local construction corporation and meet they in Scotland and Germany too. We know

These corporations were founded earlier than by the Popes and Monarchs were granted the most excellent freedoms because one can see the magnificent temples of those crude times of highly educated, rare and mostly foreign architect. They were given their own courts, and to cultivate their different religions, secret Seclusion, secret organisms. The noblest and The most educated people initially found the recording as Honorary members were flattered. Italy and the educated East had been the sources of study for architects, which Wonder if their corporations, which exempt mysteries were permitted to receive and rescue of mysteries were abused, the church and state had to undermine.

The oldest document on this subject is from the Freemasons recognized, the old masonry facility of the building lodge at Pork v. J. 926, from which we see that symbolic customs at the reception of the members. They led their Comrades from Adam and Pythagoras and taught: "its purpose and essence is the science of nature, the Understanding the power that is in it and its special properties ks, especially the science of number, measure and importance and the right way to use all things for the use of men fch, mainly apartments and buildings of all Art and all other things which are beneficial to man ty." .

The building site of Strasbourg was only a copy of the York and how she was the head of the English construction firms, fo became the head of the German building lodges. (Schas

43

| in the historical description of the cathedral in chug by Mofes 1796)

The cafeteria teaching of the Jewish-written mysticisms

but also transferred to these construction corporations. We ft no such trace anywhere in them.

And then we still find no knowledge in them levels, not even those of masters, journeymen and apprentices; no symbolism of Solomon's temple building, only only a symbolism based on masonry and some philofo-phical morals. The oldest initiation ritual shows this clearly (cf. Krause Thl. 1, p. 144 of the 1st edition).

by Wedekind in the 2nd collection of his building pieces. Gießen 1821 p. 199.) We do not find anything like this in the Statutes of the Strasbourg building lodge of 1459, even in their revision document of 1563, but in the original Report on the Congress of Freemasons in Cologne 1535, 9, ANS which justifies the conclusion that in this year in the Construction corporations already had a secret society, the founded by the Templars, as can be seen from the
The following will illuminate.

Yes, one could still have a slight doubt about it,
Dag before the period of the Templar Order's association with the mason = trades, fuch wefeutlid) hardly more than a educated, respected guild, a state-supervised

Commercial Corporation, so this last doubt must have disappeared when one considers that the king has given them their great master or overseer porfet that such in principle

the high nobility or the high clergy, at that time still taken catholically, yes, that the dignity is hereditary to nobles milien was awarded by the King with the right to four pounds To collect Ighrest tax from everyone. (Moßdorf, Mitth. für deu fende Freemasons p. 152 ff. History of Freemasonry in England, Scotland and Irlaud v. Klobß p. 260.)

Whatever Mr Krause and his comrades say

like and to refute in detail, I choose my own Scripture must be reserved; Freemasonry received its present direction tion and form first came from the Templars and from Scotland.

The Acta Latomorum T. V p. 5 asks: "that already in 1155, Freemasonry was founded by the Grand Master of the Templar

"
e

* N

pelherrz=Order in, protection and that the affairs=

44

ties of the Brotherhood in England from the Knights Templar to until the death of Richard the Lionheart. (Compare Moßdorf lc p. 153.) Afo was already the Lower Order of the Masonic Corporation under the Templar Order and its protectorate over those present, which is its natural The explanation is that the Templar Order already had the highest ren philosophical=Jewish=Christian teachings had, but the Maurer=Corporation already had the exotic= ric teaching. Thus the bond of accession hear given. |

The esoteric teaching of the Jewish-Christian mysteries appeared unmistakably only in the masonry huts with the entry the Templars after the destruction of their order.

The Christians conquered Jerusalem from the Mahomedans and in 1118 Gottfried von Sct. Omar, Hugo von Pas jens and seven other people (i.e. nine people in Summa) is known to have founded an order, which was soon followed by the Tem= pel Salomonis was given a religious house. The order therefore took the name of the Knights Templar. The Order= members had initially joined together to protect the Christian Pilgrims united to the Holy Sepulchre, which purpose on the defense of the Holy Sepulchre and Christianity was ever extended. They took the vows of chastity, obedience and poverty and lived in the religious houses from the common property. They divided into Claffen, in knights, who had to be of pure nobility, in Armor bearers, and serving brothers, for whom fpâter is a Prie= fterelaffe came. The order had to be filled with members the mysteries of Judaism and the The order, which flourished enormously, had to make this the most suitable most important tool of their plans. The Order had soon also lower-ranking warriors. His power quickly grew to a world power that extends across Europe and Asia moved, even touched Africa, and from the feudal lords and rulers fih knew how to make it independent.

But the great German Emperor, Frederick II,

for treason and for punishable alliance with the enemies of Christendom.
In the general voice about the friendly relationship with the Saracens and Templars, especially with Sultan

45 |

Saladin. It is proven that the Templars had their oriental possessions through alliances with the Saracens secure. The Order gradually gained a reputation for ambitious plans, that he would overthrow the thrones
and the establishment of a general noble order republic in the plan, not even papal, not at all Christian-ly minded. The arrogance and domineering behavior of the Knights and their interference in political affairs embittered the Great, their exuberance and debauchery displeased the people core. The Order already owned nine thousand richly funded commanders, private and temple courts; because he called them all fine palaces, already a symbolic drawing; because the word temple meant, as mentioned above, the universe; furthermore the seat of the Creator of the world and world-Lord, the rooms of his worship in which he showed his will proclaimed to the people through his high priest.
On 13 October 1307, as is well known, the Heads arrested and it began in France, England and Italy, in the latter countries at papal request
the criminal trials. The Grand Master Jacob Bernhardt Moley was born on 11 March 1313 in Paris with other Heads of the Order were burned; and the Order itself was condemned and abolished by the Council of Vienne.

These facts, especially the judgments of Friedrich II and the Council of Vienna must have the Order undoubtedly, as in hostile position against the Christian liche Church, let appear. And acts fine Proszeffes confirm folded completely. Because if he and also no clear information about the religious system of the order grant, it is clear even from the extracts that are in the second half of the last century, after the home revival of the order in Germany to the Ver-defense of the Order, at least as much undeniable
It is clear that the Order has a particularly dedicated Brotherhood, which worked on the Mysteries, the Symbole of the mysteries of the ancients and with the christ-were incompatible with the doctrine. Read the defense

It attempt to settle the dispute, which came from the bookshop of scholars

(Illuminati) in Deffau in 1782 under the title:
"Investigation into the secret and customs of the 18

Templars by Carl Gottlob Anton, Dr.," and one will recognize that denial is more of a secret doctrine in Templar Order, as I called it, apparently remained in vain.

Also Mr. v. Wedekind, Grand Duke of Hesse, Councillor of and higher mason adds in fine as Manuscript for Freemason printed works: "The Pythagotnic Order and the Freemasonry in mutual relations": "It is not to deny that the Templars had their own holy doctrine | had, discipfina arenni, which the cutie would have to disapprove, This teaching was a result of her studies at Brient. knowledge 3c."

But the fact that the Templars' Disciplina Arcani are precisely those philosophical=Jewish=Christian secret doctrine must have been fine, can probably not be wrongly concluded from the following circumstances feal, which I still need in the further history= course, namely: "the Templars received in "Jerufalem, therefore probably by Jews or by Judeo-Christians, their secret doctrine, later joined the Corporation of the Works maurer and since then showed these Jewish symbols ind jf: dife names."

The inner order in today's Masonic order, aäbwei= according to the external appearance, still recognizes the Templar Orders not only as having been there, but also as having to be preserved= the body from which the teaching was transplanted and by means of this, according to his modern research still to be realistically free today. In Berlin and beyond, people confess all: "Teaching and Symbolism of the Scottish System, about Sweden and France, and is still working today according to the traditional Syntbolik and under the name the Scots =, or Templars= and Knights of St John. And about external orders deny fine accessory qualities to the Templar» Order, but nevertheless proves its great symbolism this accessory feature, nevertheless it follows the line of the modern Templar Order. Finally, with the abolition of the Illuminati Order in Bavaria the Illuminati system with the core of this teaching. Compare with this the symbolism and rituals in the higher trench to Bertin, Paris, Great Britain, America etc., information on the Etiz consecration words of the Masons to the Apostles of Christ; let us consider, that Weishaupt was only a haft NG and the dispute over wanted to provide a system that mediated the toll systems of the time, by separating the then separated secular and spiritual temples; systems merged again, and the bourgeois element the democratic English mannerism on one hand; a way to substitute the autocratic system, for with the traditional consequence is probably justified representation.

With the day of the bloody destruction of the Templar Order the historical history of his order did not end there, but rather felt only with that of the Freemasonry Order, which from now on is a received new direction and organization.

The knights who were lucky enough to flee to France were, saved first, (also 1307) to the Scottish island Mull. The German-speaking knights remained unpersecuted, united after the dissolution of the Order with the Knights of St. John, to whom the goods of the Templar Order also belong; which consequently not, as is falsely taught, by the King of France were shared with the Pope.

Aumont and Harris, two military brothers, and Peter Be Bononia, a religious brother, joined the Order according to fine military and spiritual constitution in a new organization and on the day of John the Baptist held on Mull Aumont again the first chapter of the Order. The members of the order were allowed to marry, but for the future security of the Order a system free of an organization that offered the highest guarantees. Various symbols were also established to recognize and to secretly accept into the Order. The Those to be admitted had to submit to a strict novitiate, and received the first degree after the most terrible oath of secrecy, without even mentioning the secret purpose of the Society to be educated. Ever subsequently, in a He heard the majority of degrees after repeating the fearful sworn confidentiality oaths that this purpose is to to propagate the order in secret, the same to restore it to its former glory, and the death to avenge the Grand Master (cf. v. Wedekind J. c.) but to become truly consecrated knights of the Order, to heirs of the old Order rights and assets, if one only wanted to preserve the come of the old religious families. |

The members of the order on Mull thus associated themselves 1307 with the organization of the secret continuation of the Order, also its old mysteries and purposes, the new next purpose, that of the restoration of the Order of Honour and wealth and the purpose of revenge.

They concealed this continuation of their order through their Entry into the construction corporation of the Freemasons, whose Protection of her order after the example of the Order of the Temple also had, with which her order, however, in any case as a result of the Corporation already existing, also already the Mysteries were closely related.

This becomes all the clearer when one (cf. the Freemasonry in its connection with the religion of the ancient Egyptians, Jews, Christians, etc. freely edited and with Notes by Acerellos, 2nd edition, 2nd volume, Leipzig, Weber 1836. p. 196.) in English writers that already in 1314 King Bruce, who had absolutely nothing against the Templar Order in his lands, thus making him well-pleased that was the Templar Order together with the Chapter of Heredom of Kilwinning connected with the construction corporations and with the Order of the "Saint Andrew to the Thistle" under the common name of the Masonic Order. This king shall be and his heirs the Grand Mastership and the title "Grand Master of the venerable Heredom Lodge", which moved to Edinburgh was reserved. The merger of the Order with the Corporation of Masons appeared as absurdity, fit receives its explanation and justification only in the connection with the noble in . ten Masonic Orders.

Something similar soon happened in the neighbouring country England, where only after repeated papal urging proceeded steps against the Templar Order.

Henry VI (cf. Act. Lat. vol. L p. 9.) 1442 into the brotherhood, followed by the nobility and In 1485, Doublson, the Grand Master of the Knights of St. John, at the same time as Grand Master of the Freemasons in London (Acerellos |. c. 198.) |

The Freemasons boast of the reception of Charles II during his exile, and of King William of Orange in 1695. (see p. 168 and 170 of the Mittheil. for the (The Freemasons of Moßdorf.)

It is unlikely that the masons' Corporation should express this strange attraction.

But we see in Scotland and England (cf.

fame work ibid) the higher nobility of the country in this Corporation and find acceptance in it and yet the Sefet in these corporations, until the reign of the Queen Anna, insist: that no non-working mason, i.e. outside the people from Werkmaurer-Jach, no civil admitted should be." '

And we are only repealing this law at this time, so that the corporation may become more numerous, which is supported by the citizens= wars had suffered greatly. We can see from this motive It is clear that this restrictive law is generally was handled, but that the nobility was exempted from it and only in very rare cases individual bourgeois scholars of the most extraordinary and always in tune with the art of architecture self-effective knowledge. In such individual In some cases we read such recordings with the most extraordinary Praising the man as an extraordinary phenomenon > net. (cf. Kloß lo p. 257. ff. and Moßdorf |. c. S 154 ff. 171.)

This connection between the masons and the nobility of the country can therefore hardly be explained in any other way than by the existence of the noble Templar Order in him.

The Templar Order also made the Masonic Corpora tion, perhaps initially unconsciously, to its external or= the one whose members belong to his worker bees in the destruction the existing state, church and social foundations gen, by means of the negative principle, which he tries to realise gave to the fallen organisms in and through the feen, to be replaced by the entire organism of the Order. And since the teaching of the inner order is philosophical=Jewish= was Christian, the symbolism of this teaching was also necessary. adapt quickly to the teaching that was intended to make them more understandable.

No cleverer solution could be devised than that which Construction, existence and fall of Solomon's Temple and of the desire for its resurrection in its former glory The picture included the * of the Egyptian= fhân Myftery, and represented history and content of the Judaism. The picture was finally the noblest picture of the pla= ftistic architecture and their aspirations. The Federal Lodge had the universe was represented, the temple only carried the idea into greatness= more beautiful, more glorious. Its creation, existence and passing gave the great philosophical three-principle doctrine of origination, of progress and striving for new formation. The Jews The temple was the symbol of their national life, the cut ftrenching and perishing of their national glory, the seat of their God and King. The Ge= ftroy of the becoming, the splendor and the passing of the temp= lerordens, the god and king in that temple was the God of the Order remained, its members should, according to the previous fufficiated will of Jesus, instead of the Jews, his elect, the More consecrated in the Order, the Levites, the Heralds and Full=ftreaker fof his will on earth. The image of the how=the construction of the temple was the image of the order's striving after the restoration of the Order and the continuation of its Purpose. But this next quest for restoration of the Order and for revenge on the Regent House in Ránt rich, had symbols of this desire for revenge mixed in, and the ancient Egyptian myth of the murder of Osiris, i.e. of Bil=of the setting of the sun and its new, powerful rise= fursurrection, into a murder and into the resurrection of the Builder of the temple, or of the universe, i.e. of Osiris or of Jehovah, or Jacob Moley, or the Order, all according to the needs of the persons to whom an explanation is to be given wanted, so that at the same time Jesus' death and resurrection would be a covering could give an interpretation.

For the architects, finally, the temple was, as dag. bes most magnificent, most sculpturally beautiful, according to the laws of Lubus completed human work, the work in which the earthly Baumeister had come as close as possible to the divine, the noblest image of fine striving, fine learning and work, the History of his art.

The faith of the European nobility had in the oriental camps and raids were not won, and ruined in his financial foundations he came mostly into the Fatherland, in which he pledges his paternal inheritance, or

He found the paternal herd

51

in foreign hands and for the usual wild life of the field=store no means. Hence bitter resentment against the clergy, in which he hated the source of his impoverishment, the power that led him to the holy procession. The families took Part of the hatred of the member, and the Templar Order, already according to its mysterious purpose contrary to the Catholic Church, After its dissolution, he made a plan for revenge and began to gather all elements opposed to spirituality, and the external, the Order of St. John, which initially belonged to the Catholic Church hostile direction. And as a result of this feem, – if one looks at the recently published records in the archives of the Grand Lodge Hague found document about a Masonic Congress to Cologne, dated 24 June 1535, may be accepted as genuine, for which all circumstances seem to speak, and as respected by the as is claimed by many Masonic writers – that the Templars=

Masonic organisms spread rapidly throughout the Western and fouthern Europe and already the suspicion of their two ckes to have reached a worrying level.

I find this document printed on Chapter 28, p. 134.

B. 4. the commented translation of the work "The Price masonry xc. of Acarellos, taken from the recognized claffi= Heldmann's Order Works", the three oldest historical Monuments of the German Freemasonry Fraternity p. 308 ff, and its content gives the most surprising confirmations of my Historical representation and views.

The importance of their meaning prompts me to to be included here, and regarding their discovery and authenticity to make the following preliminary remarks.

Brother Thellung of Courtary says about the Ge= ftory of the document that fte ih in the archives of the Amsterdam= Lodge has been found in Vredehall. This lodge flourished from 1519 to 1601. – Circumstances of the time caused in the last years called for its closure. But four more years resulted in remaining members of the same (Mr. Verfaffer of the Free= maurer calls it in the third volume (p. 306) its restoration in the Hague in 1647, where they were named "Frederick's Vredenhall". Among those from that old to this new Among the items transferred was also a brass studded, with three locks and three still intact box kept with seals, in which 1) . the inserts Vredehall signed the Lodge's deed of support on 8 March 1519 in English language (because the lodge was, see "the Freemasons= rei" xc. at the indicated place, constituted by London); 2) a list= niß of all brothers from 1519 to 1601, and 3) the thought Cologne document lay. This latter was on Perga= ment in plano with characters in Latin, un= figned and signed with 19 manuscripts, not in Charak= teren, but in ordinary or curfivfdrift. Diep Alles is clear from the minutes of the first meeting of the lodge "Fredes ricks Vredenhall" on 29 January 1637, held Bers collection, which, like the above items, is in the archive of the Great= lodge in The Hague, originally kept. His royal His Highness, the National Grand Master of all Dutch Lodges, the second royal prince, Wilhelm Fried= rich Carl, had the original of the document examined by learned, fach= examined by knowledgeable men, made fac similes, in the Nie= translate the German, print it in both languages and publish it in year 1818 to all lodges of the kingdom.

4

52

This most important document reads:
"For the greater glory of Almighty God."

We, the Masters of the Venerable and Holy Society dedicated to John or the Free Mason= Order members, head of the [] or huts (tahernacu= lorum) which in Hamburg, London, Edinburgh, Vienna, Amfter= dam, Paris, Autun, Frankfurt, Antwerp, Rotterdam, Ma= drid, Venice, Ghent, Königsberg, Brussels, Danzig, Middelburg, Fabirai and the Agrippinian city (Cologne), in gas pitel in this city of Cologne in the signed year, month and day under the chairmanship of the local city established Lodge, our very venerable brother, a highly= learned, wise and cautious man, who by unanimous consent ombudsman was asked to preside over this business, through this cry to be sent to all the above-mentioned []=
ben known to both present and future comrades":
(We first read the expression Order of Masonry and thus recognize an organism, of which older evidence (Gen lack.)

"Since we have become aware of the, in this urge= full and through the misunderstandings and disagreements of the.
People are living in confused times in our society.

53

and all in this Free Masonic or Johannite Order written attacks, opinions attributed to the brothers and both secret and public activities, which all belong to us, to nature, to purpose and to Rules of this association are completely foreign; since we have=
This is known, that the members of this Order, especially because we through secrets and indissoluble contracts that bind us bind and are sacredly observed by all, are united,
the more certain he is to be criticized by the outsiders and the profane, the exposed to public disregard and accused of Templar Order, we also publicly be described as if we were united for this purpose and were conspiring: as members of this order, this goods and the dominion of him who is the last pre= ftober of this order, and the death of the Grand Master to the descendants of the Kings and Princes= fts who are guilty of this crime and perpetrators of the destruction fttruction of that Order, for this purpose in the Church divisions, in the worldly kingdoms and dominions
but intended to cause confusion and turmoil, from envy and hatred against the Pope, the head of the Church, the Emperor and all kings are inflamed, because we have no external power, but only to the superiors and chosen masters and feres spread over the whole world = their secret orders and hidden plots through secret correspondence and envoys, and finally not allowed anyone else to access our secrets, as who is tested and investigated by physical pain, also by a hideous and horrible oath bound to us and consecrated our assemblies."

"Therefore and in consideration of all these circumstances, considered very useful and necessary to achieve the true
ft and origin of our order, and which the tendency this intituit of love, as it is in the One=
some of the most excellent, most experienced in the art
and enlightened by the genuine sciences of the institution Masters are recognized and proven, and this representation of the individual meetings and lodges of our society as a signed and sealed, written and prepared by us to serve the prescribed prescription; in order to ensure the permanent memory of the 54 |

matter this our renewed treaty and the inviolable
To ensure the integrity of our project, also in the fight that, if the daily increasing Neis
the citizens and peoples to envy, hatred, intolerance and War, this our connection thereby in the future more and more would be hindered and prevented from determining their status and nature to save, to expand in certain areas of the earth, and in the course of time, neither upright nor unsteady
last could receive; nonetheless, of this for writing appropriate to better times and circumstances, even if not all, but at least one or two copies rig, according to the ftipulation of the Order, if it is shaken= tert, restored if it degenerates, or loses its second nesses and intentions, returned to the same could be. For these reasons, through this general letter, which according to the content of the oldest Documents and monuments that reflect the intentions, customs and customs of our ancient and most secret order dbs rig are, is written: We deputies, only by striving Master guided by true light at our most holy Do all those employees who receive this letter believe now or in the future, that fle ft from this Monument of truth not separate; and do both the enlightened and darkened world, whose welfare we is close to our hearts and is eager to confess to us:

(Here we first read the name of Masonry as the Order of St. John, and find that the whole sum of Suspicious that still exist against the Order today fare and the terrible history over the centuries=

ical evidence, which was already widespread at that time and had gained a strength that made the Order feel for its existence. Feng worried and advised him to refute it. (hind.)

"A. The Society or Order of the Holy brothers of Saint John, engaged Freemasons derive their special origin neither from the Templars nor from any religious or secular order of knighthood, neither from a single, nor from several connected, and do not stand with them either directly or through a dispute. The band even in the slightest connection, but he is much age, in all such knightly orders and well in Br laftina and Greece, as in one or the other part of the Roman Empire before the Crusades and the times of Emigration of the above-named knights to Paliftiua available. This was confirmed to us by various monuments of proven antiquity, and this our Fraternization has been around since the time when the various sects of Greek moral teaching, few with which true moral teaching and pure interpretation Initiates have separated themselves from the crowd. For at that time learned and enlightened men those true and from the errors of paganism by from non-infected writings, where many believed: through the best stained, distorted religion will create divisions, not but peace, not tolerance and love, but shame. ual wars, through a most sacred oath, personal bound, the fatife principles of this religion, which the implanted in the minds of men, better and more harmless to preserve and to sacrifice oneself to the same, so that more and more the true light emerges from the darkness, and contribute to combating prejudices, and through Striving for all human virtues, peace and well-being. journey among the people. Among these, make them happy. the prospects are the masters of this brotherhood to the Jo. hannes consecrated brothers, as which the Example of John the Baptist, the Rising Light Pre. walker and first-born among the light-spreading flowers, want to imitate. Furthermore, those teachers and writers, according to the custom of those times, were called masters. They would have recruited the most knowledgeable and best students collected and selected, hence the name of the journeymen ftood, since the rest of the non-elect, according to the custom of the he. Brefian and Greek languages, only with the name of the student.”

55

(The prudent examiner can only confirm the confirmation of my previous historical representation. The doctrine was in Palestine before the Crusades, the Templars arrived their sources, recorded them and passed them on in Europe. The Masters of the Order declare here: Our confession is not that of the existing church, which is in conflict with pagan statements corruptible and perishable, we have only the eternal pure Sitter» teachings that were also handed down by Jesus and John the Baptist fer known.)

56

“B. Our connection existed before and still exists now from the three degrees of student, journeyman and master, the latter but, namely, the masters, consist of chosen and supreme chosen masters. All connections or so-called However, fraternizations which include several and other subdivisions to ascribe to themselves a different origin, to subsume themselves into secular or spiritual things mix, and someone swears hatred and envy threaten and show under what titles free ma= rers or members of the Johannite Brothers, or whatever may happen, do not belong to our Order, and will expelled and cast out from us as schismatics.”

(All older news that we received up to the entry of the Templars in the œuvre of masonry, expressly state that no degrees existed in the society. Here, however, the four degrees that the Knights Templar gave to the Order of St. John, with the Royal Arch.)

“I. Among those teachers and these masters of the Order, which mathematical, astronomical and other sciences after their dispersion throughout the world, a mutual communication of doctrine and light= lasted, whereby it happened that one could indeed derive from those The masters also began to select one, as if distinguished from the others, who as the highest chosen master or patriarch is worshipped and only the selected masters, for which both fight= bare as the invisible head of our entire Berz. binding, as is the case today according to this agreement the supreme master and patriarch, whether= known to the least, still present. This jo sent in advance, we have after comparing the oldest Parchment= writings and the series of documents of the Order itself, with the approval of our Patriarch with the most sacred documents, which for the future support and entrusted to the integrity of his successors, and with the approval of our highly enlightened Patriarchs, decided and decreed."

(Here we find the important confession of a

#7

men supreme head, with the united vreligiôs fen and political sovereignty in the unified, Order spread all over the world.) |

"A. The administration of our company, the nature and How the rays of the hidden light illuminate the consecrated brothers and the profane world and are with our masters. They should watch over it and see that the great ones, which Stan= of the or degree they may be, nothing against the true Principles of our society. These very principles The mission of the Order is to defend, preserve and Protection of his inviolability. This should be done in advance coming case with sacrifice of their goods and felbft with Danger of their lives against all attacks of our institution men, as often and wherever necessary."

(Here the existence of an esoteric teaching is revealed, because it will be made known to the person to be admitted, the manner the going out of the secret light shall be with the elect= ten masters and are sought after there. The Relation to the nobility and to various degrees, to higher hidden order organism.)

"E. We have not been informed that this connection ation of brothers before the year 1440 after Christ born under a different name than that of the Johannite Brothers, had been known, but only then, as is clear to us= cash, with the name of the Free Masons, namely within Valenciennes in Flanders to be named= caught, at which time they were found in some parts of the Henne= gau's through the help and wealth of the fathers of the same Spi= valleys to heal the needy who are at the holy Fire, also called Antonius – evil, sick, build to let go."

(This reference is obviously a result of deliberate Deception about the suspect origin, because the Statement appears without any and all historical support, but it has similarities with the relationship to the Templars, as they were also a Hospitaller Order, like the

at the Hospital of Saint Anthony at la Motte, which is quoted here and perhaps they were a part of the Templar Order.)

"Z. Although we do not rely on religion or Fatherland, we have always considered it necessary and most sure, no other people in our Orders, which are recognized in the Society of Profane for Christians confess. In the investigation and Examination of those who are preparing for initiation into the arts or apprenticeship degrees must not contain any physical qualities, but only samples for the exploration of the mind, the inclinations and abilities of the novices."

(So in the Order no religious confession is valid, but the Security of the Order advises to let the profane believe even that the order is a Christian one.)

"H. To the duties which are commanded and by a solemn oath, also includes loyalty and trust. obedient to the legitimately appointed secular superiors."

(At least not against the church superiors. And Worldly disobedience is not proclaimed, obedience must parade everywhere on the documents. He goes in the underduty of allegiance to the secret patriarch, to whom one has just vowed obedience. In the external Order one drinks vorfruchtbarkeit to the health of the Monarch, in the inner order no longer.)

"I. The separation and mystery whereby our undertakings are hidden, serve no other purpose, that we do well without boasting and without disturbing "We can pursue our intention to the utmost."

(All the secrecy about the secret purpose down to the to pursue extreme measures.)

"K. Every year we celebrate the memorial of the holy John, the predecessor of Christ and protector of our Club." |

"A. These and other similar celebrations, which in the assembly of the brothers by signs or Words, or at other prices, are carried out by the Customs of the Church are quite different."

(Quite obviously, because this symbolism is based on language expression and representation pagan-Jewish and has indisputably

a practice highly dissimilar to Christian ecclesiastical customs interpretation.)

"M. Only he will be considered a brother of the Johannisgefellschaft and free mason who lawfully works with 59

Help and under the chairmanship of any chosen Master masters and with the participation of at least seven brothers in been initiated into our secrets and is able to a sign and words which the other brothers use, to prove his acceptance. Under these signs and words those who are in the lodges or huts ten (tabernaculis) in Edinburgh and their affiliates, as well as to Hamburg, Rotterdam, Middelburg and in Venice erected, in use, whose operations and work, although arranged according to Scottish tradition, but in what Concerning the origin and purpose of the institution, from those we use, do not deviate." f

(We see here the unity with the dotted fifth admitted. If one was a unit with this, one was
It is also the case with the Templar Order, if it is in those lodges was present. But now we have seen that such a thing in Scotland at least was the case, hence the Untruth of the denial of the bond with the Templar:
order, which is here against all historical truth as with the
had the lodges existed by denying the Gens (Heidelberg is recognized by them.)

"N. By operating under a single and general heads, the various Masters masterlogen (building lodges, brotherhoods) but, from which they
it, by various upper masters according to the type and the needs of the different regions
and kingdoms are to be ruled, nothing is necessary
more flexible than a certain agreement (in essence)
All who are scattered throughout the world family members of a composite body, just like a messenger and letter-delivery man, who is everywhere with her or her local society) and her masters about:
once and for all, which is why this letter, which nature and investment of our company, to all and every one should be sent to the colleges of our order now in existence."

(Now this whole form of government is obviously quite which was known throughout the world in the Knights Templar. And You can see that the Order has already given all the kingdoms to the Order richly allocated and made into Order government provinces.)

"For the reasons set out above,

66

Nineteen identical copies were made of the letters of exactly the same content as our signatures and kept. Given at Cologne on the Rhine, in the year Thousand, five hundred, thirty-five, twenty-fourth tenth day of June according to the calendar which the Christian liche is called.

Harmannus. – Carlton. – Yep. Bruce. – Fr. v. Upna. – Cornelis Banning. – De Colligny. – Virieux. – Johan Schroeder. – Hofmann 1536. – Jacobus Praepositus. – A. Nobel. – Ignatius della Torre. – Doria. – Jacob Uttenhove. – Falk. – Niklaes vu Noot. – Philippus Melanchthon. – Hüysen. – Wormer Abel. –

Looking at these nineteen signatures, one feels fe tried to create an elite of the nineteen members of Congress new church sects and a secret connection initially to further dissolution of the Catholic Church, indeed
ftrustful non-Protestants could, from these very strange Decisions of such personalities, and especially in the year 1535, the undoubtedly unjustified suspicion fcho^{se} that the Reformation is only the first child of the negation all positive church-dom, ecclesiastical republicanism, the transition bridge to the general dissolution of the church had its
But the refutation would take me too far,
of the narrow purpose presented here. |

The Templar Order initially succeeded in Scotland and in England, as we have seen, to submit to the external orders fen, in that the nobility almost exclusively supported the non-technical elements of the Order. In 1646 alone, the few learned notables in the order, under the leadership of the be^{se}

renowned archaeologist, Elias Afchmole, to a closer

their own religious order and founded a |. g.
Rosenkrenz^{se}Orden, as such societies had existed a little earlier in Holland and Germany. They wanted following the example of the oldest mysteries, the sciences in their entirety in their order, they in him menopolifiren by the then still few numerous Men of science entered the order, and the result deeds of their scientific endeavours as secrets of the order

They gave themselves seven degrees according to the four schools pledging days, at the same time a sure sign that the ancient 61

pure purpose of the mysteries, exploration of the essence and we= kens of nature had made it his first task. But ritual, symbolism and names were also taken from the Temp= lerorden, partly because of its fusion on the basis of= the principle of equality between nobility and scholarship mediate and reorganize the Order so as to maintain power, partly because he is considered the temporal bearer of the mysteries which one only wanted to modify, not abolish.

And against them the Order was formed again under led by the well-known Hafo another learned society,
the publication of all their scientific results and the public attack on the foundation of the Catholic Church decided.

Naturally, the opposing views within the Order now had to clash.
The aristocratic element resisted the dissolution of its status and the two opposing principles in the bourgeois Ele= ment also had to rub themselves.

Meanwhile, the bourgeois Clement won in the Order, so that at the same time the democratic element in strength. Excellent formal cause for friction was the higher grades
the Knights Templar's Apostleship and Knighthood to Admission to the Order and formation of lodges by fuch individuals, as well as the hereditary dignity of the Grand Master= thumbs and the appointment of the lodge masters. And we see over time, all these stable institutions have been subject to electoral principle of time and the right of reeeption of the height= knights are no longer valid. The f. g. fcientivife or bourgeois element received its decisive predominance Basis of the reign of Queen Anne 1702
by the resolution: "that the privileges of the Masonic longer be limited to the masons, rather people from all classes should be admitted, provided they belong rig proposed, their admission is approved and they would be admitted into the Order in a regular manner."

These elementary and fundamental, rivalrous among themselves:
ing differences, could only be contained in a formal volume be preserved only as long as the Toleration for the sake of the individual, for the sake of the community;
The authority of the highest powers of the order, however, declined more and more. And the first public action on free ge=
In the political field that had become so, unity was bound to collapse.

The first actual appearance of the Orns at the political world scene happened in 1470. – The Orben mixed fit at that time in the quarrels between the houses of York and Lancaster. Who does not know the war of the white and red republics, of which the roses which many master masons wear as a badge of honour, in some Masonic historians? –

But here the aberration was blown out into something again, because the Freemasons also the reconciliation Bieffer bite oats and peace is attributed to.

, The second coronation appears more criminal (1645);

King Kark was thrown from the throne and died on the Blood scaffold. Puritans and Independents called themselves those Masonic associations, the scientific bourgeois element and the belonging to external orders that assisted Cromwell, to complete fine bloody deeds; the aristocratic templar Element fought against it; and after Charles II in the Bere banishment, the scientific mason Mork twenty years later (1660), at the Head of an army, back to the paternal throne, and in general festivities, the brothers celebrated loudly and publicly the successful work of restoration.

For the third time we see the Templar League for the Stuarts gathered, but other brothers warn the Mint-ster and thereby gain Georg J.'s preference and protection of the Fraternization (Lindners Mak Benck p. 5. Wilhelm Blumen hagens Lodges »Lecture. Journal for Freemasonry as Maru« feript fix brothers printed 1828, E. 326).

We therefore see the Order taking a strong stand for Republic and Monarchy, for Protestantism and Catholicism, Everything is very natural, because the scientific element in express orders outraged not only against the Church and Monarchy, but also against the aristocratic element in the and left him little choice but to choose between the cessation and between alliance with the Catholic-monarchical Power. The majority of the Order of Templar members had to with Jacob's fall to France and built the Chapter of the Order of Clermont. The spiritual part, however, remained in Scotland, recognized the church reform and went to Sweden and then to Berlin. But also in In France, the Order did something similar over time, and

"8th

He also came from Weften in a fine knightly detachment to Germany.

The political significance according to which the Order in Eng= land, which he aspired to early on, and which he, as shown, achieved,

'antapte the monarchs, partly in joining the Order and in temporary connection with the one element in it a support to search, partly the whole order, partly individual elements in it, as needed.

So Elisabeth sent Sol on 27 December 1561 data on the dissolution of the Grand Lodge of York, in which cher, as thought, the Templars had their seat. These offered the officers to receive =ordination. Instead of fulfilling their duty they were persuaded to break their oath of office, ft and returned a sum so favorable to the Order Report that the queen was appeased. (Communication. for thinking Freemasons v. Moßdorf p. 165.)

After the restoration of Charles II by Monk, the democratic element of the Order, and to fih the Order, it again submitted to the aristocratic Scottishness, and anxiously sought aristocratic chiefs= tern. Under George of Hanover, however, the Contrary to this, long temporary relaxations were the result. But also the essentially aristocratic=theocratic, in their outward appearance much democratic form of government of the Country emerged from these struggles.

Once again, the democratic principle received decisive Validity in English Freemasonry in 1716, (cf. History of Freemasonry in England by Kloß S. 322), by a bold move from the inside, the Scottish Order, and the York Grand Lodge emancipated.

Four lodges of the outer Order of St John in London joined together to form a Grand Lodge and appointed a Grand My |

Soon afterwards (1722) a new Confession was created: designed by Anderson, which was made from the existing archi= ven compiled what the committee appointed for this purpose had seemed suitable at times.

In this constitution, every believer was given the Access was granted. It was also determined: "Free Masonry:

44

a human alliance, for the ennoblement of humanity, in order to Abandoning harmful and foolish prejudices by spreading ation of tolerant attitudes and humane principles, a gradual moral perfection of human nature iciency, in which order striving the Jew and Turks could take just as much part as before from=
"ultimately only the evangelical Christians were granted this."
Although this principle has been generally accepted, fo one kept in mind the questions which one asked the Nenauf= increasing in advance to answer the question:

"What religion do you profess?" – (Compare Lindner
I. c. Complete history of Freemasonry in Germany.
Leipzig. in Lauffer 1828. p. 28.)

This caused a rift with the lodge in Nort, which Diefen Act as an act of outrage and transformation of the
The foundations of the order were discussed. A large part of the English Logen remained loyal to her, and the most bitter Fight between the two parties. The Porkers or Scots= party called itself the Ancient Masons and gave the Ge= opposing party called it the Modern Masons. The former represented so the aristocratic, this the democratic element. The Scottish and Irish lodges stayed in the village. The fight was continued publicly until 25 November 1813,
on which day both parties will again agree
The purpose of this paper does not allow a specific History of these frictions. It is enough to mention that in the lodges of the Modern Masons early on with much finesse and with much expense, even with much resistance
the literary democracy of the same lodges an aristocratic fical element in the initially inconspicuous office of the stewards or festival organizer brought himself to influential status and the Order some support and prestige, also to the reunification.

This long period of bitter strife in the Order hindered of course powerful political activity and influence, but we see each of the two branches the most extraordinary activity= ability for its spread.

Soon after its constitution, the London Grand Lodge a Provincial Grand Master for Rieder

faxen, before there was a lodge for it. But they

he sent plenipotentiaries to Hamburg and Paris, and to establish lodges in France and Germany.

But just as the old and new English lodges in and spread outside England, it also expanded make up Scottish Freemasonry. In 1743, They were brought to Denmark and in 1754 to Sweden. At the beginning of the nineteenth century, fih were under Constitution of the Scottish Grand Lodge and under the leadership of sixteen Provincial Grand Masters 272 Lodges in Scotland felf, and besides these 65 in France, German= country and America. Even greater was in England, Ireland and other kingdoms, in and outside Europe, the Spread of New England Freemasonry. In the British Empire felf the multiplication of the lodges was made possible by a parla= mentsacte of 12 July 1799, which provided for the suppression of all for seditious and insurrectionary purposes, Qes home societies intended, limited.

Although the Freemasons were mentioned by name in the Par=

lamentsacte excepted, as their meetings in the excellent – M on charitable purposes ge= directed, but only those lodges were given to the subject to legal protection, which before this Act ft have already existed; and in accordance with the the rules applicable to the Masonic societies would be observed. On November 25, 1813, the old= and New England lodges to the unity of the Order. The Modern Freemasonry reorganized itself into the inner order by placing it in the Royal Arch at the top ftette, alone in the wee saved pee De ed Uns documents.

In the second article of this clarification it says: "It is declared that the old Masonry from three and not more degrees, namely: that of Apprentice=, Journeyman= and Master Mason, including of the Supreme: Order of the Holy Royal Arch. s " 4

"This Article, however, is not intended to prevent that one or the other Lodge, or one or the other Ka= "pitel, a meeting holds in any degree of Order of the Nitter according to the original statutes of the said order."

This unification of the different systems in England happened on the same basis as the Bereini= = basis of the various systems in German= land at the Wilhelmobader Convent. And I would be pleased to shed further light on them if I to which German history would have continued. The Grand Lodge now took the name "the united Grand Lodge of the Old English Freemasonry" and also to become closer friends again with the lodges of Germany. (Kloß 1. c. Lindner |. c. p. 14.)

I first studied the history of Freemasonry in England until almost our time, because the narrow= lfic Freemasonry is the mother of modern Freemasonry in the rest of Europe and America, but especially because the threads that today form the Freemasons' Association and therefore would otherwise not be recognized.

The history of Freemasonry in France is, with little Modifications the same as in England.

As early as 1535, two Scottish lodges, one at Lyon, the other founded in Paris, but its work does not seem the public awareness of the situation in pret gertmamen to have.

In 1725 the Grand Lodge of England founded a Lodge in France, but it only worked for ten years. In 1736 the Grand Lodge of England established the Loe d'Aumont Constitutibn and Ramsy led the Templiers fyftem of Herodom. And soon after, the people here in Paris a Grand Master in the Pevfan of the Englishman, Count Harnouesten.

On the other hand, Louis XIV threatened very timidly with the Vaftille for every Grand Master; but defen notwithstanding soon afterwards the Duke of Autin was elected and the threat remained without a ballot draw.

Mun the order quickly spread throughout Stank: rich and the lodge masters were called to constitute a Grand Lodge to Paris, which calls itself the "English Grand Lodge of Paris" and the Count of Clermont to their Some no

But the Grand Master remained completely inactive and the European pitel verftel. Jumittelft the masonry became the object of the Speculation, lodges, systems based on fantasy and traded in admission and degrees. However, it was formed also (Acta Latom. Tom. IS 68) the chapter of Clermont to Paris under Bonneville for the purpose of restoration of the Knights Templar. He appeared with splendor and drew the court nobility, ee A

, #

In 1756 the English Grand Lodge of France" the name of the "Grand Lodge of France", which means that fie fidh alfo as an independent supreme Masonic authority in France. The dignities of the masters of the Lodge or from the chair were but by her as before in England still for life, even hereditary, and also began an unworthy han= with the honors of the order del. In 1772, fih was constituted without the participation of the old Grand Lodge of France, the Grand Lodge of Paris as "Great Orient of France" and laid claim to the right of Legislation in the Order. Thus, in 1772, the more solid figure of Freemasonry. It was the Duke of Chartres, later Philipp Egalité, as Grand Master In 1778, she alone counted what almost unbelievable, 129 lodges and besides these 247 in the provinces, all of which have it as their supreme authority recognized (Lindner J. c. p. 15.)

The confusion until the constitution of the new Orient was limitless; systems innumerable appeared, the ridiculous= Reindeer, most deceitful nature, and all found followers. But all came together in the direction against monarchy and church.

If one examines, says the author of the often cited work, "Freemasonry in its context" etc. Th. 3 P. 64 – the different systems, yes, one can easily see that they all fight under two banners, under that of the cross (of a counterfeit Christ=faith) and under that of the flans mending star (of philosophy). The circle refers on Crusaders and Templars with their teachings, and the flans mende Stern on the pure Maturlebre. Both – Hecht man also – lead first to one goal, the overthrow of state and Church, hence the mutual recognition of their unity.

Until the time of the spread of the Freemasons' lodges, infon= the essence of philosophy, public life was in France a church=loyal. Education, 8. , 68 : .

*

Literature, bore the imprint of this spirit. Anders shows the story the picture of the spread of Freemasonry=

From then on, in all these relationships, in the Foundations of state and moral order, the opposite

It emerged in the outbreak of the so-called philosophical age, in the spirit of Voltaire and the like.

The people were taught the revolution. They were Maur rer those teachers.

Barruel, News for the discussion of the history of the Jacobiner 2c, London 1802, gives the most thorough Documents=proofs. From this you can see:

Voltaire became the new greatest omnipotent mind of ecclesiastical, political and social revolution, as well as the democratic= bourgeois transformation of the Masonic Order into Purpose of this revolution, for which his age gave him a majority brilliant intellectual talents and the two most powerful puna Germany as powerful tools.

As we saw in England until 1702 the nobility by means of the Templar Order in exclusive possession of the management of the Free=
Masonic Order, so it was also until now in France.

Here Voltaire first founded a league of so-called Philosophers or Encyclopedias, including Diderot, Alem-bert, Condorcet, la Harpe, Rousseau, Freret, Helvetius, Marmontel, the Abbes Morelets " Beaudeau, Barthelemi, Raynal, the minister Louis XV, Marquis Argenson mb
Montesquieu as members and contributing personalities
The purpose of the alliance was the destruction of every positive faith and introduction of the social republic. For The former purpose was given to Frederick II of Prussia and soon after, Emperor Joseph II, and no less Catherine II.
of Russia, King Poniatowski of Poland, Christian VII.
of Denmark, Guftav III of Sweden, the Landgraves of Heffen=Caffel, Eugen Duke of Würtemberg, the Duke of Braunschweig, Carl Theodor Elector of the Palatinate, the Margravine Wilhelmine of Bayreuth, as can be seen from the can be seen in the handwritten letters of these high-ranking persons.

At the court of Louis XV, the conspirators, the Count Argenson, the Pompadour, the Verde vo Ru
and Lord of Malesherbes. | |

When Louis XVI ascended the throne, Voltaire to Frederick II: "I do not know whether our young king will follow in your footsteps, but I know that he has elected almost exclusively philosophers as ministers! (Letter dated August 3, 1775.) "This prince – says Barruel – has indeed had the misfortune, during his entire government surrounded by philosophers." ` Thurgot belonged entirely to the conspirators, Necker's house was long their meeting place, its elevation was their work. The

Brienne had originally been appointed Archbishop by the conspirators

of Paris, to revive the apostasy of the first Church of prelates to facilitate the rest. Princes, counts, Marquises, knights, members of parliament and lawyers were in all countries in Europe won $ in large quantities.

The outline of a description of the human understanding of Condorcet (Epoch 9) characterizes the alliance. We read in it: "There will soon be a class in Europe formed by people who were not so nearly employed, to discover or fathom the truth rather than to conceal it who strive to eliminate prejudices in the sanctuaries, where the clergy, the schools, the governments and the old societies had collected and protected, and who sought their whole honour in the fact that they rather vulgar errors, as the limits of knowledge

niffe wanted to move."

"In England, Collins has Mr Bolingbroke, in France Bayle, Fontenelle, Voltaire, Montesquieu and those of schools formed by these men in favor of truth fought. They used weapons alternately, which the learning, the philosophy, the understanding and the Talent to write, which could present reason. She has accepted all tones and embraced all forms serves; and have humorous and emphatic, the most learned and the most extensive writings, the novels and flyers sent out into the world; they have the truth with a veil which covers the too weak eyes,

pared and aroused the desire to guess them; she to skilfully counteract prejudices in order to
to deal safer blows; they almost never threatened more=
all at once or even to one person; they threatened

N

70

sometimes the enemies of reason, as Me Ady exhibited, as they only wanted half a toleration in the 1
and in politics half freedom; fie knew how to use despondency when they who denied the religious inconsistencies, but also the Oot-tesdienst when they spoke against the tyrants. They attacked these two plagues at their core, if only feemed to be absurd or blasphemous abuses
To want to lift Savon. And fle caves this misfortune= trees from their roots, as they only have a few to cut out superfluous projectiles: soon empty=
The friends of freedom were convinced that the superstition which the despotism with an impenetrable shield Berk, the first sacrifice, which they shall strangle, and the first chain that they must break; soon, on the contrary, present superstition to despots as the true enemy their power, and frightened them with the description of his hypocritical conspiracy and fierce rage;
never forgot the independence of reason and the Freedom of the press as the right and welfare of the human sex; finally they took up the battle cry:
"Reason, tolerance and humanity."

As soon as the Bastille was conquered, they proclaimed the Res Hiliation as their work and boasted of their followers at all courts. (see p. 77 in Barruel.) |

The conspirators gave their individual clubs names, which referred to an activity for the common good, such as Economists, and sought elementary and vocational schools to be allowed to falsify youth education.
They flooded the country with writings that threatened and had it printed. Such a club, under a committee, Voltaire was elected as its life-long president, gathered in the palace of Baron von Holbach. He was listened especially to: Alembert, Turgot, Condorcet, Diderot,

Harpe and the Grand Seal Keeper Lamoignon. Voltaire alone nevertheless zealously recommended (e.g. in the letter to Alembert of 27. Oct. 1763) founded the Masonic Order, and finally the Members of these conspiratorial encyclopaedist clubs in mass in the Masonic Order. (p. 171.) the Lodges of the Grand Orient and of the Social Contract" and Condorcet, Mirabeau, Brissot joined the executive council

71

fot, Sieyès and others, headed by Duke Philip of Orleans. (p. 179.)

And in Germany we see Emperor Joseph II, and Frederick II, as well as in Europe the above-mentioned crowned heads enter the scene, or Princes become protectors of this order.

The history of the following period is excellently revealed by the best known Revolutionary and Masonic writer, Louis Blanc, in his history of the French Revolution, He asked: "Before the outbreak of the French Revolution in 1789, France, rich, stimulated by irresistible desires and by a thousand unclear hopes, for some time a strange

At that time, the fact among the people rumors, which it variously on, People spoke of people who hid among themselves bound by terrible oaths and completely dark plans. They were supposed to contain priceless secrets befing, Soon (it) spread the rumor, unknown Chess players had settled in the suburb of Saint-Marceau. This rumour was confirmed by Ach. In laboratories which fan. Guards protected from intrusive curiosity were men with piercing looks that speak an incomprehensible language talked, busy making gold and the like. These peculiar workers liked their port town so much that they never left the place. They lived in dark rooms, and did not seem in any way interested in the enjoyment of the riches to take part in the creation of which they are presumed to be But they had superiors who were very were sought, and there on the most graceful and most generous a dazzling wealth. Many of them who, as was known, had neither goods nor promissory notes, no pension, nor family, led a life like a Prince, and spent more money on charitable purposes than the princes for plays and festivities."

"They acted as if they lived the studies of the secret knowledge=fcies, this was only done to increase vigilance deceive and reassure the governments; surrounded them for with secrets, so they did it only with the intention of the charm of the miraculous hair the gullible crowd befer be to rule; their superiors were apostles of the revolution, and the gold, which served to support the propaganda to pave the way, this gold, which in magical melting= crucibles, came from the Central Caffé, which was secret and e subferiptions of eee ge= was filled."

72

"But first it is necessary that the reader enters the mis which then under the thrones and altars Re= revolutionary, which in a completely different way than the Ens eyklopädists acted and thought. A strange affo= - ciation had formed. The members of the same lived in the most diverse countries, belonged to every religion, (also Ju= den) and every class. They had united themselves through common Symbols and sworn to each other: The Ge= secret of the internal organization of the federal government fragile. They submitted to deterrent exams, engaged in fantastic ceremonies, practiced doing charity and considered themselves equal, although they were in were divided into three classes: apprentices, journeymen and masters."

"On the eve of the French Revolution, she had had already gained immense importance. It had spread throughout Europe, it supported the meditation German genius, secretly set France in motion and appeared everywhere as a society whose foundations were contradictory to the principles of civil society In the Masonic lodges, the demands were indeed Expressions of hereditary pride are frowned upon and the privileges of birth If the layman who wanted to be initiated into the focalled "dark chamber", he read on the foblack= veiled and covered with the symbols of death The following characteristic inscription is on the walls: "If you human differences, go out, such is not known here." – Through the lecture of the Red= ners, the person to be admitted learned that the purpose of Masonry which is, "the differences of colour, status and of the fatherland, to spread national hatred= rotten." And that is what was meant when one spoke allegorically of a spiritual temple that the wise men of the various whose zones the great architect of the universe had built= ten, of that sublime temple, whose pillars, the symbols of the force and the e. with the "grenades of 73 friendship. Thus, the aim of the Freemasonry from the ground up is aimed at: The establishment= ations and ideas of the surrounding external world in 1

bring to."

"However, the Masons drank at their covenant meal in the monarchical states on the welfare of the king and in Republics on the welfare of the supreme state authority. All= However, obedience to the laws was inculcated.
no such precautionary measures, which the "prudence" of a Afociation, which so many distrustful governments observed were not enough to stop the revolutionary river that Freemasonry Que Dan:
nad) had to exercise.'

"The members of the League remained in the secular society
fociety still rich or poor, nobles or plebe= jer; but in the lodges, in these a higher life practice consecrated temples, poor, rich, noble or Plebeians as equals and call them brothers. This was an indirect but nevertheless a real and uusufed approach addressed the injustices and defects of society=
order, a constant propaganda making, a continuous Protest. What was more suitable, on the other hand, to fworshipper than the mysterious darkness, the decrease
a terrible oath, the hope, as a price for so some terrible but courageously overcome trials a Ge= secret, the commandment to remain silent under Andro= hung of curse and death, special signs,
by which the brothers recognized each other in all corners of the world, Ceremonies that referred to a murder story and Ra= chege thanks seemed to hide? – And how could a fuch institution at the approach of the crisis, which the expedient tious society, the calculated boldness of the sect rer, deny the genius of white freedom can?" – |

"At a time when society is secretly making
The ruler trembled with impatience, but was compelled faw to hide their anger, such practices had to be Provide plotters with immeasurable resources.
From the moment its extent becomes apparent democracy took a firm foothold in it; in addition to ` a great number of brothers whose Masonic life and served to flatter pride, to fill leisure hours or to do charity, there were now also those who were thinking about action, N the revolutionary spirit moved.

"Soon innovations of terrible significance arose."

"Since the three degrees of ordinary Masonry contain a great deal People who respect class and fundamental supposed any plan for a social overthrow, fo the masons multiplied the steps of the myftical ladder, the one had to climb. They created special afterlodges for the zealous souls; they donated the higher degrees. The Pfor ten of these secret sanctuaries were opened to the adepts only after a long series of tests designed to were net, the progress of his revolutionary education to test the perseverance of his faith, and to fathom the nature of his heart. There was nothing that fo not find yourself in the midst of a crowd of Linden or gloomy Ce remonien based on ideas of freedom and equality."

"It is therefore not surprising that the Freemasons the most distrustful governments a not insignificant so terrifying that Clement XII in Rome pronounced the anathema against them, that they were through the Inquisition in Spain, that fle were persecuted in Naples, and that in France the Sarbonne declared: "They deserved eternal punishment." And Nevertheless, thanks to the skilful organization, the Freemasons found nism (the degrees and terrible gide) of their order, in the Princes and nobles were far more likely to be protectors than enemies. Director leading figures, such as the great Frederick, found no objection ken, to take the trowel in hand, and the apron Of course, since the existence of the higher Just because it was carefully concealed, they knew about the Freemasonry just as much as one can give them without danger could show; they therefore had absolutely no reason to be concerned to be; because the real core of the doctrine only shimmered unclear through the fog of allegories, and many saw in them only an opportunity for fun and feasting, a game with principles that one leaves behind on the lodge threshold read and rediscover, in a word a comedy of equals But in such things the comedy comes close to cher (for the high mason and revolutionary Blauk calls the Princes) by a just and remarkable act of the law if they were misled into revealing the secret plans against them were directed to take under their protection and blindly to promote their influence."

Great, and so it happened that the arrogant traitors

"Among the princes of whom we speak, there was one in relation to which one did not need discretion to 3. This was the Duke don Chartrés (Orleans), the future Friend of Danton, famous as Philipp Egalité in the Annals of the revolution, which killed him when he became suspected of it, Although still young and devoted to sensuality, he felt still now within him there was a spirit of opposition which sometimes the merit of the younger lines, but always their Driving force and its quality, He therefore took the Grand Master's throne as the same (fine extraordinary kingdom) thumbs was proposed. And in the following year (1772) the French Mannerei joined a proper central management, which immediately abolished the irremovability of the "masters of the chair", the order on completely democratic principles came and, as expected, took the name "Great Orient". There was the center for general correspondence the lodges, where the representatives of the cities gathered, which the secret movement had seized, there they had its headquarters and from there the instructions went out, whose To find out the meaning, a special cipher or a riddle language did not allow the enemy to see. Since these Times took day after day most of those men in the Freemasons' Association, which we later found in the middle of the revolution hustle and bustle again."

Let me here provide two explanatory documents. which shows that and how the French Masons were immediately before the outbreak of the French Revolution, a harmonious work of European Masonry to efficient service and invitations for one who 15 February 1785 in Paris to be held Masonic Convention In the Vienna Journal for Freemasonry 2nd year 2. Sit: printed as a manuscript for brothers, it says:

"Second Invitation Circular of the Philalethen as legitimate

v

76

pigen Superior of the febr venerable C] of the united friends to the O. v. Paris, to the BB. MM. of all countries to a fraternal gathering in Paris. Dearest brothers!

We deeply regret that, due to overwhelming circumstances,
for the sake of our fraternal gathering one year earlier
This motive should motivate us because of the election and the number of lecture points we will award you believe that they deserve your indulgence. If in= whose great BM blesses our work, and our first meetings, perhaps some of them may be presented here.
objects become useless. Their place can be replaced by replace others that are more important and directly related to the sublime= directed towards the purpose of our order."

"This second circular announced in our first=
This letter is intended to present to you the main questions which We consider discussion necessary. We request everyone, to whom it comes into your hands, we ask you to send us your answer words in writing. At the same time, we will inform you Formalities and guidelines known, which we for the conduct of our assembly. We You will always be asked for the opinion that our fommenden BB. will give about it, can correct
In general, we cannot repeat too often that we at this Brethren Convention absolutely have no other claim other than to have been the conveners.
Far from fearing superiors in this science,
Rather, we sincerely and fuffer that the true and legitimate superiors of science are present and may reveal themselves. They will certainly fo many eager, appreciative students, as true Philalethians
among us." | | | |

"We do not believe, and even less do we hope, that the pre-signed lecture articles the sole and exclusive
The working materials of the future Convention. There are other much more important, but which wisdom does not allow,
to paper, let alone to print.
We even doubt whether it is possible to use them with advantage in full open convention. Perhaps it would be easy= ter and more beneficial for the general welfare,
"and the pieces in hand in special Comités folder

Invited to share their opinions, their works and their ordinations (so here too not everything is negotiated before everyone,
The assembly is opened with the apprenticeship degree, and at each subsequent degree the lower degrees must resign!!) of course entitled to elaborate on this." This Comité's would be presented to the general meeting by the Ne fulfts of their negotiations and the fruits of their research should report, but only insofar as it

 they would be allowed to do so without committing perjury." (Because even a degree or a teaching level if again separated from the others by heavy gates.)
 | "It is also probable that the investigation of the above laid down lecture articles will again prompt new ones, which one cannot possibly determine here. All informed Ma=

They can foresee and must prepare for it.
 We must all remember that, since the essential=

The purpose of this Convention is on the one hand destruction of the Errors and on the other hand discoveries maure=

rific, or Masonic-related truths, our first duty must be to provide ourselves with all that us only to cooperate on this or that counter=

It seems useful. We ask and implore again all the brothers whose presence fate has not through elaborate treatises on to combine the lecture articles with our work. The Convergence of the Ginfihten and the collision of the Opinions are of utmost importance. We can men of the future Convention to announce in advance that it the silence of those absent BBs who are called upon to to the second circular letter not clear, sincere and frank should respond courageously, I will also imitate this.
 most precious BB. are the attitudes, wishes and vows
 Yours faithfully BB. NN On behalf of the Gez Society of Philalethians, Superiors of the Constitution of the Lodge of "united friends" "in the Orient of Paris."

And this European Masonic Congress met on February 15th.
 1785 in Paris. Among the German
 The Illuminati Maurer Bufch were among those who appeared in the country (in the Order of Bayard) and Bode (in the Order of Aurelius)

"In the lodge," Blank continues, "of the 'nine Schwe=

. Y8

ftern" had themselves recorded: Gerat, Briffot, Bailly, Camille, Desmoulins, Condorcet, Chamfort, Dans ton, Dom Gerle, Rabaut, Saint-Etienne, Petion, Tauchet, Goupil of Prefeln and Bonnaville ruled in the Lodge of the "Brass Mouth". Sieves founded in Palais Royal the club of the "Twenty-two." The lodge
 "of purity" when the revolution became a rumbling voice
 the gathering place for the supporters of Philip of Orleans; here appeared Laclos, La Lente, Syer, here
 Cuftine, the two Lameths, and Lafayette met.
 But Freemasonry had, as one might have expected, is not homogeneous (uniform) in character. The three first grades admitted every kind of opinion, in the higher Bras |

we find the most diverse systems and a speaking diversity of ritual, and the names Sieyes, Condorcet and Briffot justified us to conclude: that the philosophy of the encyclopaedists and the tendency of the Bartherthums had a lot of leeway."

Thus the Masonic Order of France prepared the first Revolution, soon led the raw masses to revolt, declared the rioters for the nation and become the organ of the Nation: And while he is urging the masses to ever higher and more despicable acts of revolution, the other members of the order turned to the good-natured monarch, stormed him with holy assurances of warmest loyalty and tugged him by means of false Schveilens images of the Nevriutions= Power and royal impotence, through worthless gifts and helter assurances of the most charitable, the throne and the Civil peace eternally feverish consequences, a conoeffion, a hind-surrender of monarchical powers after another, flattering and defied him under threat of outbreaks of new revolutions the ministries, isolating him from his attendants tried and tested, from the loyal vassals and servants, until the state power, the executive and the legislators and the street revolution in their hands then, who proclaimed the f. g. people's rights and the King of France in the temple, entered Moley's residence, took advantage of Ben to meet him with fine family Moley's and the Templars= brothers Menen as a revenge sacrifice, like the sworn Vows of the Masonic Order of the Templar or Scots= they were.

798

"By August 12, 1792, the French Jacobins have not yet recorded the day of their revolution in the yearbooks set, only the years of their freedom remained reckons." – So Barruel continues in his Memorable=ities of the history of Jacobinism in and outside France Reich, a work by Lening, Moßdorf and Kranke, the famous Saxon masons= Authorities in the Eucyllopadia of Freemasonry itself is recommended. On this day – describes Barruel – Louis XVI, who had been king for 48 Hours of the throne was declared lost, trapped in the Towers of the Temple. On the same day, the Assembly of the Members made the statement that the date of freedom in future also the date of equality in public writings; this order itself given in the fourth year of freedom, on the first days of equality. – On this very day finally for the first time that which is so dear to the Freemasons and their lodges with all the conscientiousness of the most inviolable

The secrecy required by the oath is lifted.
After the abolition of the infamous regulation, many cried out: "Look, finally all of France is just one big lodge, the French are all Freemasons and the whole universe will soon be as we are. Finally, see the great design of the Freemasons fulfilled; equality and freedom, all people are equal and Brothers, all men find freedom; this is the essence of the Constitution, the only object of our desires, our entire life is the great secret. Woe to France for the honor of the Freemasons should be informed of this so that they can have the truth. The originator of this entire revolution of freedom and equality, of which it gave the world the example. This was in fact the general secret of the Freemasons."

"Among the emigrants who fled to London were many Freemasons whose eyes were blinded by the French Revolution and who bitterly regretted having participated in this secret alliance, particularly for this revolution, e.g. Calley, and many others." —

"One of them particularly noticed that after a long time he was again urgently requested by the lodges in 1768 to take part again because things were now of the utmost importance"

80

Already on my first visit to the lodge I heard something which I cannot ask, but which set me on fire in February that I immediately went to the minister and explained to him: the security of the king and the peace of the state are in danger! — whether he keeps a watchful eye on the Freemasons and know what happens in their lodges? — The Minister assured me that my fears were unfounded and that freedom of Freemasonry is not dangerous to the state. — This minister was nothing less than one of the men one would look for in a sufficiently accused of thwarting the plans of Freemasonry to overthrow the thrones and altars. But he thought like Count Vergennes, "that with an army of 200,000 men have little to fear from the revolution?" — When Louis XVI returned from Varennes in October 1789 brought back he complained: "I knew all this already eleven years ago, but how did it happen that I did not believe?" — But it was not enough to remove the earthly king from the throne, even the heavenly Father had to leave his earth to be enthroned. The legislative revolution boldly decreed: "There is no God, man himself is God, and the Cultus of humanity in the temples of God takes the place of the cult of the Christian faith, the most beautiful

Pleasure maiden, as a symbol of the beauty of human God=feins, have the place of the world Savior on the altars of God=tes and the veneration of the nation and its torities! – And the cult of beauty in of humanity is the basis of the religious furnaces at the rer=Ordens. i

After the formation of the eclectic league, the Directorate two lodges, in Frankfurt and Wetzlar, took over, the still today in Germany so highly honored great lodges=association, issued the Divectorial Lodge of Wetzlar on 18 March 1783 the circular, a copy of which I sent to the Confessions In it we read in the introduction: "Everyone who made some progress in Masonry, and with success= think the three symbolic degrees have been considered, will be without Confess doubts that freedom and equality are the foundations= position of our venerable Order. This is the rock on which the venerable founders once built this erected visible bridges, and this reason had to be fame duration self guarantee for the fift future. Weiss Health, strength and beauty formed fine pillars, and Humanity, unity and friendship are the glue that This magnificent monument was preserved for several centuries unshakably and in the greatest Shine."

64

Thus the Masonic Order had achieved its purpose, Frank= Empire's altars had fallen, the throne had been overthrown, the king Royal family sacrificed to the revenge of the Templars, government and national representation had fallen to the Order: and what fruit remained for him? – The high order had its lower order people of the three lower degrees, the basis of the Liberty, equality and fraternity to ensure the revolutionary element that will make the Order a means of future should serve to nourish and influence the nation lafen, It obeyed as long as it was outside the Order at self-reliant action had to fear the legitimate state power, against which the protection of the high order offered protection. But This weak rein coincided with the validity of the public torities and the lower demo= that came to power in the state kratie, of course also in the Order the same step with the outside world, holding the flag of indignation against the artftocratic regiment of the inner order. And the 3 social democratic party man also made his presence felt in the town to his master and destroyed those who opposed him here, Or the higher brothers, by means of his people's power, fo good as the profane. So finally the astonished world caught the high mason elite of France, who overthrew the throne had, in particular the Gironde, under the same axe of the Guil= lotine bleed to death, which they sacrilegiously accused their benevolent monarch

The Order is of course large and strong in Creating revolutions, but just so naturally childish weak and unable to raise and control his child.
When the most terrible revolutionary storms of the state were over, the remaining officials of the Orient, from the old Grand Lodge and founded in the year 1799 a united great Orient of France.
– But he also showed fiH from the fttic masonry soon a new enemy. This was in 1804
e * & 6 >

82 the new Scottish General Lodge of France, which with the brilliant entourage of 33 degrees, and at which were headed by many people of high rank. The in the Orient, however, the storm was evoked, as in the same year united with the Scottish Grand Lodge, although they adopted their 38 degrees, they still retained their name as a great Orient and saved it. Napoleon er= clarified that society was not only under its protection, but also appointed his brother Jofeph as Grand Master of the Order, who later as King of Spain Archchancellor Canbacer it with the title of premier grand maitre adjoint to His Majesty the King of Spain.

This declared freedom and recognition of all Masonic Orders, sects and systems in France, let all kinds Masonic Directories, Chapter rc. independent besides itself ftall without assuming the dominion in their sanctuaries= and won by having them all fight for the great Orient, in which they found their cartridge gratefully and respectfully acknowledged. The result was that that according to the author of the Maconnerie militaire, the income from Freemasonry 2 million francs to the Grand Master; – that of the assistant Cambaceres 100,000
Franks! – One should not be very surprised about this, as soon
From the list of the Grand Lodge we learn that in 1812 of the great Orient of France 1089 Lodges and Chapters
– These lodges also included the military lodges
in the French army. – In 1809, ftill now 69 regiments of the same kind, in which the meetings opened and closed with: “Long live the Kaiser!”
and often an army bulletin, or a proclamation from the Kaiser was the only subject of negotiations.

Here she appears again as a mask, but also for military=political purposes. Through these military lodges Napoleon all senior and non-commissioned officers, even the educated

Commons, since in each of these lodges a favorite Napoleon's hammer. At the same time, this military lodges also opened access to all German lodges, which Napoleon was very interested in. The brothers were often very intrusive, made great praises, and be-fomuch ...
Fatherland. (See Lindner Mac-Benac p. 19 ff.)

88

Germany lagged only slightly behind France. Hardly had the London Grand Lodge of the New England System from 1733 to 1740, as mentioned above, a provincial Grand Master for Lower Saxony, and lodges in Hamburg, Leipzig, Altenberg near Gotha and Berlin after that System, also in 1738 the Hamburg Lodge for the Provincial=mother lodge, the order also spread with
with great speed across all of Germany. |

In 1740, Mr. v. Marfhall (in the Order of Equus a Thy-mele) in the lodge he founded to the "three Hammern" in Naumburg after the Clermont ' ftemler= fyftem, the ftrict observance was founded and in 1741 by the Count of Schmettau a Scottish lodge in Hamburg donated.

In the same year Wide in Berlin the National=Mother= lodge to the "three globes" according to the New English system or= ganifirt, in which Frederick II himself took over the master's office.
In Sabre 1752 the Lodge "for Friendship" was founded in Berlin, by famous French, appointed by Frederick II, Scholars and artists. She initially joined the lodge the "three globes", but separated in 1762, organized fih 1764 new, after a patent from Braunschweig held, took the Duke of
There in 1765, and gave the name "Royal Pork to Friendship". In 1767 she received a patent upon request and Constitution of London, but nevertheless constituted

also a Conseil sublime and connected with French

Lodges. In 1757, the Marquis de Lernaïs brought Connection with Baron von Prinzen, Grand Master of the Masonic Lodge "to the three globes", new French and semi-English higher grades, which the Lernaïsian system

And in 1792 he built a large chapter

the Knights of Jerusalem, as it then existed in Amiens.
(Full story on page 40.)

What is called strict observance in Germany is nothing other than the Clermontian knightly Templar system.

Baron von Hund was born on March 20, 1742 in Frankfurt am Main as a Freemason and in 1743
in Paris, Grand Master of a new lodge.
made him aware of the spread of the Clermont Templars
6* |

Re

systems in France, then sent the armies of France over the withdrawn German fatherland to duty and expelled him from the half to Mr. v. Marhall, who is already working on it. The Herr von Marhall, Hereditary Marshal of Thuringia, was by the English Grand Master, Earl of Darnley, 1737 appointed Provincial Grand Master of the Upper Saxon District, but soon afterwards in St. Germain, where the English Pre sident resided, from whose supporters, namely from Lord
Baltimore and the Earl of Kilmanck, from the English Freemasonry and adopted the Templar system of which he also sent the Act to Germany in 1740.
was sent to spread it in Saxony. Through Association of two highly respected Temple Freemasons, whose Mission of the numerous freemen in the French armies Freemasons could be supported, it was hoped that the modern English Freemasonry by French Templars in Germany to displace.

But Mr. von Marhall was of a different opinion and believed that the Templar system had become was invented for the benefit of French Freemasonry, which he explained to Baron von Hund in 1751, by withdrawing from of the System of Freemasonry 1752 withdrew, and that the Lodge in Naumburg, from which Derfelbe his first temple knight had taken. In 1753, Baron von Hund introduced the order system in this form
been; There were already priores, subpriores, prefects and Comthure. Each person to be admitted had to sign an act under scribe, in which he combined the supposed old breeding and to help restore order, and the so-called high
To maintain punctual obedience, strictam observantiam, then. Hence the name is written: "Strict Observance."
In 1753, Baron von Hund commissioned a preliminary study Regulation on the establishment of a pension fund in its pro vince, and gave his order a complete establishment.
At first the system had only 6 degrees, namely: the three mouse herical degrees, Johannite degrees. The fourth degree, the fchot tic masters, the fifth contained the novitiate of the order, the sixth elevated him to the rank of Templar, he was either appointed eques or socius or armiger. In the years= From 1768 to 1770 he continued an equitem professum, as a ftable degree; to the conclusion received then everyone still has the highest insights into history and Hieroglyphs.

85

After Baron von Hund had a skilled adventurer, Ramens Becker, who claimed to be an Englishman and John= fon, had been exposed as a fraud in 1764 (Becker was also actually sent to the Wartburg for all kinds of crimes; fet,) he sought fih at a convent in Altenberg in the Near Gotha as the commander of the German Freemasons to legitimize by merely tapping his sword and presented an alleged document according to which he was last army master who died in Casan to his successor Although the majority of the members subsequently declared of the brothers this certificate of succession for fraud, as all the research carried out in Cafan without The result remained (Lindner |. c.) Deffen regardless but several German lodges switched to strict observance, and fo. also the Hamburg and Braunschweig 1765, yes even the Grand Lodge of the "Three Globes" in Berlin.

In response, a general staff surgeon in Berlin Dr. Ellermann, through adoption of his mother's brother, v. Ziund orf. He was a member of the strict observance under the name eques a lapide nigro, had secretly Rir. tuale from the Secretary of the Swedish Lodge, Elklef, e and= declared the strict observation to be fraud.

The superiors of Freemasonry in Sweden also those of the strict observance the offer of initiation into the higher only true secrets of their from Scotland preserved system under the condition that the Dentfchen the Duke of Südermannland as Army Commander: the 7th province. Since the German Templars their origin, as shown above, also derives from Scotland= ten, since a common origin with the Swedish Masonry, the condition was fulfilled and the Lord moved from Braunschweig to Sweden himself; but what he went there and heard that these were ceremonies that came from Jewish= fan, Catholic, Greek and pagan church customs were collected. (Masonic Fears by Schütz, 6th volume, p. 89. – Lindner Mac-Benac p. 30. Complete. the Freemasons in Germany p. 71.)

And the Zinndorf Spem also corresponded to this. GE differs from the Templar system in only the following way:

while the old system barftetite the secular order post,
the Zinndorf represents the spiritual. –

In 1770, twelve prominent German

Lodges together and founded the “Great State Lodge” in Berlin

of Germany”, received the patent from London in 1773

and elected the Prince of Hesse=Darmstadt as the state=

Grand Master of Germany. They constituted Provincial=Lan=

deslogen in Hamburg, Breslau and Stettin. The system was the New English and was called: “late Observance.” 1774 vers –

The Royal Pork Lodge also agreed with her and it

The reigning Duke Ernst of Saxony Gotha=

Altenburg was elected Grand Master of the State in 1775.

In 1778 the patent was revoked in London, the lodge

Royal Pork separated again and the Grand National Lodge of Germany adopted the Zinndorf system and joined the Grand Lodge of Sweden and received such permanent. (Complete History of Freemasonry in Germany, Lind=

ner |. c. p. 67. ff.)

| The lodges of strict observance opposed this in 1772

to a convention in Cahla in Lusatia and elect invited Duke Ferdinand of Brunswick to their all= common Grand Master under the Templar title: eques a vic=.

toria. Baron Hund was appointed special superior of the Upper and Lower Saxon, Danish and Courland Lodges

fttricter obfervanz under the title: eques ab ense appointed,

(eindner 1. c.)

Meanwhile, even alchemy and other fraudsters,

under the name of Rosicrucians, as we soon=

foon also appeared in Paris, the Masonic organ=

must cover up their frauds as gold makers,

suffragan, giver of eternal youth, empowered and a Degree of the Rosicrucians. The best-known

Fraudsters of this kind were most common in Dresden and Leipzig.

notorious cuppers. In 1782 the notorious Caglio= ftro the Order of Egyptian Freemasonry and also married him with the Masonic Order.

Lening in his Encyclopedia the stupid meets | barüber

e

"Gagliostro (Count of) is the assumed name of the Jew Joseph Balfamo, born in Palermo in 1743. (His Family tree and news of fine family f. in "Göthes new writings" Berlin 1792 Vol. 1, p. 243.) Hey was one of the biggest fraudsters, who soon went under the above name, soon under that of a Marquis de Pellegrini and a Grafen Felix, by pretending to be in possession of the stone of To be wise and to see into the future, even those who are absent or To be able to make the dead appear, and with the help of his Woman knew how to deceive many gullible people. He chose Freemasonry was the cover for his various frauds; France, England and Italy were particularly important to him generous, especially the former, where he stayed the longest and where he himself founded his own mystical order: "the Egyptian Masonry" in 1782, in which women were also admitted and which found a large number of followers. Main figures were in Paris, Lyon and Strasbourg. Further in the Masonic Order of Martinism. He responded to Luther's statement: "All Christians find brothers", on the other hand: "All men are kings, equality, liberty and brothers find the Holy Trinity." It was the incomplete more recent Illuminatism and its precursors in France. Since I have to explain the latter in detail, another It is superfluous to discuss Martinism. He joined with 10 Degrees in the Masonic Order, made in Paris, in Avignon and Lyon made rapid progress, took its centre here and spread rapidly from there across Germany, even to Russia.

Even the Society of Magnetizers was constituted according to the ritual of Freemasonry and took the name of the Order of Harmony.

And finally, Prof. Weishaupt founded in 1776 also the Order of the Illuminati " and also incorporated him with rapid success to the Masonic Order. (Compare Mr. v. Wedekind "The Pythagorean Order and Freemasonry in opposite relationships." As a manuscript for a printed.)

Adam Weishaupt was born in Bavaria in 1748. His birth was without distinction, and his youth unknown, but brilliant talents were given to him. Barely 28 years old, he was already a professor at Ingolfendf and he missed it the nimbus of a highly moral character for himself and that of the most humane purpose for the Order's work, to win over even the most educated men in Germany, even today. Just one single train from fine domestic life, the inner . We has escaped from the darkness.

On 11 and 12 October 1786, judicial Hans-investigations by the Electoral Bavarian Government Councillor Zwack, a member of the order founded by Weishaupt and

This took place in a

A box buried in the cellar is part of the Order Archives vovges found and among other original letters Weis haupts, also the following one obtained, which with the others found= documents from the then Bavarian government to the

Each member of the Order laid down

Order, for the prevention of discoveries, so designate one= the name. Weishaupt called himself Spartacus. The letter is entitled: "To his confidant Marius" and read:

"Now a matter of my heart, which gives me all the robs me and makes me capable of anything. I stood in Bee my honour and reputation, through which I am on our People who could lose so much. My sister-in-law M pregnant, we have tended to different things to child. She herself is determined to do anything. But Euriphon is too timid, and yet I see no other explanation.

If I ignore Bader's (professor in Munich) silence fecert, he could probably help me and also from three years ago. Talk to him when

They believe that there is something to be done here, nor yet everything is quiet. Nobody knows anything except you and Euriphon.

There is still time to do something, because it is only fourth months, and what is the worst, At this Case criminal. And this is precisely what makes the utmost effort

"The most daring resolution is necessary." (Drigmalfchri=

Volume 2. 3. Letter to Marius. Hertel p. 14.)

This man founded on the first of May 1776 under his friends and students a secret order, which he gave to the Illuminati called "and he as . in the statutes stated:

\

"That the Order has no interest in the state, religion and good morals, harmful confessions or actions for the purpose have, nor favor his own, and that his whole bee unkhung is only about helping people improve their
 to make moral characters interesting and beneficial;
 to instill human and social sentiments, malicious
 to prevent the distressed and needy Tux from escaping.
 to support the injustice, to promote to think of important people, and still mostly
 _ To make useful knowledge more general." (Daffodil
 This is supposedly the main task of the Masonic lodges, which belong to the Hamburg Federation or according to Schröder's System work.) -

Weishaupt now also presents the picture of the man who for his covenant. Here follow his own fine words:
 "He who has not tender ears to the lamentations of the wretched, he who has tender Heart does not close itself to gentle compassion, whoever sees the unfortunate friend and brother NES who loves all creatures; who intentionally not crushing the worm that is under feet; who has a heart for love and friendship;
 wet steadfast in adversity, tirelessly completing a task to enforce good search, undaunted in overcoming Difficulties ift who does not mock the weaker; where Soul sensitive to great designs, eager for everything to raise low interests and to compensate for them through great benevolences= to sign; whoever fts the idleness; whoever knows this kind of= who holds the right to obtain it, but Human knowledge, which allows the main study; who, where it is about Truth and virtue is to be above the applause of the
 to put aside the great crowd and follow his heart Must have, which if mugli for this connection. After this,
 My colleagues and the superiors of the Dudens (asks Weishaupt), the subordinates form, without souls expand, distract from the low. Talk a lot with the subordinates, but not from the head, but from the Hearts. No declamation, no fraftfofe moral, no fubti= useless metaphfiles that do not help people chen. Everything is clearly presented, full of pictures and examples, the sentence gih: applied to individual mille, the consequences that
 * and. the Reuben gest Sa. the Burirdgen. folen

90

mere simplicity and innocence of heart shall prevail.' (Schröder demands this specifically from the written work= ten, the apprentices.) Weishaupt further claims: "One must not to deprive the workers of all prospect of benefit;
 You have to treat each person individually to give them the
 To make the country attractive if one considers its dominant tendencies to their advantage. The greatest

Science for man means knowledge of man. For this especially to take into account the interests of the pupils; thereby learning the art of judging others, of leading and to behave in such a way that others think well of them. share. Getting people to do this takes a lot of effort; you can't cope with the crowd; if you want to change everyone, changes nothing. Therefore, these edits must be made with the structuring the different degrees is carried out in a special way the. (Lindner lc ff.) |

Shape of 8 |

The system was divided into three main sections, each of which had two sub-departments. First came the Pfanzschule, which included the novitiate and the Minerval class. Before admission, each individual was given a general assessment handle presented by the Society of the Illuminati, which allegedly a disruption of the main purposes of the order and the most excellent means available to achieve it dung, generally contained. (This is determined according to the Schröder's system, slightly modified, also before the (I have taken the time to record it.)

If the candidate then expressed a desire to enter the Order to be accepted, he entered the novitiate. Here he met no one but his leader, who Efforts were made to ascertain whether the person admitted was useful to the Order, whether he is capable, receptive, obedient and was attached to the purpose made known to him. If one found that On the contrary, he was dismissed; but fl left him what hope, so he was admitted among the Minervals. Here he worked together with some other pupils under the supervision of the Minerval magistrate, had to pay monthly accountable for their progress, and to the superiors in locked

Notes give notice whether he with fine immediate leadership= would be satisfied with what he wishes and what he considers to be the best what society could do or would have done. | He was promised and given support in a special fatified literary subject, to which he had fh enrolled= ben let, and promised him subsequently a, his Salaries commensurate with merit and progress in civil life, protection against persecution and He was obliged, however, to return to the command of his Superiors, for the good of the whole, to collect in his field, to demand, and to carry out small tasks assigned to him without grumbling After some time, such a Minervale was admitted to the Freemasons. Had he not Skills enough to continue in the Illuminati system= back, he remained a Freemason, and as such continued nothing to do but decipher the hieroglyphs and other to carry out insignificant lodge work. But he was too something better, he became a little Illuminati= just promoted. In this position he received immediate supervision about a few pupils, their progress and performance he had to provide the most accurate reports; he was given instructions, how to educate and govern people, and received Hints that gave a deeper insight into the system. When he After working at this level for some time, he was admitted to the major Illuminati degree, or in the Scottish Novitiate Here, several thousand questions were asked, to explore the inner and outer character of man. From the comparison of all these features, even the smallest, the most insignificant, the lords of the most general results for the study of man, and gradually develop a secure semiotics of the soul. Furthermore, the work of this degree consisted mainly in that in the meetings of the same investigations into the finer traits of the little Illuminati according to those questions Every great Illuminati should have a few small Illuminati under fine secret supervision. Rice ner should be promoted to this brad before fine supervisors not all questions about him had been answered; and so it would have been almost impossible for an unworthy person or Someone whose smallest heart folds you didn't know, the Sofsenı: also day to the members

—

dirfes degree nor whether to report monthly which Services and advantages in N life through their influence grant and procure could, and which subjects they 1 the Dr-
the transport 9 The supply line fen were also at this level, and the same . the Cuculation of services:

Since here you can see the most faithful paintings from all external and internal=ft characteristics of the members of the Order, fo people knew what everyone in the state was good for. They said, through such an institution to recommend the most worthy, everyone to put himself in his place and to be able to do what no one can narh to perform in the position free. This degree was followed by the Scottish Middle Degree, or the Degree of the Directing Illumi= naten. Anyone who wanted to be admitted to these had to civ a lapel that from now on he will always be loyal to the Order remain faithful, not to any other secret association and never want to step back. Just like the little Illu= minates were the heads of the nursery, the Scottish Knights the lower Freemasonry of the three symbolic Grade, (in the style of the still existing Directorial Lodges). Your Ritual contained hints for higher decipherment of the Masonic Hieroglyphs, along with the instructions, diligently nadhsudenfen about it, to research and to present their thoughts on this matter to the superiors object to communicate. – To this extent with the Illumina= tenorden, religion finally came into play:

When working on this grade, one has the Truth, "that without positive religion there is no Human societies do not exist, but rather the We cannot calm down." To remedy this situation ities, the founders of the Illuminati Order sought the Christian Religion therefore interesting? (chagt Lindner I. c. p. 86) to make and to weave into their system, that in the Scottish knighthoods commemorate their divine founder through simple, heart-rending ceremonies, according to Scottish custom: rerweis, celebrated in the meetings, and Freemasonry than the select committee better, more correct supposedly

ted letters. |

In the W that followed this, uun proved 96

the Order that all the teachings of the World Redeemer are the highest wisdom: betrayed their integrity and goodness, and aimed to create a To carry out humanity's infinitely great and noble plan, which cher none other than the plan of the Illuminati connection and of higher masonry. Here was torn apart, wit the purpose of the divine Saviour has gone: "the To restore people to their original dignity, through wise enlightenment, morality is raised to the highest degree to introduce a general moral code, so that everyone without compulsion, out of the conviction that only Virtue can grant happiness, remaining true to virtue; all To bind people together through a bond of brotherhood; all narrow circumstances, which need, need and struggle against verse to abolish the moral immorality that had been created by Illuminati wanted to be able to govern themselves, and consequently, all artificial institutions, all state constitutions fung, pofitive laws and the like lack – It was further taught and supported by passages from the writings of the evangelists and apostles have shown that Christianity is not a folk religion, but a System for the elect: that Jesus has the higher meaning fhich he communicated his teachings only to his most trusted disciples. Of these, it was said, this system through the discipline ` arcani (mystery doctrine) propagated among the first Christians, in the mystery schools of the Gnostics, Manichaeans, Ophites, etc. f. f. in a double way, exoteric and esoteric, learned, and then finally, after some other turns, in Hierogly=

phen, became the property of the Masonic Order."

The functions of this priestly degree were also still in one n other respects is extremely important. It has already been noted that every pupil enrolls in a scientific subject
ben, devote his energies to it, and on request had to collect and research in this very subject. Now diri=
The priestly class of each province, under the chairmanship of its Decans, these literary operations. Everything was in Facnl= activites; e.g. for natural science, for history,
for the knowledge of man, for the mathematical sciences etc. A priest should always be at the head of such a Jacultät ft and maintain a real catalog about his subject, in which the most important new discoveries would be recorded

94

den. Did anyone request clarification or help with any a scientific company, and therefore turned to the superiors, if from the Realcataloge the Ausf= task would not have been solved yet, all pupils who were in who worked in the same field, had been applied finely, for
to gather and work with the unknown friend.
Without great complaint, without the influence of learned envy, then the requester would have been given the results of natural research= into the hands of several hundred hardworking people
He could have started working where fo many good minds have stopped, the materials would have fgathered and found everything prepared; the weaker one would be became the teacher of the stronger, and little by little the Order in possession of the rarest knowledge in all the len of scholarship, which can be considered a deposit and in every age, with regard to need and degree of enlightenment, would have been considered useful,

The priestly grade was followed by that of the regent, which the most measurable regulations for all higher superiors, for the Chief of the Scottish Knights, for the Provincials, Infpee= turers and national superiors. This degree, however, still had very special characteristics. Just like those in the= fame were recorded, the main direction of the whole should lead, so it was thought that only those in these degree, which after multiple tests is said to be the noblest, most enlightened and most educated people would have been found Such people deserved to be completely free and
No one but reason and the most intimately recognized truth
Therefore, the institution was made that everyone, upon his admission to this degree, shall be entitled to all Order obligations, even the reverse, the which contained a promise of confidentiality, the tables on fhis circumstances, fhis life story, the picture of his character,
and generally everything that the superiors have in their hands= everything that made him dependent on them in some way power, which had delivered him into their hands, were returned. At the same time, in the speech to be given to him, it was said: "he was now completely free, he finds in any other connection a more perfect, more functional facility, greater cleaning=ity of intentions, safer means to achieve a sphere of influence, which would be more worthy, and the club feis ner current brothers are reluctant to implement this better arrangement to introduce the Illuminati; fo it was his duty to return= and go where head and heart have greater The Illuminati did not demand a Monopoly for fic, but strove to strengthen the world, which is not done so perfectly anywhere else, and but if it were necessary to do so, he would recognize their works as useless, a waste of time, perhaps even dangerous, so he now has untied hands, and it is his duty to To destroy buildings by public exposure, and Thor's deceit and malice. Be it but in them, the deficiencies of all human beings expects, satisfied, then his own zeal will drive him to to remain a loyal employee, and everything for the prosperity and To contribute to the perfection of this system, not out of fufficiency for them, but out of a desire to serve humanity."

Bs

Finally came the last, or great, mystery class.

This degree was not yet worked out, and only exists in the plan. The work of the fame were the experiences and traditions of all this whatever was in the speculative field, in the secret nis of religion and in higher philosophy to men= fhically unfathomable, great, holy and important. Only twelve Areopagites would have been the members of this class, and at the departure of an Areopagite one would have been under the rain= ten elected one to re-occupy the place. (Lind= ner lc)

As wonderfully ideal as all this sounds, the cold examining mind cannot fail to recognize that in it as the core the doctrine lies: "Freedom and equality are the most essential Rights which man has in his original and first Perfection received from nature. The first Ver= The violation of freedom occurred through the political (state) felfchschafts or by the governments: The religious and burs The only support of property is the legal laws and of governments, hence, to turn people into citizens to restore the fundamental rights of freedom and equality, all existing religion and civil society and finally end with the abolition of property.

A new asforiation of the Minfhity, on Frechen Gite bet and fraternity and as a result fepterer, the Communis= mus should instead of the divisions into so many ftatelatye Ges societies, led by the Order, the school and the Bur concept of the supposedly highest spiritual and moral dolto menheiten. Shouldn't the purpose of "the Auden Fur to establish world dominion", the most powerful and vdllkommensten Renfen "be confused with the, roof Talent for intrigue, position or wealth of the Order
most useful people?" – A more perfect Chris ftuft doctrine was to be preached by the order priests to the Bolle and the moral bond between the Order and the (See Manifesto to the members of secret degrees and Systems in the manufacture for brothers at Schön in Pers lin 1794 published Masonic Library 7. Stunk. Lonis Blank, History of the French Revolution, p. 3 ff.)

How did the Illuminati Order differ essentially from the Templar? – The latter wanted to wur gyu hk the Res ftaration of the Order in its goods and rights, in fine political prestige; finally, he wanted revenge. He had to ft want as a means to this end what he had before the borft disorder in the arrogance of the consciousness of power wanted to create a world republic under the Thescrutian political rule of the Order, i.e.
an organized birth aristocracy. The Ilhaninate Order fubbed the Bafs of the birth aftocracy, that of the Talents, and left the next narrow purpose of the Templar Order; the fine goods restoration, as further included; because In the world, the community of goods was considered to be the basis for human foeintion, not for the individual, obeyed this human Affociation to the Order, which disposed of the fummhabe and over all the workforce. Thus, however, the Illuminati Order in fine being and in fine Fesmen nothing
other than a democratic= modern; praltic and om View of the Knights Templar.

Thus, the Wetshaupt's lateftem intervned as a mediator between the ecclesiastical=aftocratic nature of the Templar system and the natural=deist=social=democratic of the English system.
It appeared more perfect and pratti than both.
fhares sysftem. Of course, fine recording in the the whole Masonic world the most favorable. =

But soon the Illuminati Order suffered a hard blow
in Bavaria, after a split in opinion unexpectedly Weishaupt and Baron Knigge, his most useful assistants= workers. An evangelical preacher, named

Lanze, was struck by lightning in July 1785. with him an instruction from which it emerged that he as Illuminat was commissioned to travel to Silesia, the lodges to visit and explore various things, especially what they of the persecution of Freemasons in Bavaria. – This discovery was the signal for the general snuff. In Ingolstadt, the city chief judge Fifcher, the Librarian Drexl, the tutor Dufchel and others were deposed and expelled from the city; the Baron was also expelled from Mrs. enburg and fifteen other students from the University of Furthermore, Count Sapioli and the Marchefe Conftanzo retired and exiled to Italy; also the Canonikus Hertel and Baron von Meggenhofen were dismissed. Profeffor Bader, Hofrath Zwackh, the Barons von Ecker and Monjellaz, the auditors of Wernher and Berger, the school councillors Socher, Frohnhofer and Bucher, the Apotheker Wörz, the Hofkammerrath Maffenhausen, the priest Milbiller in Munich and many others were imprisoned, were deposed and several fled. On Prof. Weishaupt's – as the main donor, a price was set on his head. for which he received a pension in Gotha, where he fled and the title of Hofrat! –

On the orders of the then Elector, as mentioned above mentioned, – several house searches took place, and were in the house of the government councillor Zwackh in Landshut a lot Original documents found, which were issued on the orders of the Elector were printed under the title: Original Writings of the Illuminaten-Ordens“. Other documents of this kind were also found at the castle of Baron Baffus in Sandersdorf, which was “Addendum” 2c. were printed. ne

The Abbées Cofandey and Renner, the Hofammerrath Utfnchneider, and Profeffor Grünberger, had as illuminators-nats on the principles, purposes, means and intrigues of the Illuminatenbund made the most comprehensive statements and sworn confirmed that the original writings found are accurate, agreed; also reported that Illuminatism already (Hm in Austria, in Saxony, on the Rhine, in Italy, especially Venice, in France and in America third.

| | 7

98

Soon after, the bookseller Georg Joachim Gölfchen in Leipzig with his company in 1789 a remarkable brochure print, which contains the plan of the “advertising era”, through which the Illuminati in all of Germany – but above all especially in Prussia – under the name “German Union” were spread.

The publisher explained that an unknown hand had given him the Documents had been sent and that he was committed feel that the intended criminal enterprise is public to bring this information to our attention. The documents read:

“How, should only the supporters of enthusiasm and superstition for the preservation and spread their error have warmth and activity? Should Truth and enlightenment of the spirit will never be able to to warm hearts? Should the white men alone warm cold men? These who are content to own a jewel without desire to inspire humanity by communicating it and thereby make it enjoyable for yourself? What Would this be a sad phenomenon? – No, men of Nation! May this shame never befall you and the truth: – In the political world there is action and counteraction everywhere. effect, and – in all cabinets, balance is the first Subject of the business and the aim of all operations; it must also be in the moral world! – If the large groups of our antipodes with united forces fcient for the subjugation of reason and prevention of enlightenment, it would be hideous inertia and Cold, if there is not finally a connection between us= should find a solution that would be capable of producing a counteraction= and – if not victory, then at least balance to achieve – so that humanity does not once again become a bar= barei sinks, and through the overwhelming power of religious compulsion reason is subjugated by virtue. ()“ i “Accept therefore, friends of the good! like such a Connection can be possible as soon as you want, that is, foon you want the good alone and – your own will, who resolutely renounces greed and selfishness, and share in the joy of promoting the welfare of Humanity is content to cooperate in silence. – A society of 22 partly statesmen, partly public teachers, partly Private individuals, fth has already had over a year and a half ren proposed plan, which their Be= seem to be an infallible and by no human power contains a means to prevent the enlightenment and education of the To promote humanity and to remove all previous obstacles to it to gradually destroy, – a plan that is beyond this important good a special charitable institution

99

does, whereby every deserving man
the most pleasant situation can be provided. ()“

“Whoever feels warmed to the best of humanity, and to know this plan and, if he likes it, to who wishes to take part in its execution, either near or far, has nothing more to say than in a letter which he
to the person through whom this printed message was sent to him comes to the attention of the above-mentioned society, his attitude to explain his wishes and desires and to express his position and fine residence clearly. – No one is allowed to be concerned that he is involved in any connection or or monetary contribution will be required. The company is satisfied if for now the people – from all walks of life
the – who love the Enlightenment, gets to know, and about leaves it to the free choice of each individual whether he or she Examination of the plan, a mere friend of the same, or its wants to become a member and participant in its business. –
Only the only thing society reasonably demands from the one who wants to enter into correspondence with her, that he bear the costs that he himself causes. And since they are for this large company has its own 4 people of the Secretariat in, their center must maintain, for will anyone who writes to you and asks you to communicate of their Pleasures, partly for writing and dispatch of the letters he gradually receives from her, partly for the copies of what she sends him, at least one Thaler must be added if the company for the first year their effectiveness in terms of costs that should be.”

“The fact that society is currently angry ö7*

100

ly conceals, and the names of its members are not given to the pub:
ficum price is understandable to every worldly wise person who
it knows how often literary gossip and writing
ftelligenfe mischief has poisoned the air of men, Publicly appeared too fine. And it is just as easy to fee that they know the place and the few people who
The centre of this fraternity, even its members from the beginning and until they are hidden from each personal situation, character and attitudes properly recognized, and consistent with the great purpose it sets for itself mend found.”

“For whoever considers with cold blood how important it is, that on the one hand the fraternization to be established is a ity, and that on the other hand they also have remotest possibility of a war aimed at its destruction Cabal is secured, this secrecy will be in the highest ft degrees unavoidable, and through this consideration can overcome his curiosity."

"Whoever, however, demands from society the necessary receives the plan drawn up and after completing the investigation and examination of the same decides to become a member and participant to become, he immediately attains personal acquaintance with some of its most distinguished members, receives a transcript of their days= books and protocols and acts and sees effects, like all real members of the same. God bless all friends of the Good that no one misses this opportunity for such a fruitful Promotion (while he was so slow and with so much freedom every step he wants to take) with coldness may pass by." |

IL The oath formula.

"I, who write this with my own hand, swear by the God, whom I worship: 1) that I may fulfill the purpose of the German Union sincere love, and to help promote unfeigned intention; 2) that I will not use the services of the said company (called the German Union) to be presented to me plan no People show even the slightest of it, even the same, if he does not receive my approval, fo immediately want to burn; 3) that I also, if I Ran, I hope, executable, with the strictest principles of moral unanimity and for me personally of all significance= opportunities to promote them with the greatest possible warmth gen, but especially 4) all my acquaintances and correspondents fpondents, whom I love for the purpose of the German Union can trust, wants to encourage as much as possible to behave evenly, as I have done to address the society through me, and to contact her; 5) that if I am for should consider it a good idea to accept me as a member, and fo then the other real members learn, none of them= ben anyone wants to discover. Everything faithfully and fonder As I live and believe in a God and love. Given on 2c. 2c."

101

III. Plan of the Twenty-Two or the German fch Union.

"We have united to achieve the great purpose of the sublime= Founder of Christianity, enlightenment of humanity and Dethronement of superstition and fanaticism through a silent brotherhood of all who love God's work through= Our first effect (which has already progressed very far) hen is) consists in the fact that we everywhere through our Confidants as a society united for that purpose and that we can inform anyone who has a sense for this matter has, invite him to turn to us and our plan We strive first and foremost to see all good and to draw enlightened writers into our association, which will be all the easier, since in our plan you greatest economic advantage. Next, look for this we want to win over postmasters and post secretaries, to create to facilitate correspondence and prevent gender cabals of the people pursuing our correspondence genparty." |

"We also accept people from all walks of life, only no princes and ministers: – but their favourites."

"Whoever writes to us, we require an oath, us the greatest possible security against discovery and treason If he signs the oath, he receives the plan. and if he finds it good and noble, he will at least in fuch our promoter, that he fuffered his friends back on= calls for you to turn to us in the same way. In this way we not only distance the friends of our purpose and to know, but our number is also growing in Kutzem Thousands, because if only everyone who reads and feres plan our friend will send us two more, the enter into correspondence with us, – ten friends 20, twenty= produce tens of friends 40 and f. f. – This business (of which we have our own secretariat in our center,) fhall we continue until Providence blesses it, that in every place where there is any literary traffic, we know have at least one participant in our brotherhood."

102

"Then

the second era

and with it our second operation. We report with a one day to all allies everywhere that the German Union Confistenz has, and now share with us the brotherhood= ten part of the nation into provinces or didcefen, and bring them under ten to twelve counties, so that all the goods shops of the Didcepane into a comptoir, and the shops of all Comptoire in the Union House as the center of the Ganzen merge. – This creates two classes of Bers namely the clans of the common brothers and the Classes of conductors. The conductors only know and further purpose and the means to it, and actually make the Union, whose name and connection are unknown to the world not loud. At the end the matter gets a new Outside. Namely, the actual members now speak to their place where they live, not at all of Union, of Society-ficiency, of promoting enlightenment, etc., but act everywhere merely as a literary society-fommen, invite all friends of reading and useful Knowledge, – and then find the common brothers, who know nothing except that in their places their Society, but by no means that this society:

fociety, and we all have a fo bigger picture.”

“As reading societies are being established everywhere, (the “BUT such people can’t make a fuss, then look for the regiring brothers, each in his place, the following means to bring about 1) the introduction of the general intelligence bulletin, and to displace all other newspapers and journals;

108

which confirms the quality and completeness of our paper
2) To elect a secretary of their society len, which contains the prescriptions of the books they have prepared for reading books selected by the society according to the purpose of the Union and offers itself in its and the surrounding places, also other books for all lovers. If There is a bookseller in the town who has been won over to the Union and can be sworn in, it is fair to take this men because, as will be shown below, the book trade is gradually will fall into the hands of the Union. – And now
our moral power over the nation is already falling in the eyes, namely one understands what the Enlightenment win, superstition must lose, 1) if in all reading-societies of our brothers the books are chosen
2) if we have our confidants everywhere,
who make it their own business to promote enlightenment spreading the changing writings into the huts of the people;
3) when we have the loudest voice in the audience, and in generally read intelligence paper the writings of the fanaticmust either descend into the darkness or be in front of it-and make known the works of light alone and em-
4) if we gradually, by following the good

Writers can debit all their writings through us, the bookstore=del completely to us, and thereby cause that finally the writers who write for superstition, neither casually still keep an audience. When we finally 5) through us fer spread will attract all good minds to us, and thereby be able to be used in all orles, families, farms etc. to work in silence, and to occupy the Court offices, secretariats, parishes, etc. f. w. get influence."

Note: That we are completely taking over the book trade= what was once the purpose of the scholarly bookshop It is understandable that the writers who wrote with hold us, now get a three times larger audience, and find promoters of the debit of their writings in all places, consequently their profit multiplied many times, – and gradually everything will fall to us."

"If everything is arranged like this, the German Union will following republican figure, in whose consideration the readers

10%

just always have to keep in mind that the Union never appear before the world in this form, but will only be visible to the conducting members! (Follows a sketched drawing of the Union in its completion: ae | Masterpiece could not be found.)

V. To the sworn members of the German Union. Without any special value, only recommends the distribution of the printed matter to be published as referred to under VI.

| Message.

Announcement of the intended writing. The announcement is composed in a generality which has its revolutionary The purpose can be guessed at, but not clearly identified. Therefore can be skipped here.)

VII. "We send you, worthy man, an improved= ten plan, with the request to abolish the old one if possible, and At the same time, we inform you that the Union has been over 200 of the most worthy men as sworn members

This year you will receive a General= list will be communicated, with the order to inform all members, which you may know as not being of your fullest find it worthy of trust to sign us. We hope that if all our certified persons read such a list, and similar members mark, to see quite bright and to experience where once the traveler should speak in or pass by.

Please do your utmost to spread the Union, as the maintenance of our Secretariat is based on. We We call you most respectfully your loyal allies, XXII."

VIII. Provisional plan of the German Union.

(The most important document, it explains the whole later revolutionary policy. History has shown that the plan is practical (The purpose of the Union is to promote the of humanity, which through enlightenment and development enthrone of despotism. The means by which this essential purpose of the Union together with the real The advantages of the allies are as follows:

1) The Union has among itself a secret operations= plan, according to which it will be possible to open bookstores in their to close its sphere of influence. And it will come to the end, with the not damaging the existing booksellers, fit be- hen, to fatigue them gradually with themselves By attracting the book trade, it gets in their power to increase the writings for the Enlightenment, and to reduce the opposites by gradually increasing the Authors of the latter will lose publishers and audiences."

105

"2) The Union shall, as soon as it has confidence, give the pub- lish a general, political=literary intelligence journal, which ches through its inner goodness as well as through the influence of Allies, gradually all other leaves of this kind displaced; and thereby gains the power to to vote for everything that is conducive to their purpose and to= equal – partly the writings resulting from their trade to recommend and distribute quickly and everywhere – partly all artists, merchants, etc. allied with her on multiple to favor wisely." E

| "3) The Union establishes reading societies in all places according to a common plan and thereby brings all their

writings that promote their purpose into the hands of the reading world, with Expulsion of those who oppose it."

"4) The Union is carrying out a certain kind of rapid, almost free and undetectable correspondence among themselves, which the secret plan outlines, and which all members all places to find out everything, what is happening in the world for or against their purpose, and to get to know all people who through bright Head, talents, skills etc. distinguish themselves. And these Public knowledge, in turn, enables the Union to to have influence everywhere, for all offices the best To recommend subjects &c. and to attract everything to oneself, what is useful for their purpose."

"What this correspondence reveals apart from the essential Purpose of the Union, the individual members as writers, Merchants &c. for themselves for advantages, the will be clear to the thoughtful reader."

"The Union will only have consistency if every place in Germany that is of some importance, we at least one sworn member is present. And to ensure this to accomplish, it seeks now, in the first epoch of its effectiveness, and commits its Members for the time being nothing more than that they with the zeal warmed every man of head and good character, whatever his status, seek to join the Union. The entry ation or recruitment takes place in such a way that the recruiter which he intends to bring to the community, existence and purpose of the German Union, and if he wants to join demonstrates that he offers him this oath in writing:

"I, who write this personally and voluntarily, I swear by the God I worship that I will fulfill the purpose of German Union sincerely love: and I hereby pledge, without all restrictions and reservations, the most sacred secrecy in all that has become known to me after taking this oath will be made, as far as everything, as I hope, with my previous duties that I owed to the state (why not to the king) nig?) and humanity's debt, I tolerate. Also promise I hereby declare that, if I am familiar with the company and its plan, falls, and I decide to join her, which I to free consideration, with the greatest possible zeal for its effectiveness: as true as I believe in a God believe and love. Given" | i

in 1789.

(LS) NN

"Whoever takes this oath will then be informed by the recruiter the plan and the extract from the list of names, and sends the received written oath, together with a Thaler Contribution to the costs that everyone must pay upon entry to the Archive. As soon as this advertising era of the German Union ended fine, and that is likely to be future early year (1789), the men of the nation are given a Invitation to a synod. Those who are willing to find, immediately bring the secret operation plan together= ly clean. When this is completed, immediately nige, with authority and legitimacy from the Synod= rüftet, through all places where sworn members find, at the place a [] (lodge) according to old simple Ni- tual, and communicate the secret operational plan orally. And these LIL) then make the conducting Clafe of the Union." |

"Each LI then immediately donates to its place

a reading society, and at the same time represents the dafi bud-

107 |

dealer, if he wants, or calls on a suitable man, who is responsible for the mechanical management of the reading society, and is also the collector or forwarder of the Union, so that from now on the Union in all parts of Germany will Comptoirs through which she conducts her book trade, and which directs the ebb and flow of their correspondence. And then all at once the whole big machine is in motion, whose Businesses unite in one center. -"

| IX. "A Circular."

"Most worthy brothers! The XXII, some of whom are in Halle, partly live in Berlin, - and through easily guessed Un who are forced to remain hidden for the time being, and who have so far entrusted me with the direction of the Secretariat hattru, have instructed me to report to the allies that they give up their previous relationship from now on, and nothing want to be more than members of the German Union and eager Promoters of their noble end goal. And often hope thereby the Union, for which they have now sacrificed enough and dared (which in time became clear to all allies) the fould) to render the greatest service, by immediately removing all fear before secret superiors, and a common verse trust the brothers is possible. They therefore all beat= my allies, to form the Union as a free republic.

lik in Didcefanfschaften and the following form of

"To introduce business management during the nether first era."

"1) In each province the allies choose among themselves a diocesan who corresponds with the others, with them jointly operates the advertising business and is Payment of postage and maintenance of a sworn Amanaensis retains half of the cost contribution Thaler, which is paid annually by all members. – 2) Each of these diocesan then sends a report every 2 months to the center, where the archive is, of everything that is in fine Didcefe for spreading= tation about Union, together with half of the received a contribution to the costs. – 3) Each diocese sends first of all, after consultation with his diocese, his Vote, which determines whether the center with the Archive will remain in Halle, or be relocated elsewhere=

the foll? In the latter case, I will update the archive as soon as

108

but in the first place I request that from all Dibcefan= fcences a certificate signed by the members, in which I am the archivist and central representative of the Union recognized and confirmed. – 4) In the Centro then of all incoming reports for all dioceses Copies are made and sent out, so that every 2 months each Diocesan of all events of all dioceses news receives." `

"If these proposals are approved by the Allies and I learn the names of those who have the dice fanat, I immediately send to all Diocesan general lists from the whole Union, and share at the same time a secret opera that was very much approved by many tion plan, so that it can be implemented before the first epoch, and then, through joint consultation, brought to a clear conclusion can be. – And another suggestion! The Union could not be easier to deal with all the cabals and Defamation escapes, as if it were just in front of Publicum', which announced as German Union, its Purpose declared and some of its most respected members publicly lich called. Between us, our doctor Dr. Weber is angry fuffifcife to have his name printed as soon as only a few fih decide to do so. The outside, which we Publicum could show, is from the enclosed Sheets to be seen, which as an appendix to conscious writing from=

and should contain the names of those who give me permission to name them. I ask Now, most worthy brothers, most urgently, remind me of the to instruct as quickly as possible about all this, and, through harmonious Measures, the Union and with it the Cause of God and the
To give humanity strength and permanence. I call myself
Yours sincerely, your loyal ally Bartels, Royal Highness= bailiff in Halle ad Saale. Given in November 1788."

X. "Appendix to the text on Enlightenment and their means of transport."

"There have already been many rumors in the public sneaked around, from an already founded society, the German Union. We, the undersigned, as members and The officers of this company have, by mutual agreement:

109

Council considers it necessary to declare the German Union as really announce and inform the public of our intentions to teach yourself, in order to help many who will soon be possibility of secret societies, soon of secret superiors faid because he heard it that way, or – perhaps just had dreamed, all further investigation, suspicion and fear
gen, and to all who share our spirit feel invigorated to make the way to our connection known
We therefore first stop creating a secret society fcietiy and present ourselves and our purpose to the pub= lifum. – Our purpose is – enlightenment and its possible irst distribution. And the writing about enlightenment, the some of us have worked on, shows sufficiently what we
We do not seek to know all possible things.
niffe, which are among enlightened nations, among to spread the word to the people: because that would be impossible and in many views can also be harmful; we understand by clarification only, habituation of man, in moral and economic truths, which and if they are lucky= feldom are in a necessary connection, fhis own need reason, and not rather something for granted to hold until he has clear concepts and rational Reasons for this were considered, examined, and felt irresistible, and – in this reasonable belief by a proven authority."

"We are also far from achieving a volt increase clarification to suppress all authority, that we rather oppose=

fidely concerned about the fearch for the appearance

white men in general, and (especially for the Boff)

the importance of Holy Scripture in particular.

– So this enlightenment – so described – is not that of Fragmentists, Horus and the like – not the Bahrd=

tice, which seems to 1 ftill the Bible is complete, –

is the purpose of our association.”

“And although such a noble purpose, of every single thinking people can be promoted in any situation, so We still wanted to try to bring all the white and good Men of the nation, from all walks of life, for this purpose and to unite, and a social connection to establish among them, 1) because it is a kind of blessed=

*

110

ability to know all (fic) like-minded souls and to be with them to be in a joint effectiveness; because it is 2) ju-especially desirable for travellers, in all places where people fhese to find out which with us of one spirit and one sense, and 3) also at home in social life, it is good to have a glité of people among whom one can pour out one's heart and exchange knowledge for knowledge fhe, and through free communication of others the fhis areas can chern.”

“Whatever means we have chosen for this purpose,
This seems to us to be hardly a question, of course not other than those which are appropriate to the nature of the matter.
We want to write good books that provide true enlightenment
We want to recommend good writings of this kind and We want to seek out enlightened people who
We want to make known, recommend and support you.
We need to educate ourselves more and more and to use different self-communicating the highest treasure of mankind –

the truth – to enrich ourselves. That we, when we may one day have our own distribution for our writings intend, and use part of the profits to establish a apply to the community and thus ensure the supply serving men in old age or misfortune, to educate their surviving children, provision for their widows, and similar cial secondary works, the audience not be blatant.”

“We have no more secrets, except that we

–not also the lifts of all members and our lore response and have invoices printed, we will probably in no reasonable person's eyes a questionable secret= society, since every society, every guild, every Trading society etc. etc. such things for itself keeps, without therefore be declared questionable. – And should one or the other, in whose spirit we cannot think and to act as an alleged member of the here= with publicly announced German Union other purposes and other means spread on his hand, and part= enlisted, we hereby declare solemn= ical that such recruiters and recruits do not become clearly

Union, and that therefore all those who are affected by this 111

Explanation of their previous connection with us doubtful
and all who will join us in the future

want to contact one of the friends named Endes and a Cer= tificate of their acceptance into society.

Every friend of freely chosen truth and virtue, who Superstition, fanaticism, Jesuitism etc. in equal degree away, will be welcome to us. He can confidently one of us issued a letter and informed us about the spe= cial institution of our society, and it will
at any time depend on him whether he, after receiving further information Instruction, whether you want to join us or not. The address iff to the German Union, which was then an envelope which is made with the address of one of the named must be overwritten. However, we wish that everyone, to save postage, contact the person who graphically the next ift.”

Given in December 1788.

List of the German Union.

This list contains the names of 260 a ds faf
only of the scholars in 140 cities.

Duke Ferdinand of Brunswick, to avoid confusion
To put an end to it, a kind of general Reichstag wrote all Freemasons to Wilhelmsbad bel Hanau, the
was held in 1782.

The Convention also ostensibly decided on the question: whether the Freemasonry was a continuation of the Knights Templar and whether the real secret of the unknown superiors of today's secret Templars to search for freedom? – Rach 30 Sißungen these questions were apparently answered in the negative and Hund's Tem= pefherrenfytem feemly abolished so that general welfare activity (under a very dark discussion of the term) recognized as the general purpose of the Order and that it is based on four degrees, including the Knight of Charity, limited and Duke Ferdinand of Brannfschweig as General=Grand Mei= fter of the inner order and all classes of Freemasons
An inner Orient and consequently also a N
Doctrine was retained. |

Under the title “Eminence”, the Duke signed as Grand Master following capitulation: |

112

“The three symbolic degrees of Freemasonry should only a fourth degree under the title of Scottish Charity knight of the order (chevalier de bienfaisance) should be added, which cher as a communication point between Freemasonry and the inner order should be seen, the inner order should consist of two grades of novices and knights; the officers= fees of the Lodges may, regardless of whether they are in the Scottish or in the Master Degree, form the Committee of the Lodge and the prepare the items to be undertaken by the Lodge; in each
The parish should have the immediate resignation of the lodge fight over the symbolic lodges; the previous or= 5 within the Order should be maintained=

»Eindner J. c. S. 33. v. Wedekind J. c. Complete Gee

= 1. p. 79.)

The real result was therefore a few equal between the different systems, by virtue of which the Templars were granted the entire directory, the New English System or latent observance but its inner self-strategy= By granting her Order of St John a Schottengrad, she even allowed a formal degree of connection with the Templar Order. And by creating a new Orient and recognized the directorial rights of the Scottish Lodge, she obviously subjected her participation in the order to the leadership of the Scottish Directory, and it is therefore difficult to understand how whose abolition can be believed to be a Convention decision.

The declaration of the abolition and the replacement of the Templar purpose by an alleged charitable purpose was obviously again a political illusion of the world, to the, as a result of the French Revolution, aroused suspicion to appease revolutionary order participation.

And since this inner order only includes members of this fourth degree, since every higher one against the members of lower degree, the higher degree had to be kept secret, so the Templar Order also in its influence on the inner life of the lower John Freemasonry.

The two lodges in Frankfurt and Wetzlar now declared immediately after the conclusion of the Wilhelmsbad Convention, in a circular, "that they should restore the old simple Freemasonry in their simplicity and by impartial examination of the content of all systems, which contributes to the promotion of the true purpose could serve Freemasonry and not as the three degrees of Freemasonry in them," added but also with: "if they wanted to free every brother= len, also in order to see a grass to look around." –

113

Because they wanted to check everything and keep the best, They called themselves eclectics and declared freedom and equality among the lodges, as well as among the brothers, as an unchanging= fundamental principle of their association. – Thus the eclectic =the Bund, as an association of about 30 Johannite lodges, the although continuously with the great lodge in London a brother= maintained a close connection, but otherwise independently stand. (v. Wedekind I. c.)

But now the lodges of the eclectics also went significant step forward in the emancipation of the old democratic Krautic Johannite Freemasonry from the rule of the Scottish System, they did not exclude such a thing as much as the others Systems with higher degrees of effectiveness in their by allowing its members to participate in each

n systems. :

The reason for both the Wilhelmsbad settlement and
This concession on the part of the eclectics should not only be in re-fights of protection for one's own, even those of higher grades associated members, but also in the knowledge
It seems that, while on the one hand democracy was growing displacement of the aristocratic nature and purpose in the Templar Order through the Weishaupt system, from the aristocratic Krautic elements of the Templar Order have little to fear have, on the other hand, experienced what is so excellent tending protective significance, whose wise discipline and performance tation, democracy is a highly useful and helpful power may remain, without the lodges of the eclectics the danger that for higher, more positive aspirations. Yes, it There had to be a considerable number of masons who were still in Wahn lived, their Masonic duties in the modern English system of system with their civic duties, which but were suspicious of the higher grades and from sense of duty towards them.

In addition, the results of the investigation against the. Illumi~ nate Order, endangered the whole of It was 114

urgently needed, the names of the Illuminati and the Templar League from that of the Masonic League.

The character of this system is clearly evident in the Circular fine Correspondenzloge in Wetzlar and Frankfurt from 18 March 1783, of which under No. XXVII of the Confessions Copies is given.

The Manier Brother and Writer (Acerellos J. e. Th. 3
p. 197) says aptly: "It seems as if the pen-ter of this system by establishing a general tolerance to the main principles of the same, sought to obtain by this means a To pave the way to select from all systems what best suits the dogmatic, political and philosophical doctrines the An-would be the most measured and by the similarity with his system of Illuminatism best suited this one." I add:
Read the circular and you will have to admit that it reads:
"Everything is permitted, you can only control the governments over the negligence ." – The entrance already asks: "Freedom and equality find the rock on which the Masonic League rests, Wisdom, strength and beauty form its pillars, humanity, Unity and friendship are fine cement! –"

Three new systems were now seen appearing in Germany, the Schröder's in Hamburg, the Feßler's in Berlin and the Krause's in Dresden; but Schröder's was only a crippled replica of the Illuminati Order, which is The purpose and means were described under other names and with as much coverage as possible, as I have already mentioned in Brief explanation of the Illuminati Order.

Supposedly, instead of all higher degrees, knowledge stages introduced, which provide historical instruction for all higher grade, which is available to all members of the Engbund without 1 and is communicated free of charge. (Full history. d. F. M 96.)

Now = here too a closer bond, eingeweiβete and non-initiated brothers, among the initiated levels: series of education and elevation! ,

The Krause system was essentially nothing but a highly pompous and mystical description of the New English system, without the force of the absolute exclusion of Systems of the f. g. higher degrees, even with retention of the Symbols which had been brought into Johannine Freemasonry and with the epitome of the teaching: "It shall be the one in the overdelivered words and rituals dwelling spirit firmly goes and at all times under the necessary conditions are promoted into life."

113

The conflict between Krauss's subjective challenges and fine system clauses are particularly evident in the postscript from the above sentence. He adds: "First the society will receive an organic institution, then the Interpretation of the symbols as subordinate to each individual is free. 4 And yet they will be introduced into life, these teachings of symbols? Well, we will left out, these ecclesiastical, political and social completely revolutionary symbolteaching, which this faxen SystemCreator wants to be brought to life.

The main principles of fine teachings were as follows:

1.

"The essence of art, which until now has only been Freemasonry, but actually by all People should understand and practice it, consists in the harmonious union of a true, rational Faith in God, with inner moral perfection and with fair and loving sociability. Consequently, the free masons, who already are not all working masons and Architects find, apart from the art of architecture and the necessary Sciences and Arts, and one more to all their brothers, indeed, all people possess a peculiar and essential art,
 which is for the whole human being and for all humanity fully. To symbolize this, objects of Architecture as symbols (or teaching signs) and customs applied. The exercise of this innocent and venerable art, or the art of the whole undivided humanity= life, which is also called a spiritual art of building, for The newly admitted person must start immediately. He should first self-edit, from everything superfluous, from everything the purify themselves of inhuman, anti-human and illegal develop to such an extent that he is completely worthy of humanity, think politely, justly and lovingly towards all people and act, and distribute his time equally among all his duties= ten and distribute professional business."

8th *

116

2. |

"As a whole, harmoniously educated human being in the spirit of
 To think, to want and to live humanity is Freemasonry= here. To awaken and strengthen this spirit, through it the
 To help form humanity in the person of each brother, to prepare and support people to they once united in universal love and peace a humanity may become, that is the determination of freedom= masonry fraternity. This is what distinguishes the fraternity derived from all other social associations and institutes.
 For all these form man only in a single Refutation; only a single part of human destiny constitutes the essence and territory of each of them;
 But none of them affects the whole, undivided human being, none encompasses the whole of human nature and the whole of humanity in their whole life." :

3.

"Just as Freemasonry brings life to the spirit of all humanity, ity and the whole does not contradict its living parts= speak, nor disturb them, so does the Masonic Brotherhood derfchschaft with all human endeavors, with all individual social institutions in natural, inner harmony. Since they forms the whole person and leads to everything good and beautiful inclined and capable, it also prepares each individual human institutes a sacred place and the way to mind of every Freemason. Freemasonry is therefore a single germ of the general human union, the is so essential to every life of humanity as the the body."

4.

"What is in the aspirations of all peoples and so many gods= to recognize what is worthy and successful of enthusiastic people= their relationship to the eternal archetype(?) of man= ity, the universe and the peculiar calling of humanity of this earth, to measure justly and truly; to explore what is now for humanity in man= ity covenant, and how our work is of the past wisely and artfully and the first knew truth openly to proclaim to all (2) and to be faithful to him live: this is our highest calling, our sacred duty; and

117

Only in this spirit do all the individual works of the new Humanity's foundation, fullness, power and beauty!!"

5.

"Masonry and all its undertakings for the welfare of Humanity should be in the spirit of God, that is, the essence of God according to the living, thought and done. Presence of God done and thought in Freemasonry, so is it is primal, primal, and in a word, primal, human."

6.

"Freemasonry should be the educator of humanity in all Human, insofar as the divinity of the people are meant by it." |

7.

"The archetype of humanity, or the primal man as god, thought deeply, is the beginning of Masonry and indeed of free masonry, because it is independent of history-lichem, historifcal-posiftive or external statutory and only serves to give spiritual to determine its value or worthlessness."

(Compare sentence 4. But who or what is the archetype? – According to Sentence 4 one believes one can think of God or Christ, here one can see that the first purely created human being is meant,
who is to become godly and divine again through Masonic consecrated education, that is, man is God himself.)

| 8. | |

"Understood in a purely human and scientific way, it is virtue" live in a pure moral spirit and in a pure moral will – Knowledge, insight into a structure (system) of knowledge= thaft – moderation, subordination of every individual drive to the Primal drive for the primal good, which strives in the one primal will will be – and well-measured self-praise determination and limitation every expression, every individual impulse through wisdom, that is ift Les wisdom of beft, – patience, prudence in abstaining from every im= benefit or morally forbidden counteraction against obstacles with a cheerful spirit and continued work in good spirits. – Fröm= migkeit, total surrender to God's original life order with god= intimate use of all one's own powers for the good, – Brotherly love, self-praise (personal) love, – general love, loving attitude (pietas) for every sentient being, in which 118

a love for God, and therefore also pure human love for every human being fchen, in the one love of humanity. A 9.

In the appreciation of the traditional symbols, as well as over=
The whole state of the fraternity must be judged according to the times and circumstances in which they were invented, be distinguished from the assessment according to the original concept and archetypes and from the special assessment according to the the model image that determines the current situation. It is intended to the spirit dwelling in the traditional words and rituals held firmly and at all times under the necessary brought into being under difficult conditions.
First, society should receive an organic structure, then the interpretation of the symbols, as subordinate, is left to each individual."
Lindner I. c. p. 99.

Finally, as regards Feßler's system, this fit the difficult task of determining the purpose and means of the Illu=

minaten=Order into external form, which their Dul=
dition pages of the Prussian crown and another back= hope of the retreat of the aristocratic Templar element. It
He succeeded in reforming the Grand Lodge Royal Pork into Friendship He drafted a constitution book, laid out the felbe to King William III for approval and he=
He spoke in this so-called basic treaty against the king the following sentences: .

"A Freemason is everywhere where he is fit and a peaceful subject of civil power. He fshould therefore not be involved in any mutinies or conspiracies, which disturb the peace and welfare of the people with whom he lives, a=
– We recognize obedience and loyalty to the Re= agents and the state as our basic law. – We must show the whole world how beneficial, mild and pleasant the Ein= flow of Freemasonry, and like all white honest and faithful Masons have acted from the beginning of the world and up to the end of the same. – No quarrels or Disputes over religion or state affairs should be brought to the door of the lodge; because as a Mason
we all find of the above-mentioned ancient universal religion (Nature religion). We are also like our predecessors,

119

always hostile to state quarrels, because such are detrimental to peace= and are contrary to the welfare of the lodge."

Feßler further says: "Masonry is its basic purpose
no refource for social entertainment, no alliance against state power, no academy of secret sciences
ten, no propaganda of religious enlightenment and may it nor will it be. – She will never enter into any relationship= ation with a society that is forever political ends. She will be careful not to put her ass Work and effects both in and outside the lodges, in the whole zen or by individual members, even the most remote political tendency. – Since at the same time the so-called Enlightenment thinkers increasingly see themselves as: the truth and the human welfare, then no one will be able to achieve their basic loyal Masonic Lodge the so-called spread of the Enlightenment tion in its purpose or in its means. – In the holy temple, under whatever burdens sighing humanity only in pure, fit goodness, only in of unwavering loyalty and devotion to the rain= and proclaim the state, salvation, healing and happiness=
get. The necessary sanctuary of Masonry is, according to worthy of its purpose, majestic before us."

But how can the following most striking contradictions be explained explain with the above! – Feßler says in the same basic sense tragedy of the great Masonic lodge=Bundes Royal= Pork u. A.: “Watch your words and your actions, so that the fharp= nift stranger could not discover what was to be revealed to him not appropriate. Also, tricky questions from strangers be cleverly distracted by Freemasons. – Your`– follow the foreign brother according to your wisdom forge examine yourselves carefully and take care not to give him some characteristics so that you are not misled by false pretending to be deceived.” – “Finally, you should all Duties, in addition to those which are imposed on you by a other way to be made known, diligently observe= ten!” – What kind of duties are these, which are imposed by a be made known in another way?? Why were these not also submitted to the king for examination? – Finally, it is demanded that a true Freemason never fhe break his vow, that is: never mysteries of higher degrees younger brothers. Masonic books may not be Librarians to the brothers only with regard to their degree and only for living in the lodge – in the case of severe Oaths!! – The guarantor presented by the new applicant a description of his character, with reference to some facts= fts that shed light on his way of thinking: – about the Services that the Order can expect from him: must be handled with extreme caution!! ufw

120

But Feßler also wrote “a critical history” of the Free masonry and veiled in the narrative and reasoning Form fine system=teaching. The manuscript is the property of so-called Grand Lodge, which did not have it printed, but only in written form to individual trusted lodges.

The price of such a copy is 300 thalers or more! The work consists of 4 parts and 850 folio pages. The Preface and the table of contents are in the “as Manu: fcript for Brothers printed magazine for Freemasonry”: Year= printed in 1825 from page 361. From the same The following sentences still find space here:

“I am aware that according to the rules of historical art worked and created a whole, in whose judgment the overfelfing over the confifng all the more= must proceed, as I have reason to believe that of the Main subjects that I had to deal with, my views different from the attacks of the greater part of the brothers fine. Among these items, the most excellent are to which I would like to draw attention here: the person Jefu, fine purpose, fine work, religion, church, reason= belief, belief in authority, belief in church dogma, Freemasonry= Fraternity, Lodges, Masonry, l'Ordre de Franc-Maçons, Lodges, Masonic Lodges, System Lodges &c. &c. In the treatment of the same, I was neither Lutheran nor Calvinist; not Catholic, not Atheist, not Deist, not even a Christian. So it had to happen that to me the Jesus, as reason recognizes him and the noble-feeling human heart must adore and love, impossible=

ly become the Jesus of the Church and theology.
This is the reason for my sharp and determined separation of the Kingdom of God from the Church, of religion from Churchism, the rational belief in church dogmas= or belief in authority."

*

121

"No one may be allowed to read this work
for whom it was not written. – Least of all but it is written for people who have never had the will or have had the ability to speak about the results of their religious gypsy, ecclesiastical and Masonic thought, or about the Content everything that you pray, a strict and fundamental to hold a formal audit. The participating lodges or trusted brothers may therefore only those of their fellow brothers were called to the lectures, which they through their thus active participation in the lodge work is worthy, and both through impartiality of mind, as through the necessary pre= knowledge, to consider receptive."

"Just as the whole work is divided into 4 main parts,
The lodge leaders or the trusted brothers must also
of those who are worthy and receptive to communication found members their lodges in four classes
each of which represents a major part of the work more often or at least as often as a new member to be admitted to this or that class,
It will be quite useful to wear the two Sections of the fourth main part of the first, the first Main part of the second, the second main part of the third and to allocate the third main part to the fourth class. The Na= ture and nature of my object required me to Main parts are to be arranged as they are written; the In= but the same seems to be true with regard to the brothers in Lectures more on the order proposed here."

"With a larger number of brothers who represent the lodges=ftender or the trusted brothers to the in this work created have the right to make the manuscript available to any person will be given into the house, should be in the felf in the Mau=world increasingly declining loyalty and faith=ly, and the premature hopes that have become known to me gen of some lodge masters, the work through the carelessness fine fiber, or through the betrayal of the participants far easier than getting from me, maybe realift soon; However, the manuscript was only given to a few brothers, but deny all others this use, could here and since the lodge leaders or trusted brothers in some=which involve them in unpleasant relationships with their fellow brothers.

*

a

122

The best and safest thing is to teach the British which only refers to the frequent joint lectures refer or, if you want to read the manuscript yourself wish to allow them to read privately only in the presence of one of the Leaders or trusted brothers who lee in their to grant protection."

"The jointly repeated lectures will certainly about what I left obscure or incomplete, give rise to very thorough remarks."

"Finally, I ask and implore the participants

Lodge leaders and trusted brothers in everything that sacred to them, the entire contents of the manuscript against publication and profanation, whether through printing or by transcription, in whole or in part, by the most appropriate and effective measures, and here=through their own honor= and Masonic word against Com=to secure the promise!!!" |

Contents. "Part One. The Kingdom of God."

"Section 1. Remarks on the Mysteries of the Ancients. 2. Section. The Pythagorean League. 3. Section. The Egyptian League in Egypt and Palestine. Section 4. John the Herald and Jesus the Founder of the Divine=chen Empire were brought up by the Effeers and were raised by the Efeers. Jesus did not want the Jews^s thum reform, nor create a new religious sect

the, nor build a church, but under the Kingdom of God he established merely had the purpose of the Estonian League partly expand, partly all-make it more common, partly under a simpler and hide behind a more reasonable shell. –

Section 5. Origin of the Christian Church through the Apo^s ftel and those who were raised from the synagogue into the kingdom of God^s taken Jews who did not forget their synagogue constitution fen and worked without ceasing to bring about the established Kingdom of God into a synagogue-like, dogmatic, persecuting, persecuting church.”

| One recognizes the Weishaupt system in subtle ways

here already in the indicated religious doctrine, as well as in the skillful maintenance of the division of the religious brothers and felf of the lodges in participating lodges or trusts

123 |

Brothers and their counterparts, as in the retention of hõ^s higher degrees with strictest secrecy against the lower degrees.

This finally gains even more confirmation through that the other two Berlin Grand Lodges initially had reservations carried out the Feßler reform of the 3rd Grand Lodge.
because it seemed politically questionable to them.

This was the course of the history of the Freemason^s
deus in Germany until the time of the French Revolution.
If we look back again at the moral Situation of Germany, as I see it in this section of the history of French masonry that, one cannot know that before 1780 Deutchlaud's population was in quite^s ly the same situation as that of France. It be^s found three Christian churches, but each taught strictly positivve certain church dogmas and these teachings of each church were their members sacred objects of their faith.
And since the churches taught: “Fear God, honor the King,
Obey your authority, for king and authority find God appointed; love your neighbour as yourself,” was Discipline and order and deep compassionate love of neighbour, not vain charity among the people, and everyone be^s

was content with his position, his honour and his mainly with what his God had given him.
But with the second half of the last century,

– which observer of history could deny it – but –

In Germany, too, the appearances on every literary field the cautious character of hostility next against the churches and against all class structures, yes
it against the thrones, by especially in the works of history and the stages, the images of Characters and modes of government of former and foreign

Monarchs, if they did not unconsciously act as precedents for democracy had worked, hatefully disfigured. A strict Geneva and polis.

time in church and state in Germany paralyzed the bolder Flight in this direction, and caused the fruits to bear less quickly than in France. However, the fact that the Illuminati Order in Bavaria this high dangerousness about leads, but in the rest of Germany not only no criminal persecution that Weishaupt in Gotha was 124

Duke was showered with honours; that, as thought,
tens of conspirators finely reworked advertising plan in extensive ter Weise could be carried out with impunity, shows, say I, all this unmistakably from the powerful protections of this dangerous order.

We have already seen from French history that even the Kaiser of Germany, Joseph II., that Frederick II., King of Prussia, that almost the vast majority of German Monarchs sought their glory in joining the French philosophers' conspiracy in the Masonic order or at least to favour the Order. Germany's nobility followed these brilliant models, but monarchs and nobility found their ambition already satisfied in the connection with the Phi-losophen-conspiracy. They had no idea what they were doing nor did they show the philosophical element the sufficient lower position in the order, but they added

it rather rely on its overhead line until the tremors
the French Revolution the hitherto subtle and practical Arrogance turned into brutal demands, and the Validity of the knightly element in the Order itself the formal had to give up the basis.

When the revolution in France found its original fathers had devoured, when the heads of the old secret Societies could no longer control and guide their child, when the terror of one man destroyed all the secret societies, then of course also in Germany the democracy in the order itself its agitations against the aristocratic element to unbridled indignation come and throw off all subordination. – To do this he monarchs' concerns about the secret orders Societies, and now finally in 1794 the Order of the of the German Freemasonry Association under the Grand Mastership of the Duke of Brunswick the following, forever curious
The manifesto to the members of secret degrees and Systems. (Printed in the Manuscript for Brothers
by Schön in Berlin in 1794 published the Masonic Library, 7.) It read: "In the general storm of political and moral revolutions of this age, in this epoch of the highest enlightenment and the deepest delusion, would be it is a crime against truth and humanity, things

123

longer to be kept in the veil of secrecy, which only explanation of everything that has happened so far happened, and will still happen; and which tantend and Thousands of people must be taught whether the ways in which then have been conducted for a longer period of time, the Ways of folly or wisdom. We are talking about
To you, worthy brothers of all secret degrees and Systems!
The curtain must finally be raised for you, that you see with unblinded eyes the light according to which then you always look fruitlessly, but see nothing of it taken as deceptive rays, and a holy haze
kel, dimly lit by a magic oil lamp."

"The time of completion is near. But know this:
Completion is destruction. We have built under the rivers through the darkness to climb the summit, from where we can finally look freely into all regions of light
But the summit has now become unclimbable. The darkness

°

niß flies away, and a light that is more terrible than that,

Darkness itself strikes our eyes. – We see ourselves fer building shattered into thousands and thousands of ruins. We see a destruction that our hands are no longer able to arrange find. And therefore we release the builders from their work

With the last hammer blow we topple the pillars of rewards. We leave the destroyed Tem= pel, as a great business for posterity, that they
to raise him up again from his ruins, and to as the present builders destroyed it, because they were too fwiped ahead in their work, and the voice of =
of our masters, who always came down to them from above
shouted: "Haste is not wisdom and folly is not virtue!"
"There are many things we cannot and must not say;
but you must experience all that the destruction of the

Not in the dark language of the

We will speak to you in hieroglyphics and allegories.
the laity should hear and understand us; and how many are there

there is not among you who are of the spirit and purpose of the Order and its secrets just as little and only a lot= easily know far more incorrect things than the laymen themselves!

A single chain surrounds the whole, now for us enormously extensive tissues of all secret degrees

*

and systems of the earth. In a single
At the center of omniscience all flow together.
It is only an order. Its purpose is fine ft secret and its origin together with the tels of its effectiveness is its second."

"We do not know what your masters are doing at your arrival may have demanded of you; but if they do not all that you will hear immediately, so were fle treacherous traitors to the sanctuary of the covenant, and fos your enemies as enemies of humanity, for whose service
the covenant was created uniquely."

"Your masters had to tell you further, as our fathers who had taught us that the secrets of Federal fluggishly only very few masters
" should be known fine, for what follows from a secret
what many people know? – The real and safest
The test of whether someone was part of our alliance was therefore:
fine curiosity to give captive to the violence
the insight of the superiors."

"You know only too well that this wise renunciation in ge= wis ages was called slavery. Now, with obedient felpless children, rebellious apprentices and journeymen,
In the case of rebellious masters, the leaders of the Federation had to withdraw their hand from their work. They were too powerless= to stop the flow of impure desires. Every youngest apprentice demanded the complete unlocking of the secret niffes: but he demanded it because a trenlos or invading master had incorporated him into the league without to remove his fholly desires from his heart banish." i

"We were strengthened more than ever in the belief that Secrets must not be divulged beyond our circle.
hen, and people would not be strong and prepared enough to be able to endure it, understand it and feel it."

"But this well-considered, wise, dutiful and therefore also unwavering silence from our side was the sad stimulus to ever more lively acquisition of the unbridled= ft desires and passions. To the extent that by keeping the secret the patience and the white renunciation of the newcomers in the alliance tested and purified

Self-conceit began to creep from head to head.
fic) no longer cared about higher motives: they persuaded fic), Thon to know everything for himself and through himself alone."

"It wasn't long before people were free and loudly contesting the going in the fo= even with ridicule and contempt. The whole thing was denied= presence of the same, because it is driven by an unbridled curiosity could not find out anywhere. We remained silent. But some of= temperate wise men who, in the blindness of their souls, believed they were sitting in the lap, took it upon themselves to reveal the secret defend. But how must defenses of a thing be= fcfife, of which they knew just as little as those, against whom they fought? – The confusion and disorder grew unstoppable. One saw nothing but a herd of drunks, staggering around in the darkness of night on a desolate field, where everyone is looking for the right path and no one finds it; where one runs into the other's head, and where some, who perhaps Ranfch wants to lie to sobriety, calls into the herd: who wants to go the right way, follow me – and where he then All who follow him into a swamp or to the edge of a abyss."

"Like an arrogant thinker who, instead of being quiet and simple to believe in a God, fas long as the inexplicable properties= fdaften of a supreme being, and doubts until he fih a idols carved from a piece of wood, so they pondered drunkenly= a military leader about the inner nature of the Federation for so long blind and fruitless until they invented a new form of it, and until they had gathered a number of followers who agreed with this fabrication and now in their proud delusion believed that now they alone were in full possession of the mystery and truth, and now every other teaching of a other secret heresy and error, against which they with of all intolerance and lovelessness."

"This key will reveal to you the riddle of how it happened, that in modern times such unbridled sects= and par= dough spirit raged in the bowels of the earth. Who had enough cunning and boldness to achieve a purpose that pleased him and to invent a secret appropriate to fine intentions and to display this as a sign of fine sect, he founded a union for fih and feme journeymen. The general Rene Greed ran breathlessly wherever a new thaumaturge opened a new stage of wonder and presented never-before-heard miracles= Nobody asked us, and we left we only occasionally have the faintest hint of memory and warning from such ftheatre players, so was our Wage insult, and with one mouth all sects cried out= master: we were fraudsters and wanted to destroy the spirit of the Buus deslims into the unbearable yoke of obedience and un= fer tyrannical arbitrariness."

128

"Who does not know them, these deluded clever people who believed they understood alone and could not recognize a superior anywhere wanted than fih felf! Have you not heard their gross blasphemies heard, with which they showered the leaders of the League, because it should never be possible for such degenerate people as these will attain the true knowledge of these superiors?"

"It is not for us to judge every folly of men to lead the charge and to fight every human madness with to teach reason. However, who can force us to then, that we should tolerate it when the world boldly and shamefully is assured: every grossest folly and every criminal Excess of the human mind is the purpose and goal secret of our covenant! if under this seductive pretext every impudent fraud plays its free game, and many of the best people, because they are given such great wisdom and happiness= felpity, from selfish liars into the labyrinths a speculative madness. 2

"It may well be that the damage caused by this was inflicted on humanity, in relation to other harmful effects are only slight, one gives little= ft effort to assert this, almost a proof that he is quite big may be. Now, whatever it may be: our alliance and We are innocent of all this damage. We condemn all efforts made by misled enthusiasts, whether from good or evil intentions, be used, damage to establish and continually increase. We declare that It is not in our power to form alliances and Yours to prevent the purposes and e imniffe of the to employment of their make songs; but if such alliances are for the true, only covenant, and their excesses for want to have the holy works of the same kept, so affirm

*

we before God and men! that this is irresponsible behavior and that all members of such alliances are already there through and through the excesses of their enthusiasm forever unworthy of participation in the great alliance and incapacitated." |

"Even brotherly love itself is part of the abiada in the 992 of a drunkard: not by the fact that so often In their place the bitterest hatred entered the hearts of the brothers is, then the disruption would still be at the heart of the Circle remained. No! There were brooders and impatient Curious people who see in this brotherly love the true and only thought they had discovered a secret. Humanity and people= Well, they said to themselves, our masters recommended us so often and so urgent. The symbols and hieroglyphs that one lets us see, are all interpreted in this sense. are called brothers. The feeling of brotherhood makes us happy= lich. All greatness and superiority is banished among us; with what power does this lift up the soul of every lowly being! We feel human worth and human dignity; and this enjoyment outweighs every pleasure in the Selavian world."

"These former emotional enthusiasms were now followed by soon the ideas of speculation. It was not long before There was a whole circle of like-minded thinkers who it was revealed as the great secret of the alliance: the purpose of this covenant is unique: all people in the to establish the general brotherhood; the Relationships of supremacy and subservience to abolish; to restore people to their natural freedom= ity: and all differences of status, Reputation, dignity and privilege in civil society to banish society!"

"Hardly as we acknowledge the existence of this the covenant doctrine was the idol of a large number of federal members which became. People now believed that the secret= nig to have stripped off the very last shell, and promoted all sides n. and journeymen who with a

180

Desire for this soft: the enthusiasm gripped fen, as inevitably had to happen at a time when a general feeling of female sensitivity epidemic in a complete fraud. It went very far about our power, limits appropriate to this heart's urge to set. With some attempted resistance we had to notice that the sensitive humanity of this kind-hearted Enthusiasts are already close to rage, and that they Would be able to kill anyone with a dagger or on the

To be murdered at the stake in accordance with the inquisitions.
fih oppose the efforts of their phikanthropy,
or in the construction of their general human-like bridges
derfschaft even wanted to disturb it." |

"Here the basic source has now been discovered from which today's tigue now already passed to the most senseless practice theo= ry of freedom and equality. (!) The ftraf= curiosity and the disobedient arrogance of a cliffe
The members of the Federation, in the blindness of their pondering, fell into a careless misunderstanding of the true secret;
was not content to explain this misunderstanding only in the narrow Circles of their new sect as a federal doctrine, but
She proclaimed it in every way throughout the world.
Surprising and insinuating as this teaching was,
Île everywhere very easy to find entrance. It was the fw= the most simple-minded and uneducated person shining; for who could not understand it if It is said that all men are only brothers, and that one is as much as the other? – Like a spark of fire in a powder chamber often ignited all hearts and excited
the most untamed desires everywhere." ; | |

"How great the damage of this supposed benefit for humanity had to be, everyone understands with some thought= ken, and with only a small supply of human knowledge=
niß. And yet the intention was still good.
was mistaken only for lack of sufficient insight. They wanted that make people happy! – But now fire also found the malice and deceit, this well-intentioned deception to misuse it for their evil purposes. The belief of the Simplicity and enthusiasm served her as a trick.–

* .

the complete confusion of minds and a. Even narrower

'$32

Circles of side alliances were formed, which the new Gea secret further refined, and made it part of the inheritance of their kept." E _ |
"From the secret of enthusiasm for human welfare,

The secret of a planned conspiracy against Human welfare and the most maturely considered efforts for their
A large sect grew up, which, while the welfare and happiness of mankind as the shield of their trade, in the interior of the Federation.
worked to steal all human happiness
do." | |

Where simplicity and enthusiasm meet expectations of an impending disaster, the sect with all its fharsh minds, how they continually deceive, and take all the hoped-for profit for himself."
"Everyone knows this sect. Their brothers are known as her name. She is the one who has the basis=
the federation until its complete collapse under= Through it, the whole of humanity is poisoned and seduced entire genders

The ferments among the peoples are their . Work. On the political madness of the nations

fte the designs of their insatiable ambition. Their founders knew very well how this Wahuwitz got into the heads of the people ker to plant. They began by denigrating the Religion." | | l

"Mockery and scorn were the weapons of this sect, first against religion itself, then against its servants. If it were too peace to make this mockery in their midst, one would have felt sorry for her, but she was only practicing their companions in the most skilled use of those weapons to their.
Then fight against all the minds and hearts of the big world Principles of licentiousness were established by:
preached from the rooftops, and this unbridledness was called Freedom. The authorities were called despots. They invented Human rights, which even in the face of nature were nowhere to be found, and called on the peoples to wrest these rights from their princes. The Plau of a general destruction of afcient society= ual bonds and orders revealed lig in all 9

=

their words and deeds. It flooded the world with countless books, she recruited journeymen of rank and Power, and it deceived the sharpest minds by Reflections of noble intentions. Into the hearts the Ingend scattered the seeds of lust=
ity and ignited it with the tinder of the un= most potent passions. Unbridled pride and a fultanic lust for power was the only driving force of this sect, for the masters of the same had nothing less
as the thrones of the earth to their point of view, and the government of the peoples should be midnight circles."

"All this has happened and is still happening. But noticed that the princes and the peoples do not know how and by what means this happens. We fay, therefore, to you freely: the misuse of our Federal Republic, and the misunderstanding of our secret= nis has all the political and moral confusions which now plague the earth is flooded. You, the
you have received the sanctuary of the covenant, your voice= men to teach the peoples and the princes that No one but renegade sectarians of our League
Author of all present and future=
the revolutions have been and will be.

We must assure the princes and the peoples of our our honor and our duty: that our alliance in all is not to blame for these evils. (2?) But so that our
To maintain strength and faith, we must give the prince and make the great sacrifice to the peoples: that we, in order to Abuse and misunderstanding at the same time at the root with to invalidate, to abolish the whole alliance from now on; that we completely destroy and annihilate it for this age; that we leave its foundations solely for a better posterity= which it will find as soon as humanity enters the fortunate situation that the federal government has again can be of use."

"You in the vestibule, to whom the light of the secret
has still remained hidden—you apostates, whose evil
Curiosity made the secret to the annoyance of humanity

133

bat: – and you laymen who have never been on the threshold of any nes Covenant – hear all what our duty tells you of
to discover the inner essence of our union.
Our hearts tremble as we tell you this. Forever

These words should have remained in the world, for We=

No one in the world has been able to adequately understand. But the greatest danger demands a loud confession= We owe humanity a justification, such as humanity is entitled to demand justification from us to promote."

"Through Christianity the Covenant has its Confidence. Christianity has it from= The divinity of Christianity was the main basis of its teaching and its purposes."

"All sects and heresies of Christianity have their origin in the apostasy of the league. The arrogance and curiosity of some Apprentices, journeymen and masters dared, of their own accord to investigate the secret, they all went astray from the truth. But they often came across teachings that only because of their strictness, not for general teachings of the Christian= thumbs. There were sectarians who, as individual men= the and in their conduct were the honor of the covenant. But their untamed curiosity was dangerous to the League."

"Other sectarians were villains and wild lechers. The League rejected them forever. Their new systems fteme could not harm the alliance, because their teaching was Debauchery, lust, luxury. They spared no effort of research and secret wisdom. They were left hence their fate."

"Who among you can still have any doubt that the Time has come to abolish the covenant and all its half of the incompleteness? Sectarians have free a purpose misunderstood and because of the misunderstanding loudly betrayed. They have the most perverse and harmful Means used to accomplish the misunderstood purpose. Self-conceit has taken the place of obedience. experienced masters and journeymen flocked to the offices and honorary positions of the highest superiors and cheated in this ftheft mask her apprentices and the brothers. The pure and holy sense of self-denial has been extinguished. Pride and Lust for power is the only motive behind the present activity. Fraud and madness come from secret circles into the world. Heads are burning and hearts are freezing. no longer understands the voice of teachers and fathers. A horrible chaos of low passions rolls Kh of Kretfe to Kreise, and already forms a monster, the only future generations will be able to cut off his hideous head.”

.

184

 “We are stepping back. We are destroying the building by Destroy the cracks. Anyone who continues to build is driving a poffen= a boy's game; for what is to be made of a building without a crack Become a dog master? – We are not talking about the sets.
 We leave these to their fate, the attention of the Princes, the contempt of the peoples. Whoever believes them and whoever approaches them is deceived, and an enemy of his peace and fhis happiness. It is the last hammer blow that we do here. With him the pillars and walls of the building; an impenetrable darkness hovers over the ruins and hide them from the eyes of unholy researchers and malicious deceivers to later generations.”
 This is what this most important document says. It must be noticeable, that, if it were not only a sham declamation to appease nization of the monarch in Prussia, but the real fight, by self-dissolution of the order, the revolutionary= source, this declaration does not give the monarch the Time of the fight against the revolution in the years 1789
 until 1793, but only after completely decisive Victories over the revolution; also that the Declaration of the San resolution did not become the actual truth.
 3 It was in truth only the swan song of the ving and dying noble element in the Order, which, as in France, the democratic revolution in the Order did not 9 was able to tame.

After the death of the Duke of Brunswick in 1797,
 the system was reorganized into the present general Scottish Lodge, whose permanent seat is in Berlin. (See Remarks on the statutes of the Grand National Mother Lodge to the three globes according to the reviston of the year 1841.
 2nd edition. As see! for brothers eonia, Merfeburg, Ruland 1842.)

Finally, the King of Prussia issued the

+

233 `

R0. In 1798 a prohibitory edict against the secret Societies, but with regard to the Masonic Order .
 Exception provisions should apply:

$.

"Of the – "find the following three mother lodges: the mother lodge of the three globes, the great country lodge, the Lodge Royal-York de l'Amitié and the daughter lodges founded by the Sisters of the Order, and shall be applied, but this is obligatory, which is in the nature of standing & 9 to 13 contained provisions on the to follow the instructions exactly."

§. 4.

"On the other hand, apart from the lodges named in § 3, every other mother or daughter lodge of the Masonic Order for forbidden and shall not be tolerated under any pretext."

6. 9.

"All members of the Mother Lodges and daughter lodges, the already generally established, indissoluble obligation of subjection anew; any attempt by a member of the Order: Superior or anyone else may wish to make this Edict to act contrary to the local police authority to display."

§10.

15 Furthermore, the superiors of the three mentioned Mother Lodges of Our Most High Person annually the Vetzeichen of the relative dependent on them, both in the local residences than in any other country in our states founded daughter lodges, together with the list of official members according to Submit your name, status and age

"Every Mother Lodge must elect the members who preside over it; act contrary to the regulations, immediately expel, and their Show the name of the highest police authority, also even have the strictest supervision over their daughter lodges, and as soon as if such a thing were discovered in a daughter lodge, which he withdraw the Constitution, even if it is done fe, report to the supreme police authority. If one of the three Mother Lodges can be convicted that their Borefebet these

136

If the instructions are not followed, they will be liable to forfeiture of the product. tectorii and toleration. It will also 3 Mother Lodges made it their duty to vigify each other to ensure that this regulation is followed with the utmost punctuality."

Through this decree, the entire Masonry was Prussia to the Berlin Grand Lodges and their joint Directorial Lodge or Chapter, also called Inner Orient, and subjugated and disciplined.

An absolute ban was imposed in the following year 1799
in Bavaria.

In Austria, Freemasonry was permitted by Emperor Joseph been let by the monarch, who had the following hus
. manifest teachings and who had devoted himself to the so-called ten liberal reforms in rapid acts of violence the foundations of the state and the church. He destroyed quickly and created nothing in and through itself beneficial and supportive= cash; but the man, the tool of the liberal or hu= Maniftic Order in Europe had to be expressed in word and writing
as the celebrated man of wisdom and the most sublime virtue is celebrated throughout the educated world. The Order alone already wrote history in Europe, and the monarchical ambition had to follow the same pernicious path
Thus, Emperor Joseph not only became the celebrated highly enlightened benefactors of fine peoples in the historical works and in the daily belief of the peoples, but the Order also went so far as to declare him a saint, and the 1773

to name the lodge founded in Vienna "to Saint Joseph".

Nevertheless, this emperor ordered immediately after the appearance
the above ban in Bavaria: "there should be in its states

Lodges only take place in the capital cities. The masters of

Chair should be published annually, the lodge lists quarterly be submitted." He also gave the country's Grand Master, Princes of Dietrichstein, the oral instruction: only through= from blameless and unblemished people in the lodges tolerate, as a result of which 5,000 people were excluded.
(Venturini History of Freemasonry.) And no sooner had Kaiser

When Francis came to power, the Masonic Order was founded.

15 January 1794 suppressed again. (Freemason. Journal 1849. 2nd issue. Page 287.)
But with such fever severity one also in the lands of

Austrian Imperial House suppressed the Masonic Order, he hid his survival under the most diverse Forms and names, such as the name of the pugordens, (not to be confused with the female Pugorder, which was built in 1740 in Cologne) with an apparent full come foolsritual until the capture of the Seimonville, the extraordinary ambassador of the Paris Jacobiner to Conftantinople, the existence of a terrible freedomexposed the masonry conspiracy in Austria. A 1795 About the published paper of a person involved in the investigation well-trusted man, under the title: "Secret History of the conspiracy system of the Jacobins in the Austrian States" gives some excellent information about this. I take the following passages from him: "A powerful conspiracy arworks from one end of Europe to the other, not only in undermining the constitutions, but also in the Mefts what has happened so far among humans in the physical and moral world. Less powerful than the armies of the conspirators are the armies of France, for they will which could never conquer the whole of Europe, but this very easily, because they become stronger after each victory, and their war needs, such as cunning, deceit, egoism, lust for power and Passions of all kinds with little effort and without great Costs with you. Almost all major cities Europa's felt more or less the shocks that the hidden enemies within them. Yes, Naples and Turin was on the brink of ruin, and in the lastth capital was the interspace, the rest of Anarchie, security from general murder scenes, only one short period of six hours. Six hours later than the Discovery, and Italy's smiling fields would also be under the holy name, Liberty, Fatherland and Virtue with Tyranei, corpses and vices. Even London felt threatened, and the nation willingly renounced one of its dear ft privileges, the habeas corpus act."

"It was strange and strange that at the same time

Time when the state with the greatest energy used all its powers against the unfortunate and raging nation of France; as Austria's numerous armies with a loudly praised even by the enemy fought with the greatest bravery, and for nine weeks (from 138

46 April to 26 June 1794) no sun on and fine perish, whom they had not met in battle, who not immersed in blood; at a time when from all Cities, from all provinces with a kind of emulation free= willing contributions were made, which not many thousands, fome amounted to many millions; that at the same time and in the same cities and in the same provinces a large,
A widespread band of conspirators is discovered,
felf reached the steps of the throne and its entire ex= stretching that you don't know yet. I'm somewhat familiar with the State set, more detailed explanation about most of what this matter to the audience."

"I know the conspiracy of which I want to speak, not to give it a real name, because it was and is always willing to accept any name or no name at all,
whichever way she deems it most beneficial for her works.
Much is certain that in France, Germany and more= other countries through the all-encompassing spirit of two or three people formed a sect whose main purpose was to rule
They could not achieve this goal by force, because they were weak, because their followers were very small. They so needed cunning to do it." i

"These spirits, unfortunately preserved for our age, found a new deception system that would help them to realize their intentions were most beneficial. Virtue and vice, suffering= liability and indolence, fwealthy and fwrong deeds, stupidity= and subtleties, everything had to contribute to the achievement of the.
purpose that only very few understood. The People knew about the clever fraudsters, they knew that fuch as in the physical world mostly through external signs everything is guided, even in the moral the tone, the Sound of certain words, the actual content of which is the.
fhese people are completely unknown. Therefore, they gave their purpose the most glorious names, and this was her masterpiece; it was the finest use of the purpose of our age."

"Refinement of the human race, return ft of the same to its inherent dignity, to fhis hitherto elusive goal of fine determination=

lung, these were the names in general. | Sub-department lungs: the pressure under which the largest part of the 480

People sigh to relieve; the ruling fin=
to scare away stars and by spreading bright Terms that were previously inappropriate, by year= to destroy thousands of old barbarism-disfigured constitutions right, little by little, for the common good= dig and build a better one for better people someday=
ten, when a more beautiful dawn announces the day when Happiness and salvation to the reborn human race
This more beautiful morning, this day was further nothing but the establishment of the oligarchy on the ruins of the previous versions. To achieve this purpose,
No idea is too bold, no plan is too big and no means too
What the allied people call themselves, that knows heaven. They call themselves monarchists and republicans, Jacobins and Feuillants, Christians and Atheists, depending find the places in the sky where they live and depending on whether this or that garment is required
How often has a title-rich Jaco= biner next to his prince and warned him against people who ren straight honest Sim stood in his way ɾc."

"Soon after the revolution in France, people began to speak of a propaganda that spreads in all countries= had spread and gained followers of the ruling system there= Unfortunately, there is only evidence of their existence too many. But the apostles who came to Vienna were white ter nothing but clumsy, hot-tempered Jacobins, who very soon were discovered and could not cause much damage.
They had with the conspirators of whom we are speaking is, nothing in common, they also did not deal with them
On the contrary, some people denounced and feared Politics their arrest. The secret conspiracy in Vienna did not need propaganda; it stood with the heads= tern of the mischief in too close connection, and their plans were too far away for the poor water fhe of some Democrats in coffee houses could have been of use."

"The hatred of various suspicious strangers; the Destruction and discovery of a club consisting of Hansofficers and servants of the French nation, among whom chen himself some people were in the service of the footman Kauniz;
All this had nothing to do with the much more hidden, vik more dangerous sect, which is what we are talking about. Yes, one thereby only moved further away from the track on which cher one could have discovered them; for there was no size= enemies of the Jacobins, no more zealous investigators, these to find than those whose terrible existence one actually nothing was punished. In the destruction of that club one believed oneself to be quite safe, because one did not know that one only on the dumber, the less dangerous, the fubalter= a villain and missed the big ones completely.

149

"If I did not fear to touch the tender heart of a to wound the monarch, I would be of a reality, over which still a terrible darkness rests; an event where one can only see too many traces found that the most hideous of men were involved were." " se

"It is about a deed that one likes to Oblivion would like to cover eternal night, if the outraged Heart could forget something like that. Unbearable and ugly is the thought that on German soil an abomination should have flourished, of which one can even in the ever mor=

denden France has not heard anything. Colombe, so is the Name of the ... I don't want to think of it, the horrible Thoughts; enough, he was arrested because the fstrongest, most well-founded suspicion fell on him. Even now one still has nothing to say about the snake that is lurking in the bosom of the state was hidden. I confess that I did not even have the possibility= ity, how one should have learned something, since the work= witness of the secret conspiracy always blind and unknown find with the hand that guides it. In addition, these people in all departments, in all courts had duly entrenched themselves. If one had been in some of the large

Operation in war, with which in all possible cases be= reckoned with caution, with the extraordinary cunning, as these allied troublemakers, had gone to work, one would have can achieve a lot."

"Incidentally, the black fraternity did not let Caution is lacking in order to continue to hide properly As soon as they attract the more intense attention of those Members of the police who were not part of their fciety, they were more cautious in their choice of taking part, and stopped all meetings, except in Ofen, where they remained until the era of which we will soon talk about, continued because the local state faffung prohibits taking certain measures which in e | times can often be extremely useful."

"But suddenly a terrible light spread about the danger they were in. The Ge= capture of Semonville, who served as an extraordinary messenger fcafter of the Jacobins was sent to Konstantinople, was for a large part of Europe more important than all the victories and conquests, more important than any incident since the appearance ization of political fanaticism in France. Truly, something much more precious than the treasures and the so-called diamonds de la couronne, which this clean ambassador carried with him, was caught with him. For you must know that the Plans of these people are big and presumptuous, like their criminal passions." |

"Not only another oriental war, whose Consequences in the current state of affairs are obvious would have been, no, probably also the complete overthrow the Austrian monarchy, and with it, several neighboring barter States, was thwarted by that capture. If If you do not want to believe these words, you princes, then be Be kind and inquire at the source. You will be given I cannot fail to explain. But then convince yourself, how you are deceived when you are assured that the Danger that threatens you and – remember – your peoples. an invention of idle minds, a figment of the imagination. The Pa= `piere, which that Semonville led at fih, was the precious Treasure that was conquered with it. My pen is too weak, to describe everything that was said to me about the amazement, from the astonishment, even from the horror of the people who first saw those papers. They looked suddenly transported into a traitor world, from which one can imagine a mis= what I had never suspected before. What a feeling for a young monarch, whose unsuspecting heart is still was known for the masterpieces of malice and deception, and who, next to the unenviable, unfortunate earth= life that he asked to live, nor experience such insults must!" | Ze

"Names and letters of people were found, One minute before, the fate of the state was still and which one now in the most intimate intimacy and as in a family alliance, with the worst enemies of the state and its citizens. And yet, not yet discovered a quarter of what is known today white; at that time it only concerned Vienna and Trieste."

"Except for the very lowest level of service, almost all every degree in the various dicasteries to traitors find, but especially at the Court War Chancellery and the Main-mauth. Also some black, quite exceptionally ungrateful Souls were discovered among them; people who belonged to the Monarchen not only had everything to thank for, but also with well-beingdeeds and almost friendly goodwill from him about-were accumulated."

"When the name of a certain Selre- was given to the Emperor tairs naunte, who was discovered with the traitor society, he had the same repeated three or four times and said always with the words: "No, it can't be him." End-He wanted to see him. Just as a man enters the room mer stepped, Franz almost fainted and with the
on a chair: "That one too? – Disgusting! –" Ingratitudeability must really be one of the ugliest traits that the.
heart of man, because in the other.
Hearts that are hurt by this are such a painful misfortune.
tion is aroused."

"It occurs to me here that in the-
– times, mostly the favorites who were showered with good deeds often the confidants of the princes, the first traitors were the; on the other hand, the uncaptured, or misunderstood, or even misunderstood ftarded servant, as the most loyal, honest man, most honest Officials, and as the unshakable patriot in the decisive
the moments when the real test of fire was revealed:
was to gain."

"Mainz is the most outstanding of many examples. This could well prove that the princes have equal rights, selections as well as condemnations."

"It was now clear that the danger in which
fhooked, was not only great, but terrible that no Time to lose, and that even this discovery, not would have been made if one had happened to be certain whose persons had been entrusted with the examination of those papers, which could easily be done by considering everyone equal loyal servants of the state. As far as we know,= the secret negotiations and dealings of Semon= ville, deliveries of oxen and grain, orders in Trieste, other appointments and – eee from ge= white dicasteries as the subject.”

“All persons identified as traitors were immediately arrested and their papers searched. Until Now people still believed that it was a fortunately discovered, great and dangerous treason; but now one finally saw, that there is a conspiracy, a gang acting according to plan, was a formal connection to the overthrow of the state.”

“Every day brought more enlightenment, every paper Paper among the cleverly hidden and luckily found Writings of certain prisoners revealed a new villain. At least one now had a thread to go deeper into the Traitor's labyrinth. But then it became completely light, when one found some twenty conscripts, documents, negotiations= and names of past and present rulers in France and a certain other country.”

“Now one saw that not only in Vienna and Trieste, but but in all cities of the monarchy, co-conspirators were found. From Bohemia, Moravia, Styria, Galicia and Hungary, the exposed traitors were brought together, and in order not to infringe on the rights of the last of these countries was initiated by the Hungarian Hop Chancellery appointed its own commission, the main investigative commission to sit on the Commiffton.”

“A few months ago, a large number was suddenly discovered, and a few weeks ago Captain and Professor Bieleck at the Cadet School in Wienerifisch=Neustadt. He is held for one of the first in the rank of the all-devastating compound= dung, and found a formal archive with him. The I still doubt that we have already come to the end of the discovery, because almost every day new Conspirators.”

“From the . and the progress of the

144

Of course, nothing comes to light at the investigative commission until one can once ask: The – many-headed monster is not more! But the verdict has already been passed on four criminals. spoken. It was read in the public papers. Gilloffsky, who hanged himself, was at the Field War Chancellery employed; his crimes were very great. He shared the enemies what he could learn. Now one wonders about many incidents and events in this war!"

"Brandtstädter was a magistrate and assessor at the Department of the Community Military and Civil Commission. Hackel, the owner of a so-called fortune-hafen, and Jutz, Doctor of Laws."

"When the last troublemakers were discovered, they were very surprised and dejected, people from all walks of life in to find himself involved in this matter, against which no the slightest reproach, and which was always regarded as diligent knew and respected honest, orderly and honest men. It would be really hard to blame these people if they did not guilty of their crimes, from the same point of view, like the others, and to treat them in the same way."

"I want to explain this in more detail. I know the. Clues of the clean gentlemen, and perhaps I will honest man, useful to many fiery, too open young men-ly can be." |

"Above all, the secret connection becomes the rule, that only one person may take on the business, one to edit it with others (this is the art expression) or with In other words: to persuade, to outwit, or to take up. The first thing the editor must pay attention to is fare the temperament, the passions, the knowledge, the Education and all other, even the most insignificant, relationships of the profane person destined for initiation. if he has a lust-ling, so you go with him to prostitutes; he likes to drink, fo you go with him to the wine house; if he loves the game, fuch cheats him, wins him large sums of money or on credit, puts him in the greatest embarrassment, so that his honour and everything is in danger. But suddenly then one shows oneself as a helping angel; generously issues thig the amounts won, or represents the cash received back again, gives lessons and advice on the previous 145.

gm recklessness and the terrible consequences of the passion of game, I throw up to the mentor, ties up the one from Erkenntlich- young man who is full of passion, guides him and makes with him, how and what you want. Furthermore, you use a devilish fecfe means to lure careless, reckless people into the net to pull. The idea is that rftthey will play some trick or have to commit something else, they are sought out in the act to catch them, shows them into what ruin they can be plunged could, presents himself as a pardoning savior, and makes

Dana also with the pardoned, what you want. Nieman= the evil-doer can succeed better than one in the higher Positions standing person. What can such a person do with the sub= given in his department not do everything? Yes, he fays to them how much they count on his favor could, if they helped him in the execution of fine designs for the best of the Most High Service."

"But other means and ways must be used, to the orderly, the upright youth of head and To pull the heart into the net. You have to work more delicately. One must first investigate which study, which art, which science he likes best and which of these he on my, dedicated. Then just such a one will be processing, who is also versed in this field He must not only be popular with the person being worked on make, but also to give a certain weight to his judgments on fearch. He especially makes it a rule at the first suitable opportunity, on those objects noted . m slide, where his nights em aim." "

"It is a never ending date that you can now len opportunity that so often, and so distinguished Genius and talents unite to bring all their strength to the to squander a purpose whose value can only be determined by malicious yesterday can hardly be appreciated. With careful With often anxious efforts, one seeks certain ideas in whose salary for millions of our fellow these of such permanent horrible consequences: can, that. fie fould easily extend to a century. My= fens. you will be laughed at if you say something like that; by, those but who feel the truth of it in its whole air, l | 1 pöhnisch betfövttet. But att hinigen one will bun for a Löbrebnet ver Tytennetz, for a mercenary of the Desp fiémub explained. If what was said was also fo Hef au fet heart flows when we oppress and tyranny still very huffen, Weta we also still fo fehe from Hi Connection keeps princes and princes' servants away, fo we will nevertheless be called Mende Aviftekragen, as fi Miate mecht the governor, and how much a en fong still hot, pofafaurt."

118

"Especially, one should strive to live a kind of life fhe awakens the fufficiency of many people, hanpifuch of the Illüzlinze, to go on many trips to France. Engravers, artists of all kinds must do their part - Käen. WY the theaters had a number of allegories, the only the educated could understand. The secret full

 The creature that was being effertivated was Pin, because The leaders and managers of the gardens would know that Whose properties increase the coughing stance, even produce it.
 For example, the whole opera, which is famous, is generally famous Magic Flute, an allegory of the French Revolution Hin, according to their situation in the years 178990. and 91, in which last time the piece was in Vienna: the fonte Wiendner=Theater. Week of the good Mbzart Wollen wit therefore fits to Rafe last he was only the Creator of the excellent mail, and Shepherd for the
 the rest of the piece nothing to do. Very walkers Even if he were to be unfamiliar with the Indians, who in this Ktegt. 'The towont for many who are not taught, the
 The course of the piece seems ridiculous, inconsistent and tasteless,
 The applause it received in Vienna was aio from two Peace fo anzervptdennich big, partly because of the Bef, Theis because of the hidden saw. Sixty-two times do it and it was carried out wisely, but the influx of Kide At four o'clock the plays begin in Wen; Pod in the first fourteen days of the presentation of the magic= for, mun 'feu Win knew five o'clock to look for his place, because A little later, the people had to be turned away to dogs because the house was full. Only in the twentieth week could one get so far that at six o'clock with Effort a place felf-exercised Matth were always 147

"Kehr Mauschen with the allusions therein named,
 the following written interpretation was finally discovered, where through the profane world of happiness. becomes light
 The allegory is not one of the Finnish richest, but to promote the legitimacy of the purposes fe, always enough for finnteich."

"Personalities. The Queen of the Night: The previous director Pamina, her daughter: Freedom, which is always a Daughter of Despotism if. Tamino: The People. The three Nymphs of the Queen of the Night: The Deputies of the Three Estates. Garastro: The wisdom of a noble legislature.
 The Priests of the Sprastro: The National Assembly. Papa
 gens: The rich. An old woman: Equality. Monaftatos, the Moor: The emigrants. Slaves: The servants and mercenaries= ner of the emigrants. Three good geniuses: wisdom, justice and love of the fatherland, which guide Tamino."

"The idea underlying this piece is: The Liberation of the French HS from the hands of the old Dehipetioenys through the wisdom of a befed legislature."

Wang of the piece.

amind is attacked by a huge snake (the one before=pleading Stantsbanquexoute), which threatens to engulf him, The Queen of the Night wants to save him, because of Tamino's Grifters also hers is based. She can but not alone, and therefore needs her three nymphs to which will destroy the beer. Tamino breaks into a loud Dantegen fine Exrettexinnen, and receives from ancestors still over This is an excellent gift, a magic flute. (Freedom, for fine Belted fyrechen and fih to be allowed to complain.) At the same time but the queen orders him to rescue her daughter from her hands= that of a cruel, lustful and Turaunian king, the Sarftro gu free, who had stolen her, and in a Height hidden. To the Tamino all the more. to this To ignite the enterprise, she proclaims to him this daughter then to marriage; but this is not her true seriousness, because she fen shines to Monaftatas from the king to his wife Tamino swears to the queen that all to use her powers to get her stolen daughter back The queen tells him through the nymphs that he

ié with fine adventure only completely on * 8 threesome

148

good geniuses. Now he really comes into the company of tation of Papageno (the rich, who, as is well known, 'fle before the revolution so fo much by the nobility and the clergy feeft felt left behind, fo keen to use their influence to influence the state= bring about change) his journey to the states of fo fom foft Sarftro. But how astonished he is when he finds in it just the opposite of what he expected! Sarastro is indeed a powerful and brilliant King, but this power and this splendour do not find on the Ruin of the subjects, not on the sweat and blood fhis people, but on the best form of government, Therefore, his subjects also love him dearly, and among fel= a white sceptre is extremely lucky. He appears on a triumphal chariots drawn by wild animals; to indicate that legislative wisdom the natural brutality of man softens, and that you will share the world with joy throws. u |

o ,,Instead of beating Tamino "as he believed, delicately= act, Sarftro comes to him with love; tells him, that he was deceived by the Queen of the Night, apparently in his misfortune if he was willing to try to carry out his intention, and offers him freely= willing to take him to the temple of honor and happiness lead if he wanted to follow him. Tamino, moved by the Goodness of the excellent old man, convinced of the truth: fine Statements, AG now leaves with all his heart to the Jart fro; especially since he solemnly promises him this lovely Pamina. Sarastro now calls his priests together= men to tell them that he thought Tamino was worth to be admitted into the temple of honor and happiness and let them vote on it. They also hold him unanimously defen worthy; their negotiations about it express fle through a wide-ranging speaking tube, as a sign that La addressed to the whole earth."

"The priests also illuminate the reception of the Tanin the most horrible places with torches, to indicate that finally also the torch of enlightenment into the darkest regions of universe. But before Tamino can really enter the temple of To attain happiness, he must take all the necessary precautions rides, which every initiate fowe= had to throw.

149

"Sieber is obliged to keep silence, to remain in horrible places, and finally the terrible test of fire and water. All this consists of Tamino, convinced of the goodness of the old Sarftro, with whom ft= ft heft courage, and is finally with his Pamina in the Temple of happiness, where he becomes a fine wife. His companion Papageno, who at the beginning, as long as the evening expensive went exactly as desired, in good spirits and even boastful= leric, is basically a weak and crude person, who, fhowever much he would like to be happy, but every effort and hates difficulty, and especially does not like to failed. While Tamino patiently endured all the tests imposed= he thinks only of his crude pleasures, eating and drink. However, he soon realizes that all this is not makes you truly happy, and therefore, satisfied with your life, and fearful of coming dangers, hang fH. To However, at the right time he will be helped by the good geniuses of a Instructed better, and gives, as always most reluctantly, the old females (equality, as the oldest characteristic of human sex) his hand, which is now back in a lovely girl rejuvenates and makes Papageno happy."

"The distinguishing feature of Papageno is: beautiful feathers over the whole body, because of fine vanity. The shepherd's pipe draws its roughness, and the carillon, (after which all dance, as an effect of wealth) resembles the Shale. of gold circulating in the hands of the rich."

"Monaftatos (the emigrants) seek in every way to Glide of the Tamino to put obstacles in the way, through cunning and deceit, even through violence; so that in the end he
 He even wants to kill Pamina. But Sarastro punishes him for it.
 Once he gathered his last strength to go with the Queen of
 to storm the temple of happiness at night;
 but he will be thrown with her into the abyss forever, nade to whom he has previously solemnly sworn that he will with fine loved and died of blackness queen always * that I wanted to stay."

5, The wild animals, who on the sweet tones of the flute their Lions (emblem of the Nie=derlande) Leopards, England: Eagles, Austria, Russia and Prussia. The rest represent the smaller states.

N ` . ` m .

Fp, woo T 1155 – P. t P ry zer of t5 rt x * EN ; A re 1 i 27

fae si rn de i PEE | – F „ 0 5 x : . 2 à ,4 " we re ' Sr a `
 è i + m * 8 5 + x

150

Napoleon, as shown above, had the Masonic Order for himself
 He also introduced it to Spain and Portugal, where he was active in taking His side. The Order wihate to unite with him all the peoples of the world in a brotherly kingdom= and to further the aims of the order in alliance with him.
 German Freemasonry also did not break away from the general
 my alliance, and who does not escape the end
 thusiasm of certain educated classes of the time for Napoleon?

So much is certain, as I have already said in the French Gee ftrieht showed that German Freemasonry, through the all= common federal unity and especially by means of fine military lodges served to commit multiple betrayals. The betrayal of Jeftung Mainz is notorious for this. Whether the example is numberless= rich treachery of Prussian fortress commanders of those unfortunate time rested on the same ground? – I cannot to ask. But those phenomena remain mysterious. Woks all writers have the cause of this dishonorable Berrithes in the inability of the Prussian officer class of those Time to search for the given, which as a result of the Beverpu= ation of the nobility in the occupa- tion of the offteer positions and in Result of the education only for parade service.
 But this deliberate lie reveals, partly to us ability to defend oneself, but felgen would have to produce treason; partly because, as is well known,

 In 1806 no peacetime parades were held,
 it rather the field campaigns themselves in France with honor had been passed by Prussia; thrills finally, because the History of the nobility no right to this undignified crime commemoration of the event. They appeared only in the Time when the Order attacked Napoleon, they disappeared, and the opposite emerged when the Order finally had told the great emperor that he did not served as a tool; when the Order of fine Profas nation through the Kaiser, and the popular uprising brought him to life by means of the Masonic Order fen Virtue League began. That the transition flowest= fcher officers and troops in Torgau and near Leipzig in Or= dens connections had fine motifs, is by sharp-eyed Connoisseurs of those events claim, and finds in the Order= politics of that time and the circumstances that the Saxon generals, which defeated the Saxon troops in Torgau and near Leipzig

144

fehligten, Thielemann and 1. w., were bricklayers, fine natural Declaration, whether the shameful betrayals of Napos Leapish officers after the uprising of the Order against the Nopofeon from Germany, like the Prussian officers
 Time of the annexation of the Confederation to the Emperor, on account of the Order – I can say very little.
 One sees similar phenomena and finds only one similar plausible cause,

| That the fuckling virtue dog mightily contribute to the people's uplift= exercise and inspired the people to revolt against Napoleon cried out before the government had found the courage to folies ibrerfteils to do is notorious. But the fact that the Virtue League is a part and tool of the Masonic Order, that he was not alone against Napoleon, but rather that he was even for the Moor purpose should work according to the wise policy of this order, since;
 The world is still being deceived today.

In front of me lies: "The official report on the secret both league or history of the secret associations of the psutton time of Mannsdorf, Leipzig 1831." The author is obviously a Mason and a warm friend of the Order, because ez in poll of praise of the Order, because of its work against positive church and estate system. Nevertheless, fit the following: The next purpose of this 1808 in Prussia
 okitan federal wor "the fall of Napoleon" executable through cooperation with the moral power in Prussian. Therefore, a program had to be presented eng, which made the crown inclined to enter into the alliance. =

fo this became such as earlier van Feßler for Masonic Order, which included 10 points, quite suitable= net, W cranes to satisfy. The king approved the Federation. –

“The idea of reconciliation – says Mannsdorfs writing, p.
423 – par a fully formed state, founded on the highest possible generated by intelligence Morality of fine citizens à. It seemed as if the essence of Freemasonry come to life. At least when in France the Jacobin=Clubb made freemasonry bad, the Virtue League has only the good taken from it.” In the background, the federal government showed the Purpose, the state por ginem second such turkey

152

lie to protect.” The alliance soon spread throughout the country:
ry Germany, and the question – “what should happen after Napo= Leon's downfall?” – had to force itself upon us.
Thus, the Tugendbund also became the mother of “the German
The Tugendbund soon became part of the German Bund, (p. 44) whose purpose varies according to the contents of the act is stated. According to the document p. 130, the
The federal purpose was to “after the victory over Na= poleon also all German princes, with the exception of the King of Prussia, and to make him the German Emperor to raise the German state but democratic institutions to give.” But after rejection, p. 133 says fung of France in its old borders a German fociale Republic had been envisaged; yes p. 131 mobified
the witness who witnessed the intended dethronement of the German Princes had deposited in favour of the King of Prussia, this statement on a mere mediatization. But this ab= deviations are in fact without practical value, partly far fie only an initiation and a completion of the German Republif, an antecedent and a necessary natural sub= sequens, partly because their really worthless deviations simply put your statement in . of . fine
the one the Masonic Order loves. i

Furthermore, one can find among the appendix documents (p. 23)
the “Actual Representation of the Murder of Student Ludwig Leffing from Freienwalde in Prussia 'Bet dem Criminal Court of the Canton of Zurich conducted an investigation into Dr. Jofeph Schauberg, Zurich at Schultheß 1837“, States ten with the heading: “Statutes of the BB. and with the pro=
Note that such belongs to the estate of the Prussian Minister v.
Stone and probably the statutes of virtue= celebrate together. Article 4 of these statutes states: “the German Federation”, which refers more specifically to “the German Confederation” interprets, for we will also confirm the covenant of the righteous= mainland Europe, and in it the German Federal Republic of the righteous. We will see that the national Branches of the former have the same purposes as the young German= land, the young Pole etc. had. I conclude under A. in the appendices a copy, and their comparison with the also attached statutes of the Young Europe and the young Germany will confirm the following. If one now considers, that, as we saw from Mannsdorf's story, virtue= bund except the offenfible purpose of virtue, in ambush pursued the dual purpose: "Germany from the French and then to replace the state with more suitable institutions against a second such defeat", ers considering that Article 2 of the said statutes is the same insidious double purpose in teaching degrees of the Bum= of this, one may well be justified in believing fine, in these statutes the Tugend= or the German Federal Government. And then if you compare further for= these statutes of the Virtue or German League with the statutes also attached here in the appendices of the Masonic Order, it is associated with the Consideration not only of what we mean by the equality of Virtue League and the Masonic Order in the designated Mannsdorf's works, but also that – as will be demonstrated in a later section – the Masonic Order during the last German revolutionary era the Prussian=German Empire and then the Prussian=German fch Union State, i.e. those older federal aspirations, at any price, it will be impossible of the belief that that virtue= and deut= fche League with fine purposes belonged to the Masonic Order. And finally, the Masonic work tells us: Acérellos . c. Th. 3. p. 206 explicitly: "However, the masons have been in several German countries, fo bats In 1813 they had a large share in the Victory over the one who possessed the crowns of Curvpa." Finally, one will also see the wisdom of the Order's po= fie. recognize. This eternal mother of all revolutions and Conspiracy=associations of the modern era, quite well recognized that the name of any conspiracy society that directly that it was determined to attack, became known over time and that then society would be endangered. Partly because partly to avoid the uninitiated fraternity brothers in their fo to disturb the beneficial slumber of good faith, the Federation of the Consecrated in the Order knows that all Direo attacks on the state and church, individual conspiracy theories felfchafts of the deed emerge from his womb and to be combined with as many profane elements as possible; fideen Nes maternal order but their direct will and their security with the entire moral weight of the Or= dens; finally, the safety of children through to increase, which always from time to time their names had to change. If such a name began to be loud and dangerous lich to become, fo werhielie the name, then came Mne investigation against the company under the old name, which found fé foie wicht more, even eof the rumor of their Dafeins. So we see here the name of the Virtue Dog, of the German Confederation and the Righteous, then the dex Mare bonari, then the names of young Garena, young Germany 1d.

: 153

Even the appearance of the man village feu warts nuts appear highly suspicious. It is evident= ly a valuable assessment of all cepslutiomiren Mefellfchgf= and activities against the judicial investigations and other suspicions. It begins with the Masonic Order, as with the common myth ter, and already eight issues are in my hand! The punitive distortion of the fraternity's purposes and Ongar nisms to create such innocent, useful connections fellen, I enfe from my own perception. And the Uya truth of the defense of the Virtue League and the German fch Federation against its intended purpose of creating of a German= Prussian, democratic state, showed 'The Years 1848 and 4849. – The more difficult must therefore be the Confessions against the revolution fall into the balance, here we in this so thoroughly and carefully held VPertheidi= gungewerke. And on page 1909 of the first issue we find: "that fraternities and gymnastics through the Mitghin that of the German Confederation did not exist, but essentially promoted and actually emerged from this find, can hardly be denied; although fine With members the immediate decomposition of the same in denial "5

Not without reason for the belief in a part Participation of the Moorish Order in the fight against Napoleon, :erisheins it is also that just in 1843 the Roe Enzland to a single Order of Organism under the pofitis

of the New English Gyfres serfdinokken and with the Wroglogen to Edinburgh, Dublin and Glasgow, by the London Grand Master to the Central Director of the enshrined Freemasonry. (Author: Wedekind J. c.)

Gite further fruit of Napoleon's masonry in Germany, the education of the first Jews was in Germany.

Cine published by a Mamer in Fahre 1816
Brochure: "Ideology in Mauritania. A warning to all German lodges", gave the first information on this.
We read in it:

"In the year 1807, in Frankfurt am Main, under the Protection of the then French primate government, a fo-called lodge, which derives its constitution from the great Orient in Paris and fh the ftmwollen Mamen "zu anbre= quenching dawn" (l'aurore naissante). The Inden, from which this secret club initially originated, wanted= ten ofme doubt bunch those names indicate that Per Day of her birth appeared free. Only the young dawn who is basically nothing more than a police lantern, because a Part of the General = Police= Personnel hand at the Spie of the new guild."

"After the Battle of Waterloo, Baden
the advice of a certain Hirschberg, a rather enigmatic coughed Meufchen, who called TA Patriarch, and a student Gaglioftro's writing was too fine. But in 1796 he gave in company with his deceased brother – a letter
under the title: "Biblical Organon, or Menah translation of the Bible with a mystical accompaniment and with critical remarks." This book is a strange mixture of Rabbiniism, Pantheism and Thriftianism, but Dadar is an attractive rider for Mauryan enthusiasts."

"That over this Ouganon, as the Patriarchate of Hirschfeld hinted at a secret Jewish association, ne ftrôngs to take control of the wall, is likely will become clear from some of the following."

"Hirfchberg gave the designated lodge a new Templar=
System and obtained confirmation from Brien Karl bon Geffen gee A
X Dicks peur. The Ronpietiy item Her. Frankfurter Mado

spoken fears, as with some phenomena in the Masonry together. The Knights of the Triple Cross are said to God to the unbeliever – the Jew finds all judge Jews Unbelievers – avenge, and restore the law of the Lord=
it; the price of their work is, – for each knight –
a piece of the land of the infidels, and their watchword:
God wills it! – They vow blind obedience to their superiors, and must always have their loins girded, that is, to maturity to be prepared for the Promised Land. Simeon the Patriarch and Peter the Hermit play a role in the history of these temples= knight the main role. Why is Hugo's not remembered, and Jacob Molay's not? Why is in this new Tempeb= Orders everywhere no trace of the symbols and the ritual of the true and right Templars? Why is the cross three= fach? Why is the meaningful: In hoc signo. vims missing ces? lünftreit has the Patriarch Hirschfeld this Tempter-Order of Clermont, and he also lives
no idea about the form, spirit and nature of the old, purely Masonic Templar system. Here at: again borrowed Judaism, because only Judaism has a God, whom fine confessors must praise, only the Inden find the possessions of the ee, as . e heritage..

The truth 1 a the presentation is empowering through the paternal manifestations of the Hamburg Jewish Lodge, and through which, during the last revolutionary era until today
feen activities of the hdiſchen 5
N I will come soon. N

Berkin Masonry N the Yadentoget: the Auerknowledge, about which a fierce dispute between the: nothing Prussian lodges and the Scottish Berlin system»
broke which almost led to the Scottish Berlin System in Germany, France, England and America in solemn Binn got into, from which I soon ps: om a.
X will have reason to do so.

This was the situation of Germany with regard to the
of the Peace Treaty ns. i

Monarchs, orders and peoples had enjoyed Tyrants overthrown by collective force. The 457

The Order had been an auxiliary force for the princes, it demanded this reward for this in general peace. The monarchs promised libernte: Constitutions, Switzerland was called Ne public and, since in France treason was the

Purple of the betrayed negotiated, so he negotiated him at the price of a treaty that would benefit the traitorous party currently the co-regency, for the future a safe so-called legal path of rapid eternal progress to total tearing of the negotiated purple, briefly 5 to the price of a so-called constitution! –

Thus, as a prize of the League of Monarchies with the Order, Switzerland formally, the great France actually recaptured by the Republic. The enemies of the Monarchies had in Switzerland, in the heart of Europe: a safe, in it a base of operations against the monarchies, finally an asylum. In the great France, the King was only nominally, not in reality, because the state government, it had transferred its state power into a so-called executive and split into a legislative, first had been irrevocably transferred to a civil servant who bore full responsibility, and the latter had the monarch's representatives. All means further necessary: Laws in writing and orally were permitted by law. The king over a republican constitution is thus an untenable contradiction, a bond of contradictions added, he had to stay in France for some time, impossibly long, because between Louis XVI and Louis XVIII. a royal dead interlude lay, a period in which the generation had died out, who in the belief in the divine Legitimacy of the Monarchs had grown; a period in which where generations had grown up, suffering from murder, atrocities of all kinds, with passions of the most diverse kinds and in Belief in the legitimacy of their passions flourished!

The bastions for the advancement of the overthrow of the Monarchies restored nominal monarchy of God

Grace, was therefore a sure given.

In Germany, too, and for the uprising of the peoples, persuaded the monarchs: "a enthusiastic uprising of the peoples for their monarchs, for their own * and freedom only if they

158

free-time arrangements would be promised", and the Monarchs They were persuaded several times and placed in Proclamations of constitutions in view; only the larger State governments recognized when the moment had arrived, from theoretical phrases to practical application approach, the perishable, therefore the impossible of the Absolute leadership. And since your special function of the Frenchist constitutionalism, it was said that the pra

té Possible mix the liberal commitments and phre ftadifht
State constitutions, non-parliamentary Reich constitutions
No sooner had this interpretation become clear than throughout Germany there were complaints about monarchical breaches of authority.
The plaintiffs were writers, but their complaints were to the deaf ears of the peoples, Dena fie had them princes whose peaks shared their mortal dangers, a new color
A bond of trust and confidence with their princes gefch ungen, But the communal struggle of all German tribes against France's emperor had furthermore the dente fhe here and wölker with communal matipnal feeling ordered, they demanded anchorage of Oeftyeich's neighboring lands and Prussia's old provinces mean restoration of the German fchen Reichsbandes, but nobody knew, we the Pee with of blows and duty against the Staufueften in Fame ,ya
bring fet and wished the discovery of an elhe hamm
the monarchical membferfation is poor.

This germinating national leadership and.
peifspoke the middle to be able to unite the thrones, because the Ginhek of the whole was indeed wndesiter in the Gin ben of the monarchies, consequently fam s on it mn, 196: of Cinigunghfixeben until the sworn Fuchaitanerlangen «ge could be flown. And so the unit became the wide Tone that the literature of a few days in Germany ceding and practice again and again until Bold also Monarchs the Nan and beine natural effects wit:
attention was paid to the sound and the words were he echoed rather ineffectively around the Viltern, because the Love and respect for the tanm fiuftar outweighed
the desire for unification. And when the amp the sound te, the faithful people recognized that he had saved the darkness and licher, akio überhmpt a chhöfer gafen fhife

lt ben Mihi that time was cle in Deutfchleud nichtd for the Rrdoointion qu do, he friends had to Gerd faffen, and maybe educate a new generation for it.
In England, as expected, the Maurtpotden was in the exhausted by the last civil wars, was brought to new life in 1717
awake and had subjugated the continent, but he stood fetwork hostile and neutralift towards each other, until In 1813 the general religious association in the three rich, England, Scotland and Ireland.
Since then, the influence of the Order has grown enormously, but of course he needed years to reach the strength of= which gave him control of the government could.

This situation forced the revolutionary party to take the Politics is pretty self-evident. A fight for immediate Introduction of republics would be by the united monarchs

Europe would have been suffocated immediately and even if Switzerland and France with their state forces of the Republic would have been available at once. However, expect that the monarchs, if the influence in England the Revolutionary Party has become more effective in the government and then England would face possible monarchical intervention want to oppose the monarchs in individual states upheavals would calm if the monarchy mins at least nominally preserved and a so-called constitutional King would be created by popular election, who would then be chosen from the ranks and emerge from the election of the Revolutionary Party and as their tool, the conquered state to manage until the rest of Europe also reached this point and would finally be ready for the pure republic.

The history of the following years teaches that this plan was pursued with luck.

Soon afterwards, the decline of the Tories became apparent in England in the state leadership, the so-called liberal party won with each passing year increasing in strength.

In France, Louis XVIII ruled with just as much wisdom as mild justice; only under the protection of the monarchic-republican state treaty renewed not only all revolutionary operations which the first revolution brought about, but they also had in the press, in the cameras

469

mern, in the affiffes, in the clubs daily the most beautiful places gane, to defame the government in the most unworthy way, to disedit, to teach and organize the revolution. The continued existence this nominal . Eu soon as rn

2 7 Sach

The

Freemasons: Order

fine true consideration.

Second delivery.

Printed by Julius Blochmann Jr. in Dresden (Schloßgaffe 23).

163

In Germany, I said, was with the men of that time to do nothing for the revolution; their friends had to be patient and first a new generation to First of all, they cast their eyes on the academic Youth, the youth who prepared and were determined, in future the church and school, as academic teachers the Er-relationship of the nation, which was preparing and foft was in future the judges, the legislators, the authorities= ten of the nation. The fraternity associations were launched with the obvious purpose:
"To be educational schools for citizens full of love for a free, united, great, German fatherland." The Federation was a general German, the connections on the individual Universities were branches of the general federation, the Ore
The organization of the entire Federation was republican, the Federal Legislation and the Federal decisions were discussed at general youth meetings (convents) where each individual Burfschaft sent its representatives. The individual Burfschaft had a governing body in an elected
Board of Directors with a board member and his/her support
The controlling body was an elected committee=Colle= gium for preliminary discussion of the resolutions proposed by the Board and government measures. It was therefore the republic Canadian constitutionalism, the separation of the executive from the Legislation. The form of Johannine Freemasonry was subject to.
If the proposals were discussed in advance in both colleges, then
They came to the general assembly for discussion and decision-making Society and here everyone received from the presiding board of the Collegium on prior registration "I ask for the floor" permission to speak.

But each individual society was divided into two classes, the class of those who have no further special positive determination knew, and the class of those who knew such a Class of the initiated. The latter were mostly the talented ones= speakers, certainly the most enthusiastic and energetic Their active solidarity, their zeal and their Talents always brought them to the top of the
They formed the boards and acted as representatives empowered the general youth conventions.

never an uninitiated person. All the songs that we sing

Eckert's Masonic Order, II. Lief.

164

gave, all the speeches that you gave in our meetings, preached only one doctrine, that of the German Republic, fired to strive for a single great German fatherland,
 to hatred against the monarchs, or made them contemptible.
 They strove for each individual member of the Federation to achieve their special profit-ven purpose, and in this with more and less prefent preparatory and advertising attempts one, with careful, wise negotiation: that there is a young man-lingsbund in the fraternity, related to a men's association and led by him for the purpose of creating a free republican, great German fatherland. It the thought arises that here again signs of life of the Illuminati-Masonry; because Bahrddt in the work:
 "History and diary of my prison, together with secret Documents and information about the German Union", Berlin 1790,
 P. 57 says: "The members are divided into three classes,
 1) Aldermen, 2) Men, 3) Youths. From the Aldermen, the Mesopolitans, Diocesans and Superiors elected." The acts of the Central Commission must contain further Evidence has shown that the fraternities were blown up and the initiates everywhere from the universities
 The persecution started in Prussia, Berlin took the relegated from all countries. But it must be striking-feem that Austria and the Catholic German countries, who do not tolerate the Masonic Order, from this Ver-remained free from binding.

This is how future teachers were educated in church and school, the future authorities of the German nation to teachers and Tools of the revolution. The fruits could be used for the Re-revolution cannot be avoided.

All works of science have been preaching boldly Nature these teachings, so far the censorship, which unfortunately by literary without royal status as a secondary occupation and therefore only was administered too laxly, allowed it. Gradually and fhedly they were heard from the Protestant pulpits, in the schools. The persons of the living princes and the state constitutions in their specialties were still dared not to attack, but they praised freedom, free institutions-and idolized countries and people who introduced such
 On the other hand, people dared to go outside the churches and

Schools are already bitinglly mocking the positive aspects of Church, which the Masonic Order has already become a daily refrain It included the majority of the scientific bourgeois classes, of course he mastered the concepts of education= classes of what is moral, what is a condition of recognition of educational property. Thus, the general un= the term "liberalism" became the prevailing tone of the day, accustomed to the secret management and therefore initially gave him the direction against the Church, where the already prepared They thoughtlessly followed the most easily what they were most afraid of. highest were frightened, and the governments, when they did not directly touching, short-sighted, most lenient. | Now Europe's monarchs were not without unrest and caution because of this obvious revolutionary activity, as the monarchs= and ministerial congresses of that period showed, only in the Catholic countries of Germany and in In Russia, the source was recognized and attempts were made to protect it. in the other states it was believed that enough would be done if one anxiously observes the phenomena emerging from it watch and crush. In vain at the Congress in Verona in 1822 the Prussian State Minister a. D. Count von Haugwitz wrote a memorandum in which he described the dangers of of the Masonic Order. He says among other things:

"The secret machinations, this creeping poison, whose Nattersting threatens humanity now more than ever, this ft are the things that at the end of my career will once again catch my eye I feel called to capture this. Her story is in such a precise connection with that of my life that I I cannot refrain from highlighting them once again, and to treat them specially here. – Disposition and education had aroused in me a thirst for knowledge that did not fatisfied. To penetrate into the interior of things, that is what I. But the shadow follows the light, and so curiosity the nobler urge to grasp the higher. Both led me into the Masonic Order. We know how little the first Entry is suitable to satisfy the spirit, but that is just the dangerous for the all too active youthful imagination. – I was barely of age when I found myself at the top no longer of Freemasonry, but even in the chapter of the ho= hen degrees. – Before I even could recognize before I even knew the point of view on which I was thrown, I found myself called to the upper

. £06

Management of part of the Prussian, Polish and Russian to take over the assemblies of the Order, or at least to In its secret work, Masonry was then split into two parties. One found in the emblems the opening of the philosopher's stone. – Deism, also Atheism was the religion of this sect. The main
The headquarters of this work was in Berlin and its leader Dr. Zin-nendorf.“ = ;

“It was different with the second party, whose external Prince Friedrich of Brunswick was the head of the Feud among themselves, but both met in one – in Striving to rule the world. – The thrones in their property and the monarchs their trustees, the
was their goal! –“ |

“I would try in vain to say today
how my burning curiosity managed to become the master of furtherwell-kept secret of the one and the other to make me. But the truth is that both unveiled in front of me. But both of them outraged me. On the standpoint at which I now found myself remained in my nothing else, at least that was my opinion at the time, than to resign with éclat, or to go my own way.
I chose the latter, and no less happily than my Sidewalker, I found in the hieroglyphs before me of the higher degrees, what my soul sought with fervor.
I found the nature of man pure, as it came from the hand of the Creator.” |

“It was in the year 1777 when I took over the management of a part of the lodges in the Prussian state, and even on the brothers scattered in Poland and Russia. If I had not experience it myself, it would still seem unbelievable to me today feem, with what carelessness the governments are creating a mischief of this kind – a real status in statu – completely un-could be noticed. The heads were not alone in constant correspondence, used their cipher, ft they fed each other through their Ambassadors. – A ruling influence on throne and Monarchs practice, that was the goal, as it once was the goal
the Knights Templar.” N

167

“A text appeared: Erreurs et verite. It made a lot of attention and made an impression on me. I believed initially to find in it what in my opinion in the emblems of the Order. The deeper I looked into the mind of this strangely mysterious fabric, the more about-

I witnessed to myself that some certain something from the very beginning whose nature lay in the background. It became clearer to me I learned that St. Martin, the author, was one of the luminaries of the chapter of Sion, and, as I later learned, it really was. There hung the later developing Threads together to form the fabric that the deceived Sense, the eye of the layman under the garment of religious mysticism fticism to the most extraordinary extent and prepare ten fshould."

"At that time I had the firm conviction won that what was in the year eighty-eight be: and soon after broke out – the French Revolution, the regicide with all its horrors, – not only decided at that time, but by connection, oaths, etc., and God knows how long it has existed. What impression these discoveries made upon me, I leave to the few, who know my heart and mind to judge."

"Of all the companions of that time, only one remains to me, who Neftor of our noblest. – My first urge was to Friedrich Wilhelm (III.) to share all my discoveries. We ge the conviction that all connections of the Moors from the lowest to the highest degrees known to me open to every impression that "religious feelings, as well as criminal plans of all kinds, "walk together in step, and the former themselves "serve as a cover for the latter."

"This conviction, which Friedrich Wilhelm shares with me shared, led me to the firm decision to give every to renounce his participation forever. But the prince seemed it is advisable that I not completely withdraw from the Mau rerei feit by the presence of lawful men in the Lodges as a means of escaping the influence of treason bend, and from the once existing assemblies harm to make loose connections. The prince also has the same Gang afterwards followed as king."

168

5 b this view is justified in our times, especially but whether it can still hold up today, I am far from sure far from claiming." | From Giddens' "Auffschluß" we learn on page 25 that furthermore:

"This thought was made upon the Emperors Franz and Alexander= fcription an impression that the author could hardly wish for better For Austria and Russia this meant for a long time, perhaps forever, the fate of the Order separated." |

Dog as shown by Friedrich Wilhelm III., to the fuffificife the apoftrophe of his former minister was, and into which his friends and allies urged, to follow their example? – How did He act, who in other Things, as we know, willingly respond to the voices of his followers= barn heard, in this case?" –

"Report to your brothers," he said in Verona this personal physician Wiebel, a member of the Grand National Lodge of Germany – that I am here of the Masonic Order and its Preservation in Prussia was difficult because of but that the confidence which I once gave to the brothers given to them, not without more compelling reasons than I have here heard, will withdraw again; that the Masonic Order can continue to count on my protection as long as he within his self-imposed limits, and I am assured feen, if the superiors of the three Grand Mother Lodge in Berlin on my return again promise." |

Thus, by half measures, the year 1830 was getclose.

The French generation of that time was less demo= kratifcal than imperial, but the more she died and a As a new generation grew up, it became more and more clear that it grew out of the lessons of the democratic revolution. And with it the influence of the Masons grew again. The old Masonic revolutionary figure, Lafayette, showed with his Friends a restless, destructive activity, and in the last= ten years of the Restoration – so reports "the journal for Freemasonry" Year 1831 p. 123, published by Dia= conus and Master of the Chair, Dr. Fischer of Leipzig, the 169.

Brothers – the Masons in France exercised great influence on the elections that they finally defeat the Re= government decided." According to this Fischer's Order Declaration, close to 100,000 Masons in France, a larger number than those eligible to vote at that time.

The period of restoration is also not associated with more knowledge and more clearly described than by the initiate= test and main revolutionary Louis Blank in his history of

10 years from 1830 to 1840, translated by . We read therein among other things: |

"On May 1, 1821, three young men, Bazard, Flotard and Büchez at a round table in the street Cape. From the deliberations of the three unknown men in one of the poorest districts of the capital, the Carbonarism, which a few months later swept all of France exciting."

"The unrest of June 1820 had the military Conspiracy of August 19th, a conspiracy, who was suffocated the day before the fight. The blow, who met the conspirators, took place in the lodge of friends the truth an echo; the most important members of the same scattered. Joubert and Dugied travelled to Italy. Naples was in full revolt. The two young The French offered their services and were only the protection of five members of the Neapolitan Parliamentments that they are risking their heads in this venture It is well known how this revolution ended, and how quickly the Austrian army fulfilled the brilliant prophecies drawings of General Foy proved to be lies. Dugied returned back to Paris with the tricolor ribbon as a sign of the degree he had received in Italian Carbonarism. Flotard learned from his friend the details of his an inauguration in ceremonies that had previously been were unknown. He shared them with the administration Council of the Masonic Lodge "Friends of the Truth", and the seven members who make up This council decided to give the French to justify carbonarism after opposing each other sworn to keep the terrible secret intact. Limperani and Dugied were instructed to asks to translate the regulations that the latter brought It was wonderfully suited to the Italian character. mefen, but the code of conspiracy in France to It wasn't very suitable. The idea contained in it was essentially religious, even mystical. The Carbonari were as the military militia of Freemasonry, as an army fhoard of Christ, the patriot xat 2Eoyny regarded. One had to think about changes, and Büchez, Bazard and Flotard were commissioned to lay the foundations of the "To design an organization, we need to be flexible."

170

"The dominant idea of the organization was not sharp formulated and clearly defined; the motives, such as Baz -

zard, Flotard and Büchez fhe wrote, ran on consequences=

"Considering that force does not replace right and that the Bourbons were brought back by foreign countries ft, the Carbonari unite to join the French nation the free exercise of the right to choose a suitable Government len, to restore it." This meant the sovereignty of the People decreed without defining them. So they set about to confpire on a huge scale, without ideas of the future, without prior studies, all capricious performances exposed to the most densely populated areas."

"It was agreed that next to the high Venta Central vents, under which there are special vents The number of members of each Association was to escape the penal code, set at twenty. The hahe Venta originally consisted of the fieben founders of Carbonarism: Bazard, Flotard, Büchez, Dügied, Carriol, Joubert and Limperani. They complemented each other."

"For the formation of the Central Vents, following procedure: "two members of the high Venta withdrew a third party, without letting him in on the secret of their position= development and appointed him President of the future tigen Venta, while even one of them has the title of deputy, the other took on the role of a censor. Since the task of the Deputies in correspondence with the higher association, and that of the censor in the control of the subordinate Afociation existed, the high Venta became the center of all the vents it has established, although it has given them its secret and their actions."

171

"It was impossible to follow the investigations of the Pos lizei to avoid completely, foreseen; to reduce the danger gladly, it had been decided that the Benten were indeed common act fubstantially, but remain unknown to each other, so that The police only discovered the high Venta the whole context."

"It was alfo given to every carbonari who was admitted to a venta= heard, forbidden to enter another. This ban was sanctioned with the death penalty."

| "The founders of carbonarism had, for example, entry of the military; hence the double organization of Carbonarism. Each lodge was assigned to a military hierarchy archy, which ran parallel to the civil hierarchy. In addition to the Carbonarism of the high Benta, the Centralvens ten, the special venōs, consisted of the legion, the cohorts, Centuries, the Maniples. When Carbonarism becomes civil=ft ...

On the other hand, the bourgeois hierarchy disappeared. Apart from the power that comes from the play of these two powers and the alternating government, The double designations provided a means for the police from the trail!!“

“The Carbonari’s duty was to carry a gun and 50 cartridges to be ready for sacrifice and to obey the orders to blindly obey the unknown leader.”

“Constituted in this way, Carbonarism soon spread throughout all quarters of the capital. It penetrated all schools. I does not know what glow of fire runs through the veins of youth= ftrômte. Everyone kept the secret, Everyone showed fih fully Sacrifice. The members of each Venta recognized peculiar signs and mysterious patterns were observed= In several cases, inspectors were commissioned to to make sure that everyone has cartridges and a gun. The affiliates practiced weapons in their homes; Several times exercises were performed on a straw-covered ground. And while this strange conspiracy under the protection of unprecedented secrecy tete, and surrounded society with a thousand invisible threads= fwallowed, the government slumbered in the shadows!”

“The founders of carbonarism were, as we have seen,

172

have, unknown young people (officials of the Accisver= administration) without an official position, without recognized influence. As it was important to expand their work and the network with which which they had surrounded Paris, spread throughout France= spread, they considered themselves, and distrusted themselves. It be= At that time, a parliamentary committee was set up to which Lafayette belonged to. Since Bazard was with the Ge= neral was well known, he asked his friends for the Empowerment to draw them into the secret of their aspirations There was no shortage of objections. Why this communication, which because of its often unreserved character ters Lafayette's was associated with evil and danger? – If he decided to enter the Carbonarimus, and to risk his head like everyone else, you have to put up with it.”

“When Lafayette was informed of the matter, he did not hesitate; he entered the high venta, and the boldest of his colleagues followed him. The directors of carbonarism, if they consider this inclusion to be necessary: since the Carbonari did not know which Hands the impulse came from, so you always had this believed to obey liberal notabilities, which only later were called to share in this mysterious power. The real inclusion of these important persons in the high Venta did not reinforce the moral impression that her had already practiced the required membership. But what she what they could do and what they would dare to do was Secret of the future."

"However, their entry was nevertheless Carbonarism useful through the relationships which it with the provinces. (It has already been shown above that Lafayette was an old head of the Masonic Order, and as from Paris the Order is directed throughout France and was inftruiured.) Several young people went with recommendations= letters to the departments to promote carbonarism organize. Flotard was sent to the West, Dü= Gied went to Burgundy, Rouen the elder to the Brittany, Joubert to Alsace. In their relations to the provinces, the high Venta took the name of the upper= ft Venta; and Carbonarism was everywhere as in the capital. With general and irresistible= It spread with great violence; almost the entire land of France empire was covered with plots and conspirators."

173

"It got to the point that in the last days of the year 1821 everything led to an uprising in Rochelle, Poitiers, Niort, Colmar, Nantes, Beaufort, Bordeaux and Tou= lofe was ready. In many regiments there were Venten or= ganifirt, and even the garrison changes were for carbonarism a means of propaganda. If the president of a military force leaving a city had to, f he received half of a metal plate, the an= half to a member of the high Venta or the Central= Venta was sent to the city, after which the re= giment. Through this connection and recognition sign, which was incomprehensible to the police, the Sol: data that were included in the Carbonarism, the Travelling salesmen of the same, and thus led their conspiracy in their cartridge pouches."

| "Meanwhile, the time for action had come, and people believed it at least. Since the staff of the upper Venta has become stronger had been, when it seemed appropriate, a Committee of the Action, which deals with the preparations for fight, but was forbidden to do so without the approval of the upper Vendita, a definitive decision must be taken. This committee was extremely active. Thirty-six young people were ordered to go to Besençon to leave where the signal of the uprising will be given should. They did not consider, although they were young, that they went to their deaths."

The order writer of the more related work: "the Freemasonry etc. etc." Acerellos Vol. 3. p. 49 explains regarding the connection of Carbonarism with the Masonic Order explicitly: "Carbonarism is also in France (he lists masonry systems before and after) where in 1822 there were 60,000 members." He concludes a defense of carbonarism against the suspicion of its democratic nature and a eulogy to him! –

Thus the revolution in France again progressed with certainty to overthrow the throne of the grace of God.
| Soon Carl X was fascinated by the revolutionary activities of far that the sad alternative had occurred, neither to allow the state to fall into horrific destruction, or to violate forms of its constitution which allow the Government made it impossible to adequately protect the state against the Revolution to defend. The clear mind could not fail to recognize that the purpose of their determination is higher than that of the government must stand, as the practical fulfillment given to it possible form. And the monarch of duty and Kraft had to be determined to fulfill his divine calling. Carl X was such a man. Unfortunately, he had men elected to carry out the task, which may have the will but not the Försächtigkeiten to carry out the work wisely and vigorously. They dared to suspend the constitutional forms, but they had neither the eventuality, which was so close, the outbreak the long-awaited revolution with its scope, nor the business, modern treason in the king's immediate environment. There were sufficient provisions for the extraordinary measures do not include appropriate military security means prepared. And even less thought had been given to the To neutralize treason. 1 The Masonic notabilities immediately acted as protectors and Leaders of the Revolution; General Maifon and others High masons in the king's closest service stormed the fame to Rambouillet with worthless false news about the fluctuating loyalty of the troops, the attitude of the nation, the national garden and the alleged triumph of the revolution.

174

They persuaded the king to abdicate. Lafayette and another high mason encouraged the National Guard and the Street rebels and led the rebellion.

The throne by the grace of God found, and Lafayette and his friends raised for the time being to administer the order of the Republic, for which France was of course destined to be a member of their order, (cf. Vicomte d'Arincourt, the red Italian) Louis Philippe, the first citizen king, to the throne. The constitution was democratized somewhat, especially the Hereditary status of the Chamber of Peers as the last remnant of the estate was abolished. So the great France was once again an easy prey of the secret revolutionary alliance. This brilliant Victory had to have a wider impact. It had to overcome the power of terror that the shameful fall of

475

Throne of the great France, inflexibly on the monarchs of the smaller states. It was the neighbouring country Belgium had to be conquered first, where for the conquered great France the protective and supporting power offered; the smaller German states had to be taken into possession. Everything was easy. And in Belgium, Prince Leopold of Saxony was elected as the citizen king of Coburg, who was born on 6 August 1813 in Bern in the lodge "zur Hoffnung" had received the ordination of the Masonic Order, the throne. |

Whether earlier or over the years the entire house of Saxe-Coburg took the order, I cannot say. But it seems like a peculiar fate that three high shoots of this venerable princely house in the course of only a few years on the steps of three thrones, which are more and more under the influence of democratic or liberal party powers fall. It was the House of Coburg that created the Illuminatenbund, Weishaupt, and showered him with honors. And Coburg has remained one of the refuges of the higher Democracy. In Germany and the further north the more. If this were the case, the peoples would hang on to the throne despite all the above-mentioned revolution efforts at the beginning of 1830 still faithfully to their princes, felt free and happy, and were still far from revolutionary will and revolutionary receptivity. Nevertheless, rumors were heard in the capital cities that Revolution should break out at certain hours, without understanding where the rumors came from, who should revolutionize and why? – But the time came, faces, noble and ignoble in appearance, appeared in the squares. Here in Dresden, such noble and mysteriously important gold watches and said: "at this hour the castle in Braunschweig is burning", or "at the hour it started here and there." – As in Dresden, so it happened elsewhere. In short, all individual revolutions appeared clearly and unmistakably as effects of a secret Plan, a unified European conspiracy. The German the peoples did not want to know anything about freedom of the press and Constitution and the like. In the capital cities, every institution, what she disliked in the place, as a complaint, nowhere a major political complaint. And in the small towns the most passionate people were incited to seize the opportunity to take the reins of their revenge against their city authorities to shoot; of course every authority, even the best, had Over the years, many people have not been able to give justice as they wish and indeed had to punish many. Only this much was clear, that everywhere people of the middle-class education have these unclear purely urban riots, to expel the urban authorities' abilities, authorities who at that time still had Guilds and emerged through them. And everywhere you saw then people who have become organs of the revolution had, into the places of the hated community officials.

176

I repeat, the country had no intention of the desire for a constitution was thought of, it was not even requested. His Majesty called Mr. v. ZV. to consult His Majesty Mr. v. L. was known to be a high Freemason, and the country received a constitution. His Majesty laid the Government into the hands of ministers responsible to the people and renounced the free power over their officials, who could only be their judicial colleagues will have the right to suffer in the future should be obliged. His Majesty said a city order which creates an independent, well-paid civil service the educated middle class; and finally His Majesty a civil list. The state representation remained at the time nor a ständliche; only with the town ordinance the ständ Representation of the interests of small urban businesses and guilds. The urban middle class, this old corporate element of the Prosperity of the middle classes and the wealthy power and attitude had to sink. |

His Majesty the King generously sacrificed their families' rights and ability to make the people happy and content, who was happy and content at that time. But the same people' the lied that the people were satisfied, the same people cried out, after their desires had barely been granted, about further and growing discontent, seduced young people and thoughtless masses, encouraged the ambitious, in short, to strive to make a revolution out of the tumult until the burden state of tension bloodily restored calm.

As proof that a secret line of conspiratorial and organically connected people according to the model of the Car⁸ bonari, which was already present in Dresden at that time, continues to serve

The following from my own experience. At the entrance to the sea⁹

177

gaffe was held at that time by a certain Blandau, a Swiss or Cons diterladen. The local consisted of two pieces. In the second Room Died Locals gathered the Adv. Moosdorf a whole closed circle of about 20 young men: Juriften,
Doctors, and also some merchants.

Admission to this club always took place in such a way that an Elubb member for the decided liberal sentiments and for the otherwise suspicious properties of the
Was not a decisive contradiction against the introduction is made, the member shall inform the person he or she has introduced¹⁰ intended to lead, simply with: "a selected company¹¹ chen liberal men gather at Blandau to discuss the
To discuss ways and means to bring about a liberal constitution to lead. The personality in question showed air to the part¹² taking, she gave the member her word to keep quiet about it, and was introduced. They gathered every evening.
9 o'clock, and then flop Blandau fine shop for the rest World. The whole thing only bore the mark of a social Entertainment without any organism, and no definite limited
The purpose was stated, it was enough to agree that one wanted a liberal constitution; everyone could imagine its nature, as he had air, and people were tolerant of the different¹³ views. However, there was unmistakably in this club
People who were bound by closer ties and had certain pos five purposes, the "social republic". They formed the core and the stele of society, and sought with friends¹⁴
fcient protection and more apparently occasionally at Spar ziöněť walks with individual uninitiates, who for their purposes to mature. In the evening company one heard of them,
"that in the Communal Guards companies or in civil associations one or in some neighborhoods this or that rumor is circulating set or this or that measure is requested in order to
To increase the support for liberal aspirations, or to carry out useful purposes for such endeavours." It was talked about it and the activities of the society for all¹⁵ agreed, because any dislikes are always offset by the hin¹⁶ interpretation were eliminated: "it is already happening through other ah¹⁷ worthy patriots who should not be abandoned, and must support it for the sake of party harmony."
It thus became clear that there were other details

ger Clubbs – called Benten by the Carbonaris. The
 The creator and most powerful spirit of the club was the Advocat Moosdorf, a dark-skinned man, capable and determined to most terrible of all means of destruction. He offered everything that individual members of the society, mostly on confidential
 Walks, to bold tools of the social republic yn
 He also always published provocative writings, such as the printed draft of an all too liberal constitution, and tried to persuade us to distribute the writings in moderation and to contribute money. However, as Le | N never make such requests in society. |
 And everywhere the fruits of the tumults that had been Revolution. In Braunschweig, however, people were so far came to chase away the monarch. The illustrious brother of the exiled monarch took the monarch's place, and Eu-ropa's monarchs allowed it to happen that three monarchs of Rebels dethroned and other people elected in their places
 The revolution interpreted this as the actual full recognition of popular or, more correctly, party sovereignty.
 Only the revolution in Po, which initially seemed so promising,
 No concessions were made to them, and they alone took a pitiful end. His Majesty the Emperor of Russia destroyed fle, and – interestingly – His Imperial Majesty did not tolerate any Masons in the council and in the surrounding area of the a most high-
 ft person. |
 So without any popular support, only by means of miserable tumults and by means of the Order's influence on the German monarchs, who were persuaded to support the republican
 To generously reveal the constitutional principles in their real essence=
 And with the coming into effect of the city ordinance= ten the communal offices, the entire weight of the municipal Representation of the Order. The faithful, strictly loyal official had also learned with horror that, apart from the will and beyond the governmental power of his monarch, to whom he owes allegiance had promised, a second will, a second power, which considers strict loyalty a crime and over its Well, in higher power to dispose. The general Ambition and general self-respect recognized that the revolution had become a force which could defeat its opponents.
 ftrès ftrès, fthose who are willing to serve, fshould be crushed. And fhence

"8th
 Uh:

j179
 the revolution had also become a moral force that rivalling the monarchical boldness in the whole state life, yes she herself, oppressively, boldly stepped into the barriers.

But it was not enough for the revolutionary party, Frank= Reich, Belgium and Germany. Above all, the charter the revolutionary strategy on Italy, Spain, and Portugall had to be subjected to the revolution, feven To protect their backs. England's powerful statesmen power had to be brought firmly and permanently into democratic hands, the thoroughly aristocratic constitution had to be dissolved, had to be democratized. North America and Switzerland ends lich had to be considered as existing assets, the operational bases ben. And thus. the Bafis a completely free, uninhibited free, so that nothing could hinder the revolution, the total forces of these states as they see fit for the revolutionary conquest of Euro=

pa's, so in both countries the last

Forces of the Catholicomus and the Estates Structure Broken will be.

The famous Wilhelm Blumenhagen held on 2 November 1820 a lodge lecture on "Freemasonry and the State" or "What is needed in this time?" – to read in the magazine for Freemasonry, as a manuscript for brothers printed 1823. p. 320, – in which we discuss Spain and other countries revolutions the most authentic information He said, among other things:

"In the south-west of Europe lives a people who, through fharsly drawn national character fharnesses itself among all peoples of the civilized world. The Spaniard is the representative of the Chivalry of Europe. Pride, bravery, gallantry, sense of honour and love of country merged in the glow of nearby Africa, None without the other, all with and through each other, give their true picture." |

"Freemasonry was frowned upon like patricide and blood shame; but the free daughter of the heavenly= light and built her white altar. What The brothers found a rich field of work here! Spiritual light, emanating from them, thousands of pilgrims, and like the first Christians, the danger of martyrdom was deserved= more and more glorious. More widespread than one would believe, Freemasonry was already in Spain before the double invasion

12*

wafion of the French and English into the unfortunate country, fogar in Klöftern, where the friends of light can be found on the last ten should expect, English officers found brothers and lot and the arrival of the two foreign peoples
 the country will soon be richly populated with lodges and free masonry= faft." – The death hour of Gallic arrogance had come ftruck; friend and foe alike had rescued the people
 own strength, but the tree of charity,
 the fruitful palm of the Orient, had deep roots
 gen, and all the efforts of Catholicism as well as monarchy Chinese cruelty that brought down an entire lodge in Valentia= fhoot, did not hinder the flight of the fired spirits; the Lodge of the Loreniinis in Madrid and their sons Quiroga and Riego on the island of Leon, the chains were broken and a whole people, secretly nourished by Masonic truth, by inspired by the Masonic boldness of thought, freed himself, noble and without violating the laws of humanity. Uo Here, too, Masonry exceeded its limits, so that it would dig, driven by need and the loud pleading voice of the oppressed, the great immeasurable gain, the consequence of the bold deed and how it happened, sanctifies the error."
 "The same thing is said to the Masons about Portugal by the Altenbur=
 ger secret Freemasonry=Umfauf, called Ziegeldecker, lc 1839. No. 9. Portugal. The Freeman Order is to be persecuted in Portugal for some time.
 The Order felt the tolerance sometimes granted by Inclusion of political elements in its constitution. The last tere took place especially during the French invasion 1808. At this time, however, the Association of Freeman split finnigen in Francefado's and pure masons, ie in franzdfis fhic masons and English masons. In the battle of Vimiceira (village near Liffabon, where the French and ter Junot on 20 August 1808 by the English under Wellesley were defeated and then evacuated Portugal had to), those perished, except for a few, some of whom with Masonic rituals 1820, 1821, 1825, 1826, 1833, 1834, 1836 and 1838 were reinforced by new ones, the political relationships. The pure masons pursued their endeavours in cautious silence and seclusion
 more indirectly than directly, always under the utmost

– A

which delusion, prejudice, selfishness, delusion and Fanaticism threatens them."

He further says: "The attentively observing Freemason takes with joyfully beating heart the phenomena in the Lodge world, which give news of the brothers active Strive to always follow the precepts of the royal art and to achieve the great federal goal of the Do these phenomena justify him

z the beautiful belief in a constant progress of the derfschaft to greater perfection, so his inner the more filled with sadness and sorrow when he sees that here and there freemasonry is abused for purposes, which are not within his fur ...

Brothers fight against brothers and, in the spirit of true Freemasonry, hostility and persecution. A be=

A lamentable example of this is Porto (Augsb. Allgem.

There are currently 18 Masonic lodges working here, all of which consist of Septembrists, who are nothing more than Revolutionary Ckubbs; their members, almost all young people from the middle and craft trades, are particularly characterized by red vests and red neckties, and are therefore from the Chartist leaves Garroteiros (Executioner)

As an opposition to those lodges, another in Porto, which consisted of moderate and purely sympathetic men should be composed."

We read the same thing about Braftlien in Fescher's magazine for Freemasonry 1838. 2nd issue p. 243.

"Freemasonry, which here has completely revolutionary origins played a very important role in Brazil.

Under the Viceroy, Count of Rezende, around the

By the year 1801, it had already gained such a firm foothold that of its members with the mission to Lifabon, to establish a connection with the main lodge there. This Reife received the character of a special commission, since had managed to persuade the Viceroy to fure man to send fine dispatches to Europe fend; this man was the secret emissary of the Free= mason."

"Some time later there were disagreements and disputes in the womb of the growing society, which has not yet received the attention

18%

aroused, which was already known to her in other places at that time= mete. Few distinguished and important persons were into the covenant, but their number in the time= had already grown considerably in the period 1801-1808. His Existence has not yet been discovered, although King John, who was terrified by the mere rumor instilled, tried everything possible to discover. At the At meetings, the brotherhood constantly changed its motto cal. When the king finally received the list of members= held, he extorted from them the oath to leave the society to want to step in; and so in 1815 the prene Dal er= delete."

"At the beginning of the year 1817, the company received as a result of the political movements in Portugal and Per= nambuco a big increase. Everyone rushed to times to join the alliance, partly out of curiosity, partly out of a penchant for intrigue or out of ambition."

"The second founder of the League is Jof. Bonifaz von Andrade; he also moved the young to Don Pedro J., the future emperor, to be taken. Thus, the society of Freemasons the workshop in which the Independent= ity of Brazil and the Empire was built.

But soon Andrade, who was consumed by his personal hatred could not master, with the lodge; the Marquis Rezende caused a split, and from then on two Societies that claim the name of the "Great Orient" tive, and whose tendencies naturally opposed ftood."

"Don Pedro I, who soon got a taste for this lost and felt disturbed by resistance, was now very strict against the Freemasons; only more after this mood, rather than with strong energy. Shortly before his

A political club had been established which had the basic situation became the Society of Defenders of the Constitution. Through this society, which indisputably has the best minds (of F.=B. was one of its members, the revolution of 1831 launched – a revolution that exceeded all its expectations= ments and whose outcome may also partly contrary to their wishes. This Connection through the death of Don Pedro I, whom she had fought to the utmost."

183

So we see the same political game there, which shook Europe. The Order awarded a prince= zen his ordinations, and appointed him administrator of the republican nifden Land. The Order pushed its high tool back from the throne when it wanted to have an independent will.

England, according to its constitution, belonged to a class-based aristocracy, therefore his resistance to the revolution of the ten hefte. Therefore, the world saw this autocratic state, the European, democratic revolution originating in France, with with unparalleled persistence and effort.

After the civil wars, the Masonic Order suffered from internal desor-ganization suffered, had degenerated into entertainment societies and remained ineffective until 1717. He reorganized in the year in question and sought to centralize his power; but, as shown above, it was only partially successful. The new English franc-maçon organism stimulated the old great lodge of York with its daughter lodges, and the Grand Lodges of Scotland and Ireland also waged war on him. Hence imperfect Er-

But with the general connection in 1813

the influence of the order also increased greatly and soon the state dissolution, the decline of the Tory party. Only for the
In increasingly shorter and rarer periods they still achieved the state power and had to purchase their property with concessions from. Parliaments and other radical reforms conceivable power of socialist ferment. Yes, England was with increasing energy and consideration for the people-right, the powerful patron of the free liberal, the revolutionary principle in Europe. It took firm defense in Spain;

Portugal, Italy, Brazil, Belgium, etc., in short everywhere.

America had barely raised the flag of indignation, whether with or without the influence of the Masonic Order? which is already beginning of the 18th century from England and Scotland had been brought there; whether with or without the suggestion of the European Revolutionary Party? I do not know, - so under Lafayette, and France's unfortunate king was persuaded to give the revolution its then so powerful
To lend a hand, without which the Americans, who neither general-

184

my will for revolution, nor courage and means, and were willing to sacrifice, had to submit to their king. Clearly However, the following appears:

After achieving independence, the owners of the State administration and its offices in connection with the other most respected marginal families after their preservation in the possession of the States administration, for which the federal constitution is desirable had to appear. Of course, they were immediately joined by a mass of other who did not want such an aristocracy to arise
Thus, the parties of the Federalists and the Des-mocrat, but called the former, in order to give the appearance of aristocracyfrom will from fit, Whigs. Under these names

Both names became world famous and fought fiH until the Masonic Order drove fine branches throughout the country and had embraced democracy. The Whig Party then soon, and until today, gradually all political gentrals and state power passed to the Order. Already in the year In 1826 the Order had acquired such enormous political importance that he almost completely foresaw the following outrageous repercussions I believe that they are characteristic of the Order and as evidence of the danger of secret connections in er= to communicate with the full power of the people, as fle similarly from Diac. Fischer in his much-cited mason's newspaper, year 1832. and 1833. 1. Issue p. 116. and by Jacob Naumann in his excellent works: North America, fine folklore and fine infti= tutionen. Edited by Bülau. Leipzig 1846. were told

"It was, says Naumann on p. 272, in the middle of the year in question (1886) that a ship in Batavia in A man living in western New York named William Morgan, in collaboration with a local printer a book bears in which the secrets of Freemasonry are published The printer mentioned above soon lost a Number of customers of the newspaper he published and more= Several lawsuits for small debt claims were filed against him Then on 8 September an attempt was made to forcefully enter his printing works in order to printed sheet of that work; but it was possible him, with the help of his people, to abort it. Two days There was even a fire under the stairs of his printing shop= which was, however, deleted again. Finally, on the 12th of the same

183

Month he was arrested, with a preliminary arrest warrant pon Batavia. But since it is only a question of to remove him from his apartment, it was easy to prove the invalidity of the arrest warrant and fine cancer When he returned to his house in the evening, he had to find that unknown hands during his absence had destroyed the entire printing works. The only thing he could now do was to file a lawsuit against his kidnappers auftellie, which haun from the county court to three= bid . were sentenced to fe ...

"In the meantime, on July 25, tine debt suit against William Morgan in the court in Rochester, for which he was appointed until the decision Nevertheless, on 11 September he was because of this alleged debt of two dollars, under Dors presentation of an arrest warrant, in any case with prior knowledge of the Cherif. the county, in the outside lying area hauled to Ganaindagua in prison. With his wife Negotiations were started. They promised to exchange extradition fine papers to release Morgan. She released them, but under the false pretext that one of them was missing

the masonic e was about his release refused."

"Morgan was, however, still on the evening of 12 September flated, after the crime for which he was arrested, by a certain Lawson, released.

But when he came out of the prison door, he was, despite 'fine resistance and screaming, with force in a what zen, who then quickly drove away. He was to Rochester and from there to Fort Niagara.

Horses and wagons were at the ready everywhere along the way=
flaht, the curtains of the carriage remained down, and the sheriff of Niagata= County, named Bruce, brought the Eutfuhrten on 14 September early in the morning into the fort. This was at that time without crew; it was only supervised by a supervisor along with his wife, as if from a man living in the ferry Manne, named Gidding, inhabited, who fo. as well as Bruce was a Freemason."

"The first kidnappers of Morgan from Ganaindagu were,
ferely mildly punished, – namely with etamonaiider

180 up to two years in prison. From the summary= ftitufon and comparison of this circumstance with the statements

several Canadian scientists and the research of a Committee of citizens from the city of Batavia, who are unfortunate Mrs Morgans – who every her and her children support offered by the Freemasons with noble de= armament – in the most loving and active way assumed, the following now emerges: Morgan was soon after fine introduction. into Fort Niagara on the Canadian shore. But since one has to deal with the fer horror story did not want to deal with, he was sent to the Fort brought back. Here he was sung for a few more days held, but then between 17 and 20 September
In 1826, after holding a kind of Behmgericht, four Bans diets were literally slaughtered and his body was buried in the Ontario= fee verfenft. The well-known to the people, but not officially named murderers belonged to influential families, and therefore got away with a light prison sentence=
come." |

"Several sheriffs in neighboring counties who have were members of the Masonic Order, refused to participate in this to take legal action, and many accomplices and witnesses have been removed so that they cannot be obtained for the time being. were. The Governor of the State of New York, de Witt Clinton, who then held the second place of the Order in America, while Elias Hicks, founder of a Quakerian sect of the Quakers, which first occupied, issued late and hesitantly, frightened by the indignation of the crowd, October 26th, a reward-promising invitation to track down the perpetrators of this crime."

"All these facts, such as the contents of the Morgan-fh book, which despite all these outrages still leads to came to the attention of the public, and the incident well-known association of the seventeen states 1244 lodges of the Union, both among themselves and with the French and Swiss lodges, aroused the general discontent among the people. This was further increased by the fact that the Grand Lodge of New York (sic) refused to accept Morsgaus convicted kidnapper, which also the discovery came that they were against the Morgan-given Exclusions and disclosures an eee (check. Degree)."

187

But this gruesome event had even more terrible Appearances of the kind relating to previous events and consequences. Whigs and Catholics are the preferred ones in the so-called free America. most important objects of democratic-Masonic persecution; some of the most horrific examples.

"On page 295 Naumann continues: Mr. Hauson, the Res editor of a newspaper offensive to the Democratic Party, the had considered it advisable, at the time of the first tumult to leave Baltimore, returned there on July 26, 1812= accompanied by several distinguished followers of fine Party, among which was also General Lee, who fhind glory in the Revolutionary War through his bravery and subsequently Governor of Virginia and Representative fendant of this state in the Congress of the federal government. He intended to publish that paper again, namely fhould it be printed in Georgetown in the Columbia district, then brought to Baltimore and from there distributed and sold: fent. For this purpose he had in CharlesftraÙe rented a house, it against a violent break-in tried to secure it as well as possible and also with a group of brave well-armed men to protect it in case of emergency to defend it with vigor. On 28 July the Paper for the first time. It contained bitter »criticisms comments about the Mayor, the police administration and the Residents of Baltimore because of the previous month's note in the editorial office of the same perpetrated vile Frels, and these were soon spread all over the city."

"It became known during the course of this day that Mr. Hanson himself was present in the new expedition, and (hon secretly went the rumor that next night the Gee buildings should be attacked. With the approach of dusk a pack of thugs gathered in front of it, and after they had for a while uttered the most shameful insults against: those in the crowd had expelled, they began with: to throw stones into the windows. Two firearms were now fired from the upper floor, one believes, blindly. invited to prevent further violence= »fcare. But the pack only grew larger and larger.

188

and more and the boys were now replaced by men. The windows on the lower floor were smashed and Attempts were made to blow up the door. Rifle shots were fired and in rapid repetition from the heap to the pack and some shots were fired back. Some military came and tried to disperse the horde, but it did not work succeed. A certain Dr. Gale among the mob was now by a rifle shot from the door of the expedition here killed: the bitterness of the bandits turned into fury They were just about to fire a cannon against the house than a stronger Commando Mili= tix appeared and prevented the firing of the same. The Those present in the crowd were now asked to join the Civil authority, and complete protection of their persons was assured to them. Building on this assurance, They then voluntarily turned themselves over to the court officials and were, in Accompanying the military to the area outside the city County prison. The captured party consisted of twenty people; among them were Generals Henry Lee and James Lingan, the editor Hanson, the printer Wagner and several prominent citizens of Baltimore." "The Mayor instructed the Sheriff to remove all possible to exercise due caution to protect the prison entrances fuffi ciently secure it, and the commander of the military was ordered to provide a sufficient number of people to maintain peace of troops near the building. Against The following evening, however, everything bore the appearance of calm, and the ordered soldiers were with the approval of the Mavors released. But as soon as darkness had set in, fh a large crowd of scoundrels in front of the prison fampled and the intention to open it by force, clearly

Notified of this, the Mayor rushed to the Place, and with the help of some more men it was possible him also to carry out the devilish plan of the mad= to hold up the Notte for a little while, but soon fie was overpowered. The mayor was taken away by force, the prison guard was forced to open the doors and – a training game followed that cannot be described and of which no one can even imagine, the not already been an eyewitness to the bloody scenes. Lee, Lingan and Wagner were first captured and killed. The two captured revolutionary heroes proved to be true to their last worthy of their previous life; only after the bravest resistance and after they were overwhelmed by the crowd, They gave their blood to the murderers. All kinds of murder weapons were used, bricks, sledgehammers, stone hammers, axes ac, – the unfortunate victims of the rage were torn and torn grinds in a horrible, horrible way, and the Gemor= dead or apparently dead in a heap in front of the door thrown.”

189

“Only a few of the prisoners were so fortunate as to to escape the crowd. Hanson, with innumerable wounds covered, lying unconscious, was attacked by a supporter of the opposition= party, with danger of his own life by the carried into the flowing river and into the apartment of a friend but did not survive the horror story for long.”

“A proper investigation of this monstrous Violation of the public peace, which leads to a sufficient fuffifcife refults, has not taken place at all found and the guilty parties remained unpunished. Although the well-known leaders of both sides were ten to court, but since they were inclined to Everything to ignite the community spirit= They were acquitted.” |

Destruction of the nunnery in Bofton in 1834.

The destruction of the nunnery in Bofton is a horror= proof of the truth of the persecution of Catholics and More horrific examples follow one another.

“The Catholic educational institutions (Naumann p. 123.) are being attacked in far greater numbers by protestant children fought than from those of their own co-religionists. The under= as well as the care for the morality of the pupils find these houses to be excellent. Their higher education teachers folds are excellently equipped, staffed with the best teachers and with rich collections of books, as well as phyfifall fch apparatus and instruments and all other teaching aids

well inadvertently."

"Notwithstanding the ET services rendered by the Portugese ity of these institutions the Catholics around the whole country and especially to acquire the education of youth, unite

106

but all Protestant sects, which otherwise always easily Hefehden, precisely in always and everywhere being hostile to those Many sad examples of the enemies ruling against them fadventures have already happened, but the most terrible of all is that, une PON still in 1834 left m has."

"On a street close to Charlestown – one of the suburbs of Bo:
ftons – located hill there was a monastery of the Urfe= liners, whose residents are dedicated to the education of young girls chen. Their method of education was generally applauded, so that the number of their pupils soon rose to sixty. The No:
viziat lasted for two years for these nuns, and even those who have already been clothed will leave the monastery at any moment and yet since its foundation, people had maliciously constantly spreading the most detrimental rumors about it in the night= bourgeoisie, which was diligently promoted by zealous clergy
Now it happened that in July 1834 a nun, which had already been dressed ten years earlier, once in left the monastery in a state of unconsciousness: 'she returned however, the following day voluntarily returned to the same fe incident was immediately exploited by malicious fanatics, the |

To spread the rumor, she was locked up in the monastery and walled up
According to the prioress's wish, the whole Monastery searched thoroughly by a commission of the city council and the councilmen were imprisoned by the alleged ten nun herself was led around the house. It was now They drew up a statement in which they testified that all concerning this matter, rumors spread are false and slanderous= derisch, and this declaration was confirmed in several certified Copies to the editors of the next morning's sent to the public newspapers to be printed in them
become."

"The fanatical enemies of the monastery now feared that The announcement of this declaration by the councillors may the following day the rumors spread seemed to be completely depressed by the excitement and therefore decided to hasten the execution of their shameful plan as quickly as possible.

They knew that same evening the entire small and noble rabble of the city of Bofton to visit the monastery fumpel. To attract a lot of people and thereby

191

To make the tumult as terrible as possible, they lit a large set fire to the monastery and broke open the gates and doors.
gardens."

"After several signal shots were fired throughout the whole squad that everything was ready for the attack, the doors of the building was blown up, as well as the nearby residential
The bishop's house and the church were plundered, with the god's official garments and the holy vessels became bolder mocked, even the dead were raised from their graves
and finally set fire to all the buildings, but the rushing syringes were held back and the associated rigen menfcies at the feng of their duties violently prevented."

"The prioress, the nuns and their then present 47 pupils were forced to save their lives at midnight, only scantily clad, far into the open One of the nuns died soon after from the Consequences of escape."

"The following day, under the chairmanship of Major Lyman in Bofton a public meeting of the respected ft citizens of the city. They loudly declared their resignation fear of the crime committed, and chose a fhot to dispose of the further necessary. This now continued considerable rewards for the discovery of the authors of the crime and brought it despite the danger in which his Members were in tune with the prevailing popular mood, ly there, the most zealous executors of the deed, even if not to find their higher incentives
They had to appear before the Bofton asses, but They were convicted by the jury, amidst cheers of the assembled crowd, acquitted. As if to In a mockery of justice, a seventeen-year-old boy was sentenced to one year in prison, but soon afterwards pardoned. And thus also the highest authority of the state do not reserve anything in advance from the so unjust, although the Ge= conduct of the jury in accordance with the crowd nen, so was the House of Representatives, the
made a proposal: to give the seriously injured a sh=

the replacement for m. a en discarded. rs. 0e a Pe Soe yee Se

198

"This happened in the state of Maffahuffetks, according to the Dits
Only a year earlier, the traces of the religious Swarts had legally destroyed, against a company innocently of helpless girls. Only in their faith did their Guilt; because, according to the testimony of parents, siblings and Guardians of the pupils entrusted to them, had fie wake during the fifeft years of its existence not only never Attempt made to persuade the Protestants among them to Weber to move, but fle had. fogat the catholic and terfafh, with the former ever on religious matters to speak, and they had also tried to arrange for every Sunday, under the leadership of an older Protestant Student, a class consisting of singing, prayer and Bible lectures devotional exercise was held for them."

"Three different appearances are probably to be found in the act distinguish, concludes Naumann. First the act itself, bet which the Bofton mob, close to the gates of the city fix hours of undisturbed robbing and plundering, burning and was allowed to burn; then the acquittal of the Criminals to the loud applause of the crowd and finally the decisive refusal of the majority of the deputies= of the State, compensation or at least an allowance to grant support to those who had thought under the protection of its laws, certainly too fine. These Gers gangs spread, each for himself, much light about certain American canic conditions, but also throw a ftasfen and deep shadow on some of those involved. The aftermath= world or, which is the same, history will one day
judge more impartially than the biased present

"On May 6, 1844, at Kenfington in Philadelphia the persecution against the Catholics, almost all Irish, who to counter the attack before it is organized had hoped. The battle continued with fire and murder, by means of all weapons, on the 7th and 8th. The apartments only of the Catholic and Protestant Irish, their church chen, seminars, charitable foundations, 48 residential buildings were never burned, 12 people were left, hundreds wounded
det. And already on 6 July the attack on the Catholics and another church was set on fire ft, but the fire was extinguished again. Until then, the authorities showed their military power, nowhere but applied. Now it finally happened. Immediately but the masses of cannons and it began a formal civil war, but the military won. Nonetheless The vast majority of residents were less in favor of the Rebels occupied. From investigation and punishment no trace! – (The same author, p. 306.)

193

Meanwhile the spread of the Masonic Order always increased and with it democracy has become an undisputed The Whig party hardly exists more than the name and the authority of the authorities= fufficiency is sinking deeper every day. Democracy, under this na= men, not under that of the Masonic Order, which in and middle governs them, holds arbitrary people's courts over Irishmen and foreigners travelling through the country without respecting international law, formal war expeditions against governments with which the Union of States lives in peace, e.g. against England in Canada, and against Spain in Cuba, and the Central= government must make the humiliating admission: "not the to possess power, which are contrary to international law, for the purpose of the mocratic propaganda made warlike au prevent."

From England, the English penetrated to Dinmarf, Sweden and Russia. land and from Scotland the Old English and the spirit= ical Templar system.

"What it is capable of achieving, says a high Freemason in No. 88 1843 of the Protestant Church Newspaper, – the We see this particularly in Sweden, where they are faced with the political and church life is completely intertwined, so that every State and church officials of any importance must belong to the Order, the King does not exclude= taken." Lindner J. c. p. 22 confirms this and says: "It was a great joy for the majority of Freemasons when Charles XIII elevated the Masonic Order to a state order; but the motives behind this Mei: often caused by the chair, one would swear about it= Perhaps Gustav IV will still receive information about this. future. In the past, Masonry in Sweden had a myftical=sentimental character, but ultimately had a lasting effect= tively on political conditions. a

Benturini also writes in his story of the Freimaurerei: "Masonry, which was introduced in Sweden in 1736, accidental circumstances gave a political direction, whereby they became important and influential under the reign of Gustav III, spread all over the country and in 1772 the unexpected brought about a complete revolution."

After all this, the dethronement of the old prince-house and the election of Charles XIII, a Master of the Chair, also in Sweden can hardly be considered as coincidences related to the Masonic Order without connection.

"The Mannerism introduced in Russia in 1730 – esp Venturini 1st c. – which had 15 lodges in 1786, was accused of Jacobinism in 1799; the lodges covered willing = whose opening Alexander permitted again in 1804. They increased to 33 and were again increased to raised."

Switzerland had its old cantonal constitutions back preserved, and in some of the same, in the small f. g. Urkantones was still the influence of the Catholic clergy, here and there was a bourgeois aristocracy, elements which the Democracy. Only the power of both could not prevent the European revolutionary power from laying its headquarters in free Switzerland, but they had to necessarily succumb to this central pressure.

But the Vicomte d'Arlincourt has in fine famous Writing "Red Italy" the further revolution Switzerland and Italy so well described that I verbatim, as far as appropriate, here. He says: "The Swiss Federal Act of 1815 had transformed Helvetes into neutral country; there gathered those hordes of Adventurers, whose fire the revolutionary leaders use to to throw the thrones over the pile and then with the foot of fire, as soon as fire it seizes the power have done."

"There was the refuge of all Jutriguants" which

| had neither home nor shelter, all advocates vine pros

ceffe, of all doctors without patients, of all professors without penance listeners, all bankrupts who are pursued by their creditors were, of all criminals who escaped the punitive justice fponed, and all political refugees, at their 195

Fatherland after fle had destroyed it
There was finally the free port of all humanitarifen theories, the central point from which all insurrections raised their battle cry and the common Hearth, from which the revolutionary fires started, the Europe."

"The terrible pandemonium in Switzerland was attended by all demons of the monarchy, and around 1834 these Forces of injustice that wanted to destroy the rich and only rubbed off the poor who worked to destroy the kamis to destroy the land, the hearth, the property and the religion,
to replace them with nothing but isolation, ruin,
to set doubt and nothingness; – these wild how= those who said to God Himself: Go back! wåbhl= ten Mazzini to their grand master."

"This future Triumvir of Rome, from France in chased away as a result of three murders, never settled in Helverien
The Carbonari changed their names and Form; they called themselves the young Italy. To achieve this, deten fih other European national sects: the association
the righteous and the robber proletariat."

"But it was not enough for the Grand Master to create a nation revolt; he had to throw everyone overboard.
created the young Germany, the young Poland, the young Switzerland, young Spain and young Europe."

"The secret societies extended from a End of the world to the other and correspondent under= each other. France had the Society of the Seasons, the society of families, friends of the people and International law. Every province had its secret club and every circle its ladder."

"Mazzini led the whole operation. As head of all evil, he had chosen Geneva as his seat of government;
From there he proclaimed his tablets of law, he had his Thunder rang out in the distance. There came to him and after all the revolutionaries who were still unknown, later but should attain such a pernicious fame; as the Sterbini, the Gaietti, Ricciardi, Ramormo, Agice, Romeo and a lot of others. There were Weitling, a tailor whose name had a terrible reputation in Rome=

13 * |

196

sound, Simon Schmidt, the tanner, Auguft Befker and the old Albrecht, who was considered inspired."

"The gospel of these people was the words of a believers, and they learned the following lines of Lamartine's by rote:"

"They will shake up society until the Socialis:
mus has followed the abominable judividualism. – The Mercy, that is socialism." (Travel in the Orient,
Th. IV. p. 330.)

"Under the chairmanship of Mazzini, the secret meetings
fociety, however, is moving forward one step at a time.
This head of young Italy established in all countries clubs to stoke the fire of revolt and through Rubble and blood to the dream of the Universal Republic
It summoned to itself all adventurous Poles who against Jews of the revolution; the Paris barricades, these sworn sbirren of the social unrest foundations; them he ordered the demoralization of Europe. He finally organized Free Corps or Condottieri, which were responsible for the spread of democratic ideas, silks, which he had an invisible thread moved and which, according to the given Slogan had to go right or left, with fire and Iron in hand in the liberation of the nations and in to work for the salvation of the human race. The Com munism was already in session and socialism was to follow."

"The first revolutionary bulletin was published in Freiburg dated, a fateful and sad echo of the July victory, which opened the sequence of European defeats.
He has written down his plan and his goal; it is a Kind of catechism. One must speak the oracle. a

"Instruction and means."

"The rebirth must take place in the great countries, as in France, by the people; in the others, and especially in Italy, by the princes."

"The Pope will pave the way for reforms out of necessity= speed; the King of Piedmont in the thought to the Crown of Italy; the Grand Duke of Tuscany from Inclination, weakness and imitation; the king of Naples by force."

"The peoples who receive constitutions and 197 thereby acquired the right to be prudish can speak in a loud voice and the command insurrection."

"Those who are still under the yoke of their princes, must express their needs through singing in order not to
to frighten and displease too much."

"Use the smallest concession to get the masses
to gather and gather under the guise of gratitude= Festivals, hymns and gatherings will Give ideas a boost and raise the people's awareness give it power by making it demanding."

"Organization of young Italy."

"Art. 1. The company is established for the indispensable Destruction of all governments of the peninsula and to Italy a single state under republican government to build."

"Art. 2. Since we have condemned the abominable evils of the absolute Power and the even greater ones of the constitutional monarchy chienen have recognized, we must work towards a unified.
and indivisible republic."?

"Art. 30. Those who obey the orders of the secret disobey society or betray its secrets,
are stabbed without mercy; the same punishment applies all traitors."

"Art. 31. The secret tribunal shall pronounce the judgment and one or two members to the current execution."

"Art. 32. Anyone who refuses to comply with the judgments= will be considered a perjurer, and as such on killed on the spot."

"Art. 33. If the convicted person escapes, he shall pursued everywhere without ceasing, and the offender must be struck by an invisible hand, even if he were lying on the floor of his mother or before the Blessed Sacrament of Christ."

"Article 34. Every secret tribunal shall not only be empowered to judge all punishable adepts, but also death. To impose on every individual over whom the Anarchist topic."

"Art. 39. The officers will carry a sword of antique form, the non-commissioned officers and soldiers receive rifles and bayonets, as well as a foot-long dagger, which she wears a belt and swear an oath of loyalty to it."

198

Signed Mazzini.

= And this whole Saiti really took place; all these instructions were followed. The result of this was that all of Italy was caught in a net of treason, of wickedness. Political assassination was everywhere; the police director of Modena, the Police Prefect of Naples, the Legate of Ravenna, Leffing of Zurich, the generals Latour, Auerswald, Lemberg and Lihnowsky, later Count Roffi, a traitor to his banner, and many others, less well-known, were the secret societies were condemned and killed. The Revolutionaries are in their power."

"The unpacking is making faster progress, several cantons of Switzerland, where the noble descendants of the William Tell, Melchthal, Fürt and Arnold live, rise full of resentment against the blood-soaked shadows of Robespierre and Saint-Juft. Joseph Leu dared to fight them; his fine voice was powerful and pure; he fell as a hero and as a martyr, under the dagger of the Carbonari; he attacked the Undignity and therefore deserved to be struck by their lightning to become."

Had the two conservative elements in Switzerland cannot keep up with the radicals of the country, then, so had to be such a strange energetic force, the growth of radicalism in the state quickly leads to complete destruction of the elements. And so the civil war broke out and soon decided with the defeat and oppression of the old Catholic cantons. And at the head of the radical army one saw the same General Dufour, who, as we shall see, with the Spanish rebels and Mauser, as well as with young Europe.

But Mazzini and his young Europe were only generals and military power of the Masonic Order, finds a white further confirmation also in the fact that we in the much-discussed Masonic journal, Latomia B. 7. p. 128 read: that the Belgian Minister Nothomb, a Masonic apostate, in the Nationalpact before 6 deputies to the deputy Verhagen have: "that Freemasonry is now in the hands of the

199

which certain men consider a powerful and dangerous weapon become fet; – that. the uprising in Switzerland fits origins in the machinations of the Belgian Lodge; that Br. Defaegz, Grand Master of the Belgian lodges, in the summer of 1844 only from the Basically, I would have made a trip there to see Movement to prepare." Remember that I be=

It has already been shown how the Carbonari were used as a fighting force in France: of the Masonic Order were constituted and admitted. It It should be enough to consider that young people, slandered ated subjects cannot make a revolution in states that disciplined armies. Only they will be able to primarily through protection of educated classes and high treason.

In May 1847, a European Free Trade Agreement was established in Strasbourg. Masonic Congress was held, to which the following main members were invited: persons, as I understand from highly credible and, since necessary, communicated by me to a source from Berlin was, namely: Lamartine, Cremieux, Cavaignac, Cauffidiere, Rollin, Blank, Proudhon, Marrat, Marie Vaubelle, Vilain, Pyat and others, – just like the main characters of the German Publican Party: Fickler, Hecker, Herwegh, von Gagern, Baffermann, Ruge, Blum, Feuerbach, Simon, Jakobi, Struve, Zitz, Welker, Heckfcher and others. Strange, the Paris Mau= The first great revolution followed on the heels of the French Congress of 1785. And the Masonic Congress in Strasbourg is followed by a new Repolutions= development. That of Switzerland in 1847 was the first act of the great European revolution, which took place

Act 1848. And after, as expected, the Switzerland completely conquered and became an uninhibited dperation base was won, one proceeded from there to the immediate Access to the rest of Europe, especially and first of all to Italy.

"One of the first to form the secret societies in Italy fcities, Mr. v. d' Arlincourt lc p. 73 about it – was the famous poet Byron.”

“He was a Freemason, a skeptic and an atheist. Every Doctrine, which could grant him the means, fine reputation still to increase every event that changes the shape of the world varied and permeated, in which opened new ways, smiled his adventurous imagination. When he found himself in Ravenna, he therefore seized the monarchical, as the religious power. He accused the Pope, the great pyramid of the Catholic Church, which even Napoleon in the middle of his power was shattered. At the voice of the English geniuses soon populated Ferrara, Bologna, Ravenna and Forli competing with alleged apostles of the European rebirth, the Carbonari appeared.”

200

“Taking all kinds of intangible forms and through terrible Gide, declared the secret societies – ten, through the crime, a annihilation – war not only the thrones and altars, but also the entire social order. They formed invisible tribunals, by which the death of each one was decided without pity was standing in their way. Once in these places the degeneration was allowed, the person taken undressed individuality, he had no fatherland and no family more: he belonged to his masters and had to obey them the first sign blindly, with the dagger in his hand, listen; he was yours with body and soul.”

“The terrible catastrophe of 1830, which the law the Infurrection sanctified, gave them a new strength. Ludwig Philip had taken the sceptre from a cradle, which he could only have taken from a coffin, and all the secret societies applauded. She knew – that a monarchy is not restored by if you can see a purple canopy on the general ruins They rightly said that the act itself, which places a crown on the head of a usurper, a others justify, thereby crushing him on this head – merit; and in their secret arsenals the victorious rich innovators, who had become bolder than ever, with new zeal the weapons of destruction.” | |

“They were tireless equalizers, poisoners of humanity through the golden age and promised the peoples the golden those ages; they spoke only of justice, independence – ity, fraternity, only under these lying words was which disobedience against the laws and rebellion

digit; just so it was at all times; the seducers of 1193, their heirs from 1830, their pupils from 1848, not everyone spoke the same language and had the same goal? – You call patriotism the Subversion of society; godlessness is reason; crime then means virtue.”

201

“As a result of the accidents of 1830, infurrectionelle agents from Paris, supported by the Swiss=Comi=te'8, left to support the revolutionary movement in Italy Modena and soon after Bologna planted the flag of rebellion. Rome should follow their example.” :

Gregory XVI was Pope at the time. How much betrayal and of his government! How many plots! How many revolutions ten! All the kings of the earth had fit at that time before the plantstern tones of July, and everyone listened with distraction= listen quietly to the dull, continuous noise of the devastating hammer that destroys the social building dug up, ready to destroy their thrones.

“With loud cries people demanded freedom of the press and Organisation of a National Guard. Demagogic feathers and revolutionary swords! You know that in such Elements of the resolution, such as impact beams, which constantly breach the power and order, no Government is possible. This is the legally introduced right volte; it is anarchy which lays its foundations with impunity.”

“The Holy Father had declared an excommunication against the Rebels. But what did these lightnings of Vatican? They believed just as little in God as in deff representatives, they would only spread their faith on Dämonen – if they had trusted them.”

“An amnesty was demanded; Gregor refused at first; only his numerous enemies had the support France, and he was forced to give in; only he excluded from the pardon list the most distinguished heads of the Outrage: Mamiani, Vicini, Ferretti, Orioli, Sercognani, Silvani, Sterbini, Louis Napoleon and several others.”

“Later, most of these names become triumphant: reappear. The fire smolders beneath the ashes.”

“The nations,” Mazzini said then with a sigh, are still not mature enough to free them they need greater Enlightenment. Imbued with this idea, he believed.

Prince of Canino, the firstborn of the Roman Revolution=
It was necessary to close the secret societies.

202

strengthen that one can know publicly and under the name= ficient gatherings a comprehensive revolutionary propaganda ganda organized."

"The Congress should meet according to its statutes and under under the pretext of literary and scholarly studies, an annual Gather in one of the larger cities of Italy;
each should have their turn one after the other, so that the Enlightenment its light over every area like a reviving sun spreading, brought every people to maturity. The great basic
The Italian Revival was marked by the following, as Prelude and lure."

"1) To promise Lombardy to Piedmont was the Dream of Karl Albert."

"2) To expand the Roman state throughout the whole territory
Bern, which separated him from Venice: the hope was capable of seducing the papal government."

"3) Offering Sardinia to the King of Naples could attract the two Sicilies."

"The plan was skillfully executed. The science= Congress investigated his operations; he openly confessed on the lessons of young Italy in relation to the arts and sciences. Turin, Genoa, Milan, Florence, Naples and other large cities saw one after the other the apostles of the new faith. All doors were opened to them. Gregory XVI.
alone had the courage to close his doors to them, He recognized its purpose."

"But how could he have set up the administrative improve, satisfy the needs of trade and work for the advancement of art, where parties
rose up and, in secret Masonic meetings, ftert, the entire social order is called into question every day was asked? He could undoubtedly make mistakes, but he knew how to suppress disorder and remained fef
on his throne."

"Gregory XVI died on July 1, 1846. The secret Societies gave their first cry of happiness. The revolution
tions of Rome, Naples, Palermo, Florence, Milan, Parma,

Modena and Venice were to break out one after the other. great movement of Italy was preparing. The fet herself in march; she wanted to make smog-rides." N

209

"The people in the provinces, excited by fine leaders, and lending an ear to their vile slanders, Disgust with authority. A comprehensive attack on against the government was organized on all points. The Propagandists sent to Bologna and Ferrara den, at that time, all administrative authorities of Rome, as consisting of miserable rebels, who opposed the liberal intentions of Pius XI and were conspiring against him. The most respectable names were shamefully attacked in public places and exposed to the curse of the land. It was said that horrible lies; horrible conspiracies of the re action that was supposed to break out at a certain hour, and that the most honorable members of the holy college Death of 15,000 Romans, which chance draw and the bullets of reaction without mercy never which should be covered."

"All police chiefs were condemned as reactionary traitors and murderers, all governors of the provinces as their accomplices and finally the troops as freedom killers criminal tools of the tyrants of the nation."

"The only dam that remained after the closure of the secret societies from the devastating current of the Despotism was the power of the people."

"The people must therefore arm themselves, defend their rights defend and ensure the maintenance of order; it would have to rise in its power and majesty to support Pius IX. to help him, to break the chains that bound him break and hand him over to his great destiny."

"For this purpose the Circoli imperiously raised their Voice, set out the energetic means by which one might quickly triumph over any resistance and it was firmly determined in them that the flag the Jufurrection should be unfolded openly, if one does not first in Bologna and then in Ferrara the construction of the Citizens' Guard."

"Fear seized power, she dared not to resist and gave in. Bologna was to immediately a vigilante group and then m to The Series

come." Ä

LA

204

"The revolution advances from victory to victory; it is mistress of the soil. Pius IX., according to the Radicals, now under the protection of the armed people; he is free to act according to his own pleasure; he has no fetters or hindrances= nfe more. So finally he shows himself as he is! Not one of his former servants is allowed to stay with him; he acts and admires Rome."

"Abbé Gioberti and Father Ventura looked the Citizens' Guard as a people's power; they worked to To disband Swiss troops, which were considered a regime= ruling power, and during all these machinations around= The drama was celebrated with festivities."

This was the situation in Italy in 1847 and until Louis Philippe was again pushed from the throne.

In France, Louis Philippe was, as shown, the country's Grand Master of the Masonic Order enthroned, to represent France under the royal name for the Order. Ludwig Philipp probably had this praises, but he had sons and for them, not for the Order he wanted to win the throne. Emancipation from him and weakening of the Order's power, were therefore his next most secret tasks of life. Lafayette, Lafitte, and other high Heads of orders therefore soon abandoned the throne= The fall of this king had to be accelerated all the more. nished. The secret societies therefore developed furthermore, all energy; even attempted murder was close to murder= attempt against the king, a revolutionary demonstration lined up next to each other, but the king was the grandmaster would not have been useless. He knew all the revolutionary elements elements and their tactics. He parried for 18 years with extremely ft cleverness all revolutionary attacks, he won from the Chambers to approve the gigantic project of fortification of Paris and accomplished such, and yet he too was in Charles X. Situation pressed and forced to save the throne and State, for which the laws did not give it sufficient power, to resort to the same means of emergency aid and to the State= violence Defence rights against the assemblies, public= ual banquet, by means of which the revolution evidently should and had to be led to an outbreak. And when a street revolt broke out, was also a fine situation – fvery understandable – the situation Charles X. The Bourbons older L. wanted the napoleo= Niftan nobility, almost all of whom belonged to the Masonic Order, reconcile with themselves and attracted him, Louis Philipp did that Equal and also tried to reconcile the less ftar heads of the revolutionary parties with fhis families= . to combine interests. He was increasingly successful to succeed; only in the moments of the outbreak of revolution= Charles X saw himself surrounded by traitors, even more Louis Philippe. The fortified Paris had few troops, few guns, the king hardly heard any other reporting and advising voice than that of treason and the throne fell, an easy prey, apparently only to the street revolt of 1000 journeymen, potitechnical students and 3000 apprentices! –

I said: the banquets should and must obviously bring about a new revolutionary storm. They had to it, because on the occasion of this sought banquet, the respected parliamentary speaker urged the people to revolt digt, “the most reprehensible deeds and intentions – assured the people its deputies – the government of the young Kingship, as has been shown.” Could one continue like this? ren, the deepest contempt, the bitterest hatred against the government took control of all members of the people. If it was not, the government could only do so by a breach of constitution, by violent suspension of the assembly enfranchisement and the situation of Louis Philippe was equal of Charles X. |

What was desired happened, the ban was imposed, and had thus found a legal way of resisting the government to defend a lost constitutional national law. This law with scandal, purely passive and otherwise innocent without verbal or written Defending direct revolutionary provocations meant, of course, the nation to help the suffering, oppressed defenders digger of the law and provoke it itself. And in the un= In a fortunate case, passive legal resistance secured the Impunity! This was the path taken by the leaders of the so-called Constitutional opposition, Odilon Barrot and comrades, Glie= that of the Masonic League; but they secured themselves in higher degrees against the revenge of the government by a formal contract with the leaders of the so-called confervativ= Confessio=nal (in Germany called confervative-liberal) party. But these five leaders, apparently somewhat dissenting parties, were five Parisian lodge masters, because, As I personally experienced, it is part of the fwift order tactics trusted brothers at all top even the most hated political powers and parties to mislead them unnoticed and to ensure that Jo This document read literally: "Protocol. In the Intention to eliminate a collision which could be caused by disturbance of the public order, our institutions and our freedom could endanger, and to mutually support the government and the opposition fition party from ridicule or danger, find Messrs Duvergier de Hauranne, Leon de Maleville, and Berger, Vitet and de Morny met by fo commit themselves to use their influence, each Party to adopt the resolutions and agreements to move them, which under the present circumstances clear and useful. After the purpose of this summary arrivals were so determined, the relevant situation of the Pa= teien so stated: the Ministry has at the address=Be= Council declared that it believed it had the right to general police laws banquets and meetings offer; that he therefore does not consider it necessary to introduce a new law – to bring it into the chamber, since it is necessary for this purpose sufficiently armed; but the question of legality I will do it somewhere else. Is there an honest and logical means to reach this solution? Apparently no nes, if the government does not, up to a certain point, offers his hand. First of all, a banquet must be announced, notified the authorities, identified the premises, Preliminary arrangements must be made. Suppose then that the Government, believing itself strong enough in its rights, police= team to enter the hall and to prevent the entry If I violently resist the juices, what can come of it? Two alternatives: either the deputies and their followers try to force the entrance, and it will, (apart from the seriousness of such an act and its consequences gen) from this fact an act of rebellion arises; The question is distorted and the legality remains uncertain.

Or the deputies and their entourage will prefer not to cause a bloody clash and to peacefully go home, then there is neither an advance nor an infringement there is nothing to record, nothing to decide,

and the question remains as a germ of fermentation between the Parties pending. Neither the government nor the opposition fition have to win with one of these two solutions.

The five members have revealed the truth of this first Darke=

They found that the question was answered in a positive way.

only means of reaching a solution which tense situation, is that the government=

tion let it flourish so that it is legally certified, and as a result of a con= pronounced by a justice of the peace

tumacial=Conviction on the Bernfsweg the legal question

subject to the enlightened jurisdiction of the Court of Appeal

The following Agreement is therefore concluded between the five members as honest and honorable people who are inspired by a wise and patriotic intention, in loyalty and faith. The deputies of the Opposition will do what is humanly possible for them, so that order will not be disturbed. They will peacefully enter the Banquet hall, regardless of the warning of the police=Com=

miffärs, which, placed at the door, greets them at their entry

will mean that they will be banned by the police prefect

last. They will recommend the Bailiffs to the Police=Com= neither to mock nor to hiss at miffår (a point that just as the dignity of the assembly, as the agent of the Authority interesfts). You will take a seat. As soon as you fat, the police commissioner will report the violation and against Mr Boiffel or against any other

take a protocol by explaining to the assembly

that fle had to go apart, otherwise he, the Com=

miffar, forced to mobilize the armed forces to to force them to do so. Mr. Odilon will Parrot (also a head of the French Freemasons) with a answer with a short speech, and in doing so exercise the right of assembly

He will fight against this abuse of authority

tit on the part of the government; he will testify that he only raised the issue for judicial decision and call on the assembly to immediately 208

to part in silence, but with the declaration that that one should only give way to violence. He will make it clear that any rebellion or insult against a public servant completely distort the question, and the

would thwart the purpose which the opposition wanted to achieve.

It was sincerely agreed that no speech would be made against the government, against the minority, in short the Ver=

not to damage the reputation of a government in defiance

I would like to give a banquet. Is this possible?

fays, the deputies will set the example of
to remove, and so that the public outside does not Misunderstanding nor bitterness arises, when leaving he clarify that it achieves its purpose and is the only means have taken steps to obtain a judicial decision. The Members both honestly undertake the obligation to the journals, the organs of their parties, Débats, Conferva-teur, Constitutionnel, Siècle, National to work towards the end, that no provocative or mocking article will upset the minds poisons that distort the facts set out above, and against the government or the opposition a weapon

The polemic on this subject is discussed in remain in the spirit of the present agreement
The attitude of the opposition is described as a dignified and moderate step, the government not accused of the weakness of retreat and the measurerule in which she uses her authority as an honest tive desire, which in the discussion a-to fulfil the moral obligation that has gone before, namely to a to reach a judicial solution. If the Commissioner has Mr. Boiffel or anyone else is recorded, the the Chamber's authorization returns without difficulty, without Speech must be granted. The deputies from the opposition undertake not to use any property prohibited by the municipality Banquet in Paris or elsewhere under her patronage men to preside over it, or to do so through their speeches or their
To cheer up the present until the pronouncement of the caffation-
court, and not to sue the government for the measures grab what she might think she has to take in order to prevent other banquets from being organized. Finally is, without all the details being given, the 209

The spirit of this note, understood with good faith and Introduce such high-ranking and respectable men befitting, as the five assembled members find, before and prevail after every banquet, at every participation and Interference in the actions which are the preparation and the consequences of this could be. Signed: Vitet, de Morny, Berger, L. de Malleville, Duvergier de Hauranne. Paris, 19 February 1848."

The riot followed the banquet, and the National Guard found the given pattern of a safe passive resistance, the which had just been invented and taught in the Masonic lodges, too-fbeautiful and acceptable, fhe refused to serve the monarchy, but did not bring her blood to market for the revolution; the Troops, however, although weak in number, remained with the Indifference of the masses but the superior power and tha-vigorously fulfilled their duty. The revolutionary party leaders had to therefore be glad, through betrayal, through accumulation of lie upon lie about the growing power of the uprising and the decline of the courage of the troops to persuade the attacking king to Gunshots of his grandson, a child, to abdicate and the government to hand over to a religious minister in the name of this child. But no sooner had the bold mason fighter seen the State power in the hands of the mason in the palace, he proceeded boldly to the new attack and the latter ordered in the name of the king the loyal troops to refrain from fighting. Where the power did not resist, weakness had to win! Such was the nature of the loyalty which the Masonic Minister Odilon Barrot showed to the Regenthouse had barely sworn. It renewed itself again what we see in all revolutions of modern times everywhere and always clearly and distinctly emerged. A noble secret revolutionary power stimulates, as far as possible, in apparently legal forms to revolution and partly leads it as secretly as possible, partly she is publicly urging the government, urging it as a supposedly loyal friend, but mediating power, but always fit already with the presumption in favor of the rebellion, this and the state power already regarded as two equal powers. It also urges, as a supposedly indispensable Guarantee for the peace conditions with the revolution the

Monarchs from all their loyal followers, and in particular from their vassals and to isolate the state administration to the noble and legal revolution trust! She lies and deceives the monarch. And then their betrayal and street rebellion disarmed the monarch, then these same people have no word, no support for the monarch, then let these ministers and their chambers friends no command to the armed forces, but who the immediately willing organs of the few ragged street rebels, who demand the deposition of the monarch by the men, who have long since formulated this demand for them, who, afterwards speak like a parrot that which it has learned. | So the king had fallen from the throne, but he was not brought down by a victorious revolution of the nation, only in Shock at a miserable coup, which was presented to him as a national victorious revolution reported that he had fallen through treason, quite through similar treason as Charles X. Whether France's armies, civil authorities and citizens submit to the coup would? – despite all the extent and power of the Order, but remain highly questionable, could hardly reasonably hope fit, because even in Paris the National Guard and even the people remained without significant active participation in the uprising The citizen had offered no support, the worker had, although small, brought fine blood, in him alone the revolutionary party its warrior. He had come to the Call of the men who have long given him a joyful, effortless future, he was trusted by these men to fight for this beautiful future, and therefore had to fine faith in fulfillment, the worker folte=ftood the revolution as a belligerent power, consequently at least begin to meet demands that are in our solvable contradiction with the purpose of the state. Should Grant: Reich the first province, the current representative of "the New Jerufalem", the modern high-bourgeois knights and patriarchs, its ecclesiastical and social foundations had to be excavated, the destruction had to be completed before the new positive could be put in a fine place. The work of direct destruction is constitutionally the duty of the external Order and the Order=Armies, which under form conspiracy bodies directed under different names, as we faw; for as long as the work of destruction is not completely buried. ift, reaction can become possible and the danger of

216

211:

to be treated as: traitor, the illustrious Vodena=main threat.

: Such a highly dangerous and provisional situation offered, a place for the most brilliant notabilities of the Order; the men ner, who promised and led to the fight, could only take the reins of the state for the time being. This is how Frank experienced rich the disgrace of a Lamartine=Rollin= and Conf.=Regency. However, the regency belonged to the Order and took part quite high places in it. And a few days later pu= The Paris newspaper l'Univers No. 449 read: Follow the world= of the document: "Paris, March 8, 1848. A deputation of the Members of the Grand Orient of Freemasons of France, especially dressed with their insignia, came to the hands of the proviforie Government a document of loyalty to the Republic – This deputation was led by Messrs. Cré= mieux and Garnier=Pagés and by Mr. General Secretary Pagnerre received, which also bears the insignia mapom, which indicate their participation in Freemasonry. Mr. Bertrand, President of the Commercial Tribunal, Representative of the Grand Master of the Freemasons, opened the speech with the following words – ten: The glory of the great architect of the universe. The Orient from France to the provisional government. Citizens! The Grand Orient of France in the name of all Masonic Lodges of fine correspondents bring fine affection of the pro= Viforian government."

"French Freemasonry, although by its statutes aside from the quarrels and political crises, the general mood of their feelings for the now emerging great social movement cannot be held back. The Freemasons have always carried on their banner the words: "Free unity, equality, fraternity" – and by doing this on the flag of France, they welcome these triumphs of their Principles and applaud for being able to say that the fatherland received the Masonic consecration through you – We admire the courage with which you have faced the greatest and its difficult task, on solid foundations the freedom and happiness of the peoples; we value the Willingness with which you strive to achieve this by administering the order which is its condition and guarantee."

"Thirty thousand Freemasons, distributed in 100 lodges

212

(in France), who have one heart and one mind among themselves, hereby promise you their help to achieve the glorious to complete the work of rebirth that has begun."

"Mr Crémieux replied:"

"The provisional government welcomes with zeal and enthusiasm Your useful and complete participation is enough. The great The architect of the universe gave the world the sun to to enlighten them, freedom to preserve them; he wants all People are free, he has given us the earth to make it fruitful to make it fruitful, and only freedom is what makes it fruitful. – It is true that Freemasonry has not made politics its Objects; – but high politics, the politics of man has always found access in the bosom of the Masonic Lodges. Freemasonry has at all times, in all circumstances of life, under the suppression of thought, as under the Tyranny of power – incessantly the sublime words like Liberty, Equality, Fraternity! – The Republic – is public in Freemasonry, and therefore it has to At all times – happy or unhappy – followers on the found all over the world! There is not a single lodge that could not give this praiseworthy testimony; that they beständig who loved freedom and constantly practiced brotherhood. Yes, on the whole surface of the earth which the sun illuminates everywhere, the Freemason extends a brotherly hand to the Freemason; This is the well-known sign of all peoples. Well, the Republic will do what Freemasonry does, it will will be this brilliant pledge of the unification of all peoples on our whole continent; and the great architect of the Universe will smile from the height of heaven upon this noble thoughts of the Republic, which, by immediately rising above all parts of the earth, to one and the same cu citizens of the earth united!" –

"The deputation resigns amid repeated cries: "It Ae the Republic! – Long live the provisional government! – ti And on 10 March, Lamartine declared at the town hall
to Paris: "I am convinced that from the womb Freemasonry gave rise to the great ideas that Popular movements in 1789, 1830 and 1848
(Latomia 1848. B. IX. S. 284.)
General elections should now elect a National Assembly

213 devoted, willingly following the influence of the Order, giving it the res government, to adopt France's constitution from him= and to Europe's conquest the Order of France

But the nation, as far as it is not in the secret order and club members, had deep antipathy towards the Republic and even more so feared the possession, in the broader sense, the focia= listic Republic, which the provisional government is to The latter had to be used by all means to to influence the elections. She did so ruthlessly. The=
The elections did not yet meet the revolutionary expectations.
It was necessary, if not immediate restoration of a monarchy, but resolute resistance to social= democratic institutions and against social democratic res government personalities, finally, strong resistance against War for the purpose of transferring the Republic to other States. The provisional government therefore by means of further uprisings of the working masses, to whom even Paris Treasures were offered as a prize, the National Assembly to blow up and create a welfare committee for the absolute state=
to raise violence in order to use bloody terror
To reform France and the world for the social republic to conquer.

The report – as we read in the "Neue Pr. Zeitung" of 9 August 1848 – which was commissioned to investigate the events in Paris on May 15th in the June Revolution torn down Com= mission is a document of the utmost importance.
only 4 names are highlighted: Rollin, Blank, Cauffi= bière and Proudhon: but the report says it without reservation that the movements of May 15th were caused by the Lamartin (as thought "Ordens=) government itself had been prepared fee, to the not chosen in their sense, too many confer= vative elements containing National=Assembly and to establish a Committee of Welfare in its place.
This government has made every effort to throughout the country a violent movement, a social

To cause disruption that would lead to catastrophes
To prove this, the behavior of the people in the Departments sent new administrative officials, from many of whom would already have been removed from their jobs;

214

on the agents who are from the most dangerous clubs in the capital
ftad throughout France and the secret
Funds from the Ministry of the Interior.
A passage from the official "Bülletin" of 15 April which states: "If the elections are National not let the social truth prevail if only the expression of the interests of a caste – there is for the people who made the barricades, only a way of salvation, and this is, for the second time, his will and the decisions of a falsified people= representation."

The report draws on the speeches addressed to the people of Minister L. Blank the following positions:

"There is talk of forming a Chamber of Deputies.
Well, you are this Chamber of Deputies; you are the deputies orderly of the people. May the National Assembly meet men or not. This meeting here, I trust, will not perish." Furthermore: "When I was a child,
I swore in my conscience that if I would ever be called upon to regulate social proportions to take part – I would forget that I Wolfe, I shared Defen's suffering. I performed against the social disorder that is called order, which the majority of their members in misery "ee 'Den Eid Dane wibaks.'"

"For all these causes of excitement and concern
ftunzes came another one, which threatened on 15 May was, but in its full significance only in the June days
the establishment of the National Workshops, in which the spirit of L. Blank penetrated early on and the later were completely dominated by this spirit. To explain the events of +5 May and 23 June correctly, one can t8
not refrain from referring back to earlier incidents. On 6.
On 1 April, the Provisional Government issued a decree which Grenadiers and Voltigeur Companies of the National Guard on bob, on the part of these companies to an ill-considered Protestation cause. Nothing more was needed to
To provoke an outbreak of popular passions that will first to the public square and into the meeting room of the government. The leaders give weighty testimonies this movement the ministers Eauffidiere and Blank. The first reports strange things from this time. On 3 April he summoned all police commissioners from Paris to the Prefecture building and gave them a speech following: "The commissaries are too few: they must fill those parts of the city that cling to the old ideas, say that the slightest movement on their part would be the signal to a destruction corridor would be fine. Tell your stupid German Spieß citizens (so there and also in Germany all called solid, law and order loving men!) and Civil Defencemen, that if they ever felt like it, Ready to take action, 400,000 workers just waited for the signal to shave Paris; they will not leave a stone on the others and they will not need guns for that, some matches are enough." In a letter, the Grandmenil to his fine nephew in Angers on 8 April wrote, it is said of Caufffidière: – „Cauffidiere recommends you instantly, in the greatest secrecy some of the notorious bomb-ben and bring it here. The strictest silence but above all keep silent." –

Ö Nightly meetings took place in the minister's cabinet-feets in which the existence and non-existence of the national assembly. – This was the legend of the things when this meeting opened."

(Ibid., 1 August). "To prevent the outbreak of To properly appreciate the 45th of May, one must first of all understand the so-called called Club of Clubs under the leadership of Sobrier and the Human Rights Association under Vilain's leadership After the February Revolution, all revolutionary clubs united under a common management, by appointing their representatives from each of them, the Neue Rivoli No. 16, where Sobrier staged a kind of revolutiondcer Police Administration, which had its origins in the public treasury agents throughout France sent, and among others also a number of non-commissioned officers tasked with going to the various garrisons, to incite the troops against their commanders and the To break the bonds of war discipline in the army. The Association of Human rights activists who gathered in the Palais Royal are said to police reports in Paris 25,000 and also in the Rural communities of the Seine department 14,000 members who were all armed. With the club of the clubs, as with the Human Rights Association Members of the government in constant contact. As on 15 May after the attack on the National Assembly

 Sobrier was arrested, he was found to have a whole Series of decrees prepared in advance in which the Na= national assembly was accused of turning against the people= sovereignty – the people's right to orders to have been unfaithful – the order to attack the people to fire. The last charge is be= fpecially remarkable, because it shows how one can predict expected that it would come to a bloody fight, which but this was not the case. The National Assembly was supposed to dissolved and a committee consisting of nine unknown members Welfare Committee was established. A decree prohibited the Export of all coined money; another declared every Frenchmen outside the law who would go abroad,
 another abolished all administrative offices throughout the country;
 another ordered the formation of community committees,
 which are composed of 7 determined Republicans fosten, of which five workers must be fine. Other decrees ordered the dissolution of the National Guard, declared every night national guardsmen outside the law, who are in uniform and would appear armed on the street; against this, an Ar= workers' power, in which only the most determined publicists were allowed to be included. It was supposed to be an extraordinary ordinary progressive tax, which in The immovable property of all Those who did not pay were to be given to the benefit of the communities confiscated, the movables confiscated, but under the needy=
 gen. The new Organisation of work should be made known." This would be the road to full brotherhood in full ones anges laid been.

The Journal des Debats gave the following comment on this report:
 Important remarks: Paris, 22 August. "We want about the names and the persons that degree of reticence observing the obligations that justice imposes on us. But through revelations of the investigative commission we see other things, as proper names, individuals, parties; we see a moral state, the sight of which makes us cry.

217

 horror and pain. In vain we would want to close their eyes to the deadly lightning, through which the whole society from the foundation to the summit in their palaces, as in their caves, What will the world say when it casts its gaze upon us? What will those who, without this, Spectacle of our suffering, our torments, our misery as a warning to the peoples and as a terrible lesson= How, – from the mouths of the heads of the People, those who lived with him, conspired, fought have, do these terrible confessions fall? It is therefore true, that there is under the sun, on this earth, a horde of 400,000 people who are ready to give that city to the to raze to the ground what was formerly the capital of the Gefung called, 400,000 workers, you say, who rather Paris disappear rather than retreat, and who do their work with a pack of matches? And this People say: You shall have everything, you shall become rich= the, happy, you shall be the first, because you are the last And on the day when it gets tired of waiting, where it recognizes the lie of these punishable promises, it takes the gun, rolls over the pavement, waves the red flag; then the men murder each other, then the women cry and children, then the worker falls without hearth and home, without God, and utter the terrible cry that you have read have: "Avenge me and plunder!" and go with this last Curse your divine judge! –"

And the gears of revolutionary foreign policy are clearly in Mauguin's interpellation in the National= verfembfe, which at that time was identically reported by all newspapers was published. I am allowed to refer, for example, to the NP 3. of 6 August, which contained the following article:

"(Paris, 2 August) Mauguin's request to the director= tion (in the National Assembly) lets us take a look into the secret workings of French diplomacy. He spoke of Lamartine's Manifesto and pointed out the contradiction, in which the expeditions against against Germany, against Belgium, against Savoy with the peaceful assurances of the Manutfest. He said: "These expeditions were the armed republic to to attack the neighbouring peoples; armed with the Weapons of our arsenals, commanded by the commisfaries of our government. – Neither in Piedmont, nor in Tuscany, nor In Naples they want to know something about France's help, because France dealt with the Republic in this carry."

218

"The minister himself, in the presence of more than 20
 Deputies expressed and on this occasion words which confirm the claim that the French Agent in Naples had been accused of having it was armed, that he had called for the barricades.
 And then they demanded compensation, and the performance
 Unfortunately, there are still some in the government who Wuhl. The turn that Mr. Bastide (Minister of the Ausw.) of the matter, the fact not to remove, which we have henceforth established as irrefutable must have seen that his diplomat. Agent of the French Res government the republican uprising of 15 May in Naples
 – And on this very day, in Vienna,
 the outbreak, which took the "achievements" to the outer border and the Kaiser fled; just as
 This day there was also unrest in Berlin; indeed,
 The first attack on the wall (and the rinzigenml) to: at the tent=people's meeting armed fhind, and 8000 men marched to Minister Camphausen's residence nition, demanding the abdication of the miniftry! – And so one will finally realize from which side the effort= ments, which we Prussians also benefited from=
 . to thank for?!?"

The terrible plan of the provisional Ne=
 g attacked the) National Assembly on life and property of their limbs and sprofcricbte the possessing Bürger of Mas
 ris. The despair gave both (Goxporations Iden Couth self-defense.

The National Assembly donated: to General Gavatgirac
 the dictatorship, the three-day battle against »the z fatine Mepublik was beaten in the streets of Paris. How pposeribirte

2198

Citizens fought for their existence and held the first Day stood, the troops held themselves honorably and the Dic= tator. Soon after the victory he resigned, because although equal savior of the city of Paris, perhaps of the entire state, the nation nevertheless rejected him in the election for the presidency= tenfchair, because he was decidedly hostile to the monarchy and only
 'was opposed to the social republic.

The Boffifhe newspaper of 11 Dec. 1850 reported:
 "that on 7 December 1919 the Paris police arrested the four major National Lodges of France by means of an eircular, fih to abstain entirely from politics and socialism, and that the Expulsion of all lodges in France is imminent." "By the end of

Dec. 1850 – published in the N. Pr. Z. on 31 January 1851 – the Paris police captured the great Orient of Frant-Reich because he took on tendencies that were dangerous to the state been feen.“

Police intervention against the Order of Paris is confirmed by Wackernagel, Master of the Chair of Lide tes to Merfeburg in the ee magazine for anchor
B. 1. H. 4.

England, the land of aristocracy, republic under monarchy Chinese company, hence the toughest state life against democratic tic dissolution, even in England we are already driving with the growth of the united Masonic Order, idem beige the influence of democracy more and more. We the old ironstone works of fine construction individually and add modern shiny stones=
pen. The old Tory parties were already disintegrating and Whigs. Soon the former sank from the steps of the seat of state power, and the Whig party had its sense, the character lost. The liberated Arifto scratch found (fic) fairly balanced by the weight of democratic ari-ftokruten. It must have been the fruit of that pre-cleaning of the Entire Order; Power of the Freemasons in the State, which, with this adjustment, will take over the management of the entire Orders in all parts of the world, we saw this phenomenon emerged and saw it grow rapidly
the year 1813, the year of the union of the Masons
in England as a whole. Only with Lord Palmerston's Ues Taking over the State Secretary finally fell to Eden as 220

State power fell into His hands, because the noble Lord had the General Grand Mastership of the World Order of Freemasons= as if from a Berlin Grand Lodge through reliable fy source and the visual evidence should confirm. Just= the same England which fought for the preservation of the legitimate monar= Chinese order in Europe for a generation with admirable endurance and effort, the after 1813 in the 1820s with the growing influence of the masonry united since 1813, first to the passive protection system
ftem of revolutions, in the assertion of non-inter= vention principle, the same England declared, under Lord Palmerfton's leadership, the astonished world actually yes, several times expressly in all parts of the world the adoption of the Protectorate of every democratic rebellion. A striking Proof that the next goal of the Order, the profit transfer of English state power into the hands of an order authority, reached. We gradually saw these two new systems

ftire sides of England partly with, partly without success against Brazil, Portugal, Spain, Holland and Belgium, Russia with Poland and with regard to Switzerland; the development especially under Lord Palmerfton in Italy, Sardinia and regarding Hungary, until they went so far as to establish the Central=Direction the European revolution, the committee of action, according to Lon= don to take.

We have seen, from Vicomte dArlincourt I. c., how Lord Minto, a member of the English legation, in public: proclaimed the independence of Italy in the theatre! – Bir faw there too that the English Consular Agent, Mr. Frenborn, a Mazzinian society in Rome, which was founded two times a week in the Capranica Theatre and the Death of the papal minister ze decided and carried out when Gaffirer belonged to.

In Sicily, Lord Edgecoulme, peer of England= land and sent to Sicily by Lord Palmerfton, already after the first ridiculously insignificant Goncessions, which the Governor, the Duke of Majo, had made the rebels, as their mediating protector, and wrote to the Duke:

“The ftelian people believe they are capable of to make strong demands and expects significant

221

Concessions. It is clear that this is not about promises gen, but requires the guarantees.” And English cannons came to the aid of the rebels when De= fucket to the fortified position of the rebels at Villalate The position was captured by the Neapolitans, and The English accomplices had their cannons taken away. (Ibid.) The English Navy proved its Applause in every possible way. Their officers unfolded in the Garden of Flora and in the theater at the top of her de= small tricolour flags. Among them stood the Commodore Lufhington. (Ibid.) In Naples one saw the Chargé d’Affaires of Great Britain in the midst of the tumultuous= the masses. And when finally loyal warriors Naples and Sar= Dinia reconquered their monarch, the English Threatening notes to the monarch, and the English fleet supported this attitude. One went so far as to say that without doing so direct war was possible, the rebellion and its to save fruits.

It is an obvious truth that in April 1851 a highly respectable and clear-sighted personality wrote warningly:

"The whole world sees how, under Palmerston's protection and The leadership of the Revolutionary Committee in London is possible, all demagogues of the different parts of the continent to attract and win for oneself. But only through The secret Masonic Society can be found by the London Obers management every 14 days to the secret societies in France, Germany and Italy the slogan (mot d'ordre) – as the N. Pr. Z. of April 4, 1851 reported= tet, – to be given. Only through this general freedom maurer= propaganda can then at a certain moment the Signal for civil war. And this Palmer= fton's Masonic leadership not only has numerous agents, but it also has significant funds. It has an army and a budget to pay the army."
 "Here it should be noted that, if Palmerfton's directed secret Masonic revolutionary power not already so sure and high, the negotiations of the Continental powers, as the "Univers" just reported, not so long in vain to Palmerfton, who is now being recognized patron of the anarchists of Europe, to the insight

22

beigen, and that he would have taken good care, femer bēfer will and subtle sympathies for the demagogic shots so openly."

But all barriers to peaceful international relations= and respect are now from the noble Lord and from
 of the English nation. Pages of the noble Lord in relations with Naples and Austria, pages of the Eng= lish people in fine shameful manifestations for the Democratic leader Kofuth. In Naples and Hungary bas
 The monarchs not only defeated the revolution, but also but they exterminate them, as their clear sense of duty dictates
 But extermination of his revolutionary order= ftate and its political foundations in the state must of course lich drive the Grand Master General to the extreme and it has quite the appearance as if he wanted to give his order the world by means of the English state power and by means of the European Conquer the power of the revolution at any risk. His declaration mation in Parliament, his notes to Naples and Frank= furt find unprecedented. And after this unprecedented procedure
 The Minister is not surprised that the Order Person Keffuths used to inspire England's people for the revolution to inspire under this living symbol, so that at the same time to give the European revolution an encouraging sign that England's power and people already belong to her, end |
 ly to manifest the monarch of Europe: "The Revo= lution policy Palmerston's felt a national one! – Indeed for we have already done it in the aristocratic England brought that no mob, no gangs without higher civic authority, no, that the municipal authorities, the highest often corporations of the social revolution, in Kossuth's person offer the highest homage! – Also England's world power is gnawed by the order worm, it is hollow and will collapse shortly.

It is notorious that the Globe uses the organ Lord Palmerston's and the first Order Bulletin of. On 12 May Article published in this newspaper in 1849 about the situation in Europe's felt therefore as an expression of His glory to be more consider, the more weighty and striking it is. It read: "We must now fear that the phenomena of the previous Year's drama of a far more serious nature meaning and a less peaceful solution.–

The work, which the Congress of Vienna had established, was so decidedly arbitrary and artificial that all free-minded, Statesmen in their ability to create the first European order can survive, desperate. Because the decisions of the Congresses were based on a disregard for the nations and. Replacement of free obedience by military rule. The free will and the disposal of the peoples was the interest of border rounding and the joy sacrificed to the whim of individual princes. The whole system, which the Congress had set up was thoroughly lazy, and Lord Palmerston acted wisely in using his influence not only wanted to give a Dam. His plan for redesign Europe's successful establishment of a strong German empire, as a dividing wall between France and Russia, furthermore a Polish-Magyar Kingdom as another bulwark against Russia, finally one under the House of Savoy standing Upper Italian Empire. – The neglect of the Austrian Alliance Lord Palmerston has often been accused of, but his accusers will use his best Defender. England's former alliance with Austria never rested on a commonality of principles, but only that it is, as it were, the embodiment or representation of the German nation. From the Westphalian to the Aachen Peace (1648 – 1748) Austria was at the forefront of German unity. When Frederick's sword, however, a military border around his kingdom, the former Electorate of Brandenburg, was, and all true Germans see in him the exponent of their best power and highest nationality, Prussia became England's natural allies on the mainland. Only George III's stubbornness and stupidity prevented England's alliance with Prussia under protection in the American Wars. What Austria did at the beginning of last year century and Prussia in later times, Germany can now, regardless of whether it is based in Berlin or in Frankfurt. (ie it is irrelevant whether the Republic is in Frankfurt or half a monarchy in Berlin, the Masonic organ gently suggests the Republic as the final goal!) And if Lord Palmerston succeeds in breaking this natural alliance nip, and through a cordial union with France, he will show how much more practical than the most exclusive practical taker among his rivals."

224 litres

In America, too, the democratic principle and its Validity by the Masonic Order higher and higher and began the lodges in Switzerland, in France, and certainly also in Germany to lend a helping hand. And as the revolutionary year of 1848 unleashed its terrors over Europe folded, Germany read that America's free citizens are not only the notorious German agitator, Karl Heinzen, after Europe and gave him 25,000 dollars= ten, to revolutionize the German press; but the brazen republican depravity even went so far that high prices for murderers of German princes, the prices according to qualified for her political power, publicly exposed.

In Italy, the struggle of the revolution against the thrones and against the altar already, as mentioned above, an open, started and directed from Switzerland, before the Revolution triumphed. The reconquest of France and the The propaganda zeal of the provisional government gave the Revolution in Italy a new powerful upswing.

The Vicomte d'Arlincourt J. c. travels in fine history the Italian Revolution from the time of the fall of Louis Philippe continued as follows:

"The throne of Louis Philippe – built by the mighty= ous Freemasons – collapsed. In France, Republic: The terrible day of God's judgement has come= come. Shining like lightning, solemn like an atonement, Louis Philippe's fall has brought faith back into the soul= guided; one can no longer doubt God; one recognizes Providence! The citizen's crown is on the head of Ufur= pation itself was shattered by the revolutionary principle. Ludwig Philipp – France's first mason – who supported Charles X in Austria saw him die in exile, and he himself died as an exile in England land, and France is – through the Masonic power – of The Republic has fallen victim to one overthrow after another.

Another fait accompli."

"Towards the end of 1847 the leaders of young Italy set their eyes on the King of Sardinia,

225

than to a base. For a long time, the secret societies in Piedmont were powerful; they had Charles Albert correctly judged. Here in a few words the shield= change of his life." |

"When Napoleon fell, Piedmont was left with its old Princes had been returned, but when the revolution in 1820 of Naples, Turin had also risen: at that time Karl Albert appeared. The great sect of the Carbonari He was crowned Prince of Cavigliani by her. to support the revolutionary movement and to oppose fupon his king, he placed him at the head of the Infur= rections in Lombardy."

"Heir to the throne, he attained the crown in 1831. The Carbonari, his old friends, immediately rushed to him. He "It started off pretty badly."

"Karl Albert had initially turned a deaf ear to the openings of the great agitator; but in September 1847, as a result the powerful popular movements in Piedmont and especially in Novara, where the independence of Italy was declared amid the shouts: Long live Pius IX! Long live Karl Albert! Long live Gioberti! – demanded, he seemed to be seduced. In October new Demonstrations in Genoa and Turin; the King of Sardinia began to enter into the ideas of young Italy, the foreign The diplomacy was concerned about this and proudly responded the prince: Italy will be self-sufficient! Then they applauded the carbonari."

"They hastened to capture Charles Albert and Pius IX in an enthusiasm. The same festivities, the same tactics. One wants to erect statues for them in Novara, one of the others standing opposite each other; they are considered as two inveterate Principe, striving for the same fame. One takes that= as thirdly the Duke of Tuscany, the pillar of the po= This is, according to the secret committees, a revolutionary trinity, which the progressive Italy consecrated must scatter smoke, and all three will escape their doom= against. Let us now return to Rome. January 1848 had opened a new phase of ideas; it was no longer the Talk of reforms, it was about constitutions. The February will do even more; it will attack the republics=

ftrekken, then, other distances mn S of the Sos

226

cialism. How much enthusiasm on the banks of the Tiber! – A Republic in Paris! –

“The coup in Paris clearly requires the insurrection= tion in Rome. All revolutions compete for the Brotherly hand.”

“People are flocking to the Austrian Embassy. The chest=
The emperor's image and coat of arms are destroyed there and burned. The Constitution of Pins IX is promulgated on 14 March proclaimed; but the fateful words: It is too late! – can also be applied to it. No enthusiasm.
Who thought of justifying anything? It was just there is talk of destroying it.”

“On March 13th Vienna revolted. On March 18th Barri= caden in Berlin. Horrible infection. The king almost forced to flee. On the same day, terrible outbreak in Milan. The day before, the news of the insurrection in Vienna.”

“On March 20, revolution in Parma. Charles II could easily triumph over this uprising if he had his troops
he feared the bloodshed, because of his human nature=
ity was fine ruin.”

“On April 10, Charles II, forced to leave his state, ten, took the path of exile.”

“On March 22nd, Republic in Venice to becribed. Again three great days. Daniel Manin and Nicolas Tomafeo, two Heads of young Italy; had been exiled a short time before because of the publication of political writings. The people rushed to their prison and freed the prisoners Manin is carried in triumph on a chair after the square in front of the ducal palace, where he greeted the crowd Manin enters the arsenal; he boldly steps forward the governor of the same, General Martini, and calls on him, fofort fein Commando in the hands fine to frets
adjutant of the Masonic League, Mr Graziani, Venetian colonel, father-in-law of the be= infamous Bandiera, the head of the Calabrese insurrection.
Martini hesitates at first, then he submits.”

“Like a new thunder arose a tremendous noise fcream. The voice of young Italy repeated everywhere the Call: To arms! – To arms! – Italy from the Free yourself from foreign rule, if the fire thought has become, which, flying from church tower to church tower, awakened, electrified, eut: To arms! – call all organs of the press with unanimous enthusiasm. To arms! – repeat entire populations with unprecedented zeal.”

~

227

“At the prospect of these great manifestations, and especially ftorn through all the heads of the secret societies, Karl Albert finally put his hand on the sword. He looks at the Crown of Lombardy is no longer a mere dream. A Great Crusade was preached; Piedmont, until then in the greatest harmony with Vienna, the Piedmont, which was man is attacked and consequently does not have the right To attack someone declares fh against Oeftreich: it represents fis at the head of all the uprisings on the peninsula.”

“But at the head of the revolution was Mazzini and

, –Gonforten, and these destroyers betrayed their supports, surrounded

Karl Albert with obstacles and plunged him into becoming= While the Piedmontese king, by conquering the Oeft= richer, through fine deeds the crown of the Fombar= who believed to win, the revolutionaries sought to reward him for wresting Milan from him by establishing the Republic Later, Mazzini's favorite student, the Ge= neral Romarino, only think of establishing the Republic in Genoa proclaim, instead of freeing Italy at Novara. Everywhere the same insignificance. While the king of both sie= sends his soldiers to the Italian Crusade, Mazzini, on the other hand, will use fine secret agents to great insurrection from Naples. Then in Rome, Florence, Parma, Modena and everywhere! Mazzini wants to go to his Support princes; but woe to those he summons!”

“Karl Albert had reached the pinnacle of his fame; but the Freemasons, the founders of the republics, had Ita- lien not excited to tear palms from a king= chen. Mazzini and his people were there. Everywhere National guards were established, and everyone became a soldier= ten, it emerged that in fact no one was no longer right. These parodies of the armies, in which everyone without right, without effort and in a short time Captain, Colonel, General, directed the old military spirit to the ground and put the real epaulettes ee

228

"During this time, the red press was busy, instead of the To support the efforts of the king who brought freedom ken, only with the future of the triumphant demagogues. The Army was insulted as a tool of despotism,

Karl Albert was reviled as a military tyrant. spoke only of equality and brotherhood; it was no longer the talk of monarchy and heroism. A secret and relentless war was declared on the aristocracy of the victors, which would strive to raise up a great ruler, instead of founding a great republic."

f "The month of May 1848 was fruitful in important achievements= eigniffes. The most important of all was the triumph King Ferdinand II about the revolution in Naples. He had tremendous results; he helped to save Europe. Maz= zini had by the insurgiration of Naples Ferdinand II. zn ftumble. On the contrary, he had only the Italian Unity shattered." | |

"Pépé (as a head of the secret Masonic power) knows decided to obey the will of his ruler, and with the troops from Lombardy to return to Naples; but abandoned by the majority of his people, the= fer general set off for Venice, where he arrived in the month of June." "Mamiani, Canino, Sterbini and several others of the same

Flag went to the scientific congress in Turin" where all the demagogues of Italy gathered.

fays that when they passed through Livorno on their return, a secret conversation between them and Guerrazzi of the Death of Roffi decided to murder. On the same night, in which

Hotel Feder, similar decision; in Turin it was made in the Club Gioberti. The murder of the Roman minister was also in Florence, in a house on Via Santa Apollina, were consulted; a lot was drawn to determine who would make the sacrifice. fen. Mortanelli, Sterbini and Ga^s were there. letti. The lot fell on Canino: prearranged allocation case! The conspirators had thought that this, better than any other, through his position and his wealth would be able not to murder himself, but to command a dagger." |

"A Mazzinian society gathered in Rome . twice a week in the Capranica Theatre, where among 116 people present, on Mazzini's orders, decided that 40 of them will be chosen by lot and will be entrusted with should be responsible for protecting the actual murderer. Three names were then drawn from them. These The latter were called feratori, and one of them was supposed to be Rosi^s daggers."

#

229

"November 15 was the opening of the chamber" in Rome The minister appears on the first steps of the Palace of the Assembly. Suddenly a person pushes to him and stabs him with the handle of a dagger in the side; Count Roffi turns around and immediately pushes him from the opposite side another murderer, who followed, a dagger in the throat."

"At this very moment, in Bologna, one of the leaders of red Italy, saying to his watch: A great event has just happened, we have not lost Rosi more to fear!"

"The Chamber, informed of the heinous assassination attempt^s tet, heard the details, according to the newspapers of the progress, with cold, restrained majesty; she went out^s each other without saying a word. ý

Revolution in Naples.

"The Neapolitans loved their legitimate rulers so much, that through the triumph of the -Parifer Insurrection 1830 were not shaken, and in November of the same year Ferdinand II ascended the throne."

"He marked his uprising by a general pardon for all politically convicted persons, and one of his first benefactors ten was the admission of citizens of all classes to all offices tern. There has never been a more humane heart. This now so The slandered prince never refused the concessions he made to the well-being of his subjects. He reduced fhis civil list by about 2 million francs, travelled the country, visited palaces and huts, leaving evidence of fine justice and generosity, and his name was generally blessed." |

"But the secret societies were already extending their fateful rule from one end of the world to the Their chief leaders offered the King of Naples like= derbolt the crown of all Italy. Ferdinand II.

230

their offer with contempt. They soon made the Abruzzi, soon in Calabria, attempts at rebellion. The Ge= Baudiera brothers landed and called for rebellion, but Every such attempt was crushed by the people themselves, the rebels= were persecuted, captured or killed by him."

"Young Italy was thirsty for new means to unite the peoples infurgiren, and in 1845 in Naples one of those famous scientific congresses held on philanthropic and revolutionary purposes of the European Freemasons everywhere Canino and Orioli were at the The head of this revolutionary propaganda, the King of Nea= Pel kindly opened her gates, and among the Phrafen the anarchic doctrines entered the science."

"Minister Santangelo, a man of talent, Kenut= nisen and Herz, was entrusted with the presidency of the Congress The meeting was extremely large. Santangelo never sought in vain to stir up emotions= to keep it. Mazzint's students made new adepts."

"The brothers of young Italy unperturbedly raised their Banner. The unrest in Rome, Romagna, Rimini and Bologna, were known to the two sieges; the accession to the throne= Pius IX's decision and his amnesty decree had excited. The not very numerous agitators Nea= pels emerged from the darkness. Modest verses celebrated= the Pope and his pardoned people. The stream broke Path, soon to swell into a river."

"The infamous protest, the work of the Italian Free= Masonic lodges, to which Profeffor Settembrini at the Lyceum in Catanzaro gave its name, appeared in July 1847.

Never has an incendiary writing had a more disastrous result."

"Nevertheless, the empire was increasingly prosperous. The public debt, as a result of the deplorable events of 1820, was repaid and magnificent Country roads were built; the treasury filled up, the king issued But the more gratitude the country owes to the monarch fowed, the angrier the leaders became in the Vewe leading secret societies. A new uprising broke out in Calabria. One of the main leaders defelben was Domenico Romeo in Reggio, agent of the customs Collector Benucci. He was commissioned by the king to entrust a grain supply belonging to the government to to sell at low prices in order to provide the poorer classes with a This is where the money came from, which Romeo used to kill the rebels."

231

'On 22 September 1847 they rose up under the command shout: Long live Pius IX! Long live the Constitution! Long live the king!"

"But the Neapolitan Telegraph had quickly played Three days later, under the command of Count d' Aquila, Brother of the King, four steam frigates with a line Regiment and artillery against Reggio; the troops land ten; a few cannon shots were fired and there was no Rebels no longer. – Leaders and soldiers had escaped! In In the mountains they tried to gather again; their Gangs roamed the country. The defenseless villages fer were forced to accept fle; the larger ones received fhey with rifle shots. Soon between the pursuing troops and the resisting peasants, the refugees were Domenico Romeo alone, abandoned by the His men, collapsing from exhaustion, reached a farmer. The door opens; he is recognized; a shot kills him!"

"Similar thing happened in Meffina, only here the treasure was Looters who did not have much time to take him under to divide. This double event only served to To show the love of the majority of the country for their king, and Ferdinand's clemency granted clemency to many of the criminals. Among them was Andrea Romeo, brother of Domenico. – Out of gratitude he later swore death to his prince."

"At this time the king increased the number of his Minister to give the government more power and activity For 17 years, Mr. von Santangelo united in a single ministry the four portfolios of foreign affairs tivity, trade, work and education. The King created four ministries. Mr. v. Santangelo, who has rendered the greatest services to the state over the years had made, believed he could withdraw from the business and the new arrangement later had disastrous consequences.

New doctrines began to be preached to new men men; the bureaucracy gained a greater extent nition; the administrative beginners considered themselves

232

mighty statesmen, to the most brilliant gefends. Hence constant cries for Reforms and changes, spread of magis-ficher ideas of independence and freedom. The old recognized talents were given to be ig-treated as backward men, and they were more peaceful than the only one qualified for the circumstances."

"What happened? The appearance of the Revolution in the royal capital of Naples itself.
One evening, towards the end of November, at the time of tapping-ftreich, when the military music attracted a large crowd lured under the windows of the palace, suddenly rose from in the middle of some groups of students and strangers of the Call: Long live Pius IX! Long live the amnesty! To the next days the same call, to which was added "Reforms!"

"Most of the rioters had their faces behind Wol-veils and threw out threatening writings. Their Heap enlarged fh; to drive them apart, was Violence was necessary. In Naples, unrest began, people wanted fie also in Palermo. The Duke of Majo was governor of the King in Sicily. He escaped the accusation of a r  ther to be, only by the sad excuse of being a fool to be called."

"January 12 was the king's name day. The Sicilians announced three days before that they would replace him with a general uprising. They conspired fih gunz loudly, armed themselves without fear and force. Majo was deaf and blind. At 7 a.m. on January 12th hefeen the conspirators. How many were there? Five and Seventy! – A few gendarmes would have been enough to to drive the weak gang apart. What that the governor? He believed that there were 6 to 8000 men, a citadel, ammunition and artillery would be highly unwise to attack a handful of troublemakers. He banned every Fight, tried no resistance, moved his troops to several points of the city, and left them and the rebels. That same evening, the 75 still now 500, the next day the number had doubled. New insurgents arrived from all over the area, and three days later there were thousands."

233.

"The city had called upon the country; Bandits rushed to the scene. Among them was Salvatore Miceli from Montebello, and the notorious robber Scordato. The rebels became so daring that they could only rely on caution which could be called cowardice. The first Residents of Palermo sided with the Insurrection. They established a provisional government, which divided into different committees, which were to govern the country; They considered themselves called upon to rule the Sicilian nation for all eternity. and to complete the success. They sought the support of England, the patron of rebellions."

"This news reached Naples. The king gathered fine ministers. It was decided to build four steam frigates and other vessels to Sicily, twelve in all, with 7000 men and General Defauget on board. The General had a reputation and no one disputed his talent. The General Defauget landed on the night of January 15 and bivouac'd outside the city, with the Quattroventi, who were occupied by Major's soldiers. At the sight of the Expedition a panic terror seized the Insurgents; most of them only thought about escaping. Some fled to the English ship, the Bulldog, the Anson, whose eyes turned to the narrow passes of the mountains. The commanding general should have pursued the enemy; a Braver would have done this, – he pulled the role of Major. Was he a traitor? A coward? A fool? One hesitates to accept this. Everything was mysterious, and only so much N that its sea has disastrous consequences had."

"Desauget had orders to take the position of and to occupy other points of the neighbourhood in order to Palermo from the land side, while the fleet and the Citadel should do this from the sea side. Neither of food or ammunition; he was only allowed to move forward and his triumph was unfailing. He marched not. He was well behaved until then. What became of him. become? – History will judge him harshly. He set up his headquarters Quattroventi with the military posts in connection with what the Duke of Major had claimed; but instead of the complete unification of his troops with those of the Duke, and boldly enter the city, he remained inactive in fine storage. He was waiting – I don't know what for."

"The suffragists were amazed and recovered, stronger than ever, from their surprise. Secretly through the English Supported by the Navy, they attacked the posts of the Duke of Majo au. These posts were hardly filled; the few Sol= data that were on them fought bravely; but

They had to give way to the superior numbers. And that took just a few steps from the headquarters of the commanding general, who could have supported them! – To arms! – shouted the soldiers; but Desauget remained silent. The military Majo's positions were gradually cleared; all of them yielded fe to the intruders. Only the royal castle and bie. Citadel remained to be taken."

5 Secretly and at night Majo left his palace. He retreated to Quattroventi, where the general Defanget. like Achilles had hung his weapons in his tent, to support the enemy."

"If the Duke at least retreats through the free field, he would be safe and sound au the place of his destiny finely, but the thought would be too easy. He has to lead a column through narrow villages froads, on the way from Olivuzza through dangerous Passes where his soldiers were shot down from right and left without even seeing the enemy. From the Da= down, through thick hedges, from behind walls, they to withstand a fortified fire. Majo was with the his remaining troops in Quattroventi. He handed over his Authority in the hands of General Defauget, as the Bes from Naples. Oh! that went from evil to the worse. The general had his troops Review pass; he still has over 10,000 men, without the Garrison of Fort Castellamare; that is more than he needs; If he wants to attack with such a force, he will find it. Victory was certain. They were only waiting for his sign; Finally the inactivity will stop. The order will be given ben; it reads: "Evacuate Palermo immediately!" – An alla A common cry of displeasure rises throughout the whole mee; No one believes that they can trust subtle senses. From what danger, from what power do you retreat? --

"It has been decided that we should retreat to Mefina foll, marching through all of Sicily. The retreat begins immediately. Desauget could have embarked. Port, Fleet, Citadel called, with the voice of the found Ver= nunfti "Here!" The general spurned the comfortable Away and take the road of the abysses. The royal=
The troops found themselves in the most impassable narrow passages Bocca di Falco, in the middle of rocks and torrents, the Sicilians waited. Surrounded, attacked, massacred, the troops went from defeat to defeat; the Gene= ral lost a part of its artillery, its equipment, its Army, and all this according to the wishes of the enemy=
as if it had been agreed upon beforehand." |

"Defauget finally reached the exit of Villa= bate, where the rebels had fortified themselves. Here, solid Castles their battlements; here stood to support the Re English cannons bark. But the Neapolitans did not let Don't be discouraged. Despair is also a power!
Every obstacle became a triumph, every soldier a hero=
The battalions were only breathing for revenge, rushing with unprecedented fury against the Sicilians and chased them into the Escape. They took back their cannons, as well as those of the Englishmen, took the fortified village of Villabate by storm, took numerous prisoners and crowned them with glory."

"It was the end of January. After the terrible Having crossed the heights of Castelduccia, they met at So= lento back to the shores of the sea. The neas was gone.
political fleet has gone and now all danger is over.
Defauget received orders not to continue his campaign.
fet, but to return to Reapel. The government had undoubtedly believed that all of Sicily would be lost, if the commanding general fine operations of Pas
lermo started over in Meffina. The general obeyed;
But before he leaves the rifle, he must have some new idea, to carry out a bold act! He therefore gives his Ka= the order to abandon all their guns, the Ras vallerie, all their riding horses, the artillery, all their draft horses and to kill pack animals. The measure was just as different:
waits unheard."

Barge Raulshiere was the turn of colorful ales:

the horses came, the cavalry revolted. They could= feft do not decide to kill their animals and refused to do the drudgery. The riders threw the horses the reins over the neck and let her run. When the

The following year, General Filanghieri reconquered Sicily, all the guns and many horses were recaptured."

| "In Naples appeared in the royal palace
A Freemason= Deputation,

caused by a huge demonstration (in the night of 27 to 28 January 1848) and spoke strongly on behalf of of young Italy. They sought to help the king through the Triumphs in Palermo to prove that the crown and would fall from his head if he did not without hesitation to enact a liberal constitution."

"Ferdinand II had assembled his council. The same Indignities which in July 1830 befell the King of France rich in Rambouillet. Every minute in the castle Reports of the kind that General Maison gave to Charles X.

– Sire, the capital is in full revolt;

Tomorrow she will be under fire and blood; there is no resistance more possible! – Sire, the spirit of seduction shows itself in the army; she is determined not to take the crown defend. – Sire, all of Calabria is in revolt: 30,000

Men march against Naples. – Sire, your life is threatened, the danger is enormous, daggers are hanging over you.

For heaven's sake, no hesitation! A Charté, or

Everything is lost. And this language was spoken by Menled by people who deserved trust! (fonte should read: "who enjoyed trust!" –) The King

could not imagine in the honesty of his heart,

that he was surrounded by snares. The lie prevailed, the deceit should succeed. The night passed under continued intense excitement. Finally, the fatigue, the malice, the Suffering, the king made a decision. The Intrigue had triumphed."

Mazzini had said: In Italy and the rest of Europe |

the revolution must be carried out by the monarchs! – Diefes was even more important for Germany than for Italy, because the German peoples were loyal to their monarchs until 1830 and people devoted to love, far, very far from the desire

: 2837

that their monarchs should resign their governments and to be transferred to an independent civil service, "they did not think about constitutions."

Nevertheless, as shown above, the majority of German Monarchs convince themselves that "the loyal people want a constitution= tion, no longer real monarchy!!" – And Mazzini's word came true.

The monarchs stopped directly controlling their subjects. to govern bar. The royal officials became civil servants so the concept of the being to whom their duties belonged was nor that of a physical person, the monarch, but a dead concept to which one can attribute all kinds of interests, but could not express an expression of will. One served in it himself and his equals. And finally these State and municipal officials learn that the revolution decide about her well-being and woe if she displeases her Thus, as mentioned above, the revolution was a new power on which speculation and the Fear and against which the monarch had nothing more to do seemed to have something to offer, neither something to be feared, nor something to hope! – Thus the vitality of the monarchy felfftlich rafast and the revolution terribly strengthen.

Let us take a look back at the plan of the German Union, the Illuminati plan with the Directorial headquarters “Halle”, recall the purposes and organization of the Tu= gendbund, the German Confederation, and the German Bur= fcences back into memory, and one becomes impossible not only that all revolutionary associations There was only one plan, the plan to make Germany to a social republic; the plan we have in the entire civilized world for centuries see yourself being pursued in the same way; but you are also recognized have that this plan also in Germany with ever-awake fending power was brought to its realization. We remember us that the creation of national=fozial peoples=republics as The ultimate goal of the Masonic Order appeared.

After the year 1830 we find the directorate of the European Revolution moved from Switzerland to Paris and see the military power of the revolution throughout Europe reorganized under complete centralized command, whose activity would awaken it, it would be a charitable.

238

The most important documentary evidence can be found here) in the above-mentioned “documentary representation of the the murder of the student Leffing at the criminal court of Canton of Zurich conducted by Dr. Schaumburg. Zurich 1837.”

Under the name of “Young Europe” we see the revolutionary associations of the individual major nationalities Europe's, which, like the Globe, was the Masonic organ, and as the Grand Orient or Order Governments confirm,

to form national religious kingdoms, as revolutionary national communities into a fraternal revolutionary community
The statutes of Young Europe form the common order law of all; every revolutionary association
Each such nationality thus forms a single member of this European society and has a fine internal constitution in full harmony with European society as a whole received, everything according to the model of the Masonic Order, in which the individual systems the individual members with gewig grass which form inner independence.

I am content to recall the statutes of the young Europe and the
to join young Germany; the young Switzerland find in essence the same, and so do the young France, young Italy, young Poland, etc. The Governments of the individual national associations form jointly= fworship as members of the young Europe the entire government.

At the top of the individual local associations we see Young Germany District Committees. The admission takes place after § 57 by admission into the young Europe after Taking the oath § 50 of the statutes of Young Europe;

only then follows the oath to the Special Statutes of the young Germany. The person to be admitted swears "in the Belief in the teachings of liberty, equality and Fraternity (so say the statutes of the JE) or the
To live humanity (as the statutes of the JD state) and to work for it with property and blood." He commits himself to

"I want to arm and fight against all people, castes and peoples who violate such a law of God and humanity

a239

last." (How does the oath differ essentially from that of the Gea mason?—)

No member of the Federation may at the same time be a member of a other Federation, except the Masonic Oro dens. (§ 4.) (The Carbonari had the same clause in further extension, it read: "If a mason on:
If he wants to be taken, he should pass the usual examinations not be subjected to, and if he is a degree above the fymbolic, he should immediately become Master Carbo= nari and be entered in the golden book. Also in diplomas and certificates of fine Masonic degrees mention." Acerellos lc 3. Thl. p. 280.)

Since the Carbonarie had passed through so many countries, Conjuration armies are not yet affiliated with any nationality had, and since the connection was the most powerful so far, She initially joined the young Europe, and formed the vast majority and the Head of the central government in Paris. (p. 76, 79 and 83 the appendix to the "Actual Representation" 2c. 2c.) Under the Carbonarie Italy also had a republican connection to Vienna. (p. 79.)

One can also see that only the protection of the small district of Biel had considerable financial resources. We see that he prints larger works and journals and after Germany; that he had numerous emissaries in the Switzerland, to Germany, even to Spain and to other their lands to establish and maintain revolutionary relations ties, yes, apparently even for the purpose of a Mor= of the removed, and that a certain emissary lordly from the Federal cash register. Advances are paid from the cash register and pays fines for members of the Federation (p. 76, 77, 93, 94, 95, 100, 101.)

It can be seen that in June 1834 an emissary named Schluth, was sent to Denmark. (p. 74.) One can ftells us further: that not only the Committee of the Spanish Republic faner in Madrid was in contact with the government of young Germany, thus obviously a member of young Europe or the Raurerbund (p. 79), but also, that a member of the j. D., Schmidt, (Mops) to Montpellier and was sent to Madrid to meet with Ming and other to consult with Spanish Republicans. (p. 94.) And Rauschenblatt received a second mission to Mina. In Rotten was in Switzerland, the same one who had founded the Swiss commanded Ferdinand's garda and went over to Mina, whose confidant he was. Before his departure to Spain delte Rauschenblatt (known in the league as Kater) as high federal per= with Rotten and with Dufour, whom we later met as Commandant against the Catholic cantons. Rotten gave the Rau= fchenblatt letters to Mina. (p. 83, 173.)

—

240

People dressed in Spain like the Carbonari in Italy did, as it happens by the Masonic Order in Berlin, the revolutionary teachings successfully in a religious garb. (p. 80.) Savoie wrote from Paris: "Mina must hurry to act, the government is suspicious, the connections fwere already too far extended, and fwere already bursting here and there a mine. Valdez should act in agreement with Mina and Torreno will notwithstanding his hostility towards Mina, regarding the common purpose, but also in agreement with him. (p. 84.)"

~ ` Strasbourg was the main reason for the attack on Germany.

Main=weapons= and advertising=place, but those Spaniards gangs to a higher military position. (p. 76 and 83.)

Delegates from the various South German committees came via Strasbourg for consultation to Switzerland and via= brought funds. They received two addresses, one for the opposition in the Baden chambers, directed to Rotteck, the other for the opposition in the kur= Heffian chambers, addressed to Jordan, who leads such, without being a member. The former address should be the chambers encourage to always bring such proposals that the direction= tion had to dissolve the chambers, because it was a tactic of the Federal Government, always on such resolutions=

She maintained the moral impression of such Holter chamber dissolutions for the state governments pernicious cher than the implementation of oppositional motions. The

The second address should express the gratitude of young Germany for the patriotic behavior of those members of the Chamber, and for the faithful fulfillment of the earlier from the young Germany wishes directed at this chamber opposition. So connection= of the revolutionaries of the deeds with the opposition members in the German chambers, according to the connections of the pas Rifer Carbonari with the parliamentary opposition committee in Paris, with the mason elite of Lafayette and Cons. And the Inftruction to the German opposition=chamber=parties, "in= mer to work towards a resolution of the disputes," which the young Europe sent them from Paris, we did not see such faithfully fulfill in all German chambers? – At the same time, the South German deputies along the border ftended craftsmen sections as a ready force to and to encourage the members of the Chamber to act boldly and, when the signal is given, to public action. (p. 92.) The relations of young Germany with Baden-Württemberg The connection through Tiefenbach is said to have been significant. (p. 104.) The members of the covenant were always with genuine and yet false passports also from Saxony= (p. 97 and 100.) And so they had all the streets and had passports drawn up for Austria. (p. 100.) As best advertising school, they looked at the reading circles and searched to bring them into being everywhere. (p. 114.)

+

241

On page 149 there is an appendix document entitled "Police notes about the German Associations in Paris", including the following Content: "The Afociations were founded in 1832 as a club for The purpose of achieving a free press in Germany was founded. 300 subscribers with monthly financial contributions."

"The statutes are of no great importance, since they can be modified at any moment. The Affociation divided into 3 sections, ABC According to a the Sta= Only those who have read the teachings of the Society of Human Rights recognizes and swears, Become a member of the Afsociation. The informal form of address is used in Gefo= fociety of others is not observed. At the end of the month who paid the monetary contributions." (Ibid.)

"Soon the exclusive purpose of the society was abandoned= fciency, defense of press freedom, and carried republican principles in the assembly. The most excellent members members of the Afociation entered the Carbonarie."

"For several years now, a carbonarie has existed in Paris from members of all nations with important connections in country of birth. All members of each nation help in their own country, as in a foreign country, overthrow the existing constitution. The German Afociation belongs to the Carbonarie."

. i16

242

"The Venta (National Venta) sent emissaries to Germany= country with sufficient money, H. Lemble and Erhardt; mr complete success because Lemble is pursued by the police, the other became ill. Wolfram managed better, Gars nier and Leipheimer. The former with orders from the company fociety of Human Rights, of which he was a member. a regular exchange of letters between the mother company and and her daughter in Germany. – Schrader active in the Switzerland; he brought about the accession of the German Affocia= tion with the Swiss Masons' Association Only a few members of the German Association corresponded with the Generalventa. The others learned only what they thought was good to ask them.

In Germany the revolution now gained momentum

sturdy tools to the Israelites, which first appeared in Frankfurt, as shown above, then Masonic lodges were established in Hamburg. For the former, a Templar system was used, for the latter adopted the New England system. They supplied the Revolutions of Europe with capable writers. Börne, Heine &c. have gained much fame as intellectual democrats; also. The revolutionary year of 1848 showed a Jewish writer= Wealth that one could hardly have imagined, and all the newspapers the ministerial, the f. g. constitutional and the red Press were immediately edited almost exclusively by Jews and edited. |

Under the name of the Friends of Light, the Rev. revolution against the positive church publicly in the world and spread it from there. All states rested on Christian church, all guarantees of duty lay in the Christian oath, the whole idea of being a subject the monarch and the authorities was an outflow of the church-religious belief. If religious belief were abolished, the monarchical state was deprived of its moral source of faithful fulfillment of duty by the subjects, i.e. the "basic law." The state could not let such things happen quietly, and since he was also legally obliged to represent the Church as to protect the moral person, so was the attack on the Church the struggle with the authority of the state indirectly before=

243

hand. They formed under the guise of ecclesiastical meetings a party against the state. |

Soon the teaching staff in church and school were split into two major parties, the church-liberal and the the Orthodox; only the latter was met with all the ridicule and

Mockery of the vain self-overestimation of the educational classes. The liberal, orthodox, was soon considered poor in spirit or "Jesuitical" or "reactionary"; because, as shown above, the Mau= rerorden had already brought it to the point that "liberal" did speak "revolutionary" as a condition of recognition intellectual education. Thus, the party of the faithful Ait: chen= and school servants did not become strong, the fee soon sank to zero. Teaching in church and school soon became exclusive= into the hands of the revolution in church and state. The Professors at universities and high schools were soon all men of this f. g. liberality. The Protestant Cleverness, the people's teacher's association that emerged from the seminaries with only a few honourable exceptions passed into the Camp of non-Christians. When one became aware of his strength was formed, the bold plan was made to create a powerful party under the pretense of protecting the Protestant Church to be organized in all Protestant countries, especially to use it to attack the Catholic Church, the Harmony of the German states ecclesiastically, and a free church to organize liberal power against the governments which then, when the Protestant and Catholic peoples Germany had inflamed mutual hatred, necessary also carry the governments along and thus the monarchical Violence had to lead to self-defence. the Gustav-Adolph-Association.

The deception of the = about the true purpose was a too perfect one. Even the members of the Governments and too much =, and influential elements of the Lay people in honest belief in the purely ecclesiastical purpose Part of it. And when the secret authors in the first General Assembly in Berlin in careless self-overestimation= ung revealed the revolutionary motives, Ir defeated by the vast majority. f came to hateful public declarations, and those save

Elements "at least in appearance".
16*

244

What happened in the Gustav-Adolph- Association through carelessness was corrupted, was to be replaced by the evocation of the f. g. "German- Catholicism" can be made good again.

But before I go any further, I must mention the other kind of means of the restless secret revolution, to conquer Germany completely, and to find suitable members to promote it.

We saw reading circles being set up everywhere, gymnastics, fang=, trade and speech clubs, as well as Sunday schools I do not mean to say that all such institutes were created with the evil intention of spreading the teachings of the Revo= lution, many were probably created because the Models were given and the motives for their creation were not were understood, but the institutes themselves, if they are not misunderstood were directed, had to be charitable; only the later Time showed clearly that the vast majority of them were in favour of the home revolutionary purpose. Yes, the experience of recent years even showed that the revolution Public education began with children, who were not yet ready for school, for which the free children= gardens had created.

We saw how all the classes were excited and Corporations were brought together. We looked after the Model of Italy also in Germany Congress of German Doctors, German naturalist, teacher, especially singer, pharmacist, Advokaten &c. Convente in sometimes this, sometimes in that German city, followed convents. Everywhere fraternization= mahle, liberal, enthusiastic speeches. Rich advertising space, a unnoticed formation of a German unity idea, i.e. one hostile to the existing individual governments.

In the Masonic Order, clubs were formed, that is, Men of action unite, ready to expose themselves and but not initiated into the higher workings of the Order, so not capable of endangering the Order itself through careless action to compromise. So in Sondershausen on 19 January 1843 (Afträä Pocketbook for Freemasons 1845 p. 83), fo in Leipzig under the name Maxonia, May 20, 1848. Meeting place Lodge Apollo and Balduin. The statutes can be found printed in the Ziegeldecker 1848.

And not only the higher heads of the later revolution

245

tion, but also their worst street leaders and We soon find murder preachers in the order. In particular Harale ` The report on Freiligrath's reception appears to be interesting, that most wicked blood poet against the King of Prussia Majesty. It reads in the monthly review, manuscript for brothers, tile-coverers 1842 No. 6 literally: Worms, on 16 May 1842. On Saturday, the 14th, the number of the members of our just and perfect Lodge "to the rebuilt Temple of Brotherly Concord" to a' fvery worthy member increased, as the one who is famous as a poet= well-known Ferd. Freiligrath the first consecration of Freemasonry rerbund received 2. The brother speaker noted in fine Present that Ferd. Freiligrath has long been a mason fe, only the formality of the federal consecration had still missing!" |

Furthermore, it could not be overlooked that the honest Men of loyalty and religion in the begun Historical epoch to withdraw more and more from the Order gannen. The same applies to the wealthy nobility; however, the rush of the f. g. liberal bourgeoisie to the lodges ftobacco and the reception at the same time with increasingly strange Inconsiderateness towards the characters and attitudes happened.

The press became daily) third, the censorship daily slept fer. The press recalled the responsibility of the Mini= fter and soon cried out loudly about monarchical breach of promise, in Failure to fulfill federal promises, particularly freedom of the press.
 She began to inform the ministerial personalities and the public
 To suspect authorities of the most baseless, publicly to promote the revolution and its next demands to formulate publicly, first of all jury courts and press freedom= ity, electoral reform soon. The state officials had the land= despreffe, if they wanted it, in their hands. Wanted a
 If the leaf became bad, the local official was only allowed to withdraw official advertisements and pass them on to a neighbouring newspaper= fend, and the bad leaf had to die, or improve.
 But it seemed as if the civil servant had lost sight of the preached Revolution against monarchy and church. Soon
 Now the election campaign and the taking of a public= decidedly hostile position against the monarchical re=

246

government by having the preffe names of men for the election len as decidedly loyal men of the people. Because these Men were called people's men, so the People as a party opposed to the government of their king, King and people should have different, hostile have interests; "the interests of the people against those they to defend and enforce the royal government make", should be the sacred duty of the state parliament deputies fshould appear; so the breaking of the government power, as one hostile to the Volfgintereffen, the task of the deputy= ten fein, an actual paraphrase of the commandment: "the Revolution is the duty of the deputies!" And yet the deputies putirten to take the oath: "the inseparable well-being of the
 To faithfully promote the king and country! Everywhere in German= lands constitutional states we now saw this opposition= or revolutionary parties are formed in the chambers. We fthey saw the ce and the ftindifde limbs becoming bolder every day= attack the change.

The press idolized these revolutionary men as the noblest men of the people, the distinguished party comrades= fe reception ceremonies where they were seen, and soon they held country parades, taking the place of the monarch
 "the public homages and gave encouraging speeches, to support them. Soon they outbid other party comrades of revolutionary boldness, and all ambition in the people who= dete fih the new effortless railway, to the public highest ft honors, the path of revolution. Every
 The election period increased the number of the eternal opposition party and increased their boldness. The supposed and actual knew irresponsibility=privilege made the speaker's platform in the chambers and in stenographic publications Tools of impunity for revolutionary preaching even by the Bers ftomers and legislators of the nation, even on Caste of the monarchical state.

However, the German monarchs still had some Meaning, as ministers advise men to the side, some of whom descended from the old vassal class, some of whom had grown old with the firm belief in the sacred duty of loyalty, for the monarch. And more and less were also the German Estates Chambers were essentially dependent on such pillars of 247

Thrones were formed. Almost everywhere in German,
the governments with the utmost prudence, honesty and thrift= folly administer the states. But with particular pride could fease fuch of the Saxon before all other Germans
And the names of the men of the f. g. Ministry
Könneritz were mentioned with true reverence in Europe.
But the more charitable this excellent ministry is to the country, the more general this recognition became, the more more dangerous, the more hateful it had to be for the revolutionary party appear, the more despicable the slanders became, the more violent the attacks in the press and from the initially very small, but gradually growing f. g. liberal Kam=
mer=Oppofition.

In Saxony, too, this chamber party initially began to formulate two revolutionary demands: "Jury trials and freedom of the press", in order to give first and foremost to the democratic pens to create a secure free field. The ministry ordered steadfastly both demands and see – for the first time in
In Saxony, the revolution called its loved ones and the people openly= lich, with united forces. the definite will of the Re=
to break the king's government, still knows how to do it.
constitutional way. Dr. Braun, then leader the opposition, tortured the countries at the expense of the patriots travel to countries that have jury courts, ie the countries
the revolution to learn and pass on the experiences to Minifterio to hold.

Of course, one could not be fupon to such a minifterio, on the political field outside the chambers has no formal resistance, much less dare an actual attack;
The attempt had to be made also in the ecclesiastical field continue where the anxious protection of consciences, which the Ministry observed, gave hope that one would remain inclined will remain lenient here for crimes, because one often nor accept good-naturedly for religious aberrations and the political nature. Yes, the progress of the Revolution in Saxony in ecclesiastical form, especially against alleged Catholicism, still had the unpredictable The advantage is that you can, and initially imperceptibly, natism at the same time as against the Catholic royal house of. Protestant country. Moreover, as thought, the situation of the other governments in the Protestant fhische Lands of Germany pretty much the same.

248

A very clever maneuver was now made. in Protestant Prussia an alleged reformer= supposedly of the Catholic Church. A Catholic priest, the infamous Johannes Ronge, on 30 November 1846 in accepted into the Masonic Order, in the Jewish lodge "to the three Neffeln" in Hamburg, called under the nominal bill a Catholic church reform, a completely new church= community organization. He called it "Deutschka" tholic Church." He lied to the Catholics: "fie blew were good Catholics and only broke away from the Pope when In truth, this would mean nothing to the Catholics in Germany but in reality is only the supreme bishop of Italy. Ronge also had to win over the Protestants, who new sect only as a revolution against the Pope, not also considered against the existing Christian church.

Immediately, in all cities, especially in Saxony, the whole so-called educational class, which in and through the Order received her spiritual life, with enthusiasm for the alleged Catholic Church reform in its place. The furbatic authorities were keen to form new communities to bring the local Catholics into being with the greatest pomp possible There were barely 5-10 Catholics in the town, hardly any individuals wanted to hear the church agitator, nothing helped, he had to The main Protestant churches were decorated to receive his or her disciples, the marksmen's guilds, ftěměně deputations received the fpeculiar shepherds of souls without herds, and the local nobility, who had their Protestant Priests were seen in the cafino, but not at the altar, filled the churches with expressions of holy devotion.

The revolutionary party immediately demanded in and except the chambers the recognition of the young church, yes their support from state funds, even without first having the best to comply with the existing constitutional provisions, even before the young alleged church was organized and a general had presented my accepted confession! – The Provocation of the government on the constitutional provisions were considered Cloak of malicious intent suspected and not unclear there indicated that in the Catholic clergy and in the Catholicis

249

mus of the Regent's House the full source of this evil minift feristic will. The revolution understood completely men the whole weight of the sympathies of the Saxon stupid educational classes for this revolutionary maneuver. It could never be happier! Therefore she used it with the utmost ft boldness to persuade the government to first grant a direct to force the revolutionary demand into the chambers. And In fact, the Ministry was the first to make such a request tion after. ;

The revolution had flown, they thought it was a victory to make further blows. The fable of the böfen, devoted to Catholicism, which became Jesuitism, Will, was carefully maintained and after a further They searched in vain for an ecclesiastical dispute. some decent pretext, one found none, one had to make do with the absurdity of writing letters in Age of the new Catholic Church in Annaberg, before the world to lie, "the church is dedicated to the patron saint of the Jesuits, thus secretly destined for this, and thus the order itself was contrary to the constitution in Saxony." In vain interpret The Catholic clergy abused the innocent minds of those letters, the entire national press screamed about Jesuitism, in Annaberg rebellion against the consecration of the church, and fee the city council made itself the organ of the declared people concern about the government. The facts are The dangerous example remained unpunished, which is no wonder, if one moved on soon! – |

The Leipzig August Days were only the next natural They were a bold step forward, which the Revolutionary Party did, to try to find out how far the people had already capable of revolution. The first attack on the The monarch's family was immediately suspected of noble crown prince of Jesuitism and added, the transition to the political field, the suspicion of the Absolutism, incited the Communal Guard, His Royal Highness to inspect, and finally moved in the evening in front of the Woh nation of the high prince. They sang, as is well known, the Luthe rish song: "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" to indicate that Protestantism finds its alleged enemy here and let this high supposed enemy through the window =

The military had to intervene, fatally
 people affected, perhaps more or less innocent Spectators where there should be none. But what made the Revolution from this misfortune it has provoked? – a terrible demonstration against the high house of the monarch and against the state power! – She organized a corpse= celebration such as the era had never seen. Almost all of the tories in Leipzig, its clergy, communal guards and Guilds marched in a solemn mourning parade behind the rich decorated coffins. All parts of the world had to recognize, “in The monarchy had put innocent citizens behind Leipzig's walls= murdered, it was a terrible crime of monarchical mischief need of state power!” Finally, to the Graves, the revolution appeared as a supposed fighter for the murdered and enslaved people freely and publicly to the Ta=
 Robert Blum, the bold and clever revolutionary, Freemason and German Catholic, proclaimed here first to the world the revolution. And – with deep pain the loyal Citizens – as well as from higher, consecrated mouths,
 but also a former member of the Masonic Order, words were spoken at those graves, not suitable for the Minds to their monarch, the law and the authorities
 It was not words of peace that were spoken about those Graves echoed. But those speeches and facts can be ministerial archives. I only mention that and how masons spoke at those graves; I add, that this enrapture of all Leipzig's educational elite to this terrible revolutionary demonstration seems unthinkable if one does not want to believe what was generally stated at that time was that the whole demonstration was organized by the Masonic lodges= which set the tone of the day under Leipzig's image dungsclafen, as stated everywhere. We also find nowhere a trace of another existing power that influences on the higher educational classes; indeed, one may at least say with complete certainty: “no demonstration of education= clafen in a city of Saxony is possible without sanction of the Masonic Order.”

This irresponsible, terrible revolutionary demonstration=
 tion in Leipzig remained unpunished, and so Sachfen was ripe for the Revolution of the year 1848, |

| 291

Let me now refer to this historical development
 B j

the proof of a sum of positive confessions of the Dignitaries of the Masonic Order in the Secret-criptions of the Order and partly publicly available- , unless such has already been done in the first historical part had to be included. For example, the Cologne: Document p. 52 ff., the manifesto of the high chapter of the Grand Lodge of Germany under the Duke of Brunswick v. 1794 p. 122 ff. the memorial of the minister v. Haugwitz to the Congress at Verona p. 165 ff. and many others.

I have to justify the sentence: "I suspect that the Order is pursuing aims that are dangerous to the state. I am concerned that is directly dangerous to the state, because in it and by means of fine direct aimed at overthrowing the monarchical constitution. But I also consider him to be indirectly dangerous to the state, as he the foundations of states and the sense of duty of citizens who undermine the Christian churches."

The following confessions alone should make me justify, the previous history should justify the unbelief the veneer is still not enough.

And considering these confessions, it is still very unclear costume, once that without the permission of the lodge masters no speech and no writing of a lodgebook may be printed, according to which every confession is Lodges and religious confession appears. Furthermore, that the held ten speeches modified in print for the sake of several dangers appear. (See speech by President Vivier Latomia, vol. 4, p. 134.)

The editorial staff of the Freemason Newspaper explains this with following words: "the printed word is harsher examined, than what is spoken."

Let

12 Lodge sentences from Astraea. "The task of the Order is, to gradually destroy the existing authorities and the general To establish freedom. This purpose has already been and was known only to the highest order priests, only Recently it has been introduced for direct processing in the lodges."

In the pocket book for Freemasons Astraea on the Year 1828 by Friedrich von Sydow. Ilmenau near Voigt, Ä we read the following 12 sentences in a lodge speech: 1 nt) It would have been unwise to go into the open.

252

to fight; by spreading liberalism

and independence, one had to gradually reduce the giant= to undermine the monument that this awe-seeking
In the shadow of an Au-tority, Masonry worked on the great entrusted works."

"2) The mighty, terrible Freemasonry follows you on the Foot, spy your steps, follow your thoughts into the Innermost parts of your souls, guard yourselves in the midst of darkness, with which you envelop yourself! your secret and inevitable Influence shatters your dark plans, you mighty arm will wrest from your criminal hands the dagger that You sharpen."

"3) The finnlofe cries of light-shy desecrators of honor can neither weaken our power nor relieve us of our duties make it distracting."

"4) Supported on the throne itself by men of honour who join in with our noble intentions." `

"5) You have already worked worthily, not only for the well-being of your brothers, but also for the salvation of the world!
At your instigation, the noble genius of the Unab:
dependence that grips every noble mind,
permeated the universe and inflamed all hearts;
through you is that noble-hearted upsurge, the free Nations, has been propagated; with your Help the numerous peoples are freed from their chains= settled."

"6) Yes, without presumption we may say so that the great political events, the happy
ual transformations which most peoples of Europe ropa's constitutional monarchies and almost America's entire mainland into independent states have transformed, the influence of Freemasonry
Like the holy fire
of Veftha, she has in her temples the foundation=
fentence of liberalism."

57) We therefore wish for our circle to have men who reasonable enough to understand the full scope of their duties to understand and to consider the full weight of their profession gen, which at the same time have enough power to hod:

253

heartfelt decisions taken in our halls
to put into action." |

"8) Yes, my brothers! in advancing on this noble Paths will be Masonry, this sublime religion—gel, the expression of the most excellent system of government ftems on earth, finally over all adversaries and their law only to the whole globe ben that he their people-friendly institutions= love and adore."

"9) The more you thin it out, the more fertile it becomes. fharsh shadow spread over the whole world, even the for the salvation of the ungrateful who were working for their own downfall."

"10) In giving you some general considerations= the important services which our Order provides to all peoples performed, together with the honorable efforts made by most of our workers for striving towards the glorious rich goals have been made, I believed, often on the importance of our work and the results on= to make aware of the benefits of which the society of of our Masonic League."

"11) Happy if in striving to bring you to the holy duties, which you will certainly never forget, I in the Hearts of the young Masons that tender care against the Un= happiness, that sublime feeling of independence, that consecration finally awakened for the Fatherland, on the basis of which alone our Foundation is based." |

"12) The introduction of politics into the mouse ry, from which they were always carefully kept away, resembles the Ark of the Covenant of Israel, to which the Levites alone The fact that it was permitted to lay hands on something was, however, an innovation; but this innovation is entirely in line with the purpose of our foundation tion and is thoroughly humane." |

II

Lodge=Lecture by Blumröder on construction and scaffolding. Aria, "Sol the building of humanity, progress, the old forms must in state and church fall through powerful hammer blows. This prove the French Revolution and the Church Reformation. Revolutions find necessary ee eee in the layer.

From the same pocket book of 1845.

254

"Zu -Sondershausen formed on 19 Jan. 1843 "zu Achieving common contemporary progress on the Maurerbahn a Masonic club, where the preacher Residents from Zelle through "the most wonderful and rich= ften contributions" was particularly involved. In a lecture von Blumröder on "Construction and scaffolding in a moral sense" find the following passages noteworthy: – p. 83. "If human power presumes to hold something that rejects the spirit of the times and has fallen into the past, fuch, according to the laws of dynamics, a stronger Use force to compel those and the will of destiny. We find this law confirmed both in the Church Reformation and in the French Revolution! – The scaffolding that has become unusable had to be removed according to the master's plan
But the rulers in the church and in the state did not want to know anything about reform; strong men stepped in from the people, struck some powerful blows at the rotten scaffolding and they sank." – p. 84. "The Religion, religious edification requires such scaffolding or folder forms which are subject to change fine –
and must correspond to the level of education, whereby the respective point in time is characterized. If after the will of the great architect the construction of the Humanis
If the work is to proceed, the old scaffolding must be removed.
len, and even if all world powers cling to it– clung to save them from destruction. – The old scaffolding is then destroyed by force, and if this destruction according to human laws fuffificife is punishable, it still violates the eternal law, which reigns in the history of mankind,
nuff done." According to these views, revolutions are necessary nimble moments of development in every story. What the Time has done away with, must sink, and when mortals mefen to hold it, so you have to attribute it to yourself alone, if they were to suffer the violent fall of such a scaffold be buried!' `

"We can therefore confidently express our conviction
ment that the work of the Zeitgeist on the construction of the Hu= manity despite all obstacles, delays and apparent

255

Destruction is progressing unstoppably, and we
We will not be discouraged, even if old scaffolding obscures this progress. Therefore, let us, who, according to his strength, will work vigorously on this construction, be assured that when he has reached the necessary height, those disfiguring scaffolding will fall by itself!!" –

III.

Order=negation form pray state form. For such social republica= The religious brother must be educated on this niche idea.

From the Journal of Freemasonry, as a Manuscript for Brothers printed. Altenburg 1823. 1. B. 1. Hft. p. 92.

"But what Freemasonry has achieved for the beautiful philanthropic view, is limited to the Brother for certain important, social ideas in constant-to receive more attention and to be rewarded tern. Also p. 95. "That we are all equal by nature Rights and equal claims to the development of our natural facilities and the use of our forces: and that we all, each according to his or her own ability, take their place in society and from there should work for the whole of humanity." –

"The form of government or the organization of a well-being-directed lodge is therefore also an ideal of the best direction of which human society would be capable. Its The constitution is democratic and the administration is representative. The lodge master is responsible and must re-elect every year be elected. Each official has his or her own special power The members are divided into 3 grades, equal-among youths, men and old men. Unification of the various-different church members in the natural religion, Equality of rights and entitlements, common-ous pleasure and community philanthropic-"Our work is intended to strengthen the brotherhood."

Furthermore, ibid. p. 98. "Because religion indirectly Humanity includes itself, because a certain degree of intelligence dition is part of becoming the sublime idea of humanity, and because among the educated people themselves the egoism is too big to make sense, for one

still today those dedicated to the worship of humanity=

temples are only opened to a few. The ones with the Res government of political associations, the rulers are understood

Most people do not yet realize how much the worship of humanity is necessary for people to become good citizens and the priests of religion will remain for a long time in the Priests of humanity, instead of useful assistants and foremen=ter, shameful rivals; yes, they would be the Ab= idolization if we deny the idea of human=ity as a moral person just fo perforificiren wolf how one tends to personify the deity."

(Note: This happened in Paris, as is well known, when the Order had conquered the state powers. He abolished the Christian Religion and instead of Christ's image he put a prostitute as a personified God-man on the altar.)

Herein lies a reason to condemn the cult of humanity to To hide from the eyes of the profane, as it is to zeal a confessor, it is salutary to cover him with the veil of To surround myself with mystery, – until finally the time comes where from east to west, from south to south Midnight, the high idea of humanity, its cult will be widespread and all people will be in a Herd will be united, so that no Freemasonry knows ter needs.

IV. |

Salomon: "Freemasonry has no Christian church purpose."

Gotthold Salomon, preacher at the new Israelite temple in Hamburg – Member of the Lodge of the Rising Morningröthe in the east of Frankfurt a. M. – Honorary member of the Lodge of the Silver Unicorn in the East of Nienburg ad W. and – Dr. of Philosophy – has in his Voices from the East – Manuscript for Brothers, Hamburg, Berendfohn 1845, – had a lodge speech printed, from which I quote the following literally communicate:

"Why is there also in the whole Masonic ritual no trace of ecclesiastical Christianity? Why is the name of Christ is not mentioned even once, neither – in the oath, nor in the prayer that is said with the lodge open or with of the Table Lodge? – Why do the Masons count not from the birth of Christ, but like the Jews, from Creation of the world? – Why is there no

257

Christian symbol? Why compass, square, scales? Why not the cross and the other instruments of martyrdom? – Why not use "Wisdom, Strength and Beauty" instead of Christian Trio: "Faith, Love, Hope?" – "But suppose we wanted or could wait for moments forget that an ecclesiastical=Christian masonry is the most blatant Contradiction, a square compass, a round protractor is 3c."

v.

Letter from General Count Fernig, Vice President of all French civic lodges: "Masonry has no Christian basis, it was for Christianity was founded."

"Letter from General Count von Fernig, Vice President=ten of all French lodges, including Dr. Berend, general practitioner to Berlin:"

"Dearest brother!"

"A brochure published in Nancy tells me about the position that the Freemasons of Jewish faith have in the Prussian lodges. On a trip to Frank=furt a. M. I was lucky enough to discover the unchanging ground=to make the principles of great brotherhood predominant; but the letter of the Prince, Protector of the Prussian Lodges, has neutralized the successes I have achieved. As a member=member of the Supreme Council, Vice President and old Mason, I consider it my duty to inform you that throughout France, one who introduces himself, only after his life, does not ask about his faith. The French mason of the old rite assumes that the caste differences apply let us completely understand the reasons for which Freemasonry was founded. was created. Our God has no special whose names: it is the great architect of the universe, the eternal worker of rectangular work, who loves and be=fave all free and good people."

"To preserve the religious prejudices of the Middle Ages is to deny the law of progress; pretend that freedom=Freemasonry derives from the Christian era, that is, the celebration=ual tradition of royal art; the best=ous image of the Temple of Solomon, even the name and fer divine Master in the Lodges, they do not prove with fo many other customs that we used to be when the foundation of the Christian religion? Freemasonry

17

258

is a religion in the sense that it unites people

det and connects them to each other; it dedicates it to the general fraternity, it strives to restore human union= fit excludes only the weak and corrupt;
nevertheless, she is constantly trying to raise them again and to moralize. These, dearest brother, are the principles, which we find common, which the Supreme Council of France has always defended, and for which I voluntarily testify to pay homage to justice and truth. Neh=

Please accept, dear brother, the expression of my respect
The Vice=Grand=Commander of the Old Rite. Count from Fernig."

VI.

Kloß, the most learned mason's writer at the time: about the Unstatt= ity of the attempt to introduce a profitine Christianity into Freemasonry to pull.

Georg Kloß, Dr. med. and Professor, Ducal Palace.
Altenb. Medicinalrath, held on 6 May 1844 in open Master Lodge "to Unity" a lecture "about the Unstead=
ity of the attempt to bring a positive Christianity into freedom Masonic lodges", which he described as a "handwriting for Master Mason appointed", handed over to the printer. – A A report on this can be found in the "Archive for Freemasons by Horftmann
and Strauss" (1844). |

Brother Kloß first recalls the often-spoken Conviction: that Freemasonry is an institute in which Humanity and morality are considered as principles. 2500 lodges there= faithful to this Principe, which was first published in 1723 in open print pies and excluded any treatment of objects that a profitipal religion in connection with their work= ten decided. This is confirmed by documents of importance confirmed, namely:

through the new Constitution Book of the United Grand Lodges from England in 1841, in which the master of one of infalling lodge on the moral law and social virtues as an object of Freemasonry and recognize must be that there is neither in any human being nor in any ner Lodge has the power to innovate the essence of Freemasonry and by Art. 1. and 6, 2. of the Landmarks.

The same can be expected from the laws of the great

Lodge of Saxony, the Grand Lodges of the United Lower land, from Scotland and Ireland, and fofi confident all from North America.

The alleged positive Christian building tendency collapses in its Nothing; it may well be in one or two, or several few Lodges no longer exist; but it is thus an innovation and shield= uprising against all Freemasonry on the globe and must be judged and rejected by it.

VII.

Dr. Heß: "Masonry is not a Christian institute. It is the mother of the great events and the recognition of human rights since last century."

Ans der Latomia, 2nd issue. July 1849. The editor the same, an evangelical preacher in Frankfurt a. M., first p. 308. "that all the great lodges throughout the world, with the exception of the three Berliners, who are said to be specifically Christian pretenders to recognize the universality of Freemasonry, and Ju= to record it; and indeed NB. only since 1717, when in London the The foundation for the new Masonic secret was laid." – On p. 176 it is asked: "that the commemorative publication Festgabe for the 25th anniversary 1833 of the Lodge of the Rising Mor= genröthe in Frankfurt a. M. as manuscript only in a few ex= printed and distributed as a gift to some brothers – I can use this for the above purpose from the Essay "Spirit of Freemasonry" by the Jewish writer Dr. M. Heß had the following sentences printed. Page 94. "If Mau= rerlogen consider themselves as Christian institutions and non-Christians ft do not allow access, they forget the most important Purpose of Freemasonry: to restore the human race unite what is through ecclesiastical opinions, as well as through civil relationships are separated from each other. If Masonry loses this purpose out of sight, it only serves to mislead and to strengthen the judgments of which the purified Res ligion seeks to liberate the people." Although a stone falls after another from the dense wall, which men, whose The element of life is darkness, from holy deceit and statute, from myths and legends, from alleged traditions and hot= symbols to the light of reason to block the access and the blind roue with fine

Children: to keep blind obedience intact. So that Nies man dare to lay hands on the building of their deceptions and their power and undermine its foundations, had concluded an alliance with the secular power and the idea of state religion, earthly advantages to the external form of religious confession, what is in which has its seat in the depths of the mind and is only visible to the eye of All-seeing, an external sign, a uniform prescribed in order to identify which flag, whether whether man belongs to the single-coloured, the three-coloured or the multi-coloured;
 had introduced hypocrisy into society by law and encouraged by reward. But people were given access= ly the treasures of the ancient world, the revelations of the spirits of Greece
 chenland and Rome, and the small country of Judea,
 and look, completely different things were written there,
 as priests and hierophants, as monks and rabbis taught, and one Samson after another rose up, and drew miraculous power from the invincible spring and rüt= telte with mighty and on the pillars on which the old building rested, that they fproved and rays of the clearest sky= light penetrated through all the openings – and there was light. – “

But only fighting with the powers of darkness and not infrequently succumbing in battle, the advocates of the Ver= reason and the representatives of eternal human rights make their way chen, and the masonry halls were where under the Protection of the Secret Nobles of all classes and ranks who taught and brought into being the principles that in
 of profane bourgeois society as heresy– and outrageous innovations were frowned upon. In It was in the halls of the English masons that people first were reinstated in the rights (1717) which the anniversary of the presumption of privileged castes and the sacred the priests' coercion of conscience had deprived them, and long before the great minds and events of the past century the doctrine of human rights
 the state law, the real mouse had rerei fit recognized in its statutes.”

““and in our times, when these teachings are the gospel of humanity, where all noble spokesmen of culture, all great ftron fighters of humanity who confess to them, dare

Germans who call themselves Masons (His Royal Highness the Prince of Prussia!) to deny it publicly, with inquisitorial to investigate the secrets of conscience, from which Confeffion, to which the accident of birth predisposes man to Names given, conclusions about his religious and moral character, and to bring the deceit and hypocrisy into the len of the Order, which wisely replace the old statutes have banished from them. Truly only shameful contempt= tung deserves such Masonic priesthood!"

The Jew Ludwig Börne! i

Börne: The rule was born, and with it the selavation. The wicked took counsel to consolidate their rule, and devised the Christianity to bring bloody discord among the people= gen. On the other hand, the Masonic Order united.

From the same commemorative publication: "Festive gifts on the 25th anniversary= fest 1833 ρc. I share the following sentences from a "speech by Brother Ludwig Börne (a member of that lodge) p. 109."

"Dominion was born and with it slavery.

The wicked were terrified and stopped their sinful Rath. – Shall our kingdom perish? Nothing is planned= hand that rekindles the extinguished desire to fight, and Heaven has no lightning to bring peace to the world ignite? – They looked for such lightning and found it. The holiest thing that earth and heaven bears, the most beautiful They stole the goods that man possessed and threw them away to the battlefield, and the flame of war blazed from New. – What was that saint that gave the nonsense What was the name of the divine being that the Man to the whetstone of his wickedness? How called? No one should ask me. I know it well, but I may not say it. I may in this heap of peace dens and joy do not utter the word that is like a evil magic draws the curtain on a bloody past I do not like to use the word that in a few Syllables that describe the most terrible thing: murder, murderer and the murdered at the same time." –

(Christianity!)

"The good and the best of every time saw this, as humanity was digging in its own bowels; they saw

262

it and mourned, but they did not despair. For the herb of salvation sprouted in their hearts, and the hope of Recovered made them healthy. They decided to Reason to restore its rights. All those who Truth in their spirit, shook hands, and the Covenant of Light was closed. Around the altar of justice

The mysterious circle drew and prevented access. – What is the name of the alliance that binds the nobles together, the the spirit is married to the heart and the good will is

That is what it says? – It is said here in this holy temple,
according to tradition, Freemasonry.” | Goldschmidt. Masonic purpose since 1717: “State freedom and Equality, restoration of the old pure belief in God in the

the whole world.”

hints.

CL Goldschmidt, Dr. of Law, says there
Member of this Jewish lodge in fine “hints” and AS 55:
“With the church reformation a new era begins, the Man=
nesalter of Germanic-Christian life, the victory of the Ver=
ft over the mind; dwindling faith, more mature thinking= declining art, expanding knowledge; fading unity, multiplied educational resources and centers; secular rulers= focialism instead of clergy; citizenship instead of priesthood, industrialism ftof devotional exercises; but also wars instead of feuds, hand= work instead of art, guilds instead of art fraternity; from the Churches= until the English state=upheaval was a period of time.”
Freemasonry first reappears in England
as a secret society, under the old name and organization tion with changed basic nature (1717); the original Keeping the final purpose as a symbol, adapting the new Insights and needs of the time; their task: living Representation of the perfected civil societies;

its foundations: equality before, freedom under the law, recognition of personal worthiness, faith of the Noahides; their Members subject to the laws of the country; they themselves only as an ideal contrary to the real state and church institutions;
the most sublime, because fully conscious, poet, that of reflective understanding. – But their work could well ftäten the Restorer of the pure, unadulterated God=
dormer windows, as in the Egyptian priests' halls

263.

Mofes, from the Jewish schools of Jefus. Therefore verse serves the dissolution of the order in part

America's no approval; which also the state= form free, he may also only appear on the day

where there will be only one God and one invocation.

Perhaps it is reserved for posterity to say: "from the French state revolution, to the European credibility bend=Reform a period of time."

VIII.

Blumenhagen. (A political confession of sins.) "About Relationship of Freemasonry to the State."

Wilhelm Blumenhagen held a lodge on November 2, 1820= Lecture on "Freemasonry and the State" or "what is needed in the time" – (fiche "Journal for Freemasonry, as a man ftript für Brüdergedruckt" 1828 p. 320), from which I take the following,
the Freemasons' Association very compromising passages verbatim parts that deserve the highest attention, as most fier has spoken from the chair!

"In an age where the preservation of the States and the civic life is concerned, politics swallows up all other interests of human life
gén, and so it was everywhere in the unfrigen. – Not It therefore seems absurd to describe the conditions of Freemasonry to the state, in the ideal state, as in the enfeebled state to devote a serious consideration to reality. Elin
A firm view of the danger ahead gives prudence and salvation.
tion in danger, and I say it boldly, and with the deepest feeling of concern: it is about existence
our covenant, our temple in time! – See wit
the weather is not yet over us, fle surround fon
the horizon and it is up to us to determine whether we are coming
the weather, or to secure ourselves, like wise prophets, before for the storm rages around our destiny. – We all, the purified old system of Freemasonry and in its raised in Protestantism, know what Freemasonry is, what is going on among the race of the Meuschen. – They ft the sky window, which Prometheus stole when he Meftfchenbild made of clay, fl ift what the Serle

*

the body, it is the soul of humanity. The torch
the Enlightenment carries it in powerful hands!"

"Freemasonry is not subject to falsification, capable of confusion; but their pupils, the Freemasons, are People, children of passion; to be an effective person in to enter humanity, to appear among the suffering, Freemasonry was allowed to form, and was designed as a lodge
the dependent on earthly frailty, was given the price of seduction, error, frivolity and high= courageous debauchery! –

"But very often in earthly life the extremes touch each other.
Even the most virtuous often fell victim to the unguarded moment,
At the crater of Mount Etna the golden vine arbor beckons and the fragrant orange forest. The higher the feeling, the consciousness of glory and strength, the stronger the temptation! – To the sunlight had entered Freemasonry, countless almost The brothers gathered in all zones around the altars of the blue union; tolerated and protected in the largest states,
the fraternity gained a firm position and a complete my security; the name Freemason was among the people
no longer synonymous with atheist and freethinker."

"The laws of the great fraternity speak, as the Oath and vow of the newcomer, his relationship to state and church. Their work works for both by educates them citizens and disciples who in the higher regard= life became more solid links in the civic chain, more solid pillars in the general temple of the pure and true fer worship; but they must not interfere in the actual relationships between both, please do not want to be perjured ft before the masters in the light of the Orient.
Brothers everywhere faithful to the mother's teaching and warning?!
– We must not be arrogant about ourselves. We Let the defects of our own body not conceal us
gen, even if it is advisable to hide from the world outside the veil of our mystery. We must dutifully tell each other where the plague is raging in our community, so that salvation and protection may come to her with blessing, before it destroys the whole people and leaves the beautiful fields desolate lies, a warning and a deterrent to the hiker of the coming times! Every Mason who practices the lodge system.

265

viewed with serious eyes, it can not Teng:
it must admit how dangerous it can be can, if a false spirit takes hold of this individual clubs and becomes dominant in them when

Passion and false patriotism take the speaker's seat,
if the mastership no longer uses Masonic square regulates the work of the brothers when the old word is lost and instead of it an earthly world slogan applies, which from the beautiful intellectual dispute and calls them to a Battle cohort collects and sets up, which with a Corsairs= flag at the top fights for earthly goods, and the Moor=
rei degrading, making world affairs its highest goal.
And so it happened, * centuries ago:
fhappening, in recent times and before our eyes!!!

One might object: Was this abuse of the Conditions of our brotherhood, the interference of the united and therefore doubly strong masonry bridges
the. in political affairs everywhere harmful to state and people? – Did not the better things seem to be happening here and there?
from this? – Did not the consequence show in many people, that through this powerful, almost invisible influence and only through them the people and the state itself in a short time and how by magic, what centuries
could not have achieved?"

"Abuse remains abuse; error remains error= perjury remains perjury. The good consequence of the bad ōnnions does not make the heart noble and does not excuse anything.
We want to look individually at the main states of Europe, in where the Freemasons emerged from their darkness, and the beautiful Masonic consciousness of silent action with the place on the table of history, caught up in error and from the treading on the smooth tracks of the fathers."

"Great Britain." (Already mentioned above in the story dug out.) To
, Under second glance a German country meets, (1767 until 1780). A profeffor named Adam Weishaupt, fifted in Bavaria the Illuminati Order. Enlightenment in the widest sense
The aim was to capture the tigers, but they were steal egoism and lust for power, and their misborn child Revolution under the beautiful, philosophical cloak.

266

The Illuminati were not Freemasons at first, so they knew fh very soon to take control of most of the lodges; the whole Most honorable Masonic brothers were proud of their iltuminatic baptismal names, until the government with cold severity ity, punished their dangerous intentions, and fell into a neighboring country, where the fire of their murder torches ignited a ing material and the happier homeland. Frank=
It was rich where the Argonauts took their bold path,

but instead of killing a dragon and giving humanity the golden
 To attain spiritual freedom, as the proud proclaim= ten before the world, (1798) they hatched a brood of dragons themselves, which fell upon all peoples like a herd of loose beasts,
 and covered the earth with terrors and fears never before known.
 Never before has the majesty of the monarchy been used more, as in the country mentioned. Previously with colorful playfulness to Harlequin disfigured, her glorious spirit in some thirty thdvidte and empty knighthoods watered down, giving way to deceit and monetary gain"
 We saw in Jacobinism and terrorism,
 a fratricidal égalité, a blood-drinking Robespierre at desecrated altars the slaughter Make axe into a master hammer and regicide and preach atheism; yes, the dagger knight as a hos
 fter degree in Italy and France during the Stuart period formed, now got a fine horrible office in reality=
 ity, and the brothers in the lodge have already been trained,
 in a black cave the iron in a human= ual doll (see above the historical News about the decisions made and carried out in lodges chelmorde) showed the well-trained finish = ity and obedience of the brave apprentice. Away from the View from these horrifying scenes, from this eternal insult for humanity and brotherhood! Experience the masters ten even the years of horror, and from grandchild to grandchild the war= ning story walk in the mason circles."

"Spain." (SR also above in the story and raised.)

"A wild counterpart is provided by the related Behrbenheit recently in Italy. What a waste if we forget it= len, and wanted to deny that those Carbonaris (Sept. 1820) degenerate children of the toll system find that their wild=

207 lodges were built close to the Temple of Freemasonry which, as the bitter gall apple grows on the noble

 Oak. – Let us just remember the already mentioned Dolchrit=
 ters, the highest degree of Freemasonry in France as in Italy, as for Jacob the second and the Stuarts hideout and advertising space was sought in the large Masonic association."

"The Carbonari's wore the dagger openly against the supposed enemies of the Enlightenment, of which 80,000 in a kingdom, they provided 12,000 men-at-arms for their cause (fthey have established an alta vendita, a large= lodge for the leadership of their community), Sicily bleeds through fhe suffered terrible wounds, desolate cities, murdered citizens ger accuse them, and the worried look of all princes and Volker sets his sights on her and the country of her audacity.

Its name itself reminds the knowledgeable master mason of similar cial variations and sects of the Brotherhood. They have the Coal, carbon, preserved so that it glows in the dark, it has
 They were awakened to the flame, to the blaze of fire, when they believed it was time. The wounded lion at the Strid, the broken pillar with the motto: adhuc stat! the both overturned pillars to form the St. Andrew's Cross, these symbols of Scottish masonry degrees spoke Similar, Masonic hieroglyphs were used of the same nature and mind. Is the bastard not also a son? Does not the lost child also awaken the Pain of the father? So we too must regret the brothers, and look over with pain and sadness, if we the sons of the excellent pure mother he goes astray= look at bandit paths and the wilderness of passion and in the desert of untamed egoism. The master the world, who himself sees the errors of his people, the sins which can transform his earth-born into blessings and in good deed, even here his almighty hand will not be removed» from the creature of his love; but we must reason and heart keep awake, secure the soul's goods, and the Great Mother, Freemasonry, which bleeds from the wounds, which wild, own children gave her, fhelter, so much
 it is possible for us."

"It is difficult to foresee the consequences that will result from this Mixture of the Masonic Brothers in World Affairs and Masonry

268

fo completely foreign work for the Federation.
 If we blame the state, we can blame the prince
 ken, if the experience makes them more alert,
 when she became afraid, let the mother atone fen what the bastard sons did when they saw the light the burning torch is extinguished for fear of murderous fire by the Hands of drunkards and madmen? I do not want to be Prophet who foresaw the destruction of the splendid Jerusalem in jeremiads and proclaims. But the concern must germinate in the breast of every true mason, he looks with ftrict eye on the covenant in the present world, he sees how the silent, medical, unnoticeable help with which he fen to fight the diseases of people, from= degenerates into daring surgical incisions, by inexperienced Hands done, where the healthy falls with the corrupt, and cripples and corpses the R of the ass doctors proclaim,"

"It is now a duty and a privileged calling for the genuine Brothers, to work against destruction, and through ver= double effort to support the pillars of the tottering temple support. On the better sons and their more orderly lives the state must recognize that they were only bastards, only Corsairs who plundered under the stolen flag of peace.”

But the same Blumenhagen spoke a few years later –
as the flag of this world association under the protectorate of high Persons had again developed powerfully – say the same Magazine the following bold words: “The Order has its children= ity, his youth has completed. He has become a man and before his third century (1717) the plan was thrown) comes to an end, the world will realize that and how he has become! – Therefore, take care of the time and the world spirit ahead, the federal spirit, and builds itself in all earth= winkles, settles firmly in the heart of every country! And if the whole world of the Order is a temple, the Azure of the Heaven its roof, the poles its walls, and Throne and Church fits pillars – then the Mighty of the earth bow themselves and us let the world rule and give the peoples the Freedom that we give them! – Only one more Century may the world master grant us – then 269

we find the predefined goals and the peoples seek their princes only among the consecrated! – Therefore it is necessary that work never rests and daily
ly the building rises! – Even if we lay unnoticed only Stone to stone – so the wall grows invisibly – but go on!” – – |

IX. |

Mosdorf, (known as one of the most learned and respected men)
rer=writers of Saxony).

Mosdorf, Influence of Secret Societies p. 181 says:

“Nevertheless, one has the forehead, curls and me one of treason and a breach of promise that the latter broke the the Freemason, does not want to educate the general public, what it means with that obligation and with so many other Things that are still covered in thick darkness, actually for Be careful not to finally by someone who has the honor and Glory of the brotherhood less than ours
zen lies – that game with fellow human beings in closed doors, that game with the oath and the word of the honest man the fearful= denounced to a large public.” And

On page 297, Mosdorf says: “One is not ashamed to say that= that which is printed and not in the hands of eager learners Brothers want to know the principles they have adopted for Despite, written in the lodge archives, or often in the Pri-vat closure, and even when taking pictures for the use of the hammer operator and the other officials on the same altars at which the vows: never to write, print,

hit etc., nor to allow that something is written,
printed, hanen etc. werden." =

On page 104, Mosdorf further states: "The higher enlightenmentfupation should bring humility and love with it lead; but we see that they still have more pride,
of the enlightened, as those attitudes in motion
fet, and that those who possess higher insight and believe to be secret sciences, with flanderous isolation and mysterious self-interest in secret, putting himself in the place of Providence

270

fet, direct everything, and have their hand in everything= want to use every non-enlightened but only as material and blind tool of their intentions and to treat consider themselves justified."

Manifesto of the Grand Provincial Lodge of Germany dated 24 June 1849.

Only the Prussian lodges claim a Christian, if nor ecclesiastical basis, which is why it is Freemasonry has split.

The following strange document provides evidence for this:

Berlin, 24 June 1849. From the great country=
Lodge of the Freemasons of Germany.

"A stormy year has passed since the last celebration of today's general federal festival is over= rustled and – like the deeply engraved traces of his many= fideal influence on all peoples= and living conditions everywhere become featable, so has Freemasonry the flow of his movements cannot be withdrawn. – The versatile and rapidly developed drive for the transformation of the ftehnen, which predominantly characterizes this movement, has Phenomena have been brought to light which demonstrate the effectiveness Freemasonry with many dangers. – So as long as that drive remains within the limits of a prudent decision development and further education, is its development on the existing only beneficial and salutary: as soon as this currents, however, in a rush, the orderly deviate from the usual paths, the dangers of disruption and Resolution, which is doubly questionable if it is an institution whose main tasks are to hears: the basic idea of their creation and development in it to preserve its original purity, and thus to to future generations. – From this point of view ment, we have supported efforts to implement reforms in the Freemasonry, which as a result of that general The drive for transformation in our time also in some of our daughters terlogene f have revealed themselves, in the course of their natural and lawful development sought to preserve – and fen the confidence to see in all prudent brothers the Ue to have awakened or strengthened the conviction that all those from that veformator which has hastily emerged from the urge for transformation.

271

ric interventions in the inner essence of Freemasonry with the greatest dangers, but that every honest efforts towards contemporary development and Further development of our institution in the spirit of our order's doctrine sufficient opportunity is offered to rely on the order's legal chem way to assert itself." |

“As an object of particular importance, we look back on the past Masonry year of the Entfeperation, the question of admission should not Christian lodge members to visit our daughter lodges in In the course of it, it is the whole Masonic world known that our order's doctrine is based on eternally unchanging ground foundations of Christianity and that for this reason we Non-Christians have never been allowed to participate in our lodges work. Nevertheless, we have worked with all Masonic lodges, especially those that allow find the persecution of non-Christians compatible with their principles, fin a long series of years in friendly brotherly traffic and their members, insofar as they were Christian religion, have in all lodges of our Teaching style as visiting brothers always the most cordial and pleasant found the most willing reception. Only in recent times by individual lodges and Masonic systems initially individually, later on several sides the request was directed to us been: even the non-natives of their lodge members to admit Christians as visitors to the lodges of our teachings. We have had to resist this desire and it has fo no way out was presented to the lodges and Masonic Systems that have imposed the same on us, to a

to reach a consensus on this; rather, we are stated provocations, according to the eventual decision of our highest religious authority to state publicly: "that the admission of non-Christian Lodge members to the work of our daughter lodges certainly is inadmissible." |

"For the same reasons as any other respectable Jew never adhered to a written religious community may belong to a Masonic community of the same with the brothers of our teaching style in our daughter lodges lax, and since according to the spirit of our order only equal,

272

eligible brothers can unite in these lodges, fo
We believe that the visiting permission to our work is not to allow such lodge members to whom we
the admission and affiliation would necessarily have to fail.
With the two Prussian Grand Lodges: the Hw. National= Mother Lodge "to the three globes" and the Hw. gr. Lodge
"Royal=York for friendship" we have already decisive negotiations on this matter understood: that the friendly relationship that has existed between us so far= brotherly relationship, what outcome these negotiations also want to take, will not be affected in any way or should be disturbed. We sincerely wish that all lodges which have previously been affiliated with us and our daughter lodges have been in friendly relations, the truly Masonic principles of both Grand Lodges=
if you like to pay homage, consider us indep as the undesirable
In case the opposite procedure of the Grand Lodge in Hamburg should find imitation, to the express Er= clarification! "that the Christian brothers of all lodges when visiting the lodges of our teaching style, always the friendly find the most frift and brotherly reception even in this case
if the lodges to which they belong as members should be closed to the brothers of our teaching style." Their loyal brother of the Order, State Grand Master.
neter Landes=Grand=Master. First Landes=Grand=Overseer. Two=
the country's grand overseer. State=Grand=Secretår. |

XI a.

Binier to Lyon: "Before Robespierre lets brotherly love prevail freedom had to be secured, the nation had to be brought to full level of equality."

On 30 April 1843, President Vivier of Lyon held following opening speech at the Order Festival of the United Lodges (reported in "Latomia" Vol. 4 p. 134): "Before the Revolution of 1789, Freemasonry wrapped itself in the Darkness of mystery. Under this cover and in the presence of a few initiates she developed her Thoughts about liberty, equality and fraternity. Today, freedom and equality are part of the state laws, only brotherly love alone still belongs to the Theory. A select few have understood it and practice it; and their task from now on is to proclaim, but no longer in the dark, not only to a few consecrated, but in the bright light and before the assembled people; for to gather the people is like a famous The speaker says they ennobled. Then they strive to please, and they are only able to do this through appreciative worthy action. Man is the most sublime object in nature, and the greatest spectacle is that of a people gathered together. General and solemn celebrations are the most beautiful bond of brotherly love. Filled with the truth of these thoughts, the Conseil central has a general Order festival requested. In the firm confidence of a great We have made every effort to provide you with to appear worthy. Their speakers have overcome the fatigue of sleepless nights to win the competition with glory begin, and their brilliant speeches will produce fertile seeds in your hearts, which through your reflection will thrive."

273

"They will speak of brotherly love to you, that will be the topic of our conversations in the future. The Brotherly love was probably seen as a weak tender principle, just as freedom and the Equality; but before you look into it more closely, the reason for a permanent freedom all French had to be placed on a and set the same level of equality, and hence those incessant struggles. Our ancestors missed their glorious mission; they did not shy away from any need But in those times of tears and of the blood, where each individual gathers all his strength men, where the axe of the guillotine, even more terrible than the sword of Damocles hung over all heads, they could not resist the sweet and tender thought to give themselves over to brotherly love. Robespierre also forgot it on May 17, 1794 in his speech on religion and morals. She was not included in the Institute of National

It belongs to us Freemasons, since we in our families know no other name than the brother's name,
It is our aim to make amends for what the Convention has done.

18

274

and to found an altar of brotherly love to fall humanity gathers together etc."

"I now allow

XI.b.

(Traillard's speech, declared the best by the Central Council, leads the Sentence from: Freemasonry has brought about the previous revolutions for the benefit of humanity, it must continue until the completion of the focal Republic and to persuade people through spiritualism ennoble. – This is followed by a plan to devote itself to public education even after the school years and to use it appropriately to use.)

to Br. Traillard, the author of the speech that Word, which was chosen by the Conseil central for the best has been clarified." The same says, among other things: "Was there also a

Some masons who had enough courage or skill
Ben, the products of their spirit the mutilations of the Police, they had to abandon this glorious violation of the laws either through lengthy imprisonment or through exile. This was a mockery of the Hu= manity. And then the storm rumbled. The Spirit of the Front, which was so powerful at that time, the illusion

these old institutions were destroyed, the philosophical

Reason stone by stone from that rotten building and undermined the foundations. Everyone understood that had violated the most sacred laws for too long,

and that it was finally time to reinstate them in their old rights. In the first clash, the electrical spark was awakened, which was destined to shaft. The state machine had come to a standstill

the use of new motives was not to be avoided=
go. The nation was called together; they needed it;
their representatives should find ways to to save. Human rights were proclaimed, but the People realized that the hour of rebirth had struck and that the old order of things will be overthrown
The foundations of the new constitution were raised on the ruins of the Bastille. The day of July 14th was fruitful in success; the men who have so far and quietly expressed their thoughts about the state expressed, realized that their influence had increased;
took the roles assigned to them in this great drama

275

were assigned to them and went to work courageously. –
The fatherland had a phalanx at its head bold rebel.”

“But what did the Society of Masons do during the years that preceded those great struggles Back then, when only a few adventurous philo=
fophen to uphold the imprescriptible human rights
ftrung, Freemasonry had within its ten:
pel those sublime views in execution
The speakers preached the freedom of faith bens, fhe developed the natural rights of all citizens; fhe proclaimed the dogma of freedom, which in the secular world society was continually trampled upon. Finally he= Freemasonry recognized the equality of all people and it ft granted no other awards than those which were derived from the virtue, which emerged from brotherly love and intelligence.”

“A society founded on principles which differed significantly from those those who ruled the external world had to be a deep and lasting impression on the mind
ther of those who were still wavering. – Making all degrees and all offices accessible to everyone would mean to realize a dream. Therefore, all noble-hearted
the admission into the covenant, and from the moment
fhey had seen the light, they themselves became new apo=
tel. Those who had higher knowledge
Ben, used the platform or the altar, to spread new ideas. Those whose Education was inadequate, the Voice of Civilifation and then returned to their family, back to their corporations to plant the seeds, the
that had been entrusted to them.”

5 "Now understand the influence of Masonry on a Society that was in dissolution? Do you understand also, where did this influence come from? We have already thinks and repeat it here: it came from the fact that the Masons in the Masonic world say, do and could teach what the citizen of the profane world neither say, nor do, nor teach. – Now, and the principles which Masonry has recognized above all and 18 *

Pr

276

had announced that these fundamental principles, the basis of their constitution, are still in use today, even if they are not applied by the ft laws, but recorded in our law books. The is the only fruit that the nation has gained from those bloody battles. pfen of it."

"In order to create benefits, we have not, like the previous Masonry, necessary, against the secular society= to fight against recognized laws. What did our ancestors want? They wanted to make people better and happier. They wanted to free their brothers from the bonds that a spoiled social condition, a legacy of those on the Rights of power and origin founded civilifation around them It is our calling to continue their work."

"First we must take control of youth education We admit that much has been done for the past 50 years for the first lesson. But the lesson must not stop at the moment when the individual leaves school it must include all ages. This second study fufficiency is all the more necessary as that of childhood is turning into narrow limits. This is one of the main reasons why half the poorer classes are so ignorant. Masonry fhall fulfill Condorcet's promises, who said: "No People throughout the empire should in the future say: The law secures I am granted equality of rights, but I am denied the Means to get to know them; I shall only be informed by the law dependent, only my ignorance makes me dependent from everything that surrounds me. In my youth I was taught said that knowledge is a necessity; but forced to work in order to live, find the first terms from vanished from memory, and nothing is left but the pain, not over the will of nature, but over the injustice of society."

"Education is therefore the means of spiritually
If you want to fix the masonry,
Your main focus must be on ensuring equality
to maintain and promote virtue. – By the way
the people need to achieve equality and justice love, no great virtues, 'and. we all find Children of the people."

"Let us not tolerate Catholicism taking advantage

277 from the emptiness that society leaves in the human heart=

The tolerance of the philosophical spirit must take precedence over the despotism of the clergy.
To ennoble people through spiritualism, that is the new mission of Freemasonry."

"Look around you and answer whether my lo=
gik true. – Morality needs a firmer foundation than has been given to it so far. And this foundation will be indirectly emerge from brotherly love; it becomes even brighter finer than that which comes from the Gospel. The Masonry is therefore a religious, social and moral Institute. As a religious Institute, it takes
The main principle is freedom of conscience. As a social
The Institute recognizes it as the basis of every [os
cial Institute: Freedom, Equality and Br= urability."

IX.c.

Protestantism is half of what Freemasonry is all of!
says Freemasonry.

Consequence of Protestantism.

In the same volume of the "Latomia" p. 164 it says: "The Protestantism is only half in religious terms, what Masonry is all about. He considers the content of the religion gion as something directly communicated to humanity by God, and only allows a formulaic use of reason to avoid the un= to create sensible material. In Masonry, however, Reason not only the shape, but also create the content of religion. The Protestant tism must now either return to Catholicism=

turn around, or stop arbitrarily halfway ben, or advancing into the area of Masonry. For reason is content only some time with the right to set rates that are higher than all reason, to bring it into a reasonable form; it tries in in different ways to interpret the given with their own laws to befriend and unite, until, through these efforts to full clear self-knowledge, the impossibility of this union. Now she also demands the other Part of the natural right to which it is entitled; it rejects the 278

her imposed brittle material and chooses freely, or creates for This explains the current results.
phenomena in the design of Protestant religious life. The myftical=allegorical interpretation of Christian history, the my= ftical=ideal conception of the Christian dogmas, the last feeting to protect ecclesiastical Christianity, caused his complete banishment from the realm of reason. Because Reason was made aware of the failure by this act also aware of these peace negotiations, she recognized the indelible enmity between one's own and the Teaching of the Church: it can no longer hope for union, may no longer promise the same."

XII. a.

Giefeler on the question: "whether the time, of which the alliance
It has long been prophesied that the close brotherhood will dissolve into a general human union? – He ant= answered: No! – because the alliance has only given the nations the external Freedom won, he must still teach them understanding."

The Confiftorial Councillor and Doctor of Theology, Brother Giefeler, in his "introductory words to the Johannis= celebration in 1848 in the Göttingen Lodge for the Golden Circle" in the victory celebrations of the French masons with a= tuned, as the Israelite mason Brother Bechstein in his a "Pocket book for Freemasons for the year 1849" with= The Professor of Protestant Theology raises
fhis voice:

"Three great words now resound through the world: freedom, Equality, fraternity. In these the people, of from which the new movement emerged, its demands
In summary: they are echoed everywhere, they describe the highest purposes towards which the mighty time strives,

the ideas for whose realization it strives." |

"But, m. Br., is it not the poison of our Bune of the one who confronts us in these three words? Is
Is it not precisely this freedom which the free mason has over Respects everything? – Is it not equality and fraternity, which have always reigned in our lodges? – Were they not always liberty, equality and fraternity, which the Masonic life and aspirations differed from the pro=

279

fans, which give that fpeculiar character, fhis Consecration, gave its charm? –"

"So that is what we have until then in strict accordance fequality and separation from profane life, has now become the general aspiration of the peoples: freedom
no longer needs to take refuge in the secret of the lodge= ten, she wanders openly through the markets and streets; Equality and fraternity are no longer limited to the narrow circle of Freemasons: whole peoples make these Words to their motto, and fight them among themselves to per= real."

"But if this is so, the spirit of the covenant has He has broken through the boundaries of the Lodge and is now reviving the peoples, so that they may be free and equal among themselves and brothers fwould like the masons have always been, then it is the great time has come, of which the League has already long prophesied, the time when our close brotherhood into a general human union? Then it is up to us to open the gates of our temple, and to let everything that is human flow in, then we have
"The Federation has achieved its high goal."

"The freedom that our time strives for is the civil Freedom, freedom from all external restrictions which by uniting people into one state not un= become desperately necessary. For a long time now, the peoples striven for this precious good: our time seems to called to win and consolidate it, and if they
its task, it will forever be the greatest epoch
in the history of the Pölker, and after centuries will be referred back to them as to the great time in which which the peoples have come of age. Now the Time is still in the birth pangs of this freedom, it resembles the noble wine, which first ferments and foams to remove the impure from himself, and which breaks the bonds which want to hold it together. The young freedom is aware of its not yet fully aware of their differences from Arbitrariness and licentiousness, and in their necessary 'concerning law and order.'

"We therefore welcome the external freedom which the time to establish, with joy and elation."

280

"Equality is the second watchword of the time. fights with the same against the overestimation of external advantages, of status, wealth, external honors, and makes It is rightly argued that in a free state the property fociation of the free citizen is the highest, and all other Differences transcend. We have always had our own rer this equality extended: we have always as a federal doctrine that all people in their highest relationships hungs are equal to each other, and that the advantages which common to all people, all differences as insignificant tend to disappear."

"Brotherhood has always been the motto of our union We Masons have the brotherly relationship of all People everywhere recognized us, and our lodges were essential intended to bring the same externally to Aachen to let it go."

"My brothers, as time presses upon us, and no matter how dark the future is, we do not want to forget it. know how great and glorious it is that the ideas of freedom, equality and brothers= ity in our people strive for realization."

"We want to acknowledge with gratitude that in our Covenants have long been proclaimed in their purity, and that their realization has always been the goal of the Masonic work. But it follows from this that we still have no reason to change our alliance in its current To give up shape, to let fall its barriers, and everything, what is human, to let into our lodges; that there are many= It is no longer our task to support those ideas which now resonate throughout the world, give to help."

XII. b.

Bechstein: Religious, moral and political propositions. Philosophy fatt Faith, Focial Republic, Masonry makes fih in state life and elevates its members to state positions.

The Israelite mason=brother Ludwig Bechstein, Hofrath, Cabinet= and Chief=Librarian in Meiningen, also since 18 January 1851 Knight of the Red Eagle Order Ater Claiffe, has published in his "Pocket Book for Freemasons for the year 1849" a report on a September 24th 1848 in Basle held Masonic Congress, but not about

281

Decisions of actions which are too dangerous for the Order ly could have been. On page 270 he says: "The Christian Morality has gone through various stages of development and is capable of further development. Masonry must be step by step and be active. Every single mason must be educated for the Mason, the Lodge is the educational institution, the Training ground for freedom, truth, wisdom in Christian senses."

"International relations and activities
are based on the realization of the truth that all People are brothers, and that all humanity
just a family."

P. 272. "Manufacturing is making its presence felt in the life of the state
claiming that it gives the brothers a higher position also externally, this effectiveness is gratifying, and we shall continue to work in this direction."

"One may now and then give the lodge a strange, modern Cloak around, the old mother and creator remains of wisdom, general unification and equality of all Volker, brotherly love, general tolerance."

"But Masonry has other treasures in its symbols, which it gives to those who follow its morals= exercise the law in its entirety. Here we have a greater need to keep Freemasonry secret= Masonry must keep secret the simplicity

their moral law, the all-encompassing tolerance, the Ritual and the sequence of stages." |

"Everyone wants to be happy; the enjoyment of life is a Right of every human being; but this right is the pressure of the present febr affected" ufw

XIII.

Dr. Fischer. The Masonic Order is the mother of democracy. Other elements contributed to its birth, especially the Protestant church and school. The speech further states: "The main purpose of the Masons is to unite all people in a chain of brothers. The 'floop' is still a long way from being achieved. We will first deal with a small Germany and even such a bloody must wrestle! Democracy is brought into effect. Is Now that the mother's purpose in life is fulfilled, can she be dispensed with?

282

– no! because the child is still naughty, so it still remains this education. Exactly the same as what Gieseler said, cf. XII.

Speech by the Deputy Master, Dr. Rud. Rich. Fischer, Deacon of Leipzig, at the Silver Jubilee of the Lodge Apollo of Leipzig, Easter 1849 and in the new Freemasonry-Zeitung, Manuscript for Brothers, Year 1849, published printed by the same Fischer.

P. 113. "Thus it (the Apollo Lodge) has undoubtedly through intellectual activity, through cheerful progress, through free development of their powers, and may believe that their activity was not without a stimulating influence on the German Brotherhood, has not remained without blessings for humanity."

"Their members themselves are, in the midst of the powerfully changed State of affairs in the outside world in the possession of the public trust has remained so that we can name our members=list at the Reichstag in Frankfurt, at the Head of the government and in the state parliament in Saxony, at the head of the university and the municipal community in Leipzig find that in the field of literature, like all charitable work, our brothers are welcome fare. –"

P. 114. "We must be very aware that our The federal government still has a very important task to solve, that the Humanity still needs his help to cultivate the lodges' seeds have problems whose development the human race cannot escape can be heard. –"

"The striving, in our German fatherland mostly, if dedicated to democracy. Among the most diverse companies and titles, the aim is to influence the people's will to rule However lively against this current of the times Even the most rigid aristocracy admits that the struggle is spiritual,

that the system of privilege and paternalism,
as it existed until a year ago, irretrievably loren fei; fhe has the sword, although not freely and not without displeasure. It may be acknowledged that we nation the fact that fate as in suffering= fociety resentment of this sword too deeply into other social strata down, and that here and there from the fermentation of the time much impurity has been thrown onto the surface.—“

283

“Democracy needs its forms educate themselves because their consciousness is in the soul of the peoples.
– But what is the essence of democracy? – Nothing about fefe, as the dominion of the human spirit, in so far as it development in the majority of the people. Not one individual status, not inherited privileges, not accumulated possessions= thum, not deep-seated learning should have the rule, ft rather the whole great community should be represented by freely chosen representatives express what their will is; and in community all classes of people should build their happiness and their future.
no longer does the understanding determine the living conditions order, but the whole person should do it; as the trust that elects the representatives is a matter of müthes, and trust is not only through intellectual ual excellence, but mostly through physical dignity
I say again, my brothers, that in these Considerations must disregard the examples given, which seem to prove the opposite; since it is not taken into account can come when the first steps are taken on completely different Floor tactless, and in a new kingdom the handles miss= were attacked.”

| “But this democracy, as just described, can
You can describe it in any other way than as a result» niß, to which our art leads under all circumstances had to and will continue to lead? It is our Child! – Do not be alarmed! It is a fruit that We need not be ashamed of how rough the shell is now lies before us. Yes, it is our N our noble hopeful child.”

“For more than a hundred years we have had the nobility diplomas and ribbons of orders were ignored, the rank and title of each of privilege, we have denied all in our circles the Head covered and given the brotherly name, we have been free= elects our leaders and judges, we have chosen our own created laws and managed our budget, we have decided everywhere by free vote, according to the respective Consciousness. We have had free voting rights and free speech for a long time had and maintained, we have freedom of movement and limited development of every individuality, we have the political opinion and religious belief are up to each individual fet, and only one power was allowed to rule, the law or the constitutionally expressed will of the majority. If it takes It is a wonder that after a hundred years of faithful work in this Senses throughout Germany, how quiet and unpretentious it seemed, a result comes to light, especially since there are still many other sides, namely from the school and Evangelical Church has been working hard towards this – The matter is there and is no different, however worrying my word may also seem to some.”

284

“Now the question is whether, since the child is born, is born, the mother becomes dispensable. The picture of my out= pressure provides the answer. The child is to be deeply pitied, wel= chem the mother is missing; and if so long time was necessary from from conception to birth, the Masonic fraternity many centuries still to go before their help will be forthcoming= and their day's work comes to an end. This is due to the hand.”

First of all, my dear brothers, our main reason= fag, to devour all people in a chain of brothers, hardly been clearly grasped in its first hint. It feveral witnesses have been made of the many difficulties which opposed to the fraternal union of German citizens. They know that finally, forced by necessity, one can come to terms with a a small Germany will have to be content, not without fierce opposition, perhaps not without bloody war in the following period. –

“And this matter is not yet decided. You wife fen, how even in the individual German tribes the striving is still unmistakable, not the whole, but only a or two individual classes of people are entitled to rule as if to take revenge and bring the proletariat into the palaces and the aristocracy into the huts. What has= We still have to do something before it comes to the point where man recognizes man as a brother and detests war so deeply than fraternal strife and fratricide! How often, how Often we, coming from all kinds of people, will shake hands to the chain before anyone outside will acknowledge that Beyond the mountains, no other hearts beat than brothers’! – We ourselves are usually still so bound and imprisoned that we still have no facility, even open our huts to the poor and give them the unspoiled

285

To allow participation in our exercises and joys Oh, there is no need for work for us; the world will
We will need it for a long time! But, my brothers, it will be necessary, that we have broken the bonds around the lodges scattered across the earth and Brothers, we should embrace each other more tightly, so that we can treat each other with come closer so that we can give the poor access and an unpretentious facilitate participation and expand our circles in all directions
This may have its difficulties, but Without the effort of the struggle, the joy of victory cannot be achieve; and the task is clearly before our eyes.
frifé the hand to the work! – “

“A second circumstance of the democratic aspirations in the
The outside world is – why shouldn't I call it that? – its Naughtiness. Our child lacks moral seriousness, it lacks him the holy consecration; it is an unruly, wild cry and hunting for free and wide forms, without only at least asks whether the spirit exists that leads to his uninhibited movement requires such freedom, which itself is so far powerful, that he will not be unfaithful to himself if external terrors do not point us in the necessary direction.”

P. 117. “No, no, my brothers, our daily work is not over! A serious, high profession takes all our strength for the future. As long as the mother has her child under her heart, she has more to bear,
than to do, and is almost forced to walk quietly
to go their own way and let nature take its course.
But when the child is born, then fhe exert all their strength, day and night without rest and be ready for care and breeding without annoyance. Your Word, her hand, her breast, her example, everything must help to nourish and educate the child, the whole Life must be devotion. Your child lives, you noble Happy mother, you Freemasonry! The world wants to Lodge, the German people become a brotherhood, the Spirit of the times is spirit of your spirit. Well, Care for your child with faithful motherly love! And you, Loge Apollo, enlighten, as Phoebus once did with his roses
the earth of the Greeks, the paths of our race. –“

286

XIV.

Feßler: The ee has two elements: frivolity and nyfteris= crypto.

Feßler's criticism of the lodge system and Fischer's remarks gene to it.

In his Masonic newspaper, ibid. 1847. p. 321

Dr. Fitcher first shares the following Fessler criticism of the lot present with.

"First of all, it must be determined what is here among lodges being in contrast to Freemasonry, and what is then meant by Lodge brother is understood in contrast to Freemason. Lo= gegeben means here the doing and activity with which since 1713 to the present day almost all lodges in the world have usually submitted. An impartial examination and Resolution of the same reveals its two elements and essential components; it is made of frivolity and mystery= lie together 9 and surrounded with the Dei.

semblance of a trivial morality within and, a poorly calculated act of charity in external affairs. The element of frivolity is evident everywhere in the light fin and the rashness with which from 1713 to the present day to day the most miserable, meanest and most despicable people= fchen, and in the indifference and powerlessness, where with these people according to their well-known worthlessness in the Lodges have been tolerated. It is evident in the decisive Aversion of the majority to all nobler and more instructive Be= ftaking place in the lodge meetings; in the whole form of the table lodges and in the behavior of the majority at the fame and in the unstoppable activity, this long-awaited and laboriously acquired sanctuary of Freemasonry, this solemn consecrated temple of wisdom and friendship, as quickly as possible in a guesthouse, in a club, in a Gafins or Refurce without wisdom and friendship, it shows fompletely in the lowest malice and wath, with which until now every Freemason was persecuted who opposed the Lodges=Frivolity in its place, the fight for life and death with her, serious, mature and reasonable men ner, decent employment and legal order in the Lodges. The element of mysterycryptotherapy rãth feel in the nonsense with higher degrees, which now

287

70 years in and by the lodges, in the important, mysterious voices and gestures with which older members the attention, respect and admiration= the younger generation, in the ver= different sects of the lodges and in the intolerance, which Side has always persecuted the other because they Admissions, promotions or initiations of several soon, sometimes fewer, sometimes other ritual forms than the Others; in the constant reference to higher fchlüsse, whereby lodge masters, lodge officials and older brothers feel out of the jam of annoying questions, with which they are asked by thinking and brothers eager to learn were frightened, from time immemorial= in the disgusting declamations against the Inadequacy and unreliability of the so-called profane sciences, and in the sultry praises of the all-encompassing but inexplicable and incommunicable maureri= fecfe secret, in the fear and disgust towards my religious publicity, which is against the inalienable freedom, it to announce to the whole world when a Grand Master, a Lodge= master, a large or special lodge spirit and heart has committed outrageous mischief or injustice.

– Members have always been given a centenary and said a thousand times that their actions are in accordance with the Measure the compass of reason, measure their steps according to the ruler or square measure of conscience, the reason according to the spirit level of experience and build your building according to the Plumb line of beauty, hundreds and thousands Let's imagine the very Finnish allegory of Hiram's murder= tells 2c. Wherever it was since 1723 or still is is, there the lodge system has banned Freemasonry, there they only made lodge brothers, but not freemasons."

Fischer: "Now it is different, a fresher, more perfect life envelops the brothers with holy democratic magic.

About this criticism
almost the lodge master, preacher Dr. Fifcher in the Freim.
Ztg. Novbr. 1847: "But precisely this Feßler Word leads to another point. One asks, what the younger brothers will think if they make these judgments
read, since they are not yet firm in their view of our connection=

288

dung, and one wants to sue the public.
But who are the younger brothers? The most recently admitted menen? They are perhaps men of such prudence and with such a clear, calm mind that one of them fifty long-standing masons. However, they are used to raise attention, but from the alliance she will become a Do not chase voice from earlier times if it now has a life
ben before fih see that fie with holy demok ra= fhed magic. You fearful minds have now that you have the reins of lodge life in your hands, but in fact, Feßler is wrong! But have you recently Men who are so embarrassed, because of a word
von Feßler her eye against the current fresher and fuller= to close the coming ones: then that is probably a mistake. Thun Words such great things, then you should have the opportunity welcome, in your lodges or in the same newspaper to prove how differently Feßler might judge would if he were to take a look around the lodges now.

but your young brothers learn to endure the free word= Show them that you are not influenced by Feßler's word have been misled, at a time when he spoke so much truth, that you send him the manuscript from which that essay originates, yes often paid 200 – 300 thalers just to get to know him Words to edify you! And then reach out to the younger brothers the confidence that they are no longer children, that they could not digest today what you did back then nm a

XV.

The same. Repeats the sentence: "Masonry is the mother of Democracy must educate this child to wisdom, strength and Beauty. She must not leave it any less than it is now n if.'

Derf elbe i
in fine. emim Beg No. 2. 1851. says further:

"When the spring hopes of 1848
the hearts of the people swelled, and many of them also gave us beautiful dreams of a near and glorious future
The storms of 1849 have come and have the blossoms of hope have been swept away with them; and we ask ourselves:
what is left for us? My brothers, the fruit is still 289

Hein and inconspicuous, but – – remember, my brothers– that the peoples who rose up in 1848 on the banner of the revolution, on which the then victorious Banner had written three words, which in the Halls of the Masons long ago in secret with holy
The words that were spoken with emotion:
"Liberty, equality, fraternity!"

"After the victory of the revolution in France, that in the long procession of those who support the new republican Government as the first representative of a glorious future the Freemasons of France also paid homage at noon in front of appeared to all the people and said: Your victory is ours,

We are the ones who serve freedom, equality,
Brotherhood has been silently shared with us for centuries consecrates; now we bless the day that makes Freemasonry a matter of humanity, where the veils can fall which have protected us until now from the enemies of the light, from Bo=ity and stupidity! We are the Priests who have guarded the holy fire faithfully until this day, which our eyes see today, on which the whole World is ablaze with enthusiasm for this holy flame!

"Yes, my brothers, democracy is a child of Masonry, and we must recognize it as our child, and our job is to bring the child to attract all wisdom, power and beauty!
– It would be miserable and cowardly, my brothers, if today, after=who overthrew the revolution and brought it to shame=those who wanted to reject and deny democracy. Not because it was victorious in 1848, we have another knows, not because it has been defeated today, do we deny it today."

XVI.

The same: The Masonic Order clearly recognizes the character of Christianity back.

| Derfelbe

ibid January 1848 asked p. 31:

"The attack on the ecclesiastical nature of the Order is entirely dis mariisch; for even if individual lodges, the great
The majority of the fraternity not only does not recognize this quality fay, but their claim on 10 serious

2

290

fought against the acceptance of Jews into the lodges in Engr country, France, America, Belgium and recently also throughout Germany bears witness enough."

XVII.

The same. Eulogy of the Masonic organism, as the most perfect Ge=corporate form. See No. III.

– Derfelbe

wrote there October 1848 p. 362:

"What is it then that is happening in this society?
 ganism as particularly peculiar and characteristic=
 – Without a doubt, that the lodge is externally feft in the way of the ancient mysteries as something particularly high and holy above the entire life of the people, the whole non-Manrerian world as a profane and despite their disregard for all class differences only an elite of bourgeois society, namely the elite of education, the gates of their temples and that they feat in their interior, despite their veneration of the democratic Trinity of Liberty, equality and fraternity but the measured= fenft order and the strictest structure, a Be= office of the greatest prestige, and in a sub:
 order to the master of the chair, so that without dej= fshould not the slightest thing happen, and in every Assembly is informed that the Master with the Sun, by ruling the Lodge and to enlighten the brothers, just as the sun enlightens the day rules and enlightens the world."

XVIII. |

The same. Disapproval of the high degrees as possible pnt
 Derfelbe

hunts for relation of the known illegal procedure ge= gen von Glöden in the July No. 26, 1850, of his newspaper about the higher degrees and the great national lodge of Germany: |

"Do the higher degrees have things in their bosom which must shy away from the public eye, so they may fee how to justify yourself! – Johaunismaurerei asked no fear of publication; indeed, it can only lead to 291

Blessings when the high-grade being reaches its end:
 The mistrust that is directed against the federal outside, and not even in the brotherhood can be completely prevented, has its germ of life in the High degrees. For even if one wants to believe that the same can have their good sides, that they are mostly only through Ge= habit and vanity, it is still possible to Thoughts do not completely resist, it is possible that in concentrate on them a power that can at least be abused which could hinder long-awaited progress on the Path of human education in the Union. May the Er= result of the present paper, which it wants to

Johannite Masons can do the same with complete peace, if not look forward to it with joy, because their aspirations are noble and pure and can only be given a freer path if the sad inheritance of a lost past finally all from the real life into the instructive and warning archives of the Lodges which, according to the Schröder's or eclectic system, even the shipyards of the three globes and the Grand Lodge Royals York do not need to stop their work, even their forms mostly not to be changed, which also includes the fateful papers, that are offered. Perhaps even the Grand National Lodge of Germany in its latest reforms have already taken steps as a result of which they no longer can be made by the judgements to which they may be entitled to publish papers." |

XIX.

The same. Confession of the dangerousness of the Order because of Fortbee of the old degree being in it.

The same

scribed there, 15 Dec. 1850 after relation of the count von Haugwitz to the monarch at the Congress of Verona submitted statement of claim:

"It is inevitable that the response to such advertisements the judgment that is being formed encompasses the entire fraternity, and that the noblest endeavor to suspicion, if not to contempt with expired mug. it is about. the praised blessing, which- | then bring the degree being to the covenant fol? -"

19

292

"The constitution is still the old one and just as good imaginable as it was. Where degree upon degree is piled up, the higher one is always closed from the one below each time less and therefore more closely all members, without responsibility and control, but not without means and influence, perhaps easily provided with the right to unconditional Gee to be able to demand obediently, - at least always in the Lodge to be able to tell the others that they are, for lack of complete overview and sufficient experience the federal not yet able to judge, since the lower only blind, will-less tools, only brothers, like the year-old boy next to the 30-year-old man. Who wants assess what federal power is used for in secret which he may achieve through his devotion in the best of intentions reinforced?" |

"Who can guarantee that only a wise
Be used? – In the highest grades are mostly men, who also in the outside world stand high and whose statements carry weight.'

"Attachment to the legacy of human fools= ity seems much stronger than the tendency to protect the Federation from Dangers. – One allows oneself to be led astray by the illusion of fe, do not take lightly; if one cannot rule, one at least seems to be in control. However,
It is not without concerns when a connection is thrives and grows, which with its constitution the
The desire for power grows." – ;

| XX.

Eighth Masons deserve to be called Gods of the Earth.

| Derfelbe
scribed finally in July 1850 No. 27, p. 216 ibid:

"The correct position of the Masonic materials preserves the purity of Freemasonry and elevates it to a science science of the highest level of the spirit, in which all science= ficient disciplines are incorporated and subordinated. The= those brothers Freemasons who, through research,
fch to reach the purity of Freemasonry, and act in accordance with the nature of the same, are valuable and worthy to be called gods of the earth!" –

v

293

| XXI.
Every opinion of any kind must have the free natural right to tend to do so."
The same

in the March issue 1851. p. 103.

"Based on the original right of freedom and Diversity, Freemasonry believes that every human Perspective, precisely because it is human, and would the much still to. Every from the concepts of time and Location, as the first express, deviate, their calculation entails liability and therefore at their own risk and responsibility can be asserted."

NXXII.

Masonry is an institution that opposes the perverseness of pernicious differences come to an end.

Dierfelbe

in the issue of April 8, 1851, p. 103.

"Masonry first acquires such great charm and value by making no other claim than free membership of good reputation. This eliminates once all the pernicious and embarrassing differences, which in external life are brought about by fate and coincidences have been led. Have the luckier and more powerful members as a special class of people, like valuable is an institution which can prevent this perversity puts an end to it." – | | u

| = XXH.

Latomia 1848. B. 12. S. 216 carries out the sentence:

The task of the Order is to promote freedom, equality and justice. to make human rights a common good for all people. This requires education of the people, not just the education of children.

Latomia 1849. B. 12. S. 226 contains the following essay on read:

Liberty, equality, fraternity.

"A new and better state of humanity developed from the first French bloody revolution. Human rights were founded on political and social freedom and spread throughout the civilized world; the Equality of people in the state and the world established; and

294

From then on, a new history begins, that of free humanity, and despite numerous attempts to stop it, it continues to progress ten up to the present day. – The last French Revolution (v. 1848) has now given freedom and equality the letter it, abolished the death penalty, hoping through the bond of fraternity, liberty and equality in their to permanently connect with our people. – I allow myself to do this here to establish that liberty, equality and brothers-ity, these noblest goods of humanity, only can be permanent where they are common property of the humanity, and this follows for us

the conclusion: that Freemasonry, despite the fact that Liberty, equality and fraternity the motto of the most politically mature peoples, not yet become superfluous and unusable, since who is especially called upon to care for these delicate plants to protect, and not to the partially to entrust properly cultivated soil without protection and the harsh storms of the outside world without over-
Of course, this human being can ity education, the education of man for the benefit of humanity actually only begin at the time when the young man usually leaves school cultivates, only when through a mass of prior knowledge
the human mind is prompted to think for itself; if through awakened concepts man can first sense, then understand begins to grasp what he actually is in the world; which his position towards the world, towards his fellow human beings. – Be-
We therefore keep the rudder in the tried and tested Hand! The new-born time shall, as for so many changes ties, which also provide for the education of the people, and the men of the people who have come to our city from all over Germany, this difficult task should also be Let us hope that they will succeed in appropriate educational institutions even beyond adolescence to carry out this task in such a way that the Freemasonry will become unnecessary for the foreseeable future. With great joy we will then lay trowel and hammer at their feet-and rejoice in the accomplished work; with cheers-feeling but close our temple when we become

F
a

295

can say that we too were able to do this mighty building.” –

XXIV.3

Giefe: on the connection between the free communities, the citizens including associations with the Masonic Order.
Giefe,

Member of the Halle F. & M. & L. and preacher of the German Catholic, now free community there, has in the Berliner Allgemeinen Kirchenzeitung 1847 the following confession filed: i

"That the ideas of the free communities are a kind of popular fifteen Freemasonry Association, where there are also work lodges and There are festival lodges, furthermore, that all citizens' assemblies, hand Workers' associations, polytechnic societies, Sunday schools, dertafeln etc. pursue the same purpose, only on special occasions Applications and implementations of the great Masonic principle work, fie also All allies, sisters find! –

A voice leader of the Berlin lodges in the Nationalzeitung of 10 August 1848 made the following statement:

"The craftsmen's associations initially only pursued a humane purpose. But the self-confident members of this Clubs, there was no doubt that with the Er the achievement of that main purpose is linked to a political result 'fine muffle. If the most numerous class of city dwellers, the craftsmen, with the so-called higher classes in the level of education is set, intelligence has a Strengthened, before which absolutism and aristocracy cracy. The consequence occurred after the Conditions have been met. The craftsmen united men and youths emerged, who on the height of time consciousness; and the majority of them, even if he lacks the formal education of the higher classes, ft is the great number of these in terms of insight and moral Activity by no means diminished. – Thus the craftsmen clubs have fulfilled their purpose, their existence itself has become superfluous to have power. This view is supported by the fact supports that the former members of those clubs now have the greatest partly transferred to the Ckubs, and the clubs only be sparsely visited."

296

"The Congress of North German Hand Throwing Associations, which Berlin, has adopted the principle that apprentices are also allowed access to the clubs should be. In this determination, its entire meaning seems to us future: they must essentially train apprentices Training associations are formed. The journeymen and apprentices fen, which have emerged from such institutes, will then for their own benefit, as well as for the benefit of the whole, – more fruitfully join the common circles of life."

XXV.

Mauritius Müller=Jochmus, former trainee at the Chamber Court and bricklayer in Berlin, has fine Church Reform Vol. 3 p. 288 gave an essay,
"Freemasonry" which states: |

"A free, true paganism is closer to us than a narrow-minded (positive) Christianity etc." Furthermore, the same p. 230: "We now openly admit that Masonry
a favorable influence on the development of the German Catholic Church licism, that from it brave members were born and that from the agreement of the religious principles are not made secret by either side. But We combine this concession with the firm conviction that the future belongs to these common principles, and that despite ban and coercion, despite art and cunning,
The majority of educated people must openly accept it, as it is now is silently submissive."

XVI. |

From the correspondence between the Lodge Royal=York and the great national lodge of eee 1798.
The latter wrote to the former in June:
Dearest, most beloved brothers!

"The good, charitable, all-encompassing Freemasonry is several times and at different times by arbitrary decision, by Abuse of their venerable name forced to to withdraw completely into oneself in order not to have to deal with the different Lar= ven, and instead of spreading good deeds to increase the confusion that has taken over. It
There is no error, no weakness, no
Malice, which is not under the venerable name of Freemasonry. We have Golds

297 machination, ghost-seeing, fanaticism, revolution

and poisoning under this cloak; and Who else is to be blamed for this upheaval than those which with a daring, sacrilegious hand the original constitution of the Order, its institutions and customs= change and supposedly dared to improve, and the ruin=
ical principle that even the venerable Freeman Masonic Orders are committed to the spirit of the Reformation of the newer years hundreds must be subjugated." (Complete History of Freemasonry in dp94.)

XXVII.

Circulars of the two Directorial Lodges of the eclectic

Lodge meeting of 18 and 21 March 1783.

"Venerable, worthy and beloved brothers!" m

"Anyone who has made some progress in Masonry and Having considered the three symbolic degrees with thought, confess without doubt that freedom and equality are the form the basis of our venerable order.
This is the rock on which the venerable Founders once erected this honorable building, and this reason had to be of the same duration even for the fers guarantee a bright future. Wisdom, strength and beauty– ity formed its pillars, and humanity, harmony and friendship was the glue that should bind them together.
This magnificent monument survived for several centuries=
through unshakable and in the greatest splendor."

"The more obvious these truths become, the more every brother who takes part in the destiny of our Order, the sad state in which he finds himself in almost all countries of Europe. Anyone who respects the old laws famely read and studied the spirit of the Order, everyone who impartial eye through the events that take place in Masonry have taken place, and attentively the various public published writings, will, if he reads all this at the Hand of common sense, of true philosophy, of history and the knowledge of the current state of the venerable eforts in Europe with each other and weighs up – find: that the same difference takes place here as between the Temple of Solomon and the Tower of Babel. From the first Upon entering the Order, the imagination of the newly born taken brother was occupied by the wonderful idea that he 298

on the path of virtue, truth and wisdom, encompassing from the bonds of the purest and tenderest friendship,
the best, noblest and most virtuous among men walk fell. – But what does he see when the blindfold is removed from the eyes? Sects that are also characterized by the purpose they pursue than by the teachings they teach.
spread, separate from each other, and, which in the bosom of the Ein= born, the hearts that are united by the bond of brotherly love

were united, tore apart so cruelly that they hate each other and persecute each other fiercely. Even at a time when philosophy and tolerance were of the Order have wrested the weapons from their hands,

the spirit of discord and persecution among the brothers and by no longer disturbing the Order from outside.

our temple is in danger of being destroyed by internal divisions to be destroyed. With these latter, the despots= mus, the thirst for distinctions in the sanctuary of peace
dens and threaten the construction with a complete Destruction."

"All these evils have only served to since the time has been concerned that efforts have been made to establish the basis= to undermine the situation, freedom and equality.
And what attacks from outside will he not be exposed to feen if one continues to violate these basic laws. Is it not to fear that the governments will finally give up:
ren, to see indifferently if a considerable part of their subjects' through Freemasonry fe febr bin:
det that they themselves foreign princes and foreign priests

father persons for their superiors and considerable

Raise sums among themselves to pass them on to foreign to send boxes, especially if this direction=
runnen Renntnif from the objects, with which some systems deal, which them at the noise that can be heard from all sides by the= fen so-called higher grades, by no means longer can escape."

"Let us be wise, venerable and beloved brothers, let us

We must take wise measures to avert the danger that threatens to avert, because there is still time. Let us to all these known systems, of which no

—

299

nes has been proven to be a reasonable neutrality before the religious and profane world and among us everything abs which could arouse suspicion among governments.
Each individual lodge is specially dedicated to the higher degrees, which fie accepts and which does not belong to the common Association. In general, however, venerable, dignified and Dear brothers, let us again introduce true Freemasonry to those= return to the same footing on which they were before the birth of all of these systems. We want to refrain entirely from any judgment.

about the goodness, truth and provability. Since we consider tolerance to be the first duty of our Order, we shall be content to merely indicate historically that through the Introduction of these higher degrees all the separations and stripes titles in the order have arisen, the fine splendor so very We conclude from this with even greater certainty
the solid Principle that in a society like ours, only freedom and deep conviction may reign, that reason cannot be suppressed. Let us finally Following the examples of those famous men of antiquity, the eclectic philosophers who, without adhering to any system to keep in mind, to extract from all that which was in each was the best and the most experienced. So the noble mouse reerei will certainly be the best in the future.'

"It is hoped, therefore, that all worthy and virtuous brothers to provide an excellent service by giving them a opens the way to return the Order to its noble and original simplicity ity by putting fine true Brincibia into their soul. To this end, the undersigned Lodges connected with many lodges in Germany and abroad to restore dignity, prestige and purity to manhood to restore the power it once had, through the firmest bond of Friendship, to revive the extinguished love of the brothers and join forces to remove all ee from the way to clear." |

"These lodges have united to form an eclectic under the following conditions."

yt.) All lodges are connected to each other only through the bond of the Freuds.
fcraft, take the ancient ritual of the three N
Grade and the corresponding carpets again." | |

"2.) Every lodge has nevertheless the freedom to 300

Schooße to assume degrees much higher than the wants; only it must not make it a general matter of connection, and therefore the uniformity of the three symbolic degrees do not change, as is the case in many systems has happened so far. Every lodge should, by the way, in its own and special names of the authority on which it depends,
be obliged to give an account of it."

"3.) None of the lodges thus connected is dependent on the other
all are equal and no one has the right to dictate the other's rules Accordingly, the names disappear: "Scottish

Lodge", although according to Article 2, every Lodge has the freedom has, within it, the Scottish or other higher degrees. It should only be used by the united lodges, if some of them without further Influence on the general connection according to their own needs fall into a dependency and therefore establish want, as soon as this can be done without Princes to arouse suspicion. In the same way The Brothers Masters of each Lodge are in possession of the right to their masters from the chair and their overseers to elect, as they elect their officers of the Lodge. They can for life or for a fixed period, according to the Local circumstances which they take into account the freedom have." |

"4) Likewise, each lodge asked for its own economy and asked Nobody has to give an account of this except themselves and their Officials. All financial contributions that one lodge has made to another given, among the allied lodges, and may never again, under any pretext it can also take place, except when some lodges, who must not have the fear that the To attract the attention of the government, own drive to do so; a facility at which However, the whole body of the connection never has the slightest should take part."

"5.) As these lodges are not dependent on each other fhall not, without the consent of their prince, in relation to the three degrees of union of any order= depend on it at all." |

©.) Since it is necessary, however, that a general bond should

301

Association of the aforementioned lodges, this bond shall be a mutual and friendly exchange of letters, whereby one can obtain all events relating to the Order with= For this purpose it is absolutely necessary that select some lodges which will be at the head of this Cor= repondez and form a center where everything comes together= men flows."

"7.) With this in mind, at the request of several lodges, who have joined this association, the Provincial Lodge of Frankfurt am Main and the Lodge Jofeph zum Kaiserl. Adler in Wetzlar to form a joint directorate, fo that each lodge can choose which of the two mentioned, to whom they write, and what they want to make known, a= fend."

"S.) In this connection, all lodges will now be opened= who wish to enter it, regardless of their Constitution. But it is considered necessary to establish it for the future= to add that every new lodge that wants to join the association be constituted by one of the lodges belonging to it; and Depending on the circumstances, constitutional patents are offered free of charge admit."

"9.) All brothers who are members of the associated lodges= are taken, or are recognized as members of the same, shall be admitted therein if they are a generally accepted present the certificate drawn up in accordance with the provisions of the Act and the pass word on which agreement will be reached. They should be welcomed with a truly brotherly friendship and can, in the event of an occurrence, refer to all possible cases= count on help."

10.) "It is also for every brother who is in our eclectic fic connection will have attained the three degrees, allowed to be included in other systems, without thereby losing the right to visit our lodges; only that he does not make his case a matter for the lodges, brothers to his party, or the Order of the Three Degrees that form the basis of our brotherhood, restless."

"11.) We also allow all brothers of the= to those systems which, with regard to our brothers, are just as But if in the future any system accepts the idea

802

through the poison of intolerance or persecution the To close the doors of his lodges to us, each of our Lodges have the right to decide according to their will whether they against the brothers of such an intolerant system retaliation practice, or still apply the principles of tolerance and allow those brothers to do their work."

"12.) Although the associated lodges are not controlled by any foreign may be dependent on superiors, it should nevertheless be permitted fe that one or more felected a protector but under the conditions that he does not give them any miss, nor any kind of direction from measures, and that such a choice should not prevent them a General Protector, who was once elected by the lodges by vote majority could be elected. However, the same conditions apply to a folder, and his title should not give him any special power. So This does not mean that any lodge of their freedom

ity not to accept such a protectorate,
if she is satisfied with the circumstances in which she finds herself,
should be considered incompatible."

"13.) The League of Eclectic Masonry shall bear the name lead: "Allied Lodges for the Restoration of the King= ical art of ancient Freemasonry."

"14.) Under these conditions, all lodges will be of the system, as well as those that may still be built, into our connection. But, if now or later ter, the allied lodges, to a free agreement result, PH will be even more closely connected and an even wanted to form a more tightly knit union that would better to the purpose and promote the benefit of the association, the should be able to do it, and then it should:"

"15.) depend on the allied lodges, which under fih fle want to transfer the direction."

"This, beloved brothers, is what we consider to be the righteousness of God.
netfte to restore a society that at all times and now more than ever the determination had, the oppressed humanity and the persecuted Virtue to serve as a refuge, the oppressed rights of wisdom to assert itself again, and from its All party spirit, all coercion, all dependence and 808

to banish all greed. We promise them a considerable number of lodges that have joined forces with us ben, and a venerable circle of solid, respectable and men zealous for the cause of virtue and truth.
We will gladly welcome the lodges that take part in the current connection to the restoration of the old and true Freemasonry, and find ready to to work faithfully with them on the sublime building of our Order work. For this purpose, we ask you to contact us against= to declare at the end of August this year, in order to then enable us to compile the list of allied lodges and to send it to all allied lodges to send." |

"May the great architect of the whole world grant his blessing to the noble intentions we have and make us happy with the desired successes." |

Frankfurt, March 18, 1783. In the name of the Provincial Lodge.

Wetzlar, March 21, 1783. In the name of the Provincial Lodge.

XXVIII.

"Brother" Dräseke, evangelical bishop, held the pen=
festival of the lodge "zum Oelzweig" in Bremen, published in Asträa 1849. "Pocket book for masons", from to whom the following sentences may be communicated literally:

"We consider Masonry to be primarily a divine,
for an institution that came from God" ... |

"In Freemasonry it is also said: whoever has, will be given that he might have an abundance. But he who has not, Masonry not only gives nothing, it makes him poorer through apparent wealth. – A secret is in these halls, however, and is, strictly speaking, nothing else is being talked about except the secret. – One cannot withhold it from anyone who has eyes for it. comes behind without the Lodge; he is a priest outside the Federal Halls. – This one does not understand, even by the Lodge and all its degrees; he is a Unconsecrated, he also sat in the open of the sanctuary and adorned with the Grand Master's jewels. – Also the means by which we find the solution in our halls
try to use our symbols, our images, our signs,

804

we seek as secrets. Why do we do this, and do we have a right to do so?" – |

'Our symbols are not just a waste of time' treib and Min erfspiele. They are the holy ge= vessels in which the Blessed Sacrament is preserved and good View is set up for the ordained. o fare the pearls that one would desecrate if one fould throw them before swine. Hence, profanation, because fit expresses contempt for the divine, manifest sacrilege."

"Our symbols are not the depicted thing itself. They fare hints, reminders, requests demands for the spirit, that he should strive to be in the visible to see the invisible. You have therefore still the jewel not when you get the picture in your hand. Whoever the picture is enough, as if it were what you were looking for, he is deceiving and leading astray. Whoever reveals the sign to you,

If he makes you happy and rich, he shows irresistibly= speaking that he himself has never seen more than empty time
then befesed, and nourishes in you a delusion that deceives the truth. Therefore, profanation, because it Misunderstanding rests on it, and one blind man wants to guide another, vain folly."

The

Masonic Order

fine true meaning.

Third delivery.

Printed by Julius Blochmann Jr. in Dresden.

I go to

on the latest phenomena in and outside Saxony;
but here I am now permitted to give a more secure assessment of the last most important part of history, not only the obtained result for the characterization of the Masonic Order to briefly summarize, but also the statutes of the Order
felf, as far as such in the just published sixth edition of Sarsena is now brought to public knowledge, with
to compare the results obtained.

We have seen throughout world history mysterious Societies which have morality and science as their ends of their activities and after political rule, mostly in theocratic form.

We saw such mysteries at their most brilliant height= points of inner content and external validity in Egypt, we faw them transferred to the Jews, taken up and with misinterpreted Christ teachings confused and preserved in Syria and in Palestine until the time of the Christian conquest of Jeru= falems, which was soon followed by the founding of the Knights Templar.
An order whose knightly members pledge blood and property to the religious gious purposes of reconquering and protecting the Gee
birthland of Christ, as the holy earthly kingdom of God, and as earthly warriors of God, only God
and recognized his earthly representative as their superior, such a religious »Friegeirischer Order had to, the more fine Power swelled, the more eager the idea of creating a theocratic world empire, especially when the doctrine the idea had the appearance of a Christian one.

We saw the Order in the empires of the Western Church, "because he had become hostile to it and strive for worldly dominion."

We then saw his secret organization in Scotland under the shield of the Masonic Corporation, to which he gave a organism, in whatever form it existed in England, in France, Germany and other countries received more.

We saw that the Templar Order was a knightly and a spiritual element, of which the former was predominant, and saw the nobility of the countries join the mysterious order The principle of hereditary nobility was so pronounced in the Order that even the higher dignitaries in had become hereditary to him, as the higher priesthoods in Egypt's Mysteries.

Eckert's Masonic Order, III. Lief. 20

| 808

Soon we saw in the countries in which the Order especially its roots in the nobility and the spirit= had driven revolutions against monarchy and for the abolition of the Catholic Church. So in England, in France, in Germany. But with the decline of the monar= Chinese violence in England also arose within the Order victorious in superior power the civil, the democratic Element against the aristocratic and it remained only the Choice between destruction by the democratic element and between connection again with the royal power. The Danger to life forced us to the second and so we saw Ors parts of the country were again on the monarchical side. The successes fwere fluctuating and led to the comparison between Krone, Nobility and citizenship, which we have in the English constitution pronounced, ie to create a civil society wealthy and spiritual aristocracy and to the division of state power between the crown, the nobility, the clergy and the bourgeois wealth aristocracy. Hence England's later great struggle against democratic nature the French Revolution.

The public situation in Franks was different. empire, where monarchy and church had triumphed, until 1789.

These battles were even more different between Emperors and Estates and in the Church, in Germany, where they lasted for centuries, always only ceasefire treaties, brought no real peace agreements in state and church and devastated the empire to such an extent that all parties in the Nation died out. |

But all of Europe had more or less part took part in the German battles and had the aftermath of exhaustion more or less shared, of which Europe's peoples only in the middle of the last century seem to have recovered more or less.

At this time we saw that England, then France, Reich and soon afterwards also Germany's scholars remembered, that the mystery societies that ruled the ancient peoples had not been noble, but scholars' associations, for the first time – perhaps from some time earlier – the church-ical division of the Templar Order had decided that in a kingdom of God not the warrior class, but the priest should have the decisive position, which is why the two parts separated and the spiritual took the name of the Schotten» Order, who then became a scholar. Both elements did not exclude each other, as we saw, but the Scottish Order showed the Knight only occupy a subordinate position in themselves; because we saw the scholars gladly join the Scottish Order and only hostile to the knightly class, as far as he remained closed to the Knights Templar as his birthplace.

309

We finally saw both branches of the Templar Order, the knightly of France, the Scottish of Sweden from the middle of the last century to Germany and the knightly order soon in the Wilhelmsbader Congress to the Scottish Order united against him and the new English system, in short, succumb to the scholarly party.

Of course, the learned democracy also made its mark in the Order in this internal struggle in the country the boldest advances steps in which successful democratic struggles have already taken place found in England, such as the formation of modern English Freemasonry, which immediately (1730) raised its flag to Germany, where Freemasonry was not yet had risen again.

This marked the end of the first era of the Masonic Order in Europe with the expiration of the predominant validity of the Birth of aristocracy in him, with the abandonment of the purpose of a noble order rule and with substitution of a democratic order rule, including the New English Constitution, acted laid the foundation. This substitution of the new democratic order purpose in this New England Constitution Act occurred in France about 20 years earlier than in Germany; in France, as we saw, with the entry of the philosophers' conspiracy of Voltaire and his comrades in the Masonic Order, and in Germany in the Wilhelmsbad Convent; The first epoch only showed us a striving for Subordination of the monarchs to the influence of the Order and strove for the dissolution of the Catholic Church;

The Order saw the preservation of the nobility as the only

310

Preservation of its own element and in the other states which again represents the natural sequence of steps, without which no higher level remained viable. Therefore we see that the Order in that era, the state of g. privileges everywhere decisively defended.

The beginning of the second era had to be different. It bore the mark of the leading idea in the order an order of officials, nobility and rulers; their character to the outside showed the boldest struggle for the overthrow of the thrones and all existing churches and religions, the Jewish understood, as we saw; not less after the dissolution of all Estates and property and after confiscation of all intellectual and commercial activities in the Order itself; because land ownership was reduced to insignificance and thus his free status; the guilds were vanished like Nitter- and Bauer-property owners, there were only nor a civil service above a mass of similar heads and in commercial life only a few large shopping and brikherren, then the officials emerged from the order, and if the merchants and factory owners belonged to it, then that was Realm of the chosen ones has already been reached quite completely, it was then a shepherd, of the order of high priests, all profane worked for him and his chosen officials. Nobility ruled State and assets.

This period began on the European mainland, as we saw, with the entry of Voltaire and his philosophers' Conspiracy in the Freemasons' Association.

We immediately saw with this entry the heritability of the abolish the order's dignities, reform the order in a completely democratic way ganist and in all its branches more closely connected to one

n overall more powerful effect, but generally an astonishing Activity against monarchy, church and estates
by exploiting the weakness of the vanity of one element, using it as a tool against the other
The monarchy helped the Church of Christ and the Estates destroy, and with misinterpretations of statements of the Church of Christ
The monarchy was ruined by the popular belief in its divine Destiny. Incomprehensible delusion enveloped the Eyes of the monarchs so wide that even among the most repugnant flattery against these bold conspirators

311 whose tools of suicide, murder of the Church and its faithful estates. They showered the miserable philosophers with honours and dignity, what wonder if they got drunk, if the Mo-learned to despise the fools who at first only envied them, and grasped the possibility of ascending their thrones themselves? –

According to such patterns in France, which their hand offered, could also offer the German philosophers their modest Rooms were no longer enough, they also had to hold the hand of their French peers and to them the same bold
Enter the path of conspiracy. And also plead it nasty gend, at their head Kant, Fichte, Weishaupt, Knigge zx.
The latter were the practical conspirators and creators of the Illuminati=Mason=Systems, Defen Spirit never again in the Ors which went out.

Since the advent of this era, we have seen in civilisation ten world revolution feich auf revolution, directly to the Overthrow of the churches, the thrones, the estates and property.

We saw the God of the Christians dethroned in France and a physically fine, morally ugly human being as a symbol of the human=divinity commanded to worship, We.
saw royal heads fall through the executioner's axe, and stands and bloodily exterminate property. Many a throne found feit-according to that, so often renewed since then the beginning of that drama ma's in all parts of the sky. And yet we saw nowhere a revolution arising from the common will of a nation= go, but everywhere we experience freedom and prosperity like never before felp in the world, but we recognized everywhere a secret, Numerically weak creative power, the same politics everywhere, the same goal. People of the literary class seduced by Ideals the student youth, and offered the possessing-nothing Street=people of the larger remnants an unbridled joy=
live at the expense of the owning class.

Thus, the flammable youth and the workers of the Residences to the first acts of violence, while tools or Members of the secret revolutionary power occupy the thrones and through lies and hypocrisy deprived the monarchs from their long-standing loyalties and to self-abandonment their cause, to hand over state power to the: tools and members of the revolutionary power. But these hastened to start the revolution in the name of the monarch ganifiren. |

312

Could the altar, could thrones, estates and properties= thum not taken by storm or could such already be made conquests violently no longer by the Revolu= tion, we saw the revolution in all Land with all tenacity at least the same everywhere= like foundations of the overpowering of the altar, the thrones, of the estates and property at similar means strive and hold on.

We saw the course of this policy in all countries:

1

"Persuasion of monarchs by flattery and threats to award a constitutional treaty, by means of which they actually went to the governments and put them on a transferred to office, which was raised to free independence, under its own judges, supplemented itself and He leads the government formally in monarchical names.

Thus the state was given the basic basis of government of the Freemasonry Order, that of a civil service, a f. g. Merit aristocracy. And since this class is already substantially Order, it must be easy for him to find all these officials= positions to be filled by members of the Order, since each in a member of the Order who has taken up an official position, Order had sworn to continue to serve the fraternity brother= help and since the interests of the Order already dictate such a thing. Therefore, the government must of course government and the further purposes of the order.

This governing state or religious official class must ten the church and the schools, the latter relieved by the former, so that the church regime can also be subordinated to the Order and this would bring about the dissolution of both Church and State and to provide a public education in accordance with its purposes.

3

But as long as the monarch still has the right to choose and dismissal of the ministers, the top civil servants has not been wrested and the civil service has not also in its

313

If the tips are firmly secured to the will of the Lord, it appears to be indispensable to the officials=government will to the will= monie with parliamentary electoral bodies, yes where possible the monarchical right of election of the ministers thereby real to neutralize, that the monarch is effectively forced only from parliamentary majorities. These electoral bodies must be based on census, since the wealthy middle class the scholars, both, especially the latter, but the Orders belong. |
. to

The very purpose of giving parliamentary power to the Order To secure the land, the dissolution of the land ownership is required. Even more This requires the intended abolition of all estates and of property; for the nobility hangs in the balance without Land ownership; in land ownership rests independence a powerful knighthood and peasant class, which Elections and everywhere the A and the Order= ftrben can counteract.

The land ownership is also the stable visible present of property, therefore above all it must be dissolved into as many small fractions as possible, and thus the Ge= There must be no knightly estates, no peasant estates more, the freedom of dismemberment must be the property thum into the hands of free usury.

5

The guilds must die so that the smaller guilds the religious community, which takes the place of the state Community urges, initially in large religious capitalists or in noble business corporations. The noble A member of the order does not want to become a shoemaker= or a master tailor den, but he wants to expand the tailoring business with fine cloth factories advertise, with his leather factory, the shoemaking trade bind 2c. Therefore, following the English model, noble

Commercial corporations, which also have political honor and importance—ation, take the place of the guilds. And the Order will ensure that the noble trade corporations rations belong to the order.

I am well aware that the conditions of world trade
Guild has already been irretrievably killed, only one Un:
A biased, scrutinizing look shows that one can also 314

pretext, even those young people, e.g. the Shnet-
the, in general, which products only ee not Fa= make brikates, to 6.

“Press, clubs, freedom of assembly, jury courts and Citizen Guards”, ie democratic feathers, revolutionary Freedom of speech above all people, revolutionary justice and weapons for Revolution had to be had everywhere. But see and hear
We, who made this demand everywhere in all countries!
– Was it the thoughtless masses? – No,
in the monarchs' closest proximity we heard everywhere in the whole Europe these demands; yes, we heard them everywhere the Mo=
,narchen, as their safest means of protection, “show
– said the men everywhere at the side of the monarchs, who with every third word they swore their loyalty, where= ran unfortunately nobody had doubted – one show the people trust, and in free, fair and grateful= bare people finds the beloved monarch, finds the legal Order is its firmest support.”

Two points need to be taken into account here, firstly the of the personalities and then of the general repetition
in all countries.

Even individually, the loyal man could easily be mistaken about these revolutionary institutes, but neither the equality of the Claims can be considered accidental, nor is it permissible to Purity of intention still to believe when one considers the demands= ments despite the historically bitter world-famous experiences again and again in the surroundings of the monarchs or their ministers, then it must be permitted to participate in planned to think of betrayal. f

7. |

“Development, liberation of nationalities! – one unified Germany, as far as the German language extends, a Slave kingdom, an Italy" etc.! –

So dissolution of the existing states, in particular of the empire, into empires of nationalities, as the Masonic Gazette
"the Globe" and between the nations a bridge
the Bund! –

It was therefore the demand of national republics.
Let us now ask, from whom did it go out into the world, which 35

Demand that destroys the life of the state? – by whom in the state was it recorded? – we see again that the emanated from the dignitaries of the scholarly world German lands and the Slavs, not by youthful enthusiasts, and that the German educational classes in their generality idea of national unity without being clear about about their disastrous consequences. And over and over again again one must ask, can this bribery of the otherwise
so often arrogant educated classes consider the work insignificant of the people? – The great Maurer=Central=Blatt, the "Globe", the German Union, the virtue and the German Bund, the young Europe, the Masonic efforts of the Years 1848 and 1849 and the Fischer's Lodge speeches were the most convincing conclusions about the uniform so powerful source! – Yes, one could still doubt it, Remember that these demands were made officially and were always sought in an expanded scope by the so-called called chamber opposition parties, i.e. from the organs
the, I want to say, movement party, whose members belong to the Order and, as we saw, secret instructions from Switzerland and Paris.

All revolutions in all countries were seen and even simultaneously preceded: |

a) Distribution of highly cleverly written writings,
calculated to destroy the popular faith, the monarchy and the authorities in state and church contemptuous, hateful –to incite indignation. They took a ministerial name to the bearer of monarchical authority, apparently separated them from the monarch's person and invited the authority under the borrowed name by the nothingmost fictions an excess of contempt and hatred.
In Saxony the honorary names v. Einfiedel, then v. Könneritz serve to do this, but throughout Europe the same nothing-worthy defamation of the monarchical authority under any
a high name. |

And these false names were not first mentioned in the Preface outlawed, which the censorship did not allow, their outlawing seemed not gradually, as a result of gradually generating us satisfaction, no, all at once the general outlook was pressure of the educational system, so it could only be the echo

316

a fine tone that immediately reverberated throughout the land, was ordered everywhere and by respected personalities.

b) Gatherings of youth of all classes under one Pretext for teaching and their seduction by worthless teachings, e.g. in trade, gymnastics, speech and singing clubs.

c) Gathering of men in scientific associations and congresses of all kinds, in reading circles, in shooting clubs, in one-fortress of several cities etc., in order to provide them with written and verbal to preach revolution. ~

If one read those writings before revolutionary outbreaks, one always recognized a mature, with wise caution, with Human and expert knowledge writing author, and researched one looked at price and operation, one saw that not speculative motives these writings were born. And who were these philanthropists, those congresses, those reading societies gathered and formed those teaching institutes? – mas Are they immature youths or ambiguous subjects? – no of both! – Nevertheless, in all monarchical countries the came, everywhere these served, in themselves, people friendly institutes, as a means of revolution. Everywhere and in all branches of revolutionary activity the otherwise most respectable personalities as tools of the revolution! – Finally, the amount of money for all these activities – where from? – Young people and craftsmen have neither the appropriate possession of knowledge and prudence, nor the public authority among the educated classes, nor the financial means to all these revolutionary creations. Least of all Such personalities are likely to be found in the surroundings of the Monarch and in the higher state offices. In short, everything points to a single source, to a union, rich of influential high-ranking men. And we see these Activity also in the countries where the Order of Freemasons didn't exist? – No! – 9.

Finally, since shortly before the beginning of the first French the Czech Revolution there and soon in Germany form one conspiracy society after another, and their Spread nets over all countries. And they all carry the following ing common characteristics. They all only represent as societies of action, of direct attack on church

-

317

State and property, all confess, as we have seen, clearly, explicitly and identically only the uniform purpose, the Masonic doctrine of negation of the continued existence of the Church, of monarchy and property, the doctrine of freedom, Equality and Fraternity, or – what is the same says – humanity, even violently, to assert itself: and national publications. – They aspired neither did they have any influence on the legislation and administrations, nor on the monarchs themselves, nor They promised a continuation of their relationships and a wise position of the same in the future republic. It has= only the task of finding the means to immediately to pull together for a fight, to start the fight to ganise and begin. Their influence on the higher Educational classes could hardly be a direct one, and in general regarding the whole people, hardly extend further than temporary excitements; as they are only temporary wanted to appear fighting to overthrow the authorities. And the components of these compounds, excluding the Tu= gendbund, formed insignificant people; in short, their determination mung was the road around which the lower military power of the high Order. They could only have one purpose, to force the Order to become what it wants to become; whereas the activity of the High Order remains a higher which was to deceive the monarchs, governments and of legislation, in short the leadership of the higher revolutionary po= litik, as well as the leadership of those associations of the street revolution tion by means of individual members of the order.

And we saw all these connections of the fact from the high Masonic Order, or under his higher fuffi= and remain connected with it; the central governments of these clubs remained in the hands of the members of the high Others. | 3

We also saw 10.

before every great revolutionary epoch a European freedom Masonic Congress, fo in Paris 1785, in Strasbourg 1847 and in Switzerland at the end of 1848 before the storming of Frankfurt

the National Assembly. |

And finally 11.

We saw a sum of ventricles partly in real

– 816

Documents and manifestos of the High Masonic Order, thefts in speeches by the great dignitaries to reward the Or= densbrüder, partly finally laid down in the world itself, which from= stated emphatically, clearly and unambiguously: “that all the revolutions that have brought about modern Europe pa's, even South America's brought, in the free Masonic Order for the purpose of national and foctal-De= mocratic republics, and from him: that his members the whole Embrace the world, surround the thrones, the ministerial positions, State, municipal, church and school offices, in the chambers of the states take their seats and that the superiors have significant financial resources at their disposal;” Yes, we saw before us the naked confession of the High Chapter of the German Freemasons from 1794: “that the Order of Eu= ropa's peoples on e already revolutios nirth.”

It would therefore be difficult to understand if one could defend everything regardless of the truth of their own religious confessions dispute and doubt for a moment, “the The source of all those uniformly visible throughout Europe the otherwise inexplicable, revolutionary phenomena in the high hen order to find.” All phenomena harmonize with his confessions, and thus the conviction of their truth is undeniable.

This already unavoidably required lifting conviction must, however, be justified to the fullest if one considers the Orga= nism and the lodge statutes with these contemporary phenomena and compares confessions.

We saw from the Cologne document of 1535, “that the Masonic Order is a worldwide spread one= a unified order, which is under a unified head, the Supreme ft Patriarch, who also ruled the Cologne Convention= ordered and approved the document to that effect.”

We received confirmation from the two Mani= celebration of the high superiors of the German Freemasons' Association of 1794 and 1849, as well as from the Memorial to the Congress of Count Haugwitz in Verona.

We read in the first mentioned document: "Many 111 and we are not allowed to say. A single chain encloses the whole, now so enormously extended web of all secret Grades and systems of the earth. In a single 1 of omniscience all flow together.

319

It is only an order, its purpose is its ft secret and its origin together with the tels of its effectiveness its second." |

If one further considers that the lodge master "the Sun of the Wisdom of the Lodge", fo one can clearly see that the only center of the universe knowledge must be the highest head of the order. And since the Manifest of 24 June 1849 not only the signature of the Grand Master of the Land and the Chapter of Germany, but also in the manifesto expressly referred to the received decision of a the highest authority of the Order, it follows— from positive that over the Grand Masters of the Order's lands (the, as we saw, national empires find) a higher general my supreme management exists, which in itself is reflected in the expression: single center" leaves no room for doubt. Yes, we receive a new explicit confirmation of this in the Gide of the Altſchot tenth degree, where the Master of the entire Order expresses ly called.

We also saw the Duke of Brunswick on the Wilhelmsbader Convent was made the Grand Master of the State, and the Minister Count Haugwitz told us: "that he himself Vincial Grand Master of the Slavic Lands of Prussia fe fe."

Thus, it is confirmed that the Order is a supreme head, the Patriarch, that we are under him State Grand Master with State Grand Chapters and Provincial Grand master, hence also a division of the Order's kingdom into Order lands, and these in turn in provinces.

In countries that already have a national religious order country, such as France, we saw the country size chapters bear the name "Grand Orient". The Grand Chapters or But we found Grand Orient in the official Masonic language already called "governments", not even religious governments, This also indicates that the legal State governments are legally un-recognized. (Acerellos I, c. Th. 3 p. 32.)

Saxony forms a province of the Order's land

320

"Germany" and is initially under a provincial capital master. The individual systems we see, each under a Grand Lodge, form "communities in the Order's realm", with more and less freedom regarding administration and organization their internal affairs, as history no less. However, the superiors of the order ensure that no lodge organisations meet with the purpose and Weaken of the whole are not in harmony, which is why Visitors, heads of orders, are sent to inspect the lodges. Yes, from the chapters of the different systems under one Grand Orient, councils are formed, which decide on the innovations have to watch out for any problems that affect the individual systems or could be dangerous to the Order. (Acerellos I. c. Th. 3 p. 34 and 35.) and

Also, no member of the Order may claim to be the author of a Masonic document or as a publisher, without the special permission of Superiors of the Order fine lodge systems. So the bookseller had Stahlmann in Berlin with the approval of the superiors of the order Translation of a French work organized. Nothing nevertheless, on the requisition of his superiors, he was Braunschweig a kind of inquisition process in its mother lodge made. (Acerellos lc vol. 4 p. 132.) |

We also saw on the occasion of the Wilhelmsbader Conferences, that the Order should divide into one, which Johannes or symbolic order, and into an inner or hidden Order, which holds the higher degrees and the government of the Order encompasses.

We also saw, and the rituals confirm such, how will show their view and subsequent illumination of the same, that the Order is divided into a warlike and a spiritual Part falls to us. | |

We finally saw, information from the Cologne document, from the Manifest of the Country: Grand Chapter of Germany from 1794, from the table of contents of Feßler's work and from the rituals of the Order, in which in each degree on the private lessons of the master, that the whole Order, from above, into initiates and into cooperating Lodges and brothers are falling apart. | |

Also the Minister v. Haugwitz in his more designated Memorial teaches us that he himself as a country provincial grandma has not been inaugurated, but to the Gr knowledge of the true inner workings, without Hard to understand how? – only by careful observation and study of the Order. Yes, even more. We read in the Oaths of the Old Scots Degree and Saint Andrew Knight

 the vow “to tell no one anything about existence and the
 to reveal secrets of the degree, even if it is the most fter of the whole Order if I did not take him into a legitimate high Scottish lodge, or he to me as one of my superiors of this lodge been made known.” – Is this really the highest Head of the World Order is meant, then this too must be a highest chapter, capable of secret deals and even the highest leadership must be a political honorary post without inauguration, such as that of the Grand Duke of master. And we see the possibility for this from the fact that we are in the rituals will recognize two bodies that will be presented to the Grand Master side, without which he can do nothing, namely a body per of 9 persons for external, and a body of 7 persons fons for internal affairs.

The outer as well as the inner order is divided again in religious degrees. Betrayed to the world in the work “Sarfena”, whose loyalty the masonry works recognize, lie before us eight Degrees of the Grand National Lodge of Germany, four degrees of the dus outer and four degrees of the inner order. But the cracks are left tuale of the 8 degrees, one can see that only in the 7th and 8th degrees, with the ordination to the Apostle of Christ, the first hints only from the religious secret doctrine of the Order, from the tels of the realiſtration but not even a hint will give; rather, that the apostle to his further in= ftruirung again and again, regarding the doctrine and the means,
 as in the 7th grade referred to the master's instruction
 Even in the previous degree, that of knight of Saint Andrew, the novice=degree of the spiritual Section, we read that the person being admitted is told: “the Light that would like to be given to you in the future is still very far away from you and through many difficulties= abilities hidden,” and therefore the next degree can hardly
 It would also be unthinkable that the Priestly ordination is concluded for a confession that is considered the Order's property through the award of the Apostleship

and was designated by the name, without its separations of the Christian Church. Other religious countries, as France and America, made 33 degrees visible.

Everyone who joins the Order must take a terrible oath' abandon secrecy and indulge in blood feud declare, in some systems by handshake on oath fatt. – With each new degree he swears this secrecy to observe the privilege even against the brothers of lower degrees. In the 5th degree of the Order, in the 1st Scottish degree, he swears two oaths. In the 6th degree the candidate even swears 4 oaths, so in 8 degrees 12 oaths! – (It should be noted that the 3rd and 4th degrees of the external order are now considered as one degree is calculated, so that it is considered a degree with two steps= fhind.) | | | 3

The oaths in the first three degrees of the external order only include the vow of strictest secrecy and, as thought, the self-condemnation to blood feud in Hall of Oathbreaking.

Those taking the oath kneel with bare knees at a Altar and place your hand on the Bible. The invocation is addressed to "the supreme architect of all worlds". In 4. Degree of the external order is only the oath the practice of all virtues which the Order's laws prescribe. |

Different, and immediately on the positive determination of the inner Order, the oath of entry into the inner Or= the, in the associated degree of Scottish Apprentice and Journeymen. The person to be admitted swears a physical oath, in the Holy of Holies of the Temple and no longer in the Most High ft builders, but with God. – He has thus entered into the peculiar church community and the deity recognizes he is present in the temple of the Order. He connects with the Ge= vow of silence that "all his brothers, in particular but to love the Scottish people with all their heart and to give them advice and to assist in action, even if it means losing one's own of honour, good and blood!" – What is striking is that that in the self-curse in case of oath-breaking hunts: fine soul shall neither flourish nor prosper can; because this expression indicates materialism, although on the finer of the Pythagorean mysteries, who taught: "the human soul is a part of the divine Being, created from the divine ether and therefore unfvisible. This being enclosed in the body has its Components like the body, therefore also enjoy food."

323

(Mystagog p. 123 Laert. VIII 30.) |

He will soon take the second vow: "Freemasonry and to defend their secrets with property and blood and neither to win nor to die, as also the violent to avenge any acts committed against these or the brothers could be instigated. He kneels again in front of the altar, has the right hand on the one on the altar= flapped Bible and placed on a sword lying on top of it, while with his left hand he held the tip of a dagger sits on the chest.

The 4 vows continue in the following 2nd degree of the inner, in the 6th or according to the present order language in the
5. of the General Order, in the degree of Scottish Master.
The first vow is limited to strictest secrecy.
The second is about fulfilling the obligations and work= of the degree with the addition: "at which place is recommended by your architect 2. also for Defence of the brothers." The 3rd vow includes the and goes on to the duty of defending the Order and spread despite fire and flames or other Dangers, "where and when it seems necessary." The 4. Vow concerns the moderate use of the Order= rights. ; |

The oath in the following degree, in that of the Scottish Old or the Grand Master and Knight of St. Andrew is of of the most peculiar importance. We find in it, firstly, the Vow of silence even against the master of entire Order, unless he is initiated into the degree, even the vow without the permission of the lodges= Superiors not to join any other order. Finally, the Vow of holy faith, abstinence, of obedience. And at the end the recipient says: "I kiss the words of my Redeemer!"

Finally, the oath in the last known degree, the Grand-

| | 21*

324

cross Sct. Johannes, again contains only the old vow of secrecy towards the low and profane. Only the Swearing says among others, "at the gates of the new Jerusalem" and "may the Holy Spirit guide him to the gates of the new Jerusalem." And the Master accepts this oath "in the name of the reigning Spirit of all things, who is Father, Son and Holy Spirit revealed! –

"The overall purpose of the Order – said the Cologne document and repeated the much-mentioned manifesto of the Great Chapter of Germany from 1794, – the overall purpose must forever be the Order's first and finest means to realize it, this second secret."

Few Mason brothers have seen through these secrets and but it is possible for the persistent research of the layman. Purpose and The means of the Order are to counter all hypocritical counter-Declarations. Regardless of the Order, in a hieroglyphic and symbolic Teaching concealed with an admirable cleverness. The Confidential details are all multiple and highly diverse den- capable of and some seem to be attached to the recognition- to make it more difficult to identify the more essential ones.

In addition to the rituals of the great national lodge of Germany I have the great National Mother Lodge of the three Globes, Leipzig by Lauffer 1825. And in the Lehr- lings-Instruction p. 60 and 63 one reads explicitly: "The Aspiring masons never forget that almost every symbol of the Order has a double meaning, a moral and a mysterious one." We read on page 61 the moral reasons teach and p. 62 it is said: "the mysterious meaning of the Symbols refer partly to the interior of the Order, partly on the history of the same, and the apprentice only learns about hints, but never a complete explanation, because not even the smallest thing can be fully developed and understood, without encompassing everything." And with that, one of the few Truths are spoken which the Order sees fit to tell.

The basis of the entire order symbolism is the Image of Solomon's Temple, the history of its construction, fine splendor and its decay, finally the image of the Street- besides his eventual restoration, as I said at the beginning.

He was, as we saw, 1) the image of the well valley with 325.

the solar system, in which, according to the mystery teachings of Egypt- tens, especially in the sun and moon, the divine procreation- beings with the highest wisdom, lived and continued to work. The Creation was perfect, according to the highest wisdom, power and Beauty, therefore man was also such in body and

Soul, because he lived in brotherhood, in freedom, in equality in that alleged world empire until it degenerated morally, and that kingdom of the divine humanity fell into disrepair.

2) He, the temple, was the symbol of Jehovah's kingdom of the Jews, in which Jehovah with this chosen people through Moses made the covenant and from which the high Priest proclaimed the sovereign will of Jehovah to the people or according to another doctrine – in which Moses the natural philosophy phical mysteries of Egypt into a newer, more practical application brought to fruition.

And since 3) in the later temple Christ appeared from the Father Jehovah sends to make a new covenant with the people to redeem them again and to return to their original happiness – ity, or – according to another doctrine – as perfect –

more Mystery Masters the Jewish Mysteries in full of a chosen covenant, so could The Temple

also the true Christians as the kingdom of Christianity, to the friend of the other doctrine as a symbol of the given – serve the kingdom of mysteries that originated in Christ.

A) He was the most suitable image of the Templar Order in fits creation, in fits glory, in fits destruction, for the Order owed its name to him, and the restoration –

situate of the temple and kingdom in Judea, as one:

the jewels of Christ with and for Christians, was indeed the

It has become the purpose of the order.

5) It was finally the noblest image of sculptural architecture,
it was built according to the law of the cube.

The symbol therefore satisfies, as we have seen, the natural philosophical pagans, the Jews, the true and false

Christians, the Templars and the architects; in the lodge,

Everyone can interpret it according to his own taste and in the Secret confession, the master can interpret it according to need. | | BE

The outer, the- Johannine or fymbolic Ore
The doctrine of the Order already gives this in its general outline, and forms the basis of the entire Order, although it is otherwise in its first two degrees only the lower armed forces and which is intended to provide pre-school education. The level of apprentices is the degree of the aspirants, the degree of the journeymen is the Degree of the approachers, and only the master degree opens the Order itself. We saw the same organism in the Order of Pythagoras as well as in that of the Esaeans.

326

The following sentences are clearly recognizable as the doctrine of the order:

a) the mysteries of the ancients contained the great truths of the origin and government of the world, of the eternal primal being and humanity, and enlightened and ruled with it their peoples, as the sun the world. The teaching of Moses was her reflection, the moonlight, and gave the idea of her Rule a new form of state law for a chosen People. But when it was night again, Jesus explained now the merged mysteries of the Gentiles and of Moses, determined it to be the world law and for its realization the Mystery League Chosen One, who in the Templars= and Free= The Order was founded by Christ, fhis master, the third great light, to enlighten the world, the flaming star, the light of modern natural philosophy, and united, the three stars shall now form the lodge, the Illuminate and rule the universe in and through the Master, the representative of the highest being on earth."

b) And this kingdom shall become and shall be supported by the Pattern of world order through wisdom, beauty, strength. In the beauty of the soul lies the concept of brotherhood-ity in fine totality, alfo with fine consequences, the goodness tergemeinfchaft, such as the Jews imperfectly, the Esaeers and the Templars had perfected, as well as that of freedom and equality.

Wisdom and strength, the means, refer to wise use of all spiritual and physical strength to destroy the old ftände; sword and hammer, the warlike and the peaceful Tool of destruction, because the old buildings in which the peoples lived lived happily ever after, must be destroyed, according to the order buildings come into their places. This tearing down and the Preparatory work on the material for the new building of the order is the Purpose of the external Order of St. John. Its masters have this To direct the work of apprentices and journeymen and to to supply the Scottish Order with well-crafted building materials,

327

The task then is to construct the new building itself. Depending on whether the member of the outer order declares of the temple symbol, it will work and material The inner order accepts all deliveries in order to not to betray, but as useful he will use only what fits the building of the order. He interprets it in the symbol of the three stones in the different Gra the, in the raw, in the polished, in the cracked stone, of should be given a certain form. The Order of the Free mason ift the Templar Order. He was a beautiful regular square work of spiritual architecture. It was a square work, because it was in the four parts, into which according to the 4 Elements and quarters the whole earth is divided. He was shattered through its entire interior. The preparatory work ten for its restoration is the purpose of the blue masonry, the task of their masters, the beautiful gesprun The stone, on which the tools of work are laid, lies The apprentices work on the raw material, the rozen stone, the journeymen do the finer work, give the Polish, hence the cubic stone in the journeyman's grade. And end ly the symbol of the eventual disappearance of all earthly rulers ity and the victory of the Order's splendour over those that we fon in the apprenticeship degree in the image of full illumination, sheds clear light on the ultimate idea of all religious work. the purpose of the Order of St. John is explained. | | The first degree of apprentices,

Apart from the fact that the symbols of the entire external Order nothing but a copy of the Egyptian Mysteries tens to show how the Templar Order had treated them with some Jewish and Christian ceremonies, the Theorem is already clear and obvious when you consider the questions and Answers in the Apprentice Catechism of the Grand Lodge to the three Globes p. 8. "What are the ornaments of the Lodge?" – "The flaming star, mosaic plank fter, decorated frame," and the questions and answers ten in the Apprentice Catechism p. 97 of Sarfena: "What he

We remember how all non-Prussian masonry chiefs expressly and solemnly protested against the fact that "the Grand orient of Berlin is guilty of hypocrisy, the Maurerorden for a Christian church by, in the direct contradiction with the spirit and rules of the Order, Jews excluded;" admittedly a blatant hypocrisy, as soon as one only has to look at the, then direct contradictions comprehensive connection with the other older mysteries in a unified symbolism, in a unified temple of Christian God, supported by the Egyptian pillars, white ness, beauty, strength, or when you look on the later ordination of the apostles; a hypocrisy that is unflinching - ting of considerations for the protectorate of the royal N bes is dingt. |

Brother Krause, the highest literary figure dens authority in Saxony, in the three oldest art documents of the Freemasonry=Brotherhood Vol. 1, p. 194 ff. explains to us yes the following: "because now many worthy people Jesus for a pure, morally excellent, for the sake of humanity= deserving people and the Bible in the same sense for God's Word, as every true, fegenbrin= ing word is what comes out of any man's mouth of humanity is said x.c., so this way of thinking just claim to our toleration x.c. The essential chen, created from humanity itself and in every. People's minds and hearts confirmed Jesus' teachings about God and Kingdom of God, over humanity and the kingdom of humanity on Earth, these are an essential part of Masonry. But they rest on the authority of truth itself; they do not find therefore true because Jefu taught it" x.c.

According to the above two theorems we see upon entering the Order, in the Lodge itself, the image of the Universe in the blue color of the sky. In the ritual Regarding the three globes we read on page 7: "What shape has their lodge?" - Answer: "An elongated square!" - Question: "What is the length of fle?" - Answer: "From the rise until sunset!" - Fr.: "What latitude?" - Ans.: "From noon to midnight!" - Fr.: e it fie?' - Answer: "Up to the clouds!" -

In a men ail the en from un or

' nengottes, as representative of the deity with the square, with hammer and sword, the lodge or the world their riches= In front of him on a table burn three candles zen in the angle measure, which, as we saw, the triad= ity of the mysteries in the Order. There are still Bible and compass. They mean the means, the devices with which= telft which aims to bring humanity into the square measure, to straighten ten, to lead. We find it on page 8 of the ritual of the "three Globes" or in connection with the hammer, the sym= bol strong leadership. The compass indicates the scifenfc= philosophical element of the mysteries, (Sarfena p. 111), (is therefore relatedly equivalent to the symbol of the flaming Star) and the Bible refers to the element of faith= bens in its totality, not in the limitation to a positive church belief (ift also related to the sym= bol of the cross). The composition of these symbols should say: "posifitive faith and rationalism are the moral fical elements of humanity and dominate them. The last tere must dominate the former, and the Order must fic) its= serve them, give them wise and emphatic direction, and he will rule over humanity. We see an Al= tar, he carries no crucifix, even Ofiris shines on his altars, the lodge altar leaves open every kind of homage. Before him, him meaning and interpretation in the different directions which I showed above, lies the Tapis, the picture of Sa= Lamonian temple, the image of the Order's kingdom. The many= I have given several interpretations of this image above. One sees on it Masonic equipment, of which I, as far as necessary, I will continue to think. But it is with fringes a= as a sign that the mysteries of Jehovah's Temple received a later, more modern version in the doctrine of Christ. This becomes even clearer through the Order's Declaration (Sarsena p. 120) "the curtain that covered the Holy of Holies is torn and the holy has become revealed. The flaming star shines beneath us without a ceiling obscuring it. fefe eyes." The true meaning is: Moses Myfte= rien had the Egyptians, those of natural philosophy, in themselves= and covered them in their sanctuary. The sanctuary= thum and the myfteries of Moses were destroyed, they lay of= fen, Jefus and the Order accepted them and gave them the decorated border. A lattice usually surrounds the tapestry. ben, as a sign of the seclusion of the Order Temple of the profane world. It is surrounded by the three great Candles, the great pillars of the temple, the Order's kingdom, the pillars of beauty, wisdom and strength (p. 7 of the ritual to the three globes). They give the teaching, which I explained above: "Beauty is the physical and the moral purpose of the creation of the world, the moral beauty of Humanity only thrives in brotherhood, in freedom and Equality, through wisdom and strength. They help to achieve it." They include the doctrine that the basic idea of the Order is the teaching of the Egyptian mysteries, natural philosophy, not on the pillars of Christianity, on faith, love and hope. Of course, these Christian principles not to give the destructive direction that I describe above, which the Order of St. John, as a working division, next for the development of the Order's purpose, in the principles of natural philosophy. Next we see two pigs, Safin and Boaz. The explanation (Sarsena ©. 122), which the Order gives about it, states the sentence: "The reward of your efforts is assured to Cid." |

331

Finally, as a symbol of the apprenticeship level, a column collapsed at the top and was in its foundations still stands. The true interpretation is obvious. It reminds the apprentice that the Order is that of the Templars, which is broken in its heads, in its crown, in its basic principles were obtained.

We see the brotherhood with naked swords and see symbolic actions with it, so the sword is not a piece of jewelry from ancient times, but a real weapon. thus describes as determination violent struggle, destruction.

We see the brothers with their heads covered as a sign of their freedom. N

We see them all in the same low-lying masonry uniform as a sign of their equality, as a sign that no one is above and have, as the other, that their determination is the same, that of destruction and work, that their reward is the same, that of the apprentice.

We see the brothers closing the brotherhood chain as a sign of brotherhood, in short, we celebrate the doctrine of the brotherhood, equality, freedom, equality, socialism.

332

As a symbol of the task we see a raw stone, and one hunts, it means: "First learn yourself to recognize, you are still a rough stone, work on yourself so that you fit into the order building, because the apprentices at Solomon's Temple construction brought well-hewn stones," (Sarf. p. 122) but it is easy to see that it is not the moral sense tenz is: "nosce te ipsum", which the apprentice has in mind have, but that here too a highly practical direction of the apprenticeship activity should be given the direction, in the raw profane world, in the raw material, in which all to learn to carry out the work in a way that is too destructive which the Order needs for its purposes. The Reference to the bringing of suitable material of the Apprentices to Solomon's Temple building, shows the objective, not the subjective contemplative work.

Of course, the essentials must correspond to all of this of the initiation ritual. I skip the scene in which: zen chamber, as probably only intended to provide a serious span=

tion in the mind. Just a number of formalities, such as knocking and opening ceremonies, as old Tempter rituals. Only one undresses the candidate and removes all metal from him. The undressing was ihon to the Egyptian admission ritual and had the interpretation that we usually find given by the Order today: "that virtue does not need pomp and wealth, so that he has nothing to do", or one says: "Man must first cast off everything profane and be free from everything that he considered valuable, start a new life in the Order, felevate oneself above all prejudices." But (p. 93 in Sar= fena) in the ritual of the Grand Lodge of Germany they say the simple truth to the question: "Why did they let you all metal 1 – Answer: ɾc. and because a true Mason does not have to own anything of his own." So the social Order doctrine, which is also found in ancient mysteries and in the Vows of the church e also in the Det Templar | was present,

His right sneeze is uncovered and he is allowed to Shoe trampling means (p. 114 of Sarjena) reverence against him before whom every knee should bow, before whom highest architect. It is to be understood by the grand master, the Representaftants of the deity. We also find this ceremony feven in the oldest Templar rituals.

A

333

His left breast and shoulder are exposed, explains the order is correct. (p. 114.) "Under office, the sword to bear against the enemies of virtue (i.e. of course of Order), warrior, knight." We also read here different "warrior and knight", the former relationship goes back to the subordinate, as non-chivalric orders.

You take away his hat and sword, what you simply perceive, declared as a sign of devotion to the order. |

He is blindfolded and let go to the box and in the lodge. But the explanation for this, "to show the disadvantages of ignorance", is evident again wrong, and the true interpretation becomes apparent when one in general the practical determination of the degree to the outside in mind and considers what the apprentice (p. 8 of Sarfena) is said: "He has in the recording symbol cannot take a single step without the guidance of the Order, but the order is faithful and leads from the apprentice to." Give You into the hands of your leader from west to south. But surrender yourself only to Him who guides you at every rest time Your master knows." The true meaning may therefore be well: "the person to be admitted submits himself without his own Checking the leadership of the Order or the Master."

Before the threshold of the lodge door the candidate must above all, announce himself "as a free man." And un= In the first questions of the Apprentice Catechism we will Explanation: "A mason is a free man." Now one might think that this ritual dates back to the times of slavery and of serfdom; but we read about it (p. 92 of Sarfena): "the masons whom Solomon hired to build the temple= were declared free by him and they and their Descendants were exempted from all taxes and had the right to bear arms." So entry into the Orders entitle to voluntary freedom rights in the state. This meaning, which is thus evident, becomes indisputably true. ly documented the republican aspirations of the Order, soon later in the Master Catechism (p. 146), where we read: Fr.:

834

Who can be above me, since I am a free mason and am the master of such a well-organized lodge? – Answer: "God!" Afo No one but God is above the Freemason: my lord, no earthly master! –

The candidates are allowed to complete three rounds or journeys He is told: "to show him that the first step is not sufficient to achieve virtue," the truth, According to the Egyptian analogy, "a long road only leads to the knowledge of the Order's truths and experience, to Goals." He has to make three such trips because in the Order a trinity of mysteries is united.

You place the candidate's feet in the square and lets him take three long steps to the altar. We remember us, the square was the master's own, as a sign that he gives the world and the brothers the direction for their actions Therefore, the true interpretation can hardly be another fine, than that "the candidate has been granted by the Order expect that he will give him direction to the purpose or goal."

The half-open circle on the left open chest at Eide can only mean that the Order will ftrically bark whether the oath came from a true heart.

The weak, little flames and the drawn swords fine
only to increase the solemnity of the oath N to threaten with vengeance.

But of utmost importance is the granting of full Light, which the old Templars already had, through the fleeting flame from the altar with the cry: "sic transit gloria mundi", while a chain of brothers encircles the members
And we read in the admission ritual of the three worlds balls (p. 26) that the master to the candidates fays: "My brother, the flame that at the moment of What is created disappears, to show you that everything is wonderful.
ity of the earth passes away as it does, but the light of truth remains forever like the illumination of this lodge, when also all the majesty and glory of the earth= gone."

One should not overlook the fact that the survival of the lodges=Erleuch= tition over all earth- glory in twofold connection appears and the last repetition would be ridiculously pointless, unless one intends to make it more clearly emphasized.

835

The meaning can therefore not be doubtfully subtle, it is: "the lodge, di the Order, will have all the profane majesty and glory of the earth overcoat." |

And so one finds here the overall expression of the purpose kes of the Order, "the Order's splendor takes the place of all other to establish earthly majesty and splendor."

The Gefellen Degree

received the cubic stone as a symbol of fine work and as Light and guide in this work the flaming star, in the East; that is, the journeyman's purpose should be to

to polish the rough preparatory work of the apprentices, to show them the beautiful to give it a more perfect and useful form, in short, with higher, finer knowledge the tasks of the Zerftörf and the restoration of the Order and to carry out.

In the ritual of the "three globes" we see another beautiful cracked stone was added and given to the journeyman says: "Please note, my brother, that he hewn stone is a perfect square, hence the shattered stone into a perfect square again must be set." The journeyman is chased, fine gift for the restoration of the broken stone figuratively designated object according to the presented We saw that the cracked stone the Templar Order and why its square.

He should seek and find enlightenment for this in the flans star, in the star of the Order, the third light in the apprentice lodge, that the apprentice the picture of the Gropmeifter ie of the Order. This third star, as the The Order's image is first allowed to emerge for the journeyman. His Interpretation is indicated only by the letter G., and this letter is supposed to mean geometry. The explanation of the carpet and the reception ceremony in the system of three globes p. 98 explains in more detail that here pars pro toto be understood, the single main science of Egyptian fic Myfteries, for their whole, as the basis of the Order, hence the star is also its symbol; for we read there: "without this science the magnificent (spiritual fige) Temple (Order) cannot be started. And in Often it would have been the school of every sublime science."

In the Meifterfatechismus it is said, "the G. or the flaming star means God, as the being who alone above the free master mason."

Just take a look at the compilations, in which we saw and see the flaming star, and it It is clear that the truth about him is nowhere to be found is said, but that my explanation alone is to be regarded as fufficciently. He describes natural philosophy in its supposedly by Christ, as the essence of the Order, rather than the Order itself.

By the way, we see after the ritual of the great country lodge many symbols in this second degree, which we after the System of the "three globes" in the apprentice grade already found and so the reverse case. The expressions many different; but since for every essential sentence of the doctrine a majority of expressions is present, so that these apparent deviations serve only the purpose have made it more difficult to solve the puzzle.

And this intention to deceive about the truth offends us in every comparison in every ritual of every degree. But In no ritual is this deceptive hypocrisy more repugnant and white more driven than in that of the great national lodge of Deutsch- country, where ecclesiastical belief is used as a shield for atheistic and revolutionary sentences are hypocritical. The Carbonari in Italy must take this Berlin system as a model have, because they also affected the staunchly believing Catholics eism to blind people about their true purposes "The raw Stone – says this ritual p. 136 – is the image of our Soul, which is capable of good and bad impressions; the cubic Stone indicates that only through vigilance we can felf can protect us from vice." And in the an- fupon final explanation of its entire symbolism, says the same Gross LI]: "the rough stone means the law according to which the People lived before Moses; the cubic stone means the Law of Moses. And the drawing board represents the gospel."

The system of the "three globes" explains to us: "the raw Stone is the childhood of all science in the first age of human society, which at that time had the germ of it in the simple chen garments. The carved stone represents the blooming Age of wisdom based on mathematical certainty=

337

ity and science. The shattered stone represents the. Time of barbarism and superstition, which every wisdom and stifled sublime science."

"Finally, in the explanation of the master's degree of the three Globes are said: "the rough stone is the image of the child= ity, the cubic one that of manhood, the cracked one that of death."

We showed above in the apprentice grade the third, true Deu= | tung, which read: "As Solomon's apprentices only hewn, not were allowed to bring raw stones to the temple, so must the Apprentice to work skillfully for the Order."

| And as a working tool, as a means, we see in the Catechism= must be prescribed to the journeyman, the angle measure, in order to fully= squares, the spirit level to level the surfaces make the Bkeiwaage to level the buildings on their foundations= ten to erect; or in the meralian sense, the interpretation follows fine: The angle measure: "that our actions also the price should be measured"; the spirit level: "that all people are equal"; the lead scale: "denotes the trail of the Order." Let us remember that the whole Our dentität have an outward direction in order to be in the u" Benwelt to provide the Order with the position it occupies men will, bag: alfo. also all interpretations of symbols, on fubjective: moral activity, untrue find, fe- we must fimplicitly the use of the betting token for a figue Direction meant believe.

We saw that the angle measure is the Bertyerngy ve Mei= fters was, mm all activities of men their direction; in: the interest of the Order; of course we must the same interpretation for the more limited circula- tion of the Gee felten accept. The wafer mage: iff the tool to Make it equal, and it is indicated to the journeyman that he Equal protection of all men at Raug, Stand and Besnidgen to work. And by means of the Bfeiwaage, this building on their foundations), fo called fte auger fhically, Dag, the journeyman for the erection of the order) we= ken haber. Sofu short, he follows the basics learn and practice, the people and events that are associated with the Order: lichz direction, furthermore all human bers. hättnüffe. make equal and mid on: * fn: gage erect the order building on the vacant land help.

338

The Master's Degree.

We see in his ritual a theatrical performance, far too serious for the pose, too foppish for the seriousness, because the terrible representation in and through itself as a deception How can the mind, which has no Clowns, not boys, no, men of high education and prudence sees this more than strange Interpret a play? – One can only find a reasonable interpretation= away from explanation, one is forced to think of a symbolic Teaching a truly high purpose of the players to believe, whose oral, unambiguous teaching the persons of the highest Danger, in short, to the ceiling of criminal endeavors.

The journeyman had been given the flaming star of the mo= the Christian natural philosophy of the order and explained to him that he had participated in the restoration of a broken to work on the ruined work. The ritual of the master's grave This picture of the order shows how it was destroyed, but how it began to be rebuilt and how he was Master has to work together for this.

The story of the destruction of the Templar Order under Philip the Fair, and the only apparently complete Destruction of the Order, which was restored to new splendour and let him pass before his eyes, let him, after a while, then promise never to withdraw from the Order again, but to obey him inseparably and in full obedience from now on, belong (cf. Ritual of the Three Globes p. 140 and 172), give the lesson that he must now be ready for the Order so terrible and gloriously fit to sacrifice, like that Grand Master in the destruction of the Order, and concludes with the Teachings of the Master's effectiveness.

The destruction of the Order occurred, as is well known, in France as a result of the denunciation of two, and in England in consequence of the denunciation of a third member of the Order, therefore the three blows. Hence the three journeymen as murderers. The image of the Master for that of the Order is explained by itself. |

The Grand Master Molei was known to be debarred from the Order, therefore found remains finer: bones under ashes.

339

pile. Because he was burned, the first thing that came out of him was the skin from the meat, then the meat from the bones. Therefore, the ritual of the three globes also shows a Skeleton and the coffin with lights, "surrounded with flames", the order's declaration adds. (p. 172 and 174.)

It is therefore more than disgusting when the great country of Germany wants to make believe that Christ's death and the redemption to heavenly bliss is meant. And The explanation in the system of the three worlds sounds little better: "The 1st degree of the Order of St. John means the child-bearer, (in Berlin one seems to be treated equally with sword and spur from the womb to the world stage), the 2nd Degree denotes manhood, and the 3rd degree the death and the resurrection."

These untruths must, with some prudent comparison, show only the rituals, already by themselves as I am content to present the unfortunately already too extensive writing, not without pressing reason to expand further, to point out that a murder scene of the natural course of human life does not correspond to what natural philosophy indispensably requires and that the murder scene of the Savior in the Canaanite person by three worthless fellows, in the high

Just as an unworthiness and as a difficult to understand
 A historical distortion would have to appear, in that the designation fation of the journeymen only by three of the twelve disciples of Christ could be understood. Yes, as the most savoury of the
 The whole scene then showed the resurrection of Christ through Help, through the word of the Master of the Order; not to remember, that the Christian deity is not accepted as the one which we also find in the Master Catechism as the Order, as we read in this catechism:
 "The Master Lodge, the Order, is supported by three great square pillars, they mean wisdom, beauty, strength, and united they mean the deity in its entirety concept; wisdom is the symbol of its essence, strength that of their power, the beauty of the 1 and sublimity of their works." – One sees that the Order mixes subjective and objective terms under nn. on es om what matters is to baptize. " at 22

340.

And they also follow the characteristics of the Fremanner=Mei= fters fine.

The apparently slain, the Order, was resurrected= awakened and brought to new splendor through the five main points of the championship. Thanks to the far more honest ritual of the three Globes, we read them and thus receive the key fel to explain all political war maneuvers of the noble Revolutionary Party, especially for the operations of the Vor= Parliament, the Committee of Fifty, the National Assembly= until the failed implementation of the Reich Constitution, for the days of Gotha and Erfurt, finally for the art of "creating through timely joining and self-modification
 the worst defeats but always at least the necessary to save the most fundamental revolutionary foundations, and from them, always tirelessly hammering away again so that it breaks collapsing, the old building."

These five great teachings – we read on p. 168 –
 Lite literally:

1) distrust, because it is the mother of security=
 heit ift; 2) vigilance towards the laws of the Order. to hold; 3) the wisdom to give in and fid in the time to send; 4% the filthiness, misfortune cases to 3 5). the boldness to under= take, which is always accompanied by prudence must be tested.

It seems to me that morality should not be allowed to make the relevant statements about these sentences their own, but as if these five sentences from A to Z belonged to a found conspiracy politics. " | |

We also find as a means to the Swede of the Order with To promote success, faith, philosophy and Gewacht means: because the hammer means the force to= grasps the meaning of the sword, the gospel be= represents the faith, and the circle (according to p. 141) the. Raz turphilofophy. The compass: also means the instrument for narrower, more specific, more subtle directions or circles; in short, the Symbol of wisdom; the square represents the instrument ment, a general, predetermined direction to the distance We saw the latter in the two evft degrees of – lead, “in the Meifterloge we now find the Circle

341

Between square and compass – says the master – he always finds the lost brother and, by becoming master had become, he had passed from the square to the compass! – So it is suggested that the first two degrees have only a general determination for their activity, do not work directly for the actual purpose of the Order, but only in= directly by destroying, only in general. So they only form a prefchedule. And so the brothers belong either to this wider alliance or the narrower one. Hence the narrower Commitment to the Federation, the renunciation of the right of Resignation and the vow of strict obedience to admission to the master's degree.

Finally, the children of the Wiktwe, the members of the order are called because before the destruction of the Order the Grand Master was not allowed to marry (like no other member of the order) rather the Order was married to him as a bride and the His children should be sons of the order. Now that the last of the Grand Master was burned, the Order remained a widow. And It is not without disgust that one reads in the last alleged clarification, which the Order at the stroke of admission in fine supposedly last degree, “the vocation of the children of the Widow describes the Bethlehem massacre of the children”, as vb the murder of children could make their mothers widows and murdered children are suitable to rush to help! –

Let us now ask, apart from my above explanation, the order itself:

“What is the purpose of this Order of St. John, or the "Blue Masonry, fo called by the Lodge- by the | "Sky color?" -

This is how the statute of the "three globes" answers us, p. 189 ff.
in posing and answering the two questions:

"1) Is there true Freemasonry other than the three blue degrees?

"2) what is the final conclusion to which these lead?"

The final

The true secret of the Masonic Order.

As to the first question, those who answer it

Say no: "There are many lodges that only offer these 3 degrees and yet are recognized as Eighth Masons, in the

At higher levels, however, there is diversity, and therefore only that which everyone agrees on is true, and this 342

This is only the case in the 3 degrees of blue masonry.
Finally, I just find them old."

The objection is: "What have you got in the 3 degrees? - nothing but formulas, hieroglyphs and ceremo=
nities that seem very significant but are not explained
and according to their origin and context not developed
become."

"Should all this, as is the case in the 3 degrees
it, remain unfulfilled, the whole thing comes down to a game beyond - unworthy of thinking men."

"However, if a disclosure is to be made, only Two things are possible: either this disclosure is the subject
one or more higher degrees or you can only gradually through individual brothers." In the first case the 3 degrees do not constitute the whole of Freemasonry, but but there remains a supplement to the same, which is the most important fuffice to say, "If the second were to take place, these details give the Order their private opinions different there is no guarantee of the truth."

"The truth is that there are CICs that only three degrees. Among these, several speak of a secret without having one." "Accordingly, the Masters know that the three degrees are only a shell, a pre= preparatory occupation in the courtyard, that only at higher Graden sees the full light and the entrance into the interior of the Order could be entered rc. In the rectified Degrees of the NM [to the "three globes" ift main:
fubstantially speaking, "the brother who through the whole

carried out with the spirit and forms of all systems and to enable him to see with your own eyes how far and what is wrong or true, – important or irrelevant – essential or is due." |

"And to dispel any false expectations regarding the higher Just to knock it down once and for all, – so concludes the high NM [to the "three globes" their explanation – is here: with blunt declaration: "that the knowledge just mentioned= nissen of all Masonic systems is the only thing that which constitutes the true secret of the Order, and that everything else is a secret

343

can be called, as e8 The knowledge of the Pros fanen or the brother, who is still on a lower level, is withdrawn, but no other purpose and value, as to what extent it is a means to achieve the ultimate purpose of the whole Order to promote, that is, to make the wisdom of life comprehensible teach and practice in a familiar circles to contribute." | |

It seems to me that the human understanding hardly ever made a stronger demand than in this high order= Statement of its purpose.

The order is therefore only intended to "practice" this innocent purpose. to teach tětíc philofophy", which everyone can will, but not a mysterious one; only the mention of the practical means already applied by the Order of St. John to realize the purpose, for reasons of expediency stay home! –

And yet we read in all the solemn Ordeus declarations= gen, in the document of 1535, in the manifesto of the state grandees= loge of Germany from 1794 rc.: "the purpose of the Or: dens must remain the first secret of the Order and the world is not strong enough to publish this purpose." – And yet the Order allows the most terrible oaths of secrecy, this intolerable swear an important secret? – And you don't blush an almost impenetrable, a multi-interpretable, a so much by the Order apparently untruthful and contradictory interpreted symbolism, such a symbolism, which can be divided into 8 degrees through and God knows how much is still left undisclosed, – One does not blush, I ask, such a symbolism is a fap: linguistic theory? – This of the profane world of

1852 still intolerable, with at least 12 terrible oaths guaranteed secret should be the teaching of a philosophy of life, which the state preaches from the pulpits? –

It is said that “if the symbols of blue masonry were not a later explanation, so they appeared as an unworthy game.” And how shall they appear if their outcome is no other than the declaration that there is no secret purpose for their Dafein gave? – But even more. Even in the 8th degree Blue Masonry is not explained and the Grand Lodge of the “three

844

Globes” gave the excuse for this on page 62 of their ritual= explanation, “because not even the smallest thing is completely can be developed and understood without having to From this it follows inevitably that it about this supposedly last degree and its extremely meager and false conclusion, give even higher degrees must, on the other hand, that, as p. 157 Sarfena says, Nature of the matter confirmed, “about the 3 Johaunisgtrade am: out of a thousand Freemasons perhaps only ten will be lifted, of which again so many did not reach the 8th degree only come”, which never receive the truth revealed, fon= but that they are competing for time, work and money through eternal holding large revelations, remain deceived. Certainly a more than a peculiar comprehensible teaching method of wisdom.

Finally, the Instruction of the “Three Globes” p. 102 states, also of the same Grand Lodge, for the apprentice: “that in the Order not so much on knowing, but on being and doing come.” And I had thought, “Wisdom requires knowledge fensumfang.” If one now compares the one I gave, from the rituals justified explanation of purpose and essence of the external Order with the declarations of the Order, fo is one in my a strict harmony, in that of the order must recognize a self-refuting explanation.

I only have to respond to the quoted sentence: “the Johan= nis=Orden is the recognized older part of Freemasonry and must therefore also be the original, the only true one;” to reply with a few words. What, I ask, is this higher Age confdated? – only with the alleged fact that his existence fe was previously known as that of the higher degrees. Now but the order is primarily in its higher degrees secret, and terrible oaths bind the members, even the Brothers of the Johannite Degrees to commemorate his existence and work All degrees have been studied over the course of human only gradually betrayed, there are not many degrees today, Hence, the earlier knowledge of the lower grades no conclusion about their older existence is justified. But one wants to put pages of Johannite Freemasonry into construction today= Corporations of the Middle Ages an originally innocent origin and thus an innocent conclusion for fih, although their whole ritual proves the lies and as a beginning without end, without self-sufficient explanation, one wanted to consider the external order as an independent whole try; although it is further proven that the name and tual from the time when the Templars entered the building= Corporations entered and in and out of Diefen Bau=Corporationen created the Order of Freemasons. Yes, we have long seen before the disruption of the Templar Order the connection of the same with the BawCorporations.

345

The dispute over this accessory of the outer order on the inner, is, as we saw in history, a very old and too natural " because the ambition of the thousands in external order, finds itself through the admission of the "Ten" all too un= sufficient satisfaction and, the more the principle of equality, the was given to the external order as a basis for life, fits bears fruit, the more natural is his revolution against the supremacy of the inner order. Only for the profane World, the dispute is without great practical value, because freer and more independent the external order is, in order to He develops energy, as we saw and nature with it brings, fine all-destroying principle of life."

The second question is answered by the Grand Lodge of the 3 WW P. 196 further: "these three preliminary degrees marked the Human Childhood, Manhood and Death", an equally plausible untruth, which I have already demonstrated above fen have.

The reason why the inner order is superior to the outer no price will give the explanation of its symbolism and what rum he tells us – "his purpose must be his first holiest Secret, whose revelation mankind endures= ity does not have enough strength", – this reason, I say, is only the necessary indispensable consequence of his fharsh nature and fine personal speculation.

He had, as we have seen, provided the outer order with more and less clarity only the determination of the preftifchen Implementation of the negative principle against church, state and Property was given, but of course this principle also had to resist positive redesigns. But now that the in= nere Ordensdirection did not want to tear down without for fh new to do so, it must have been are thereby offered.

346

And since only atheists, deists, f. g. liberal Christians, Republicans and Socialists, knowingly or unknowingly for can be active tools of this general destruction, since one's credit, one's security, one's cash inflows and this infustructures, even a strong admixture is deceptive= bare good Christians and good citizens, the Symbolism of the external order must satisfy all and one should be careful not to use explanations that are more or less different destructive or useful elements of the to tear down the self-declaration that agrees with its details and so that the uniform interaction of these elements to destroy elements.

One had to therefore consider the positive part of the Drdenstehre as esoteric part carefully kept secret, the teaching: "that Chris ftus do not establish a new church, but only elect people from have called all people to a renewed covenant with Jehovah wanted, the covenant of Jehovah was again passed on to the Covenant of the elect for a new Jerusalem, for a new temple, for a new God=Human Kingdom, subject all the peoples of the earth shall be. And on this covenant fuence all rights and duties of the Jews and their lives viten. – In the kingdom of Jehovah, the God and at the same time the King in the kingdom of the chosen ones, was not allowed to an earthly king, therefore the high king chose and consecrated Priest, when the Jews demanded a king, only a temporary wearer of the crown, but the crown of the empire, the crown of Solomon, was for Jehovah and was kept in a temple. And to priests of the Lord in place of the Levites, Jesus consecrated elect, Apostles from the elect, but they then united with the Templar Order and assigned him the kingdom of Auser= chose to create New Jerusalem and build a new temple on the site of the old temple and the whole earth to conquer the kingdom of New Jerusalem. Therefore, the priests of the Order, the Priests of Jehovah, and the Crown of Solomon, the crown of the world empire of New Jerusalem is with them from God's grace. The Bible, especially the Revelation of St. John proves this teaching."

Nonetheless, one should hardly believe that the entire doctrine of revelation in the still unknown=

347

ten highest degrees of the Order will be re-established; because would be just such a religious aberration as we have here fee, with true feeling for it, for one would find neither to the immoral means of deception and the association with atheists, nor to the profanation of Savior, which can be seen in the symbols of the Order of St. John by violating the symbolism. It gives the appearance that allows the Savior to be seen with the Son of God or with a member of the mysteries of the Esaeans etc. confuse.

The next degrees now lead very gradually to this Teaching part about.

The fourth degree of the perfect master or Scots.

It includes the elite of masters who are responsible for the elevation are destined for the inner order. They form their own ritual novitiate and a Candidates' Corporation for the inner knightly order, the number of members is a closed and thus only after loss of a limb a replacement recording allows, as the ritual of Andreas Ritter shows.

He is further determined to counteract the influence of the inner order in the external to support the Order and its supervision. And This corresponds to his ritual teaching. It gives the clear expression of the unified Trinity doctrine of the Orders. "The natural-philosophical conception of God, of World creation and government, the teaching of the Jewish Jehovah's Service and the Christian doctrine of the order are only one Unity, they are all based on the consequences of nature's knowledge." The earth is created, is maintained and in its Mechanism governs through that which is predefined by the four elements: the unified planetary law of the circle, the wisdom of What was there "Je", that is "ho", that will be "vah", of the essence, which has different names among different peoples bears, e.g. Ofiris, Adonai or God etc. – And the Perfection of the world through the divine law of nature must also correspond to the human kingdom, which is to be created and to rule the Templar Order from the Supreme Being. No Christ was chosen and appointed."

The Candidate first renews his Order of St. John Vow, "that he will pursue the calling of freedom and equality to obedience and steadfastness."

The Nuftakt explains to Dawn according to the catechism:

"He knows the great Jehovah and the meaning of his name, as that which was, is and will be."

He knows the compass and fine squaring, that is, the direction=
Law of creation in fine the elements and deffen Existence in the new human covenant with the highest being, in Templar Order, the large square stone with the sign of four Bitches and four squares. The rituals of the following degrees show that the Order divides the Gide into four kingdoms and gives Reichstteil divided into four further Reichstteils.

Europe also knew about Moley shortly before his death into four parts in the north, the south, the west and the Often divided and assigned to four Otdenshäpten with the seats in Stockholm, in Paris, in Naples and in Edinburgh (Acerellos Th. 2. p. 117), which explains why the German state= High Chapter in Berlin to a Higher Power in Stockholm subjugated today shows how we saw it in history.

The Candlidat is introduced with a rope around the neck, to make it clear to him that if he wanted to give the Templar=Or= who belong to him, he AIS punishment for treason the death by the Strang to expect. Thus the great traitor Noffodei executed in the castle of Montfaucon and the body of the deceased Sqain Florian took the order from fine prädtomb in Avignon, put a rope around his neck neck and sank it in the river, whereas the remains of Moley's into the tomb, as stated by the Rimal of higher degrees.
(Compare Acerello's Th. 2, p. 116.)

The green color of the layer, as well as that of the band denten
Kiss the candidacy, and the hope of the members, in the Templars= Side to be included.

"The wind comes from the afkeftith parts of the world, starry sky and bright moonlight remind us: "that Embroidery and healing are extracted from a certain other part of the weaving.
In later degrees it is expressly referred to as Jerusalem.

meadows." –

The inner order itself,
How far Mitta has come to the public shows us again two divisions of very different nature, a higher kitterliche, the knightly of the Templars or after their later Names of the Old, Btbens and Bie spiritual department. The

We see knightly f again in the three grades of apprentices, the Journeymen and masters; only in modern times are the degrees of the apprentices and the journeymen have been combined into one degree. The spiritual division shows only two degrees, the a Scottish altar or high master and knight of the holy, Andreas, and that of the Great Cross of St. John or the full; coming Masonic Lodge.

The knightly division is represented in its symbolism by the ftimung presented, the crown of Solomon, the Order crown of, To defend New Jerusalem and to excavate the world for them, also to report Moley's death to the Pope and the Monarch revenge.

Like this, division to the name of the Order of St. Andrew came, we saw in history. King Brute of Scotland to conceal the preservation of the Templar Order, with with him the Order of St. Andrew and the Baukorpova= tions, also retained the hereditary Grand Mastership var. And= – maybe a coincidence, maybe not – we find the name still today in high activity in the Order, namely in Enge – country and in Sweden, and in connections with Berlin and with Germany in general. Also a Bruce fell as, high Dis: densglied in the Revolutionary War of North America against Engi at the head of the militia, and a Bruce ftebt under the Cologne Certificate. He

The fdotifde. Apprentices= and Journeymen= Grady

The knightly order if determined to carry the sword, not the light of enlightenment, therefore he receives only the lamp and the crown of Solomon, that royal grand master of the Muyfte= rien of Jehovah, that adoptive ancestor of the zn an Froi= mason=grand master. |

The person to be admitted swears to the Gid, as we saw above, the Grand Master and the Crown There are particularly the vows are remarkable, "to all masons and gravel =Brü= to assist them with advice and action, even at the risk of losing own honor, property and blood, even with blood and Life to defend Freemasonry ae

The whole ritual, as far as it is concerned, is not the Ore: densgeftheit feit Moley's. Dod and therefore hee on revenge. is the old, well-known ritual of the order, which is already in its old form to: large part the Egyptian 1 eni was rejected.

What is remarkable, however, is the presentation of the symbolic Legend, "that Solomon was among the chosen masters another select, secret brotherhood of the 27 Master", since we saw that the Order, irrespective of respects the higher and most secret degrees, i.e. the already chosen from the chosen, from the finest peaks, but still elsewhere in initiated and in only cooperating Brothers and lodges fell apart. Solomon, this symbol of the Order=Grand Master, selected those twenty-seven, who showed the highest devotion to the murdered master had shown, ie the Order chooses those who have shown show utmost devotion.

The Catechism further confirms this in the passage P. 180: "Because Solomon made us elect, not in view of our age, but in view of our faithfulness." And in the Master's degree we see repeatedly the inner order, the Scottish Order, referred to as the chosen ones, from the the most chosen ones must be drawn. But we find even from these 27 again nine from Solomon to a select group of nine and this Neuner=Collegium under the symbol of the nine lights around the Head of the Order, the flaming star, is depicted. And we Finally, in the penultimate degree, they learned that the head of the order lich the external Order Government to the cooperation of these Nine as a government college (Solomon allowed them to touch his crown).

The dagger is given to the person being taken as a symbol of fine Obligation to avoid the death of the n= expressly stated.

Correspondingly, we see that after the master's degree of the Order of St. John Moley's and in him the Order of Murder, fuch as the resurrection of the Order, in the degree of the Scottish apprentices and journeymen the image of the burial Moley's and that of the Order's revenge on the traitors for the purpose of fulfilling the duty of revenge on traitors motivate and show the punishment of treason. That Mo= ley's murder, at the same time in the murder of the Grand Master, that of Or: dens imagine, is clear here, since one can see the results The story read: "The Grand Master's murderers were involved in this murder. at the same time the tearing of the golden ribbon of the order= intended."

351

In the middle of the table stands the globe, on it, completely above in the east, the medal ribbon is attached, extended across all four continents. The picture needs no further editing= interpretation, it speaks to the world domination idea of the Order clearly.

The crown of Solomon was the crown of Jehovah, on which Mount Sinai formed by Moses, never in the Temple of Jehovah and its earthly bearer, Solomon, was a member of the Initiates of the Mysteries of Jehovah's Service, a pre-May the Templar Grand Master, the symbol of more than Royal Grand Master of this Order. Solomon was present at Hiram's funeral. ;

Three swords follow the brothers and remind them that "their destiny is the conquest of Palestine;" for they shall fthrough an army of enemies to the gates of the new Jerusalem. That is what the ritual says. y

In the Catechism on page 179, the following passage is striking: "In order to To be the defender of the widow and the nobility. But one remember that the Knights Templar were originally a noble order and that when he returned to Scotland allowed its members to marry, he said where the law was passed that only descendants of his order nobility to raise them back into the order. It was therefore this order nobility in this passage in question. And as the bourgeois element displaced the noble element in the order, wanted this element of this noble institution, in the form of a felf-producing bourgeois electoral nobility; as I All of this has already been shown and the lodge statutes confirm it. This nobility, which rests on election to the Scottish Order, is therefore what is meant by it today. "Widows" must be a pressure error fine. It must be "Wittwe" (widow), because it can only be the Order may be meant, as I have already shown.

Particularly clear is the light from this place, Shi Bert, witness of the killing of the master celebrate under the mountain Sinai, where he had been buried, was found," the Ge certainty that Moley was Hiram, because he was burned, the tools of his murder consisted only of Wood, whose ashes formed a mountain and the bones chenrefte.

"The sun, moon and star were darkened >

352

clearly means that Moley's death has affected the situation of the Order made it extremely gloomy. |
The degree of Scottish Master and
And reasKnights.

The ritual first and foremost continues the image that has already in the Aten Degree of the Order of St. John.

The candidate of the Andreas + Mister + degree will be in front of fine Recording tied with a golden rope and is devfelbe in the lodge around the brothers and the end to the master in his hand as a sign that he had received the ribbon of the Order means, and that the brothers of the leadership of the master have to submit.

Now follows the symbolic representation of the creation of this Band and the Order in its current form, again with interpretation of the terrible punishment of treason Mau usually reads a legend which says: the scene of the sucking= lifting with the rope and four movements, fee in fact the raising of Hiram's coffin from under the rubble of the pels to Jerufalem by Scottish Templar Knights; alone It is hardly conceivable that the previously symbolic Hiram's personality should one day become a true one, and that they really had such a high regard for the old Templars could have inspired ftafm intereft; but even this Legend has historically proven that the order existed before Hiram. Death must have been present, as the jewels of the order; a key to Salomo's Tempot and to ee eee Johannisloge and others in Sarge found again: And finally Rieke Fact might not appear as a reason to To give the order a completely different form. Ä |

You still in the night nad. Molewa. Dead fine bones: from the ash house, then the body of Denun= cianten Squin Florian from fine magnificent tomb raised and Moley's bones were thrown in instead, fo: it: probably to accept the true secret history as follows: "Dio Ritter, which Maley's bones in Floriau's grave were fleeing Ordangobere, subject to execution if fre: were recognized. They led: the rescued Oudenskleimnode with them and fie. forms: There is nothing safer to save them for the moment than by such as in Florian's, hers at the tomb at Dew. Ches.. at. Maley' s." ee;

393

Later, when they were on Mull, they were inducted into the Masonic Order reconstituted, they secretly raised, under great danger, Moley's coffin and with it their treasures and brought fie in the temple of the Order, probably in Herodom, – Today one will hardly go wrong if one looks for this in Jerusalem. – That Florian's coffin was lifted out of a It is more than likely that the ground had to be raised first.

lich, since he was given a magnificent tomb * and certainly a heavy coffin was present.

The seven-branched candlestick, like the often occurring mystical Number 7 was also found in Solomon's Temple as a Symbol, and of course the Templar Order had it too= The Order probably only had 7 degrees of the = half preserved, as indicated on p. 207.

À We also saw the candidate no less than four times and he places one hand on the Bible, one on the Solomon's crown. He swears through fire and water to ftumble to protect the growth and honour of the Order in arms= defend where and when necessary. True Christian, Christian teaching always means the religious doctrine of New Jerusalem. Remarkable but if the calming effect that comes here, in this reception ritual (p. 196.) the Order gives to the person to be admitted: "he has not to worry that he will be called upon because of his work (under investigation) because it, the work, is from the Christianity." It is clear that the Order to use the name of Christianity as a cover intended. One should hardly stray from the truth, if one can see beneath the red ribbon and beneath the blood again Moley's death and demand for revenge, as intended, suspected; The green ribbon with the Order of St. Andrew says: "under these names men we happily restore the Order." Among the twelve oldest Architects are again to understand the twelve months, whose sym= bol already had Solomon's temple. And one will not be mistaken, if you divide every Order Government=quadrature into three capital= parts disassembled fi thinks that here again the globe and the mountains The spread of the masters about them appears in connection with this.

The passage is terribly clear (p. 207):

"Demolished steps of the stairs and wall can serve To remind them that the fortress and wall of the a of tyranny and the war part must be torn down if the apartment and the temple of true fear of God, freedom and integrity (community of property) and should be established in their hearts."

23

354

Superstition is apparently called "church" as the opposite to the f. g. Order Christianity, tyranny means obviously Monarchy as the opposite of the Order Republic and fraud in Germany "based on property as an antithesis to the social purpose of the or-dens. The final sentence seems truly ridiculous and inappropriate implicitly because the heart of a Schottenmeister

It cannot be assumed that there is a stronghold of all such vices.

The indication that the key to the order is in the East, and the constant reference to the East, where all light comes to the Order, the seat of the Masters in the East, as representative of the deity and its highest representative in the Order, the directing of all eyes to the East in all lodges, All this indicates that the highest patriarch of the order in Jerusalem, and one might not get lost from the truth, if one means the establishment of the Prussian Bishop's seat in Jerusalem.

The degree of Scottish Senior Master and Knight of Saint Andrew.

The first degree of the spiritual division.

Wearing half a sun and half a moon
The comments of the leaders seem to indicate that the Ster= of the two ancient mysteries in this degree only one want to grant half validity On the table we find in= The old symbols that we united in the Jo= hannisorden got to know, three lights, compass, hammer and bi= bel. The swords are laid down. From the guide we remember, that he confirms the existence of the association of selected initiates tigte, a existence that even the formal highest order= hauptern should remain unknown. We are running that the can= didat asked: "Beware of anyone who the master of all the lodges would be the least of the discover what you learn here; for you are from a of a special kind and with special secrets ft tun" x. Although all Freemasons are our brothers ft, they are still so far away from us as the Profane, who find N the Order" = Bon ann Gråde

: 355

, we also see the lamps disappeared and the candles appear, symbols of full light and consecration. The Order says (p. 216) to the recipient: "as a sign that it a sacred act, which you have decided to do." – The full light seems to be given by turning the Re= cipients at his entrance the master the ten foreman fras gen lets you hear: "What do you notice?" – Answer: It is become dark, our brothers are scattered, and it is only a small light that illuminates the temple." Fr.: "Whereby find our fraternity brothers scattered?" – Answer: "Through a wete ` ter, which comes from the four corners of heaven." Ptr.: "Then bring one of the masters to me, that I may further examine him= And by explaining to the newcomers: "I

I tell you the truth that these questions are the key to Temple and to the innermost part of the Order." So weather moved from four quarters of the heavens, scattered the brothers and these Fact gives the key to the whole temple! This can could hardly mean anything other than the destruction of the Order at Moley's execution went to all four continents, where the Order had already spread, because the Order was abolished in all countries of the world and thus the Order was created in its new form with the mystical temple doctrine. It is also to remember that the Order, as shown above, only had four parts of the world. – The approval will obviously be in the words given, where the terrors of the night he= which destroyed the Order. f

But the picture of the origin of the current order appears as the beginning of a further symbolism, which the newer purposes and organisms developed most carefully and covertly. This is followed by an explanation of the lodge colour "red". "Remember thereby – it is said on p. 218. – to the blood of our covenant= brothers, it is the body colour of the high Scottish brotherhood, because everything depends on love (brotherly love) and on blood (Revenge) founded if." Now the terrible blows will be a= which affected the Order, "when the Order was a robbery of greed (of Philip) and pride (of the Pope)." It is thus the purpose of revenge expressed. "Only still are," it continues, our secret niffe been proven, yet no one has dared to cross. On your side you will find four lights. It is enough if I ask you that the fourfoldness refers to the threefoldness and this is based on unity. Do you mean the four elements, you want to think about the four regions of heaven, think of the square stone, I leave you the choice. You go one way, as you see, and if feven though they come from different sides, they still return back to where they came from, like rivers into the sea" x. The outer shell is broken rc., but the brightly shining Star has not yet been stolen from us; a light still shines in the darkness and the darkness has not They found seven stars around him, which had their many– have a different meaning and in a certain but in another Conditions they show you exactly what the nine stars, which they saw on the apprentice carpet.

23 *

eo

396

In another respect, however, they are of a different interpretation: the brightly shining star can be without them, as long as it is still at the firmament alone and thus serves the whole world, as soon as but we choose him as our guide who will show us the way to the Holy thum and light us to work, as soon as these 7 Stars are necessary because they contribute to greater clarity and perfection-multitude."

The square stone was the symbol of the order, the flame= The star was the star of the Order, also that of the highest Head of the Order, the representative of the deity. The Earth, the Order's kingdom, was patterned after the world order, according to the pattern of the four elements of the planetary system, (the Solomon's Temple) and the four seasons, according to the four regions of the sky, each region of the order-their again according to the four quarters of the sky into four lower or-dense districts, and each of these districts into three further lower orders dense regions, so that the months appeared as a model. Parts of the empire can easily be present after days. four elements or parts of the earth were marked on that four= square stone, the lights also gave their image.

So we have the division of the Order's kingdom. And All departments are headed by dignitaries of the Order and above all fts as the unified head of the Patriarch, the Priest-King. The The Order's form of government appears to be constitutional despite the Representation of the deity, because in the representation of the or-dens and its external activities, according to the general

357

World, the head is not unlimited, but even less regarding internal legislation. Here it is up to the participants ction of the 7 stars surrounding him. Yes, you might these will again be required to participate further. If one connects but so that the here repeated hint of a more or less less specific involvement in the external affairs of the Order and in the f. g. Executive also the nine, which was allowed to touch the crown, at the highest leadership of the Order-business, one considers that the sphere of influence of the Seven extends to the internal order administration or legislation, so one might not be mistaken, in the nine one of the highest= ft Patriarchs, from the Seventy, electable (we saw, that Solomon appointed them on his own initiative,) Ministry, in the seven but one, the Order Society at the head to see the high council representing the fact that without this Consent nothing in the internal administration or legislation can happen. The nine could also have only a narrower perhaps form a preparatory committee of the twenty-seven and all of these could also participate in the consultation of the head of the order.

The expression "the darkness has not comprehended it", says highly meaningfully: "our opposites, our enemies, superstition, the church, tyranny, monarchy, fraud, property, have not lost their danger recognized." This is followed by the suggestion that it is the

Hour when the en (of darkness) with terror

wake up! – – ?

We also saw here the doctrine of the unity of the whole world= order=people; for one says (p. 220) to the recipient: the E fraternity brothers, even if they are all over the place.

surface of the earth, make up only a single–

fy community because they come from a single origin find, aim at the same purpose, in the same secrets |

consecrated, led by the same paths, according to the same re–

measured in size and degree and possessed by the same spirit fouled."

We also saw here the further confirmation of the principle "the secret doctrine of the Inftruetion", as we read:

"But here too, do not leave your thoughts alone. The masters are given to us to direct our steps, and through the light they prevent us from going astray advise x. Therefore, open your master your Thoughts alone, and follow the means he ` will show you. Nothing surpasses the reverence for the Deity", that is, the human deity in its representative master.

*

、

The Catechism sentence p. 224 "the temple was desolate
 by the hands of the unholy and by the iniquity of war= servants", refers to the Pope and the King of Fraukreich, |

The golden caftan bearing the name of Jehovah is not too bold as a symbol of the Ark of the New Covenant with Je= hovah for the kingdom of "New Jerusalem". The service of Je= hovaha was lost in the order with great destruction, but with the renewal of the Order on Mull it was restored.

Of the Crown of Solomon and of its Defense ift
 no further discussion. One sees that the secular power is to be subdued F is the spiritual one. The defense of the secular eight is assigned to lower grades.

 Finally the degree of the Grand Cross of St. John or the perfect Masonic Lodge. -

First of all, it should be noted that the master on the Solomon's throne, and thus the monarchical power represented.

And then the multi-denoted apostolic ordination takes place. "I
 I hereby give you the power to perform all those holy functions=
 tions which the Apoftel Christ in the first Church. Keep God's Word pure! - and Strive with all your might to preserve our holy and divine
 To make the order flourish. N

Finally, the great explanation of the gargon symbolism takes place, ie - the Order concludes here, as it is in the apprentice grade started with - - - - the most shameful lie, the outrageous most reudften hypocrisy.

| We miss the ongoing great enlightenment of the twelve oaths

The secrets guaranteed by the rough stone? - The law by which people lived before Mois ,,2) The cubic stone? - The law of Mos fes." The fmg stone will overgrow! - So pure abandoned laws of a past that no longer to do if, should be represented symbolically. The first

Grades would definitely be a lesson in history of the mortals. Then their destiny would not be the work for the Order, but their subjective historical knowledge creation would be their purpose. But why the tools and the swords? – And how united

This enlightenment is in line with the earlier demand: “good art to deliver work to the masters for the temple construction, as the teachings of the apprentices and journeymen to Solomon's temple building only well-hewn Stones brought?” – I found the true interpretation in those degrees demonstrated.

53) Drawing board of the masters? – The Gospel! – Now I content myself with the five great truths or Main purposes of Masonry, which allow the Master to Basic law, according to which he had to draw up the plan to outline career paths for the journeymen, and I think its harmony with the Gospel must sound wonderful.

“4) The three lights? – The Trinity!” – Yes, but obviously not that of the Christian Church, but like I showed above, the Sun, the Osiris, the Moon, the Jehovah, the Mofes and the flaming star of the Order! –

The truth is, it is deeply regrettable that these worthy of dry explanations, no explanations are given, which explained these dry sentences at least in some way, to give them at least the appearance of some probability In vain will the mind strive to understand the Christian Trinity from the mass of these symbols of religion, of astronomical doctrine, combined with those of the conspiracy theory of revenge and revenge.

“5) The jagged border? – The curtain of the Temple!” – A strange explanation of a symbol by Giving a second symbol! – We saw above the true Interpretation: “Christianity is only a modern version of the Ancient Mysteries of Osiris and Jehovah!”

o nē) The flaming star? – The star that the Wise men from the East saw!” – If such a also a symbol again? – And if it were not, what should the star be? – If one had at least said, “the Image of the splendor, the new enlightenment through the Christian

thum;" yes, the explanation would have had some sound:
We believe that the star follows the strange teaching of Christ,

360

the philosophical understanding of the ancient mysteries by Christ mean the teaching which the Order has given to the world outshine, therefore the star should also reflect the image of the Order itself fine.

57) Hiram? – The symbol of Christ! – I have the obvious untruth of this most outrageous of all orders= hypocrisies in so many different places have been so clearly demonstrated, that I may not repeat it again; it is enough
here to the obvious, truly magnificent ridiculousness= that the Order awakens Hiram, i.e. Christ of the dead and how? – by naming those five main points or main truths of the Order, from which the Saviour would certainly like to be frightened. And the Coffin of Christ with the seven-branched candlestick and the key to the Order of St. John &c. Everything, everything was found by the Order the foundation stone of the temple of Solomon and raised this holy gen relics=treasure? – Jefus worked on Solomon's Temple building? –

nd) The middle chamber? – The holy of holies! – Yes, of the order.

"9) The three skins that killed Hiram? –
The sects that persecuted Christ the most!" – And fuch happened before Solomon's Temple was completed was? – The sects buried the Savior under rubble? ce.

"10) Where is your lodge? – In me, around me and with me! – "From the image of the universe from the beautiful fpungen e SEEN. becomes a snail=
a house!" –

"11) Why is John the Baptist the patron
the mason? – Because he first saw the Trinity! – Remember the Trinity of the Order mentioned above and read the XXI and XXII chapters of the Revelation of John-` nes and you have the explanation. Johannes fab Neujerufalen euftstand, and the figurative language allows for easy misinterpretation
that he proclaims the order's doctrine. |

"12) Why does the mason call the children of the widow
Whom? – Because of the massacre of the children in Bethlehem! –
So the murder of children also makes their mothers

Widows. And the children of those widows whose children were were murdered, the mason should call for help when he is in Danger? – I explained the truth above.

361

Now that the secret of the twelve oaths is not contained here solved, cannot be doubted for a minute fine, not to mention that the Grand Lodge is one of the “three Globes” presented a completely different enlightenment, just as little it could only remotely appear as truth. So Untruth and hypocrisy everywhere, everywhere a uniform Order! – What is clear? – even the fictitious confirmation of the religious orders taken – understanding of it: that the revolutionary phenomena in church and state as well as against property prepared in the Order, and from it forth and on were directed, because they appear to be its purpose. “Thus, this proof is harmoniously presented by the history, through the confessions and through the foundations – tal laws of the Order. He is a conspiracy against Altar, Throne and property, for the purpose of a social – theocratic Order – Reich over the whole of the earth with the ecclesiastical – political seat of government in New Jerusalem! – A colossal, fantastic, therefore apparently ridiculous and therefore fine barely harmless idea. And it may be fantastically fine Idea, it will never become the truth, only the precondition – The destruction of the three existing Contrasts, the Church, the thrones and the property. And This precondition is obviously already more than half achieved and goes to its final full fulfillment daily with far – steps towards it. |

Faith is disappearing in France and Germany, the monarchies have already partly fallen, partly the Monarchs have already ceded their governments and given them to religious members come, partly they have their foundations, the state – structure, and the bond of the limbs – The property is crumbling into dis – membrations, and the trades are leaving the hands of the dying guilds into commercial religious orders. – The organisation and extension of the Order beyond the whole surface of the earth, this embrace the state – ical authorities show us a conspiracy power of the most terrible meaning. That it could swell to yes in the course of the 18th and 19th centuries come to that 7

367

fonnte, ift a phenomenon, unique in history! – The
The secret of the existence of this connection was of course possible, but the art of deception of the Monarchs and peoples about purpose and action. – What the connection became what it was for the general destruction was only possible through those powers felve, whose destruction is the purpose of the association, by such a complete deception of monarchs, church and peoples, that the monarchs, the clergy, the best men= ner of the people know= and willlessly the tools of the self= destruction or mutual annihilation. The Monarchs themselves destroyed the estates, the foundations of their Thrones, gave the Church under the direct influence of the Order or indirectly open state official power, yes they stepped

This caste itself essentially loses its governing power.
The clergy preached the teachings of the order in the churches Christ and the knightly and peasant land ownership helped willingly make the dismemberment acts; the countless Not to mention the other laws of destruction, it is enough that the Dissolution of the governing and legislative powers
was organized without suspicion. |

Let us finally take a look at the festivals of Order, we find those of hypocrisy and the quite harmonious for the stated purposes.

In the case of the table lodges in general, external orders, vers fcribed toasts to the country's father (who of course also someone other than the well-known sovereign can, as the Order also has its government in the country, as we saw).
In the inner order we also find the table toasts pre= fcribed, but the father of the country is no longer mentioned in them
mentioned, but only the heads of the orders! –

We had seen that in May 1847 the iii of the various elements of the Masonic Order of Europe's punishment:
burger Couvent held that the Revolutionary War in the Switzerland, the revolutions in Italy occurred simultaneously, that a few months after Louis Philippe's throne in Paris fell and how such a thing happened. We remember that in 1785 the European F of the first revolution in France

x preceded.

This will suffice to also support the German

. . -

363

History with its more than striking phenomena and even more so if you always keep the Revolutionary developments in other countries, especially in Italy and in France with all its specialties far in the memory. Because then you will experience the most intimate harmony in purpose and means down to every detail of the revolution^{al} tactics, and thus the unavoidable necessity of Recognize belief in a unified power and leadership, why I study the historical periods in such detail from the most knowledgeable writers and their truths^{al} unity was specifically confirmed by Masonic confessions.

Immediately after the victory of young France and the Order in Paris, also appeared in almost all states of Germany the young Germany once again on the streets of the capital cities, and planted, like young Italy, the Italian tricolor. The Freimaurer, the venerable German flag, it shamefully misusing it as a revolutionary flag. In Leipzig demonstrated The Freemason Blum's so-called speech club founded the Berlin: one of the young Germany and Blum organized with him the Revolution. Mr. v. C. "went with absolute full^{al} power to suppress the uprising in Leipzig, and more than sufficient military forces preceded him. In the whole Lande, the small spectacle that the branch of the Blum^{al} Club in Zwickau made, after all, a passive, cast waiting silence. In the bourgeoisie and the peasant class affected^{al} ity, questions why and what for? – But Mr. v. C ; also known to belong to the Masonic Order, that the Revolution nothing. I do not know why and I dare not no judgment. He drew for His Majesty a picture of an ab^{al} reason in which he went, where we have no mouth opening exclaims. Wild cries against the ministry, which Constitution does not become the truth, he also shouted.

More than the full implementation of the Constitution by an honorable Ministry of Public Trust, one does not want to!"

The Ministry, the blessing and glory of the country, resigned. I heard from other respectable sources that His Majesty ftät had, in addition to the advice of Mr. v. C, also the of Mr. v. G again required, and from them the Rath received, the Ministry Braun: Oberlinder from the Chamber=Opposition Party. u appointed. It happened, and in the above under XIII. shared celebratory speech of the Master of

364

Chair of Deacon Fischer in Leipzig, we have confirmed what was otherwise added that the Miniftes
rium belonged to the order.

And in the rest of Germany, we saw everywhere
the same worthlessness, the same betrayals, in the Messages to the monarchs and in storming their performance which in France at the abdication of Charles X and Louis Philippe's, which appeared in Naples, in Rome, everywhere.
In short, Mazzini's words were fulfilled: "the revolutions must fen are created by the governmental powers themselves;"
because except in a part of the bourgeois scholars, which forms the core of the Order, except for the young Germany and whose few youth and workers on the streets
some capital cities, the revolution took place in German lands nowhere expression and help. Their easy suppression was nowhere even remotely questionable, the troops were everywhere resolutely loyal. The monarchies of all of Germany surrendered partly completely, partly almost defenseless in an almost incomprehensible blindness of the ridiculously weak rebellion, and laid the State powers in the hands demanded by the revolution.
were changed. | |

No sooner had the state power in Saxony been in the hands of the Masons and the same in all other German states became visible when the great mason, Heinrich v. Gag ern, at the forefront of the German revolution, to the social=demo= Kratik Brother, German Catholics and great revolutionaries tionary, Robert Blum, came to Leipzig, and with him, after a detour to Dresden, travelled to Berlin, the King of Prussia Ben to offer the German imperial crown, as Italy's masons offered the King of Naples, and – when he refused – the King of Sardinia had offered Italy's crown. Frederick Wilhelm, like Karl Albert, yes he was at the same time like this with his power a tool in Germany to combat of the existence of the Austrian state, as Karl Albert in Ita= lien became such an unfortunate tool.

The hated state of Austria, this pillar of one of the three Churches of Germany, this pillar of the state order, this State of a majority of peoples, this therefore three times hated and on the map of the Order's provinces, where only national"

=

365

Republics may appear, not found state, was then attacked from three sides by rebels and of predatory neighbors. – It was too sweet a dream of Revolution! –

And in Heidelberg men from all countries
the Germans to a preliminary parliament, which a German National Convention of 30 persons appointed to the sovereignty of the German people, and in its name the election and decreed the convening of a German parliament.

All newspapers – at that time there were only revolutionary or Mau= rer papers, because the governments were in equal hands – called these men the noblest of the nations; the consequence taught, that they were determined revolutionaries. It is, after all, Appearances of the past and future allowed to believe that they were masons. |
The German Parliament met, Heinrich v. Gag eri

ascended the presidency and proclaimed sovereignty of the German people, by whose power the German monarchs expected= ten, which constitution the Parliament would decide, whether and how it wanted to maintain it. An executive Imperial power, which was nothing but a pure executive power= Organ of the sovereign Convention, the regulations of the individual governments should obey. Except from Austria, nowhere Contradiction! – The individual governments were in the hands of the Order.
As in the first revolution, people rushed to Code of the Order of Liberty, Equality and Fraternity–

ity, the so-called human rights under the name of
to challenge the basic rights of the German people.

And how Charles Albert the sword, supposedly for Italy's ur unity, power and greatness against Austria, in Truth to divide the monarchical forces, and fih

to let each other, especially Austria, be worn down, fo

the German monarchs had to draw their swords against.
Denmark, because they knew very well that in the progressive Victory so that the war with Russia comes for Germany= leads, at least creates tension between both and the brought about by the intervention of revolutionary France.

Thus the state powers were conquered. 85

It was now necessary to replace what was previously in force and
To replace what is to be abolished with something new and positive. And with this was the moment of division and mutual Combating the various elements of the internal and external external order, as well as the profane agitators who joined came.

| 366

The external order, nourished only with ideas of freedom and equality, inflamed by hatred against any limitation of free will, thus against any such restriction to revolt, always ready, especially outside Prussia, 'without Ge:
accustoming fine members to discipline, to work for the Positive aspects of the Order, which he did not know in his own way, had to rely on the unified action of its members for positive or purposes, so each individual only continue to negate everything positive, whether old or new and to strive to assert one's personality.

In addition, as expected, a lot of other

Personalities whom the Order had agitated and unsupported, suspect that they belonged to him, after they had influence and money had gained the power to independently pursue their own orbits followed.

Hence, division and struggle "as the systems of higher degrees by means of their, in the environments of the monarchs already so powerful influence and by means of their disciplinary Organism the Reichs= and the vast majority of the Staats= powers into their hands when it was time to create new fcause. And on this cliff the revolutionary new=
. design.

The pure social democrats, of course, decisively rejected
the organization of a religious order in the Fociate Republic, and the inner order understood that he was Authority weights in Germany, after immediate overthrow the thrones, the Movalifts as well as the general social=demo= crats; that in the event of victory, the Er=

rather more than restoration, in case of victory over =
complete anarchy with a reign of terror must occur. |
In both cases the Order's hands were lost. So it does not immediately destroy the monarchical powers
but initially only according to the Paris model of 1830
only to merge them into a formal unity, and this formal unity under the legal guardianship of the Order
bring to get their power into the hands of many and it

$67

to ensure that the monarchs are then and effectively completely eliminated if one is in full possession of all branches and veins of the state and municipal administration, fully established in it and the people were made to obey against the religious authorities.

On the other hand, it was only natural that the young German Mend, the armed, bold and action-hungry power of Ore dens, with all his recruited followers of the party of Act of complete overthrow, of the pure social republic free negotiations between the parties on the social impact led, as in France, to the Publication of human rights or fundamental rights, as a legal negation of the existing political and ecclesiastical order, but even the Imperial Constitution was written by the narrow Masonic League the pure social democrats decreed and in the consciousness of their
The revolutionary popular forces they had achieved made them, as such was to happen in Paris and later in Vienna, the attempt to blow up the National Assembly and a To establish a reign of terror! Those murders and the outcome is known.

The inner order with its powerful following of the educated class they fled under the protection of the monarchical powers and rushed to victory so that the individual governments would not be able to force and want to come to reactionary actions, the German Order=Empire on the basis of the Union=Project, i.e.
on essentially Protestant and, if possible, democratic grounds= location. The Prussian LE rate was proclaimed reich with the human rights constitution.

We have seen that the inner order is formed by the Prussia's legal subordination relationship with the Berlin highest order direction, over the vast majority of dentch lodges and led the order that the heavy weight and the Order government in Berlin. With every Er= As the Prussian borders expanded, so did the country's further proposes that all lodges within Prussian borders= feel the inner Orient of Berlin as subjects over answered. Every wax khum of Prussia was therefore a growth in the recognition of the supremacy of the inner over the external order and made the resistance of the lodges of the äñ= Outer Orbs are increasingly coming to a decisive end.

368

What could be more natural than the pursuit of Order, first of all to establish the Order's discipline more firmly by one can see the state and order borders up to the hem, where possible of the whole, but initially essentially of the protestant Germany and to establish a Prussian-German, initially Emperor's kingdom, to create! – And not only since 1848 This plan also found favor in the Prussian government The alliance with an order power, which almost Totality of the educational classes in the whole of Protestant Germany= land partly encompassed, partly held in his disciplinary power, partly at least led, whose members after achieving constitutional Forms of government in the neighbouring states, the totality of State powers in their hands, then also more or less indirectly into the hands of the inner Orient of Berlin, such a power of the Order appeared as a multi-promising helper for Prussia's expansion. Therefore one read with astonishment in the well-known betrayal Prussian government pro= which has become public knowledge gram from 1822 that Prussia apparently became the protector of the liberal "principle in state and church show the evidence favouring such operations in neighbouring countries and in particular ly in Dresden such a party must be created in order to fuch to force the surrender of the lands to Prussia! – Thus, before 1848, Prussian politics linked fih with the politics of the Masons, hence the Prussian Order Protector= Council despite all pressure from the neighboring powers, the revolutionary ary element, despite von Haugwitz'= fch Memorial in Verona, despite other e of War= nations, despite the Berlin revolutions.

If we now take a look at the unfortunate Reichsverfaf= young., so it is clear that their empire outlines and components, the national and predominantly Protestant religious country, which. Weishaupt's Union Empire, for which more than 100,000 people commemoration of the Grand Master of Germany appointed and resided in Berlin, according to the order=organ, the Globe, and approved by Lord Palmerfton Division of Europe into national religious countries. the constitution itself was an obvious provisional measure for the Time, which was used to consolidate the rule of the Order in all Government branches of the individual states, in particular the military tar power was needed, which was therefore everywhere on the constitution=gen had sworn in, which was done by means of the Order=miniſteries and order chambers began to exist; thus on the future obedience to the Order, which then after final Elimination of the monarchs made redundant the seat of the republican order government, according to the Globe, after Frank= would move further. But once again Germany won the monarchy through the loyalty of the troops and the defeated Order parties had to expect the law of the victor. high party of the Order was formed from the previous patron (since 1848) of the Prussian monarchy, again the old client and Federal Comrade.

But as such she was needed and offered again the alliance, based on the German Union State, the old masonry projects, whose evil inner organism one The government did not want to make this a reality. The high heads of the order consulted again, this time to Gotha. They had to appreciate the magnanimity of the victorious royal power recognize, one had to accept gratefully, in order to at least to save the rich conquest. They found and preserved but at least in this the old dear child of the order, the small German Union State with the exclusion of Austria, although – as Dr. Fifcher complained in his lodge, “so still small at the moment.” But as a result of the great monarchical victory, a Mau= rerminifterium after another, the obedience of the State governments ceased, and all state governments of of some importance left the Union State.

“Once again this noble revolutionary party provoked with all means of desperation in the states which withdrawn, especially in Saxony, the revolution. True defamatory writings, personal, worthless slanders, in particular the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and even His Excellency Majesty of our most gracious King, provocations to all individual great moral and material interests of the people, with which hottest colours, flooded especially the City of Leipzig, as a flying supplement to the Tageblatt. All Masonic organs in the press, the “Deutsche Allgemeine” and the “Siegelſche Blatt” at the top, outbid each other at the= same declamations. But the pure Social=Republicans and the young Germany despised the high Order party

/

as an ally of a kingdom and the state powers
she no longer possessed it: she only showed her true powerlessness;
for their power rests only in their influence on the state= | powers and in cooperation with the pure social=

Republicans.

And after this discovery it was also found in Berlin
no longer necessary to place special emphasis on them.
soon dropped the Union Constitution and retained only the mo= narchic Union Alliance, for its strengthening and full exploitation to the best of our ability for the reasons described above= which the Order had to do anyway.

After all this, one could still have been uncertain about the source of that new unionist attempt at rebellion in Saxony, one would be guided by the above under XIII.
speech given by the Master from the chair of the Lodge "Apollo", the Deacon Dr. Fischer, in this lodge, did not calm felt, in which he said: "You have seen all the witnesses of the many difficulties which the brothers
ual association of German citizens; you know that finally, forced by necessity, one has to deal with a Little Germany will have to be content, not without fierce opposition= fay, perhaps not without a bloody war in the future."

So our men stood in a familiar circle,
which had not escaped the keen observer anyway,
that the revolution was Mason's work for the Union State.

In particular, the Royal Saxon Government justified fo decidedly hostile attitude of the Lord of . . . , . . .
and fine all the masonry appendix in the chamber for the purpose
"to achieve the submission of His Majesty to the National State force", raises all too much suspicion regarding the party
Source of the new revolutionary aspirations.

And finally, this suspicion should not be weakened.
the, if one looks at the despicable politics of the Saxon Masonic Order Leaves in the period in which Le War with Prussia threatened.

The last worrying revolutionary phenomenon in Germany, which are associated with the Order, one cannot without reasonable reason, the Hessian official= Rebellion, because it is not enough that the democratic=constitutional Principle that guarantees the sovereignty of the people and the civil service

des, this precious achievement of the humanists is endangered feemed; that in Hesse's civil service the Order had the decisive has a far greater majority of civil servants as members; not ge= nuff that with that rebellion the reunification of Hesse
to Prussia, the Masonic organs also offered Heaven and earth to protect and assist the Heffi=
fhic officials=rebillion.

Furthermore, regarding the general internal policies of the parties the mason, we see from the March ministers of almost all German fian states only the same, the creation of the revolution in the subjects, in whom no concept of it, no will for it was present.

The ministerial speeches, decrees and bills require tighten and organized the revolution, called for the pikes to protect a freedom that no one threatened. And with this revolution, which is only just beginning to take shape, and which is still too to take the pike offered to her, the stands were threatened= dekammern when concessions were demanded from them. I know not whether and which terrifying figures appeared before the Majesties themselves= were held.

But the ministers of the Order were hardly separated from their old
Surrounded by friends in the chambers, one could see that the world Such an unexpected spectacle that these ministers are leaving, even seemed to be taken away from their old friends. But they were Step by step towards revolution, always giving in in the end.

Whether there was reluctance on the part of the high monarchs to had to wind? – I do not know; I know even less with by what means they finally overcome such extreme resistance

In short, the revolution was brought up to highly dangerous power and the royal power quite removed Then the gentlemen resigned. And after their resignation they helped their friends in the chambers further from the crown demand the last thing that they themselves could not give as ministers.

And everywhere from Paris to Russia's borders only fame spectacle, the same unified tactics, harmonious in mate= rials as well as in the formal, and usually also in the time of publication
– And all those personalities that we have in ministries, in chambers, in clubs, in the press and on the street; in more or less modified form or with all ruthlessness fity the cause of the revolution from Paris to Pofen W

and lead, – one leafs through the lodge lists – fie ge belonged, with only a few exceptions, to the Masonic Order and the German Catholicism.

And nowhere did a government find support in the chambers as a last resort against rebellion, everywhere obstruction to it.

In 1849 the so-called Reds were suppressed, and in In the German chambers one saw almost only the higher masonry world. And what did it do? – it made any government impossible! – but that everything to the humiliation and weakening of the governments, everything to enforce the Union State at any risk, as les to amnesty the rebels.

And finally the various masons and re revolutionary parties, as is evident from their press organs and confirmed the facts. The young Germany hid and reorganized itself in the free communities, for which the Mason, German Catholic and Reichstag deputy in Stuttgart gart, HPW, a social-democratic-republican complete German Reich Constitution, which was in the hands of the police, although the author is based in the Sd has not even temporarily left.

Let us finally come to the inner and special history Saxony, which is essentially the same as that of the other states. equal it"). >

Only from the entry of the ministry, which the lodge master Fischer describes us as a ministry containing members of the Order signed, the Minifterium Braun=Oberländer, the dead, especially known also a bricklayer, appointed as assistant, Del the Revolution brings momentum and life to the country.

History saw Louis XVI enter the first Revolutionary Ministry isolated from the loyal vassals the crown and generally from the most loyal servants ne royal house; but the people would be incited to ever

*) In the following section, a considerable and important part of the chambers= input the whole history of the feit= the three ministries experienced in Saxony, unfortunately the part, by means which I thought to Leweisen that I had in my lecture on March last year, no slander was made, from Drud remain excluded out of consideration for high-ranking 8 associated with the N pressing conditions.

men acts of violence through despicable lies of black Plans that the vassals of the monarch against the people and against its leader. History saw that—fame to Rome, to Naples, to Berlin and to Dresden. I may not follow the duration of this isolation in Dresden
The same rumors of a Catholic and Aristocratic cratic propaganda. It is worth remembering that the
To bring the principle of equality to full effect, with all energy
gy and initially the destruction of the entire stitutional guarantee of the preservation and validity of the vassals ft, the destruction of fine representation in the chambers decided and that implementation was carried out so that even the strongest class dies out, like the Order in Europe and most recently in Germany the commercial urban Citizens' status as a lower class level was destroyed, he was begging stick and instead of it, to make the na-national brotherhood, the Israelites to take possession of the bourgeois sources of food. Here too,
I the persistence of the pursuit for certain reasons in cannot continue to follow the course of time.

The Waldenburg Castle was attacked by gangs of rabble devastated and burned, the government councilor NN., brother of the later co-regents of Saxony – also masons, as one faid – did not allow the military to harm the rabble to do. I have to believe for good reasons.

A ministerial decree of 14 April ordered the general my people's armament, and already on the 15th of the month the Ministry to the municipalities to arm the Res to accelerate the revolution as much as possible, to buy pikes, for which the Ministry of War such finished laffe.

Soon, clubs were protesting the introduction of the Republic as their task, yes they called for the 50s committee to Frankfurt on, our most high monarch of treason to declare him guilty and to impose on the German government to take the hand. The cheeky document was printed, and – nothing happened. –

The Minister of the Interior spoke in the Dresden election assembly for Frankfurt these words: "It is about the two questions of state life: whether, as before, only from above, also for the people, or whether from now on from ity.

374

Below and up for and through which Bolt should be governed.

In a word, it is a question of whether one can find: liche (0 parliamentary government administration. In the Truth, and in this alone is strength and existence, it is but the parliamentary government is one where the people by legally elected representatives

where in fact a people's government

The ministers of the monarchs could then never be anything other than the leaders of the Majority of the people and through them will again

the monarch the supreme leader! –
Even the state newspaper had to submit to the revolutionary associations and also on 27 May their defense against the opinion that "the Leipzig daily revolt was a fruit

their activity." Even more, the state newspaper reported the same day, 27 May, on which a attempted revolution, the following report: "Vienna, May 27. The whole city is full of barricades, which you could even see ladies working; all the windows of the houses were which is covered with piles of stones to be thrown down; the sight of the City is pitiful. The Committee of Students, Na= national guards and citizens have demanded and from the weak mi= nisterio granted: 1) all military should be borders of the country; 2) Preservation of the guarantees= 'rule of that storm petition, abolition of the first Reich Chamber;

3) Count Hoyes as a scourge; 4) immediate return of the Kaiser, or appointment of a deputy." |
And this report was published by the Staatszeitung in its review pensions with a eulogy to the brave workers fchlie-ßen, which served as supports for this rebellion!

The fact that the then editor of the state newspaper Meifter was from the chair, perhaps neither came at his appointment.
as editor, nor with this attitude of the newspaper in under-flying effectiveness, but was an insignificant coincidence

In the general assembly of the German fatherland-Association for Saxony – Dresden, July 9 – there were 89
one and according to the information 27,000 club members, through 133 deputies represented. On behalf of the Dresden Chamber of Deputies-fchus, Dr. Hirfchel appeared as reporter on the election

875

geftrecht and about the request (correct demand) of a conftituie
He said: "After the vote-decision of the Second Chamber on the electoral law, namely of the two-chamber system, it seemed as if only the: Path of a lawful Nevolution (remaining fei, namely the application for the appointment of a constituent assembly collection. Different now, after the gratifying and decisive Statement by the Ministry on July 7. They have but not content with that, but by a deputation yesterday learned that the new bill would affect Norwegian electricity thing as a model. It is therefore now time to propose: 1) the patriotic associations declare to the Ministry, that they expect a better electoral law from him, which main principles: a) single-chamber system; b) direct elections; c) no privileges of religion, State property, birth; d) no division into urban and rural constituencies; e) and f) every adult, unfcholeric, non-guardianship-based citizens eligible and eligible for election; g) and h) annually to the State Parliament." And all these motions were accepted! 2) They declare:
"the Ministry, if such a bill receives the approval
ation of the chambers should not be preserved, with all forces and bring about a conflitutory meeting
This motion was also accepted, but with the addition: for the time being, the decision should not be submitted to the Ministry itself, but only as a decision of the association to publish.

And we read in the second supplement to No. 195
the Leipziger Zeitung in the answer of the German fatherland-club in Dresden to the German club on the question:
in which the public can distinguish the principles between recognize the Fatherland Association and the German Association.

folle? – “the German association regards the kingdom as a necessity, the Fatherland Association as a coincidence

ity!” ‘ =

The fatherland papers in Blum's publishing house boasted that even to know which ministerial personalities are in the minis= Council contradicted their demands, and that His Majesty
most difficulties against the single-chamber system
So the revolutionaries would have the most secret

376

| His Majesty's negotiations with the ministers were betrayed
In August, Minister Oberländer Blum made Leipzig a visit, as the then public papers reported. it | |

The patriotic societies used to send public
To issue addresses and to ask him: “the fouverine people want that the minister's principles, which those of the association fwere brought to bear, the people stood by him always armed in heart and mind, and if it fshould be müfe, with armed arm.”

In No. 89 of the Mulde=Journal of 21.
September 1848 I find the following article: “Leipzig. Already
On the evening of the 15th a crowd of people gathered in front of Dr.'s house.
Göfchen, the head of the German Association and rejected shouted loudly, then appeared in front of the police building under the pretext of “allegedly freeing detainees”, and could only be saved by a bayonet attack by the local guard.
driven, whereby some injuries occurred.”
A general march was immediately ordered and the garrison requisitioned Nevertheless, Messrs Weller and Limberger had
17. invited to a public meeting in whose name
the party which had invited the known resolutions
the last central meeting of the patriotic associations in Dres= which had confirmed, as such in the, for their execution held public assemblies in Dresden, Chemnitz, Zwickau and loyal ones. The resolutions were: “It is to appoint a People's Committee and through it to pass an electoral law to be drafted; 2) the Ministry and the Chambers make way for a constituent assembly; the Resolutions of the National Assembly for the Nation's approval
the Ministry and the Chambers comply with these
If the people's demands are not met, taxes must be waived.
gladly and the King ift to request, after the dismissal of the current gen Miniftium, Oberländer the formation of a new on= to dissolve the chambers and to look for the new provi=

forfian electoral law, the National Assembly within four weeks chen; 3) to make an appeal to the Saxon people to follow the deed without delay; finally the execution
This decision shall be adopted by a commission consisting of children
dermann, Weispflog and Weller.“ – The Blind Man

377

must finally recognize that the revolution, the high treason boldly and without any fear. Have we no Criminal Code, and only for thieves still criminal justice? – Free ly, if our Ministry of Justice cannot convince itself, that the right of supervision over “every judge’s duty
and every emerging crime for investigation
“I draw”, is his most sacred obligation; if one Seeing blood, the danger of destruction appears complete must, before one can protect the Constitution and the public Security that can neutralize the conspirators, then find
we have lost peace and security forever.”

We saw above that the provisional government of France Reich sent non-commissioned officers to the regiments to protect them against to incite their officers. We have in Saxony probably also attempts at incitement among soldiers and medium-sized Soldiers, but not from a connection with Government officials, but one remembers that the Minister of the Interior the garrison towns of the Voigtland travelled, also gathered the soldiers around him and called on them, to tell him, the Minister of the Interior, what complaints–
that they might have against their officers? –

The supplement to No. 234 of the Royal Leipzig Newspaper under Dr. Marbach, Master of the Chair, brought the announcement of a German= published by F. Schneider in Werdau republican calendar to the year 1849, the tendency of which should go: “the idea of republicanism through vivid
To bring instruction to the people, the principles of this state= form, to warn against errors and to convince the opponents of the Republicanism to fih, but at the same time also to
To draw attention to those who have their reactionary or monar:
Chinese desires under the guise of republicanism
bergen.” | |

But enough of this minifterio. It required fine de= sation, when the armed rebellion became ripe, which to get=
pfen did not seem advisable to him. |

A civil servant=miniftry without a compromising past= ity took its place. The Held Ministry believed that further concessions, which completely defenseless to appease the revolution.

Instead of summarizing the monarchical state power and to strengthen, the Ministry published before the Chamber entered into force, the German revolutionary fundamental rights.

378

This was what allowed the revolution to reach full maturity. was missing, for which even the Braun ministry had forgiven fever had been upon, the robbery of the monarchy itself in law of self-defence and the safeguarding of impunity. The Volksdishes.

A few weeks dragged on in the old way, the The Ministry experienced the most despicable insults in the chambers. Soon they proceeded to complete the organization of the revolution. In a general assembly of the democratic Citizens' militia on 8 April decided, among other things,

"1) the Kingdom of Saxony shall be divided into five military districts, and divided into twenty military towns and military districts";

"2) the civil defence men of these individual parts of the country which is divided into regiments, divisions and brigades Armed forces, who are given a military force that meets the needs of the country number of cavalry and artillery. It is independent by the district directorates and district captains";

"3) the General Commander is responsible for his advisory and for closing authority a state civil defense committee was added, which was responsible for the organization of the entire Saxon civil defense has to deal with; the committee should have their registered office in Dresden";

"% these decisions are addressed to both the Landtag and the Reich government."

So everything was ripe, and the monarch's refusal to Adopting the Reich Constitution not only offered the means of agreement between the noble and the red revolution, for but also a pretext for revolt for a seemingly large patriotic idea, even for one that has a semblance who could give justice.

"The chambers therefore refused to pay the taxes and provoked thus the attack and the revolution, according to the instruction, which we reported above to the German Chambers of the Paris Revolutionary Central Direction.

So after a few weeks, the Held's Ministerium has reached the point where continued government is impossible. It is now either to fight with the revolution or resign

It did neither; it dissolved the 379

Chambers and the Ministers Held, Weinlig and von Ehrenstein demanded their dismissal from His Majesty. | Under the eyes of the Ministry, the revolution was completed their attack organisation. Yes, they brazenly showed this to the Ministerio. The noble revolution also took the Head of the beginning republican uprising, concealed with official authorities the red purposes and let the rebellion as appear honorable and just; because if official persons and other authorities their fellow citizens and comrades of the Communal Guard, give them the pretext of the beginning Rebellion as a just, necessary demand with enthusiasm represent, the official authority sanctifies the rebellion and thus wipes away the deterrent concept of crime. And – I will skip the names, everyone remembers them – who were those gentlemen who made the revolutionary demand “the Submission of the Crown to the Imperial Constitution”, as one justified; which thus the best citizens to the attempt to join the revolution by opposing the decisive Refusal of His Majesty notwithstanding, deputation upon deputation to His Majesty, to always support this revolutionary demand to renew? – It was obvious that with every and with every negative answer the Revolution increased. February increased; the delusion of the justice of the revolutionary The Order should have been strengthened to meet its the vast majority of those who are not his apprentices or journeymen count. The more elated speech of the lodge master Fischer in Leipzig, that the Order itself at a bloody price this small German empire wanted to strive for.

No authority took action to free and public rebellion for guiding, directing, commanding criminals. The attack, who had to decide about the throne was clear and declared as beginning before everyone's eyes. Without outside help the monarchy was lost. |

Under the thunder of the Dresden street battle, Mr.

Dr. Zfchinsky as Minister of Justice and a few days later as Minister of the Interior, Mr. v. Friefen. The moments in which both men decided to advise St. Maj. and stepping aside, documented their loyalty. And It has not been heard that they belonged to the Masonic Order. As is known, Mr. Behr was later called to the Ministry of Finance.

380

The revolution was beaten out of the streets, but The noble revolution wanted nothing but a battle lost, she wanted to free her prisoners, her Impunity, the Royal Government Power in the stalu quo of their legal impotence and their disregard receive them, if possible even further . and even new gather further strength.

The Saxon criminal procedure permitted in Saxony in individual in harmless cases, if no serious crimes are committed in Question ftood, the judge, an inculcate against Caution after a closed investigation until the verdict on the case nip to be released. It was therefore a limited permission for the judge, no right of claim for the inculcate. Now the basic rights were transformed into such a right for the Inculcate and even for the most serious crime, the High treason. The overwhelming number of the wealthiest and The most dangerous criminals bought themselves with 500, 1000 and 2000 thalers. from punishment for high treason or was released from their Like-minded people bought in the form of bail bonds, whereupon they became fugitives. And strangely, no one has a single one that the criminal justice system would have recovered. If a common criminal becomes a fugitive, he rarely across Germany's borders, even if he is provided with money is; the telegraph and the new excellent police overtake him almost always. Where does this powerlessness come from in the face of political criminals? – There is no other natural Explanation than: "powerful secret connections help them from the place of escape to the secured destination in the land." :

The number of happy endings in history is fabulous. rippers of the same kind from the prisons, possible only by the interaction of two circumstances: namely, that, incomprehensibly enough, the idea was allowed to find recognition, "Political criminals are not common criminals!" – partly that an action from outside sides of a money– a powerful club rich in resources, whose secret connections ducts of Europe's higher classes, was added. For The laws allow serious criminals a lot of security measures= means against his escape. Chains may be put on him. and it should be locked at a distance from the window.

Light, instruments which can be converted into breaking tools and materials for external correspondence are denied to him; scattered visits take place on the day=
Order and accepting visits is out of the question.

But how many political prisoners belonged to the humanist

Brotherhoods. The free brother in office has Help and support for your imprisoned brother in all aspects of life=

were sworn to provide a professionally gentle treatment

—

feems only as a demand of humanity and for this fih even the font dutiful brother uses it, that tolerates fompletely with the sense of duty of the most loyal fub= than, even if the loyal brother the deeds of the Incul= godfather disapproved and was not initiated into the revolutionary To drive.

The philosophy of criminal law knows nothing of a feparation of crimes, into noble and common,
recognizes only serious crimes, depending on the degree of danger,
which results for the welfare and security of the state.
It rightly places high treason in the first place, because blood,
Fire, impoverishment, in short firing of the entire state purpose results from it.

Finally, the criminals claified the criminal law philosophy only according to the degree of their sanity. The higher the education of the criminal, the more he can see the consequences this crime can be overlooked, the more brilliant his fine.
Living conditions were, the less he was affected by need and The sight of starving children encouraged him to improve, the more punishable such a Man. If the poor day laborer, in order to earn 10 Mgr.
serve, which his authorities perhaps even paid him, on the barricade and was sentenced to one day in prison, fo the noble official who commanded him and gave him the 10 Ngr., obviously the wheel.

But it also provided the prison guards with a task whose solution exceeded human powers, if one not at least one compag= for every political prisoner never soldiers for hourly internal and external guard Prison guards were not allowed to treat the traitors as treat my criminals, from chains and the like orderly= There was no question of any safety measures, but

382 |

gave the prison guards for the extraordinary treatment no extraordinary security means, thus they could not the security is not liable.

The second circumstance of this general breakaway from the Prisons, was evidently the result of a powerful binding from the outside, which seeks the general liberation to task, because the general public of the tearing leaves faith in individual families= and friends= ftschaftsbindung as a moving force, even less the fecure progress of all runaways, despite telegraph and police. We also saw this phenomenon emerge in Prussia. Finally, the consideration of the immense Sums that we saw used for bribes and whose it was necessary to provide those masses of runaways with so much money to ensure that they have the necessary papers and important had the means to use the quickest means of escape everywhere up to to work and travel safely to distant foreign countries, an explanation=cause of these phenomena, seek elsewhere to run away than in a politically and economically powerful home leagues.

Heaven and earth were set in motion, amnesty The demand was too strong at once, the The Ministry at least resisted this; but they won the promise that no death penalty would be imposed, and so the traitors have already saved the only highest good, the a future revolutionary victory could not replace. What Moreover, it was not possible to achieve this at once, but it was known to achieve it entirely by other means.)

But they also wanted, I said – the royal government= violence in the status quo of their legal impotence and receive disregard, and possibly weaken them even further and gather new strength for yourself.

Only the patriotic associations were abolished and so the public organism of the Red Brothers. The The result was that the red party before reorganization tei elections, a true elite of the noble Li= ity in both chambers. There were *) Also my illumination of the pardons to u | prohibits the cage of relationships.

888

lich in them no less than five former ministers, Appel-lationsräthe, public prosecutors &c. and in particular several chairmen ie Lodge Master of the Order. And this elite was in overlarge majority, from Mr. v. G, as Order=Elite
The Order has never appeared publicly in Saxony in a so-called chen representation . The jubilation of his leaves was immeasurable.

And how was the Minifterio with the promise of loyalty? – I mean, hardly a Ministry fih have seen a more difficult exchange! – The Auf-
The fowefts which this Landtag had set for itself were eye-opening due to the following: 1) Negation of all modifications of Inftitutions which are likely to strengthen the monarchical power
2) forcing Saxony to surrender to Prussia;
3) amnesty; 4) several humiliations of the government.

One therefore denied with regard to the first question
Abandoning, in happy self-overestimation, every government command.
With dignity and firmness, Mr. Minifter of the Aus-await the second demand. The Minister of Justice fayed the third. The fourth purpose was known to the chambers at the moment-tan ftrong to achieve by fom ... ken coarseness of the previous Landtag the subtlest and most
to make the most difficult maneuvers for this purpose;
They received no further constitutional concessions.
Finally, when all the intrigues to overthrow the ministry,

were in vain, they were also abused, as the previous Landtag, the most common means of tax evasion.
did not approve, the government was again at an end.

And in which strata of the nation did these classes find themselves?
assembly their defenders? – only in the official,
in the scholarly class, but only in the fg middle classes dungsclafes, which the Masonic Order is known to have and whose judgment he determines.

And it might also be time to ask gen: “throughout the course of the revolution, the Order has only with a sound warned against rebellion, he who . dominated the entire public opinion, which was so confused and was made voluntary? – He asks: “he educates to the highest virtue, and thus educate subjects loyal to the monarchnen!” – Well then, why was he silent when the infidelity ripped, why did we not see any example of Loyalty given by the Order until not only the revolution ends, but also until the current year for a longer period of time appeared crushed, but also until the old suspicion against the Order became loud again and threatened his existence? – Where? On the other hand, the still strange phenomenon that in all of Germany not a single leaf that is decidedly for God, my and fatherland the revolution in all its causes and effects, in the public places of civil Educational classes suffered from these, but the holding only of leaves that are of higher or lower = serve our revolution? – We see ourselves here, we see ourselves in the inns of Berlin, see you in Kafel, in Hannover or wherever else, the same phenomenon everywhere! – And yet the Order boasts, and rightly so, that he determines the judgment of the educated classes! –

I go to
D.

the criticism of the order sides of reason.

The Masonic Order is an association of rational beings, and such an association must reasonably have a purpose. This purpose can conceivably only be a good or a evil purpose. If it is a good purpose, then it must be and present the means of its realization to the world, so that the authorities clearly recognize the benevolent and trusting help to promote it, so that all people of honest will understand and help in its implementation; because it is a self-evident truth that the known purpose, with known honest means, must find more participation than the hidden good purpose with hidden good means. But the order keeps its purpose and means secret, allegedly because the peoples are not yet strong enough to recognize the end and the means. Well, the Order either a scientific or a moral, We ourselves, despite all protests from the Order, think of a religious purpose. But let us think about what purpose, what Whatever genre we want, in 1851 the nation is neither religious fanatisch, nor a science and the pursuit of it hostile, even if a science or the pursuit itself should be so sublime that the foptholically educated people always still unable to understand the content of science

 fen. And the legal order is also such that that no association can be threatened if it pursues goals which appear to be useful for the common good. But if the tion is not yet ready, and the Order first wants to prepare people for Understanding the purpose of the order, why then this school for the good, noblest, holiest not all worthy students show openly so that the nobler mind may seek them? – Why fthe order then excludes the poorer ones who have no öfono=
 have a mix and political value? – |

The nation is at least mature enough to observe calmly= ten and to examine in its fruits what they see before their eyes sees them doing. Even today, they do not understand the sublime Purpose, be it a religious one, even the ritual, the means of realising the purpose, it would still check whether they know anything about the men and their activities Beneficial fense, and in the latter case, which earlier or later, the company would be required to charitable purpose is pursued with honest means, because should notice something of the benefits over time of the association's activities; in this latter case, the nation to venerate the club and learn about its beneficial work ftrfe. Even a religious confession that the state and church leaders as a spirit and life uplifting
 and blissful light would be assured of toleration
 It is said: "It is precisely the mysterious that attracts people." Well, the charm of the mysterious has its Epoch in every people's life, it is the epoch of the soul= rule; only that we have unfortunately survived this, that we live in the era of the most sober intellectual speculation, where almost everyone just asks, what is the use of this or that connection, where one should also, fshould one take advantage of the connection calculate, must be certain what advantages it grants, that, fshould I think, could not be denied; therefore the secrecy evidently no longer even applies to this= dubious value at all. The Order of manifesto of 1794 by fine members of the Order is true: "the Heads glow, hearts freeze!" –

Mau says: "Charity is the essential purpose of the order";
 but one does not realize that the Order is doing good deeds, narrower language usage, charitable gifts and works in a magnificent extent, one saw only the most modest things. And such an association would then be, by its nature, a local thing, not a world association. Least of all, however, could such a Purpose promoted by secrecy of the association body because an exclusive and secret club cuts too much participation and does not provide an encouraging example, it makes participation in precious and uncertain situations more difficult acceptance=conditions.

So whether charity, science, morality or religion as a purpose, none of these purposes can be tolerated even today with the anxious secrecy, with the Secrecy oaths at every graduation, even to the brothers but lower grades. |

I said: "The Order declared its purpose and its work, the nation, if it were still so immature, would have the sublime To understand its essence, to observe its effects and to present it But the Order has not done so, He lived after the terrible times of the thirty-year-old and the wars that followed him had long destroyed his activity, again since 1730, so not only since years and days when mysterious, locked and creative moral person among the nation. Of course, the good or evil effects of this mysterious life on the Nation is difficult to observe; only find it present, such they had to make themselves felt over time. If no effects are noticeable, then one is justified in to deny their existence, and the Order would appear completely worthless to the world. But now I ask myself which Effects hence appear at the time when Masonry spread had won, since the last third of the previous year= century gradually emerged in the people's life, which proved to be Effects of the Order were clearly felt, so I must necessarily promote education in art and science, because the development winding tracks for these were known to have already been entered and the history of development proceeded only according to the general, internal natural law and the effects of general knowledge signify. Was this course a faster, more general, than in of prehistoric times, the enormous influence of the art of printing, just like the institutes of universities and scholarly schools, whose feminine sense of nobility and clergy fo many and with so numerous scholarships, in There are also no traces of that arts and sciences were practiced in the lodges, and from there flowed out to the people. Yes, the Bane art, the ancient only masonry art, which still today has its sym:

 bolik, was in decline until barely 30 years ago. |
 Or the people's morality was highly refined by the order
 – The historian must deny it, because in 1770
 the people are less educated in bif science, which is why the Bahu was broken, but it was full of discipline and manners, loved fine Heimath, had mercy on the poor, was loyal and honest, content with what God had given him, in short, he lived according to the offered its God, in whom it believed and whom it worshipped.
 And today? – Today it is full of inflated conceit, full of covetous lust, without faith in God, in his holy Commandments, in his rewards of the good and punishment of the Evil, it therefore considers everything permissible that it likes, or it tickles and as far as it can be obtained “without legal punishment to be really achieved. It is therefore honor, have= and pleasure-seeking, only the very ambiguous virtue of a pleasing external Peru's colloquial tone is still his own. But even that ends.
 The inner emptiness of the mind and the addiction to pleasure have a Rawness is created, which (fic) now also unmask to the outside world.
 The root cause of these vices is therefore unbelief today. |
 But now we have seen that the Masonic Order has the Christian churches as revelations of God, as divine truths ten and partly the cult of a natural deism, partly of a philosophical=Jewish= Christian doctrine, which in the end also into deism, celebrates in fine symbols in the lodges. We have seen that the Protestant clergy have become very large Part belongs to it, thus the Protestant cult is administered by priests who themselves do not believe in his divinity, ft pay homage to natural deism in the lodges. What wonder= who, if such priests find lukewarm for the service, of which they only the enjoyment of life; that since a human age no longer pray at the sick and dying beds of their penitents who sees that they no longer care about the minds and the conscience and the families as loyal advisors, friends and comforter no longer enter, in short, that the Ben ne noble=

888

to serve the entire part of their office diligently is no longer possible
 They feel that the things entrusted to them by God
 Confessors – Profane! –
 | What wonder then, if the noble persons and who in the lodges regarded popular belief as just Popular superstitions that churches in state life are heresies or as a necessary rein for the common people learned to look at cunning deception, and natural deism as fufhfe fufhfe felf-enlightenment fymbolic foft= ten; what wonder, I say, if these people seem to be noble disgusting self-delusion, consider themselves too enlightened to only apparently the cult of supposed popular superstition to share? – But what wonder if a people morally poaching, which in the priests in the service of his churches, in the Patterns of his role models, in the civil servants and the more educated only the negation of his beliefs? – Or is at least in the families of the noble Masonic world a worship of a highest sublime being, – call it whatever you like – to the place of the former house prayers? – Noticed

 Do you hear prayers in your families? – No trace of it anywhere!
 – They teach: “Do good without hope of reward or punishment!” It seems as if this saying no other than: “don’t believe in an afterlife!”
 – And I can hardly imagine a moral refinement of the people think without the deep-rooted belief in a just,
 God who rewards the good and punishes the evil; therefore I also do not believe in any moral purpose of the order. Yes, we em= in a high Berlin order manifesto of 1794 the explicit, dry confession, – “that the religious belief of the people systematically destroyed from the Order, the covetous sufferings= fcities and the arrogance of the people had been deliberately aroused;
 that the Order should politically and morally corrupted humanity; that the Order had expelled the Rebellions have come, and will continue for generations to come would come out of him.” – We heard the same confessions= niffe still today in Leipzig, in Paris, in Lyon, indeed in all Lins of western and northern Europe, only we were told outside Berlin, “those revolutions were intended effects or natural consequences of the Order’s purposes”, while at that time from Berlin assured that “these unfortunate present and future

389

ous phenomena, free effects of the excessive Degeneration in the Order, and the superiors did not have the power to to prevent the terrible abuse of the order’s organism.” – Now it seems to me almost indifferent to the state whether the Order originally by means of its original purposes or only by means of the misuse of his existence, his organism would be detrimental to the common good, enough that it is evident and ftändljch destroys the common good. – After all this, can one be unfair appear when one considers the above-mentioned assurances of those

 joy. German Catholics and Free Church members believe that us their creation and work as harmonious with the Masonic order and insured with enlightened paganism? –

Finally, I cannot even believe in a moral purpose of the Order, when I consider that he in his many signed manifestos of 1794 and otherwise often assured: “he has existed for thousands of years, but even today humanity not strong enough to recognize the purpose of the Order and the means of its realization!” – The danger of this knowledge is so terrible for humanity that no purpose and The means of the covenant are never written, but always oral communication. Delivery to rare chosen ones from the chosen ones that one could trust in those terrible oaths of the most holy Secrecy and even the gradually increasing religious degrees fend, only symbolic hints and not only ge against the profane, but with equal severity also against every lower order degree cannot be dispensed with.”

I can least believe in it when I am in the symbolism of each following degree clearly see and read in the explanation, that untruth and hypocrisy in the previous degree are the members was explained by giving different interpretations in the following degree of symbolism; when I see that the Bible is in the lower grades and makes them swear that believe that the Order is a devoted member of the Church of Christ Son, while in the higher degrees one reads the Bible on in order to demonstrate that the Church of Christ is lies and deception; when I see that oaths are being made so horribly that the true moral Christian should turn away with disgust; that one Perjury is committed at the moment the oath is taken, in who is made to swear that no member will ever write, print etc., which may contain religious activities or intentions

~

390 we

and yet at the same time for the convenience of the lodge master the printed information; when I read how the high Superiors of Berlin from the world to this day always solemnly confirm: “the Order is the pillar of the Christian Church” and At the same time I continued to educate the apostles in the higher degrees in Berlin. hens who seek to destroy the Church of Christ and the new heathen called to build a non-Jewish Christian Jerusalem; if I consider that, while the high superiors of Berlin the Order whom we praise as a pillar of the Church of Christ, the superiors of the Orders all over the world, from Leipzig to Paris, London, America and others solemnly protest against the fact that he is a Christian tendency and on the other hand, he swears that he is so Jewish, Mahomedan, pagan rather than Christian”; when I consider the countless places

densverficherungen lefe: "The Order must absolutely not Let us discuss politics", if I then, as soon as it applies,
To dissuade monarchs or peoples from doubtful suspicions, read:
"The Order educates to the most loyal loyalty!" while I have been in so many Documents of the superiors of the various systems since 1534,
in so many confessions of individual dignitaries, that the Order strives for the opposite, the Republic and knew that he had other purposes and means for the princes and peoples core as he pursued until he believed that the time had come= men to confess the truth; if I in hundreds of I read in places that whole systems of the most common fraud in Around through the Order, without giving the world this mis= use, without excluding only the fraudsters dom Bunde; that one is not judged by moral virtue, but only tends to look for money and influence in the recordings.

Thus the Order destroyed the faith of the people, the basic principles= position of all good trade, all fulfillment of duty and satisfaction denity with every earthly situation in comforting hope of future
Retribution for earthly deprivation; but he gave the people no
Substitute for his highest good, for this foundation of all his actions
He says: "The people are not yet ready for that!" – Now well, it was the gravest crime of the enlightened order, to take away from the immature people this foundation of their virtues, before it was considered ripe to find a supposedly better replacement give.

The famous Bishop Eylert says in his character traits and historical fragments from the life of the King of 391

Prussia Friedrich Wilhelm III.: "The Royal Family's fear of church officials, not in individual regions and cities, but in the entire Prussian monarchy, is, according to all public and private messages, with a few exceptions in the Totality even where one finds excellent clergy and distinguished has a notorious fact. A strange psychological phenomenon. The same effects must have the same causes:
fe things. What are the causes? – This question and their thorough answer would become a prize task and be an instructive contribution to cultural history."

Another, entirely of this era of the generalization of the Masonic Order of 1770, a peculiar contemporary phenomenon, but if the since then in the press and in all fields of science and throughout Western Europe's emerging aspirations for Dissolution of the estate structure, the vassal class, the Guilds and the farmers and the centuries-old happy and firmly based representative bureaucracy, the Equalization of all people without any consideration, that also the striving for equal rights for Jews, this nationality that remained alien to us. The people found nowhere Interest in this pursuit, until the so that the teaching of the formal Republic, the doctrine of freedom, equality and brotherhood.

I said that the nations remained indifferent because the sense of honour had permeated all classes of Europe, the Citizen had his citizen's, the farmer his farmer's honour, on which he was proud of, the nobleman never spoke to the citizen differently, as "my dear master", no protocol was kept in Saxony about the statement of a citizen without the word "Citizens and Masters." That was how it was still 20 years ago the title "Citizen and Master."

Soon a completely uniform system for this stress emerged when for implementation of the principle of equality throughout Europe with the exception of the German Catholic countries, who strictly kept the Masonic Order away. We have this system in the individual historical epochs. The Similarity of appearances justifies the suspicion of similar Reasons. A great authority had to be established over all lands. whose unified organism the unified Plan created and pursued, morally and numerically strong enough, fine principles, fine tactics the educational cliffs as a condition the recognition of education and thus a national power to create it. Where do we look, where do we find this secretly creating and guiding power?

892

I want to quote the above confessions of the Masonic Order and the History, I want to address the question of the great Masonic purpose here ignore it again, I just want to remember the notorious fact that the Order always publicly addresses the profane used to say, "within the lodges the law of freedom applies equality, equality and fraternity." Did not have to be in necessity natural development of human ideas and inclinations the desire, this happiness, which one perceives as such in the lodges felt, expanded, more practical also in general reading when to enjoy," become powerful? – Didn't even the most benevolent souls feel tempted to fellow citizens to share in these supposed benefits when? Shouldn't these, I want to say, ideal lodge ideas of liberty, equality and fraternity, since they have little if they were not kept secret, common fantasy of the imagination in all classes of people? – Certainly, the law in Within the Federation, the pursuit of fits transfer to general life and thus a political purpose and closer connections for this in the Order generate. ye

Does it now show, as I thought, the belief in a good Purpose of the Order reasonably incompatible with the secret organism and its oaths, we recognize the keen effects of the life of the Order in the Nation as pernicious for the morality of the nation and for their political health, leads the publicly proclaimed Or= enactment of liberty, equality and fraternity in and by itself already necessary to the same assertion of the Principles in the world, i.e. to efforts which the state endanger, we have since taken such efforts in all countries the one after uniform planned management and already in fear= ible successes, in successes which only come from existence a numerically and morally extremely powerful connection were clarified, it had to be more than permissible, to cast suspicion on the Masonic Order, a suspicion which then the mass of the above-excavated clear, distinct and explicit confessions of the great dignitaries of the Or= dens to full conviction of guilt; for where a confession is in harmony with the external appearances nirt, any doubt is excluded.

N

393

The great statesman and historian Niebuhr says in fine writing about secret connections: |

"To a political connection that only aims at some While the name can be used, as with every order and to every society, a purpose, (significant or slang, well-intentioned or fundamentally evil), certain associations fupon and obligation, management, assembly, correspondents= zen." Since every connection exists for a purpose, It is in their nature that they often see this purpose as an absolute folut strives to achieve good, and the usefulness of the Means, not their praiseworthiness, determine their application – Persuasion and deception, cunning and fraud, Evacuation and violence must serve it." A photo Association can never exist without superiors, whose leadership the Members must devote themselves without it being in their power ft stands to resign as soon as the perhaps original completely innocent purpose degenerates or changes in their hands= A connection whose purpose is to change the Constitution and laws would, apart from the general

Criminality of their nature, by their intention nothing less, as rebellious. – In no state do the laws tolerate political societies, and one criticizes with great injustice those governments which ban an order which, in the obvious futility of the purposes it suggests, every easily the most dangerous in fugam vacui in fine empty cover, as he did in his time with the Illuminatism. It is a not indifferent investigation chung, which the person who wants to be recommended Work of a history of the way of thinking and views in German country, to check where possible whether the deistic view of religion, and the doctrine of the equalization of the classes, by the Freemasons been spread? Their effectiveness in the founding of the French Revolution is due to indisputable Testimonies have proven that there is no doubt that this very society as a means of French customer

394

after has been used vigorously. Anyone who has undertaken this activity of secret societies, he should, as far as it is up to him to work towards the dissolution of this order, which is more adept than any other vehicle at transporting to promote the very things he claims to fear.”

“In general, every secret society is doubly reprehensible, because that. find chosen feltene souls, who, where they act secretly and covertly, not easily getting there, to do what is only possible out of fear of the law tucked away and can be dared in secret.”

– “The advantages of the state union find a common ground property to which all law-abiding citizens, according to According to their ability and worthiness, equal claims and any particular society which has the same Members preferentially promises or reserves, forms a State within the state and deserves to be treated as a social evil to be destroyed.”

No less true and apt are the words of Prof. Struve in his treatise on the influence of secret society:

“Is there any institution in the whole world which would not have degenerated over time, and are not the most noble and most wise public institutions in the most worthy and most harmful to society or that too degraded? – With every other arrangement and arrangement fit, however, the danger and damage of their degeneration and aggravation will never be as great as in the secret societies. The former are before the eyes of the world;

 Friends and enemies can observe them, and their evil deeds
 notice and criticize the fufficiency, yes they gradually go away as soon as they no longer meet their purpose, and the reasonable public withdraws its applause from them.
 It is something else with the things that are done in secret.
 whose purpose, plan and entire structure are only the few who are at the helm, overshadowed, and those of the rest of the large crowd with holy, silent veneration must be admired. How deep can the fly art of some seducers the poor blind hemp in Labyrinth, and into the night of unbelief, the Thor=
 and immorality. Enough! – it is nothing in the world, which by its nature is easier and more can degenerate more than a secret society, and the more heimer fit is, the more perfect the whole mechanism of its Facility, and the more order and coherence in it ift, the more likely it is that she will be in danger of reaching the highest degree of ruin and social harm. The Fire of publicity must separate the precious metal from the slag clean and send for charitable processing.

395

 But where there is nothing but dross, the gene consumes it and nothing remains!" –

Very characteristic are also Fichte's

– and Schuderoff's:

| "Fichte considers the word humanity to be infamous= ten (Speeches to the German Nation, 1824 p. 101), which abused for all whitewashing of human corruption chen, through foreign, noble and melodious sound attract attention and yet essentially keep the listeners in Darkness and incomprehensibility envelop."

And Schuderoff, who previously supported the principle of huma= nity as a Freemason, called fpâter (lectures about the current state of the Freemasons 1824) the Hu – manity as something so indeterminate that every lodge that promote, undertake an insoluble task and into empty endeavours. – Humanity is one of the Problems of the most profound philosophy, insofar as the most distant beginnings and the most remote goals of human beings= ity and effectiveness."

Finally, hardly any judgment could appear more competent than that of that most famous, learned and once most active head of the Illuminati=Order, Baron Adolph v. Knigge, the leave the following interesting confessions for younger brothers has. He writes:

Hunter the various harmful and harmless games works with which our philosophical century is ftät also includes the number of secret connections and Orders of various kinds. Today, in all

There are few people in all walks of life who are not, driven by curiosity, Driven by activity, sociability or curiosity, at least for a time were members of such a secret association And yet it would now be time fine, these partly foolish, partly social life to abolish dangerous alliances."

*

396

"I have been dealing with these things long enough, to speak from experience and to every young man who Time love to be able to advise, fih in some secret Society; it may have whatever name it wants, may admit They are all, admittedly not to the same degree, but but all without distinction are at the same time useless and dangerous. They are useful first of all because in our age no kind of of important lessons in secret. The Christian religion is so clear and satisfying that it does not, like the folk religions of the ancient heathens, a secret Interpretation, requires a double method of teaching; and in the Wiffen= fwere the latest discoveries for the benefit of the world made public, must and should be made public so that every expert can examine and could come true. n

"It is of no use at all for individuals to period of enlightenment; also they do not; and if they can, it is their duty to do so to do it publicly, all the more duty, so that others can: sensible men in the same country and in other regions, about the profession of enlightenment, about the value of intellectual Goods which they offer for sale and may judge about them whether what they teach is really enlightenment, or whether they might not issue worse coins than that which they discredit." |

They speak a language of images that contains all possible expression, and are careless in choosing their companions members, consequently soon degenerate, and, even if they initially in their establishment has advantages over public companies
ben. could, then tear the same and even more such Infirmities betrayed to them, as those over which one in the world complains. Anyone who wants to do something great and useful,
He finds much in civil and domestic life Opportunity that almost no one uses quite as he it could. It would first have to be proven that on this open There would be nothing left to do in the publicly privileged ways, or that the warm promoter of the good has insurmountable Obstacles would be placed in the way before the right

-

397

have to have a non-sanctioned, men, to create a special sphere of influence. Charity be-must not be shrouded in mystery; friendship must be free choice, and sociability need not be through secret Ways to get promoted."

"But these secret connections are also harmful for the world. Harmful because everything that happens in secret is rightly suspected because the leaders of the civil society have the authority to deviate from the purpose any activity in which several people unite, to be taught, because otherwise under the veil of obscurity present both dangerous plans and harmful teachings,
how noble intentions and wise knowledge can be hidden;
because even not all members of such corruptual intentions that one often sees behind the most beautiful appearance outside, are informed; because only mediocre geniuses let themselves be trapped in this vicefen, the better ones either soon turn back, or to perish, degenerate or take a wrong direction, or rule at the expense of others; because the majority known superiors are standing in ambush and it is a mistake worthy man to work according to a plan that he does not overlook the importance and goodness of which people stand up for – whom he does not know, to whom he commits himself chen, without making themselves binding on him, without he knows who to turn to if he is asked to does nothing at all; because crooked minds and villains Take advantage of it, pose as unknown superiors, and other members for their private purposes; because every son of earth has passions, and these passions into society, where they then, in the shadows, under the mask of secrecy, have more freedom than. in the light of day, because all these connections are after creeping in bad election of members; because they cost money and time because they are not about serious civic hopping into idleness or pointless busyness because it soon became the gathering place of adventurers and become idlers; because they fowe r kinds of political, religious and philosophical enthusiasm; because a dangerous esprit de corps breaks in them and much mischief finitiated; finally because it provides an opportunity for intrigue, swiftness, persecutio intolerance and injustice against one's own allies fomuch as against good masons who are not members of a nes such, or at least not of the same order (or system) ftems) are."

398L

"This is my confession of faith regarding secret unions= ments! Is there one among them who has some of these chen does not have, well! then the exception may apply! -- I don't know anyone who isn't sick with at least some of the same -- And even now (in the year 1796) this is my un= changed my mind about secret connections, I have not changed, despite the fact that I recently published the work: "Ueber ge= home world and government art", I misunderstand of Hofrath Weishaupt honest intentions, but this reasons did not convince me."

"But have curiosity, ill-ordered desire to act fein, curiosity, persuasion, vanity or other movement= reason tempts you to enter into such a relationship, at least beware of foolishness and enthusiasm to be carried away by the sectarian spirit! Beware, the toy, the machine of disguised villains to become When you are no longer a boy, insist on clear Development of the whole system! Do not take other until you are completely informed yourself! Let yourself not through mysterious foreshadowings, through great promises through dazzling plans for the benefit of humanity, through the appearance of unselfishness, holiness and purity of the Intentions blind; but demand evidence of deeds and complete overview! Will you then be accused of your lack of receptivity, your unworthiness, let me tell you, what qualities the high superiors demand, and illuminate they, these superiors themselves, according to their measure, according to their worth, all vanity aside, their value compared to yours held! But do not let yourself get involved in unknown= ten superiors, no matter how obvious one might think give feeming reasons for it! Be careful in every word, that you write in religious affairs, and even more in translations account of any sworn or other obligation! For= accountability for the use of funds given to you pay! – And if, with this multiple precaution, you

398

the connection is tired, or the connection of yours via: becomes disgusted, separate from her without noise and quarrel, and never speak of the matter again afterwards, so that you Avoid persecution! But if you are not leave you alone, then appear publicly and do not be afraid, Fraud, foolishness and malice before the eyes of the whole pub= likums, to make known to others as a warning! – By the way one has neither obligation nor profession to destroy everything, what you don't like. Theoretically, you can object to some Things in the world, without being a persecutor to show. One can even organize religious gatherings of the most harmful kind once you are a member; they find, like clubs, means of socialising; – yes, it can become a duty to only prevent the greater evil= to help counteract dangerous influences, that one should not take one's skin out of the game."

Let us now recall: Every Ver= must have a good or bad purpose. The good purpose does not require secrecy. The Order, however, presents itself as a club in a wonderfully structured organization, and terrible oaths bind the tongue when entering enters the lowest degree, yes, they always bind anew with each Ascend to higher degrees. They also vow to be brotherly, mutual help and support in life. And a great Separation into initiates and cooperating brothers and Lodges cuts through all degrees again from above. fo the Order shrouded its activities in mystery, fo the value of his existence is abstracted from the phenomena which we perceive through its widespread use in popular life and can only be explained sensibly from the perspective of the order We did not find any significant beneficent ones, but the most dangerous, the destruction of popular belief without replacement and education of the people for the social republic. while on the one hand the people are being held responsible for this social upheaval educate, one also had to realize that The Order was founded partly as a result of the oath of the brothers ity, partly as a result of the order's commandment, its members in State and municipal offices and the fg pros fan citizens with his competition. The uninitiated honest Mason=brother in state= or community= dedienft was reminded of his oath to serve his brother to help, and he protected him, the initiated brother he: kept instructions to protect the brother in the interest of the order, and he protected him.

Thus, in the Protestant German states, here more, there less, the entire state administration, and thus the total power of the state in federal hands. Constitutional laws against dismissals and transfers of civil servants=teten without legal judgment of their peers, the judge=cial officials and the responsibility of the ministers, the The heads of the civil service, towards the people's representatives, which began to secure the Order through non-estate elections, threaten to replace the monarch with the order's civil servants.

Thus the order further pushed its members into the community=offices and made fih fo the conductor and expression of the Community=Willens, to the owner of the people's power. And by When sovereignty was transferred to the people, the Or=which as a result of his possession of the R in the eye for fih. 4

Finally, the Order itself declared itself the Protestant Church chen= and school power, by giving in to the ambition of the clergy and school teachers a democratic=ecclesiastical and teaching field, and in the higher orders of the Order higher, more brilliant positions. Thus he led the higher and lower Protestant clergy, as well as the teachers' rank belonged to the lodges, and secured the spiritual support and o nn ne Youth for the Order's Purposes. |

Thus the Order appeared as a world state in the mel ftagten, already negating this as a world state, all their individual Summarizing state powers in his order hands and the still existing religious, political and social lay of all these individual states at the same time, the equality of the rights of their citizens, in which he is in possession of the powers to organize the free citizen everywhere »into the Order and the state, church and school authorities for the members of the order. So he grabbed the Kitchen= and Stantenleben and: the" "equality of the Siantebilnger and; hence ift feint cancellation ia mar you

But this duty is aggravated if you a review of the history and the sum of the above

401 =

Feelings not, if one sees, as admitted by Dre
in his secret confidential communications all Revo= lutions in Europe and America emanated from him and
It is demanded of the individual who has the high Order, nor has the courage, he should with the fore times the most complete evidence against the entirety of the Ore dens, against the moral person! – One ignores so that the private individual has no authority, that he steals the documents from the Order, or years and powerful ` sums if he wanted to take possession of them and the necessary real and personal materials from Hun= from different places; one ignores, I say, that just to examine and then, depending on the condition,
ftant, the authorities find order. The duty of this Un: | investigation is available to the judicial officer as soon as a sum of facts is presented to him which reasonable suspicion of the existence of a crime and criminal intent. This duty is also in this measure for all other questionable crimes immediately
One would consider it absurd to demand that first of all by formally valid original documents to the judge it is proven that a murder, a theft has occurred and carried out by a certain personality! – And only against the Order, despite all the evident evidence Revolutions, despite the obvious existence of a large ge= home source and guidance, despite thousands of the Order and for the Order of printed confessions against the Order not intervene, why? – because one does not get used to the idea that the order was divided into initiates and collaborators fall apart because one can believe the well-known loyal mason to have to say what he himself believed when he said: “You know me, I want to trust you, I have a higher Order degree, so nothing can be done without my Knowledge, do you consider me capable of admitting or join in?” – Finally, no one intervenes because the civil service itself, both judicial and administrative ftorative, more but less in the order, because the free
Officials know fine presidents, fine colleagues as masons.
Finally I said to 8

402

by Diben | fe, apart from even of a fine“ political nature, fpeculiarly incompatible with the judicial office.” The judge= ter foll and must appear free in the eyes of the world, from all special obligations which his free, non-partisan, fe fair judgment could be biased. But the judge=
ter is a mason and it is more or less known to the world
It is known that he swore to give the brother of Dan to help and support him. Two disputing parties expect their verdict from him, one part of which is known as a mason. The saying goes, the non-mason Theil has awaited him with mistrust, he feels, be it with Rightly or wrongly, injured, he turns away contemptuously and says: "Brother Maurer has given Brother Maurer to hero."

Crime, especially political, crimes, rer are associated with it, the Actnar, the The district administrator and the council see this connection, but they find Masons, the personalities in question are their lodge brothers, perhaps even more, they also find their order's superiors; what mental torture! Must not be self-evident and self-evident unknowingly the best official assumed the innocence of his brother and argue that proceedings against him are groundless? – Hofrath Schütz tells in his "Confessions of a Veterans in Masonry", Leipzig 1824 p. 2, from his own life, how a Leipzig lodge tempted him to leave the country= to circumvent the law and how she was involved in it. Hey recounted: "I gave Prof. E., who was the lodge master, my a desire to join the alliance. He explained me that it has recently been determined by a law, not to take in a mufti's son; "but," he added, "perhaps The opportunity arises at a foreign lodge, and then would you please come back as a visiting brother fever welcome fine." I was greeted by him with the best Letter of condolence to the brothers of a foreign lodge a I was admitted there and was then in L. (page 3: printed in Leipzig) as a brother embraced" ind attended the lodge meetings." Who does not know that The Saxon laws allow students to participate in all secret associations, without excluding the Masonic Order, forbidden. The lodge master and academic teacher seduced the youth and student to break the law, the lodge lets him There were certainly judicial and police officials as members of the lodge, why were they silent and Were we actually responsible for this circumvention of the law? – Or the Brother is seized and condemned, he begs for mercy, can, the brother who swore to help and support him may fuffer his support? – Modern times have brought striking put in for it, and it has to be fine, so I want something like that. prove.

403

The above-given and confessed statement by the Grand Duke lodge of Germany documented history represents only a chain of crimes against the state and private individuals through abuse of the Order. Thousands of judicial and administrative office were members of the order and certainly received very Much knowledge of the mischief in their lodges and in the order, but that anyone has a duty of official notification or of intervening? – No , at most he withdrew silently back! – And yet he was otherwise a loyal man of honour.

Why did he not do his duty here alone? – Because he kept secret and gave love and support to the brothers sworn. He could not become their traitor! – And the Policeman in the box? – :

Finally, it is probably fine to ask: where it happened that, as clear as it was that a systematic, encompassing the Palatinate and all of Germany, secret conspiracy that provoked and led the May Rebellion, that, I say, notwithstanding this, no inquiry was made into it anywhere?
I myself know a case and know that it is most suitable was notified to a person who was quite suitable to provide a special starting point and yet he is with still= fildness. A leader of the Re= . volution in a small town, perhaps the most important of all
ous criminals, the most respectable was a lawyer, in a prison vatkreise explained: "Yes, he did indeed know the possible consequences ner deeds understood in advance, but what not to do, if you have given your word of honour!" –. Afo admitted prior conspiracy, and yet no sub= search for it? – Did the state only have an interest in apparent effects an apparent .

| 204 ,
not to explore the sources from which each Danger flowed to clog it? –

Finally, where would it lead if by virtue of the oath and the Order's policy gradually eliminated the judges' positions all fall to the Order? Then the judicial power separated from the state and transferred to a moral person
fon, yes, to a world titan in a single state! –

I believe that my last great duty towards my King and against my fatherland.

Dresden, November 1, 1851.

Supplements |

A. The statutes of the BB

First Section: On the concept, purpose and Classification of the d. B. of the G.

Art. 1. The d. B. d. G. is a German men; Germans are all

Men who were born into the German language and customs.

Art. 2. The purpose of the d. B. d. G. is the liberation

Germany from the yoke of shameful slavery and justification of a situation which, as far as it is Human prudence can prevent the relapse into slavery and misery prevented. The achievement of this main purpose it only possible with justification and receipt-- focial and political equality, freedom,

Civic virtue and national unity, initially in the countries belonging to the German language and customs command, but then also among all other peoples of the earth.) Art. 3, This purpose is sought by the d. B.

to comply with the provisions of the attached E. d. M.

and BN, together with those in the G. u. G.

given development, as well as through persistent stress

ben after their realization in the contractual relationships of the civil society. Art. 4. The German B. d. G. divides

fich in HH and in BB The management of the HH ift the

BB, which transfers the DD to the BB; at the top

fall DD ft have a NH

| Second section. Bon the HH |

Art. 3. The HH constitute the preparatory level of the Federal. Art. 6. Its purpose is: the numerical strength of the Covenant, and a planting and testing fchool to form for the BB Art. 7. The activity of the HH is further defined and regulated by the provisions of the general B. Statutes.

Third section. On the concept and purpose of the BB

Art. 8. B. ift any of the NH under this name recognized majority of GG Art. 9. The totality

the = B. forms the second and highest degree of the d. B. d. G.

Ben, right

on Gbarafterifirt obviously the alliance of action for implementation= the purposes of the Masonic Order.

Art. 10. The BB find the keepers of the most distant Purposes of the Federation, the executors of all its decisions, the advisers for its internal facilities as well as for external Activity and the directors of its material power. Art. 11. From this provision of the BB follows: a) their use obligation to recognize and actively disseminate the Articles 2 and 3 of the principles of connection; b) the Obligation to carry out those principles in their most remote consequences to develop and seek means for their realisation; c) the necessity of unconditional follow-up to all statutory orders of the federal authorities; d) the right all federal regulations, as well as any other type of to subject occurrences to their assessment and the to communicate the results to their liaison superiors; e) the Task to take all actions which find appropriate, the HH under their management a Federal Government, namely the ` Principles of recognition and implementation of its decisions

Art. 12. No H. can exist without equal= current existence of a superior B. – A B. can have more rere HH. Art. 13. The existence of the BB remains the HH was kept strictly hidden. The injury that= the regulation can result in expulsion for the violator and, depending on the circumstances, death penalty. Art. 14. The management the HH from the BB is done through the mediation appointment of three authorized representatives, which B. has appointed to this These representatives make themselves the H., where fo necessary, known as representatives of the NH, carry out punctually the decisions of the B., report to this regular Report and are responsible for the performance of their duties. Art. 15. The division of the HH takes place according to the decisions of the BB

Art. 16. No B. can consist of less than 3 or more than 10 members. Art. 17. The BBs shall divide soon and in whatever manner they deem appropriate, and Subject, however, to an immediate verdict (if the fee it permits) to the competent federal authority. Art. 18. Each B. has a distinctive name, which he for this purpose. The distinguishing names The HH are also determined by the BB. Art. 19. The BB is required to report to the competent federal authority to submit a quarterly report on their entire federal activity, as well as all others who came to their knowledge worth knowing facts. This report is based on the in a familiar manner, and where oral communication is impossible, the secret issued or to be issued for this purpose description. – This report takes place over the course of the months of – auar, April, July and October. The correspondence pieces the connection will be made immediately after reading destroyed. An extract of the essential information contained therein Points are kept in secret code. Art. 20. Every B. has a cafe in which, in addition to any entrance fees and monthly contributions, all other sums flow into whose possession the B. leached in some way. – The The amount of the above-mentioned additional taxes is determined by each B. according to the means of fine relatives, and it can depend on their direction full remission. Members who as authorized representatives in the H. are exempt from these contributions excepted. – Art. 21. The cases of B. remain entirely at their disposal. However, in urgent cases, the competent federal authority has the right to establish a to collect the additional tax to be determined. Regular legal Filing of the declaration is therefore a duty imposed on every B. Art. 22. In addition to the officials prescribed in the general statutes Each B. has a cafa guide. In addition, in Be= train to the officials of the BB all suitable Provisions of the general statutes apply. Art. 23. The various B. are and remain, as far as possible, ftotally unknown; any direct communication under a otherwise they are strictly forbidden. The covenant chain is solely and exclusively by the competent * Art. 23a. The identifying marks of the B. B – find different from those of the HH Fourth section. From the recordings. ax Art. 24. No one can be admitted to a B. if he I had previously received ordination as a fraternity brother in a H. Art. 25. This rule is subject to an exception, Interest of the association an immediate inclusion in the Federal Government requires. On the granting of such an exception have to decide the BB. Art. 26. A. third pupil Kanical simplicity of the SRE male; strength of the Sharaf:

ters, complete approval of all principles of the Buw of, a strictly tested confidentiality and the most justified Insight into the nature of secret societies is in advance= fuppositions, without whose complete existence no B.

may allow new members to join his work. That in addition to these characteristics, all the requirements for inclusion in the requirements set out in the HH are essential, lies in the nature of the matter, and requires no further elaboration.

Art. 27. In order to ensure that the candidate has the above characteristics, to make the most careful investigations into his previous life as well as the details of his current behavior, and only after the best most satisfactory evidence is available, the admission to the Decision must be taken. If this is for the candidate turned out to be favourable, a commission is appointed, which in a way that is as unobtrusive as possible about the political principles of the connection, as well as the expediency the obligation of obedience to be assumed with him in detail to have a conversation, to then with a continuously satisfactory response word has to indicate the possibility that it could be in the A higher degree should be established in order to ensure that all those who are good to unite the principles and institutions found in it; to then ask him whether he was also willing to possibilities of a similar degree to be newly established take over; and only after he has committed himself to it without reservation to food, under the seal of an honorable confidentiality agreement to declare that this degree exists and it was only up to him to declare whether he wanted to belong to it or not. – If the candidate agrees, admission can immediately before the Commission, or until the next meeting of the B., depending on whether the B. One or the other has decided. Art. 28. The following is the oath to be taken upon admission: “I vow upon my honor, secrecy about the existence of this degree, Obedience to his laws and the orders of his superiors and loyal, self-sacrificing zeal for his purpose. Dishonor and death will befall me if I speak become brittle.”

Fifth section. From the DD |

Art. 29. The DD find federal authorities to which the

| | 409 7

Management of all BB and HH of a specific federal district

Art. 30. The DDs are appointed by the NH; its members, as well as its seat, are only subject to the supreme authority

Art. 31. Anyone who violates the secret of a D. is liable to expulsion from the League and dishonor;

in aggravated cases, death is the penalty. Art. 32. The

DD have a right to the complete obedience of all

BB and B. Members of their district. Art. 33. The DD are obliged to fully implement federal laws in their districts to trench such as all the provisions of the NH, these four to submit a quarterly report on the state of their district

such as about all facts that came to their knowledge, safe valuable facts; extraordinarily to report, as often as the Circumstances or the decisions of the NH require such,

To ensure the security of the federal states entrusted to their care and to promote their progress, and on their own initiative to carry out any act legally possible for them, provided that felbe their insight as expedient and their conscience as appears responsible. Art. 33a. The NH determines under the members of each D. a correspondent to
To maintain contacts between D. and their representatives
This correspondent is required to appoint a deputy to elect to whom he will transfer all the necessary information for the handling of his co necessary evidence. Art. 34. The DD fshall be honored and responsible for their lives. Art. 35. The NH is Right to dissolve the DD under circumstances or to to remove members of the same. Art. 36. The DD are and remain strictly hidden from each other. Art. 37.
Should this secret be revealed by any possible events between two or several D. cease to exist, they are entitled to prohibited from communicating directly with each other, unless that an explicit consent of the NH fle to the Gee Art. 38. The DD communicate with the
the federal parts belonging to their leadership by the organ of Agents whom they appoint for these purposes.
Sixth section. -- From the NH
Art. 39. The NH is the supreme legislative and executive Power of the d. B. of the G. Art. 40. As such, it has a Right to the unconditional obedience of all BB, B. With=

v

i410

members and federal authorities. Art. 41. It elects its members= members themselves. The necessity of this determination is from the nature of the secret of the connection. Art. 42.

The members of the NH, as well as their whereabouts remain fall GG not belonging to it as members to the Completely concealed. Art. 43. The NH is obliged to
To enforce the laws of the Federation, concerning its security and prosperity to watch, to change the laws, as soon as and often the above reprimand
This requires the identification marks to be issued by appropriate

Means the great moment of national redemption=

and to continue the leadership of the federal forces until to achieve its ultimate goals. Art. 44. Laws

 And means which serve a basic idea as expression and eis serve as a tool for an end purpose. Only the basic idea and the end goal is unchangeable; laws can change
 – But where a contract is concluded on the basis of laws is, the contract expires as soon as the laws expire. No we= fectional law can be changed in the Federation of G., without allowing any ally to join the alliance
 renounce if his conscience so commands him. Art. 44a.
 Essential law is any provision which relates to the main grounds= insert or refers to the foundations of the internal federal Art. 45. The members of the NH are liable with their their honor and with their lives for the faithful fulfillment of their serious duties. An oath to the fatherland obliges every the individual, the threat of the law on the guilty Confrere to execute. Art. 46. The NH communicates with the authorities and individual branches of the BB d. G.
 through the mediation of authorized representatives, which we fem purposes.

Section Seven. – Of the Plenipotentiaries.

Art. 47. Authorized representatives are all persons with federal authority= makes GG Art. 48. Such federal powers are issued: 1) by the NH; 2) by the DD; 3)
 by the BB; A) by those expressed by their authorities= lich authorized representative. Art. 49. The Be= Authorized representatives of the NH are either general representatives or special agents. The power of the entire representative spreads to the entirety of all federal states offer; their orders require execution, against whom and 411 wherever they may dispose of them. The Special= authorized persons are bound by certain limits, beyond which beyond which their authority does not extend. Art. 50. All Be= authorized veptäfentiren their authorities; fte- find, the Federal parts of their district, in possession of all the fteren inherent rights and duties. Art. 51. The Be= authorized person is always revocable, with life and honor for their conduct of office and to the deepest secrecy= secrets of all federal secrets whose owners they find. Art. 52. The plenipotentiaries make themselves known in this property only known where the consideration of their official purpose requires it. Art. 52a. The authorisation= powerful people of the NH make themselves in this their capacity by signs which the NH communicates to the federal authorities and correspondents of the BB for this purpose

 Art. 52b. In every place where a BB exists,

– an authorized representative of the relevant federal authority is found, through his hands alone go all the correspondence of the the latter to B., and to him alone the reports of the B. for the superior authority. Art. 53. It is the Authorized representative is obliged to exercise his/her res reputation in an undemanding and modest behavior ft fo ...

members of the expediency of their orders to over ` and only in extreme cases allow themselves to use the language of the command. Nor will they Avoid the severity which they have found necessary for the fulfilment of their mission. Cowardly indulgence is equally punishable as tyrannical power. Section Eight. – General Provisions.

Art. 54. Only B.=members may be appointed to authorities or authorized representative of the Federation. Art. 54a. Each B.=Member is obliged by his federal oath, on received orders the judgment of the NH against to execute a guilty fellow brother. Art. 54b. The penalty of expulsion applies to every B.=member who refused to obey the law. Art. 55. All orders ments of the general statutes for the HH, which pre= ft not conflict with the existing provisions, shall also apply to the BB applicable. (LS) DNH

412

B. Young Europe.

Freedom! Equality! Humanity!

J. General instructions for the initiators.

– § 1. Young Europe is the union of those who to a future of freedom, equality and brotherhood= tion of all people, their thinking and actions ee CANONS want to dedicate themselves to this future |

II. Articles of Faith:

8. 2. One God, One Lord

(formerly: fine law.) A single interpreter of this law fet: humanity. § 3. Humanity fo to order= that they are replaced as quickly as possible by an uninterrupted

Progress towards the discovery and application of the law that fhould control it, can be achieved: that is the task of the young Europe. § 4. In accordance with the law

To live according to one's nature is well-being. Knowledge and

Application of the law of humanity can therefore only

The well-being of all is therefore be achieved if the j. E. has fulfilled its task

§ 5. Every task is obligatory. Every person should foweft oneself entirely to the fulfilment of this task. This furvey

ence is it from which he derives knowledge of further duties § 6. Only through free, harmonious development of all the powers within it, humanity can come to the knowledge nity of its law. Only through the free harmonic
 By exercising all its inherent powers, humanity can application of this law. The only means of Fulfillment of these two conditions constitutes the connection. § 7.
 Only among free and equal people is there a true union. § 8.
 According to the law of God and humanity, all people
 fomen are free, all men are equal, all men are brothers.
 § 9. Freedom is the right of every human being to prevented his powers from fulfilling his special task to exercise and e the ane to N which him

*) Note: Whoever also here pie REED ER idea: Jehovah, the greatest builder in heaven, his divine nose.
 turgeft the only guideline of the human race, interpreter and executor of the law, humanity, that is, the Order, which ats noblest part alone and . a humanity call, sine
 Te. to represent fih presumes. i Pi

413

can lead to this. § 10. The free exercise of powers.
 of each person must never violate the rights of another carry with you. The special task of every person fshould be in constant agreement with the general
 Task. Human freedom has no other limits.
 § 11. Equality consists in the fact that for all the same
 It is recognized as a right and a duty that none of the active feality of the law, which determines right and duty, and in that everyone has a relative his share in the enjoyment of the common property, which the Ne:
 fumat of all social activities Forces if. § 12. Human brotherhood consists in generous love – in that inclination through which the Man is determined to act towards others as he wishes that action be taken against him! 5 13. Every privilege is an interference in equality. Any arbitrariness is an interference in freedom is an infringement on the brotherhood. § 14. Everywhere, where privilege, arbitrariness and self-interest determine social ft ruin, it is the duty of everyone who has feels to fight against it by all means he has in § 15. What is true, from each individual in the Relationship to others who form part of society, the he belongs to, is also valid for every people, in its relation to Humanity. 816. According to the Law of God and Man= ity all peoples are free, all peoples are equal, all peoples

Brethren. § 17. Each full has a special determination, which contributes to the achievement of the general human destiny. This determination forms its nationality. The Nationality is sacred. § 18. Every unjust rule, every Violence, any act of self-interest against a People is a violation of freedom, equality and the brotherhood of nations. All nations must assist in their removal. § 19. Humanity will only then will it be truly founded when all peoples, which form, attain their natural sovereignty and a will have concluded a republican alliance in order to the power of a declaration of its principles and a common efficient Federal Constitution to pursue the same goal: namely the discovery and application of general morals law,

414

III. Definitive Organization.

: § 20. The Young Europe Association represents in its definitive organisation represents the European future. Your The European future will be the two basic ideas of the new era: Fatherland and humanity, unite. – The connection of the young Europe will have these two ideas and the bond fit that unites them. It is a great connection in two degrees, one of which represents the national tendency of a represents every people and makes people love their fatherland teaches; the other degree represents the common tendency and means that humanity lets

§ 21. All peoples who strive to rejuvenate themselves, will constitute themselves as national associations, which all Those who believe in a future of freedom, Believing in equality and brotherhood for all people, their thinking and actions to realize this future

§ 22. Every National Association is represented by a national Central Committee should be represented, which fine Work will be directed to everything that the special task and the interests of the nation. The sum of these Work will form the first degree of young Europe and represent the fatherland. § 23. Every national center Committee shall be elected from among its members or from among its to represent the National Association in all matters, what the general purpose and interests of the people The totality of the representatives of all nationalities nalen. Central Committee's will be the Central Committee of the young Europe. The sum of their work will be the second degree of young Europe and represent humanity tiren. § 24. Among all the initiates of the young Europe Brotherhood will take place. They will all have a double set of rights, as well as a double set of. Duties to be fulfilled. The rights and duties, which comes from the declaration of all national associations communal principles are derived from the Central Committee of Young Europe. The rights and Duties which I will incur; from the statutes of your every National Association, are from every national Central Committee and from the Secretary of the European Union be confirmed. Ä é

415

IV. Provisional organization.

§ 25. In all countries where the national connection not yet, or on other grounds than those of the young Europe is constituted, or is not represented by the organ of its national Central Committee with the associations who have joined the young Europe, the Organization

The organization of young Europe will proceed as follows.

§ 26. The association has two degrees: 1) Initiators,

2) Admitted. § 27. Initiators are all those

Members of the association, which is organized by the Central Committee des jeunes against Europe, or those associated with the organization have been given the authority to establish the connection by admitting new members of their choosing.

§ 28. Merely admitted members are all those who have not received this authorization. § 29. The number of the initiators and the admitted cannot be determined fine. § 30. If several initiators are in the same city are located, the Central Committee of Young Europe chooses one of them an organizer to his representative for the City. The quality of an organizer is not a degree, but a duty. § 31. The hierarchical dependence progresses from the Accepted to the Initiators, from the initiators to the organizers, and from the organizers fathers to the Central Committee of Young Europe.

V. Admitted.

§ 32. Every person admitted shall endeavour everywhere to To spread the spirit of young Europe by reaching out everywhere and always preaches the principles of freedom, equality and the fraternization which forms the basis of the association and by giving himself an example of virtues, which alone can ensure the triumph of these principles.

Reading the Articles of Faith, the Instructions of the Initiators and the instructions which the Central Committee has given to all will send him in his Apostle's office to which he is called. § 33. Each

The person admitted will be accountable to his initiator for everything lay down, defend knowledge useful to the young Europe fine canoe,

Ads about men who claim to belong to the fraternity= served; over those who oppose their progress;
* of facilitators for the W of ideas

416 |

and writings and for the transmission of correspondence, Remarks on the moral state of the people 2c.
All these will be elements of the reports of the recordings menen to their initiators. § 34. Every person admitted will receive a monthly contribution of half a French francs into the hands of his initiator or the cashier who is based at his place of residence. Of these Contributions will cover the costs of publications, printing, etc.
§ 35. Every person admitted who is means permit, is obliged to act as soon as possible arm themselves in order to fight against the oppressors and for the holy cause of law and young Europe. § 36. Every person admitted will fulfill the duties of the fraternity towards the members of the association by providing advice and support to the best of his ability.
That he might assist all those among them who find themselves in need of it.
§ 37. The person admitted has the right to make suggestions which he considered useful for the progress of young Europe § 38. The person admitted will otherwise be the 5 that were given to him by his initiator will be formed.

| Initiators.

§ 39. Articles 35 and 36 also apply to the Ini= tiateurs. 5 40. The initiators are connected with the greatest wisdom in the choice of those to be recorded They will be concerned about their morality, their former performance, their conscientiousness in preserving the Inquire most carefully about liabilities, etc.
The general political principles of those who intend to take, they will be subjected to the most scrupulous examination and It is not sufficient for them to have inclination to Reaction, hatred of tyranny and vague love of freedom
The young Europe has a highly organic purpose, the purpose of the foundation. The initiators will never abandon it lose sight of them. They will inform the people they are recording the various points of faith which are contained in the oath of the young to Europe, and only then, who adequately respond to the questions they have raised suffifcient explanations, or have been misled, that the person to be admitted accepts our principles in good faith

If he is inclined to accept it, they will make him take the oath.

§ 41. The initiators have only for simple recordings a absolute power. They cannot appoint other initiators, without first proposing it to the organizer and boss who, after having properly informed himself, either grant the authority to do so or the reasons for refusal

§ 42. Every initiator of the young Eu=

ropa has to take up the absolute power only within the borders of the people to which he belongs, and only in such Countries in which there is no organized and with the young Europe-linked national connection exists. In a country, in which such a connection consists, he has only the right to Organifateurs of the same men whom he considered worthy of participation believes to propose. § 43. Each initiator is obliged to

Surname, first name, status, place of birth, age, whether wealthy or not, whether married or not, time of admission and the War names of his enlisted men. A copy

He sends this list to the organizer every month en boss, adds, where necessary, remarks on the outstanding ing property of each person admitted. § 44. The Initiator demands from his members the payment of the in Article 34. fixed monthly contributions. The result of the=

He delivers it every month to the organifateur

§ 45. Each initiator becomes the organizer's boss about everything whose knowledge can be useful to young Europe, Give an account, just as Article 33. for the simple taken. Furthermore, every month he will make a general my report on the moral state of young Europe in its ner city, and also present his views and suggestions for the best possible promotion of young Europe. 8 46.

The initiator has to monitor his admissions. He sends them the juftuctions and decisions of the Central Co with the young Europe, as he expressed their wishes to the Organiser. It is his primary responsibility to take care of the hand= possession, and development of the, 'principieu. to watch, which the Glan enshefenntniß of young Europe. form, -. This happens, now through 'periodic gatherings,' 'or. through any.
other means, if the special situation: deg, Landes, foldy Berz, famlungen bindery, folte. 8:47, Also the I s HE fet in all other respects according to the instructions given to them by the Organifateurs or the Central Committee.

VII. Organiser.

§ 48. Every organizer and boss is an intermediary between the initiators of the city he is called upon to organize, and the Central Committee of Young Europe. He sends the month to the Central Committee of Young Europe an from the lists he receives from the initiators, about the Number of people admitted, sources of aid, material Means in Weapons etc., about the influence of young Europe in of the city according to general results – the main content of the Initiators' reports – their wishes and suggestions to the Central Committee of Young Europe. The young Europe foreign the connections that are located in the city. also subject of observations by the Organisateur en Chef fin, who then reported these observations to the Central Committee of the to Europe. He also sends the monthly Central Committee of Young Europe half of the amount of monthly contributions; the other half is kept by the Benefaring of the costs which the progress of the connection in his city. These costs he will in a list individually calculate, the communication of which from the Central Committee of Young Europe can be requested. He sends the initiators' regulations, instructions, circulars, sub-Instructions and decisions of the Central Committee of Young Europe He watches over their compliance. He watches over all Handling and development of the principles that govern the faith confession of young Europe by actively and persistence of the periodical press to to stimulate the mind and to all the work of the young to Europe in a fine city in the same direction seeks to give these principles. § 49. It suffices in the Ue the duties that he has with the initiators and the taken jointly, by complying with the Instructions, which he directed from the Central Committee of the young Europe receives.

VIII. General provisions.

§ 50. No one can be considered a member of young Europe. seek before he has taken the following oath: "In the name God and humanity; in the name of all the martyrs who Blood for holy freedom, for holy equality and for the liberation of the human race; in the night men of all oppressed peoples or individuals, in whatever angle the earth they may always dwell; I am believing that after the law of God and humanity all people are equal – all men are free – all men are brothers – equal in rights and duties; free in the exercise of their powers, for the good of all, brothers, in order to achieve the common goal of attainment of the same salvation and the fulfillment of human time; believing that virtue in the hand is that wherever inequality, oppression or discrimination violation of human brotherhood, it is right and duty for everyone is to oppose it, to work towards its destruction work and assist the oppressed against their oppressors Convinced that unity makes us strong and that the covenant made by the oppressors only through the verse unity of the oppressed of all countries can; trusting in the future and in the men who

449

 Those who preach the future, I join young Europe, the union of the oppressed of all countries against the Unoppressor of all countries, in order to use it to achieve the Freedom, equality and human fraternity
 I dedicate my thoughts, my strengths and my actions to the fight it has undertaken against all People, castes or nations who do not follow the law of God and injure humanity by force, cunning and privilege in equality, liberty and fraternity of People and nations are wrong. I join all his work, everywhere and for all, under the direction of those who represent the association. I recognize for my brothers – all members of young Europe, and overtake on the duties of the brotherhood, wherever and whenever always the fulfillment of which they will demand from me. I I promise not to reveal anything to anyone that I know of the connection under the seal of secrecy is to-be trusted. So I swear, and am ready to keep my word in case I need to seal it with my blood. And if I ever
 If I break my oath, I shall be treated with disgrace and Shame from the ranks of young Europe –
 my name shall be like that of a traitor – and shall that Any misfortune I cause will reflect on my own head.
 . 27*

420

So it shall be now and forever! 51. After the
 After the oath, the person being admitted is given the symbol, the Lofong word and the way of greeting the young Euclothes. The symbol of young Europe is –
 The password is – The greeting is given – § 52.
 Every member of young Europe who promotes fine principles through The press is required to be at the entrance of the books or pamphlets written by him the motto: Freedom, Equality, humanity. § 33. Wherever there is no on the principles and according to the articles of faith of the junto Europe, there is a national connection,

all initiators and organizers with their founding ft employ to complete the building. – You will for their foundation and establishment in accordance with with the Central Committee of Young Europe. –
From the moment of its foundation, everything matters=
ities not covered by the general instruction, and who belong to the special task of the nation, the Business circles of the Central Committee of the National Association
be left to it. |

Freedom! Equality! Humanity!
Statutes of young Germany.
J. General part.

§ 1. Young Germany is constituted to promote the ideas –freedom, equality and humanity in the future republican states of Europe. § 2. The young Germany fraternizes with those who have already existing connections of other nations and at the same time with them to work together. The
The relationship between these connections determines the fraternization act. § 3. The principle of equality serves the Organization of young Germany as a basis. § 4.
No member of this association may be a member of any other association or accept orders from such without prior approval of the Committee. Every person joining has therefore, before admission, to declare on his word of honour, neither that he has no or what other connection he has. to= Except from the first provision the=

421

§ 144 of the Freemasons Act 1913. However,
The incoming Freemason undertakes to make a special commitment lübde, both about the existence and purpose, as well as about the Nature of the association against other Freemasons the strictest § 5. Every member is obliged to folemly, the secrets of the union firmly and faithfully
§ 6. Each member takes a war name for the connection.

II. Special part.
The Committee.

§ 7. Young Germany transfers the supreme leadership fits affairs to an elected, responsible committee.
The number of members of the committee is undetermined; however, there must be at least five, three of which must be the managing directors.

§ 8. The next task of the Committee is: partly to meet the requirements of § 2, partly to strive for a union of all German patriots. & 9. The members of the Committee required by law consist of a President, a Secretary, a Councillor and two assessors. Any additional Members increase the number of assessors. From the distribution of the functions depends on the totality of the committee. and the duration of the same is half a year. The names of the members of the Committee shall be made known to each member of the young Germany. § 10. The consultation on all common interests of young Europe, the Committee of the young Germany with that of young Italy, the young Poland, young France and the committees of the still to share the national connections. About the special interests of young Germany, he advises as follows in the Committee of Young Germany. § 11. The Committee is liable for the punctual fulfilment of its obligations. In case of any offence or violation against the association, their nature, purpose and organization, is strictly and, depending on its degree, either with mere removal

) Note: Of course, because the Masonic Order is divided into: ordained and uninitiated brothers, the latter may not use the true Order: the purpose of the matter, and even less should it be revealed to them that there are separate alliances of action for the purpose of the order.

422

exclusion from the committee, or exclusion from the committee. No single member of the committee has the right, without the knowledge or consent of the other members, to carry out any business relating to the connection, take, under penalty and responsibility. § 12. The Committee has the right to appoint a seat at any place to take place. However, the obligation to choose its seat in a place where a club constitutes. Times of danger or necessity suspend this disfigurement. However, the Committee has soon to justify the measure. § 13. The Committee shall be appointed by the entire body is re-elected before the end of each six-month period. Members of the outgoing committee are eligible for re-election. The Executive Committee has made this election under the control of the club at his place of residence. He makes towards the end of his term of office, submit proposals to the clubs for the election of his successor in such a way that the number of proposed to the number of those to be elected in the ratio of 8 to 5. However, the clubs are not bound by these suggestions. The outgoing committee shall continue to conduct business until

After the clubs have voted, the new committee will be elected by folute majority of votes appears to be constituted. Can be found in the required number of people to be elected does not have any votes= ity of all clubs, the committee members still missing members among the candidates already designated a new Election was held. The result of this vote was The resigning committee must immediately notify the clubs,
 the entire association property in his hands=
 thum to the new committee and to inform it of its
 In the committee election
 Each club has one vote. The club which has four weeks after the request issued by the Committee for voting the result of his vote to the Committee
 does not submit, thereby waives his right to vote. -
 In the event of a vote in the election of new committee members, In the event of a tie, the draw shall decide. § 14. Should the committee may be dissolved during its term of office, he or, in case of impediment, the next club shall appoint a interim committee, and this committee shall then immediately Proposals in the manner specified in § 13. the choice of 423

to initiate and operate a new committee. If the committee fhot (according to § 39.) or if he resigns voluntarily, fo be the club at the place of residence of the same or at the nearest his interim successor under the same Liability, as in the previous case. The same happens if the Committee, if there are no longer three members, as to be considered resolved. But there are still at least three members are present, the committee supplements itself in= terimistically from the members of the connection, but this has to the clubs as soon as possible and the final choice (as § 13. However, until the stimulus has been granted ombudsman of this election, the persons appointed by the Committee shall Here too, in the event of a tie, the draw decides.
 § 15. Voting in the committee shall be by vote=
 In case of a tie, the vote of the Prefects. § 16. In the case of a planned arms operation
 If possible, the Committee shall invite the Members of all clubs for consultation and decision. For
 In this case, each club elects a representative in advance.
 neten, who is provided with unconditional authority, and in the pre=
 in the coming case not to consult with his club first men needs. The assembly of these deputies, in the one with the members of the committee, decides after further consultation on the projected enterprise in the manner that everyone present, whether club representative or member of the Committee, has one vote, and the vote of the Club representatives are not bound to the confirmation of the clubs

To decide on a weapons operation, three Quarter votes of all present are required; those not appearing Clubs deputies and committee members will as agreeing with the majority. But few fall members of the Executive Committee and the deputies of at least three quarters of all Clubs must be present. More than five members of the committee es cannot vote against it. § 17. Should the Committee may be impossible, in the case of a weapons event company to involve the representatives of the clubs, he can also without
They decide on a weapons operation if, after oral agreement:
At least three quarters of all committee members must vote in favour.
However, everyone who agrees is then responsible for the outcome of the company and can therefore be called upon to be sentenced to death. § 18. The members of the Aus chuffes are members of the club, which is located at the place of residence

424

You have the obligation to enter into the Sis fffffffffffffffffffffe members, like any other member, must fe, however, if the negotiation suffices the Committee itself
You have the right to discuss, but no
§ 19. The Committee shall have jurisdiction in the cases to be specified (§ 36.). § 20. The President of the Committee, as well as the presidents of the clubs, have the presidency in their respective assemblies and the
They also have the right to Calling of the assemblies, which however also has to be done by each individual members through the organ of the President
The President is responsible for managing the business.
All papers and funds relating to the connection shall be right to the Presidents, who have the obligation to hand them over to the Secretary or Treasurer. – The latter have about the papers and funds, as well as about the decisions taken let precise repertories be kept. The decrees must signature of the President and Secretary. The Secretary ftaries have a summary report of each meeting to keep a record which the Presidents shall discuss with them under However, the individual clubs are free to fshall, if circumstances so require, take over the management of the to suspend the minutes. § 21. The cashier has the administration of the incoming funds, which he exchanges for fictitious from the hands of the President. Without orders from the reflectives as a whole, he has not given any money to anyone § 22. The Committee and the Clubs have the Obligation to inspect their respective cases every eight days to take, and monthly about the status of the same fih against
to provide a detailed report or, in case of impediment,
To justify omission. § 23. The presidents of the clubs have to ensure that their clubs are armed.

Committee has to ensure that this Regulation is strictly observed.
§ 24. The emissaries and commissioners are housed appointed executive officers of the Committee or of a Clubs. They have followed exactly the instructions given to them.
to act; however, their respective totality

429

entrust them with fine business transactions for which they themselves are not authorized.
§ 25. The emissaries of the Committee shall have the right Persons in the connection, but not in an already existing Club. The commissfers of the same receive for all cases special instructions.
The clubs.

§ 26. On the formation and continued existence of a club at least five members are required. § 27.
As a rule, the people staying at one place form members of the young Germany only had one club. However, ben, depending on the circumstances, the authority to divide into two or more Clubs to be separated. If this happens, the following will be:
different clubs at the location of the committee or the nearest place, in relation to the choice of a provisional committee and the provisions of the statutes
jprodene Control and Competence, only as a single bes

§ 28. The club members elect to lead the Business a President and a Secretary, who at the same time the case is managed. § 29. The individual clubs are to the Committee by means of a document specially prepared by the Committee named commissioners in continuous open communication. § 30.
The Commissioners shall set up a committee through the President fident of the latter. § 31. The individual

Clubs are free, where they deem it necessary, to the Commissioner's request to contact the Committee § 32. Every member of the young Germany has the duty to comply with the principles set out in the statutes

§ 33. Every member has the duty of self-determination armament. Excepted from this are those who are not located on German soil. § 34. All members of young Germany have met the legitimate requirements of the Committee on any undertaking for the purpose of founding of the young Germany. § 35. The Club members have the lawful orders of their president=

§ 36. Management and Corre=
fpondent of the clubs is carried out by the Secretary under the direction of the President is concerned. The club as a whole is conducting a constant and special control over the management.

$. 37. This control of the club consists in the fact that all Gr:
let the whole community discuss and decide:

must be laid down. The decrees of the Committee fit should be brought to the attention of the individual members of the club.

§ 38. for all cases which, due to the urgency of the circumstances were drawn up without consultation of the President, who is also obliged to ensure that laffe to be presented to the club as soon as possible. § 39. For

The President is responsible for the fulfilment of Section 33 and

In the event of a loss of the necessary funds, the Commissioner. § 40. The President's Office and Sea Retiree is a quarter. However, the person concerned the Club the right to appoint its leaders with a founded Ur= fe case by majority vote to remove them from office.

Those who are dismayed are entitled to appeal to the court; however, the same until a decision is made in their functions fus=

§ 41. Each club has the right to have a representative= were empowered to demand access to the General Cassation.

Rfident of the person present at the location of the committee

Ginbs has the duty to do this every four weeks. § 42.

Voting in the clubs is done by majority vote=

In case of a tie, the President's vote shall decide.

fidenten. Zr

Complain.

§ 43. If the Committee receives information about a criminal act of one of its members, it shall appoint a plaintiff

from fine middle and demands the club fine place of residence

or at the nearest place, to judge from yourself= fubstantial authority of five persons, which would then the person charged shall immediately be released from his Office is suspended. In case this indictment is brought by the Committee against a member of the club would be charged, so the appeal would have to be made= lation to the Committee of the applicants appointed by the latter:

occur and a spot in the anus can be temporarily replaced.

§ 44. If an action is brought against the Committee which fit refers to things that are of interest to young Europe concern (3. B. a violation of the general principles), fo the Committee of Young Europe must felf, or by this deputies decide on it. § 45. Actions against one or more members of the Committee shall be present at the Committee, which then acted according to § 43

§ 46. Actions against the entire committee for violations

Commission consisting of representatives of all clubs which, in appropriate cases, may even lead to the removal of the § 47. Anyone who has once been convicted of unworthiness or breach of duty, was expelled from the committee the ift, can never be admitted into the same again.
§ 48. Every club, but only one club, has the right an indictment against the Committee. § 49. Lawsuits against a whole club will be brought before the committee. The The club involved is entitled to appeal to three clubs, which he fshould choose himself. This appeal has fuspensfive Force, but it must be given within a period of eight days to The three elected clubs decide after Majority of votes, with each club having one total vote. These complaints are either filed by a member of the fchuffes, which, however, is then in the legal college has neither a seat nor a vote (§ 43), or by any other Members of the association employed. 8 50. Lawsuits against Club members are brought before the respective club, subject to appeal to the Committee. § 51 All Actions brought against the Commissioner, Emissary or other persons Persons appointed by the Committee must be be submitted to the Committee, which will make the final decision Infance.

Punish.

§ 52. Any betrayal by a member of the association will considered worthy of death. The recognition of this is up to the refeptive Club, subject to appeal to the fhot, and in the last instance to one of all clubs Commission of at least seven members. Until The accused member is suspended pending the decision. Execution of the judgment if any member who is entrusted with this task by the Committee.

Finance.

§ 53. The finances of the association consist of: b From the voluntary contributions made by the individual clubs for their Foundation Charter. These funds fall into the General cash of the committee. The collection of these sums is the responsibility of the secretary of each individual club, who will Hands of the respective President for dispatch to the Committee

428

§ 54. 2) From the personal voluntary contributions:

One half of this goes to the General

caffé, the other in the club caffè. § 55. 3) From the free willing monthly contributions, half of which

into the general cash register, the other into the club cash register.
Recording.

§ 56. The admission of new members takes place: 1) By the Emiffär, on his responsibility and his possible Instructions according to. 2) By the Commiffary, insofar as should be given authority to do so. 3) By the Presidents of the clubs after prior consultation and voting of the respective clubs. § 57. Before admission the person to be admitted the provisions of the General Instructions for the Initiators of Young Europe (§ 2–9) contained faith-article; then he has the same in these same Instructions (8 50) to pronounce the sworn oath formula, thereby becoming a member of the young Europe. The admission into the young Germany is done by the following formula, which the one entering, taking the hand of the one receiving, literally and says loudly: “I swear by my honor and my conscience, to maintain the connection of the young Germany, and to dedicate all my efforts to the holy cause of freedom, equality and humanity: nity.” § 58. These statutes may, as they decide, been modified only by the whole and he be supplemented.

D.

The present lodge ritual of the Grand Lodge system of Germany, of which in other systems only completely indifferent Deviations occur, is as follows: On the day of recording the candidate or aspirant is led into the lodge premises — into a lonely room, in which on a table two burning candles, and the first chapter of John in the Bible. Here he is left with a short time to think, then undresses him, exposes the left breast, right knee, lets him step on a shoe, and takes away his hat and sword and all the metal. Now He is blindfolded and led into the black Chamber; orders him not to untie the blindfold until until he heard three strong blows, and let him alone for a short time. Just as he now feels the blows and unties the blindfold, he sits at a table, on which a lamp burns, a skull stands and the Bible lies; the room is decorated in black. Then a brother to prepare him. He asks him again, what his intentions were to join the Order, whether he nor is he in any other connection, and whether he to examinations and laws. After he had written After he has explained himself again, the taxidermist takes his hat and Sword into the box as a sign of his submission. After a short time the examiner comes back, connects= opens his eyes and leads him to the gates of the Temple. This happens outside the lodge. The interior the lodge, the so-called study, is usually blue; the throne of the Master, as well as the tables of the brothers Aufse= and officials must be there too. Under the throne= heaven sits the master of the chair, right and left behind him the brothers of the steward, on the right the sea clerk, on the left the Speaker and almskeeper. In front of him on a table lies the Bible, a square and compass, and three burning Candles on the same table. Sitting opposite him in the west the two overseers or foremen; between them the Cere= monienmefter. On the right and left sit in two rows the Brothers of all degrees mixed together. Between the altar, in front of which has a small footstool, and the brothers overseers On the ground lies an elongated square, called Tapis, which ches represents the Solomon's Temple, and on which all kinds of Masonic tools are depicted. Around it are three large burning candles representing the pillars: Wisdom, Beauty= ity and strength, and support the temple. The the pillars in front are called Jakin and Boaz, as they are in Temple of Solomon. At the door stands a brother on duty, who lets no one in without his recognized him as a Mason. As soon as the brothers entered and the reverend Master from his chair Seat in the East and the brothers=heads theirs in the West have taken, he hits the hammer on the Altar and says: "All right, my brothers!" – After the= fe words the brothers stand in two parallel rows, and the Reverend says: "Brothers, first and second Supervisor, tell the brothers that I am minded to open a reception=apprentice lodge." The foreman has Then check whether the door is properly covered, i.e. feeft and no uninitiated person had interfered. It This is done in particular by everyone using the keyword in the Lodge "Tubalkain" (except the Lodge it is called: "Jakin", God created me), which cannot be fully spoken, with the examiner, so that the examinee the first letter, the examiner the second rc. to give The Masons outside the Lodge act in the same way, if they want to recognize each other . The name of the Tubalkain is the apprentice, the time of admission midnight, the brothers which are covered as a sign of equality. The master of The Chair now announces to the brothers that it is disposed to Mr. N. as a Freemason, that the ballot bright= been brilliant, nothing against his good reputation fe, and that the aspirant is already in the forecourt of the Tempels, in the black chamber. The Preparator enters and reports that the candidate, in his intention, to be accepted, persevere, and bring as a sign fe= of his hat and sword. The Reverend fays: "My brother, go to him once more, strongly explain to him the duties he has to fulfil= ger to the heart, and then lead him when ex as Be= waiting, to the gates of the temple." Near= from whom the brother has departed, the Reverend shares the fcribed answers of the aspirant, also some eha= traits from fine life. Just as the taxidermist the Gandidateu from the black chamber to the gates of the temple (to the lodge door), he strikes three Sometimes a strong knock on the door from outside. The master knocks with the hammer on the altar and says: "All right, my Brothers!" – Everyone stands up and enters the apprentices' lodge= Sign. Master: Brother second overseer, look, who knocked, and if it is the aspirant, ask You, who is he? rc. The second overseer closes the door little and asks: "Who is there?" Then the taxidermist says: "A free man who wishes to to be admitted into the Order of Freemasons." then asks at the door for name, status, age, Re=

429

430

431

figion, whether the candidate already belongs to an order, what who brought him here and who would vouch for him? – The candidate leading overseer answers, denies the participation of the Can= didates at another order and assured that the Desire for an alliance with virtuous men. Only then will permission be granted to enter. With noise The doors are now opened, the second overseer em catches him, puts the point of his sword on his chest and places him to the master. After the question: whether he still wish to be admitted? says the master, if such the candidate answered with "Yes!": "Brother second up= feer, let him make the three trips! The second The overseer now puts the sword point on his chest again and leads the candidate past the midday column to the altar, where he remains standing with him; just as he Altar is near, the master strikes hard with the hammer, whereupon the brothers rustle with their aprons: that makes made a strange impression on the candidate. The presentation then leads him past the northern side until in the middle, opposite the Reverend. He tells him a second, and two more trips are repeated. After the candidate had been in the middle for the third time come and complete the three Masonic journeys, for the Reverend once again hard and very flexible to him, chases him: "Nothing has happened yet, you can still who return; we will guide you where you come from and your Name shall never be mentioned in our meetings. I give you a few minutes to think about it, then answer me with a clear "Yes!" that it is still your will, to be accepted." After the candidate said "Yes!" hunts, the master says: "The lot is cast, I stand for nothing! Brother Overseer, lead the candidate through the three usual Manner steps to the altar." The Brothers overseers now tie his feet in a corner and run him between the two pillars with three big steps to the There he must stand with bare knee on the altar. Kneel on the footstool and place your hand on the Bible. The High= worthy says: "Sir, the book on which you lay your hand lay down, if the Holy Scripture. These circles set themselves on the left breast, where the heart beats." After he admonished again, he asks him whether he is ready to accept all to confirm what was said with his blood and to take the oath= After he confirms it, the master makes him swear the oath which he must repeat. It is the old oath of the Freemason and the following: "I swear and vow in the name of the supreme architect of all worlds, that I never Secrets, signs, gestures, words, teachings and customs of the Brothers Freemasons discover and an eternal silence about it I promise and vow to God that I neither with the pen, with signs, words and gestures betray anything of it, nor write, dig in stone or metal or print; neither of what I has been entrusted to us so far, nor will it be made known in the future I will be bound to the punishment which I submit myself, if I do not keep my word, namely that if someone burned my lips with a red-hot iron, cut off the hand, tear out the tongue, cut off the throat, and finally my body in a lodge of the Brothers Freemasons, while working and welcoming a new brother to the Shame of my unfaithfulness and to the terror of the rest= hang him, burn him afterwards and scatter the ashes in the air, so that no trace remains of the memory of my Treason. So help me God and holy Evans gelium. Amen!" During this oath a song is heard

432

or a harmony music, depending on the lodge's musical wishes who owns it. After the oath has been taken, the Reverend the hammer, puts the compass on the candidate's chest, makes three blows to the same and chases: "So I take you then, on to the brother Freemason! – In the name of the allmächt= ing architect of all worlds! In the name of the high superiors of our Order, and the power given to me! I I embrace you as a brother Freemason. Brother Overseer, lead Bring him back to the gates of the temple!" After a few
 The master's strong words give him the weak Light. The lodge is darkened, on the altar burns a spirit lamp, the brothers' swords are on the Newcomers, and all speak with dull Voice: "God punish the traitor!"
 immediately blindfolds him again, quietly illuminates the Lodge, fet the new brother in a chain and gives him now the whole light. At the moment when one

433 –

 When the blindfold is removed, a flame is left in front of him rise, with all the brothers saying: "Sic transit gloria mundi!" – The Master of the Chair asks: "My brother, fimperially, as you saw all the sword points pointed at you– ten, as a sign that your perjury will be punished, but I will also stand by you in times of need, so see They now lowered their swords and joined the brotherly chain– fchloffen." Now the people who have been admitted are led away so that he dresses again, and then leads him to the master of Chair, where he greets him in a Masonic manner. He dresses it with the apprentices' apron, which is white and made of leather gives him a pair of white gloves, which he uses as a symbol– bol of the purity of his heart in the lodge, as well as a pair of women's gloves, which he gave to the chosen one of his
 He also tells him that the freedom– masons have certain identifying marks and share them with him
 The first is the so-called neck sign; it indicates the oath, which says: the throat cutting. It is said – makes, when you spread your hand, the four fingers together– close to the neck under the chin, so that the Thumb under the right ear to the back; one Then pull the hand horizontally to the right shoulder and lets it slide slowly down to the hips. The word is "Jakin" (God created me.)
 | Catechism of the Apprentices.

Question: Where do you come from, my brother? Answer: From
 of the just and perfect St. John's Lodge to the flam= menden Stern, in the Orient to N. Fr. What do you bring us with? Autw. Greetings from my masters and journeymen.

Q. What are you looking for here? Ans. My passions for overcome, learn to govern my will and find new ways to make steps in Freemasonry. Fr. What is a Freemason? Answer: A mason is a free man. The masons, fo Salamo chose to build the temple, were declared free by him and exempted them and their descendants from all taxes and had the right to carry weapons.

Q. How do I know that you are a mason? Answer: By my sign, word, handle and by the faithful story= tion of my recording. Fr. What are the signs of the

2 | 28

—

434

Maurer? Answer: The square, the scales and the ruler.

Q. What are the characteristics? Ans. Certain vegetal Touches that one gives fih among Bripers. Fr. Wer helped you to become a Freemason? Answer: A white fir friend, whom I have since recognized as a brother.

Q. Why did you become a Freemason? A. Because I darkness and wished to see the light. Fr. What what does this light mean? Answer: The knowledge and the whole of all virtues; it is also a symbol of the great tree= fters of the world. Fr. Where were you raised to be a Freemason? taken? Answer: In a just and perfect lodge.

Q. What do you understand by that? Ans. Three assembled Freemasons make one simple, five a fair, and fever a perfect lodge. Fr. Which are the 3 masons, so belong to a simple lodge? Answer: A master and two leaders. Q. What are the five of a righteous woman? Ans. The first three mentioned and two more masters. Fr.

Finally, what are the seven that make up a perfect lodge form? Answer: One grand master, two foremen, two. fter, a journeyman and an apprentice. Fr. Who has invited you to the prepared for the reception? Answer: A worthy brother. Fr. What does he ask of you? Answer: He asked me about my Age, according to my bourgeois circumstances, according to my religion, and inquired about my eagerness to be received

I appeared afterwards neither naked nor clothed, but in a decent state, and after he had told me all tall, he led me to the door of the Lodge, to which he struck three strong blows. Fr. Why did You are not allowed to appear naked or clothed? Answer: to suggest to me that splendour blinds the rabble, the virtuous A responsible man must rise above all prejudices. Q. Why did he make you take off all the metal? Ans. Because they are symbols of vice, and a true mason does nothing Must have something of one's own. Q. What do the three strokes mean? Answer: Three words from the Holy Scripture: Knock, and opened to you; seek, and you will find; ask, and you will given to you. Q. What have they accomplished for you?

Answer: The opening of the lodge. Fr. When it was opened was, what did the brother do with you? Answer: He about= gave me to the second brother overseer. Fr. What did they notice

435

You when entering the lodge? Answer: Nothing that the human being= ual spirit can grasp, a thick veil was in front of my Eyes. Q. Why were you blindfolded? Answer: To convince me how detrimental ignorance the happiness of mankind. Fr. What did the second chairman say? fteber with you? Answer: He let me see three times from afar to the east by the north, and from east to west by travel south and then handed myself over to the first overseer. Q. Why did they let you travel? Ans. To show me that the first step to attaining virtue is not yet is sufficient. Q. What were you looking for on your journey? Answer: I was looking for the light. Question: What else did you take with you? You? Answer: I was allowed to put my feet in the square fet, and brought me by means of three big steps to the Altars where the Reverend sits. Fr. Why did you have to place your feet in a square and take three big steps do? Autw. To show me the way I should walk foll, and to show me how the apprentices of our order 'geben muss. Fr. What does this course mean? Anw. The Zeal that we should show on the way to Him who enlightened. Q. What did the Reverend do with you? Answer: Since he was convinced of my views, he took He trained me with all the formalities to become a Freemason apprentice. Q. What were the formalities? Ans. I had to his bare knee on a bench in front of the altar-kneeling, had placed his right hand on the Gospel, and with the left I held a half-open compass on the exposed Chest, where the heart beats. Fr. What were you doing in this Position? Answer: I took the oath to always be the Gee to keep secrets of Freemasonry and the Freemasons. Q. Why was the right knee bare and the left shoe trampled down? Answer: To remember that a mason must be humble. Q. Why did you get the Zirkel on the chest? Answer: To teach me that the The heart of a mason must always be open and fair. Q. What did they do next with you? Ans. led me back to the gates of the temple. The master asked myself whether I still consider myself free, which I "Yes!" I was then asked what I in the state in which I find myself, most desirable

436

I answered: "The light." – "Brother Overseer, give the newcomer the dim light!" fayed the Reverend. Fr. What did you see when Opened their eyes. Answer: A dim light on the altar, behind which the Master stood; all, brothers pointed their swords at me and spoke with dumb pper voice: "God punish the traitor!" Fr. Why the fes? Answer: To show me that you would always be ready, to shed their blood for me if I fail in the duties which I have just entered into, remain faithful; on the other hand, to punish me, if I become a traitor. So said the master to me. It was a horrible sight for me. Fr. Was that Answer: The blindfold was held up to me again. Eyes. Q. What happened next? Ans. After a few minutes where the greatest silence reigned, the blindfold was dropped len; the lodge was brightly lit, in front of me a flame flew into the air, while the brothers said: "Sic transit gloria mundi!" And I found myself in a chain which fammt brothers. The master said: "My Brother, you now see the swords lowered and brotherly embraced; so all brothers will always love you when You remain faithful to your duties." Fr. What did you take now with you? Answer: I was dressed and led then to the Reverend. Q. What did they give you there? Ant. Sign, handle and two words. Fr. Give me the sign. (It is given.) Q. What do you call it? Ans. The neck sign. Fr. What does it mean? Ans. Gi- a part of my obligation, namely that I rather Neck should be cut off, as the secrets of the Masons to betray to profane people. Fr. Give me the handle. (It is given.) Q. Give me the floor. Answer. I am not allowed to say it. Give me the first letter, I will give you the second one; then we will to spell it with each other. (You spell it on both sides.)

Q. What does this word mean? Answer: God created me fen. It is the name of the pillar which is located on the northern Side door of the temple, where the apprentices were collected. Q. What is the password? Answer: Tubalfain.
Q. What did they give you? Ans. I was also given a white apron, a pair of men's and a pair of women's room gloves of the same color. Fr. What does the 437

Apron? Answer: It is the symbol of industriousness. The white color indicates purity of heart and morals.
Q. Why were you given white gloves? Ans. To to teach that a mason's fine hands never through bad sand:
lungs must be contaminated. Fr. Why do we divide women's room gloves? Answer To protect the person being recorded teach that one must love one's wife and not let her be moment without being unfair. Fr. What he did you see when the box was fully illuminated? Answer: Three large lights placed in the square, one towards the east, the others towards the west, and the third towards the south. Fr. Wa rum was none in the north? Answer: Because the sun Part only dimly lit. Q. What do these three Lights? Answer: The sun, the moon and the Grand Master of the Lodge. Q. Why do they mean this? Ans. Because the Sun during the day, the moon during the night, and the Grand Master illuminates the Lodge at all times. Fr. Where has the Grand Master's signature? Answer: In the east. Question: Why?
Ans. Following the example of the sun appearing in the east,
To start the day, the master stays in the lodge there to govern the workers and to control them with his quiet council to enlighten. Fr. And where have the overseers—their headquarters? Answer: In the West. Fr. Why? Answer: Since the Sun ends the day in the west, the forecasts till he got up to close the lodge, and the work to dismiss employees. Where were you employed after your Recording towards? Answer: Towards the north. Question: Why?
Ans. Because this is the least enlightened side, and an apprentice who has only received a faint light, still is not able to bear a larger one. Fr. What is ar Do the apprentices work? Answer: On a rough stone. Fr. Where do you receive your wages? Answer: At the pillar J. Fr. I I am satisfied with your knowledge; please contact me
Brother, and take part in our work! Master:
Brother first overseer, what time is it? Overseer: It is Noon, Most Reverend! The Master now has the protocol read out to the lodge held, then say: Brother first up ever, what time is it now? Ed. It is high noon, high Most worthy! M. Is it just time to close this lodge?
On. It is perfectly just. Time. M. Since it is perfectly right time, I close this apprentice reception in the name of the supreme Ban Master of all worlds, in the name men of the high superiors of our order and the power of the verses given to me.

 lent power. The master makes the three masonry blows and the two overseers repeat it. M. My brothers, the lodge is closed.

| | Journeymen's Lodge.

The interior of the lodge is the same as in the first degree > was; but above the master of the chair hangs the flaming Star, in the middle of which is the letter G. The Reifter vom Stuhl first opens an apprentice lodge, in which cher the apprentices who are to be promoted, from the Kate= chymology. Usually one takes three teachings= linge at the same time and can rise to seven. If the teaching= lings are led away, the master then opens the journeymen= lodge as follows: (The flaming star is now only hung.) The master knocks as a journeyman. 2. x. ɾc. After The Gefellen sign is made and space is taken men. The master now reports to the brothers that the brothers Apprentices to think further about their promotion

in the black chamber that they spent their apprenticeship endured and find worthy of being promoted. It will

the brother preparer sent to them to fulfill their duty= ten of the mason, and they are then sent to the Gates of the temple announced by the three apprentices and introduced. The apprentice has his neck and Arms bare; it shows one working out of the earth with effort= tending people. Just as there is a knock from outside, the Master, after knocking hard on the altar: "In Order, my brothers!" All take the journeyman's signal.

As soon as the doors are opened, the apprentices

the second guard, puts his sword on the first the chest, takes him by the hand and makes with the teachers=

gen, so many of them are, which one to the other

added and moving aside, follow again three times

the journey around the Tapis. You enter on the southern side and travel through the West, North to the East, where most

'for them every time a message is given. In the meantime one sings a Masonic song to encourage pilgrims. When the pre=

Arrived in the West for the third time with the apprentices

#

439

men, the master says: "Let the brothers teach= lings through the seven steps to the altar." The Auf= feher shows the first the steps which the others
also observe, so that they can imitate them. It is stepped forward with the right foot, so that the Point to the east and the heel to the west; here=
The left foot is pulled up, heel to heel = fet and a] formed. When the seven steps are completed find, fo fthe apprentice walks through three to the altar, where it is then placed to the right of the same in the north.
– As soon as they had all taken the steps towards the altar bert, and stand by the same side, (apt the master fie form a half moon in front of the altar, where it speaks to them once again from the heart, tells them that they have nothing of what they had seen and heard, to their younger brothers betray, much less share it with any profane person.

They must confirm this under oath by a handshake affirm what the Master did in the same way journeymen, as was the case with apprentices, only with the small difference that twice three times, instead of in the Apprentices' lodge is clapped three times. It is the master det them and the journeyman's apron, which has blue silk ribbons to tie around, and whose flap hangs down, at the vehrlingen but tied up in the air if. The sign ift, –

that one places the right hand on the chest, where the heart is, stretching out the four fingers and putting them together, the thumb but expands into the shape of an angle measure. This is how you stand in the lodge. But when it is called making, –fo you pull the Hand away from the heart to the right side, and let the hand gently slide down the hip. The word is Bo az, the name of the second pillar in Solomon's Temple, and is spelled just like the word Jakin. The master hugs the new journeyman and wishes him all the best for his promotion change of luck. The brother speaker now lets them have the Katechism, and the lodge is closed in the following manner: Master. Brother first overseer, what is the bell? Overseer. It is midnight, Most Reverend. Brother Almsfeer, collect for the poor. (It happens.) After the protocol is read out, the master continues: Brother first Warden, what is the bell now? Wake up. It is high midnight.

+

440

M. Since it was high midnight and completely ift to close this journeymen's lodge, I will do so in the near future men of the supreme architect of all worlds, in the name
the high superiors of our venerable Order and power of power given to me. Now the chain is closed, the Master prays and concludes with the words: "And this chain, Worthy brother, never tear!" It is repeated twice three times in the hands clapped and the egg said: "My brothers pie
nage ift fallen." = | |

The Catechism is indeed in all systems of one= other, but only in small details; the following, however, ift the old real one. ;

Catechism of the Gefellen.
(According to the Old English ritual.)

Question: My brother, why do you come here? Answer.
Very Reverend, I come to the assembly of the Ge= felen to await your orders and to benefit from your knowledge fen part. Fr. How did you get to this degree Ans. Through diligence, work and wisdom. Fr. What
What did you learn when you were accepted as a journeyman?
Ans. The meaning of the letter 6. Fr. What does this letter? Answer: Geometry, or the fifth science= fhaft, fo the mason most necessary, ift. Fr. Wo feid You became a journeyman 1? Answer. In a full= coming lodge. Fr. Who are those who create such a lodge Answer: There are six of them, so through the six Lights are introduced, namely a very venerable master, two foremen, two masters and a journeyman. Fr. How were you You accepted? Answer: I was allowed to complete the seven steps of Temple. Q. What was given to you after your Recording? A. A sign, a touch and two words.

Fr. Give me the sign! (Instead of the answer it is given= ben.) Fr. What do you call it? Anw. The breast mark. Fr.
What does that mean? Answer: That I know the secrets of the rerei in my heart and prefer to express myself the same let it be torn apart, as it reveals itself to the profane. Fr. Give the second brother foreman. (One does this,
and if it is according to the order, the second one answers (President.) Answer: It is correct, Your Reverend! Mrs. Says

441

me the holy word of the Gefellen! (One says it as one has been taught.) Q. What does this word mean? Ans.
Strength is in God; it is the name of the holy pillar before the door of the temple, where the journeymen gathered.
Fr. Have you worked since you became a journeyman?

been taken? Answer: Yes, sir, I have worked in the temple of Solomon. Fr. Through which door Did you go in? Answer: Through the door facing west.

Q. What did you notice about this door? Answer: Two large pillars. Q. What material were they made of? Ans.
From Erz. Fr. How high were they? Answer: Eighteen cubits.
Q. Their circumference? Ans. Twelve cubits. Q. How thick were -fie of ore? Answer: Four fingers thick. Fr. What were they adorned? Answer with capitalists. Q. What did they support?
Answer: Spherical balls decorated with lilies and pomegranates were. Fr. How many were there of them? Ans. Hundred and more. Q. Why do you say a hundred and more? Answer:
to indicate that the number of good masons is unlimited foll. Q. What was the purpose of the interior of the columns? Ans.
Storage of geometrical instruments and treasure, from which the workers were paid. Fr. Who owned the lodge, in which you were received? Ans. To the holy John the Baptist. Q. Why this? Ans. Because Time of wars in the promised land the Mittermanrer fih with the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem to to defeat the unbelievers, since they now have the protection of this saint and won the victory, fuch they thanked him upon their return and determined that in

In the future all lodges should be dedicated to him. Fr. In What area is your lodge? Answer: In the east of the valley Jofaphat, in a place where peace, truth and unity reigns. Q. What shape does it have? Ans. A left square. Fr. How long is it? Ans. It ranges from East to West. Q. How wide is it? Ans. Its width extends from south to north. Q. How high is it? Ans. Countless cubits high. Fr. How deep is it? Ans. Its

Depth ranges from the surface of the earth to its middle point. Q. What is it covered with? Answer: With a sky with stars. Fr. What makes this vast building supported? Answer: By two large pillars. Question: How

I

442

What do you call them? Answer: Wisdom and Strength. Fr. Explains me Biches? Answer: Wisdom to invent, and strength to received. Q. Do you have any ornaments in Carer Lodge? Answer: Yes, Behold, Venerable! Three: the Mosaic pavements, which ade cord and the flaming star. Fr. What do fe before? Ans. The Moffafian pavement means the floor of the large lodge corridor in the temple, the jagged cord that runs from the outside ornaments and the flaming star is the center, ~ ang from which the true light springs. Fr. Have these ornaments ratiben not also a moral meaning? Answer: Yes, febr Venerable! The mosaic pavement, which is made of various made of cemented stones, refers to the narrow mountain union of the masons, united by virtue Wheel; the jagged cord is the symbol of external adornment, fo the lodge through the customs of the brothers who make it up, receives, and the flaming star is the symbol of the sun of the world. Q. Do you also have jewels in your lodge?

Answer: Yes, most reverend Sir! Six, of which three are immobile fad. Fr. Which of the three movable ones? Ans. The Square, spirit level, and lead level. Fr. Wa-rum do you call fie movable? Answer: Because fie is from a= Brother go to the other. Fr. What are they for? Ant.

The angle measure is used to make perfect squares; With the Maflermange the surfaces are equal and even and by means of the lead scale the buildings are their foundations straightened. Fr. What are the three immovable jewels? Ans. The rough stone, the fubifische or Sichleifkein and the drawing board of the masters. Fr. What are they used for? Answer: The rough stone serves the apprentices to work; the cubic stone serves the journeymen to sharpen their tools Dara, and on the drawing board the masters throw their drawings. Fr. Have these little gems don't they also have a symbolic meaning? Anim. Yes, very Venerable! The square teaches us that all our Actions should be carried out in accordance with equity; the weapons ferwaage that no two people are the same and a complete Unity should prevail among the brothers; the lead scales characterizes the dexterity of our order, as the one based on virtue gender if; the stone that the apprentices work on, ift the image of our soul, which can be both good and bad pressure is capable of; the cubic stone on which the journeymen Sharpening tools indicates that only through vigilance about us can protect us from vice; and that The master's drawing board is the good example that the Practice of the highest virtue facilitated. Fr. How many Are there any? Answer: Two kinds, theoretical and practical. Q. Which ones are the theoretical masons? Ans. Those of our brothers, who are the temple of virtue and the temple of vice Build prisons. Q. Which ones are the practical masons? Answer: The Werklente, which construct material buildings. Rr. What is the purpose of theoretical masonry? Anw. Through its Principles and sublime morals purify our morals, and we made it useful to humanity and the state to be useful. Fr. What are the laws of the Mau= rerei? Answer: To punish vice and to encourage virtue honor. Q. What must a mason avoid? Ans. The Envy, slander and intemperance. Fr. What must he observe? Answer: Silence, wisdom and people= Dear. Fr. Can you tell me how many points there are in the Masonry? Answer: They are innumerable, but can be to bring back four main points, namely the neckline chen and the breast sign, by which we remember our duties be reminded, following the explanation given, when you make it: the hand signal whereby the touch is given, by which one recognizes fi, and the foot sign, which tells us that every true Mason on the path of Fairness transforms fol, whose symbol is the angle measure if. Q. How do the journeymen travel? Ans. From west to south, from south to north, from north to east. Fr. What what do these journeys mean? Answer: That a mason can make his bridge who must rush to their aid, even if they are at the most extreme borders of the earth. Fr. Where are the journeymen in the lodge? Answer: In the south, to receive the orders of the Master to receive? Q. Where are they? Answer: At the Sänle B. Fr. What is the journeyman's password? Answer.

| 443

Schiboleth. Fr. What does this word mean? Ans. Epi. in Hebrew; it was the watchword of the Israelite field= Lord Jephthah in the camp, because when the tribe of Ephraim fled rebelled, Jephthah occupied the banks of the Jordan, where Ephraim had to pass by, and all those who came to

Zr444

to translate and could not pronounce this word, were killed and thrown into the river. Fr. Did you today your Master seen? Answer: Yes, very reverend. Q. How was he dressed? Ans. In gold and sky blue. Fr. What what do these words mean? Ans. That a mason in the middle of The lap of honour with which he could be clothed, always fe must preserve his wisdom. Q. How old are you? Ans. Five years. Q. What time is it? Answer: Midnight. The lodge is then closed as in the apprentice degree. | Master's lodge and reception.

The master's box is decorated in black, on the altar rept ` a skull, and a spirit lamp burns on the: . felben. On the tapis stands a coffin in which a figure as Dead man lies; one usually lays a serving brother= in; it is also closed in some lodges, and one can see So no corpse. The lodge is dark. The journeyman is examined outside the master's room and then taken to the gate of the temple. The Master Brothers have all fharems or are dressed in black. In some Lodges give you a black apron with a death tenkopf on it. The opening formula of the lodge is the same, here with changes in the hammer blows and names, as in the first degrees. Master. For what purpose do they gather? we ourselves? First Overseer. In the one that lost master= fterwort to search again. Master. If it is so, then Go, my brothers, to the south and north, to explore all the masters who are currently found; presume= You will receive from them the word again, which Bring them back to the Orient for me later. The presentation Then each brother takes the touch, give him the kiss of peace, and receive the holy word in the lawful way, and by doing so until the Reverend, give it to the same formalities and return to their seats. Mei= fter. Venerable Superior, now that the word has been found again the iff, what is left for us to do now? Answer The Riffe to design which will serve as a model for the journeymen. Fr. What should we work with? Answer: With chalk, a shot oil and coal. Q. What do these three things mean? Ans. Zeal, courage and steadfastness. Q. How old are you?

Answer Seven years. Fr. What is the clock? Answer High= noon. Master of the chair. How to notify, in Be= dress of the hour and age, all our brothers, that the master lodge opens -ijt, and we begin our work As soon as the Wardens have announced that the Lodge is opened, the Reverend lets the journeyman enter. He is introduced backwards and with the back to the east, with his face looking towards the west, so that he

P

Coffin is not shaking. It is also turned sideways three times= led, whereby each time the leading foreman gives him a Sentence says, e.g. "Remember death! It is near you xc." The master asks: Has he learned fine time? Are fhis masters satisfied with him? Is he also worthy? After= to whom this is answered with "Yes!", the Reverend commands, the candidate by the steps over the coffin to the to approach the altar. When the journeyman is over the coffin walked ijt, the Reverend chases: "Brother Overseer, befchä= Do not dig the body!" Because the body in the coffin figure, or the serving brother, is now taken out, fo that the candidate does not see it. The master of the chair now steps forward from behind the altar and stands with the Ham= mer in his hand in front of the candidate, who is close to the coffin ft, right and left behind him the brothers Vor= fteher. The master of the chair reads the following to the journeyman "When King Solomon built the temple, he sent

Hiram, king of Tyre, and asked him to send a to send a permanent builder. He sent him Adonhiram, a finished builder. When Solomon had given Hiram the Band- of the temple and the supervision of all workers married, and this, the son of a widow from the tribe Naphtali, the workers were divided into three classes according to their different skills and they then received their reward, the Apprentices at the Jakin column, the journeymen at the column Boaz and the masters in the middle chamber, where three journeymen were unhappy that they did not receive equal pay with the masters, and decided to give the master builder Hiram to demand the master's word by force and to murder him.

They seized him in such a way that a fur
the door in Waften, the other at the door in the south, and when the ungodly one through the door in 445

When he wanted to escape to the East, the third journeyman transferred him
the third and deadly blow." Dex Mefter from the chair
In the story, the journeyman brother also falls three times times with the hammer gently against the forehead, and the third time
The brothers overseers grab him from behind and throw him down into the coffin. Just as the journeyman never got into the coffin= which is thrown, a cloth is spread over him, the box and the rising star brightly lit up and a chorale sung
When this has happened, the first porter catches the
'in the coffin lying by the hand to raise him up, and fays: "the skin leaves the flesh." Then the second foreman on the other hand and hunts: "The meat leaves the bones." Then the master steps in, takes him with his full right hand by his right hand, which is the masterstroke, and says: "So I will try, to raise him up." By putting foot against foot, knee against kneeling, holding him by his right hand, he lifts him up, puts his left hand on his left shoulder and asks him right ear "mac" and in the left ear "benac", which is the new master word if, Mac is called 'Purefaction' (the first exclamation of astonishment), benac means "in appearance" (it was the second exclamation of astonishment); hence the Mei= fterwort is pronounced in a divided manner, and secretly: mac in's vehthe and benac in the left ear. Just like the new master lifted, a song of joy is sung, the lift taken the oath that he would not give anything to brothers of the lower degrees, nor to the profane, the catechism was communicated and the lodge was organized in the manner of the journeymer loge closed, with the difference that three times knocked
The master's sign is: you close the four fingers of the right hand together and place the thumb on the body so that an angle is formed, and the left hand held upside down in front of the eyes, with the thumb hanging down.
GS means a shock and a shudder that one feels at Erblik= aa: the corpse of Hiram.

Catechism of the Masters.

Do the Old English ritual.) " u

: Meite from your chair. Where does Ibr come from, my brother?

Overseer. Most Reverend Sir, I come from the middle Rammer. . Q. What do you do in the middle chamber?

| Ans. It honors the memory of Our Honorable One worthy Master Adonhiram. Fr. How did you get there, come? Answer: On a spiral staircase that you can reach

Three, five and seven. Fr. What do these mean?

Numbers? Answer: That three years to an apprentice, five to a journeyman, and seven belong to a master. Fr.

How did you record Ench? Ans. How to record the Meifter of our order by giving me an acacia branch. Where are you accepted as a master been? Autw. In a perfect lodge. Fr. Which find the, fu make up a field lodge? Answer Nine, which indicated by the nine lights: namely a Grand Master two foremen and six masters. Fr. How are you as Master? Answer: By being on the Grave of our venerable Master Adonhiram of square to compass. Fr. What did you see when She entered the Master's Lodge? Answer: It was not allowed to look around, I heard only sighs and complaints.

Q. What did you realize after you were taken up?

ret? Answer: A great light in which I see the letter

G noticed. Q. What does Defer letter mean? Answer.

Greatness, glory, and everything a mortal can know fol, and what about you dt. Ir. Who can over me fe, since I am a free mason and master of such a aut ordered lodge? Answer: God, because the Buih-ftab G the initial letter of the word God if, fo in many languages means the highest being. Fr. What gave

What was said to you when you were accepted as a master?

The secret of the masons and of masonry. Fr. Gebt me the perfect point of your entry? Answer: Give me the first, I will give you the second. Ar. I preserve.

Answer: I am hiding. Fr. What are you hiding? Answer: All secrets that have been entrusted to me. Fr. Where

Do you hide it? Answer: In the heart. Fr. Is there a key to that? Answer: Yes, Venerable Sir. Q. Where do you keep him? Answer: In a coral box, which was decorated with ivory Keys are used to open and close the door. Fr. What metal is is it? Answer: From none. It is the tongue which the Bers reason obedience ift and only gates from the present fos

"blowing as speaking of those who turn away. Fr. 3 you were first an apprentice and journeyman before you became a master? Answer: Yes, B; and B- are familiar to me, as is the rule of three, whereby the key to all lodges is in my power.

| 448

Q. What kind of key is that? Ans. The knowledge of Signs, words and touches of the three degrees that I received have. Fr. Show me it. (Make the signs of the first two Just, afterwards you put yourself in order as a master and (answered.) Ans. Here he is; you must recognize him, for he is with what characterizes a true mason. Fr.

Yes, my brother; where did you get it from? Answer from my left hand, and I keep it as a precious treasure.

Q. Why is this key so precious to you? Ans. Because I through him I recognize the true light and, by showing him, the three first works. Fr. Why do you wear it on your left? Answer: I mean to say that he is in my a heart in which all the secrets of our order are closed, and because it reminds me of the position in where the body of Adonhiram was found, whose left arm was stretched out and the right formed a protractor, in which he presented the breast sign. Fr. How did the master's word go?

loren? Ans. By three strong blows. Fr. What do these three strong blows? Answer: There are those for our venerable Master received when he was at the door of the temple was murdered by three journeymen who either gave him the Meiz fterwort or wanted to take your life. Fr. How did you find out that it was journeymen who had committed this crime ten? Answer: Through the general gathering of the works: people, with three journeymen missing. Fr. But since the word forums, how could you find it again? Answer: Since the fter suspected that Adonhiram had been murdered and feared= that fear might have forced him to utter the master word ben, fos they agreed with each other that the first word that If they were found again, they would be told that should serve as a feature by which they can recognize each other tenz the same thing happened with the sign and the touch. Fr. Wie, How many masters were sent to search for Adonhiram? Answer Nine, which are represented by the nine lights. Fr. Where the body of our chemo-crazed Def? Aut. was found. Under a pile of rubble of about nine Eublikfhoes, where= Hauff an acacia branch ftal. -` e What should this branch be used for

Answer: As a mark for the traitors to restore the place recognize where they had buried the body of Adonhiram, which they were willing to bring to a distant place. Fr. What was taken with the body of our venerable master

Answer: Solomon had him in the sanctuary of the temple buried and put a golden triangle on his tomb, which on which the name Jehovah was engraved, when the old Master= word which in Hebrew means the highest being. Fr.

What shape was the tomb? Ans. It had a fiben foot in length, five in width, and three in depth. Fr.

What are the most outstanding characteristics of a master? Ans.

One sign, one touch, two words and five perfect Championship points. Fr. Give me the signal! (Instead of the Answer the sign is given.) Q. What do you call it?

Ans. The sign of terror. Fr. Why? Ans. Because it expresses the horror that overcame the masters when they Adonhiram's body. Fr. Give the first bru= the supervisor touches! (One obeys. About this one sees also the contact of the journeymen, and the same applies to the word of the Master.) Fr. Give me the holy word! (Man gives it to him as is in accordance with the order.) Fr. What is What does this word mean? Answer: The flesh comes off the bones. Q. What is the password? Ans. Sublime, which is a name that was given to our venerable master bat. Fr. Which find the five perfect points of the mouse rerei? Answer The foot sign, the knee bend, the together= both right hands, the left arm on the shoulder and the kiss of peace. Fr. Give me the explanation of this.

Anw. The foot sign indicates that we are always ready, to rush to the aid of our brothers; the kneeling means that we are ready before the author of our existence Denis thigen foll; the joining of the two right hands, that we should assist our brothers in their needs; the arm placed on the left shoulder, that we fet it with white fem and participating council; the peace= kiss finally means that gentleness, that unchanging unity= ity, which is the foundation of our order. Fr. Bo by is the Master Lodge supported? Answer: By three large square pillars called wisdom, strength and beauty.

Q. Who called them so? Answer: Solomon, King of 450

Tyre, and Adonhiram the chief builder of the temple. Fr.

Why is wisdom attributed to Solomon? Answer

Because he received this gift from God and was truly the white fefte king of his time. Fr. Why the strength of the king of Tyre? Ans. Because he gave Solomon the wood and the materials for the temple construction. Fr. Why the beauty= called Adonhiram? Answer: Because he was the chief architect of the Temple, all the ornaments with which this magnificent 'Monument should be beautified. Fr. Have these three Don't the names of the pillars have another meaning?
 Answer: Yes, venerable one! The shape of these pillars interprets the deity in its entirety; the wisdom is the symbol of their essence, the strength of their infinite Power and beauty indicate the perfection and Sublimity of all their works. Fr. What should the properties= fkills of a master? Answer: wisdom, strength, beauty=
 Q. How can he combine these rare qualities?
 Answer: Wisdom in fine manners, strength in courage unity with his brothers and the beauty in his cha= rakter. Fr. Are there some precious jewels in the Master's Lodge?
 serve! Answer: Yes, Venerable One, three: the Gospel,
 the compass and the hammer. Q. What do they mean?
 Ans. The gospel means the truth, the circle the Justice, and the hammer, which maintains order shows us that we are against the teachings of wisdom should be obedient. Q. Why did the first three Lodge servants of the hammer? Answer: To us incessantly to remember that, as matter emits sounds, if one strikes them, the more should the man, the God gave us a heart and a power of knowledge and judgment= to be sensitive to the voice of virtue and fworship one's creator. Q. What is the name of the master? Ans.
 Gabaon, which is the name of the place where the Israelites in times of unrest the Ark of the Covenant was placed. Fr. What what does this mean? Answer: That the heart of a Mason is pure 98 must be a pleasing temple to God. Fr. ,
 What is the name of the son of a bricklayer? Answer: Luton, one- = lëch word meaning an apprentice of the art of building. Fr.

 What is the privilege of a Lwuton? Answer: That he is accepted as a Mason before all others. Fr.

-
 *

451

What do the masters work on? Answer: On the drawing board.
 Q. Where do you get your wages? Ans. In the middle - Chamber. Fr. Where do the masters travel? Ans. All over surface of the earth. Q. Why? Ans. To shine the light on it to spread. Fr. If you lose a brother, how will You find it again? Answer: Between the angle measure and the circle. Fr. Explain this answer to me. Ans. The Winkelmaaß and the compass are the symbols of wisdom and of justice, from which a good mason cannot escape

 What would you do if you were in Danger? Answer: I would make the auxiliary sign and cry out: Children of the widow, come to my aid. Fr.
 Why do you say: children of the widow? Answer: Because after the Death of our venerable Master the Masons Mother, who was a widow, whose children they because Adonhiram always treated them as fine brothers.
 tete. Fr. How old are you? Answer: Seven years. Fr. What What does this age mean? Answer: The time which Solomon Temple building was needed. Q. What time is it? Answer: High noon.
 Fourth degree. |
 Perfect master or Scot.
 (According to the Old English system there were only these four degrees.)
 The room is decorated in green, on the tapestry are the Figures of a fox, monkey, lion and pelican.
 No one is raised to the status of perfect master, with whom one does not feel inclination and knowledge; it can also be no brother master reports, they search for him, beat him in the Lodge and determines the time for him to appear. The Most Reverend has his place in the Orient, and does four equal Blows, which the guards answer. If you look at the who is to be admitted, who in the fblack Kam-mer was prepared, he has a rope around his neck and announces itself by three times knocking on the phone. It is asked at the door: "whether he would like to and equality, to obedience, to courage and to He answers "Yes!" and you lead him in. You start the interaction with the fox, continue with the pelican, the pigeon and the monkey and remains with the Fox. The Most Reverend examines him through all degrees and leads him through all degrees to the throne,
 : 29* i

-

452 .

where he must take the following oath: "I hereby renew all liabilities which I have incurred in the previous degrees and testify that I will faithfully and under penalty of perjury
 to keep everything that is false and against Freemasonry treacherous brothers; and for the strength of my Desire for perfection, I promise
 I before the face of the great architect of the world and in the presence of the enlightened Masons who hear me that I always humbly practice all those virtues which the laws of Freemasonry prescribe to me, and what distinguishes the members of our order; otherwise I consent to being expelled from the society of people and treat me like a villain, unworthy of the name and privileges of a Mason if: So help me God! Amen." As soon as the oath is laid, the Most Reverend embraces him and gives him time, words and grips. About them in the catechism. The grip outside the lodge is that one takes one's full hand, and rub the surface of the same with the middle finger. The sign is to place the right hand on the heart and the left hand upside down in front of the eyes, so that the thumb is The word is 'Adonai'. It is like the other passwords spelled out. The Reverend gives the Scots the green apron and the green band with the St. Andrew's crosses. Then follows the Catechism of the Perfect Master.

Q. Who are you? A. Your Reverence! I am Master
after and know the great Jehovah. Fr. What does this mean Word? Answer: The immediate name, which is formed by Unmeasurability. "Je" means the past
"ho" the present and "vah" the future, or the what was, what is and what will be. In short, it is the Master word that has never been lost. Fr. What do you desire? Answer: To enter the sanctuary of the temple to receive the instruction there, so the perfection

. menbeit is granted. Fr. How do you want to use this favor worthy? Answer: By convincing that I have the Zirkel and its quadrature. Q. How did you come to this Perfection achieved? Answer: Through the degrees of the apprentice, of the journeyman and the master. Fr. How did you get into the 458

Lodge introduced? Answer: With a rope around the neck. Fr.
Why? Answer: To teach me that we have to
We must not blush at the trials that are being faced with us-takes to make us more perfect; also brings
The rope reminds us that the murderers of Master Hiram after his murder a rope around the neck and the body from the western door of the temple. Q. What did you find in the Middle of the lodge? Answer: A large square stone, on which had four circles and four squares. Fr. What be-What do the four circles mean? Answer: Existence, the immeasurable ity, power and unity of the great architect of the World. Q. What do these four squares mean? Ans. The four parts of the world over which the power of the Most High is tightened. Fr. Through which door did you enter the temple? gone? Ans. Through the south. Fr. Why? Ans. To indicate that by moving away from the ge= ordinary path to perfection. Fr. What did you see at the south door? Answer: The Tomb of our venerable Master Adonhiram. Fr. What sure sign can you give me to convince that you are a perfect master? Answer: A crucial: the holy word, the password and the Signs and touches that distinguish us from all other distinguish. Q. What is the word? Answer: Adonai. Q. What does it mean? Ans. In Hebrew: the Lord; it is one of the names of God. Q. What is your name as a Scot? Ans. Notuma. Fr. How many characters do you have? Ans. Four. (The first is done by stretching out the hand, as if one wanted to place them on the Gospel, whereby the security of our connection is symbolically presented; the second is to place the hand on the left chest; the third is done by placing the right hand outstretched to indicate that we are giving thanks to our brothers help and support; and the eyes that we turn to Heaven= mel indicate that we can see these effects of the prese= hung admire and venerate. The fourth, finally, where pointing your index finger at the earth indicates that every human being has come from it and returned to it= must return.) Q. How many contacts are there? Ans.

454

Five. Fr. Which one do you find? Answer 1) Fuß versus Fup; 2) Knee against knee; 3) the first grip with the full right hand; 4) the second grip on the right elbow; 5) the left hand on the back. Fr. What did they do to you? decorated? Answer With a green ribbon. Fr. Why? Answer To show me the hope I could have through Practicing all the virtues I was taught, fully= to come. Q. How old are you? Answer Full= come over seven years. Q. What kind of weather is it? Ans. Starry beautiful sky and bright shining moon= fhin. Q. Where does the wind come from? Ans. From the happy parts of the world. Q. What is the clock? Ans. High midnight. | ne |

I. Scottish Apprentice Reception.

Scottish apprentices and journeymen are also called Black Brothers. The lodge is furnished as follows: 1) the room,

The floor and altar must be covered in black. On the altar, in addition to the usual equipment, there is a crown and a burning lamp. The Grand Master is dressed in black and has a hat embroidered with blue stars on the head. In addition to the ornaments of higher grades, he has the black band with the dagger on it. The officers show also in a higher grade of jewelry. The Schottische masters take their place in the south, and the foreign chosen brothers in their usual adornment and in long mourning cloaks stand between the masters of ceremonies in the North. 2) In the outer room, which is also black dressed, there is a Black Brother. The same room. It is only lit by a lamp. Right on the foot. The black shroud lies on the ground. 3) In the outermost or third room, at the entrance to the middle room, there is a Altar, which is illuminated and clothed in the same way, as is customary in the Johannisloge. In this room is also a Black Brother; the outermost anteroom but is guarded by a serving brother. 4) On the northern side of the altar in the inner room there are two Footrests: on one of them lie the files and the hammer the St. John's Lodge, on the other, on a black `: Smoking weed, the jewelry to be distributed. As soon as at the end the lodge transformed the Andreas Lodge into a Johannis Lodge is, the master of ceremonies unwraps the table of the black Brothers together.

455

Opening of the lodge. |

When the St. Johannis Lodge was opened, the Grand Master converts the Masters Lodge into a Scottish Lodge of the chosen brothers, by hitting the hammer on the Kiffen and takes the bell, ringing it four times. This four-ringing is done by both venerable officers—Hern repeats. The shining Grand Master orders, outside to inform the reverend brother that he is willing, to transform the lodge. This is accomplished by the sheet-made the tlc lodge signs and lit the lantern. The Reverend Brothers Overseers indicate to the brothers that the St. Andreas Apprentice and Journeyman Lodge open free. As soon as the Lodge is open, the Grand Master appoints two brothers, one of which is the outer room, the other the inner room to await the arrival of the seeker. When the seeker has arrived, this is confirmed by clings in the outermost room of the lodge, because now the introducing brother after the outermost or third room to receive it there. The self-chosen brother places himself at the door and lets the seeker enter as master. The Introductory brother, who stands at the altar and at the entrance to the standing in the second room, asks him: what is his intention fe, how he could dare to subject himself to the dangers that await him; why he did not finish with the master's degree want to be satisfied? If he tries to gain the entrance, he says he that he might seek the way himself, and that he

fi) himself if his life was in danger.
If the seeker persists in his intention, he leads him to the altar, puts his hand on the Bible and says: "Worth=
Dear brother, if you persist in your resolution,
To gain entry to the chosen brothers, ask
I now accompany you on your previously taken Masonic oath and Loyalty, and on the orders of our Grand Master and the brothers, whether you assure that none of the brothers of the lower degrees will Secrets that can be discovered here= ten?" If the searcher answers "Yes!", the introductory brother rings his bell and says: "Worthy

* 3 '156 |

Brother, I lend you this bell so that you can announce yourself."
Then he hands him his lamp, saying: "Worthy brother=
the, the ways are dark, I lend you this Light, to find the way with it; alone (by his naked sword shows) you know, my brother, that if You come back without giving me convincing evidence to be able to that you won the entrance, the sword your death. Under no other conditions will I give you= these tools and now you are no longer allowed to fo think about it or turn back." As soon as the seeker is in the middle room, the Bru= who comes with the dagger and asks who he is, where he is and finally says: because he is equipped with good tools, fhe may continue to seek his way. If the seeker fhe announced himself in front of the innermost room by means of his bell
, all the chosen brothers bring to the overseers and give the bells to the Grand Master, who will ring the Most Reverend ous overseers to be alert so that they are not surprised
The door is opened, the Black Brothers ma= form a circle around the seeker who has entered, and hold the dagger towards him. The brothers, who been outside, come in. The Grand Master asks then in the usual way, who he was, where he was master been asked why he further promotions demands further promotion, who is responsible for him Guarantor which is received by the Secretary, read and, if it has been entered into the protocol, returned The Grandmother asks: "Is it your will,
my brothers, that this worthy master, Brother NN, Scottish apprentices and journeymen will be accepted?

ches by the brothers of higher degrees through the lodge sign, but is affirmed by the Black Brothers by the fact that hold the lamp in front of your face. The Grand Master says: "High= Worthy brothers Overseer, let this worthy brother Take the oath! Both brothers overseers place their swords crosswise= white over his chest, the master of ceremonies holds his bi= bel what he swears and during the taking of the oath, and the secretary tells him this= ben: "I NN fwear and vow in the All= most of the temple before the bright splendor of the God= bed and before this assembled Scottish Masters, that 457

I the secrets of the same, which are now and in the future
revealed to the brothers of the lower stu= fen, even less to the profane, also that I never this now received Scottish degree with the revealed Secrets to a brother of the lower levels for me
individually; this I promise sacredly and solemnly, and if I do otherwise, the curse shall be upon my soul so that it can neither flourish nor thrive.
Finally, I promise all my brothers, but especially my Scottish brothers, to love them deeply and to assist with advice and action, and should it also be with Loss of my own honour, property and blood,
God help me!" When the oath has been taken, fays the Grand Master: "Most Reverend Brothers Overseers, let You this worthy brother as a chosen Scottish Brother travel." The selected brothers then go from the door and stand at the table with their backs to turned to it. The second brother overseer, whose Position now occupied by another Scottish master dressed, goes to the new master, brings whose bell and lamp in the proper position, let him put the sword against his chest and asks him to give the light to follow. The brother overseer, holding out the lamp in front of his face, let him pass four times through the west and north wander. With each walk he lets him go west between the overseers with their faces turned away, since in the meantime from the maturity report is given. As soon as the
To inform that the journeys are completed,
The Black Brothers quickly turned towards the table.
The Grand Master then says: "Most Reverend Brothers Overseers, let these worthy brothers enter the inner space of the Temple fH through 27 steps. This is done by the Overseers accomplished this by quickly guiding the searcher to the east, and through master steps the noted 27 steps, namely 13 in the west and the remaining 14 in the south, whereupon the Grand Master asks: "Permission=

Believe me, my brothers, that this worthy brother will Altar?" which was painted by the Scottish masters without, by the Black Brothers but with the light through the usual applause, then the

408

Seekers through the master steps towards all four parts of the world, namely from the south through the west and north to Often to Altar and quickly turned towards the altar.

When the seeker stands before the altar, he is ordered to fall on his knees. The Grand Master lays this right hand on the Bible and the sword, and gives him the dagger in his left hand, the tip of which he on his chest. In this position the group talks to him master as follows: "Vow, my brother, under precisely the punishment and with renewal of the connections that You have previously entered into Freemasonry and its Secrets, if necessary, with your to defend your life and your blood, and either to win or to die, as well as the violence to avenge those against them or against the brothers. could be instigated?" After the searcher has confirmed this with "Yes!" the Grand Master put his hand the seeker's hand through the crown grip over the Crown, then falls into the attack and orders the Seekers to stand up; the Grand Master stands up, takes the Crown in the left hand, and with the right hand makes he gives the crown sign to the seeker and says: "Worthy brother, according to your assurance, by virtue of my Violence and the position I hold, I take you on (by pulling the crown through his armed hand) to selected brother apprentice and journeyman of the Scottish Loge." He raises the dagger, sweeps the tip against the neck, chest and stomach, gives the dagger in the folded hands of the adopted one, in the manner of the Blackzen brothers, make the crown sign and say: "Be welcome!" The Grand Master takes his place again, and the Master of Ceremonies is ordered to accept the menen so that he could take the jewelry and may receive further customers. He will then to the northern side, where all the jewelry and räthfschaft, except the dagger and the shoulder straps, on a Tabonret or black weed. The grandmaster says:

"You know, my brothers, what an unfortunate fate our most revered father Adonhiram had how sad

Solomon was, when the violence was brought to his attention=

459

those that were exercised on this father, and how zealously he searched for where he might be able to find it, and that he unfortunate father was buried with all the honors. I would now like to tell you what happened at this funeral happened, and how Solomon rewarded the faithfulness of those who performed the burial. Listen to this report, as it has been handed down to us from the earliest times and entrusted with attention." If the first part of the report has been read out, the Grand Master gives the Newly admitted the apron and says: "Reverend, By virtue of my righteousness, I have appointed you to the elected brother, and as a sign of this grass I give you this apron. Its meaning is You have already heard, and what the four bands on it= cojen mean, you will find out in the future when our Schot= tic masters will find it good to explain them to you ren." The Grand Master then gives him the small Order= band with the skull and asks: "Most Reverend Brother, you have also heard what this band means; let They remember the skull of our Adonhiram, let= ber to die than to discover what one, without to break an oath cannot be revealed." The Grand Master Fter gives him the bell and says: "Most reverend brother! This bell shall remind you, at all times at the first signal, that our brothers give you, to be ready, and it un= to report immediately if anything hostile against our town= which is on the track; it is therefore considered at this degree as a solution was needed." If the newcomer has such ōs form, the Grand Master grants him the Instruction on the Word and the Extraordinary Solution of the Lodge. The Grand Master then has the Reverend Secretary read the rest of the report, during which the Grand master takes into account the usual ceremonies, then gives the lamp to the newly admitted brother and says: "Most Reverend Elect Brother! You have heard in for what purpose the lamp is distributed, watch day and night over our temple!" Then he takes the Dagger, hangs him from the left to the right, and says: "Most venerable, chosen brother, I arm You with this dagger, so that you can use it to attack the temple, defend the Crown, its members and themselves, the avenge the murder committed by Adonhiram, and the widow and the Widow children may defend. The dagger is on this

460

white-striped band to testify to your innocence and to adorn the respectable degree that you hold among us in our lodge possess it."

Declaration of inclusion and table of the sheet=
tic apprentices and journeymen. -

"The circumstances, Reverend Brother, which prevailed at your

5 recording may seem very strange to you= have come; but they will no longer be there for you,

if you want to consider that if an innocent death puts an end to a life whose loss leaves its afterlife= which is very painful, a proper burial is the first to be, which proves how much interest one has in in the event of death. The same is true of Adon= hiram and the brothers of the temple. They would not have serves to find their great one again, if they have this luck not to the honor of his hereditary corpse.
So, reverend brother, have you been with your master= taking part in -the St. Johannisloge the discovery of Adonhiram's Death celebrated, you should now know that the Acceptance as an apprentice and journeyman in the St. Andreas Lodge usual customs to which you have just submitted, have been introduced and committed in a way that Reason in Adonhiram's burial. That you have a Bell and lamp have been given as tools with which you feft entry into our black and dark lodge= fen, fol you remember a funeral at which the coffin under the light of the lamp and under the Ge= ringing of the bells until it falls into the lap
the black earth. That you yourself had to search for the entrance, a reminder of this burial, since our 27 masters also made their way from the mountain to the Temple at full midnight with lights seek their arrival at the temple with bells. That She went through a dark room in which death seemed to be lying and seemed to keep company in time, had to go to the lodge, indicates that our zealous ancestors have done many terrible things through= wander, visit the dead in their tombs and disturb had to, before Adonhiram could come to his last and magnificent Rubeftätte could promote. That the. Heap of the chosen ones= ten turned his weapons against you at the door, marked the armed guard, with which 18 masters at the mountain of Si= nai and all the masters at the temple of Adonhiram's burial Travel also had to take place here because it was dead Adonhirom before he got to where he was supposed to be.

461

You remember, reverend brother, what these journeys your admission to Freemasonry; enjoy the Luck constant, with light and weapons your journey on to continue on the good path of virtue. – That the
The chosen brothers were as close to each other as they could the ftated, met you upon your entry, and while traveling kept the table covered in front of you, shows that when Adonhiram's murderers believed, with the bond, that in him body and soul are united, at the same time the golden
To break the bond of union that united his order tear, we will tighten the knot even more and with the assistance of the father of the brothers through an indissoluble band together. They have become a Scottish journeyman with 27 steps to the innermost room of the Temple. Remember the 27 steps, to visit the temple diligently, and that you
the earthly ones to find safe and secure paths on the right path
To be able to take steps towards the eternal heavenly temple. The steps around the table against all four corners of the world give your ver= bond to recognize that you keep secret, high to ach= and defend yourself, as you are on the board in the= fe regions of the world, which we will now examine in more detail want to take a look at. In the middle of the table is the earth= sphere, on which we can also see after Adonhiram's death will rot after he has been buried, and have da= against the more the unification bond, so at the top in the East, across all four continents stretched out so that it never e= which must lose its ancient strength. The circle and the angle measure is also shown here again;
fhe ft are valuable symbols for a Freemason, although he
the latter has been trampled upon, and does not find that the former is still enjoyed during the recording. Adonhi=

462

Ram's coffin, Mount Sinai and the acacia branch find even= if you already know things; do not tire of repeating them so often posed, as we remember that they were from the ftory of the death and burial of Adonhiram inseparable find. The scale, here placed at a right angle, ift divided into 27 equal parts. They are in the nature of the number itself, because it comes from 3. But you must especially honor the memory of the 27 masters who Adonhiram's burial was so laudably cared for. The
The sun and the moon are indeed presented to us, because As lovers of light, we can use these symbols of light=
tes. But Adonhiram's burial in a a night in the new moon, so this sky appears here=

lic torch dimmed and the star disappeared. "The Crown means Solomon's presence at the funeral. It was entrusted to the temple, was formerly in the Tabernaculum, and was based on the model made, the rose made on Mount Sinai

The three swords, one of which is on the altar and the other two lie in a wreath on the table, and the actual characteristics and symbols of this degree are in memory of the Israelites who helped rebuild of the temple the trowel in one hand and the sword in the other hand. These weapons also remind you, that you are in a military order that is characterized by a Army enemies to the gates of the new Jerusalem through= The bell is the tool with which you the entrance into the temple, and the lamp serves you, f to light yourself up at midnight. It also reminds you, be= to constantly watch over yourself and your duties, which, during the Wandering through the dark valley of tears to the revealed light which is hidden from the profane, and you alone to the height where light and life no longer have any variety and " Jewels which at the right time as Jewellery must be purchased for the Scottish apprentices fen, find the following: a) A black apron with the like silk lining, with a silver embroidered death tenkopfe. b) A bell. c) A lamp. d) A dead person= head, set in a triangle, with matching fchwar= shoulder straps with white bows. e) A few men and a pair of women's gloves, trimmed with striped ribbon.

463

Catechism,
or general questions for Scottish apprentices and Journeymen. 3

Fr. Reverend Brother, find you a Scottish apprentice and journeyman? Answer: The Grand Master and all true brothers know me for that. Fr. Where are you from? Autw. From the Number of those who have found their lost master and feel fure about his innocence. Q. Why did you feel a Scotsman? Answer: To be a defender of the widow and of the nobility. Fr. What instructions give Do you believe me when I say that you have a Scottish brother? Answer. This, that I know the Acacia. Fr. How did you for a Scotsman? Answer: I was he= known by my signs, handle, word, password and by my . Innocence in the murder of our innocent Grand Master. Fr. How do you give me the signal? Answer: As a Scottish

I give the same to my apprentice by placing my left hand in the wine kelmaaß in front of the face and as a journeyman I give the same, in-in which I raise my right arm perpendicularly and in it my= a dagger horizontally from me. Fr. How do you give me the handles? Answer: After I put half my foot against the Juss and connected knee to knee, so I give As a Scottish apprentice, I offer you my hand to to make the apprenticeship mark with you, whereupon I afterwards as a journeyman with the right arm against the right arm drive, press the middle finger against the elbow and the left arm behind my back. Q. What is the word?
Answer: As a Scottish apprentice, I give you the new master= word, as a journeyman I want to mention the letter A before you, and I will then let you tell me the rest. Fr. Which is Your solution? Answer: As an apprentice, I know how to ring my bell.

ben, and as a journeyman I will show you my lamp. Fr. Have You saw your master? Ans. He saw me. Fr. How was he dressed? Answer: Covered with stars and sky blue. Fr.
What is your name? Answer: My name is the same as the first Architects. Q. How old are you? Answer: Well over seven.
Q. Why do you answer fo? Ans. Because Salonw is too elect, not in spite of our desires, but in Intention of our loyalty. Fr. When one brother betrays another lated, where does he find it again? Answer Between East and West

464

fen. Q. Where is the Grand Master's place? Ans. Where he fine must. Fr. Why do you answer fo? Anw. Because the sun which always rises and opens the day in the east, although it is not always visible. Fr. Where are the brothers also safely placed? Answer: In the West. Fr. Where did you Your own place? Answer: Next to the sun. Question: Why?
Ans. Because appearances do not blind us. Fr. If you have your= have a smaller place next to the sun, what use is the light to you?
Answer: When the sun darkens, we see the light of the moon.
Further admission questions.

Question: How do you get into the high Scottish lodge?
Answer: Through 27 steps. Question: What do these mean?
Answer: I am commanded to fill the temple with the living and twenty masters, nine of whom are in
of every gate when our Grand Master was buried.
Q. Have you walked as a Scot? Ans. I have four= wandered, as is usual for an apprentice
Q. In what way? Ans. Armed, enlightened, but through dark paths. Q. What did you encounter during the Travel. Answer: The crowd of brothers surrounded me and turned their weapons against me until I had paid my debts.

 ity. Q. How did you complete your Obligation? Answer: I never deny my obligation (Own _ vows), which I treasure in my heart, for it can you can never get it; but my unfaithfulness can never be replaced. Fr. Who gave you entry Answer: One of my brothers lent me a Bell and a lamp, with which I can mark my entrance
 I have procured. Fr. How did you enter the 27 stairs, with wels chen you fic) approached the inner space? Answer. By Wes ften I approached with 13 steps to the south, where the rear 14 stairs were closed permanently. Fr. How did you Have you approached your grandmaster? Answer: Through four steps to all parts of the world. Fr. What did the Grand Master with you? Answer: He had me taught in all that an apprentice and journeyman must know, and then gave me the Ornaments which belong to this grade. Fr. What does it mean?
 ten the four roses on your apron? Answer: We know that my masters. Q. What do the colors on your ribbon mean?

4

465

Answer: The black means my and my brothers' cheap
 Zeauer about the death of our Grand Master, and the white Rand represents our innocence in the murder that was committed.
 Question. Why were you given the skull? Ant= word. To remind myself to be just as ready for death, as our innocent Grand Master, if I am forced wanted to discover our secrets. Fr. Why do we receive You a dagger and the candlesticks? Answer: Around the temple to defend, and rather die than be a perjurer
 Fr. How do you defend yourself with fel bigem? Answer: Through my discretion and virtue= performance. Q. Why were you given gloves?
 Answer: To remind myself of my duty to the Witts
 'wen and the widow's children to defend. Fr. Why Were you photographed by the light of a lamp? Answer To show that the word of the Lord, which he shines, as if it were a lamp (light), which is on a dark place until the day dawns and the morning star rises= goes in our hearts. Fr. What is your business in the Scottish Lege? Answer To refine the work and polish. Q. How do you do that? Ans. By fighting= combine equipment with the work tools, and thus ftalt with the sword in one hand and the trowel in the other hand do the work.

Questions relating to the interpretation of the Scottish Serve as an apprentice and journeyman's table. b

Q. What did you see when you came into the lodge? Autw.

A dim glow of a lamp illuminated me and made me see nothing but mourning things. Q. What were such? Ans.

The coffin of our highly enlightened father and the tools, with which he was killed. Q. Where did you see such? Answer.

Under Mount Sinai, where he was buried and where he was later taken away by our brothers and buried

ben. Q. What did you see on the mountain? Ans.

There was a place there where the acacia branch was placed.

Q. What did you see on the mountain? Ans. I saw the Sun and moon obscured and the flaming star disappeared. Fr. What does that mean? Anw. This means indicates that the burial took place in a night, since it, every dark . so that the lights were not seen, or 30

466

did not seem. Fr. At what time was the funeral

Answer: At full midnight. Fr. What were the Master dressed as they went to see our unfortunate father

Answer: In mason's costume: with spade in the Hands to dig up the body; with lights to

– ÜH to shine with it; together with a bell to mark a time to give if something hostile was to be feared, and decorated with fur aprons. Fr. In what way and by

Who was buried? Answer: The nine Mei=

fters who had dug up the body wrapped it in their aprons and carried them into the temple, where they were placed in a magnificent grave was laid. Fr. How was this taken out? Answer: What was right happened to him.

For his neck was cut off, his heart was torn, his Tongue and entrails thrown into the abyss of the sea,

this body burned to ashes and the ashes scattered into the air= ftrent. Fr. By whom was this accomplished? Ans. By the brothers Freemasons. Fr. Who was the one whose corpse was treated so grimly? Answer: It happened that= because, so that no remembrance (memory) of the same remains among the Brothers Freemasons may be found, therefore

I did not ask. Fr. What else do you have in the lodge qez fee? Ans. I have the crown of Solomon's Tem= pels that I have only touched. Fr. How was this Crown made? Answer: Of fine gold, she had a

Heading according to the model given and in the Taber= naculum is kept. (Exodus 39, v. 30.) Fr. What does for this crown? Answer: That we win and the crown of life, which in eternity will be for us all as a reward for our spiritual temple building is revealed. Q. What else did you see? Answer: Two. swords placed in the wreath. Fr. Why were these swords= ter there? Answer: Because the Ifraelites under the ban the trowel in one hand and the sword in the other hand. Q. Why was the sword on the altar? Answer: I gave there the last commitment, which all chosen brothers gave. Fr. Is this all that you have seen, or did you see more? Answer: I have Four more are considered: the bond of unity among all the brothers which never breaks; the globe on which we scattered; the bell and the lamp, through which I I have paved the way. Q. Why do you wear a bell? Ans. Because I am awake, as befits a chosen brother . which is due. Q. What are you alert about?: Answer. About the crown, about the temple building and about the enemies of Temple. Q. Who are the enemies of the temple? Ans. All vices that destroy the spiritual temple building. Fr." What is the lamp for? A. To show me at midnight light up. Fr. What is the bell? Ans. South, when the Lodge is opened, and north when it is closed. II. Neception of a Scottish Master and Andreasritter.

467

In the recording of a Scottish Master,
The following circumstances should be taken into account during preparation:
1) the altar as well as the throne must be dressed in white and on all sides with St. Andrew's crosses decorated finely, and on On the western side there is a red blanket with embroidered Stars. 2) On the altar there is usually the Bible, the compass, the square and the sword, and also find a crown, a burning lamp and a bell placed in a triangle, with seven lights, three of which are in the north= west, and four in the south-west. 3) The brightly shining Grand Master takes his place in ordinary costume and Qute on his head. The officials of the Scottish Lodge stand in their usual places. Both Stuarts have red bands on their rods. The Shotti- fchian masters are stationed in the south. All brothers have, as long as the lodge is open, their swords are drawn. 4) On the On the south side of the altar lie on a red cushion the Ornaments to be distributed on this day. On the right side of the same lie on a blue pillow all the jewels that belong to the St. John's Lodge. 5) Between Often and West, the gallows begin in the south The opening of the lodge takes place under slightly different forms and precautions=

But before the candidate is allowed to enter the lodge, let the introducing brother puts his hand on the Gospel Johannes, and demands from him the following first vow: "Promise, my brother, on this holy book and under your previous vows, which you took as a Masonic apprentice

30*

gx
+ A `

ti journeyman, master and selected brother, no brother of the lower degrees knows anything about the fciies, secrets and the working methods of the Scottish Mef

to disclose or discover any further, nor in any way to provide guidance for their revelation and discovery?"

Answer: Yes! Then you decorate it before entering and demands the second vow: "Promise, boues

Dear brother, to this holy Scripture and your previous

Gene Masonic connections after you become a master been accepted, all of which are the responsibility of a Scottish master to want to fulfill one's obligations, ready and willing to fine to do the work, at whatever place of your

Architects are ordered to find out more about the old style to prevent, divert and fatisfy all dissensions which can arise in any way among the brothers, and to defend our brothers to the utmost of our ability,

far from causing them any oppression or inflicting on them become fok? Answer: Yes! After taking this vow

the introducing brother pulls out the rope and says:

"Reverend Brother, I am obliged to inform you of this golden rope and symbol of unity among the brothers

cken. If such a decoration had been the death of many brothers

fen ift, I wish that you meanwhile a similar sadidfai

The introductory brother lays the

- Guchenden the rope around the neck, then put the abri

part of it into his pocket and goes back to the lodge, since in the meantime the two Stuarts of the Lodge had shown the seeker their Place the sword crosswise on the bruit. After the fih-

Brother of the Lodge proper information about all that happened, the High Shining One fetches the Cin-

consent of fellow shining brothers to introduce

of the reverend brother, to which end given a sign of applause the introductory brother sent out again

Both Stuarts then hand over to the chosen

Brother, to whom the introductory person waves, and he goes before him to the door of the lodge, where he passed through four times four sword strikes are reported. After the strike been reported, let the Grand Master see who is — ift, and if it is the shining introductory brother, he opened the door for him: The two stunts enter jitem,

W

> 469

to search for their usual places as soon as the door is opened nat, and the introducing brother remains with the search which is about three steps outside the door. The Grand Master asks: "Who is there? What is his service?"
His age? Has he been a member of another lodge before?
jen?" After the introductory brother has answered these questions and the brothers reported the answer to the overseers ben, the Grand Master asks: "Where does he come from?" The introductory
The brother answers: "He comes from the heap of Chosen Ones." The Grand Master asks further: "Why Does he want to become Scottish Master?" It is said
"To complete the degrees, to reach the truth and to approach the conclusion; likewise a worthy Me'
to make room for one who is among the chosen brothers seeks to be admitted, the number of which is otherwise full."
The Grand Master asks: "Give your consent, light brothers that this most venerable brother has entered into this shining lodge?" For this purpose, the usual type of degree the sign of approval is given, and the seeker is introduced with seven steps: namely three of them
Ben in front of the door, in a straight line from the box room, under which three steps, in the first the apprentice sign, in the second the journeyman's mark, the third the master's mark sign, gesture, word and solution are required.
it is placed inside the lodge at a right angle to the outfe led with four steps and turned to the east, where he then took the sign of the Black Brothers from himself
When he enters, all the brothers raise their eyes zen on the Scottish Table, and as soon as he saw the sign of chosen brothers, they quickly resign and give the sign of admiration or astonishment, whereupon the initiating brother takes his usual place in the lodge
The Grand Master then repeats on usual way the previous ones, except the lodge to him questions raised; orders that they be recorded in a protocol
both what happened and the recommendation scribe, if he is from a foreign lodge, Reception and seeks naturalization, whereupon the Grand Master says: "Light

Dear brothers, please let this venerable brother
the third vow, which all Scottish masters

| 470

than after they were granted entry.”
Both guards place their sword points in the cross on his chest, and the master of ceremonies holds the Bible in front of him, on which he lays his hand upon taking the oath, and the is read to him by the Secretary: “I NN undertake me before the great architect of this world, before the Great master of this lodge, the overseers, officials and all brothers der Schottische Meister, that I, after my utmost may the Masonic sciences propagate, our Orders to defend rules, to encourage the builders to work and to instruct the masons in the art of masonry, from all corners of the earth suitable works and construction
to acquire equipment for the construction of the temple
I will not be defeated by fire and flame, nor what oppressions, nor persecutions that against me or the brothers—
wants to prevent or deter, with Stand ity, the purity, the increase and the honor of the Or to defend and fight for it wherever and whenever it required, and thus in every possible way the
to fulfil the duty incumbent upon a Scottish Master.
But if I violate this, I agree to pay all the
To suffer punishments and encounters to which I myself and voluntarily through my pre-given connection as a Schot tic master in such a case condemned anew, and the feverything, without daring to show the slightest mercy to desire kindness. As God, the highest Archi teft, help! After the vow is taken, the Grand Master: “Shining Brothers Overseer, let this chosen brother as Scottish Master!” which by four times three circuits in the south,
and the traveller receives a cross on each journey flfh from the brothers Auffeher, who then report the usual sword blows to the Grand Master. Should the Grand Master at the second and third rounds acquits fupon travel, so em
the traveller suddenly receives the cross-strokes for the above Travel, and is divided by seven steps from south to west fts were returned between the two overseers. The Grand Master fter demands the consent of the brothers, the black Su

471

to lead the faithful to the altar, and after the applause
through the rustling of the aprons he says: “Shining

Brothers Overseers, let this seeker and select
th Scottish Brother of our Order Throne and Altar by four steps to parts of the world fih approach." After to whom this happens, the Grand Master says: "Brother Ceres monienmeister, prepare the arrangements which are still necessary thig find to accept this brother as Scottish Master!"
The master of ceremonies pulls out the rope, directs it around the overseers, throws him over his heels, and gives the end to the Highly Shining One, whereupon he gives the seeker then to the construction crane, with his back against the circle, in which position the Grand Master addresses him thus:

"Reverend Brother! Before you dared to enter this room

mer, I hope and presume that you will her have carefully considered your conscience and your conduct from the time you joined the Freemasons your first recording. I therefore ask you, since you dare to approach this place, whether you

fi can rely on yourself sufficiently; whether you believe to have enough strength to endure the light which you here?" After the searcher has made a fine decision given, the Grand Master responds with a violent Voice: "Very well, my brother, we will see it straight away come true!" He quickly stands up, takes his sword from Altar in his right hand, goes quickly and violently to the seeker, grabs him with his left hand on the neck, and sits with his right hand the sword on his heart and asks:

"Where did you receive the Master Word?" As soon as the Searchers answered this question correctly according to the questionnaire, namely: "In the middle room!" fo immediately follows with continued the recording. "Reverend Brother, now I am I am completely satisfied with you, I am pleased with Hers zen, I am in a position to give you the preference which you have so ftrfed for and which Your vex behavior deserves, if you now yourself the difficulty fufficiency that still lies ahead of you." Under desen that this is said to the seeker, the Ce remonienmefter again the rope, files it over the Hacking, gives the end to the High Shining, which the Su

ing in the following way: "Reverend Brother! You

Fate is uncertain; but one more thing awaits you before
You can be accepted as Scottish Master, and This is a difficulty which is evidently ft linked to the road; but you are now too far gone that you, even if you wanted to, could not escape. Therefore, be prepared for anything, what you may encounter. Shining brothers Overseers, lead
You this shining brother, through the usual four steps, to the strange place where the golden rope that tied the has laid the foundation for the union of our brothers, the
A tool that helps us to connect it with ourselves and our shining Scottish masters." The seeker is led four steps backwards under the crane, and Brothers overseers station themselves on every side around
The Grand Master then says:

"All shining brothers, you are in happy!"

All Scottish brothers, in chains closed
Arms and swords raised high, close a circle around him, whereupon the Grand Master from his place in the Circle with his and the seeker's sword in hand;
he stands against the seeker, holding his swords in the corner, fets a point on his chest, the two brothers overseer fet the swords against the knees of the seeker. The Grand Master advances in this position four times the rope and says: "Most Reverend Bru-the, I take you through these four movements (he moves, lets the rope and falls the sword) by the power of the Ge= belonging to me ity and the highly luminous place which I enter (he makes the first blow) with the consent of all the luminaries tenden brothers Scottish masters (the second blow), among the= fem construction crane (the third sheet), and through this fourth sheet= tikhen stroke (the fourth Scottish stroke) I take you to Scottish masters and these.
Lodge up."

The Grand Master continues: | T
: "Shining Master of Ceremonies, take the golden rope and cleaning tape, which the shining brother with us and put it in its proper place."

Guobatd the piece laid down; if, perform the Grand Master

473

and fellow brothers breathe (Acolade) and take their usual positions in the Lodge. The Grand Master agrees to the guards who assisted the arriving brother at the crane

Page:

"Shining brothers Overseers, lead this shining and adopted brother Scottish Master to our altar,
to receive the righteousness that is due to him."

The adopted one is led to the altar, falls on the Kneel, put one hand on the Bible and the other on the Crown, on which the Grand Master with a wreathed sword on a fine Breast lets him take the fourth vow, which is from the Ses eretår is read out:

"I NN promise on my by three times three, before three times as a Freemason apprentice, journeyman and master sworn Oath, three times before my brothers shining Scottish Mai= ftern, of the righteousnesses belonging to me, in the first three Degrees of Freemasonry to distribute light, never to abuse chen. I also undertake to do the same in the place where this degree or special authority and constitution grants me this Justice leaves open to no one other than a worthy Man, or in any other way than our ancient laws and Habits the same by three times three attention and commanded, to distribute the light. So help me the highest architect!"

After taking the oath, the person accepted is raised up, the Grand Master takes his sword from the altar, gives him the= fame again and say: |

"Shining brother, this sword belonging to you, which during the recording on the Scottish Order Altar in Vers storage will be returned to you. It will be sent to you never taken in a lodge before you throw the same one away from fih. Use the same to .
Honour and protection of the order and the degree, then to create new Freemasons."

The Gropmeifter lets the new member see the files of the Acceptance of the first three degrees of Freemasonry and the rest Take the actions in your left hand, give him in the right hand a bricklayer's hammer, strikes him with bricklayer's blows on the raised shoulder and says: "Shining brother, I heal
You hereby the talk belonging to a Scottish Merter
Cadet, Freemasonry Apprentice, Journeyman and Master Lodges

474

open and close, and in exactly three degrees in Une to distribute the light to the mood, economy and table boxes;
but use in those places where constituted lodges be found to violate this justice to the detriment of the constituted working lodges not" The Master of Ceremonies brings a blue Smoking weed, whereupon he puts the files and the hammer, which again be placed in their usual place, whereupon the Grandmaster orders the master of ceremonies to the newly admitted in order to obtain the ornaments belonging to it. The master of ceremonies leads him to the throne on the south side. The Grand Master gives him the apron and says: "Shine the brother! According to the Scottish Master's degree, which you have now received, I present you with the apron skin." The Grand Master awards him the shoulder strap and says: "Shining Brother! I present to you the red ribbon as a Schottische jewelry, which is never given to anyone, who is not considered a chosen person and a true Christian. The meaning of the volume requires choice, because they also carry the same in memory of Adonhiram, as also countless martyrs and heroes who shed their blood to confirm Christian doctrine. It is said by from the right to the left side, in memory of the opened net side of our supreme master, whose shed blood the is the only means that can bring you purity, which a Freemason strives so hard for, and that alone can To make you so justified that you have no reason to fear, to be called upon because of your work. What the meaning of the star, which is considered an order: sign and is attached as an ornament at the bottom of the ribbon and is equal if on your apron as a memorial for us and our Brothers, it may not be possible for you to unknown, because it is precisely the flaming star whose Light first caught your eyes at the apprenticeship level, and in which you can use to obtain the journeyman's degree 6. This star can depict the same star that cher formerly three enlightened masons, who from the beginning of the sun came to the East to seek the light and the truth, the way showed; and the letter 6, which you see in it, has some Meaning; because among other things it means the name of the highest 3 of our order of high

225 ae sa 5 Pr 8
+ * CRE: -F s

475

Master craftsman and chief architect tft; he can also draw the word: Golgotha or place of execution and you ering that no danger will prevent our temple building must and can; partly the letter reminds you of the Word geometry, the fifth of the sciences, infon is dedicated to the fifth degree of Freemasonry, in which cher you are given the opportunity to measure heights and to approach them, as well as from the depth of the remains of the destroyed temple to rise up and move upwards.

The flames that shine around the star remind you of the Fire, with which a Scottish Master for the best of the Order work; partly, that neither fire nor flames

You can be deterred from defending an order that is based on founded on such a pure foundation as this. The five corners of the star, the five wounds of the Supreme Commander fters to remember." The Gropmeifter awards him the green ribbon and says: "Shining brother, here I present to you another, the badge and ribbon associated with this degree. This Ribbon is worn around the neck in some lodges, as in this one.

This ribbon is green in colour and represents the hope after which we, despite the unfortunate fate— fals of our temple, of which you will soon receive further information= will keep, nevertheless keep ourselves assured, the temple to be seen erected again. The order sign, which is reminiscent of the= fe ribbon is the image of St. Andrew illuminated by the sun, on a green enamelled an= dreaskreuze. The reason why those who belong to the Mei= promoted to the ftmost degree in the St. Andrew= or Scottish Lodge were to wear this St. Andrew's Cross as their medal gen, is partly that St. Andreas, who was first an apprentice of St. John, was considered by him to be a great master in whose service he became a perfect architect;

The reason for this is also that the Apoftel St. Andrew for the Protector or Protector of Scotland, where our ancestors lived for a long time protection and defense; and that the sun has been presented to you, to indicate that You in receiving this master degree of truth and the conclusion of our allegorical covenant is very close come find; The Grand Master shares a few men= and a pair of hay-shoes and says:

476

"Shining Bender, as proof of your admission Here are some men's and some women's shoes with divided, which you can use at normal distance

"Then follows the instruction in the identification signs and the reading of the rules of the degree; and now finally the End of the lodge. The lessons should be particularly brach= tenswerth: "It is said that pious brothers to the Ruins of the temple were discovered, that in these the reason ftone and under it the coffin of Adonhiram was found and this by means of a stride, after building a crane with kelft had raised four backs. The da= seven-branched candlesticks were found. "This lamp=

 ter – it continues – was formerly an ornament of Sa=
 lomos temple, and represents the seven lights and Wif fenfchafts which a Freemason must fih Sefleipigen, if he wants to become a perfect architect. The key,
 which is found above in the west if a key or pass:
 to Solomon's Temple and to the mysteries of the St. John's Lodge. He was before this by Father Adun hiram, and he was found in his coffin,
 where it is still kept to this day. The twelve Lights, which are distributed on all sides of this table, find – there in memory of the twelve oldest architects who
 To spread architecture in all parts of the world,
 The globe that stands here represents the entire earth
 on which our other Schoktic masters are divided ken and disperse, with the intention that, as long as somewhere gathered on the earth new, perfect architects become fine, who want to strive to reach Ars from all ends to hire workers and builders, and watch day and night too fine to sort the building with the help of the remaining banlente, until the temple is finished and its gates are opened. What the Ta= fel, the framework surrounding it is of the same importance |
 tion than has already been explained to you on the previous panel.
 Demolished steps of the stairs and wall can serve To remind them that the fortress and wall
 of superstition, tyranny and fraud must be torn down if the apartment and About temples of true fear of God, freedom and honesty and in your heart

477 be erected. The CGvdbugel presents you our eager to seek out our brothers all over the world and to serve them. The fever-armed candlestick can especially to serve as a reminder to all brothers, in every

 To shine especially for the Order, just like a Each arm of the lampstand was used to give the temple a to impart a special light; and that these arms of the luminary= ters are carried by a single foot, means the true unity among all our brothers, which, although fie of unequal degrees, yet a single degree
 The fact that the key is in the upper part of the remember the eternity rising in the East, to which a free= Masons must always prepare themselves, Those who are in the cross laid beams, with which the foundation stone was raised; even nn you that no effort should be burdensome for you to to look at the base of the building, and that on the
 The Hebrew word laid down as a foundation stone is the old master word, which our brothers have adopted as their signature

ben. Adonhiram's coffin, the skull, the cross laid in the ten dead bones and the acacia branch find sad over-remain, whose meaning you already want, and here again in memory of the white and beloved father, who such immovable constancy can be imagined.

Recording of a Scottish alto or master and Nitters of Saint Andrew.

The high Scottish lodge is decorated in red; all Bun-
The brothers appear in their usual clothes, and the ribbons on the badges of the lodge officers are black.
The master carries an A instead of the square, the -evfte
Foreman a square and a ruler, over which a half
Some ift, and the second foreman a compass with a half moons. The aprons are white, but red feeds. The table is covered in red; on the same hen three lights, the compass, the hammer and the bit
bel. There are four lights around the carpet. All fraternity brothers appear without swords, except for the youngest, who is in the lodge Frère gardien is called, and at the door in the lodge with with his sword drawn. (The high Scottish Lodge belongs only for those among the Masons who, with time, destined for higher knowledge. When all together,

478

the master hits the table with a blow, - asking:
"All right, my brothers!" Then they make all the signs of masonry from apprentice to high Scotsman. The Master now asks the following questions: "Four times venerable brother the first leader, you are from the mastery of the high Scottish Lodge?" Answer: Yes, four times venerable Master,
It is me. "What is the duty of a master of the high Scottish Lodge? Answer: To ensure that the Lodge is covered by the protective brother. The Frere gardien then goes out of the lodge, flees to the Thüs and returns the following answer: "Four times more honest-Worthy brother superior, the doors are locked."
The master then continues: "Brother second overseer, what is your name? - Answer: My name is Sarfena. Master. What high is it time? Answer: The sun has set.
Master. Since it is the right time, I open this high f Lodge in the name of the Grand Master of the entire Order, in the name of the Supreme of this Lodge, with all honors
gen in the holy number." He then makes seven metric Blows on the table, which were repeated by the leaders and says: "The Lodge is open." The Master presents then the lodge presents the recipients, and if no one has any objection to this, he sends one of the Brothers out to prepare him and fih special= to inquire about the thoughts he had about the The taxidermist brings it to the master in the Silent Message » and if the Master makes such valid knows, he continues; if not, he is allowed to Lodge to explain that he could not help him any further because of the consequences. He then orders him to be brought to the door of the lodge and the taxidermist knocks seven times. The Master then asks the following questions through Frère gardien him: 1) Look who is there! Answer: A master (or Scottish Brother), who became Master of the High Scottish Lodge wishes to be let in. 2) Ask him for the apprentice's word! Answer Jakin. 3) Ask him for the Journeyman's word. Answer Boaz. 4) Ask him about the master= word. Answer Macbenac. 5) Ask him about the Scottish Word! If he had been a lesser Scot? Answer: Notuma. 6) u Sa he? an; From evening. 7) Where does he think he? Answer Gen Morgen. 8) Ask him if he has connections on them that could be contrary to ours? Answer No. (These connections are: 1) another order, 2) Servitude, and some strict lodges 3) in matrimonial bonds.) Then the sword is taken away from the recipient outside= men, a cloth is hung over his face, and after the master said: "Let him come in!" he is led The master addresses him: "You have committed yourself to something Importantly decided that you dared to enter to the high Scottish Lodge. We demand, however, previously from you a solemn connection, which you shall before= be read; will you dare to do so?! (The Oath is read out.) The oath, which the high Scottish The form that fraternity brothers take upon their admission is: "I NN vow and swear to God, the Creator of the world, against my rightful Master of this high Scottish Lodge, in In the presence of current Scottish Federation brothers, a free and physical oath that I will not disclose the secrets to which I now, and my assumption that I have of it men, wants to hide in the most secret of all the world, and do not want to reveal the slightest point of it to anyone, even if he were the master of the entire order, where I do not see him in a legitimate high Schotti= fch Lodge, or he recognized me as one of It has been made known to the superiors of this lodge. I promise to keep the Order and its secrets fef and nothing about it, neither through writings or To create characters or images where such are not. of my Superior is especially allowed, and I am above all treason= the secured; not to mention nothing about it, except with a sincere brother and after having taken security; also I promise not to join any other order where I have not been given permission by my superiors to be, and yet to be of such a nature to the Order that I never knew anything about its secrets, images and customs discover and use it to the benefit of others. I vow end=ly, faithful to the holy faith until the last breath to be, to love humility, to obey my superiors=amen, to live in abstinence, to flee the Lafter, the To practice good, to show compassion and love to all people wafe, and to behave in general as if I were a righteous master of the high Scottish League brothers=ftity. Then come upon me all the evil that taken upon me if I fulfill my duties, wifent=ly not to harm the Order. To the strengthening I defend the words of my Redeemer! The master asks him: 1) Do you want to take this oath? 2) Do you consider it to be casual, lawful and forever indissoluble? 3) Do you really have no connections on You who might be opposed to the present? Has the Recipient answered this, he lets him take the oath and sign himself under. The candle will then be taken from their hands and erased. The two pre=fteher cover his face again, lead him backwards from the carpet, and then three times in the box herum. During this tour, all lights in the Lodge extinguished and only a pale lamp on the Altar lit. If he now stands at the end of the carpet the following questions arise: Master. Four times reverend Dear brother, first overseer, what time is it? Answer Four=times venerable master, the quietest hour in the nacht. Master. Beer mal venerable brother second Unfieher, what Do you notice? Ans. It has become dark, our Fraternity brothers are scattered and there is only a small light, that illuminates the temple. Master. Through which our VFederal brother scattered? Answer: Due to a weather that all four sides of the sky. Mostly. It leads one of the masters to me so that I can teach him further and included in the number of Scottish Brethren. The we the supervisor then takes the recipient under his arms and lead him around the carpet four more times, until he comes to the right hand of the Master and goes as=daun back. The Meier then takes the you from the face, and addresses him as follows: "The floating faces vows and obligations that you have voluntarily undertaken men, make it so that I can dare to take you into the

479

480

Pays to the high Scottish Federation brothers. I but would not dare to do so if it were not for us inter wine and we were safe on all sides;
because this creates a secure wall between us and the

+

481

strangers and many of ourselves. I take you Therefore, take off this apron that you have worn so far (by takes off his apron and throws it over his head) and around=
Gird yourself with this apron of the high Scottish brothers Mason (putting on the new apron), whereby your remember that everything that has happened to you before, nothing is against the secrets that you have in the Bolge should certainly be allowed to go if you chosen and do not make yourselves unworthy. Through but this sevenfold blow (whereby he strikes it three times gently in front of the forehead and twice on each shoulder with the Ham= mer fchlacht) I will take you in to be among the number to be counted among the high Scottish League brothers.
This is the sign of our brothers; that means that you can already see the splendor of the Order from here from, but this, that you in your heart all Preserve secrets revealed to you and those yet to be revealed
This is the position you are supposed to take in the Lodges.
need, it meant the shattered pillars and the perfection hidden beneath it. You have but both in any other way than in a true Scottish Lodge from you. The word is Sarfena; and your
To determine age, it is more than a perfect age
ter. I wish you luck from the bottom of my heart, walk before God in purity and sincerity, honor your superiors, love your Brothers, be faithful to the Order and your duties, and beware, above all, against no one, even if he no matter how high his knowledge is, if he also the Master of all Lodges, the least of what you learn here; because You are of a special kind and too special the secrets. Always keep this in mind Fine memory. Please allow the two leaders to recognize you= and join the ranks of the fraternity brothers for now."
While the recipient now has to recognize himself to the leader=
all the lights are lit again and the Master orders the carpet to be explained. "Even before you nor came to the door of our lodge, our=
The master must be familiar with the idea that She fid of the order and fine secrets

482

Rarely does that match exactly what you judging the interior of a locked palace, when one has never been there; but there are reasons why.
Our master alone is allowed to judge about it. You were met at the door by the brother on duty examined as if you were one who had not yet taken a step in the Order of Freemasons, and conclude by saying that although all Freemasons are members of our Federation= brothers, yet they are so far away from us
fare than the strangers who are outside the Order.
Their faces were covered to show them that the light to which you were approaching was too powerful to to be viewed by you without hindrance. One took Your gun, as a sign that weapons are completely unnecessary
Things find, yes perhaps our duties and our determination=
You were finally led in; you approached fih the master, a burning candle in his hand, to the ets that you were looking for something that required a laborious investigation was worth it, but also as a sign that there was a holy fe ...

Take your oath with great caution. It is not I would like to share with you the causes and reasons for all the points contained therein opens; but time will tell you teach that not one of them was without cause, and,
– the more care you have to take to ensure that the
They then embarked on three journeys; eg:
became quiet, and as you returned to your first place,
You heard the master asking the guards some questions,
which must have surprised you; they are important, and I ftell you the truth when I confess to you that you are Key to the temple and to the innermost parts of the order, find,
I am not allowed to do anything more. They then demanded access to the secret of the high Scottish Lodge, after you made four circuits. Remember these paths well.
Do you remember your first admission as an apprentice?
you had three tires made because you didn't know could do what you were assigned to do. Were you given those three Contacts are counted as 3 full years; do you have this?
fieben circles a similar concept, fo; find: you just from not far from the truth. Otherwise, just remember, sit

483

that the fthbest number is a sacred number, and also with us more secrets than I have to reveal to you now
 They went to their master, and it was all Night around him, the dark and pale sight of him and all Brothers taught you fear. We have reason, not without horror and sadness of the sad night
 to think back, through which the sanctuary was desolate, much blood of our people was shed, and our Bune whose brothers were scattered to the four winds; but We also remember it with pleasure, we dedicate it felf our sanctuary anew, when we remember that we survive through this darkness and the loss—escaped the pursuit of our enemies. What here—under or else would like to be hidden, I can now not yet discover; but it will probably be a Time will come when this will develop further and you felp. look at the darkness with different eyes and sweep
 I now turn to the hieroglyphs of this Tep= pichs. If you seem to be equally dark, I can I cannot give you such clear instruction on everything= than you would expect or require, then
 I would like to say this to you as a consolation, that it may be the last.
 It is today the last time that I. You with pictures under= Behave according to your wishes, which were given to you by the most venerable fupon the duties recommended by the master, so will this imagery stops, the curtain is raised will be, people will speak more clearly, and you will to admire the truth to be lucky. The color that= The carpet is, as you can see, red; remember the but of our fraternity brothers; but remember also, that the fire colour is the body colour of the high Scottish federal brothers derfschaft is; without it we are nothing, because everything depends on the Love and blood is founded. You can see here the temple destroyed, the pillars broken, the steps are separated; this should relieve you of all the sad Depict the fates that our order has experienced. It is a Became the prey of strangers, our brothers are destroyed= fpreads. Just remember the loss we suffered have the cruelty whereby the folly of some among us, by all, is atoned for; so it is not permitted for me to
 – | N317

484

to name the time when we were a prey to greed and become a victim of pride. But, nor have our secrets been kept; nor has No one dared to cross these lines. At their side=

ten you will find four lights; what they actually mean can I will not reveal it to you. It is enough if I tell you, that the fourfoldness leads to the threefoldness and this to the unity founded. Do you want to include the four elements' understand, you want to think about the four regions of the Heaven, think of the square stone, I let You have the choice; you can't go too far from the truth, and even if it is darker around
 It would be like the thickest midnight. They go a way, as you see, and even if you look from different sides come, then return to where you came from= men, like the rivers into the sea. The Names, letters, and hieroglyphs that will lead you to an whose time will become clear by itself. Up to this point the devastation has gone, nothing further. The outer shell is broken, even the rubble has reached the sanctuary flew, but the bright shining star has not yet appeared to us.
 robs; his light still shines in the darkness, and the darkness fterniß has not understood it. They still find around him feven stars, which have their multiple meanings,
 and in a certain, but in a different relationship show
 Just what the nine stars that you see on the apprentice carpets. In a
 In other respects, however, they find a different interpretation and Beftrue: the brightly shining star can without fhis, fufficiently he is still alone in the firmament, and thus serves the whole world; but as soon as we make him Choose a leader who will show us the way to the sanctuary and should light us to work, as soon as these seven stars necessary because they lead to greater clarity and perfection
 But you will probably hear a lot about this in the future= which give a closer light. Here you see neither sun nor moon. The sight of these two lights find we were robbed by the violence of our enemies
 but we always have the night with its silence loved because they are devoted to the sanctuary and the 485

Rest at work is appropriate; but how highly we value their service ftime, you can see that from the fact that we gave them both the bic:
 ft place in our interior; because without fhey we would not be what we have been and still really feven the brightly shining star would not help us without them cannot serve as a guide in the dark. They finally find here in the middle of the temple a square golden Box; I cannot tell you what is contained in it, for the time has not yet come for all the ceilings of The eyes. The position of the people around it is chen columns will explain the riddle to you in some way,

no less the name Je= written on it in a triangle hova. This can be a pleasure for you because the
The master word lost through the death of Hiram is here=
lich, and could give you almost more concepts than you fonft. You will also find the tomb of Hiram, the sad monument of the wickedness of the world, the warning Teaching to keep our secrets secret; but they find also the hill with the green caffia, which will give you the meadow= the creation of our master fol in memory. The
The vessels below are vessels of purification, and form which you have the purity of morals that every Scottish Brother must have in order to have a share in our secrets, and as a true servant of God to enter the temple. Above you will find the Bond of friendship, this sacred symbol of the Order and of our fraternity brothers, who, although they are all over surface of the earth, but only one fy community because they are descended from one fplucke find, aim at the same purpose, in the same mysteries consecrated, led through the same paths, to measured by the same rule and measure, and by one nkind of spirits are animated. These are the concepts my brother, who fowe ft of our secrets and of the hieroglyphs that you still find here,

ben. You will be happy if all these covers of your eyes will be dimmed if you really will recognize what you now through pictures Agürlich is shown. You are close to it, it is only a Step you may dare to take, but now you will find 486

nor the means to do so. Patience and wisdom, those experienced in Examinations, and the steadfastness demonstrated during the examinations= Feit will bring you more over time. The
The seriousness you see here must give you worthy concepts
the effort we make to remember to hide from our fellow brothers, generate concepts in you that are appropriate to the matter. _
The unselfishness with which we have accepted you must increase in you the notions of respect that you have for the= guilty of secrets. Take all this,
as you certainly can with reason, to a safe scale, and you will see for yourself what I
It is not possible to put it in a closer light now,
and you can, if only once some correct terms
are grasped by the mysteries, do not easily get lost.
But don't just think about it here.
The Masters in the Lodges are not only responsible for order given, they also direct our steps towards the right way, they protect us from falling, and prevent by the light that we do not get lost on the dark paths and get on the wrong path, which leads us from an abyss would easily fall into the other. Here it is easiest to stumble; the fall is all the more dangerous because at the same time our mind is numbed and we then find it difficult to form concepts mels that are cleansed of all prejudices. He=

Therefore, open your thoughts to your master alone, and follow the means he gives you Nothing surpasses the reverence for the deity. As a creature, this is already a strict Law, so much more than Freemasons, and even more than a brother of the High Scottish Lodge. We recommend you the most careful observation of all the duties assigned to you by your Stand imposed and justice demands of you; practice
 You humanity, humility, charity, generosity, joy=

ity, abstinence and all virtues. Be especially but faithful to the duties to which you are committed=

lich, the blessing of prudence will be upon
 They come and the light from your sanctuary. I wish Wishing you happiness and peace from the morning, from where peace comes." If the declaration of the temple

487

(fol probably hot carpet) undertaken, fo asks the master nor the catechism; if this has happened, then he lets the newly admitted person come before him again and says to him: "I should give you, my brother, your sword return; but it is not our custom, us to use it. But I will now give you the Position of the brother on guard, defend and cover
 She protects this high lodge against all strangers who approach her.
 So start your job right away." The newcomer:

mene then goes to the door, gives fih to the Frère gardien to recognize him; he hands him the sword, takes part in his Stelle, and the former Frère gardien takes over the row of brothers. If nothing else to say is, the Master closes the lodge as follows: Master.
 Four times most venerable brother, first superior, how high is it at the time? Answer: It is four o'clock, the time of the early Twilight. Most. Four times most venerable brother second Warden, is it time to close this lodge? Answer: Yes, it is is the right time. Mostly. Since it is the right time,
 I close the high Scottish Lodge in the name of Grog.
 Master of the entire Order, in the name of the Supreme of this Scottish Lodge, in the sacred number 3c. He then suggests feven metric beats repeated by the leaders and says: "The lodge is closed!" |

Catechism.

This only breaks down the instruction into questions, and it
It is therefore sufficient to remember only a few individuals. The Can=

When asked, didat said: "he had in the innermost chamber of the temple in the darkness and he had worked the bright shining star and an experienced master
as a leader!" Q. How was the temple desolate?
Ans. By the hands of the unholy and by the wicked of the soldiers. Q. What did you find there? Ans.
The stones are thrown here, the rubble of the pillars laid on the cross, the grave of our slain master, the Hill with the Caffia, but still the flaming star with surrounded by seven others, and all the treasure of heaven.
Q. What was it? Ans. A square-shaped golden Kaften with the on it in a triangle written name Jehovah. Q. What does it mean?

| 488:

Answer: The perfection in the number of three and four and the master word of the high Scots, fo in the temple verse gone, but on the islands
has been rediscovered.
The Grand Cross of St. John or the perfect Masons Lodge.
Opening of the lodge.

The mighty master and the leaders make the great
Sign with outstretched arms and remain standing like this.
– then the master asks the brother Marfhal: Mostly. Are we All perfect? March. As far as people are concerned, Mostly illustrative marshal, looks at those present, whether they can all stretch out their right hand worthily. (The Marfhal looks around.) March. Mighty master, it is Everything is fine. Mostly. So let's start! (It will be the made great signs). Are you a perfect mason?
March. Mighty Master, I am. Master. Rejoice in this fes? Marfch. Yes, me and the knighthood. Mostly. What shall I know that you are a perfect Mason?
March. On the sign, words and grips. Mostly. Give me the sign. (It is done.) Mostly. Give me the word.
(It is given in the ear.) Usually. Give me the handle.
(He goes around.) Mostly. What is the bell? March.
The perfect time. Mostly. Which is it? March. There the guards woke up in horror. Mostly illustrative Brothers first and second Anffeher and other lovely knights ter, the Lodge of Perfect Manter is open. The Master knocks three times nine times. The foremen repeat these blows. l |
| Reception.
| The brother assistant prepares with another brother the Candidate who is in a darkened room.

He is told that he has worn the ribbon for a long time without knowing what it means. He is considered to be dig to tell him everything now. But before anything could happen, he must examine whether his previous performance is not hypocrisy to get behind the secret. If He then solemnly assured that he would not had, so one asks: whether he would then continue and, if it is still possible, to improve more and more; whether he helps his fellow human beings in every way with his property and blood whether he wanted to confess the faith of which he when obtaining the knighthood, live and die whether he would completely submit to his duties, which they wanted to read to him; and whether he had any suspicions, that there was something evil in the secrets he had learned The current brother knight of the Loge fine answers, and the Master commands, the Recipient should think carefully again in the dark, and alone, whether he is able to. He is left alone for a while, then the brother Affeffor goes to him and leads him into the Lodge. Brother Affeffor knocks three times and the two Brothers Overseers repeat it, then Brother Mar= says fhall: "There is a knock." My. Look who is knocking!

489

March. It is the brother Commander N., who demands, |

incorporated into the secrets of the perfect masters The. Most. Let him in. The candidate enters, and the brother Marfhal leads him to the master, before the Throne of Solomon, who addressed him thus: "My brother the, you are supposed to be presently in the degree of the sublime Ca= pitels, where the secrets of Hiram are revealed to you . are laid entirely before the eyes. Secrets I ask, which since the first degree, up to this, only in Hiero= glyphs and allegories were presented. If you fuch betray, I will rightly pierce you, and will use the same instrument, you to kill to punish myself for such an unfortunate soul and godless creature in the degree of perfect mason, added to the degree of transfiguration= What happened to the To Abiram, the murderer of Hiram, who was murdered, and who received for his treason the punishment he foresaw served. So I ask you now whether you want to remain silent for life and faithfully fine?" Answer: Yes! Mostly. Can and do you want ` also make your last commitment and the salvation of your soul as a pledge, the secret in question at all times and up to your death in your heart? Think about this matter, it is serious. Do you think you cannot keep it can, so I advise you to wait a little longer. On the: Candidate affirmation gives him the mighty master the XXI.

| 490 |

and XVII. Gapite of the Apocalypse in the hand, sends him into the anteroom and tells him to read these two chapters. Sometimes it happens that the brother orator takes this care of him. which makes a greater impression. The recipient now kneeling, he makes the commitment: "I NN swear and vow at the doors of the new Jerusalem, in our exalted= a chapter, in the presence of God, before whom all things are merely and discovered, as well as in the presence of this assembly of Brothers of perfect masons, never the secrets which will be entrusted to the brothers from the first to the sixth Degree enclosed, even less to betray the profane. = | promise it zealously and solemnly, and if I act contrary to it, fI turn away from the salvation of my soul, and that God = I have compassion for the fall of my soul, which divine grace I surrender myself completely, and all the glory of the future new Jerusalem. God, who is mighty, and whose I make my vow today, I want to help and support me so that I, through the help of the Holy Spirit, fulfill my obligation to hold on until my death, remain strengthened, and lead me once to the gates of the new Jerusalem. As God help and his holy word!" After taking the oath, kiss him the master on the forehead and says: "The great invisible, un= finite, living and governing spirit of all things, which revealed as Father, Son and Holy Spirit, and in which Present You Your Tools, Your Instruments and Signs the knighthood along with your sword and from whom= You the glorious light, a complete calm and the full If you ask for the reward of the Order, I will grant you all this and elevate themselves to a heavenly holy knighthood unite with you forever, in peaceful justice, and . lead once again to the gates of the new Jerusalem. Amen! Alleluia, Amen!" The illustrious leaders together with all Brothers say with him: "Alleluia, Amen!" After this, the mighty master picks him up, kisses him again on the forehead and says to the other brothers: "Rejoice, brothers, such a thing is to have received the title of full member!"

The master then gives him the signal; it is: Train ftried raised hands; the word ft: Lobareth, which means: God is my strong wall. In some lodges the word used is: da Kineth, which means: God ijt my conquered property. The master now adorns it with the Krenz on the white ribbon and asks: "At present I adorn you with the true sign of the Order, wear it with honor and respect fecrecy until your death among the exalted brothers. Be the most glorious light to the brothers of the lower ranks and Strive with all your might to preserve our holy and divine

Order to flourish. I hereby give you

Power to perform all those sacred functions:
which the Apostles of Christ in the first Church: Keep the Word
God's pure!"

This is followed by the following sentence: Meriter. Now I want I will also give you a complete idea of the hieroglyphs. Illustrator Brother First Overseer, what does the rough stone of Apprentices? Answer: The law by which men lived before God revealed the law through Moses. Fr. The cubic stone of the journeymen? Ans. The Law of Moses. Fr. The drawing board of the Master? Answer. The Gospel. Fr. The three lights? Answer. The Trinity. Q. The jagged frame? Ans. The front= slope of the temple. Q. The flaming star? Ans. The Star which the wise men from the East saw. Fr. Who is Hiram? Ans. A symbol of Christ. Fr. What does the middle chamber? Ans. The holy of holies. Fr. What is What do the three companions who killed Hiram mean? Answer: The seamen who persecuted Christ the most. Fr. Where is your Lodge? Answer: In me, around me and with me. Question: Why ift St. John the Baptist the patron saint of masons? Answer: Because he first saw the Trinity. Q. Why does the Masons the children of widows? Answer of Bethlehemiti- fic child murder. (Here, the poor are given a collective melt.) Fr. My brother, you are a perfect mason and Knight of St. John. Answer: Yes, I am, and I have everything enough. Q. How did you come to this position? Answer. Through God, my secrecy and my faithfulness, and through great trials and glorious deeds. Fr. Where will you Receive your reward? Answer: In the new Jerusalem. Q. What is the bell? Ans. It is neither time nor hour. Master. Illustrious Brothers Overseer, announce to the brothers that there is neither time nor hour. (It happens.)

The lodge is closed with the Te Deum in Excelsis.

See men

*
—
'to

This is a reproduction of a library book that was digitized by Google as part of an ongoing effort to preserve the information in books and make it universally accessible.

Google books m

<https://books.google.com>

Google

about this book

This is a digital copy of a book that was kept on library shelves for generations before it. It was carefully scanned as part of a project to make the world's books available online.

The book has outlived the copyright and can now be made available to the public. A book is that was never subject to copyright or whose copyright term has expired. Whether a book is vary from country to country. Publicly accessible books are our gateway to the past and re and scientific potential that is often difficult to discover.

Traces of use, notes and other marginal notes contained in the original volume can also be A reminder of the long journey the book has taken from the publisher to a library and then

Terms of Use

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize publicly available materials and make Public domain books belong to the public and we are only their custodians. Nevertheless, t Work is costly. In order to continue to provide this resource, we have taken steps to prev commercial parties. This includes technical restrictions on automated queries.

We ask you to adhere to the following guidelines:

+ Use of the files for non-commercial purposes We have designed Google Book Search for end

Use files only for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ No automated queries Do not send automated queries of any kind to the Google system. If about machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to text is useful, please contact us. We encourage the use of publicly available material for these purposes and may help.

+ Retaining Google brand elements The Google "watermark" that you will find in every file in this project and helps users find more material through Google Book Search. Please do not

+ Stay within the legality Regardless of your intended use, you must be aware of your responsibility to ensure that your use is legal. Do not assume that a book that we believe is legal for use in the United States is publicly accessible, is also publicly accessible to users in other countries. Whether a book is available varies from country to country. We cannot advise whether a particular use of a particular book is legal. Do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means that it is available in every country in the world. Copyright infringement can have serious consequences.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and make it universally usable and accessible. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books and helps authors and publishers reach their intended audience. You can search the entire book text on the Internet at <http://books.google.com>.

– 4

bet ip r

,

rie

A

LT a re

[7 HAT TA fi

PERI

sink.

and

– i

> 17 * AX, sa
- Tory

RER
i * ` J.

rw

+. w A 41 Fin 2

= * hy

chen Pr' pi FA SAFA
` Re ee Trg
1 © fie NA Fee KP RTOS À
| vat Pee) ice N

9
I N Š
Here you
8 4 ty
“ 28 À

EX
ay
ma

Na >, i : Lure
“Ty ir Ms A at 4

1587 N |
" 4 À . u

Library

à
new York

State College of Agriculture
Ithaca, NY

2 DS BREAKDOWN, |
Oat. TY CET
* No
iR . * Ar *

At Cornell University

* VOLUME

*
*

Pr
{
2
;

4

Digitized by Google

«Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

THE
STOCK MARKET AND COMPANY FRAUD

IN GERMANY.

Translations into foreign languages are expressly not reserved, but gladly released. Longer extracts and communications, however, are only permitted with the permission of the publisher. The list from the Chapter "Economists and Founders in Parliament" may not be reprinted.

Q. 21: r

r- `

55 Lt

24 + a

ate

- -

Kin „„

AND

FOUNDATION FRAUD

(SECOND PART OF "THE STOCK EXCHANGE AND COMPANY FRAUD IN BERLIN")

FROM

OTTO GLAGAU.

"We must be informed and everyone must be convinced that the torch illuminated to the last corner
Then the people will be calm s

Mr. Lasker on February 15, 1873
in the Prussian House of Representatives,

LEIPZIG.
PUBLISHED BY PAUL FROHBERG.
1877.

(Cts Na GAs

sR AR a

0

2

At

97 Pee5 – *
Impersonal. Q 488€) 3

N4

Whoever wants to live peacefully, the wise man gives $S
The wise advice to keep your mouth shut at all times, X
He must open it for praise and glory. %
This was already considered the best by the ancients, S$
To protect fid from danger and intrigue
And from the envy of ruling powers. 4.
He who is bolder should limit himself x
To walk on the beaten path ty
The mild phrases that offend no one. $
He prays, that he does not harm anyone: 3
One must take into account the need St
And don't throw the child out with the Sade! 4.
Even then he will be proud and with pleasure x
The space of life surging, from the diaper F
Up to the pall – no one will beat him. $y
But if Giner fid) from the find $

Pick one out to show him to the people
And to exclaim: "Look! He's doing the trick!" –

Then, immediately after the real silence
The terror is broken, up to the stars
A noise and a slander arose:

"Listen! He's looking for Scandal and he likes him!
But may he not be heard – Personalities are far removed from us nobles!"

So shout all who were hit at the same time
Feeling when the heavy words resound,
And at their feet they see the abyss open.

Then throw the vassals into the swarm
The prince's gold, the most honourable Lente;
For honesty is characteristic of them all!

And from the pressed leaves the Alente barks:
"Shut his mouth! Get him off the stage!
Throw him to us as if he had been a welcome prey!"

Then one heard from the stands,
From impudence, from the evil signs
Of time and of earnestly demanded atonement.

.^e . See 00000 50,

©

© Pharifiier, Hypocrite without equal, R
You know not beauty, respect or honour, 1
When it comes to achieving common advantage – +
How the scissors tremble in your hands! 4
O lay them down, that they do not lay your hands 4
And, more importantly, the coupons – 4,
And remember: This is the beginning and the end! 4 &lndderadatfc, on 13 April 1873, after the À

Lasker's "Enihükungen". 5

|
72 bbb

et Mes en D Dee ee" ee ee" £0 40740" 2 © ee * Tea: < TTT A cas eee. cd Ress he
*

x At the last founding.

Long had fallen, finally fallen

Any fol founding,

And it seemed obvious to everyone,

That there is nothing left to establish.
: Then breaks out with furious snorting,

Like the boar in the Föhrenthal,
The Glagan from the "Gartenlaube"
And founds – founds the scandal.

Kladderadatsch, on February 20, 1876, after the Glagau's revelations.

e

PA LE PE ARR EIS ARS SEALS

Table of contents.

Personal

The living foundation

Foreword

Introduction:

The Stock Corporation Act and 15 | Billion Dollar Business" ;

The "uplift" of industry .

The flowering of industry .

The triumph of industry .

"Strong tobacco

There is a lack of iodine!

Textile start-ups:

The benefactors of society

The press in the service of the stock exchange and the founders

"Economists" and founders in parliament
register

VII

. XVII

ent?

Foreword.

When the first part of this work appeared in early 1876, I was not prepared for him to attract such attention. lively dignity, since a large part of the content has already been the "Gartenlaube" had found wide distribution. The book gave rise to stormy parliamentary debates.

On February 5, the German Reichstag MP quoted it as Ludwig against Mr. Miquel, but he was defeated by Eugen Richter and associates, and even his faction nosse, Mr Windthorst-Meppen, considered it necessary to to solemnly disavow. Mr. Lasker assured me that my book contains "knowingly or unknowingly untruths" because su. A. claims: since the death of Dr. Zabel he (Laskey) and Bamberger, the actual editors of the "Nationalzeitung". With this genuinely Talmudistic trick, Lasker brought charges against his friend, the great founder Miquel; and the modern Cato used the tribune, to suspect a book he only heard about, that he didn't even want to read it! Mr. Miquel defended Pitiful, but almost the entire German press, until nari Petersburg and New York, explained: Miquel had "worthily and "brilliantly" justified.

Ber: When on March 29, 1876, the buried for three and a half years Report of the Special Investigation Commission on the Iron bahn ~ Concession system in the Prussian House of Representatives finally came to the meeting, it was the multiple founder, Mr. von Kardorff, who used my book to make up for the insults, which he suffered from Lasker. He had previously boasted that he did not have the "courage du ruisseau", and now he publicly called me the "main matador of our pasquinades". But that was the least I had for Mr. von Kardorff. In the preface to my In this book I have printed the famous letter, where a Parliamentarian apologized: he was among the founders to act as legislators "without loss of assets"

'was

– VIII –

but full of generous consideration I had remained silent that this practical representative of the people, Mr. von Kardorff. In return, he insulted me openly Parliament! But even more. Ludolf Parisius, whom I met Ehren was named because he once pointed out in the state parliament that the police chiefs von Wurmb, von Gerhard and von Brandt served as supervisory board members of joint-stock companies – Mr. Parisius jumped up and shouted: My book proves, “with what impudence and worthlessness a certain kind of writers”, my book contains “lies and deceptions slanders” – because it claims: the passage which Lasker as Syndic of the Municipal Mortgage Bond Office, is a Sinecure. “The city of Berlin does not grant sinecure!” thundered Parisius; and even Lasker was compelled to remark: The Pfandbrief Office is “not really a municipal institution, but but only under the supervision of the city authorities a company, which is based on reciprocity.” – Mr. Lasker’s post is “a very laborious and very responsible task, the work is growing every day,” declared Mr Parisius; and Now I ask this honest man: What do you call a place which allows Mr. Lasker to spend 9 months in the parliaments sit, and travel for 3 months in the summer? If that is not a sinecure, what else is it? – But it Things were about to get even better. In the same session,

3

Mr Parisius opposed von Kardorff because he had given me a Pasquillanten, and he suddenly declared: “In the There is also a lot of truth in the book.” – Isn’t that to laugh out loud, and can one even seriously?! Mr Parisius has completely of taste and tact already demonstrated by his writing: “The Referendarius Heinrich von Mühler’s Poems”; Mr. Parisius is considered by his own political friends to be a Idiot, and in the by-elections to the Reichstag, in as a ‘comical figure’. Mr Parisius is, as I later found out, himself a member of the supervisory board. Under his The palace revolution took place in the “Berlin Aquarium”, which overthrew the previous director, Dr. Brehm, and who was replaced by the personal friend of Mr. Parisius. Mr. Parisius, who in 1871 was zealous against civil servants as supervisory board members, has now happily reached the point where he is in a Electoral Association said: The legislation and especially the Actien- geb etz is not to blame for the economic hardship, since things aren't looking any better in other countries, like Austria. The meeting of 29 March 1876, in which the report the Special Investigation Commission on the agenda stood, presented an unspeakably pitiful and downright disgusting Drama. Mr. Lasker, who turned an accuser into a °ster, a lawyer of the parliamentary founders, "If through one of his endless boring speeches the matter dead, making the house tired and weary. Only later In the afternoon, when the hall had already cleared, the tus chtlen listeners have already left the crowded stands MP Schröder-Lippstadt took the floor, md he now chivalrously supported my book without being to be confused by the shouting of the "liberal" founders. HE They also resisted and writhed, they had to stand en, and under his lashes they beat themselves like the » ats bürgerzeitung" said, "the last founder killers gently

HE a

into the bushes." It was indeed a great shameful "Retirade" which Mr. Lasker and his comrades carried out. Mr. von Bennigsen initially seemed to sit quietly in the presidential chair. to want to conquer him, and only left him when his much-invoked Foundation: Hannover-Altenbecken came into view.

My book also found an echo in the courtrooms. was asserted against the founders, and then again called upon by them to defend themselves. So in a trial before the Berlin Criminal Court, where the accused guilty wanted to prove with the help of my book that The foundation they made was, among all other things, best and most decent. Even in that much-mentioned Cri-trial in Moscow, where the defendant Landau from my Book long passages about the characterization of his comrade and alleged seducer, Baruch Hirsch Strausberg. Incidentally, the press, including the tele-graphen-Bureaux, in matters of the "Railway King" so look so lied that we still don't know: is this Man is convicted, or is he still only considered a "witness" detained in Russia? In any case, the advertisement that in the newspapers is constantly promoting Strausberg, that the miracle doctor, who is now apparently completely penniless, still has large resources.

From the press, which I consider to be complicit in the great dizziness, it is natural that they I couldn't find my book to my liking. Only a few Newspapers gave him recognition, but even these did not provide a detailed discussion. Various papers, including the "German Imperial and Prussian State Gazette", requested review copies, but still did not dare Review. My book seemed so dangerous to everyone!

To vent their anger, the founders' press began to see if she could find anything that would make me suspect or expose. The Stettiner "Ostseezeitung" "revealed"

suddenly that I was in a 1864, 12 years ago, written article about Fritz Reuter, "Old Kamellen" with "Alte Camellias". This "revelation" is said to have been Berlin's "Economic Society" is to be held and has now made the rounds in the press. I speak not from such subordinate papers as Berliner "Tribüne", "Leipziger Tageblatt", but even first-rate journals such as the "Weser-Zeitung" and the "Weltblatt", the "Kölnische" were not ashamed to tell such a silly story. If I had really committed that slip-up, what would what would that prove? However, I was able to demonstrate conclusively that he is not even a burden to me that there is a mere printing error, and I requested the Correction, but several newspapers refused to do so! Another "revelation" that came from Berlin newspapers accused me of plagiarism, which I also committed long ago years ago. Which writer could such an accusation should not be made, and against whom it has not been raised, rightly or wrongly! Even against our classics! I am one of those authors which itself was badly plundered, used more than mentioned and I have never worried about it. However, An attempt was made in the "Literarisches Centralblatt" and in the "Magazine for Foreign Literature" me as a plagiarist because I had included in a travel sketch the article of a Others, without citing the source, should have used it; whereupon I simply replied that I was content to use the source from which we both – I and the author of that article – created together.

A major thrust was undertaken by the paper which, as Hardly anyone else has fed the great fraud and served with all his might, the Berlin "Nationalzeitung". After hearing about the insane denunciation ciant Titus Oates, about the slobbering Thersites who dominates the market with his slander, and ranted about the creeping Basilio, who had tell what shameful things Thersites claims – brought she read a Sunday feature by Karl Frenzel, under the gripping title: "A Short Chapter on Slander". Mr Frenzel, too "decent" and too brave to do things and to call the people by their full names, because he otherwise be summoned before the criminal judge, or a could incur other punishment – serves his readers

– XII –

the following story: “Gustav is a small speculator,
He has earned several thousand thalers with great effort and won some lucky “coups” with it. A new un-company appears, a Lindenbaugesellschaft. The “Project” makes sense, the “Prospect” promises significant dividends
denden: Gustav invests his capital in it and loses everything.
Now anger comes over him, a justified bitterness,
he rests his head on his arm and reaches for the pen Juve-nals. The foundations are gone, throw the founders after them!”
– Well, Mr Frenzel, you tell the story very nicely, but you do not stick to the truth. Let me tell the story correct; I know that Gustav well, and I also know somewhat – you, Mr. Frenzel. – Gustav is not a speculator lant, but he is your equal; he was even for many years, ie from the dizziness, your wall neighbor, namely co-worker contributor to the arts section of the “Nationalzeitung”. Gustav has made no lucky “coups”, but everything he He only committed the crime of Folly for his good money shares of the “Lindenbauverein”
The “Prospect” did not tempt him, because the green who, including one Excellency, had been so cautious, not to publish a “prospect” at all, and that saved them outside the prison. They were under investigation for eight months, and the prosecutor finally stated on the record that This is a great shameful fraud that is morally

– XIII –

to be condemned without fail, but unfortunately not to be prosecuted
No, Mr Frenzel, what prompted Gustav to sell the shares
to buy was the belief in your own virtuous newspaper, were the editorial advertisements in the “Nationalzeitung”.
Your college, Mr. Julius Schweitzer, for whom you are so enthusiastic occurred, reported in numbers 73, 74, 78, 80, 83, 89, 91 and 99 of the “Nationalzeitung”, year 1872 – please read after, Mr Frenzel – from the “Lindenbauverein” nothing but good and happy things, such as the fact that the issued share capital is far oversubscribed and a strong reduction in registrations must take place that for several parcels already high Offers were available, and that a corner plot with 9000 Thaler
the square rod and other parcels were paid similarly.
Gustav then bought the shares and found himself shamefully deceived by revealing that of all those reports
Not a word of what was said was true, everything was a lie.

The loss was certainly painful, but not because of that took up, as you subtly insinuate, Gustav “the pen of Juvenal”. He wrote his articles against the fraud and the fraudsters, to educate the public. If he had removed those articles broken, he would have spared even individual personalities – he could have made up for his loss twenty times over. has, as he can prove, directly and indirectly given him a lot of money offered; but he did not accept it, he continued writing quietly. She, Mr Frenzel and other smart people will find this unbelievable. logical or at least very simple-minded. You close your Feuilleton with the words: “For alas! I strike at my sinful breast; all of us, whether we are Otto or Anton, Heinrich or Karl, whether we bless the founding era or wish: we only write because we need it, otherwise we certainly wouldn’t be writing!” – So that is Your creed, Mr Frenzel? – Your name is Karl by first name? – and indeed you act accordingly. You are without question a man of knowledge and taste,

– XV –

In my eyes, you are even more important as critics than even Mr. Paul Lindau, you have a fine, sure judgment. Why do you write year after year year after year those three and four volume novels that are still more entertaining than the most boring library fodder, and the Your numerous publishers create such painful memories? Why do you tear down the great poet Paul Lindau, who his play “A Success” in the “National-newspaper” as a mere doer, and then lift him up again in the “Deutsche Rundschau” on the shield by clicking here say: Paul Lindau is a character who can be found on the modern stage cannot be overlooked? Why do you first against Mr. von Hülsen, who tolerated that Paul Lindau brought you on stage, and afterwards the Berlin General Intendant in the tables of history – – You do all this because, unfortunately, you need it have; “You only write because you need to, otherwise you certainly did not write”. You also wrote “A short chapter on slander” from one's own Conviction, written only on behalf of your boarders, because a few months later you were zealous against the “Wagnerian” in Baireuth and called them in the now common omi-nological sense a “theatre foundation”. So sharply condemned share here; and yet the “Wagnerei” is a foundation only in the family, which only concerns the people who are and who, it seems, with their foundation are completely satisfied.

Of course, Mr Frenzel, your dimension applies to You and the vast majority of your colleagues. But no Rule without exception, and as such exception I allow to introduce you to that Gustav or Otto – as you like –

Everything that Gustav or Otto wrote – and he However, he does not write too much – he has written out of full procreation, even from inner urge, without compulsion, fear or

KT –

Consideration, and always written with full responsibility.
He is one of those writers who do not model their pen, depending on whether they write for this or that paper, but who, in turn, demand that the paper in question provide them with concessions. Without question, this species is already rare but she is, thank God! still not extinct. And God bless you, Mr Frenzel!

The Jewish joke papers, “Kladderadatsch”, “Wespen” and “Ulk”, who called their co-religionist Lasker, because of his “Revelations” against the founders, placed under the stars were eager to portray me as a mere “slanderer” and We live in a Christian world and Liturgical-Germanic state, but what is right for the Jew here, is never fair to the Christian; the same thing for which the
The Jew is showered with honors, only brings the Christian Scorn and insult. To the second part of my book
To discredit in advance, the founding press spread the Autumn 1876: I was charged with insulting a supervisory board member “excluding the fine” to three weeks in prison condemned, and later published other, equally impossible ical findings. “Over Land and Sea”, the magazine of Mr. Eduard von Hallberger, also a multiple Council of Views, published a long article glorifying by Baruch Hirsch Strausberg, and incorporated here: the Judge found me guilty of “defamation.”
How easy it is with the thousands of names and dates, which my book contains, an inaccuracy, an error under run; but that would not be an insult or even a “misdefamation”! However, because of the first part, three Persons have complained against me, three noble Jews, but these Lawsuits are still pending, and two of the plaintiffs have
As a result of her complaint, the public prosecutor’s office will intervene.
because of their involvement in the cases I treated Foundations and knowingly false denunciations

– XVI –

ciation. I will provide further information after the processes have been completed.
share. |

I am prepared for this part too

Founder press a cry of rage, a flood of suspicion ties, and that is why I want to give the reader a Those papers that are against me at the worst suffering, are through their participation and assistance most seriously compromised by dizziness.

In this volume I discuss the established Factories and related; also "The press in the service of Stock Exchange and the Founder" and "Economists and Founders in "Parliament". I have written these two chapters with regard to only outline the already large scope of the book
I still have a lot of potential for these two topics.
Material for offer, which I will process later. Should the second part will receive a similar reception as the first,
so it is my intention to have a third one follow,
to discuss the mines, banks and railways here,
and also to bring the following articles: The General meetings and the audience; The "de-greening ments"; The "invalid" Reich funds; The founders of Court; The consequences of fraud; The blessing of "crash"; The defects and damages of the stock market.

Finally, I would like to point out that my Play "Shares" has been published in bookstores. Although this piece, which exposes the stock market and company founding fraud matically, by outstanding dramaturges and theatre directors have declared it to be highly effective on stage, it has have not yet dared to perform on stage – out of sheer Fear of the Jews and founders. So I had no choice, as the play became accessible to the audience through printing close.

Berlin, April 1877. Otto Glagau.

To the introduction.

The history of the foundations and emissions from 1870
to 1873 is the story of an incredibly big and bold, sophisticated and intense dizziness, such as he has never
The statistician Engel, himself a multiple founder, calculates the price losses that the public has to pay for the shares traded on the Berlin Stock Exchange, to about 700 million lion thalers. Of the foundations of the fraudulent period, However, barely half of the Berlin price list is listed so that the total loss was estimated at around 1500 million lion thalers – a sum which the huge war reparations that France has to pay,
But what do these price losses mean compared to about the wounds that dizziness has inflicted on the general prosperity, faced with the crisis in trade and Industry that has been devastating Germany for years, and whose end cannot yet be foreseen; compared to the emergency that weighs on the people, filling them with discontent and filled with bitterness, ever larger hordes of social democrats into the arms, and in various places riots have already broken out and revolts! How much does the German People have lost their reputation and prestige; how quickly the fame it had just achieved fades and disappears How much has it lost in honesty and morality, in virtue and religion, in hard work and thrift, in

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II.b

– XVIII –

Discipline and morality! The most serious and unnatural violations breaking and entering are the order of the day, murder and robbery, burglary and theft make town and country unsafe, fraud and Embezzlement is rampant like epidemics, suicide is epidemic. Beggars and vagabonds roam in droves around, the prisons and penitentiaries are overcrowded, the Number of civil and criminal proceedings, bankruptcy, subjugations and executions are legion.

All these are the immediate consequences of the stock market and Founding fraud, and this is again mainly the work of the Jews and Semites. With the enormous number of start-ups are the actual creators and makers – Jews and their accomplices are unfortunately recruited from all layers of society up to the high nobility and up to were among the first officials. Their main allies, however, whose Help in counsel and deed, whose influence and power they were “economists” and parliamentarians, Lieutenants terates and advocates.

How to finely thread the foundation, to cleverly interpret the law protect the founders from danger and harm, ie from responsibility must be preserved, this was taught and shown by the Lawyer. One and the same lawyer drafted the statutes, took the individual acts, staged the various founding Comedies, certified that the necessary deposit on the subscribed share capital was paid, submitted the applications to the Commercial judge, and even drafted the ments, which were mostly accepted. One and the same Advocat acted as notary at the constituent and at the later general meetings, where, if the shareholders rebelled, he bravely supported the founders; or let to elect themselves to the Supervisory Board, which the famous Stock Corporation Act not even forbid, and then acted as “Syndicus” of the Society. Certain Berlin lawyers acted as supervisors supervisory boards in a dozen companies at the same time,

= RIX =

which partly competed with each other. Certain Berlin lawyers were particularly favored by the founders they have the most and the laziest societies
One of them had joined the partnership agreements, which he recorded so numerous, even a form lithographed; and if he should certify, that the necessary payment is made by the "first subscribers"
he was simply left in a semi-dark cupboard
Many lawyers have a
We have acquired wealth and would like to use it wholeheartedly
In addition to the standard fees,
At every founding they receive a Douceur of hundreds and thousands
They were given shares, referred to as supervisory received fat royalties, acted directly as co-founders and "First
'Drawstringers', and are sometimes even on the prosecution bank, lawyers and stock market journalists were invited to Supporting the founders for the general meetings
where they appeared as satisfied, grateful shareholders.
On various occasions, for example in the trial against the founders of the Spritbank Wrede and in the investigation against the Berlin Societätsbrauerei, the defendants claimed that they had only followed the advice of the lawyer. With regard to
In this regard, in the last-mentioned case, the judge free; and the prosecutor himself said: the matter was "so brilliantly constructed" that it cannot be dealt with.
Too many Jews have also penetrated the legal profession, and in Berlin the Semitic lawyers will soon be weigh. -

It took a long time until the public prosecutor finally (perhaps only on higher orders) decided to fight against some green
At first she did it in a rather unskillful way; presumably she was, like the judges, in the green mysteries of the earth were not yet sufficiently initiated, and so the Defendants are almost always acquitted in the first instance.

+ b*

"

Only when things became more and more scandalous, the public discontent grew louder and louder, began in Berlin, on the Rhine and elsewhere the so-called founder processes, which, hardly by chance, were directed against persons who were multiple professional founders were known, and a

As a defender of the very Lawyers appeared for the wealthy defendants, some of whom founders themselves, with true passion, with amazing Audacity against the public prosecutor, designation terms such as "founder" and "founder's salary" for "nicknames" and the lying prospectuses as mere newspaper advertisements and permitted commercial advertisements. Although the number of those convicted remained extremely low, the The startup press raised a huge outcry. They complained about Denunciation and persecution, and threatened with a Emigration of the founders; she began to employ prosecutors and to condemn judges as heretics and to treat the condemned as martyrs. celebrate. The one in the matter of the Rheinische Effectenbank with 6 weeks in prison sentenced Commerzienrath Victor Wendel-city from Cologne brought the inhabitants of Godesberg, the Mayor at the head, an ovation, offered him in an address the "wreath of honour", such impudent bahren seems to have been unsuccessful. Soon after the trial against Abel and his comrades was announced in Berlin circles: there would not be much more to come. And there was not much anymore. Although almost half of the registry of the Berlin Commercial Court is located at the public prosecutor's office, although the newspapers reported that there were persecution of Berlin-based foundations exclusively have three investigating judges and several criminal commissioners, and there are 80 trials are still in the pipeline – since then only very few and fairly insignificant cases for public hearing Various things, such as those against the authors the Mosgau silverware factory (p. 385) and the great founder Julius Alexander, went beyond the Scrutinial proceeding. Against the founders of the Wöhlert Mechanical Engineering Institute: Braun-Wiesbaden, City Councillor Pohle, F. Wöhlert, Gustav Markwald and FW Krause (not FW von Krause, as we correct here on page 35) the pre-investigation was opened, but no charges were brought because the The above-mentioned denied that the report, which was carried in all newspapers, spect, against which they never protested publicly, signed In the trials against Spritbank Wrede and against the founders of the Sudenburg machine factory rejected the same excuse; but here she suggested through, although witnesses testified that they were on the prospect shares. The realization sounded like a mockery second instance in the case of Rheinische Effectenbank, the acquitted all defendants and the defendant against Caution Gustav Horn, who had left but then fled, for the declared himself solely guilty! In other trials, too, the convicted persons were acquitted by the appeal judge, and certain cases do not seem to be resolved at all, insofar as the Prussian High Court has acquitted the partly partly condemning previous findings and the Cases referred to the second instance for retrial Prussian courts issued remarkably lenient judgments: Theodor Miether, author of the infamous "Pinneberger Union", was convicted of "forgery of documents" under the assumption of "mitigating Circumstances" to three months, the general founder Heinrich Quistorp was sentenced to only two months. The Saxon Courts, on the other hand, do not seem to understand humor: Adalbert Kräger and Emil Quellmalz, founders of Saxon-Austrian-Braun-coal company – (Quellmalz played a outstanding role at many General Assemblies, where he as an avenger of the unfortunate shareholders) – each received one year in prison; Gottlieb Behrend, Director of the Machine bauanstalt Münnich in Chemnitz, was even 3 years old

– XXI –

– XXII –

3 months. The Mainz court also sentenced the Director of the Rheinische Actienbrauerei, Dr. JB Moritz to 18 months in prison. What is remarkable is the extraordinary decent slowness with which in Prussia the founding trials take place. Until the charges are brought comes, several years pass, and then the fraudulent Manipulations during the actual founding, such as the aforementioned Berliner Societätsbrauerei, probably already The foundations of 1871 are already in the past past years, the foundations of 1872 expire in the current year. A little more haste is so urgently needed here! How extraordinarily quickly on the other hand, the convictions in the case of the "Reichsglocke", and How extraordinarily severe were the punishments! After the "Kreuzzeitung" is said to have said at that time that the word be: "You see what we can do. If we want, we have we also need swift justice!"

In various cases, the snail-like creeping justice Nemesis has preempted many founders. violent death, or he was surrounded by spiritual darkness; some laid himself, grabbed the pistol or the rope, or he like that banker in Cologne, whom the stock market press has described so deeply He hardly needed to, because his comrades were brilliantly acquitted in the first instance (condemned in the second case), and Benda Wolff's telegraph Bureau reported to the world: against those who man to his death, the investigation is underway for "Blackmail" is imminent.

Much faster than the founders, their “be-“slanderers” and “detractors”; these often had to be dealt with more harshly as if they themselves had created a fraudulent company.
For insulting the Supervisory Board of the Romanian Railway company was sentenced to 4 months for insult of the A. Schaafthausen'schen Bankverein for 6 weeks, because

– XXIII –

Insulting the aforementioned Commerzienrath Wendel-city sentenced to 2 months in prison! A founder who for forgery of labels, which was then declared bankrupt.
rieth and his proposed agreement was rejected by the court because he received from the company's treasury entrusted to him a sum of 3000 thalers wrongfully taken – sued the “Deutsche Landeszeitung”, which reported on the case and instead of unlawfully taking the expression “stolen”; and the injury judge of the Berlin City Court sentenced the responsible redacteur to a fine of 100 marks, stating:
The plaintiff accuses the plaintiff of unlawful conduct wise, while the judgment of the bankruptcy judge merely an immoral act. So painful
The prosecutor and the criminal judge clearly distinguish when it comes to
It is about the honor of a founder, and so you can see that “Slandering” is far more dangerous than establishing something.
Rough founders were raised to the nobility, rough Founders are still awarded with medals, titles and honors
At the anniversaries celebrated by great founders,
The heads of the authorities, the notabilities of the Art and science. Wouldn't it be appropriate to say something to take more account of public opinion?
“If all the fraudsters from 1870 to 1873 were brought to justice
There was not enough wood in the Bohemian forests to the dock!” This is how the bank director defended himself.
tor Lederer in Prague against the prosecutor, and the man has not wrong. His words apply equally to Austria-Hungary as well as for Prussia and the rest of Germany. But Nevertheless, among a thousand fraudsters, not only half a dozen and for all the rest as Atonement sacrifices are to be made. If the founding processes, as it now seems, in the sand, so must the people
the sense of justice, the belief in a prompt impartial

– XXIV –

justice system, public morality must be subject to tremendous

Suffer damage, theft and fraud come to light,
honest work and honest earnings are disregarded,
a general corruption takes place, and the New German
The empire is inexorably falling into ruin!!

In recent years, the public prosecutor's office has been very Claimed by the culture war and the social democrats, through insults to the majesty and Bismarck.
The Kulturkampf maintains 8 million Catholics who are in their faith is persecuted, their conscience is oppressed – and this madness will not be eradicated – in dull fermentation and increasing bitterness. May the re-Government may be formally in the right, it is in its Campaigns against the Catholic Church had not been successful.
The culture war only benefited the founders;
He is the Spanish wall behind which they hide their misdeeds.
behind which they hid after the noise and Social democracy owes its growth to a on the part of the police and judicial prosecutions, mainly but essentially the Manchester legislation and the Founding fraud. When the latter came to an end, shortly before the “Krach”, the revolt broke out in Frankfurt am Main, which against the increase in beer prices. The social demodemocratic victories in the last Reichstag elections, which were Germany was immediately preceded by
– and this is a very characteristic omen – a new Jobber pieces, the violent uplift of the petroleum!
After the elections, petroleum fell as quickly as it
The great moderation with which the social Democrats accepted their successes, with the admirable worthy organization with which they, all other parties and finally think about doing the election agitation, it is when. the Government at Manchesterpol Rik insists on being sure to say that in the next elections they will have far more candidat that the number of their followers must grow steadily and rapidly. The great army of workers worker is fully committed to social democracy, and the craftsman, the small businessman, yes, approaches her the little official. Videant consules!

– XXV –

Never, not even during the conflict period, was the number of Trials for lèse majesté in Prussia as large as Now that the monarch has surrendered himself to the full, unanimous love of his People, where even the so-called “enemies of the Reich”
But the Byzantine Spirit that pervades our time and which is particularly evident in the Jewish-national liberal press prevails – in the same papers, who once behaved impudently above the masses – denounced every Criticism directed against the state government or against a State institution, immediately as lèse majesté and High treason, and even drags underage children to court. Certain convictions, such as that of the “Berliner Börsen Courier” for derogatory discussion of a tattoo, to nine Months in prison (!) have caused head-shaking among all parties excited. Doesn't the monarch stand high above all newspaper polemic, and can the majesty be so easily offended and get hurt?!

Even more numerous than the lèse majesté are the trials for “insulting Bismarck”; already a own name for it! No minister in the world, on least a constitutional minister, has ever visited the courts set in motion; the autographed criminal charges of the Prince Bismarck is said to already number in the thousands. The prosecutor is even accused of insulting the young Count Bismarck intervened, and one may well ask: did Is this insult also a “public interest”? marcks insults tend to be punished much more severely than even lèse majesté; prosecutors have and judges expressly declared: Everything that concerns the prince must be measured with an extraordinary standard Recently, for insulting the prince, Punishments recognized that make the blood run cold; but the servile press has accepted it silently, or probably applauded without considering that the series can reach everyone. The publications à la “Reichsglocke”, who turned against the prince personally are, of course, very regrettable, if only because it is the general cause and only benefit the founders. “See”, the founders now cry, “we are just as slandered as bishops marck!” – and the “Nationalzeitung” immediately added a column “On the History of the Era of Defamation”.

=. KEVI «=

The same press that once did not could belittle him deeply enough, not leave a good hair on his head – the Jewish national liberal press has been working with him since 1866 vile idolatry. Full of slavish subservience and base sycophancy, she admires and praises every word he says, every footstep, she speaks of him in an ever ecstatic manner and gives him predicates that only the monarch and the Members of the Regent House are entitled to. And all this is, as it has now blatantly turned out, miserable hypocrisy and meticulous calculation. As the regularly Chancellor crisis recurring on 1 April, this time more faith found, the "liberal" press was quite happy to give the prince Bismarck to retire, and considered his Successor Mr. Delbrück or Mr. von Bennigsen is available. This was indeed an insult to Bismarck, and a worse than Count Harry Arnim ever committed.

After all, Prince Bismarck has done such great things and create an exception for him. But as with the Lord and Master, so the "liberal" press also with the "average" ministers she likes; also She knew how to stage royal honours for them. As

= XXVII =

Dr. Falk triumphed on the Rhine in the summer of 1875, reported the newspapers in countless articles about the festivals that organized for him, about the "homage" that was paid to him. As soon as Dr Friedenthal travels, and he seems to like to travel, he is accompanied by the press correspondents, run from every town. In Papenburg, As the "Nationalzeitung" reported, the Liedertafel "Arion" Serenade, "the city was adorned with flags." In Bitburg, the "high guest" gave several long speeches in which he described himself as a 'born practical farmer' and among others, said: he "comes from a family that has been characterized by restless hard work has made it possible to reach that level in the state to climb the ladder that she currently holds." "With numerous With a rich entourage, the distinguished guest drove to the court." "Girls dressed in white presented His Excellency a huge bouquet, and a deputation paid her respectful greeting." – Is there Does it still make a difference whether Friedenthal or the Kaiser comes?

It will now be permitted to invite Messrs Friedenthal, Falk, Delbrück, Camphausen and Achenbach not for tall men Friedenthal has not yet had any significant, ministers have shown rather unfavourable results. They all owe their position to the favor of Prince Bismarck, but they hardly lived up to his expectations. spoken. Delbrück, Camphausen and Achenbach are Manchester people; the disastrous Manchester legislation is with her work, and her regime was a doctrinaire-Manchesterian one. Delbrück and Camphausen, both in intimate relationships are part of large banks and startup houses, have the same supported by huge loans from the state coffers, "in order to save interest", the money from the large Reich funds in highly questionable, currently almost unsaleable values While the government allowed the stock market liberal majority of the Reichstag regional mortgage bonds and excluded pupil-secure mortgages from purchase, while numerous communes applied for permission a loan application, Delbrück and Camphausen head over heels from the only ad interim approved guaranteed railway priorities over 100 million lion thalers. They preferred to buy the priority rities of the Strausberg railways, against which Lasker had thundered his “revelations” shortly before. Lasker was of course again the confidant and adviser of the Mr Camphausen; Lasker, Friedenthal and Miquel, under the When asked by hand (Who is laughing?) they expressly declared agree that those lazy priorities also in the Provincial Endowment Fund, and when the same now New Year 1876 to the individual provincial associations were to be shown, the scandalous course of drive, which even initially made the “Nationalzeitung” declared highly questionable, and which the government so badly As soon as the priorities, as they would have it Nature had to fall in the course, Mr. Camphausen caught to praise them, to describe them as an absolutely safe investment to recommend, and he continued to do so even when they had already Cours. He repeatedly held formal bull markets Speeches for the stock market, encouraged the audience to buy, _ signaled a change for the better on several occasions, spoke even from the crisis that had already been overcome, and declared the financial Prussia's situation has always been extremely satisfactory, even when the budget actually already showed a deficit. Delbrück suddenly fell ill. “The lucky hand,” as he said the “Nationalzeitung”, “immediately only found strength to to write a letter of resignation.” Delbrück was just going to right time; his position was secured by the parliamentary Debates about the purchase of bad priorities shaken, and he might feel that the things around him were coming together The liberal stock market press has always sought him in vain to put him back into action, in vain she spoke of him, as if he had not been eliminated at all or only temporarily and recommended him to every suitable and inappropriate Opportunity: he was no longer desired, and limited to the presidency of the “Association for the Promotion of Trade fleisses'', where his student and admirer Achenbach spoke of him boasted that his very name was a "program and "Banner". Camphausen often threatened to leave , but remained, although eventually liberal newspapers tapped into it, and even the ungrateful financial newspapers about attacked him.

€

Camphausen and Achenbach have for the unstoppable ongoing crisis has shown very little understanding. Like the liberal stock market press, they long denied the need and wanted to help the sick industry by "increasing the work performance" and cuts in wage rates back to the legs help. In the midst of the crisis, Mr Achenbach increase rail freight rates by 20 percent, which of course according to the already so much inflated Food prices increased even further, he raised the round-trip tickets He shortened the validity period of return tickets. Nothing characterizes him better than a speech he recently gave in the aforementioned club, at Delbrück's side, and in which, according to the "Nationalzeitung", he was given the following profound meaningful words: "One is certainly inclined to to become wavering in his views in such difficult Time when what once seemed to be strong suddenly ly shaken, where one sees those who were previously firm, But I believe it is precisely the duty to hold on to the intention of calm examination in such a time of the circumstances, so that one does not go from one extreme falls into the other." – – –

Prince Bismarck has done very wrong, the economic to leave the national legislation to the Manchester people, who consists of one-sided doctrinaires, ignorant chatterers and "liberal" stock market relatives. In hasty Hastily everything that existed was torn down, law after law fabricated so that the nation never came to its senses, from the state of transition, unrest and confusion confusion did not come out at all.

– XXX –

What has not the new weight and measure system Order, the coin and banking reform cost! Every mass- and weight change causes harm to the audience, quite special damage, however, if the size and weight are smaller The quart became the liter, the ell became the !/, meter, the bushel to $\frac{1}{2}$ hectoliter, the loth to decagram While prices initially remained the same, because of the period of dizziness, soon increased considerably. The old masses correspond to nature, the conditions of the human body; whereas the new mass on the artificial calculation, and because of the half-Latin nic half Greek word monster never gave the people In fact, the new masses are up to desperately impractical, and even the authorities see forced to resort to the old mass, as one because in most profiles, instead of (height:) 166½ centimetres, today reads 5 feet 4 inches again. After the big victory Germany had to immediately adopt French standards and gain weight!

The ongoing

Confiscation of metal and paper money, a true coin and banknote rush; and even the new stamps were The new coins are from 80 defective quality that they are among the worst changes give rise to the fact that even cashiers with Security cannot distinguish whether they are genuine or are fake, they quickly lose their shine, appearance and color. that they crack and break like glass, and that their

– XXXI –

Reproduction does not cause the slightest difficulty. Never-counterfeiting flourished as it does today. Gold standard proves to be in fact not feasible, the Demonetization of silver, the clumsiness and the mistakes in gold minting and silver sales costs the Reich sums that will probably never become public but they are huge. Perhaps even more is the loss of Individuals. The division of the penny into 10, instead of 12 Pfennigs, means for the inhabitants of Prussia and other of these countries a loss of 16% percent, which in the small trade cost 3 old pennies, now costs 5 new pennies, ie 100 percent more. Despite the so-called coin and banking unit, a uniform paper money is not the Speech, the paper money economy is flourishing, a main cause of general inflation, traffic in many respects, even more obstacles and inconveniences possibilities than before. Nobody needs more than 20 marks in Silver and more than 1 Mark in nickel, Nobody needs Papiergeld, not even notes of the Reichsbank in payment and even the Reich and state treasuries are only for Acceptance of Reichskassenscheine is obligatory. Of the drawn coins, some cannot be used at certain places e.g. the three-cent piece in Berlin, the 21/-groschen piece in Northern Germany. Everywhere there is a lack of suitable money signs, almost everyone finds paying, changing and withdrawing give circumstances and embarrassments, even the official is right net still secretly after the old coin standard, the

The bill is obviously difficult for him and costs twice as much and three times the time. But the best thing is that this change calculation is partly impossible, e.g. Exchange stamps, where the gradation according to mark amounts is simple has failed. Oh, the wise legislators!

In the New German Reich everything is more expensive and worse, have become less in quality and quantity; even after raising the milling and slaughter tax, like the bakers. and Butcher, laughing to himself, himself and immediately before have testified – bread and meat. The whole business traffic has taken on a dizzying character; all Articles are, despite the “free competition”, with a mass sold at a loose premium, all kinds of surrogates and imitations are considered permitted, the reduction of mass and weight is habitual, the fraud was clearly carried out. The Deterioration and adulteration of medicinal products and stimulants, of goods and manufactured goods has enormous dimensions taken, created its own industry; and since the man-physical “self-help” proves to be completely powerless, we see The police and the courts have recently become involved Intervention required.

– XXXII –

Despite the emergency, inflation continues, growing public spending, the tax screw will be tightened New authorities are constantly being created and as- soon they can no longer cope with the work; always The army of officials is growing, the The vaunted “self-government” is evident very expensive and more complicated than the old system. The Communes operate in the blue, experiment and squander without measure, contract loan after loan, and, like the states, are heading towards debt. People, however, are impoverished, and both the state and the commu- National taxes will result in a large loss in the current year. All too soon we will return to indirect taxes have to resort to, but then bread and meat become even more expensive again.

The legislative machine works continuously, because it has, as Lasker claims, stalled for fifty years, and this man is ready to make laws day and night. This multitude of laws is not the need of the people, but the need of the stock market liberal party to satisfy its vanity

– XXXII –

ity to do enough to strengthen themselves and to take the helm
Hundreds of things are being tackled simultaneously.
men, and everything in the most hasty, dissolute manner makes; what the barbaric style, the careless redaction of the new laws. The entire legislation is just casual work, mere piecemeal and patchwork.
The new law has barely been published and it has already proven to be old, completely unusable or in need of reform, calls it causes the greatest evils, it is given to him by hundreds thousands of people have voted no confidence. They are already complaining the abolition of the slaughter and milling tax, the introduction of compulsory vaccination, the liberalization of the medical profession; already Voices are raised against the freedom of theatre, and more and more more urgent is the need for a restriction of train and Freedom of trade has a special meaning between master craftsman, sell and apprentice tore every bond, and the craftsman
which once formed the core of the citizenry, was ruined.
Every bungler, even women and children, make the skilled Craftsmen competition; the state allows prisons and correctional facilities houses into complete factories by using the work
The prisoners' workforce was usually a Jewish
The famous Act on Stock Corporations is now universally condemned, even by those who made it What has been proposed so far for its reform is very insufficient, as these proposals are mostly made by lawyers and Founding partners. Fr. Perrot, known for his meritorious writings on the railway and banking wesen, has in a book published in 1876 "Das Actienmischief" has shown through history that so far nor all precautions against stock fraud are completely un-
have proven effective, and draws the bold conclusion conclusion that the joint-stock company as such is not moral and therefore not to be tolerated. From the new

The guardianship order has already stated that its handling Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. LI. c

– XXXIV –

brings with it great inconveniences, as the guardians on the one hand, not to meet the very high requirements on the other hand, their very extensive abuse their powers and the funds entrusted to them
The Reich Justice Laws are often suppressed throughout Germany is likely to experience a tremendous mess, a much greater costliness of the justice system and an overgrowth of advocacy, and the question arises whether their

Implementation of the necessary material of judges and lay judges. From all sides, even in the Parliaments, cries of distress are heard that the flood of new laws is too big that in the labyrinth of laws legislation, not even the civil servant, let alone because the layman can find his way around.

Legislative mania is a disease of the times, and gy has its origin in the fact that our parliaments are overcrowded with officials and lawyers. In the Prussian There are over a hundred lawyers in the House of Representatives, and the German Reichstag less so. Especially the Prussian Lawyer with his formal one-sided education is suitable bad for the legislator and representative of the people. In the North American Republic, public officials are elected by Parliament ment excluded; which is certainly very wise, since the office remains more or less dependent on the government, and with his convictions all too easily come into conflict It definitely damages the reputation as the impartial the judge's presence when he is involved in election agitation and party fights; and the verdicts of the Courts of Justice often reveal how much the judges are the influence and pressure of the daily current. In There are far too many educated people in our parliaments; see from the not numerous merchants, factory owners and professional farmers, there is a clear lack of men of practical life; the peasant and artisan classes is almost not represented at all. Our parliaments mainly represent essentially the interests of large-scale industry and wholesale dels, capital and the stock exchange. The coin and banking reform, the entire economic legislation and the great fluctuation del have primarily benefited the Jewish community, This has enriched itself beyond the masses, the nation on the other hand, is terribly impoverished. In the New German Reich, the Jews became increasingly powerful they raise their heads; their arrogance becomes ever greater and intolerance. Thanks to the press, which is almost entirely in their pay, they dominate public opinion, They play an outstanding role in all areas, give they set the tone in the highest levels of society. While they cry out when their ceremonial law dares to criticize in any way; while the prosecutor progresses when the teachings of the Talmud are confronted with them. holds – insult and mock them with impunity in their papers Christianity every day, they persecute it in the most horrible way against the Pope and the Catholic Church. It is already as the director of the Luisenschule in Berlin exclaimed, not so much about a Jew-hunt rather than a Christian-hunt. The old Dizziness is not overcome in the least, and already the stock market liberal press for a new, even more hopeless one. She wants to merge the Reichspost and the state railways into one Stock company; it seeks to transform the state assets to be broken up and auctioned. In January In 1877, the "Vossische Zeitung" dared to sell the Domains and steelworks of the Prussian Treasury to em-pempfehlung, saying literally: "Passed into private ownership, these properties would yield a much higher return, which not only benefits the owners, but the entire Full of justified indignation, the "Deutsche Landeszeitung" states: "One can count each of these Villains, for their impudence, 50 lashes on the soles of their feet!"

– XXXV –

c*

– XXXVI –

Despite the serious crisis, the Manchester people, the sit at the government table, do not come to an understanding, hold she clings desperately to her shamed by the events phrases that have become official, let them write: the emergency stand reigns in all countries. However, the crisis resulting from the intimate interaction which today between the civilized states, across Europe and America; it has recently even achieved the years of flourishing France. But this all-common distribution suggests a single cause, and this is the stock market liberal economic policy, which of course because of over-speculation and overproduction, waste and has created debt, corruption and fraud, and the directed by history. In the Bank of England, in the Bank of France, in the German Reichsbank the millions that lie unused are piling up, and the Discount rate is as low as it has ever been. What is What does that mean? asks Mr Camphausen, and he immediately answers itself: It means that a change, an improvement that things will start again soon, and the growing Entrepreneurial spirit may again degenerate into dizziness – Ah, Mr. Camphausen, you may be greatly mistaken! This phenomenon is precisely the worst and most worrying Symptom of general illness. It means that the great fraud paralyzed every spirit of enterprise, crushed that everyone holds on to their money and prefers to celebrate than it exposes to the slightest risk that no man trusts the other person more, that the whole world freezes and the Trade and industry must repent in sackcloth and ashes!!

"Slander!" shout the founders and their comrades.
Although they all declaim against the fraud themselves, nobody man claims to have been there. "Slander!" cries the stock exchange liberal press, and also passionately advocates for the worst sinner. "Slander!" groan the Manchester

– XXXVI –

ual law makers, like the Manchester gentlemen at Government table, and they unanimously affirm that in the New German Empire Everything is well ordered, and everyone, except the "slanderers", feel very satisfied. The term "slanderer" defamation" has suddenly turned into its opposite. Accusations and accusations that cannot be refuted, cannot be invalidated whose truth lies in the bright sunlight, and of Hundreds of thousands of people feel it painfully, it is called fach – "lies and slander"; and the men who against fraud and corruption, against the Manchester mismanagement and its terrible consequences are considered "professional" "informers" and
"Delators", "reactionaries" and "enemies of the Reich".

16 years ago, in April 1861, Karl Twesten wrote his Brochure: "What can still save us!" Ks was a loyal Patriot, a brave man, an ideal human being, but he was wrong,
and he was able to convince himself of his error.
What he considered a profound misfortune was soon to befall Prussia big and powerful, make Germany united and strong. Today it is the other way round. Prussia and Germany are the first European power, feared by the whole world and flattering and keeping the whole world at bay.
But inside the body politic there is a nasty worm, and If he is not driven out, not killed, he can entrails and bring about dissolution. The new German Reich is in grave distress and danger;
It is not threatened by external force, but by its own illness.
This time it is in all seriousness: What can still save us can! Only one thing can save us: a complete break with the current economic system and with the stock market liberal regime, the emancipation from Jewish rule
and a thorough revision of economic legislation, the vigorous prosecution of fraud and fraudulent conduct and the expulsion of the founders and founding partners from the public

– XXXVII –

Market. By Messrs Camphausen, Achenbach, Michaelis
is just as unlikely as from the current par-lament. The government must find new men it must appeal to the nation, and for the purpose

take the initiative in economic reform.

2 aa

The Act on Stock Corporations and the "Billion business".

Louis Napoleon and the Jews – Enterprise and Fraud –
Mr. J. Prince-Smith, the father of the German "Economists" – Editor
Otto Michaelis and the Conversion of Excellency Delbrück – The Coronation of economic legislation – Mr. HH Meier from Bremen in concern, and is comforted by Dr. Hammacher – Mr. Miquel is fighting for "concealment", and is admonished by Mr. Lasker – As the people representatives make laws – Dr. Endemann as commentator – The Foundings in Germany and those in Austria – Fata Morgana – Excellency Delbrück is endowed – The French "Economist" Leon Say and the "Volkswirt of the "Vossische Zeitung" – The "billion dollar business" is being accelerated too much, and the Prussian bonds are being paid off too quickly terminated – The golden teaspoon of Mr. Alexander Meyer – Ludwig Bamberger's Dithyrambs and his Stock Exchange Philosophy – "Take Hack' and spade, dig yourself" – The secret of our time.

As is well known, the Second Empire was for France rich a source of material prosperity. Under Louis Napoleon, by himself with zeal and emphasis promoted, industry, trade and the stock exchange took a powerful upswing. Hence the sympathies of the bourgeois classes for the emperor, and later for the restoration of the empire. Hence the passionate enthusiasm of the Jews for Louis

Napoleon – as long as he sat on the throne; where-
Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 1

a) –

against them, since his fall, not reviling him enough and in their delight at the new German Empire did not even know how to do it.
While France's industry and trade in lush, almost horny bloom, weighed on the Business world in Germany is somewhat of a nightmare.
People here never really trusted the peace, they were never sure that the French Emperor would not start a war which was directed directly against Prussia or at least affect it. Only since The war of 1866 brought about the end of that nightmare, Napoleon's aura is beginning to fade more and more. gann. In Germany, too, the the spirit of enterprise, but without to steer into unsound paths at that time. The only exceptions are the stock exchange activity in Berlin and Strousberg's railway buildings. | Apart from these two phenomena, it is a gross untruth and a mischievous forgery, when the founders and founding partners, in order to to wash clean, recently claim: A super-production and over-speculation in Germany already existed before the war of 1870; only the great victory over France had the economic crisis did not lead to the end

u, as

break, but delay it by a few years.
hesitates.

What is true, however, is that overproduction and over-speculation in the dizzying period of 1871 to 1873 the seeds were sown much earlier was. And this sowing is the work of manchester people who prefer to call themselves "economists" call. |

As we know, economics is a relatively young and still very unfinished Science. In the first half of this century She stayed in Germany to study at universities limited, without particularly targeting the student youth and without the later civil servants to influence the large audience, Yes, it was also relatively unknown to the business world.

In the mid-1940s, a new wave of Königsberg i. Pr. an English language teacher, Named J. Prince-Smith. He tried to do this in England flourishing Manchesterdom also in Germany-land; the doctrine of the "free currencz", the "eternal and only valid law" of "Supply and demand." At first he found little He was a member of the Berlin Music Association until he moved to Berlin and

School, a number of writers around him
1*

=. Ä) =

Gradually, major industrialists, Traders and stock exchange people, especially those who chosen people that the new "science schaft" is easy to learn and in practice even good Manchesterism, which is one of the the omnipotence of capital and the impotence power of the state, the economic dogma of the "liberal party", the ruling Bourgeoisie. Mr. Prince-Smith and his disciples gained wide reputation as "economists" and great Influence. They were influenced by the press in which they worked hard, celebrated continuously and worshipped incense; they paraded every year on the so-called economic congresses, and They were named the "noblest and best of the Nation" into parliaments.

To the disciples of Mr. Prince-Smith, who, originally quite poor, in his recently
who left behind an astonishing fortune after his death, also belongs to Mr. Otto Michaelis, for many years
"Volkswirth" and co-editor of the Berlin "National-Newspaper", until Minister Delbrück appointed him as his made a presentation of the council; as he was at the economic legislation of the North German Federal Republic and the new German Reich a very

.

a SB. Be has a significant share. Mr. Otto told Wolff, "economist" and editor of the "Ostseezeitung" in Stettin, when Excellency Delbrück April 1876 the Farewell to this deserving state man from a Saul became a Paul, namely lich was initially a protectionist, and only subsequently to free trade and Manchesterism returned.

The crowning glory of economic legislation
of the North German Confederation, this was such a sad

The Act of 11 June 1870 became famous, which formally organized the founding fraud, by exempting joint-stock companies from any approval and supervision of the state, and for the future construction of the same the imaginable binding regulations, mere sham provisions set up.

When this famous law was passed on 20 May 1870 in North German Reichstag for discussion, wanted It is a characteristic coincidence that not, as usually, Dr. Simson presided, but the First Vice President, Duke of Ujest, Comrade of the miracle doctor Strousberg, and after him the second vice president, Mr. von Bennigsen, the founder the much-mentioned Hanover-Altenbeck railway.

See i ae

The debate was attended almost exclusively by Manchester-based "economists", many of whom soon afterwards, during the period of dizziness, as founder and founding members shone. Everyone thought that the bill restricts freedom of movement the area of stock trading is still far too cabinets; namely: Schulze-Delitzsch, Justice-rath Lesse, Dr. Weigel from Kassel, Dr. Braun-Wies-Baden, Hofrath Ackermann from Dresden, Edgar Ross from Hamburg etc. The punishments were particularly displeasing, which negligent and disloyal members of the Board of Directors of a stock corporation society; and they were only very reluctantly willing, because the government has a conditio sine qua non included in the purchase. Mr HH Meier from Bremen even predicted that about this "rigorous" threat of punishment (prison of three months maximum!) decent people hard-ual to supervisory boards. Mr. However, Dr. Hammacher replied very correctly: it will be done. To avoid those penalties weaken, Mr. von Bernuth, Justice Minister a. D. and Professor von Sybel a "Ver-The same allows, even if Management Board and Supervisory Board the status of the m OP ge

knowingly misrepresenting the facts of a company

pose or conceal mitigating circumstances and in this case, instead of the prison sentence, punishment, a mere fine. In vain did he object the MP von Luck, later senior public prosecutor in Berlin, where he explained how here "mitigating the circumstances" there should be no question: – the "Proposal for improvement" by Mr. von Bernuth and von Sybel nevertheless became popular.

Mr Miquel went the furthest, already Co-director of the Discontogesellschaft. Not only that he spoke quite unashamedly pro domo, namely for the Limited partnerships on shares, which, of its In my opinion, the government treats it very poorly. treated fairly: he also wanted to give the board or supervisory board of a stock corporation, depending on the location and circumstances to deceive and Such morality frightened even Mr. Lasker, and with the moral zeal that adorns him,

he exclaimed:

"I have not the slightest doubt that the MP Miquel shies away from the consequences of his own proposal would be frightened if he interpreted it as he interpreted must be ensured that the Supervisory Board, in conjunction with shareholders should be allowed to present false facts broadly, which are favorable to shareholders, but the general to the detriment of the general public."

--

Mr. Miquel resigned himself and withdrew his "conviction But who thinks here not involuntarily to Dortmunder Union and to the Romanian Railway Company!

The Act was discussed with such haste, so over the knee that even several men chester people in the Reichstag indicated this and, if also a little ashamed, warned against it. But they spoke to deaf ears. On May 12, the Draft to the Reichstag and was submitted to a so-called referred to the so-called free commission, which, without to go into detail, to quickly reach a clear On 20 May the first and, as before, Arranged the day before, immediately the second visit The third reading took place on 24 May, in the late afternoon, when the legislators were already were tired and hungry. In vain some Voices "Adjourn!" Mr. Simson admonished the un-patient assembly with its own Olympic pictorial dignity:

"I think we would be right to discuss the subject, which, as much
I can judge, is not very extensive, nor in today's session".

The growling of hungry stomachs was for
Mr. Samson, however, stepped zer u, ge

solemnly went out to his chambers to relax to restore. His throne was taken by the Duke of Ujest and eliminated the formality of the third reading in just a few minutes. That's how we make laws!

Dr. Endemann, Professor and Senior Appeal Judge
rath of Jena, who was also a member of the North German
,Reichstag, the Act has "from the materials materials"; and it is easy to be surprised that in this Commentary to find the same views, which are reflected in the speeches of Miquel and comrades
Mr Endemann is also aware of the so-called ten normative provisions of the Act on Stock Corporations "without Necessity restrictive restrictions" and he appears
"one's own caution and independent judgment of the public as the only sustainable guarantee against Abuse". He is also actually against the "An-threat of direct police punishment" and considers the any form of concealment is very questionable. Yes, Mr Endemann believes that certain provisions
the law to almost challenge it;
and Article 215, which allows a company to prohibits the purchase of own shares, he assures comfortingly:
"Anyone who knows the conditions of the traffic sieve must be reassured that the practice is will know how to help". The founders and founders

z= J0 ==

nossen, as far as they are now in the dock, Endemann's commentary is urgently needed recommend; the judge will hopefully release him
know. |

But this comment proves how miserable and ambiguous already the version of our newer Laws; how they, so to speak, are manufactured with steam cirt; as they almost always rely on compromises and the material interests of the ruling serve the party, the so-called "liberalism", which today, in its true essence, is a trading and stock market liberalism. That commentary also shows the dangerous influence of manchesterthum to a part of our professors and Lawyers; the danger this poses to science and jurisprudence, legislation and state power advised. |

The release of the joint-stock companies was a long-standing demand of the Manchester people, which they the government finally got as compensation for other services. In anticipation, in fixed prospects of the Act were already in 1869 and In the first half of 1870 a number of companies Without the Stock Corporation Act, the major dizziness would not have been possible at all.

A .

ae le ks

The Act immediately awakened the desire for green the, and indeed to such an extent that already during of the war and despite the war a large number new societies were brought into the world. If the Manchester people try to object, that in Austria, where the stock companies are not are released, the founding fraud is just as strong raged, this is a blatant untruth In Austria, between 1867 and 1873, 1005 companies. The Austrian The government itself had fallen victim to the fraud by which was hardly to be expected in Prussia. In Prussia, Joint-stock companies have been granted concessions very sparingly; In Austria, since the time of the Lords of Beust and Giskra through certain means obtain every concession long, and the concessions became an open skilled haggling. Nevertheless, from 1867 to 1873 in Austria-Hungary, ly only 682 joint-stock companies – the remaining 323

Concessions remained unused; while in Germany country from 1870 to 1873 about 1300 companies in's lives, of which about 1,100 in Prussia alone.
Of course, the French military liarden fed the founding frenzy in Germany and

= A0. ac

increased. A true Trojan gift, they are have become a curse, and by virtue of them the
The French really took "revenge" on us.
The French war reparations were a unheard of huge sum, but the stock exchange and its Accomplices, the "economists", did and shouted, as if it were infinite and inexhaustible, a never drying up golden rain.

As it has now turned out,
but the billions are a mere mirage. German-land has never received them in reality: they are They were simply offset against him. They were .in the Mainly paid by 120,000 bills, which the European money traders and stock market Jews pushed back and forth among each other and to polite games; for which effort they made many Minister Delbrück admired
and praised the promptness with which this card art piece was carried out; but various circumstances suggest that the German government is has been duped several times.

Mr Delbrück personally had reason to be satisfied with the "billion dollar business". He belonged, like our famous military leaders, to the "endowed" Mr. Delbrück also received from the ss, CPS: –

War contribution bare two hundred thousand Thaler. The "economists" cheered and shouted:
Our Delbriick is also a generalist in his field.
Field Marshal, and he has worked in the field of Economic policy has achieved the most glorious victories!

The French economist Leon Say says quite open: A large part of the billion-dollar bills is by means of fictitious claims, the subsequent Compensation is the eye of the observer

– – The German public has paid of billions only in all kinds of shocks and disturbances; and now he almost wants to seem as if not France, but Germany–country pay the fabulous war contribution must, because France's prosperity is flourishing than ever, and ours has withered overnight. But the “Volkswirt” of the “Vossische Zeitung” knows in an editorial of 7 November 1875 also He offers consolation by saying:

“When the quiet citizen is called upon to witness the greatest and rarest world events (namely the “Milder business”), he also faces a world–historical mission.” – “If we act on the political change in the world situation, so we also suffer the consequences.”

Like his idol Delbrück, the

ees TA –

“Volkswirth” of the “Vossische Zeitung”, in the development of the “billion dollar business” provides proof of “how very our financial art of all past times is superior.” – – |

The excessive acceleration of the “billion dollar business” – three billion were made in one year offset – this steeplechase of alternating riding made the founders and founding partners completely great, and they flooded the stock market with ever new and ever more rotten values. Mr. Camp–hausen, the Prussian Finance Minister that also his own by giving thanks to the founding queen, the Discontogesellschaft, from the holdings of the state treasury through the maritime trade three million thalers against 2°/, percent interest and advance without documentation He also announced a series of Bonds. Large amounts of capital were released, and their Owners who, because of the secure system, had to settle for a modest interest rate, now, for better or worse, to the founders so mass–produced “new values”. countless foundations, the almost uninterrupted Change of residence through house and terrain speculation also enriched the state treasury; the income from The court costs grew noticeably, and the stamp duty

a> Yes

tax literally swelled. The Preussische Bank and the maritime trade did brilliant business; the railway, mining, metallurgy and salt administration, they all threw surprisingly large Mr Camphausen wore his head high, and earned in Parliament from the "Liberals" great applause. During the founding period Mr. Camphausen paraded with annually increasing the "surpluses", and the "economists" took him as a kind of magician. With the "Noise" of course also brought an end to the "surpluses"; and Mr Camphausen would have been happy with the termination and not to rush to repay the bonds need, because soon he had to go to a new July 1876 he laid for railway purposes 120 million marks for public subscription, and thereby made a complete fiasco.

Austria also believed in the French billions, and eagerly created it at the same time if "new values", which are largely in German land. The Austrian Green were actually just the echo of the Germans. In the two main fraud years of 1871 and 1872 emerged in Austria-Hungary together about 400 stock companies, in Prussia however approx.

6

780 companies. Here, what was achieved must remember that the dizziness is a double 80 large scale, and it was also much more intense, by being as much a residence as it is a province, a city like country, all circles and classes of the population plundered or at least damaged.

It is interesting to see how the "billion business" the imagination of the chosen people heated up, and with good reason, because for this. it was really a "business"; such a big business, as it has been since the creation of the world not fallen to us, and probably in centuries will not fall again.

Mr Alexander Meyer, "Economist" formerly of German Trade Day in Berlin, now the "Schle-sischen Presse" in Breslau, calculated in the report by Paul "Gegenwart" (No. 27 de 1872), founded in Lindau, that from the French war contribution to every Germans, from infants to the elderly, a golden a teaspoon, weighing 2 Loth, would be lost. While the proverb only says of the "ten thousand superiors", that she, with a silver spoon in her mouth, World, according to Alexander Meyer, was now every German infant, even in the poorest hut, born with a silver spoon in his pocket. –

a IT =

However, Mr Meyer cautiously adds: this 40 million golden spoons would be difficult to sell ly and should sink rapidly in price. – Fate has also placed such an embarrassment on us saved. Today, just look for the 40 million golden spoon! 39 million Germans are one searches in vain for the gold spoon weighing 2 Loth. It is very rarely found in Christian families find, perhaps under 1000 in one, but probably almost in every Jewish home. The 40 million gold ner spoon have all retreated into the treasuries of the founders and founding partners. In such games, by the way, notices, our feuilletonist "economists", the Alexander Meyer, Ludwig Bamberger, Braun-Wies-bathing etc. Behind such games they hide their lack of positive knowledge, serious Studies and moral principles. Ludwig Bamberger published "The Five Billion" in 1873 in the April issue. by his friend Wehrenpfennig published "Prussian Yearbooks". In pure dithyrambs (ie in those that have been Melanippides the Younger became fashionable), in ever new hyper-witty turns of phrase and comparisons

He celebrates and interprets the "billion dollar business" that he Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 2 finally as a kind of "witch's multiplication table" Ludwig Bamberger has been a political Refugee banking and exchange business en gros learned from his uncle Bischoffsheim in Paris, and

=a AR, a

He knows all the mysteries of it as well as Bleichröder or Rothschild. Although he now loves, like Graziano in "The Merchant of Venice", with endless words as little as possible to say, although he would like to keep the main thing for himself and is careful not to talk about school, escapes him at the end of his triumphal song
but a warning. He warns the German government tion, for which it is already too late, the pace of payments not to speed up so much in order to not to encourage the change of riding so much
He says explicitly: the all-too-hasty rejection development of the war contribution will be directed to Germany-country, it acts "like a greenhouse for horse-exchange", and the money received could easily converted into coal! Ludwig Bamberger, who, when he indulges in digressions of all kinds,
done, finally becomes moral, reminds
"that fifty years after the entry of the Pe-Ruanian gold stream the traces of the decay of the Spanish monarchy came to light." "Would the

- 19 =

The Hohenzollern Empire will be preserved from the ambiguous blessing of Spanish galleons!" he shouts and then, somewhat convulsively, lets the verses consequences:

Take a hoe and a spade, dig yourself,

Farm work makes you great,

And a herd of golden calves,

They tear themselves away from the ground.

A nice reminder! But it takes a strange sam from the mouth of the banker Bamberger, who the "Deutsche Bank" was founded, and the Reichsbank and the nickel coins. Mr.
Bamberger warned as the two-year-old
The "Dance around the Golden Calf" has already and the "Big Crash" had already taken place before the
His fear that the French Billions could turn into coal, began barely spoken, to be fulfilled quickly, in steep gender, unstoppable haste sad truth to Instead of the golden teaspoon from Alexander der Meyer, today each of us carries a pound

coined nickels from Ludwig Bamberger in his pocket,
and these coins, after a short period of use,
black and brittle like coal.

"The entire organism of our traffic world rests on the fact that no interest is lost," says

2*

– 20 –

Ludwig Bamberger in his hymn to the "Milliardengeschäft". This sentence of the stock exchange philosopher Minister Delbrück took up the idea and gave it to her in a par-lamentation speech the profound version: "It is the secret of our time, not to lose interest."

In order not to lose interest, to meet the estimated
To increase interest, Excellency Delbrück bought from the French war contribution for the Reich Invalid Fund and Fortification Fund
over 100 million thalers of unguaranteed railway priorities which are today somewhat unsellable cial and where there is a risk that interest rates and capital is lost.

The "uplift" of industry.

What the "economists" preach and how the founders go about their work –
Pre-foundations: Norddeutsche Fabrik, Lüders, Hartmann, Liebermann, Schwartzkopff – Berlin machine foundations: Freund, Eckert, Egells, Vulkan, Wöhlert, Union, Cyklop, Oechelhäuser, Germania, Phoenix, Sentker, Tietzsch, Schaaf, Ludewig, patent files – sewing machines: Ludwig Löwe & Co., Frister & Rossmann, Pollack, Schmidt & Co., Franz Boecke – Professional Pre-purchasers – Parliamentary founders – Founding sins – Wage and Price increases – overproduction and emergency – subsequent evidence ity of the stock exchange newspapers – A de-establishment: Factory for railway supplies, formerly Pflug – Mr. von Unruh and Mr. HB Oppenheim – The two EE ONON Friedrich Waltz and Julius Müller – "Dr. Strousberg and his work, told by himself."

Germany is an agricultural country, and will remain so will probably stay. But our "economists", the always look to France and England, want from Germany certainly an industrial and commercial
They do not care that the Small businesses will soon be completely destroyed by large-scale industry.
will be that the peasant class will be more and more light that our grain production is declining rapidly, and in recent years we have lost many Millions of thalers more were imported than exported.

– 22 –

The Berlin "Nationalzeitung" says in a Editorial of 21 July 1876: "The increased Germany's import of foreign grain is only a natural consequence of the increasing predominance its industrial activity and a sign of the speed of their development." – –

For a quarter of a century, Germany has country where large-scale industry is highly developed, is a A number of factory towns have grown up. These in social policy terms in and of itself A worrying movement has now taken place since the release of the joint-stock companies and 'with the French Billions a stormy pace, an excessive character. While after every big Wars naturally cause exhaustion and gathering, restrictions and doubled austerity will follow, After the peace treaty, a real Passion for new ventures, a wild Speculation fever. If we had the billions really get it, they would only cover the expenses and | covered the losses of the war; but the stock exchange took it, despite the mere bill of exchange, as a cash gift, and the press and the "Volks-wirthe" preached incessantly: We were from one. relatively poor suddenly a rich people our national prosperity would have increased as a result the French War and German Unity, infinitely increased and increased. This wealth, This surplus must not be left unused; it must primarily be used to support industry and Trade, which has been restricted and inhibited for so long being, to raise and promote, to the full.glorious to develop. New factories and manufacturing invoices, mining and steel works, banks and cial societies would have to be created, which already existing ones can be expanded and enlarged. What the strength and means of the private individual cannot assets, the Association des Capitals, the Stock corporation.

Then the startup epidemic began. The green was meritorious because it was charitable; the green which were criticized by the press and by the "Volks-wirthen" was celebrated. The founding became a business, because it was very profitable. The professional Founder found in various circles of the society allies and assistants, scouts and drivers, for whom all more or less large sums fell. ` |

Apart from the countless banks and construction unite, but were real new creations only isolated. A factory, spinning mill or the like to build in the first place was too complex and time-consuming. It was preferred to use existing establishments to buy and convert into joint stock companies. Of course, attention was directed to next on large and renowned facilities; later and at the same time smaller and completely un- The owners were bought for Partly very courted and literally besieged; partly wise they rushed to sell and belonged one of the founders.

– 24 –

The most horrendous prices were either freely willingly offered or, without much haggling, granted. With the senseless increase in land and of buildings, as it took place at that time, one can boldly claim that the previous buyers or the founders expanded the establishment to be founded around the Purchased twice the actual value*).

) In September 1872, Simon Levy from Berlin "founded" the factory owner FA Klusemann in Magdeburg. This He offered for the establishment, which actually cost about 225,000 Thir. was worth, immediately 600,000 thalers, and transferred it to the new Stock company "Sudenburger Maschinenfabrik" with 800,000 Thaler. Mr. Levy did not even consider it necessary to to inspect properly, but when he was asked to he rejected it with the classic words: He who has long sees, has no desire to buy! – Even the Count of Stolberg'-

– 25 –

Actiengesellschaft it was about the three and four times, often ten to twenty times. Finally, the shares usually arrived with a Agio of 5 to 50 percent on the stock exchange, and were which then pushed up much higher. Therefore after the crash the endless falling, mainly of industrial shares, whose true value is determined by was already very low, but as a result of Mismanagement and embezzlement, which in a Actiengesellschaft hardly failed to appear, often even up to Zero. The previous owner received a well-known Part of the purchase price is usually liable in such own shares, which he naturally sells as quickly as possible to get rid of. The real value of the establishment founded is likely in many cases the mortgage, which the seller or Previous buyer registers the remainder of the purchase price | and which had to be paid off after just a few years.

Factories and manufactures of every industry and Many hundreds in number came from private hands into the possession of joint-stock companies, sche Maschinenfabrik, not as big as the Klusemann'sche, was to be founded in 1872. Just to get rid of the agents -become, the Director demanded the fabulous sum of 2 million lion thalers. But the founders were not afraid and moved only backed down when the entire amount was demanded in cash.

– 9% – 4

with preference “founded” and also found trust The cries of the “economists”, the The press rejoiced at the general prosperity, about the new blossoming of industry and transport lulled the whole nation into sweet madness, increased all needs and tempted everyone to a certain comfort and luxury. All factories and Manufactures seemed fully occupied and spoke of high pensions, because prices rose noticeably.

The machine factories and the factories for railway The traffic, the transport seemed endless to grow; daily one read in the newspapers about Traffic jams and accumulation of goods, from and coal shortages. The railways could not Not always able to cope with the rush; many new lines were concessioned and started. The

Orders on passenger and freight cars, on Rails and locomotives accumulated to such an extent that the establishments concerned had the choice.
But also those factories that set up the supply for other factories, engines and Engines, spinning and weaving looms, tools and Instruments were inundated with orders Mistake.

Among the previous owners of this now founded Establishments were men whose name had a reputation and reputation throughout Germany, whose
The name alone offered a guarantee, especially since it usually still the management of the new joint stock company Machine factories threw themselves into private generate a net profit of 15 to 25 percent; Mechanical engineering and railway supplies stocks found therefore willingly accepted and experienced in the first Time almost all considerable price increases.

A number of such factories were built before outbreak of the Act on Stock Corporations; they are the forerunners of it and among them
the following noteworthy:

North German factory for railway operating materials
in Berlin. Founded in May 1869 by Geh. Commerzienrath Paul Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, Commercial Councillor Adalbert Del-brick and H. Thomas. Share capital 1'/, million thalers.
One of the few factories that were newly built. The first
Other members of the supervisory board were: Banker Franz Mendelssohn, Consul John' Menger, Justice Counsel Max Wilke, Government Counsel and railway director Jul. Vettin. The operation only began 1871 and was not profitable from the start. Direction: Go.
Chief Engineer Eduard Koch and Chief Mechanical Engineer Woehler, later Hermann Kremser. A dividend is never distributed which is why one of the shareholders, MP Schröder-Lippstadt – the “ultramontane lawyer”, as the “Berliner Börsen – Courier” called it – the liquidation

– 9 –

This was only achieved to the detriment of society decided in April 1876. Price of shares once 120; now about 40.

Joint-stock company for the manufacture of railway machinery

terial, former city councillor Lüders in Görlitz. Pre-purchased by Isidor Mamroth in Berlin for allegedly 512,000 Thaler. The Minister of Trade initially refused the concession, which was June 1869 by Cabinet Order. Actiencapital 1 million thalers. Apart from the previous buyer Isidor Mamroth, were part of the founding committee: businessman L. Ephraim and Lawyer Dr. Dreyer in Görlitz, railway director, re-Government Councillor Carl Vogt in Breslau, General Consul Gutike in Berlin, Wilhelm Eichler Knight of Eichkron in Vienna, Saxon German Financial Advisor, Baron Max Maria von Weber in Dresden. The first members of the Board of Directors included: Commercial Councillor L. Wrede and Paul Gravenstein in Berlin. The management initially remained the previous owner, who, as it was stated in the prospectus, in hardly 15 years ago he became a rich man; later he took over she Director Sammann, who in 1873 also took over the The once flourishing factory was quickly declined. From 1871 to 1873 there were There was no dividend; in 1874 and 1875 it was 4% each. once 125; now about 40.

Saxon Machine Works, formerly Geh. Commercial rath Richard Hartmann in Chemnitz. Was appointed March 1870 for 8 million thalers purchased! The founding committee consisted of: Commerzienrath L. Wrede, banker Paul Gravenstein, factory owner G. Schöpplenberg and Justizrath J. Ahlemann in Berlin, Wilhelm Eichler Knight of Eichkron in Vienna and Saxon Financial Advisor, Baron Max Maria von Weber in Dresden. In Prospect says: Richard Hartmann, 30 years ago a fellow. telless worker, now employs nearly 3000 people.

Mr Hartmann and Mr Lüders are both a shining

– 29 –

Example for the pious proletarians who do not let themselves be tempted by evil Social Democrats, but rather the continue to listen to Mr Schulze-Delitzsch, who will calls out: Each of you carries in his pocket the factory owner's Staff! But Mr. Hartmann and Mr. Lüders have fourth estate from which they emerged, no longer has anything in common; they both belong to the bourgeoisie now, they have both founded and then founded themselves,

The company's capital amounts to 3 million Thaler (Million was subsequently added to the Course in January 1873 of 104 issued) and in addition there are 500,000 Thaler Mortgages! Chairman. of the Supervisory Board, which also includes Geh. Commerzienrath Plaut in Berlin, Member of the Upper House Government Councillor Heise in Breslau and Geh. Hofrath Advocat

Kohl in Chemnitz, the previous owner Richard Hartmann. Gustav Hartmann took over the direction, and so Everything stayed nicely in the family. In the Prospect, 15 up to 17 percent net profit, but the highest Dividend, which was achieved in 1873, was only 11, and fell to 3 percent in 1874. Despite this tiny dividend The Supervisory Board and Management each granted 5500 Thaler Royalties; because both Lüders and Hartmann determine the statutes, partly drafted by the same founders very wise that when distributing the net profit, first Board of Directors and Executive Board, and only then the action naires should be considered. The shares, once 125, were listed in the summer of 1876 about 30.

Mechanical engineering and iron foundry Wilhelmshütte near Sprottau, formerly Liebermann & Co. Founded April 1870 by Geh. Commerzienrath Gustav Dietrich, Geh. Hofrath Robert Dohme, Court Justice Dr. Girau, Emil Rathenau and Eduard Abel in Berlin and the deputy railway director Bail in Glogau. Share capital 750,009 Thaler and 100,000 Thaler Mortgage. The prospectus promised a 14% dividend,

en B ee

“which was never achieved. In 1875, 4, 1876 – 41.0 Dividend, price once 120, now about 60.

Berliner Maschinenbaugesellschaft, formerly L.Schwartzkopff in Berlin. Founded June 1, 1870 by lawyer Salomonsohn (for the Disconto-Gesellschaft), Geh. Commerzienrath W. Conrad (for the Berliner Handelsgesellschaft), Abraham Meyer and “Volkswirt” Assessor a. D., Member of Parliament Dr. Georg Siemens (for Deutsche Bank), Commercial Officer rath Zwicker (Schickler brothers), Anhalt & Wagener, Commerzienrath Hermann Egells, Baron Ed. von der Heydt, Julius Ebbinghaus, “Economist” and Member of the Government rath a. D. von Unruh. Share capital 2 million thalers. Director became the previous owner and he achieved high returns. From 1871 to 1876, 8, 11, 15, 14, 12 and 7½% respectively Dividends were distributed. The 7 supervisory board members received from 1873 to 1876 – 12,800, 15,500, 14,000 and respectively 9,000 thalers royalties. A nice tip for a mere nominal effort! The foundation took place when land and such Establishments have not yet been driven up so absurdly were, and the founders made a moderate profit Nevertheless, even with these shares, the price, the once quoted at 150, dropped to about 100.

If the societies of 1869 and If sin had been committed in the early 1870s, it happened in to a much greater extent and in an almost systematic way after the explosion of the Stock Corporation Act. The Loot which the pre-buyers, brokers, founders and first illustrator now pocketed, was too unashamed. The new society was born with such a huge capital, the administration was so costly gambling, the economy so sloppy that a re-stability belonged to the realm of impossibility.

SR-D

Nevertheless, in the years of fraud from 1871 to In 1873, high dividends were distributed, which were artificially calculated to get rid of the shares, or to
to issue new shares with a considerable premium.
Often the majority of the shares were still in the hands of the founders, pre-buyers and pre-seat, and these then also covered the high dividend Almost regularly, the previous owner kept the management, received a ministerial salary for it, and with the supervisory boards, which always include the founders belonged to, considerable royalties; and he always appeared with the first supervisory board members as soon as the vehicle began to sink.

In Berlin, where the epidemic was most severe,
Every factory that was green was founded and the machine factories remained few spared. A notable exception formed the "Locomotive King", Geh. Commercial rath A. Borsig – not to be confused with his brilliant father, who died in 1854. Mr. A. Borsig junior remained unfounded, although it was planned for its blissements offered him 12 to 15 million thalers

a. 139: ze

But he himself was one of the founders.
In addition, the largest and smallest Machine factories founded by Egells and Wöhlert to Ohm and Schaaf. We characterize them according to standing: |

. Iron foundry and machine factory, formerly Julius Conrad Friend. Founded May 9, 1871 by HC Plaut, Paul Gravenstein, Commerzienrath Victor Ludwig Wrede, Geh. Regie-Councillor Dr. Carl Esse and the representative Geh. Ober-Government Councillor and Director of the Royal Prussian Statistical Office Bureau, Dr. Ernst Engel. The first draftsmen include: JC Freund, Dr. Georg Freund, S. Abel jr., Justizrat Ahle-mann, G. Schöpplenberg, Rudolf Klemm etc. Directors: Wilh. Oppermann and Dr. Heinrich Adam Ludwig Wrede. The first member of the Supervisory Board was Dr. Esse, later Justizrat Riem, who had recorded the statute. The Actiencapital, originally 1,250,000 Thaler, was October 1872 increased by 350,000 thalers. At that time, the company lost they gave the right of first refusal on certain properties to the unfortunate the late German Railway Construction Company, a profit of about 240,000 thalers into the lap; and this stroke of luck was used to make young stocks, and the old ones, which had already fallen below 90, to over 130. Currently the price is around 30, because the dividend for In 1874 it was - 0.

Agricultural machine factory, formerly Com-missionsrath HF Eckert. Pre-purchased June 1871 by Ban-quier Albert Hackel (M. Borchardt jun.) and Leopold Hadra, who founded the company in association with steelworks director Hellmuth Förster, Baurath and railway director Carl Königk, manor owner and MP A. Kiepert on Marienfelde, former district administrator and member of parliament Baron von the Knesebeck on Jühnsdorf. The share capital, first 600,000 thalers, was increased by 200,000 thalers in March 1872. In addition, 185,000 Thaler mortgages. The first supervisory board members were also banker Rudolf Molenaar and engineer Adolf Meyer. The previous owner took over 150,000 Thaler shares and kept the management until 1874. When he died recently, Supervisory Board and Management an exuberant ruf. The prospectus described the previous net profit as 15% and promised a dividend of 10%. In 1874 nothing was paid, 1875 and 1876 - 4 and 3 percent respectively. Nevertheless The Supervisory Board also calculated in these years a Royalties of 1987 and 1444 thalers respectively. The Cours, once over 100, has fallen to about 30.

to o ee

Märkisch-Silesian Mechanical Engineering and Metallurgy-6e-company, previously FA Egells. The owners, Commerzienrath Hermann Egells and Carl Egells, sold twice, resulting in gave rise to a trial; for the second time, September ber 1871, to the Consortium Bernhard Friedheim and Leopold Hadra. Share capital 2,300,000 thalers! Plus approx. 700,000 thalers Mortgages and 500,000 Thaler priority bonds!! First Illustrators: Robert Baumann (Berliner Bank), Julius Samelson, Jacob Ball, Joseph Leipziger, Meyer Cohn, Mendel Cohn, Anton Wolff, Joseph Pincuss, Paul Munk, General Consul Ascher Salinger, Manor owner Carl Meyer (in the company Fr. Krupp in Essen), Justizrath Drews, Aron Hirsch Heymann etc. The prospectus contains gross inaccuracies and false information, which is why the public prosecutor's office was repeatedly called; however, there have been no charges brought to date. This prospect has no writing, which the famous Act does not even require. He is written by a stock market writer who, in his opinion, could no longer remember who had given him the order to write. There was never a dividend; per 100 Thaler (for 1872, $2\frac{1}{4}$ %, for 1873 – 11/100%) were ejected, but not paid. The shareholders received nothing for 1874;

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 3

to SL =

In contrast, the Supervisory Board granted itself and the civil servants Staff a remuneration of 2500 Thalers!! The Course is about 10.

Berliner Vulkan, iron foundry and machine factory, formerly Otto Hermann von Michalkowsky. Built in November 1871. Founders: Leopold Hadra and Max Munk. First Illustrators: Michael Simonsohn, Isidor Platho (Platho & Wolff), Emil Heymann, Leopold Pincson, Leopold Friedländer, Hugo Fuchs, Paul Munk, Railway Director Gustav Dittmann, August Jacobs, Otto Sanden etc. Share capital 450,000 Thaler – June 1876 by combining, the assassination of the shares around the half, and 285,000 Thaler mortgages. For 1872 7% dividend was distributed, nothing since then. Balance sheet for 1875 with a loss of 68,000 Thaler. Course about 5. 1

Wöhlert's mechanical engineering plant and iron foundry. Pre-purchased by Hermann Geber and associates, and Feb. 1872 the unfortunate shareholders for $3\frac{1}{2}$ million thalers. without including in this colossal sum also the inventories were included! In addition to the stock capital of 31/100 million thalers, 1 million thalers remain Mortgages. Certainly a terrible burden! Nevertheless From 1872 to 1874, 6– $5\frac{1}{2}$ percent dividends were distributed, the Supervisory Board high royalties and the officials bonuses fications were approved. It was not until 1876 that this was abandoned. The di-Julius Müller and Gustav Wöhlert took over the management. The first member of the supervisory board was the previous owner, Commerzienrath F. Wöhlert, and after him factory owner G. Schöpplenberg.

This foundation was so rough that it immediately aroused suspicion
Of the share capital, 1 million
Thaler "firmly taken over", and the rest with 2 million Thlr.
Richard Schweder (Preuss. Boden-Credit-Actien-Bank),
FW Krause & Co. and Carl Coppel & Co. for public

= ee

However, only 11/, million thalers were taken, and Richard Schweder offered the "non-subscribers Rest" of %/, million Thaler again; what in the da-period of dizziness, where oversubscriptions are regularly took place and "reductions" are always made
The course was constantly crumbling and finally fell to 10.

The prospectus is dated 1 February 1872 and is undersigned: "The Supervisory Board, Mr. Commerzienrath F. Wohlerlert, Justice Counsel Dr. Braun, Member of the Reichstag and the Parliament
House of Representatives. City Councillor Pohle. Banker FW Krause (soon afterwards ennobled). Gustav Markwald." – This prospectus says among other things: The profit achieved in the last financial year contributed 310,000 thalers, and is expected to be reduced to 545,000 thalers. – The number of workers employed was previously 1500, but has already, the entered had to be increased to 1800 due to the enlargements.
– So far, 120 locomotives and 5000 sets of Axles are supplied, but this performance is by the already made enlargements to 150
pieces of locomotives and 6000 sets of axles. –
These statements, as it turns out, are untrue,
and the public prosecutor's office received various denunciations ciations, which remained in vain for a long time, until, as a result of a Complaint by the senior public prosecutor to the Chamber Court, Mr.
von Luck, on 19 June 1876, ordered that the five Signatories of the Prospectus the preliminary judicial investigation due to fraud. ,

As early as 1874, an official who was employed in the Trust in the signature of Member of Parliament Braun:
his entire savings of 1600 thalers in Wöhlert's shares, to this gentleman and asked for information about the situation of society. Dr. Braun replied: I did not sign the prospectus in question, but rather

; 3%

– * – 0n =

indirectly, after reading such in the newspapers, the declined the position offered to me on the Board of Directors. I have absolutely no connection with the whole society. – The official saw the documents attached to the commercial registers, which are open to everyone, and found here that Mr. Braun is actually co-founder and first The company's subscriber is that he is appointed deputy Chairman, and also signed the contract with the sellers. He questioned the great “Volkswirth” again and receives the following answer: As I have just seen from the files that I was three weeks formally Supervisory Board of the Wöhlert'sche Gesellschaft schaft, but I did not continue to function and announced my resignation on February 22, 1872. – –

When Mr Braun–Wiesbaden decided to take up his post in July 1876, voters in Waldenburg (Silesia), he accepted reason to make a further statement which, according to his The personal organ of the “National-Zeitung” was: – – I was elected to the Supervisory Board of the Wöhlert Society, after participating in the discussion of the statutes had (!) and subscribed to the amount of shares which he was necessary. Some time later I became aware sam made (!!) that my name was under the prospectus. I immediately wrote to the board, protesting against the misuse of my name and declared that I am from the Supervisory Board and revoke my subscription. was received. – – Mr. Braun protested secretly, in a letter; not as was his duty, and as was his own advantage would have been public. – Mr Braun spoke to his voters only about Wöhlert's Green Party dung, he remained silent about the others in which he is involved wisely.

The other founders also want to lawyer who has not signed the prospectus,

s I, ee

and it seems, just like at the Egells factory, to have fallen from the sky. Mr. Gustav Markwald, the experienced founder and father-in-law of the bloody green Richard Schweder, referred to as the author of the prospectus – Carl Coppel; and he cannot contradict, because he has been dead for several years. He fell in the Thiergarten with the horse and died.

Berliner Union, iron foundry and machine factory, pre-mals Webers. Founded August 1872 by Richard Schweder (Preussische Creditanstalt), Ludwig Goldberger(JT Goldberger), Leopold Lehrs, Mr. Hofrath Robert Dohme. Supervisory Board members: "General Director" Mrs. Waltz, Commercial Councillor Gustav Jürst, Master builder Hennicke. Directors: the previous owners Emil Rathenau and Julius Valentin. Share capital 1 million thalers and 200,000 Thaler mortgages. In 1874 1°/, dividend distributed, in 1875 the dissolution and sale was decided. Last course approx. 1/9.

Cyklop Machine Factory. Founded in March 1872 by Ditmar Leipziger, Paul Kuczynsky, Amand Bloch, Hermann Wirtz, Gustav Friedlander, Siegmund Pincuss, Michael Simonson, Bernhard Eltze, hut director Hellmuth Förster, In-engineer Ernst Behrens and Georg Mehli, "Economist and Member of Parliament Dr. Georg Siemens, factory owner and academic miker Dr. Werner Siemens. Share capital 300,000 Thaler. The factory was newly built and the dividend per 1874 – 3½, per 1875 – 3%. On the stock exchange, the Shares not listed.

Berlin-Anhalt Mechanical Engineering Company. Founded det September 1872 by banker Friedrich Gelpcke, Julius Ebbinghaus, Wilhelm Nolte, factory owner Otto Oechelhäuser and FW Heckmann, Commerzienrath Gustav Stobwasser in Berlin, factory owner Julius Arndt and Geh. Commerzienrath "Economist" Wilhelm Oechelhäuser in Dessau. Actiencapital 500,000 Thaler. The dividends are in descending order

ss BQ: –

Line: 1873 – 10%, 1874 – 6¼%, 1875– 5%, 1876 – 23/2%p. The shares are not listed on the stock exchange.

Germania, railway carriage rental company. Founded Februar 1873 by Heinrich Quistorp, Julius Meyer Lehmann, Albert Ludewig and Reindeer Heymann Feldheim in Berlin, Caspar Diedrich Killing, C. Th. Middendorf and attorney Storp in Hagen, Carl Kessler in Greifswald, Wilh. Képpern in Altenhagen, Consul Alfred Scharffenorth in Memel, Philipp Earl Schulte in Gevelsberg. Chairman of the Supervisory Board: GL Brückmann in Dortmund. Share capital 1 million thalers. Mr. Quistorp was, as he expressed himself in his flourishing style, pressed, "in the pleasant situation", on 5 shares each of his Vereinsbank, which at that time was listed at 190, a share of the "Germania" at 107½, which with a 40% deposit is a Course of about 290. The first year of business gave 5% dividend, since 0. 1876 they went into liquidation, and The full share is trading at around 40.

Berliner Phönix, machine tool factory and iron foundry, formerly Ohm & Co. and Perls & Moser. Founded August 1872 by Joseph Pincuss, Theodor Libbert, Moritz Hirsch, factory owner Wilhelm Ohm sen., Rudolf Ohm and Adolf Perls, engineer Robert Moser, court councillor Moritz Alberts, Dr. Georg Kurs, Chancellor in Berlin, Julius the Rentier Dräger in Freienwalde. Share capital 475,000 Thaler and 250,000 Thaler mortgages. The previous owners Rudolf Ohm and Adolf Perls remained in charge, but the latter was later dismissed. There was no dividend, but rather closed every financial year with a loss. Price approx. 8..

Machine tool factory, formerly Louis Sentker. was founded in November 1871 with a share capital of 450,000 Thir. and 90,000 Thaler mortgages. The establishment was pre-bought by Hugo Fuchs and founded by RA Seelig. Hermann Gratweil, Hartwig Paetz, Hermann Kirchhoff and the engineers Fritz Kühnemann, August Hasse and Wilh.

Hennig. The previous owner retained the direction. Dividends was paid in 1875 – 10%/,, but in 1876 only 4%. still about 30.

– Tietzsch machine tool factory. Founded August 1372 by the previous owner Jacob Asch, by Leo Wollenberg, Baron Otto von Schleinitz, engineer Scholl, manufacturer Aug. Gaehrich, Director Carl Specht. Share capital 480,000 Thaler, brought to the stock exchange by Beer & Herzberg; and 150,000 Thir. Mortgages. The dividend for 1874 was 2%, for 1875 – 0. Course approx. 10.

Schaaf File Factory. Founded in 1871 by H. Quistorp, Georg Scheibler, Marcus Berliner, Albert Reinicke, "General Director" Julius Müller, master builder W. Howe, room mermeister H. Richter. Auditor: Ferd. Krebs. From the shareholder capital with 280,000 Thaler, the previous owner Carl Schaaf sen. 150,000 thalers and retained the management. Pro 1871/72 Heinrich Quistorp fabricated an artificial dividend of 14%, and drove the price of the shares up to 125. The dividend per 1875 was 31%/,, and the shares quoted in the last Time – — About the assets of Carl Schaaf, father and The competition was opened against his son in October 1876.

Facon forge and screw factory, formerly Albert Ludewig. Founded in March 1872 by Heinrich Quistorp, Hermann Hundertmark, Hermann Lehmann, CH Schäffer, Factory owner Ludwig Wiganckow, rentier Carl Riesel. Actien-capital 250,000 Thaler and about 80,000 Thaler mortgages.

The previous owner became a director. Here too, Quistorp knew for the first financial year a dividend of 16%) and thereby drive the price of the shares to 165. In the meantime, this has fallen to about 20, because the dividend per 1875 was 0.

Berlin Patent File Factory, formerly Herm. Moritz and Jacob Reinach, who remained in charge. The society was constituted in August 1872 and the founders were:

SS. 40° =

Siegfried Geber, Benno Beer, GB Weiss, Julius Joseph, City-prescribed Ludwig Löwe and the previous owners. Actiencapital 300,000 Thaler and 128,000 Thaler mortgages. The Eta-blissement is located in Gerichtsstrasse, where the Galger and this characterizes the foundation, which also After the first Operating year of 4 months (ö) a dividend of 7% con- In February 1874 the liquidation was decided, and later filed for bankruptcy, but the court rejected because the necessary advance payment was not available The company's properties were sublet and together they earned about 42,000 thalers, so that not the mortgage debt was covered. Of course the share capital is completely lost.

A speciality is the sewing machine manufacturing ken, which has been in Germany for 15 years. The sewing machine found its way into the in- industry as well as in the family; it penetrated the palaces as in the huts; it is used by the small officials purchased on monthly installments, and from charitable donated to the poor by local associations. The sewing machine became fashionable, an obligatory household appliance, even if stands quite unused in many households, or, after a short time becoming unusable, into the Although she is in newspaper and journal articles received tremendous publicity, lets them in terms of their construction and practical ical usability still leaves much to be desired, and it is just as beneficial to health ical, like the crazy Velocipede. But hardly There is a more profitable branch of industry in the factory sector.

A =

Although the original price of the sewing machine fallen by three quarters, the herding presentation of them is still fabulous, and the fabricants acquire a reputation within a few years. Therefore, the founders did not forget the Sewing machine factories, and in Berlin alone They founded four such joint-stock companies:

Ludwig Löwe & Co., Commanditgesellschaft. Founded December 1869 by Ludwig Löwe, Gustav Schöpplenberg, Jacob Ball and Paul Gravenstein. Supervisory Board: City Councillor Albert Löwe, Louis M. Bamberger, Louis Gradenwitz. The Factory was rebuilt and only completed in 1871. The personally liable partner, Mr. Ludwig Löwe, which thanks his gift of speech, which he developed in the district associations, became a city councilor, crossed the Atlantic Ocean, to study the sewing machine in her homeland, returned returned after a few weeks and gave instructive lectures sluggish about the conditions in the United States, but aroused a little approving response in America itself. At the same time A highly poetic article appeared in the "Berliner Börsen-Zeitung" Article "A Little Heinzelmännchen", and celebrated as Queen of the Sewing machines, the result of the marriage of American-nic and German industry, the sewing machine of Mr. Ludwig Löwe, who was not yet born, but only several months later under great contractions to the World. The brilliant poet and Sunday columnist of the

= 249: =

"Berliner Börsen-Zeitung", earned a fair wage, with which he later joined in the famous founding of "Admirals-The Löwe factory, although it was still was not finished for a long time, was already proclaimed as "the largest Europe's best equipped in the world", and promised 20,000 machines every year. This modest self-criticism involved them in a newspaper war with their competitors Frister & Rossmann and Pollack, Schmidt & Co., both had just been founded; and the three lovely sisters stern now argued about who annoyed the audience the most would have geleint.

"Heinzelweibchen" and self-criticism did their duty The shares rose to 125, and the original share price capital of 250,000 thalers was increased by 150,000 thalers in February 1872. and in May 1872 it was increased again by 250,000 thalers. The prospect had 25% net profit, "as extraordinary solid and justified" and referred to

taken on the involved JG Halske and Stadtrat Th. Sarre. But from 1870 to 1873, for four years, there was no dividend. Only when the "largest sewing machine factory Europe's", the "best equipped in the world", the sewing machines, with whom she had some bad luck, pretty much dropped, and other branches, such as weapons and ammunition, tubes and boilers, dividends were distributed, per 1874 – 6%, and in 1875 even 10%. But the share capital bears 650,000 Thaler, plus 100,000 Thaler mortgages and the course of about 90 is definitely too high.

Sewing machine factory, formerly Frister & Rossmann. Purchased by Hermann Geber and founded in November 1871 by Alfred Wolf (M. Schie successor) in Dresden, Leopold Friedländer, Aron Aumann, Emil Rathenau, Jul. Valentin and Accountant Rudolf Müller in Berlin. The previous owners Rob. Frister and Gustav Rossmann retained the management of the company brik, which they had owned for a few years, which gave them everything in

= Ad, –

All in all, it cost about 70,000 thalers, and which now shareholders at the colossal price of 866,000 thalers. In addition to the share capital of 850,000 thalers. There are still 200,000 Thir. mortgages!! The dividends from 1872 to 1875 were 9, 2, 3 and 3 percent respectively. The course is still about 40.

_ Sewing machine driving skills, otherwise Pollack, Schmidt & Co. in Hamburg. Founded Novbr. 1871 by Reinhold Alexander Seelig, Heinrich Philippson, Charles Jules Frangois Fonrobert and Gottfried Stumpf in Berlin. The purchase price was, as the Prospect expressed itself, "a very low one"; it was also only – 850,000 thalers! The share capital of 875,000 thalers was launched by Richard Schweder (Preuss. Boden-Credit-Actien-Bank) and FW Krause & Co. There are also 190,000 Thaler mortgages available!! Although the factory in Hamburg, the company established its headquarters in Berlin. The previous owners Heinrich Pollack and Edwin Schmidt kept the management. In 1872, in which year the factory was completely burned down, an artificial dividend of 61/;% was paid. shares, since then 0. The course is also approximately 0.

Sewing machine factory, formerly Franz Boecke. Founded September 1871 by Louis Feig, Hermann Gratweil, Hermann Leubuscher, RA Seelig, Ed. Stahlschmidt (Hermann Geber) and Leopold Krautheim. Share capital 330,000 thalers. The previous owner retained the management. The company has liquidirt and the course is – –?

Let us take a look back at the previous managed companies, the first thing that catches the eye is that that, apart from Heinrich Quistorp, who also appears several times, the pre-buyers and senior Founders almost always Jews, or at least Jewish descendants future. Such a professional pre-buyer is Allen Hermann Geber with his allies and Assistants: Siegfried Geber, Reinhold Alexander Seelig, Hermann Lebuscher, Eduard Stahlschmidt, Julius Pickardt, Hermann Gratweil, Julius Müller etc. donors and associates are involved in the factories by Wohlerdt, Sentker, Patent Files, Frister & Rossmann, Pollack, Schmidt & Co., Franz Böcke. A The main role in Eckert, Egells and Vulkan is played by Leopold Hadra, the employee of the "Nationalzeitung" and the "Breslauer Zeitung" Also appearing in the Foreground: Richard Schweder, Paul Munk, Hermann Egells and the triumvirate: HC Plaut, VL Wrede and Paul Gravenstein.

What is also striking is how the leading founders love to meet parliamentarians and "economists" To surround them. Of these, the following have been mentioned so far: Railway Director Bail in Glogau, retired government councillor. von Unruh, bank assessor Dr. Georg Siemens and Privy Councillor Dr. Engel in Berlin, manor owner Kiepert on Marienfelde, district administrator of the Kneesebeck auf Jühnsdorf, Justizrath Dr. Carl Braun in Berlin. Of course, these gentlemen should their name a special guarantee to the audience

ie, An. Se

offer, but in the vast majority of cases the audience was shamefully deceived.

While the factories founded were in private hands which flourished and yielded brilliant yields, they are as a stock company quickly withered away. The large The majority either no longer pays any dividends or only a very inadequate one; many companies companies have already been dissolved or are going towards dissolution with rapid steps. And the The reason for this sad phenomenon is simply the sins committed at the founding or during

of the administration. The huge capital of shares and mortgages closes in normal times an appropriate interest rate expired; and in addition comes the expensive management, the gross mis-economy, as it has almost consistently been is stepping in.

Not only larger, but also quite small companies companies paid several directors, the salaries and royalties ranging from 3,000 to 12,000 Thaler, kept a lot of superfluous or at least dispensable office officials, supervisors and servants of all kinds. In salaries and wages facilities and materials, thought prevailed cessful or even systematic waste. It there was a lack of unified organization and authority, because different more or less equal Officials faced each other, and each of them went his own way. The eye was missing because the interest of the Lord; piercing and undermining embezzlement, embezzlement and theft were the rule; inadequate supervision, gross negligence neglect caused many things to be spoiled, many things to be led to ongoing losses and extraordinary ordinary accidents.

= AGe

In order to use the excessive investment capital only was enlarged, built, experimented, who employed far more workers than were necessary, was kept in stock due to a lack of orders. Often the funds were lost suddenly stopped and people tried at all costs to tremendous damage to get new ones. By the founded factories all their workers increased so significantly, of course, had to wages are rising, and in some cases they have risen by Double and triple. Even the "Nationalzeitung" says in its number 425 of September 14, 1875:

"The pathological demand for labour has not not only directly increased wages, but also indirectly, by playing into the hands of social democratic agitators When the worker experiences for himself that the natural natural relationship between performance and consideration old-rirt, then he can easily be persuaded that now is the turn it is up to him to determine the conditions under which he can continue to work likes to decide for yourself; and then the sample falls on this doctrine, the strike, in his favor, then one can not expect him to stop at the right time

=.AT =

become."

In fact, the wage increases, the strikes and the growth of the social democratic movement ation is the direct result of the foundings. In a large Berlin engineering company, which also Public Prosecutor, the workers had previously in the Accord earned about 6 Thaler per week.
After the company was founded, however, wage rates rose so much that that the weekly wage was set at 20 thalers
Because he cannot reach this height, should not exceed 12 thalers, the people were forced to work less, instead of 12 only about 8 hours, half and full days to celebrate, or a part of the finished work until the next week. Incidentally,
in the same factory the chimneys from time to time
Time painted white; to the great joy of the previous owner, who soon blackened them again and again
zen, and the new painting with jokes and jokes.

«a

ay YAR Ze

The wage increases were by no means excessive.
moderate and unjustified, because at least as much rose rapidly, again due to the founding fraud, food and rent,
so that the worker had little left. Unfortunately,
He only knew this later, thought himself richer, thought he could acquire more easily, increased his needs and became less diligent and thrifty.
Wage increases immediately lead to large and Relatively even greater price increases,
as demonstrated by Georg Hirth in Munich has in an essay: "The distribution of goods and the sovereign law of price formation." He says amongst other things:

"The more money is spent on useless and superfluous things, will be, the more the price for useful and necessary needs increase." – – "With unlimited supply, freedom of movement, the worker's life support is the more difficult the more uneven the distribution of the total income is going on." |

Conversely, as we can see today, with the Wages not equal, not remotely in the same mass, the other prices. The reduction of wages, which the press has recently been preaching, and which the Finance Minister Mr Camphausen so warmly recommended, to get the sick industry back on its feet help has long since happened. It began with the noise, and has continued unabated ever since. Food, on the other hand, still claims their height, which the usurious middlemen and the "free competition", which here means the close Holding together small traders, grocers, butchers and bakers.

= Q0: –

Today, the worker is subject to the strongest wage reduction, which has already been implemented in all factories places, even in those of the state – if he can only find work. But he is lacking of work. The large factories of Krupp, Borsig, Wöhlert, Egells, Hartmann, Lüders etc. have !/, until % of their workers have been laid off, some have lost their jobs time was cut in half, and from the small Many factories are completely idle. There is almost no entirely to orders, any larger order is considered a stroke of luck, and the public In the case of tenders, an offer is always lower than the other, as low as it was two years ago*). The factories

*) When in the summer of 1876 the Berlin-Anhalt Railway three coupled freight train engines, offered Borsig, the machine, which in 1873/74 was still running at 22,000 Thaler was paid to deliver for 12,500 Thaler, and Hartman in Chemnitz demanded 1000 Thaler less. Despite

z P0

are open to ridicule and shame.
while from 1871 to 1873 there was constant concern about a lack of Locomotives, wagons and bridges are now
"Dispensable railway carriages" in the newspapers standing note. What was 80 years ago urgently desired, so dearly paid, is currently hard to get rid of. |

These are the consequences of overproduction.
But overproduction, which leads to the collapse of Industry, the high unemployment, the general
Emergency is mainly the work
the founding frenzy, the countless new stock companies societies. "Comprehensive and rapid shifts in the distribution of income, the value creation and conservation," says Georg Hirth, "because they unsteadily allocate purchasing power to this and that product
-duction, and therefore on the one hand overproduction,

Borsig was awarded the contract to the Berlin-based to control the workload a little.

The Egestorff engineering company, formerly Strousberg in Hannover, says in its annual report of 31 October 1875:
"Hand in hand with the reduction of demand for logistics comotives, and especially as a result of the Prussian State railways, as on many private railways, are subject to tendering procedure, the prices have also become increasingly worse.
tert, and are currently driven by competition to below the Production costs have been reduced."

ea SB.

on the other hand, cause a collapse in value." –
The Berlin newspaper "Neue Börsenzeitung" proclaims: "Never
There was something more absurd, like now the Science recognizes as the form of the Actiengecompany to transactions that can only be carried out by the Initiative of a single personality to flourish
such as factories and trade societies." – And even the Jewish "Silesian Press" in Wroclaw looks back on the event
cessation: In contrast to the shares

The establishment founded in 1974 “has become the owned ironworks reputation and Credit knew how to preserve.” – –

Alfein in the companies listed so far the public has a course loss of about 20 million
lion thalers; and that is why Mr.
Julius Schweitzer, the stock exchange editor of the “National-newspaper”: Such losses provide proof that “that the Capital Association is not alone everywhere Miracles work, in fact in many cases not at all
is applicable”. |

It is just a pity that this wisdom is not shared by the stock market newspapers:
80 came late, and with her actions and Do not move during the dizzy period

can be united!
| 4*

= 9 =

Amidst the flood of startups, which

– Berlin one machine factory after another was preparing here – certainly a wonderful same phenomenon – already a de-foundation namely the dismantling of an old, renowned with its flourishing establishments, the stock corporation Society for the manufacture of railway supplies, formerly Pflug'sche Waggonfabrik; at the head of which the Member of Parliament and “Economist”, Government Building Councillor

a. D. von Unruh, and next to him as administrator Councillors: Commercial Councillors LF Schemionek and Hermann Egells, Geh. Commerzienrath Robert Warschauer, Attorney General John Simson, Consul General Ascher Salinger, Government Building Councillor a. D. Carl Hoffmann.
The Pflug factory was founded with a share capital of 1½ million Thaler founded in 1856, which Year is also known to be a period of dizziness and the aftermath of the founding were expressed in very meager dividends, which only 1861 were tolerable and in 1869 and 1870, where they 14%, reached its peak. In 1871 there were 101}, 1872 again 11½ % dividend. Then began
The desire to speculate was aroused. People speculated, that you can drive even better if you factory simply tear down and the ground and

– 53 –

Land as building land parcellire. Here you can see the gross material and somewhat immoral Character of a joint-stock company. The factory had Reputation and prestige acquired, but that was the society was indifferent, and even more indifferent
the fate of the 2000 workers she employs she planned her dissolution, her suicide,
because it seemed more profitable to her.

The pretext was the workers' strike.
In August 1872 they demanded a wage increase of 20% , and their demand was, in view of the rapid rising rents and food, certainly not unfair. But Mr. von Unruh explained, as once Pope Clement VII: Non possumus! He was to tell the workers that the 200% wage increase to shareholders the dividend, the Board of Directors the bonus (which is for the current year was only 9200 thalers) and
In his eyes, this was worse than the robbery of a temple.
But workers found the calculation wrong and stopped working.

Mr HB Oppenheim, "Economist" and Member of has carried out this process in the manner prescribed by Mr Paul Lindau published "Present", and
Of course, he takes the side of the

Mr. von Unruh, where he made a confession slips: "It was unwise to start with this factory which, with their large land holdings gain more by dissolving the business than by continuing it. He keeps up with Mr. von Unruh called for a "childcare
ity", and no longer attaches any importance to them.
He was "used to the Berlin machine
farmers as well-off and intelligent people.
strive," and he is sorry for having been wrong.
He does not believe in workers' distress, and if they should exist, he hopes for certain Uster-surveys to alleviate the housing shortage (construction one?) and on the abolition of the milling and slaughtering
tax. – –

The currently flourishing construction site proliferation irritated the Company for Railway Supplies for dissolution, and the price of the shares went over 200. In the early In 1873, a consortium of founders offered Actie 180 percent, and Mr. von Unruh advised in it-enough to accept, but the majority of shareholders As punishment, the dividend was dropped, which had been estimated at 18%, suddenly rose to 6/8%; and in April 1874 the liquidation was again on the agenda. The attempt failed yetand only succeeded in 1875. The factory is closed broken, and on the terrain of the unfounded company, two new roads will be built. But Meanwhile, the value of the land has also increased has fallen considerably, and therefore the shares are only still about 130*). |

- 55 -

It remains strange that while since 1871 all prices, especially those for railway supplies, sharply went up, Mr. von Unruh always claimed, only wages and materials have increased, the Prices for wagons, however, would be It remains strange that the Dividends from the Schwartzkopff factory in the grew in the same proportion as in the plough factory; although Mr. von Unruh in both companies as Chairman of the Supervisory rath prevailed. After the liquidation was decided was, the Pflug factory only worked

*) According to a report made in October 1876, it is only slowly selling the gutted construction sites, and in the sales, two thirds of the purchase price had to be be deferred for five years. That is at least how long and thus also the liquidation, the shareholders have to wait for their complete satisfaction. A dissolution does not happen as quickly as the founding, and therefore it is usually also much more expensive!

= e aes

with damage by, as the last business richt says that old and new orders are too cheap and the balance sheet for 1875/76 closed with a Loss of about 27,000 thalers.

The company's "General Director" was Friedrich Waltz, a great founder before the Lord. While the dissolution of the factory he managed he founded other companies, which were later are already on the verge of extinction; and In September 1876, Mr. Waltz joined as the third member to the board of the highly regarded Wohllert'sche Mechanical Engineering Institute, after having obtained the Share capital of 31/, million thalers by half Since then, two "general directors": Friedrich Waltz and Julius Müller, and they are absolutely equal to each other, because Mr. Müller has founded numerous companies a name and, as they say, a fortune. It is worth noting that the green which is contagious and continues until the seventh Glied. Pflug and Wohllert, the factory-owners, start up again themselves, and also start the directors and the supervisory boards of the new societies.

= Hy –

As a kind of curiosity, we should also mention two foundations of Baruch Hirsch Strausberg, called Dr. Bethel Henry Strousberg*). When the

) In the book "Dr. Strousberg and his work, described by himself" the author states: "In the biographies mentioned, because they thought it was insulting to say something Baruch Hirsch, and as the son of a small Jewish merchant in Prussian Poland". Strausberg then claims that he is the son of a Jewish nobleman of ancient nobility, and his original first names were Bartel Heinrich. – This is one of the countless truths that every page of the book is filled with. Journal-Countless articles have been published about Strausberg, namely always in a laudatory, advertising sense, because always from him. A kind of biography, on the other hand, is only one-times, and it was undoubtedly made to order. produced, as well as the biographies which a Jewish Contemporary dramatists publish almost every year about themselves That "biographical characterization", as it was called, was born shortly before the war of 1870. She is married to Portrait of the miracle doctor, and with three mottos, an English, a French and a German

The German motto is from the novel "Das Landhaus am Rhein" by Berthold Auerbach and reads: "Much Acquiring money is a kind of bravery, keeping money is requires a certain wisdom, and spending money beautifully is an art". The author of the brochure calls himself with a Pseudonym Ernst Korfi; although a run-down Literary man, he was ashamed of his real name. This brochure is, as a comparison with that book "Dr. Strousberg and his work" shows, among

= 58 -

When the era of dizziness began, the miracle doctor had his Role already played out. Not, as he claims, Lasker's declamations brought him down; not only as he says another time, the French War has ruined him: - even the notorious 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ per-cent Romanian Railway Bonds, by means of which he influenced the German public by approx. 60 million thalers, gave him the Death blow. His undertakings were too risky too rude, too adventurous, his manipulations so evil polite, his whole manner so clumsy and un-modest that the "Strousberg system" with emergency had to collapse. Completely discredited and quite helpless, he wanted to period, he made a mistake to obtain new funds.

the supervision, and probably partly even after the Dictate of the hero. This proves the exact transmission agreement in the data and the whole way of presentation. They are, often word for word, the same phrases, the same forced images and parables, it is the same gibberish Style of the half-educated, the same indulgence in quotations, as found in all Jewish writers who have less of their own than with the thoughts and sayings of others But Leib biographer Ernst Korfi says of his Helden explicitly: "This healthy boy was Hebrew Baruch Hirsch"; but soon he was called "the little Napoleon". - -

- 59 -

In November 1870 he founded with a number of Allies, including Duke Victor of Ratibor, Commercial Councillor Louis Wrede, Geh. Commercial Councillor

Gustav Dietrich, Ferdinand Jaques, Friedrich Adolf Plow and master builder August Orth in Berlin, factory owner Carl Kesseler (C. Kesseler & Sohn) in Greifswald forest and Caspar Dietrich Killing in Hagen, knight-landowner Ernst Lauterbach in Wilken, the general common railway construction company " which he a part of his possessions, as well as certain iron railway companies. To Actiencapital 17 million thalers () were spent, and Strausberg alone subscribed over 16 million!! He tried to sell these shares to the Prussian Navy action, which has already done business with him – while the Preussische Bank as is well known, never got involved with him. But this time the shipping company rejected him, and the Finance Minister Camphausen, to whom he appealed, and from which, as he says in his memoirs, owes gratitude to previous occasions, was not Strausberg kept the shares and had the company liquidated.

From this stillborn "General Railway baugesellschaft", i.e. of course from Straus-

a –

berg, bought in February 1871 a still quite unknown Jewish man, named Paul Munk, the houses Unter der Linden 17 and 18 for the stated 600,000 thalers, and transferred them one year later the "Actienbauverein Unter den Linden", which he in association with Emil Heymann, Georg Beer, Gustav Markwald, Edmund Helfft, Commercial Councillor Wilh. Herz, Consul Friedrich Schillow and his Excellency, the former Minister of State, Member of the Prussian House of Representatives and the German Reich tags, Georg von Bonin founded, for 1,750,000 thalers, that is, with a surcharge of 1,150,000 thalers. "Lindenbauverein", as a bloody foundation proverbial lich, today records about 15; but Paul Munk, like Hermann Geber, a professional pre-buyer and a hero of the founding era, is a multiple million became a lionaire, and the prosecutor has struggled in vain. | Strausberg, once home to the Berlin "Tribüne" sung as the "man who buys everything", has now been the "man who sells everything". He sold the Dortmund works, the Neustädter Hütte, the Han-Noversche Maschinenfabrik, the Berlin cattle market etc., from which more or less rotten foundations which we will discuss later.

==01 =

After he had got rid of all this and had already had become a rather quiet man, Mr. Lasker approached him and prepared him anatomically, to instruct the parliamentary founders. Straus-Berg intended to protect ungrateful Germany punish and turned to London, but found here no ground for his art and returned forced to retreat. Again he threw himself on the "General Enterprise", in the style of the railway building, where the entrepreneur instead of cash receives shares manufactured for this purpose, and with He also paid his people with these shares. He built in Saxony the Mehltheuer-Weida line, he built in Hungary the Waagthalbahn, and he wanted to build in France empire from Paris to Narbonne. Because he was Credit in Germany had completely run out, he found one in Russia, and he found it at the "Commerz-Leipzig bank" in Moscow, which he founded with the help of its Jewish director, Gustav Landau, no less for 7 million rubles.

To stage this piece, con-Strausberg constructed a foundation, just as monstrous and just as hollow as the previous one. August 1875 He set up with Landau in Moscow, Hermann von Goldschmidt in Vienna and Ferdinand Jaques in Berlin the Joint Stock Company for German and Bohemian Iron and steel products, and again the entire share capital of $8\frac{1}{2}$ million thalers except for 6000 thalers, which his comrades The "Vossische Zeitung" declared that the matter not to be able to take seriously the "National-newspaper" was quick to report:

- 62 -

"New foundation. All industrial properties of Dr. Strousberg together with the Zbirow estate, as we have learned, has been in the possession of a shareholder for a few days. The constitution of the company has already taken place and is largely due to the involvement of Russian Capitalists, especially the Moscow Commercial and Loan bank. The company's share capital is set at 30 million Thaler (??), half from the stock shares, half consisting of ordinary priority shares. for all blast furnaces, steelworks, coal works, which located on the Zbirow estate, this estate itself, the wagon factory in Bubna, the Neustädter Hütte and various other objects in the possession of the joint-stock company Dr. Strousberg undertakes to ensure that the in Zbirow the necessary buildings were completed at his own expense The latter will also be for a certain period for all works general tenant, while Mr. Ferdinand Jaques as Chairman of the Board of Directors Council and Mr. Bernhard Maywald becomes Director."

After this, Strausberg was his own "General tenant" and "supervisory board", and in fact he is the sole shareholder of the company. The new manufactured shares that had hardly any value, as all properties overloaded with mortgages were, furthermore, equally worthless shares of the still in the air-floating railway from Paris to Narbonne, as well as a contractual promise, Strausberg announced that it would deliver 2000 wagons to the Moscow Commerz-Leibnitz Bank as collateral, and Director Landau, who had been bribed by him, shot him then gradually the enormous sum of T million rubles.

aa ON a

October 1875, Strausberg, who was sent to Moscow came to get more money, along with Landau arrested, and the now bankrupt Commerz-The loan bank closed simultaneously in Prague and Concurs opened in Berlin over Strausberg's Ver-may have covered an abyss of debt and a Chaos of lascivious disorder; and this horrific collapse also led to the fall by Ferd. Jaques, who was the "Railway King" and "Culturheros" for many years a helpful had been a willing friend.

In prison in Moscow, Strausberg wrote a comprehensive book "Dr. Strousberg and his Work", for which, before it had even been published, the press, especially the Jewish press, a limitless

Even before publication, the

a GA? eke

Vienna's "Neue frei Presse", the "Börsen-Courier" of Mr. Georg Davidsohn in Berlin, the "Posener Newspaper" and long excerpts. The book reveals as great a lack of education as tastelessness and boastfulness; it shows that Strausberg is not far away was what one calls a genius mind, as which the vulgar press has always celebrated him; that he was just a bold adventurer. Nevertheless The book could be interesting if the author had tells what he really knows, but because he knows more concealed rather than reported, it is bland and boring. Full of cunning calculation and deep deceit, Strausberg spares his former comrades and Allies, he spares and excuses all powerful influential founders and founding partners, He flatters even his opponents, as long as they still supported by public opinion. In return, he expects that as soon as he returns to life returns and resumes his "system" can, likewise, on protection, even on actual support; and his example is hardly unright. Many people still have reason to fear, and he threatens them on several occasions with later disputes. His book is also untrue, like his life, he beats himself. almost

ur G5. Se

on every side; and this deep untruthfulness, mixed with crude hypocrisy, must every injustice Nevertheless, she was ashamed The press did not dare to treat this book as a publication tion of the first order. During the Author was in court, accused of bribery and of common deceit, brought the papers, big and small, Jewish and Christian, about his Machwerk long articles, all more admiration as showing contempt.

In the courtroom in Moscow, Straussberg again showed all his audacity, heaping The two accomplices, Strausberg and Landau, with the most serious accusations and most serious The jury broke up on both the staff, and the prosecutor requested that both to settle in Siberia. The

The court also ruled against Landau; Straus-Berg, however, was incomprehensibly only expelled abroad. The German Reich his "cultural hero" again, and the press that during the one-year pre-trial detention like a Martyr mourned, welcomed his return with Thanks and joy.

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 5

The flowering of industry.

Mechanical engineering and railway supply establishments in the provinces – Vulkan in Königsberg i. Pr., Steckel & Wagenknecht in Danzig, Möller & Holberg in Stettin, Kessler in Greifswald, Spalding in Stralsund, Abendroth and Hansa in Rostock, Brockelmann in Güstrow, Lauenstein in Hamburg, Weser in Bremen – Hanover: Egestorff, Salzgitter, Bernstorff & Eichwede, Peiner Rolling mill, Osnabrück steelworks – Westphalia and Rhineland: Killing & Co., Westphalian Railway Supplies, Germany, Annener Gussstahl, Dortmunder Bridge construction, Daelen, Schreiber & Co., Union, Kamp & Co., Westphalia, Hagener Cast steel, Grünthaler ironworks, Wittener weapons, Harkort's bridge construction, Steelworks in Meiderich, rolling mill in Mühlheim, Düsseldorfer Röhren, Hohenzollern, Humboldt, mechanical engineering in Kalk, J. Kyll – Geber-Stahlschmidt-Seelig – Rhenish Founders – Louis Berger – Mr. Camphausen's Recipe – Minerva and Upper Silesian Railway Supplies, Upper Silesian Iron rolling mill, wagon construction Linke, iron foundry Schmidt, wagon factory Hofmann, Körner in Görlitz, Conrad Schiedt, Lower Lusatian mechanical engineering – Halle'sche and Zeitzer Maschinenfabrik, ice machines and Harzer railway supplies in Nordhausen, Bartels in Halberstadt, Klusemann in Magdeburg, Prange in Buckau – Braunschweig: Mechanical engineering, ice machines, sewing machines, Deicke, rolling mill, Carlshütte, Harzer Werke – Corruption in Braunschweig – Hertel Iron Foundry and Ducal Baltic Machine Works – Saxony: cast steel in Döhlen, Saxonia and Schlick in Dresden, Kiesler, Brod & Stiehler, Voigtland Railway Carriages, Gottschald & Nötzli, Petzold in Bautzen, Goetjes, Bergmann & Co., Jacobi, Behrisch and Eales in Meissen, Rentzsch & Oschatz, Anton Zschille, scraping factory in Mittweida, iron industry in Pirna – Chemnitz: Schönherr, Schellenberg, Cencordia, Wiede, Germania, embroidery machines, Rockstroh, Affolter, Zimmermann, Sondermann & Taurus, Vulkan, Saxonia, Phoenix, Union, Messingwerk Lugau – South German country: Reifert in Frankfurt a. M., Railway Supplies in Stuttgart, Kirchheimer Machine factory – Lorraine Ironworks – The plight of the iron and Steel industry – Free trade and protective tariffs – Iron tariffs – The stock exchange leaves as moral preachers – False hope.

The founding epidemic spread from Berlin
over all of Germany, over the united great fatherland

sa Or. –

land, and also spared the newly regained Alsace-Lorraine. It raged strongly in northern and Central Germany, whereas in Southern Germany country was relatively weak. How Prince Bismarck once remarked, the South Germans behind us North Germans in terms of liberalism Berlin founders were also often involved in the provinces, from Memel to Metz; however, have places like Königsberg i. Pr., Danzig, Stettin, Hamburg, Bremen, Hanover, Dortmund, Essen, Elberfeld, Cologne, Frankfurt a. M., Braunschweig, Magde-burg, Posen, Wroclaw, Leipzig, Dresden, Chemnitz etc.
also creates its own founders and founder cliques, which it with in every respect comparable to the Berlin colleagues recordings, and some of them did not even
The same spectacle, the same Process, like the metropolis, the provinces also offer:
zen; they are founded on the same recipe and they have also created bloody and gruesome foundations
Their actions also cry out to heaven,
and most of their creations are already in ruins or they threaten to collapse.
Let us begin our walk along the sea coast, through East and West Prussia, Pomerania,

Mecklenburg and the Hanseatic cities, so are the 5*

– 68 –

founded machinery, railway supplies and similar factories, the following are the most famous
become:

Vulkan in Königsberg i. Pr., formerly Gebrüder Meyer.
Founded in May 1871 by Carl Jacob, Adolf Samter, Geh. Com-merzienrath Moritz Simon (J. Simon Wittwe & Söhne) in Königs-mountain i. Pr.; Platho & Wolff, Samelson & Sackur in Berlin.
Direction: G. Simony and Jul. Marcuse. The original Share capital of 300,000 thalers was raised in September 1872, "to the company grew faster than expected.
to be right", brought to 600,000 thalers (which is
ca. 55,000 Thaler mortgages!), and the young shares at 50% deposit of 107, thus issued at a rate of 114.

15%, dividends were promised; for the first financial year of six months to acquire young stocks to be able to briciren, 10%; 1872 still 8°/,0/,,; later 0. Cours?

The public prosecutor has been called.

Maschinenbaugesellschaft, formerly Steckel & Wagenservant in Danzig. Share capital 300,000 thalers. Board of directors:
A. Wagenknecht and G. Baum. Supervisory Board: R. Damme.
In 1874 the public prosecutor intervened. In February 1876 the Etablissement to the auction without a single bid being placed "Sad sign of the times!" rightly noted
the press.

Mechanical Engineering Institute and Shipyard, formerly Emil Möller and Friedrich Holberg in Grabow near Stettin. Founded November 1871 by RA Seelig, Max
Geim and Louis Löwenherz (Berlin Exchange Bank), Gustav Kerting, H. Leubuscher, Fritz Bast, City Councillor Pohle, all in Berlin. The previous owners retained the management. Supervisory Councillors: Ernst Brunckow, Consul Is. Meyer, Hermann Weinreich, Commercial Councillor Johannes Quistorp, Rudolf Abel, Wilh. Walter

– 698 –

in Stettin, Attorney Hecker in Berlin. Dividends about 16% were promised, and paid from 1872 to 1875: 6%/,,, 5.5 and respectively 21/, percent. Share capital 750,000 thalers and 107,000 Thaler mortgages. Course still about 30.

Baltic Wagon and Machine Factory, formerly Carl Kessler & Son and Theodor Labahn in Greifswald.
Founded in March 1872 by Richard Schweder (Prussian Soil-Credit-Actien-Bank), Hugo Fuchs, Gustav Noah, Felix Mam-roth, "F General Director" Julius Müller, in Berlin etc. Direction
Carl and Julius Kessler, who were responsible for the first year of operation 8%, dividend guaranteed. First supervisory board members: Oeko-nomierath Professor Rohde in Eldena, City Councillor CS
Boy in Greifswald and Georg Sackur in Berlin. Already in 1873
There was a lack of money, but the board protested very vigorously against "all unfavorable rumors." In 1874, they entered into liquidation dation and proceeded to the sale, but too low a bid, and so the co-owner and current director Julius Kessler leased the establishment
The share capital of 550,000 thalers is completely lost.

Pomeranian Iron Foundry and Mechanical Engineering Institute, formerly Commerzienrath CH Spalding in Stralsund. founded in December 1871 by Siegfried Geber, Max Nolda (M. Schragow & Co.), Emil Zippert (Zippert & Co.) in Berlin. sight council: manor owner W. Münchmeyer on Cumberow. Share capital 225,000 thalers and 40,000 thalers mortgages. Last dividend 4%. Price approx. 30.

Shipbuilding and mechanical engineering, formerly C. Abendroth in Rostock. Founded October 1871 by Samelson & Sackur in Berlin; Consul A. Crotogino, Consul C. Ch. Lesenberg, E. Kühl, Senator Dr. Witte, Rheder B. Beselin, Landsyndicus a. D. Groth in Rostock. The previous owner retained the management and took over a third of the share capital with 300,000 thalers. Last dividends 0. Price approx. 10.

– 90: –

Hansa, shipyards for iron ships and mechanical engineering, otherwise A. Tischbein in Rostock. Founded in June 1872 by the Rostocker Vereinsbank, the Lübecker Bank, Ed. Frege & Co. in Hamburg, Bein & Co. in Berlin. Director was the pre-Members of the Supervisory Board include: Acciserath Meyenn, Bank Director Wasserzug, Senator Burchard in Rostock, Consul August Rehder and bank director W. Spiegeler in Lübeck. Actiencapital 350,000 Thaler and 50,000 Thaler mortgage. First dividend per 1872/73 – $4\frac{1}{2}\%$; since then 0. When the shares rose to about 50 The “Neue Börsen-Zeitung” in Berlin illustrated they belong to the “outcast children of the course sheet”, and pushed it up to around 80. Today the course is about 5, and Mr. Albrecht Tischbein has been Director recommended.

Mecklenburg Machine and Wagon Building Company schaft, formerly Ernst Brockelmann in Güstrow. Founded June 1872 by the Schönheimer'schen Bankverein and by Beer & Herzberg in Berlin. Supervisory board: Mrs. Knitschky and W. Böckenhagen in Güstrow, C. Ch. Lesenberg, C. Abendroth and Georg Brockelmann in Rostock, “General Director” Julius Müller in Berlin. Share capital 270,000 Thaler and 50,000 Thaler mortgages. The dividend of nominally 10%, for the first year of operation of 6 months (!) was in advance constructed, and it remained the only one. Course about 3.

Railway carriage construction Lauenstein in Rothenburgsort near Hamburg. Pre-purchased from the competition and founded Sommer 1871 by Julius Alexander in Berlin, Ed. Frege and Leopold Jacobi in Hamburg etc. Chairman of the Supervisory Board: FA Pflug in Berlin, the previous owner of the 1856 founded and from 1873 to 1875 by Mr. von Unruh and his associates.

founded factory for railway supplies. Share capital 850,000 Thaler and 200,000 Thaler mortgages. As the "National-newspaper" reported that the number of registrations was so high that a reduction had to take place, and the introductory course 105, which, as a result of this advertising, quickly rose to 120 and more rose. Last dividends $2\frac{1}{2}\%$ and 0. Price about 20.

23 0 E

9

Weser, shipbuilding and machine factory in Bremen. founded in March 1872. Board of Directors and Supervisory Board: Reichstag member AG Mosle, Rud. Feuerstein, C. Waltjen, L. Knoop, R. Fritze, DH Wätjen, Friedrich Achelis, GS Gruner, G. Rohte. Share capital $1\frac{1}{2}$ million Thaler. Dividend per 1874/75 – 55/0%, per 1875/76 – 61/20".

Of these companies, only the last one, Weser, can be called viable, and it owes their viability probably due to the fact that they mainly employed by the Imperial Navy for which it builds armored gunboats. Steckel & Wagenknecht in Danzig and Baltic Waggonfabrik in Greifswald are already gone; Vulkan in Königsberg i. Pr., mechanical engineering and Hansa in Rostock and Brockelmann in Güstrow are still wrestling weak for their existence; and the rest show at the low level of the course and the pitiful

5

Dividends that they too are sick and ailing.

In the former Kingdom of Hanover, where the Founding flourished just as in the small brown keep quiet, we think:

Egestorff'sche Maschinenbaugesellschaft in Linden Hannover, formerly Strousberg. Founded March 1871. capital $3\frac{1}{2}$ million Thaler (!) and about 600,000 Thaler Hypo-counters. Founder and Supervisory Board: Consul and former

r

Member of Parliament G. Müller in Berlin, J. Gans (M. Blumenthal's Successor) Court Agent K. Berend (Michael Berend), Commer-

zienrath Siegmund Meyer (Adolf Meyer), Leffmann & Abr. H. Cohen, Commercial Councillors Eichwede & Röhrs, High Court Attorney Dr. H. Müller, Senator Angerstein, City Director Rasch, Member of the Prussian House of Lords, all in Hanover. Last dividends 0. Price once 140, now about 15.

Ironworks in Salzgitter near Hanover. Founded in 1868. Actiencapital finally 1,360,000 Thaler and 502,000 Thaler Mortgages. Supervisory Board: Commerzienrath von Voigtländer in Braunschweig, senior court attorney Dr. Müller and Commerzienrath Siegmund Meyer in Hanover, JC Godeffroy in Hamburg, Carl Ruët in Dortmund etc. Castle on 1 July 1875 with a deficit of approximately 250,000 thalers.

Hanover Casting and Rolling Mill, formerly C. Bernstorff & Eichwede. Founded in December 1872 with 500,000 Thaler Shareholders. Board of Directors: Heinr. and Eduard Eichwede. Supervisory Board: Commerzienrath Eichwede, senior court attorney Dr. Müller and Commerzienrath Röhrs in Hanover, Max B. Haniel in Ruhrort. Dividend per 1875 – 60%, Peiner Walzwerk in Celle. Founded April 1872 with 350,000 Thaler shares. Supervisory Board: General Consul JH Gossler in Hamburg, Commerzienrath Louis E. Meyer in Hanover, GL Meyer, senior court attorneys C. Haarmann and Meyerscastle in Celle. Course? – Novbr. In 1876, Director Ewers arrested for embezzlement and forgery.

Iron and steel works in Osnabrück. Founded in 1869. The registered capital of 1,000,000 Thaler was increased in 1872 by 750,000 Thaler priority shares increased, and the same were issued at N. Blumenfeld in Osnabrück, Carl Coppel & Co. in Berlin and of the Norddeutsche Bank in Hamburg. Board of Directors: Joh. Cesar Godeffroy, Joh. Wesselhöft, Rob. Kayser, Joh. Ed. Beans-Becher, Max Th. Hayn in Hamburg, senior court attorney Dr. H. Müller in Hanover. Last dividend 0. Price once 125, now about 30.

5

After Berlin, the founding of companies was one of the worst in the industrially rich Westphalia and Rhineland, bad that even a Berlin stock exchange newspaper in March 1872 he wrote: "The founding of a company takes here in the country no end!" Even the dizzying period of 1856 had numerous stock companies on the Rhine societies, some of which are again had gone, partly only very gradually to Dividends were received. But the years 1871 to 1873 brought a veritable flood of foundations of all species, and they have become much lazier than the products of 1856. Far greater Capital was drawn upon, and far The shareholders suffered greater losses. The machine factories that were founded are the well-known most liable:

Wagon and Locomotive Construction Company, formerly Killing and Co. in Hamm. Formed in February 1873. Supervisory r the: CG Horn and Rud. Willemsen in Cologne, Mathias Hinsberg, Alexander Braun, Ewald Caron, F. Harkort junior, Otto Jager, FG K ttgen and Walter Schlieper in Barmen. The establishment was reportedly built for 550,000 thalers. , the share capital was set at 2½ million thalers, and the 40 percent interim certificates by Hinsberg, L bcke and Co. in Berlin (branch of Barmer Bankverein Hinsberg, Fischer & Co.) & 110, which means a course of 125 Later, the founders gave 90,000 Thaler as "don gratuit". Nevertheless, the first financial year ended with a loss of 486,000 thalers and they proceeded to Liquidation. The shareholders have little to expect.

St Ge jes

Westphalian railway carriage construction and railway needs in M nster. Founded in April 1872 with 400,000 Thlr. Shares which were issued by Gebr. Metz, among others, and Lindenkampf & Olfers in M nster, H. & L. Metz in Cologne. The actual author of this society was named by the Berlin's "Neue B rsenzeitung" named Commerzienrath Sabey in M nster. Course?

Machine factory "Germany" in Dortmund. Shares capital 600,000 Thaler. Supervisory Board: Geh. Commerzienrath A. Borsig and City Councillor Th. Sarre in Berlin, JM Heimann and August Neven-du Mont in Cologne, Moritz Kltzbacher and Rentier A. von Griesheim in Bonn, Director C. Krauss in Hanover. Last dividends 0. Price?

Cast steelworks, formerly K nig & Rennert in Annen near Dortmund. Basic capital 650,000 Thaler and 100,000 Thaler Mortgages. Founded in February 1873 and based in Ber- liner Exchange introduced by Riess & Itzinger and JT Gold- berger to the course of 112! First, artificially constructed di- vidende for the financial year of 6 months 8%; later 1, 3 and 0%. Course approx. 10. The public prosecutor has been called.

Bridge construction, formerly Carl Backhaus in Dortmund. Pre-purchased to Ed. Stahlschmidt (Hermann Geber) in Berlin, and founded November 1872. Share capital 550,000 Thaler, introduced on the Berlin Stock Exchange by Hirschfeld & Wolff at a rate of 105. Plus 150,000 Thaler mortgages. Advisory Board: Attorney Nestor Kindermann in Dortmund, Master builder Louis König and banker Alfred Molenaar (Gebr. Molenaar) in Crefeld, Commerzienrath Schlittgen in Berlin. The previous owner remained in charge, but died in 1873. A dividend has never been distributed. The financial year 1873/74 closed with a loss of 203,000 Thaler, after which the founders 170,000 Thaler in shares and 30,000 Thaler in cash

ui

Nevertheless, in November 1875 the liquidation decided, and the competition was opened in February 1876.

Society for Steel Industry, formerly Daelen, Schreiber & Co. in Bochum. Share capital 1 million thalers. Board: Vital Daehlen and Hermann Herz in Bochum and Former Mayor Lindemann in Essen. The very first The financial year 1873/74 closed with a loss of 185,000 Thaler. The previous owners are said to have made false statements for which the Supervisory Board holds them accountable wanted. Course?

Mechanical engineering "Union", formerly Ewald Hilger in Essen. Founded June 1871. Share capital 600,000 Thaler. Councillors: Friedrich Grillo, Gustav Adolf Waldthausen and District Judge a. DW Heyland in Essen, JL Eltzbacher, JB Heimann and Victor Wendelstadt, Commerzienrath and Director of the Schaaffhausen'schen Bankverein in Cologne. For In 1871/72, 10 percent dividend was paid, and January 1873 – 400,000 thalers new shares & 110 issued. Last Dividends 0. Price about 30 letters.

Märkische Maschinenbauanstalt, formerly Kamp & Co. in Wetter an der Ruhr. Share capital 1,200,000 Thaler. The Co-owners Heinrich Blank and Alfred Trappen retained the management. Supervisory Board: Wilhelm von Born in Dortmund, Attorney-at-law W. Klein in Düsseldorf, Moritz Eltzbacher (JL Eltzbacher & Co.) in Cologne, Hugo Blank in Wetter, Ewald Aders (JH Brink & Co.) in Elberfeld. Dividends: 7%, 4% and? Course approx. 40.

Waggonfabrik Westphalia, formerly Killing & Sohn in Hagen. Share capital 700,000 Thaler and 100,000 Thaler Hy-pharmacies. Founded in January 1873 by H. Quistorp in Berlin, which in its pompous writing style can be heard We managed to get our shareholders 6 shares each to be able to offer the Vereinsbank 1 share of Westphalia.

For every 6 shares of his association bank, which were quoted at 190 at the time,

– 76 –

Mr. Quistorp granted 1 share of the wagon factory at 112.80 that it actually cost 179! The lucky Buyers still have to pay 4 percent interest since May 1, 1872, i.e. for 9 months back!! Chairman of the Supervisory Board: Attorney Storp in Hagen. Direction: Fr. Killing, C. Th. Middendorf and P. Wegmann.

Three months after its founding, Quistorp completed a great distribution of profits. He constructed a two-year financial period by extending it by two years backdated it, starting on 1 May 1871, and for this period a net income of 211,000 thalers. The previous owners Killing & Son received as a so-called compensation pro rata 57,000 Thaler, the management, at the head of which were again Killing & Son, ca. 20,000 Thir., the Supervisory Board finally received 8555 Thaler – all for an effort-administration of about 12 weeks. The rest was 16 per cent dividend to shareholders, which in 1874 was 5 percent and then nothing at all, neither interest nor capital. June 1876, the bankruptcy was opened, and the shares are completely worthless.

Cast steel works, otherwise F. Huth & Co. in Hagen. purchased by RA Seelig in Berlin and founded August 1872. Share capital 750,000 thalers and 130,000 thalers mortgages. Issuers: Central Bank for Cooperatives and heimer'scher Bankverein. Supervisory Board: Mayor Dödter and Emil Hiltrop in Hagen, Ferd. Strahl in Berlin etc. Last Dividends 0. Price once 110, now about 5.

Ironworks and railway supplies, formerly Carl Asbeck & Co. in Grünthal near Hagen. Pre-purchased by RA Seelig and comrades in Berlin and founded in April 1873. Share capital 600,000 thalers and 200,000 thalers mortgages. Chairman of the Supervisory Board: Attorney Robert von Briesen in Hagen. Dividends never. The 110 introduced Shares have not had a price for a long time, and it was not exactly a "victim" when November 1876 "two action-näre" a portion of this noble paper with a nominal value of 26,000 thalers were transferred to the company "for destruction". Of course, these noble "shareholders" were among the Founders or pre-buyers, which the newspapers faithfully conceal. :

EEE

, cast steel and weapons factory, formerly Berger & Co. in Witten on the Ruhr. Share capital 1,500,000 Thaler and 300,000 Thaler mortgages!! Founded in March 1873 by the Schaaffhausen'schen Bankverein in Cologne and the Deutsche Unionbank in Berlin, which issued the 60 percent interim certificates with 120, which means a course of 133½. The Stock exchange, which smelled the roast, called the new shares very descriptively called "pistol stocks." Nevertheless, the "strong Hands" of the founder the pistol interim certificates up to approx. 140, which corresponds to a price of 166. Today the shares are about 50. Supervisory Board members: von Kaufmann-Asser and Advocat-Lawyer Robert Esser II in Cologne, Koppel in Solingen, von Martini, Carl Berger etc.

The previous owner of the establishment is the well-known progressive Member of Parliament Louis Berger in Witten, a friend of the Prussian Minister of Trade Mr. Achenbach, who was year 1876 in the House of Representatives, on the occasion of the debate, concerning the assumption of an interest guarantee by the State for the priority bonds of the ill-reputed Halle railway Sorau-Guben, deeply regretted having to admit Mr Berger among his opponents; and he in turn had to endure the pain drive, because of too expensive establishment of his factory by Mr. Wilh. Funcke in Hagen to be publicly attacked. Mr. Berger responded with the strict sense of innocence his public character: "Anyone who, like me, in the course of of ten years, within and outside his home district, before and after the wars, before and after the crash, seven-out of the purgatory of a state and Reichstag election can simply dismiss suspicions of this kind – He explains that this "suspicion" against a man who has been in public service for years, with complete disregard for any personal interest, to the best of his ability, did his duty," and noted then to the matter itself: "At that time in Witten, various bets have been lost because it was not possible to thought it possible that the work would become such a very would be sold at reasonable prices." So Mr Berger sold at a price that was not so low for possible – for a measly million thalers; and he lets that such a foundation is a merit for the public good. Unfortunately, this insight has not been Shareholders have so far been stubbornly closed because they received as dividend for the first financial year – 0, and a report in the "National-Zeitung" said: "The main blame for This unfavourable result is due to the excessively high Costs assumed by the previous owners my stocks.'" This report, submitted by the Board and Supervisory Board of the company, which probably also nor the founders belonged to, so in contrast to Mr Berger and his fellow bettor: the paltry million Thaler was a horrendous price – and the course The stock market value seems to confirm this.

– 18 –

Iron industry and bridge construction, formerly Johann Caspar Harkort in Hochdahl near Duisburg. Founded August 1872. Share capital 1,500,000 Thaler; listed on the Berlin Stock Exchange led by RA Seelig and H. Kretzschmar (Carl Coppel & Co.) to 1031! In addition, 400,000 Thaler mortgages!! Supervisory Councillors: Mayor Keller in Duisburg, Consul Wilhelm Dulheuer, Richard Harkort, Justizrath Gerstein and legal Attorney at Law of Briesen in Hagen, Carl Coppel and General Consul Ascher Salinger in Berlin, Robert Kayser in Hamburg, Dr. Schnitzler, Carl Daeves and Director Peter Leister in Cologne. "General-director": Otto Offergeld. A dark foundation that immediately Suspicion aroused. About the first general meeting of the The "Berliner Börsen-Zeitung" brought real shareholders following report in the form of a paid advertisement: "The President of the Supervisory Board (namely the previous owner Joh. Casp. Harkort!) contrary to the versatile spread detrimental rumors, the satisfactory Location of the plant, and guaranteed from his private funds for 5 years a 6 percent dividend. Then he waived on the interest of 200,000 Thaler shares, which he himself owns during the said five years. These personal sacrifices(!), which Mr. Harkort imposed on himself, were rejected by the General meeting gratefully accepted etc. "– The first business period from 1 August 1872 to the end of 1873 concluded with a Loss of 142,000 thalers, and the following were recorded: Reason and land with 396,000 Thaler, buildings with 336,000 Thaler, Machinery and rolling mill with 217,000 Thaler, tools and Equipment with 179,000 thalers, and finally the company (!!) with 533,000 thalers. In total about 1,660,000 thalers. Mr. JC Harkort was now dissuaded from the contract, in regard to the guaranteed dividend of 6% for 5 years, and transferred 196,000 thalers (probably in own shares), while the other founders also 80,000 thalers. From these "personal The deficit was covered by the "victims" and the shareholders for 17 months total dividends of 8%. At the same time, half of the shares and reduced the share capital to 750,000 thalers. Despite these strange operations, which, as it seems that the public prosecutor's office is not obliged to investigate The dividend for 1875 was – 0, and the shares haven't had a course for quite some time.

Rhenish steelworks in Meiderich near Ruhrort.

founded in January 1872. Board of Directors: Pensioner B. Suermond in Aachen, engineer Leon Donnat and Prince Augusti

Galitzin in Paris, engineer Max Haniel in Ruhrort etc. Actiencapital 1,500,000 Thaler, of which the first issue with 1,000,000 Thaler per 1873/74 – 20% dividend received.

immediately issued, "in order to increase the production of the work larger", 600,000 Thaler bonds. Price?

Rhenish rolling mill in Mühlheim am Rhein.

founded in February 1872. Share capital 200,000 thalers.

stood: Heinrich Haines zu Vensberg and engineer Hugo Schöller

in Mühlheim. In 1874, liquidation was requested.

Pipe and iron rolling mill in Düsseldorf. Actiencapital

3½ million thalers. Supervisory board: Attorney Robert

Esser II., pensioner Ph. Kaiser, bank director Ernst Königs and

A. Rautenstrauch in Cologne, Alphons Haniel in Ruhrort, Laurenz

Fischer in Euskirchen, Friedrich Kesten, Adolf Poensgen and Gustav Poensgen in Düsseldorf. Distributed per 1873 – 9%

Dividend, later?

Hohenzollern, Society for Locomotive Construction in Düsseldorf-village. Founded August 1872 by Jacobi, Haniel and Huyssen and the Provinzial-Disconto-Gesellschaft Hannover (MJ Frensdorff).

Share capital 1,600,000 Thaler. Supervisory Board: Louis

Haniel, Franz Haniel, Max Haniel, Louis Liebrecht and W. Suer-

mond in Ruhrort, Th. Böninger jr. in Duisburg, Bernhard

Caspar in Hanover and Chr. Timmermann in Hamburg. 1874/75 closed with a loss of 159,000 thalers. Price ?

Maschinenbau Humboldt, formerly Sievers & Co. in Kalk near Deutz a. Rh. Founded October 1871. Supervisory rath: pensioner Ph. Kayser, attorney Robert Esser II.,

Jacob von Kauffmann-Asser, A. Rautenstrauch and bank director

Ernst Königs in Cologne, pensioner Heinrich Sievers in Bonn, steelworks owner Carl von Beulwitz in Trier, Bergrath Max Braun in Moresnet near Aachen, Commerzienrath Albert Poensgen in Düsseldorf. "General Director": Martin Neuerburg in Kalk.

Share capital 800,000 Thaler I. Issue and 500,000 Thaler II

Issue. In addition, 300,000 Thaler mortgages. (With this

The rolling mill company, founded in March 1872, also merged Zeus plant, whose capital stock was 500,000 thalers.)

On 1 July 1872/73, 12½% dividend was distributed, and 500,000 thalers of new shares were then produced. In 1874, 8 or 4%. Course?

Rhenish Mechanical Engineering Company in Kalk near Deutz
Share capital 100,000 Thaler. Supervisory Board: "General Director" Martin Neuerburg in Kalk, FA Herberth and Director M. Schnaas in Cologne, factory owner H. Aders in Magdeburg. Dividenden for 1874 and 1875 – 0. , Woodworking machines, formerly J. Kyll zu Kalk near Deutz. Founded in early 1873. Supervisory Board: Landrath a. D. Schubarth, Jacob von Kauffmann-Asser, A. Rautenstrauch, Director Martin Schnaas and bank director Ernst Königs in Cologne, Director Carl Sachs and "General Director" Martin Neuer-Castle in Kalk. Share capital 300,000 Thaler. Dividend for the first financial year 0.

Berlin's green spaces are also in Westphalia-Rhineland. Heinrich Quistorp founded the Westphalia wagon factory, and also the Factory for railway material in Hagen, which the latter distributed a dividend of 5% for 1873. A. Borsig and Th. Sarre were at the machine factory "Deutschland" in Dortmund, Riess & Itzinger and JT Goldberger at the Annener Gusstahlwerk, Commercial rath Schlittgen in the Dortmund bridge construction, Carl Coppel & Co. and Ascher Salinger at Harkort's Bridge construction. The pre-buyer consortium Geber-Stahlschmidt-Seelig entrierte: Hagener

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud, II. 6

Cast steel, Hagen-Grünthaler ironworks, Dortmunder Bridge building and Harkort's bridge building. But where this cloverleaf appeared, no grass grew from then on more about what the four companies mentioned above Hermann Geber, the smartest of the three and the actual boss, who likes to hide behind the Coulissen stayed, used to, when the sins of the concerned founding openly revealed a portion Shares that he had to take over, but this meant little, since the the same has now become pretty much obsolete been.

Among the local founders, the following stand out: Jacob von Kauffmann-Asser, Jacob Löb Eltzbacher, JB Heimann, Salomon Moses Heymann, Victor Wendelstadt, Ernst Königs, A. Rautenstrauch, Ph. Kaiser, Martin Schnaas and attorney-at-law Robert Esser II.

in Cologne, Friedrich Grillo in Essen, Wilhelm von Born in Dortmund, Family Haniel in Ruhrort, Family Poensgen in Düsseldorf, Martin Neuerburg in Kalk.
As a comparison of the names shows, Rhein-Land-Westphalia is an exception to the rule, in that far from the Jewish-Semitic, but the Christian-Germanic founders predominate, and Here again the Catholics are behind the pro-

8th

testators. Political and religious "continuing step" characterizes the Christian founder, while while the Jewish founder all political and con-professional shades.

The price drop of the shares of the Westphalian-Rhineland machine factories throughout This rapid devaluation occurred at some even before the crash. For example, qemand in March 1873 on recommendation 2000 Thaler Dortmunder Brückenbau à 109, and since it was soon felt sorry for her and wanted to get rid of her. In the next few days the paper quoted 105, 103, 101, 98, 95 – but for this course there were always only There was no giver, no taker. Finally, the Owner a broker who sells him the shares at 80
took, so that within a few weeks he gained 29%, lost on the course. But the broker took even for only 1000 thalers; with the other thousand
the unfortunate owner remained seated.

Witten weapons or the "pistol stocks",
mals Berger & Co., collapsed in 1873, within 9 months, from about 166 to 70! – Maybe
As a replacement, the previous owner, MP
Louis Berger, in conjunction with his brother

a scholarship for poor students and to 6*

s (0A oS

for this purpose a capital of 6666?/, Thaler was invested.
This noble deed was reported by all newspapers

but some newspapers also wanted to know the Public prosecutor in Bochum is investigating the Events at the founding of Berger'sche Gussstahl-factory.

The prescription of Finance Minister Camphausen, the sick industry by reducing the working

To curbing wages, the joint-stock companies have very good followed. From the Rheinische Stahlwerke in Meiderich recently announced a new wage cut by 10 percent. Hohenzollern, formerly Jacobi, Haniel and Huyssen in Düsseldorf, had the Wall announce attack: because of bad business wages would have to be cut again; immediately expect the workers to use their strength and would double their performance. -- About the "beneficial consequences of wage reduction" The "Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung" from Witten an der Ruhr write: it is primarily to note "the increase in the desire to work and the the associated strengthening of the workforce." But The actual purpose seems to be Mr Camphausen's Palliative care, which is also available in the workshops of the State was diligently applied, but could not be achieved.

On the contrary, the wage reduction increases the lack of work, the abundance of workers. The Humboldt machine factory in Kalk employs of the former 2000 people only a third; and The "Vossische Zeitung" stated on August 23, 1876: "There are daily reports about the collapse of industry. new reports. The Minister of Trade Dr. Achen-Bach has, during a longer stay in his hometown, lichen Kreis Siegen to convince themselves of the need had enough opportunity."

Silesia is also home to numerous foundations In the heavily Jewish-infested Breslau is home to a whole nest of founders, and These have, partly on their own account, partly in conjunction with Berlin professional colleagues, their essence driven. . Görlitz and Grünberg also delivered well-known founders. Their works include we here:

Upper Silesian Railway Supplies in Breslau. Formed

February 1871 from the metallurgical, forestry and mining company Minerva company in Upper Silesia, which in turn was founded in 1855 by the later MP, Count Johannes Renard on Gross-Strehlitz and comrades, and also was an evil foundation. The basic capital of Minerva was contributed 5 million thalers, and since they only in 1856, 1857, 1858 and 1865 paid dividends of 8, 6, 2 and 1% respectively, the dividend

ur RG) ze

dende for 1858 but did not even pay out afterwards, but as erroneous, the course was down to under 20 Then a consortium began to buy the cheap shares and finally $\frac{1}{2}$ of them were in his hands. The "General Director" of Minerva was August Frey, and the administrative board was formed by: Count Johannes Renard, Member of Parliament Prince Carl of Hohenlohe, Bank Assessor Dr. Paul Gaspard Friedenthal, Max Alexander and Albert Schmieder in Breslau, Economist Bieler in Salesche, Julius Alexander, Wilh. Itzinger and Hugo Pringsheim in Berlin.

Minerva liquidated, transferred most of its assets seat of the Upper Silesian Railway Company, which it founded. may leave, and received shares of the new company, whose Direction Albert Schmieder took over, and its supervisory board The following gentlemen formed: "General Director" August Schmieder, Max Alexander, Bank Director Fromberg and Justice Counsel v. Wil-mowski in Breslau, Oekonomierath Bieler in Salesche, Director Neimke in Lipine, Count Solms-Roesa in Slupcko, Gustav Schadow and Ferd. Gumprecht in Berlin. The Actiencapital, originally $2\frac{1}{2}$ million thalers, was increased in 1872 by $\frac{1}{2}$ million Thaler of new shares, and these with a premium of 250,000 thalers (!) were issued. The shares were, in particular, Breslau Stock Exchange, to a playing paper. For 1871 there were 6, for 1872 even 14% dividend, which for the supervisory councillors a fat royalty. As late as 1873 they received 5% dividend – 7895 Thaler, and in 1874 at only 2% dividend dende – 3467 Thaler royalties. For 1875 the dividend was dende 0, and the shares that were once driven up to 175 are now about 25. At the two companies of Minerva and of the Upper Silesian Railway Requirements, the shareholders have A total of about 8 million thalers were lost.

However, there is another loss to be lamented, not so huge, but much more painful. Before Count Renard can Establishment, he had through the masters and workers of the works to set up a relief and miners' fund, which, owned 75,000 thalers and sold them to the stock company Minerva. When the latter acquired the Upper Silesian Railway supplies, was, as the Berlin "citizens' newspaper" on 16 April 1876, the entire cash register disappeared without a trace, although they were under the supervision of the state hörden. The poor workers have their 20 years contributions made, and a complaint to the Trade Minister is said to have been unsuccessful,

Upper Silesian iron rolling mill in Paruschowitz near Rybnik, formerly fiscal! Pre-purchased by Isidor Mamroth in Berlin, and founded 31 August 1872 by the deputy and Geh. Admiralty Counsellor Theodor Jacobs, writer Dr. Heinrich Benecke, factory owner Th. Seydel, Gustav Mamroth and Paul Nalepa in Berlin. Share capital 700,000 Thaler and 150,000 Thaler mortgages. The prospectus stated 20°, dividend calculated, and for the first financial year of 4 months (!) 11%. 1873 closed with a loss of 38,938 Thaler. 1874 yielded 1%, 1875 – 1½% dividend. Price approx. 8.

Railway carriage construction, formerly G. Linke's Sons in Breslau. Pre-purchased by Gebr. Guttentag and Moritz Sachs in Breslau, and founded in February 1871. Share capital 1,600,000 Thaler (!) and about 320,000 Thaler mortgages. Supervisory Board: Member of Parliament and Senior Government Councillor Ludwig Heise, Robert Caro (MJ Caro & Sohn), Moritz Cohn (Gebr. Guttentag), Joseph Friedländer (Gebr. Friedländer), Siegmund Sachs (Moritz Sachs), Moritz Pringsheim, Commerzienrath CF Gierth and Adolf Linke in Breslau, manor owner Ernst Lauterbach in Wilxen. Dividend per 1875 – 6°/; %, and against 8000 thalers in royalties. Originally 115, now about 50.

Silesian iron foundry, machine and wagon construction, formerly C. Schmidt & Co. in Breslau. Pre-purchased by the Provincial Exchange Bank in Breslau, and founded November

– 88 –

1871 by Salo Sackur (Gebr. Sackur) in Breslau, Potocky-Nelken (Marcus Nelken & Son) and Samelson & Sackur in Berlin etc. Share capital 750,000 Thaler, plus 250,000 Thaler Priorities and 275,000 Thaler mortgages. Supervisory Board among others: Jacob Berthold (Meyer H. Berliner), Wilh. Epstein, "Volkswirt" Dr. WH Eras. Directors: Fritz Francke and Rudolf Reder. The first dividend in 1872 at 9% was based on a mere trick of arithmetic. 1873 closed with 68,000

Thaler, 1874 with 79,000 Thaler, 1875 with 132,000 Thaler lust. Then they went into liquidation, but for the shareholders
There is no hope left. In the General Assembly of
On October 12, 1875, an attempt was made to elect the directors and supervisory boards for the great mismanagement to account society, but the party of the founders voted Opposition. The public prosecutor has not yet been appointed steps. '

Waggonfabrik, Gebr. Hofmann & Co, in Breslau. bought and founded January 1872 by Isidor Mamroth, Com-merzienrath Wrede and Paul Gravenstein in Berlin. Actiencapital 750,000 Thaler and 173,000 Thaler mortgages.
Advisors include: Ernst Hofmann, Paul Bülow and Joseph Lip-mann in Breslau and Fr. Kindermann in Berlin. 1874 and 1875 closed with a loss. Price approx. 8.

Mechanical engineering and iron foundry, otherwise Carl Körner in Görlitz. Founded August 1872. Share capital 295,000 Thaler, 200,000 Thaler priorities and 59,000 Thaler hypotbeken. Supervisory Board: Deputy City Councillor Erwin Lüders, Factory owners Franz Conti, Emil Felix and R. Elsner in Gör-litz, Eugen Dzondi (Rob. Thode & Co.) in Berlin. Last Dividenden 0. Course ?

Lower Silesian Mechanical Engineering Institute, formerly Conrad Schiedt in Görlitz and Grünberg. Founded March 1872 by Fr. Förster jun. in Grünberg. 500,000 Thaler shares and 262,000 Thaler mortgages. The balance sheet as of July 31, 1874

= gg

closed with an alleged profit of 18,500 thalers, but
In 1875 the competition was opened and it became clear that the
The entire share capital was lost. In April 1876, the Etablissement in Görlitz for public sale, but found no buyer and it was decided to parcel the property.
and offer them as construction sites.

These Silesian societies are followed by nor the

Niederlausitz Mechanical Engineering Institute, formerly Nommel & Jäger in Cottbus. Founded in early 1873 by the Wechselstuben-Actiengesellschaft in Berlin. Share capital 200,000 Thlr.
and 40,000 Thaler mortgages. Chairman of the Supervisory Councillor: Otto Sommerfeld in Cottbus. Chairman: G. Knackstedt and M. Persicaner. Auditors: Adolf Gradenwitz and H. Wit-

ting. A dividend of 7 %/, is privately guaranteed up from Grants from the founders have also been paid so far, Nevertheless the shares have no price.

In the Prussian province of Saxony recruited
The founders are active in the field of mechanical factories mainly from Berlin, Magdeburg, Halle and Nordhausen, and the most important companies are:

Machine factory and iron foundry, formerly R. Riedel and J. Selwig in Halle a/S. Founded October 1872 by of the German Cooperative Bank Sörgel, Parrisius & Co. in Berlin and the Halle'sche Bankverein of Kulisch, Kämpf & Co.
Supervisory Board: Attorney Herzfeld, Director Walter sen. and Government Councillor a. D. Gneist in Halle a/$. Share capital 300,000 Thaler. The previous owners retained the management and guaranteed a net profit of 30,000 thalers annually, i.e.

– 100) =

10% dividend. In 1872, 93/, were paid, whereas in 1873 only 11/10, paid. 1874 and 1875 again resulted in 9 and 10% respectively
Dividend. Nevertheless, the price is about 60.

Iron foundry and mechanical engineering, formerly H. Schäde in Zeitz. Founded December 1871 by Robert Baumann (Berliner Bank). Supervisory Board members: Bernhard Friedheim, Leopold Hadra and Eduard Thiele in Berlin, Jacob Löwendahl (Gebr.
Löwendahl & Co.) and Franz Pfaffe (Weise & Pfaffe) in Halle a/S., Rudolf Tillmanns in Zeitz. First auditors: businessman Rothe and lawyer Neebe in Zeitz. Share capital 400,000 thalers.
The previous owner took over the management and 50,000 Thaler Shares. For 1875, 4% dividend was allocated and for the gentlemen Supervisory Board 3040 Thaler royalties! Price once 105, now approx. 30.

Rismaschinengesellschaft, otherwise Oscar Kropff & Co. in Nordhausen. Founded November 1872 with 200,000 Thaler
The previous owner retained the management and the Prospect assured that this "from humble beginnings"
Establishment so far 20%, net profit
Supervisory Board: Justizrath Berndt, Commercial Councillor
RH Bach and City Councillor Schulze in Nordhausen, businessman GA Mittler and master builder David Schultze in Berlin. The first financial year resulted in 12½% dividend, 1874 and 1875
closed with a loss. The shares, by M. Gottschalk & Co.
introduced on the Berlin Stock Exchange at 113}, are listed at about 10.

Harzer Eisenbahnbedarf, formerly Bernhard Thelen and Otto Weydemeyer in Nordhausen. Immodestly expensive Founding of Messrs Grelling & Schönfeld in Nordhausen, Ge-brothers Grelling and Volkmar & Bendix (, economist“ Michael Julius Levinstein) in Berlin. Created in August 1872. Actiencapital 500, 000 Thaler and 75,000 Thaler mortgages. The Previous owners retained management and took over 120,000 Thaler shares. For the first financial year, which was 10 months back, an artificial dividend of 9%. 1873 yielded 3%, 1874 – 0 and 1875 – 1°/3°/o. Cours once 120, now about 25.

Ironworks and mechanical engineering, formerly Wilhelm Bartels & Co. in Halberstadt. Founded November 1872 by the previous owner, as well as from the reindeer CF Hoppe in Uelzen, the Banker August Pohl, and by Georg Helbig and Hugo Scharffe, the two directors of the notorious North German Land Economic Bank Association in Berlin. Share capital 240,000 Thaler. Director: the co-owner Emil Bartels. For the first and only financial year of a few months decided the straw men of that bank association a dividend of 10%, which was later challenged in court. With the famous Bankverein, this foundation also collapsed, and the Shares, initially quoted at 105 to 130, lost every course, The company was liquidated and, according to a report by the “Neue Börsen-Newspaper”, the establishment was thoroughly exploited, so that not much more than the walls remained standing. A Many hard-working people lost their jobs and fell into bitter need.

Sudenburger Maschinenfabrik, formerly FA Kluse-man in Magdeburg. Formed September 1872 and were the founders, except the previous owner: Simon Levy in Berlin, Julius Levy, Meyer Samuel Meyer, Gustav Sommergut and Otto Henniges in Magdeburg, Gustav Plaut (HC Plaut) in Leipzig. Share capital 650,000 thalers and 200,000 thalers mortgages. Issuers: Friedländer & Co. in Berlin and Magdeburger Wealth and discount bank. The prospectus promised 10 to 15% net profit. 1872 resulted in a dividend of 4¾%. 1873 closed with a loss of 505,000 Thaler; whereupon the founders, one intimidated by the threats of the shareholders, 300,000 Thaler returned shares, the rather violently founded pre-owner alone to 200,000 thalers. Nevertheless, In 1874, the company lost 198,000 thalers. Now the Shares were merged and the share capital was increased to 175,000 thalers reduced; finally in 1875 a net profit of – – 212 Thaler.

Klusemann and the two Levy promised further 50,000 Thaler shares to be returned if they were left alone But in the meantime the prosecutor grabbed her. In the first 'Instance, the founders were only charged with "concealment" a fine; in the second instance, however, the found guilty of fraud and Klusemann to three, the others sentenced to six months in prison each.

Bridge Construction Institute, otherwise Otto Prange in Buckau near Magdeburg. Founded in November 1872 by the banks Teetzmann, Roch and Alenfeld in Magdeburg, A. Paderstein and Oscar Hainauer in Berlin. Grand capital 600,000 Thaler and 90,000 Thaler mortgages. The previous owner took over the management and 50,000 Thaler shares. Supervisory Board members and others: Julius Nelke, Bernhard Schäffer, Fr. Bock, Max Sombart. For In 1873 a dividend of 3% was paid, 1874 closed with 175,000 Thaler loss, in 1875 the company was liquidated and sold purchase. On the instructions of the Minister of Justice, the prosecutor, but no charges have been brought yet. Shares, introduced at 1021/, are worthless.

An astonishing wealth of start-ups offers the small Duchy of Brunswick. They are mostly highly questionable, sometimes very malicious nature, and their authors are mainly borene. We call here:

Maschinenbauanstalt, formerly Fr. Seele & Co. in Braun-silent. Founded July 1870. Board of Directors: Dr. A. Aron-heim, Commerzienrath Albert Oppenheimer and Oberbaurath Scheffler in Brunswick, Gustav Seeliger in Wolfenbüttel, JL Eltzbacher in Cologne. Director: Member of the Reichstag, Commerzienrath FW Schöttler in Braunschweig. Actiencapital 400,000 thalers, of which 50,000 thalers in 1871 were Course of 125, and 100,000 Thaler 1874 at the course of 120 by NS Nathalion Nachfolger and Carl Uhl & Co. in Braun-were emitted silently. In recent years there have been falling high dividends, from 1874 to 1876 – 21, 25 and resp. 22140).

2s 03

Ice machine company in Braunschweig. Founded

March 1870 with 200,000 Thaler capital. Supervisory Board: Dr. A. Aronheim, Commercial Councillors Albert Oppenheimer and O. Löbbecke, bookseller Heinrich Vieweg, lawyer Th. Breithaupt, Directors Dr. Aug. Seyferth and Franz Windhausen, Theodor Becker, Gustav Runde and Chr. Schrader in Braunschweig, JL Eltzbacher and Werner Kreuser in Cologne. In 1876 decided to dissolve.

Sewing machine factory Grimme, Natalis & Co. in Braunschweig. Founded November 1871 with 400,000 Thaler capital. Administrative Board: R. Löhnefinke (NS Nathalion Nachfolger), M. Solnitz, bank directors O. Häussler, A. Benndorf and v. Seckendorf. 1874 resulted in a dividend of 4%.

Railway Carriage Construction Company, formerly Friedrich Deicke in Braunschweig. Pre-purchased on behalf of the to-be-formed Company of Bernhard Caspar (MJ Frensdorff) and Louis Ephraim Meyer in Hanover for allegedly 300,000 Thaler, and founded on September 3, 1871 with 350,000 Thaler shares. As Founders or first drafters are, apart from the previous owner and the previous buyers, still named: August Urbich and Alexander Benndorff (for the Braunschweigische Creditanstalt), Friedrich Pillmann (Uhl & Pillmann), Gustav Runde, H. Mielziner (Lehmann Oppenheimer & Sohn), Commerzienrath Ritter Friedrich von Voigtländer, lottery inspector Hermann Wolff and Eberhard Mencke in Braunschweig, Commercial Councillor Gustav Seeliger in Wolfenbüttel, Commerzienrath Louis Meyer and AH Gernlein in Hanover, Christian Timmermann in Hamburg. 1874 closed with a loss of 46,000 Thaler, whereupon the previous owner, who had retained the management, 40,000 Thaler shares. The capital stock was raised by murdering the Shares reduced to 150,000 thalers without the company society viable. The rest of the population was asked to Founders and first subscribers were reimbursed 75,000 thalers; They also offered to return shares, However, they ultimately achieved nothing. On 1 March 1876, the factory's operations were completely stopped.

==. 94 -

Rolling mill in Braunschweig. Founded in 1873 by the Braunschweigische Creditanstalt with 300,000 Thaler shares. Director: Carl Wahn. Supervisory Board: Commerzienrath F. Ritter von Voigtländer, chief agent Th. Heinrich Meyer, banker Carl Salomon, engineer Ludwig Mitgau in Braunschweig, Reichstag member and steelworks director Ferdinand Koch in Carls- hut near Delligsen. 1874 closed with a deficit of 250,000 Thaler, and the public prosecutor Koch in Braunschweig the investigation into criminal bankruptcy. Even

The shareholders have lost everything, and the creditors 8, later 12½% of their claims were offered.

Carlshütte ironworks, formerly Koch brothers at Delligsen in Brunswick. Founded July 1872. Actien-capital 250,000 thalers; introduced on the Berlin Stock Exchange by Frege, Simon & Co. to the course from 115 to 120, and beginning 1873 raised to 160. Chairman of the Supervisory Board: Senior Court Attorney Häussler in Braunschweig. The management The previous owner kept it: Reichstag member Ferdinand Koch. In 1875, the banks H. Oppenheimer and Alexander Simon in Hanover raised a loan of 133,000 Thaler. Dividends have so far been paid at 18, 12, 7½ and 8%. The shares are still trading at 80.

Harz works in Rübeland and Zorge in Blankenburg a/H.

Founded October 1870 by Jacob Löb Eltzbacher in Cologne, who acquired the works in 1868 from the Brunswick government for 500,000 Thaler, and the Schaaffhausen'schen Bankverein in Cologne. Supervisory Board: Dr. A. Aronheim and Dr. Aug. Seyferth in Braunschweig, Salomon Moses Heymann, Werner Kreuser, Th. Movius, Max Arndts, Moritz Eltzbacher, Joh. Heinr. Haan and Jean Baptiste Heimann in Cologne, Higher Court Advocat Otto in Blankenburg. The share capital was originally 1,200,000 Thalers, but was increased to 1,800,000 in early 1873. Thaler and at the same time a priority debt of 800,000 thalers were borrowed. For what purpose was this shah, and where the newly issued 1,400,000 thalers remains is still dark. The year 1871 had no clean profit closed; but in order to increase the capital In order to be able to do so, a dividend of 8° was paid per 1872, which will probably be paid from the proceeds of the new shares For 1873, the dividend was 5%, for 1874 – 0. and at the same time the balance sheet revealed a new uncovered debt of 600,000 thalers; allegedly arose from the purchase of a coal mine. In 1774, when the iron industry was already completely depressed, this purchase was made, and this is quite useless, as the works are not coal, but with wood, which they can use due to certain Contracts can be obtained very cheaply. As a result of this miraculous Manipulation has caused the share price to fall to around 0.

From the great blatant corruption which in Braunschweig and in a sense the country chen dominates, the history of the railway wagen-Bauanstalt, formerly Friedrich Deicke, a successful The factory tax, which the Founders had 185,000 Thaler

= 366, <=

(in reality it was barely worth 120,000 thalers);
The purchase price was stated as 300,000 thalers,
so that the surcharge amounted to 115,000 thalers.
Of this sum, 40,000 thalers should be given to the seller
Deicke, and 75,000 thalers go to the founders.
Deicke committed himself by lapel "on honorary word", about this division "an absolute silence to preserve" Despite the shameless founder profit, the share capital of 350,000 Thaler at a price of 105! A dividend is fell only for the second financial year; it was 8%,
but is now considered to have been distributed improperly.
because there was actually a deficit of 40,000
Thalers were supposed to have been available. The company Society began its activities without the necessary
most cash, with a crushing debt burden, had to immediately take out new credit, the
the founders granted her, and finally flew to the air, revealing the dizziness. How everywhere, so also in Braunschweig the "liberal" press is trying to keep quiet, because it is Founders, all rich, powerful men, dependent.
Only the social democratic "Braunschweiger Volksfriend" made noise, but the assassins felt so sure that they would sue the paper for insult

7

J he denounced. For the time being, this denunciation is suspended, because the shareholders have taken courage and are against the founders by way of civil and at the same time of the criminal trial. Deicke, the was paid mainly in shares and by the returned 40,000 thalers, has been the collapse again, which he lost at the Founded in 1994. Previously a hardworking, simple

Man who went from being a craftsman to a factory owner
He started as Actien-Director on to live on a large scale, kept equipage etc., and also had a costly, expensive, wasteful operation. The supervisory councilors, who were the founders, were not allowed interfere, not provoke him, because they had to fear that he would otherwise talk about school. So the

The matter took its course and ended with horror.

The Brunswick companies are
we two Anhaltians:

Iron foundry and machine factory, formerly Hertel & Co. in Nienburg an der Saale. Founded August 1872 by the Magdeburg Wechsler- und Discontobank. Actiencapital 200,000 Thaler, issued by HC Plaut in Berlin and Leipzig, MS Meyer in Magdeburg and Levy Calm Söhne in Bern-burg. Pro 1875 – 4% dividend and 1612 Thaler royalties!
Course still about 40.

Formerly the Ducal Anhalt Mechanical Engineering Institute
Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud, II. 7

– 98 –

and iron foundry in Bernburg. Founded in June 1872 by Volkmar & Bendix (“Economist” MJ Levinstein) in Berlin.
Share capital 500,000 thalers and 135,000 thalers mortgages.
Supervisory Board: Julius Brumme (AF Brumme) in Bernburg, Commercial Councillor Hermann Egells in Berlin and Herm. Kühn in Dessau, Moritz Fliess in Magdeburg, LW Ziervogel and Dr. Th. Tuchen in Leopoldshall. Like the prospect itself emphasized, the establishment had been under fiscal administration ation has delivered high returns, and the state parliament has approved the sale approved by only 20 votes to 12; therefore, the founders to offer shareholders the best prospects
In fact, they also manufactured for the first financial year, which they pushed back by 6 months, 8 percent Dividends. For 1874 there were 2 percent, for 1875 – 0.
once 105, now about 25.

“The state should not engage in industry or trade, because it is not worthy of him, because he is private must not compete.” This is the manchester wisdom, and now you can see its consequences
It must be filled with deep displeasure to see how the “Economists” controlled the state administration in Prussia, Braunschweig, Anhalt and elsewhere have forced either to close profitable establishments or to leave it up to the founders to decide which
but also the preaching “economists” themselves belong to them, and what is under their hands within a
a few years from those former fiscal works

Formerly flourishing, they have been
"foundation" in sickness, they only vegetate

ei: 700: 2c

Through such "foundations", thousands of
of workers their bread and thousands of shareholders lost their money. The 1844 bank, founded by the then Iron foundry built by the then Minister of Schätzell to Bernburg has fallen victim to the period of dizziness
How to tempt the name in the prospectus of the new foundation: "Ducal Anhalt Machinery nenbauanstalt", how did the public take to this bait
kum, especially the surrounding area, and how insulting
It is now disappointed! Not only has the company company no longer paid dividends for 1875, it was not even able to pay the purchase price remainder with 135,000 thalers. But government and the state parliament showed leniency. At the presentation of the Member of Parliament, sugar manufacturer Dr. Baldamus,
The Anhalt State Parliament agreed to further deferral
the mortgage, of which 125,000 thalers belonged to the poor funds. Mortgages on industrial Establishments grant public funds
does not provide the legally required security, and it
We can only hope that society does not falls, and the land-poor do not then drop out!

Big, very big was the LfS Grim tery in

8 Saxony. Rhineland and Saxony

ED1271949

DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE. ECONOMY.

— 100 —

are pretty much evenly balanced. The most numerous Leipzig, Chemnitz and mainly Dresden, where in the Schwinn-delperiod suddenly several stock market papers emerged, almost rivaled Berlin, and encloses a long

Series of founding companies, such as M. Schie Nachfolger, Robert Thode & Co., Eduard Rocksche successor, Philipp Elimeyer, Al Mende, Otto Seebe, Georg Meusel & Co., Heinrich Wilh. Bassenge & Co., Duke & Philippi, Günther & Rudolph etc. A Matador Among the local founders is also the Com-merzienrath Fedor Zschille in Grossenhain, who tried in various fields, eg is involved in the Berlin-Dresden Railway. Of the Berlin founders, the following were active in Saxony: HC Plaut, Paul Gravenstein, Anhalt & Wagener, Attorney Seelig, Adolf Martini, Heinrich Quistorp, Adolf Russ, Eduard Mamroth, Carl Miether, Robert Baumann, Ferdinand Plessner, Privy Councillor Dr. Carl Esse et al. | |

Large, very large is the number of people in Saxony founded machine and similar factories. We limit ourselves to characterizing the following:

Saxon cast steel factory in Döhlen near Dresden. has been in existence since 1856 and was converted into a joint-stock company in 1862

– 101 –

Transformed. Distributed high dividends from 1865 to 1872: 15, 9, 13, 15, 18, 22, 20 and 25 percent respectively. Purchased in 1872 the Count Einsiedel works in Berggiesshübel, and increased the share capital from 250,000 to 500,000 thalers. This increase was quite unnecessary and reduced The previously agreed The founders' rights were granted to the first signatories in May 1873. nern for 60,000 Thaler, which the shareholders now want to reclaim through legal proceedings. Then The supervisory board consisted of: Otto Seebe, First Lieutenant (ret.) Gust. Klette, Advocat Lengnick, Moritz Schubert and J. Wash. Beyer in Dresden. In 1873 the dividend fell to 10%, in 1874 it was only 4%, and in 1875 – 1%. Price once 850, now?

Saxonia, ironworks and railway supplies in Radeberg Dresden. Founded in January 1870 with 500,000 Thaler Shares of Otto Seebe in Dresden, former district councillor Wilh. from Graevenitz auf Thamm, H. Alberti in Radeberg, "Construction Director" Ferd. Plessner and Robert Baumann in Berlin. Dividend per 1874/75 – 3½% per 1875/76 – 0. Price once 120, now about 20.

Saxon Steamship and Mechanical Engineering Institute, formerly O. Schlick in Dresden. Founded April 1872. Basic capital 310,000 thalers. Supervisory Board: Commerzienrath Fedor Zschille in Grossenhain, banker Schlick (Schirmer & Schlick) in Leipzig, Consul Georg Meusel, Advocat Oswald Matthaei, Pensioners Nordmann and Herrenburg, Felix Meyer and Julius Haeckel in Dresden. Dividends: 1872 – 20%, 1873 – 5%, then 0. Course approx. 25.

Machine factory and iron foundry, formerly Albert Kiesler & Co. in Zittau. Founded December 1872 by the Oberlausitzer Bank in Zittau. Share capital 160,000 Thaler, launched at the course of 105. The previous owners kept the Management and took over 20,000 Thaler shares. Supervisory Board: Lawyer Ferd. Stremel, factory owner Ludwig Schmitt (brothers Schmitt), City Councillor Hermann Ströhmer, Bank Director Otto Seitz and merchant August Wehle. Apparently, a white Raven among the start-ups, because the dividends moved So far in ascending order: $5\frac{1}{2}$, $6\frac{1}{2}$ and 90% respectively.

– 102 –

Machine factory, formerly Brod & Stiehler in Zwickau. Formed in November 1872 with 250,000 Thaler shares and 50,000 Thaler mortgages. The previous owners received the rection. Supervisory Board: Commerzienrath Fedor Zschille in Grossenhain, lawyer Urban and banker August Hentschel in Zwickau, Richard Hartmann jun. in Chemnitz. 1875 and 1876 5% dividend each. Price?

Voigtland Railway Carriage and Machine Factory, formerly Wilhelm Braun zu Reichenbach i. V. Founded July 1871 by Carl von Metzsch, Chamberlain and Member of the I. Saxon Chamber of Reichenbach, merchant Aug. Walter, member of the II. Saxon Chamber, Adalbert Kräger, Director Ewald Bellingrath, AL Mende and Philipp Elimeyer in Dresden, Privy Counsellor Dr. Esse in Berlin. Actiencapital 500,000 Thaler, of which the previous owner left 100,000 Thaler and used them as a deposit for a five-year-old Years guaranteed dividend & 8 percent deposited.

Mechanical Engineering Institute, formerly Gottschald & Nötzli in Golzern near Grimma. Founded February 1873. Supervisory Councillor: Commerzienrath Koch in Lausigk, Director R. Grahl in Döhlen, Attorney Carl Speck in Döbeln, Julius Kauffmann in Melsungen, Adolf Mankiewicz (Philipp Elimeyer) in Dresden, Director Pernitzsch from the Leipzig exchange and deposit sitenbank. Share capital 300,000 Thaler and 50,000 Thaler Mortgages. The previous owner Jean Nötzli remained in charge. Dividend for 1874/75 – 11%, for 1875/76 – 10%. Course about 90.

Lausitzer Maschinenfabrik, formerly JF Petzold in Bautzen. Founded in January 1872 by Georg Meusel & Co. and M. Schie successor in Dresden. Supervisory Board: Advocat

~

– 103 –

G. Schubart, Ernst Sulzberger, Eduard Meyer, A. Rosencrantz and Mr. Burnewitz in Dresden. Share capital 300,000 Thir. The previous co-owner Reinhold Zimmermann became director. 1875 closed with a loss. Cours?

Agricultural Mechanical Engineering Institute, formerly Hermann Goetjes, Carl Wilh. Bergmann & Co. in Reudnitz near Leipzig. Founded in late 1871. Share capital 900,000 Thaler and 200,000 Thaler mortgages. Board of Directors: Commerzienrath CW Bergmann. Supervisory Board: Carl Aug. Eisenreich, Alexander Crayen, Alfred Becker, City Councillor Julius Hebbinghaus, Aug. Herm. Wappler, Attorney Hofrath Dr. Lohse and bank director Fr. Louis Hoffmann in Leipzig. Dividend per 1874/75 – 0. Cours about 20.

Iron foundry and mechanical engineering plant, formerly F. L. and E. Jacobi in Meissen. Founded September 1872 by Heinrich Wilh. Bassenge & Co. in Dresden. Alleged Purchase price 360,000 Thaler! Share capital 290,000 Thaler, laid at 105! Dividend per 1875/76 – 60%. Course approx. 60.

Machine factory and iron foundry, formerly Julius Behrisch in Meissen. Founded September 1872. Supervisory rath: William Eales, Friedrich Finke, Heinrich Roch and Louis Schulz in Meissen, Carl Philippi (Duke & Philippi) in Dresden. The direction was taken over by Alfred Hausding and the Previous owner, who paid a dividend of 10°/ for 3 years, For the first financial year, a net profit was which more than covered the guaranteed dividend, but conspicuously the cash register was completely empty, and it In order to satisfy the shareholders, a mortgage had to be taken out The dividend was paid and The establishment was charged the same amount! Also in Furthermore, the balance sheet showed gross inaccuracies, false and exaggerated estimates. No less was the balance sheet of the second year was falsified; the same was found in In reality, the loss was over 100,000 thalers.

– 104 –

The dissolution was decided, and in March 1876 the General Assembly meeting refused to discharge Mr. Julius Behrisch. About this scandal was reported by the "Berliner Börsen-Zeitung" with the classic words: "There followed a long and lively debate." Mr. Julius Behrisch offered to establish and give shareholders a full 18%. The poor victims thought: Better to pay something than nothing at all, and agreed to it. But Mr. Jul. Behrisch did not pay. He may have thought that he had acted too hastily, that he had been too generous. Enough, he also broke this contract, and when legal action was taken against him, it became apparent that he had suddenly become "completely destitute." At this point, Mr. Gottlieb Behrisch felt a human emotion. He stood up for his brother and took over the factory that Shareholders 150,000 Thaler, for 24,000 Thaler. In As a result of this noble deed, an announcement was made that at Louis Markus in Dresden would be paid out per share 20 marks. That is 6 thalers for 100 thalers! The state However, the legal profession seems to have taken no notice of these events. to have taken. |

English safety detonator factory, formerly William Eales in Meissen. Founded April 1, 1872 with 160,000 thalers. Shares, which were later raised to 300,000 thalers. The Previous owner remained Director. Board of Directors: George Meusel & Co. in Dresden, CF Förster in Riesa, Advocat Franke, Mrs. Finke, Georg Burckhardt and Georg Voeckler in Meissen. Last Dividends 5 and 5'/%. Price approx. 25.

Steam engine factory, formerly Rentsch & Oschatz in Krimmitschau. Founded in early 1873 with 350,000 Thaler Actien. As the Berlin newspaper "Neue Börsenzeitung" reported, was the real value of the two pre-purchased establishments about 100,000 thalers. Supervisory board and others: Luc. Müller. 1874 and in 1875 5° dividends were distributed, in 1876 – 0. The

– 10 –

Shares, which are quoted at around 15, are expected to rise in the those of the first draftsmen, and now from the pre-owner and director Louis Rentzsch, who reopened the factory wants to take over, will be bought back.

Loom and machine factory, formerly Anton Zschille in Grossenhain. Share capital 150,000 Thaler and 50,000 Thaler mortgages. Dividends from 1873 – 1875: 0, 4 and respectively 1%. Price approx. 20.

Mechanical scraper factory, otherwise Lossius Nachfolger to; Mittweida. Founded June 1872 with 150,000 Thaler shares. Supervisory Board: William Eales in Meissen, GA Miller and Spinning mill director Steinegger in Mittweida, Carl Philippi (Duke and Philippi) in Dresden. The previous owner Wilh. Decker held the management and guaranteed for the first three years 8% dividend. For 1874 and 1875, shareholders received 6%. Price approx. 50.

Sichsian iron industry in Pirna, otherwise commercial Councillor Hermann Gruson in Buckau near Magdeburg. Founded November 1871. Share capital 1,600,000 thalers. Issued with Paul Gravenstein in Berlin and with HC Plaut in Leipzig and Berlin. The Supervisory Board members were, in addition to the previous owner, called: Deputy Advocat Hermann Schreck in Pirna, Baron Gustav Robert von Beust in Vienna, Director Gustav Hartmann in Chemnitz, Joseph John Ruston in Prague. While the prospectus is most conscientiously 26.20, Dividend calculated, closed the year 1873 with 17,000 thalers., 1874 with a loss of 143,000 Thaler, which is why in 1875 the Liquidation step.

As the "Magdeburgische Zeitung" reported at the time, Mr. Gruson also intended to open his machine shop in February 1872. factory and iron foundry in Buckau. A consortium had already sold the establishment for 1,300,000 Thaler The basic capital was reduced to a mere 2 million one Thaler, and the new shares were to be modest course of 120 – then it broke suddenly things changed. Mr Gruson, it seems, stepped not entirely voluntarily, and had to be returned to the members of the Consortium pay 15,000 to 30,000 Thaler each in reparations.

– 106 –

Chemnitz deserves a special section. Full of proud self-confidence, but not with Wrong, it calls itself the "German Manchester"; It is the first factory town in Saxony and one of the most important in Germany. That is why the Entrepreneurship is an extraordinary field here; Establishment after establishment fell to her, and one factory owner always founded another. Among the natives themselves, a Clique of founders. At the top is the family Hartmann: Privy Counsellor Richard Hartmann, who had already founded his own mechanical engineering company in March 1870 for the colossal sum of ly three million thalers; Gustav Hartmann and Richard Hartmann Jr. To their allies include: Privy Counsellor Kohl, Advocat Weber I., Louis Benndorf, Julius Starker, Gottlieb

Behrend et al. | |

Among the establishments founded are
In addition to being extremely well-known, also completely un-
We list here:

- 107 -

Saxon loom factory, formerly Louis Schönherr.
Founded in early 1872 by M. Schie Nachfolger in Dresden and the Chemnitzer Bankverein. Share capital 1 million thalers.
of which the previous owner took over half. The same was also President of the Supervisory Board, and alongside him were:
Louis Benndorf, Privy Counsellor Kohl, City Councillor Advocat Ullrich L, Julius Staerker. Direction: Franz Mittenzwey and
Max Schönherr. Mortgages amount to 200,000 thalers.
The dividends in 1872-1876 were: 10, 10, 1'4, 12/3
and respectively 11/, °/, . Cours once 130, now about 30.

Mechanical engineering association, formerly CF Schellenberg.
Founded in March 1872 by M. Schie Nachfolger in Dresden.
Chairman of the Supervisory Board: Attorney Weber J. February
In 1874, the shares & 30 were bought back. Dividend per 1875/76 - 0. Price about 10.

Concordia Iron Foundry. Joined Li- November 1873
quation.

Steam and spinning machine factory, formerly Theodor Wiede. Founded October 1872 by M. Schie successor in Dresden. Share capital 1,100,000 thalers, issued with 102!
In addition, 180,000 Thaler mortgages. The previous owners HF Loose and CE Bergmann remained in charge. Chairman of the Supervisory Board: Emil Schotte. For 1872, 10 were allocated, for 1873 - 4% dividend; 1874 and 1875 - 0 Novbr. 1875 was the share capital was reduced by 300,000 thalers. Cours about still 15.

Maschinenfabrik Germania, formerly JS Schwalbe and son. Share capital 800,000 Thaler and 250,000 Thaler Mortgages. 10% dividend was distributed per 1873 and 11,000 thalers in royalties were granted. In 1875 the dividend was 0.

Saxon Embroidery Machine Factory, formerly Albert Voigt
in Kappel near Chemnitz. Founded in March 1872. The shareholding capital with 450,000 Thaler, issued by Anhalt & Wagener in Berlin and the Chemnitzer Bankverein, was, according to insurance of the stock exchange newspapers only “small”, and the industry “very profitable tabel”. The previous owner took over the third part of the Actien, allegedly granted 200,000 Thaler operating capital and remained in charge. Supervisory Board: Julius Stärker, Advocat Wilh. Harnisch, Louis Benndorf, Ernst N. Roth (JF Pflugbeil) and Franz Mittenzwey. For the first financial year of 6 months (!) 25% dividend was made, and so the shares up to 180. 1873 resulted in only 5%, because the embroidery machines had already gone out of fashion. 1874 closed with a loss of 45,500 thalers. The price is about 15.

– 108 –

Iron foundry, formerly Rockstroh. Founded August 1872 by Eduard Mamroth, Hugo Mamroth, Carl Miether, Jul. Sternfeld, Otto Bergmann and Julius Rothenstein in Berlin, Richard Lehmann in Chemnitz. Share capital 250,000 Thaler and 50,000 Thaler mortgages. Director: Moritz Rockstroh. The first dividend for a financial year of 4 months (!) with 9% was artificial; since then it has been 0. 1873 closed with a loss of 47,000 thalers, in 1874 with a loss of 80,000 thalers. In 1875, ?/; of the shares were massacred. Nevertheless, the Cours, which in February 1873 was above 120, now about 1; because the establishment is not really worth more than the mortgages. |

Castle Chemnitzer Steam Boiler Factory, formerly Jean Affolter. Formed in April 1873 with 230,000 thaler shares. Apart from the previous owner, the founders were: Adolf Grunwald and Hermann Münchenberg in Berlin, Hermann Schwabe in Chemnitz. In February 1874, the public prosecutor investigated.

Machine tool factory, formerly Commerzienrath Joh. Zimmermann. Founded November 1871 by M. Schie Successor in Dresden, which in connection with Anhalt and Wagener in Berlin 2 million Thaler shares (!) & 105 (!) on Later, 400,000 Thaler shares were issued!! In addition, 70,000 Thaler mortgages and 178,000 Thaler remaining purchase money!!! The previous owner took over 1 million shares and became “General Director” of the company. The Supervisory Board formed: Julius Stärker, Advocat Hermann Weber I, Heinrich Gulden and Emil Schotte in Chemnitz. The first business

– 109 –

The year resulted in a 14% dividend for shareholders, and for the supervisory rath 6400 Thaler, and for the "General Director" 15,000 Thlr. In addition, the latter received $\frac{1}{2}$ of the entire Net profit with 105,000 thalers! In 1873 the Action-15%, the Supervisory Board 10,000 Thaler and the "General director" 27,000 Thaler. In 1874, 8% dividend was paid, for the Supervisory Board 4000 Thaler and for the "General Director" 17,000 thalers. In 1875 the dividend was 6%, in 1876 – 0; and the Cours, once 150, is now about 30.

German Machine Tool Factory, formerly Son-dermann & Stier. Founded by M. Schie Nachfolger in Dresden, which in collaboration with Ed. Rocks Nachfolger in Dresden, Kunath & Nieritz in Chemnitz and the Chem-nitzer Bankverein issued 700,000 Thaler shares. The purchase price was allegedly 800,000 Thaler, and the previous owner Carl Sondermann remained in charge. Dividend for 1874/75 – 1%, per 1875/76 – 0. Following a denunciation that the prospectus contained false information, the Public Prosecutor; however, no charges have been brought yet came. Course about 10.

Vulcan machine tool factory, formerly Wilhelm Benndorf. Was founded December 1872. Actiencapital 240,000 Thaler, plus interest since April 1, 1872 (!) – because the first financial year was 9 months back The previous owner kept the management. Advisory Board: Gottlieb Behrend, Director of the famous machine construction company A. Münnich & Co., Attorney Wilhelm Harnisch and Robert Büttner (CJ Tittel & Co.) in Chemnitz. 1875 yielded a dividend of $\frac{1}{2}$ %, 1876 – 0. Price about 8.

Machine tool engineering Saxonia, formerly Constantin Pfaff. Founded in 1873 by H. Quistorp in Berlin.

– 110 –

Share capital 425,000 Thaler and 175,000 Thaler mortgage. The previous owner retained the management. President of the Supervisory raths: Adolf Russ in Berlin. Revisor: Albert Ludewig in Berlin. For the first financial year, 10% dividend was In 1874, the share capital was reduced, etc.

Phoenix machine tool factory. Capital stock 300,000 Thaler. The shares are mostly in Westphalia and especially in Dortmund. In 1875 the liquidation was applied for.

Machine tool factory Union, formerly DG Diehl.

Share capital 350,000 Thaler and 60,000 Thaler mortgage.
The previous owner became director. Supervisory board members include: Gottlieb Behrend and Richard Hartmann Jr. in Chemnitz. Dividend per 1872/73 – 10%, per 1874/75 – 1%. Price about 10.

Saxon brass works Lugau near Chemnitz.
founded in May 1872 with 150,000 Thaler shares. Joined in 1876 Liquidation.

As you can see, there are chemical nitzer Actiengesellschaften already have many corpses and
The most immodest foundation was wol the machine tool factory of Joh. Zimmerman. Even the stock market newspapers mentioned the purchase price is “monstrous”. But if Privy Counsellor Hartmann three million

Thaler calculated, why should Mr. Commer-zienrath Zimmermann did not open his establishment to Shareholders with two million thalers'?

In the meantime, the huge capital of 2,400,000 Thaler through repurchase of 600,000 Thaler

– 111 –

Shares have been made a little smaller, which of course has does not seem to be improving. For 1875/76 a Net profit of only 13,000 thalers, which even understandable the distribution of a dividend is not allowed, and so they contented themselves with “copying exercises”.

Southern Germany has, as already mentioned at the beginning of this Chapters mentioned, far less than North and Central Germany; although Munich, Stuttgart and above all Frankfurt a. M. is also quite not stupid. However, here are only the following Companies to name:

Waggonfabrik, formerly JC Reifert & Co. in Bockenhome near Frankfurt a. M. Founded September 1871 by the Oesterreichisch-Deutsche Bank in Frankfurt a. M. with 650,000

Thaler shares. The previous owner, Clemens Reifert, was called "General director". Board of Directors: JB Pfaff, J. Koch, Friedrich Mumm, Franz Brentano and Chr. Grote in Frankfurt a. M., Notary Dr. Becker in Bockenheim. The first business year (1872) closed with 62%, net profit. For 1874 there were no Dividends were no longer paid and liquidation was requested in 1875.

South German Society for Railway Construction and Iron railway supplies in Stuttgart. Founded in June 1871 with 700,000 guilders Shares that had already risen by three percent in November of the same year. times, to 2,100,000 guilders. 1874 and 1875 closed with a loss.

Machine factory in Kirchheim near Stuttgart. Founded December 1869 by the Württemberg Deposit Bank,

– 112 –

Ironmonger Nopper and Baurath Bok in Stuttgart, banker CA Jacob and Government Councillor Idler in Kirchheim. The Factory was rebuilt and the shareholders received per 1870 and 1871 – 5%, "building interest", i.e. from their own Säckel. Director was Joh. Fr. Wilh. Dehlinger, and his Management was almost insane. Although a deficit existed, he calculated a dividend of 10% and paid it by selling the The registered capital was increased from 400,000 to 800,000 guilders. Up to 118 shares are worthless today. June 1876 The crime was brought to trial in Ulm. Dehlinger was sentenced to four weeks in prison, the supervisory councilors Bok, Nopper and G. Simon in Aalen for 200 Thaler each A surprisingly lenient verdict, a very inadequate atonement.

German 'founders' finally made Alsace-Lorraine is uncertain. The founding was one of the first gift which the motherland gave to the regained provinces. Alsace-Lorraine is rich in ironworks and machine factories, and The iron there is now preparing a sensitive competition. The founders threw themselves therefore prefer to visit such establishments, of which we only mention one here:

Lorraine Ironworks, formerly Dupont & Dreyfuss in Ars on the Mosel and in Saarbrücken. Purchased for allegedly 171/2 million francs () and founded April 1873 by the Oesterreichische Creditanstalt, the Berliner Bank-association and the Frankfurter Bankverein. Actiencapital

– 13 –

6 million thalers. Supervisory board: Count Henckel von Donnersmark, Alfred von Haber, engineer Paulus etc. "General-director": Anton Birrenbach. For the first financial year of 4 months (!) 5% dividend was distributed. In 1874 with 147,000 Thaler, 1875 with 128,000 Thaler, 1876 with almost 500,000 Thaler loss. The shares are said to still be in the first hand.

A few years ago, in Germany, the Iron and steel industry in high prosperity; today from blast furnace operations to mechanical engineering, ground. Many ovens have been blown out, many powder and rolling mills, the iron foundries and Machine factories have continued their operations have to limit. Loud complaints are heard everywhere, and the near future raises great concerns. Many moments have made this sad state of are brought about, including the Manchester Government economic and trade policy, our more doctrinal and unfair than practical and rational customs system, the highly outdated heights of railway freight rates after the "crash", the absurd differential tariffs, which the country at the expense of the domestic market, insofar as foreign products on German railways in part are transported more cheaply than domestic products uam But the real blame for the Calaglau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 8

– 114 –

mitität carries the dizzy era. Because ironworks and machine factories yielded a good profit, Such establishments were often "founded" det", and it is here that the grossest excesses and frauds. With a colossal capital tale overloaded, plus the robbery and plunder of its own officials, the stock exchange could society will never thrive. The prices of the factories kate went up and systematically became higher written, the public's demand seemed great and was artificially increased; already around the Capital and employ the workers was launched without regard to the costs produced, and they produced without end. As soon as the dizziness disintegrated into nothingness, also had to the reaction occurred. Demand stalled, the

The offer became urgent, large Inventories. To the same extent as the prices for Machines, locomotives, wagons, rails,
len etc. rose, they also had to fall again,
and they are still falling, as they are far from
have reached the natural level.

The decline of our industry is therefore the immediate and necessary consequence, on the one hand, of Overspeculation and overproduction, on the other hand

– 115 –

the exploitation of the public, whose purchasing power ity is quite exhausted. The remedies which proposed by the various parties are mere Quackery and based on a misunderstanding of the disease and its causes, which misunderstanding is partly intentional. With justification sake, even factory owners have the recipe of Finance Minister Camphausen rejected, by declaring that the wage rates of their workers not wanting to further restrict. Even the many
The chester "Vossische Zeitung" said: One should prevent "that, just as years ago, the rising movement, now the falling movement of wages exceeds the measure; because just as the industry does not have to deal with excessively high wages.
rates, nor can the worker
ter exist if the wage is too low; and also The industry is suffering from excessively low wages
not served, an inadequately fed worker will always be a bad or mediocre work delivery".

The iron industrialists, on the other hand, see only salvation,
if the iron tariffs are continued, and it
This is why there is a bitter struggle between free traders and protectionists. This 8th*

– 116 –

Fight, which is unduly reported in all daily papers
ly wide, but has no effect on the audience
special importance. The question of whether protective tariffs Free trade is also only a doctrinaire, and must always be decided according to place and time circumstances.
Radical free trade, although ideal, is today not yet feasible in any country, and if he nevertheless, as in Prussia, one-sidedly pursued it leads to the most serious inconsistencies,
It also damages the state coffers and the international food of its own citizens. Not unjustly but the so-called protectionists that Germany
not abolish tariffs that still exist abroad that tariff reductions are only possible where and to the extent enter, as such the foreign state concerned granted; certainly not without reason. The protection customs officers pointed out that slaughter cattle and various food products still enjoy a protective tariff.
Only
trade, whereas industry and commerce, the
but are at least as important,
a certain level of protection for their products and goods against foreign competition. The consuming public is finally freed from tariffs and indirect taxes on the whole only little,

– 117 –

hardly noticeably affected. For example, the Abolition of the salt tax would have been of no use, because salt is not a penny cheaper in retail stores.
The abolition of slaughter and grinding tax in Prussia has increased the prices of meat and Bread should not sink, rather let it rise. Therefore Those cities have done very wisely which slaughter tax, and are already trying various places are again trying to introduce the itself. A sharp vote of no confidence against the Manchester “economists” and legislators!
The iron tariffs, which were to be abolished in 1873, but through a compromise between Dr. Ham-makers and comrades until New Year 1877 remained standing, bring in about 1 million thalers, thus constitute a very modest source of income, which the budget of the German Reich can easily cope can. The public, the household of the private individual will hardly notice the abolition. But equally it is also irrelevant for the industry itself;

Although Mr Hammacher, who is committed to his voters
has recently converted to protective tariffs for love, solemnly assured the opposite. With the opposite current emergency in our iron industry, the Eisenzoll has nothing to do with it, and it could do her little

– 118 –

help, even if the import is banned
She is bleeding from the wounds that the Founder beaten, and partly she also pays for one's own sins.

It marks the deep corruption that exists in Germany land that the leaves that gave rise to the dizziness served him with lust and fed on him,
now act as moral preachers and advisors.
“Insufficient financing is the evil that the large iron and steel works are suffering”, writes the “Schlesische Presse”. According to their opinion,
The distressed stock companies have it failed to increase its share capital in a timely manner or to issue new bonds. The staid newspaper is therefore the enormous burden on the founded factories etc. are not yet big enough, and this Judgment is certainly from the soul of the founders spoken. The “Berliner Börsen-Zeitung” again recommended to provide dividends to shareholders help and get the course up and running, the Reduction of the basic capital; and this advice
The companies strictly follow these guidelines. They lay down 2, 3, 4, 6, 10 shares in one together, and assassinate so the share capital if possible; but to Dividends have not been paid, and the

– 119 –

Course nevertheless do not want to go up, or although rising by a few percent, they are falling quickly back to the previous state. The Most societies are so deeply broken and so over-indebted that it remains irrelevant whether their capital tal is still 1 million thalers or on 100,000 Thaler: a dividend is not be achieved in this life, and a new shares are not worth more than ten old ones, since according to Adam Riese 1040 also only makes 0 again.

If !the stock market papers, which otherwise serve the man-chesterthum, i.e. unconditional free trade with Body and soul are devoted, suddenly for uprightness
If they plead for the preservation of iron tariffs, they do so only because they are taking such a measure a new course driving all mechanical engineering, mining and iron However, this hope is likely to but be a pious deception. If the audience, really no wiser due to the terrible losses become, also wanted – it can no longer; its Pockets are empty, and the stock exchange and its organs have to wait until it regains some strength has come.

The triumph of industry.

Scandalous foundations: Iron splitters N. Eberswalde, railway supplies and West Prussian Ironworks in Elbing, Arthursberg in Stettin, Pinneberger
Union, Heilenbecker Gusstahl, Remscheider Stahlwerke, Halle-Leipziger Iron foundry, Münnich in Chemnitz, Thuringian railway supplies – The Losses of the public – The “participation” of parliamentarians – Over-production – Friends and opponents of the protectionists – Bad and expensive – Reduction in wage rates and extension of working hours – The Jewish “economist” HB Oppenheim – Unemployment and hardship
– Two stories from Privy Counsellor Borsig – What the Greens brought about – Foreign Corporate Bonds: Russian Mechanical engineering and Moscow railway supplies – The ten million thalers Bond of the cannon king Krupp.

Among the industrial start-ups, in addition to the mines and steelworks, the factories for machinery railway and domestic needs rank first;
both in number and in weight, with reference on the large capital invested in them
With the vast number of these companies, not every one is listed, but most of them are the most important and the best known ones; and without distinction of character. There are no only the lazy, but also the better society

ties, which was all the easier as their

– 121 –

only a few exist. Absolutely undoubted, strictly
'There are solid foundations from the period of 1870 to 1873 probably not at all. Only a vanishingly small fraction is bearable, deserves Sorry, the vast majority have proven fraudulent and must be condemned,

It is only rarely possible to admit "mitigating circumstances".
The earlier chapters already contained a lot of companies that have collapsed or are close to collapse, in the founding and administration has sinned in a terrible way.
They were bad enough, and it can hardly be worse.
mere, but there are different,
who are particularly disreputable and notorious, the managed so badly and ended so disgracefully, that they even partly attracted the attention of the Public Prosecutor and caused him to register
For some, the founding of a simply a colossal fraud, in that the object becomes a prices that reflect the real value
by ten to twenty times, whereupon the founders left their child to its fate.
Other companies were founded by their leaders and Officials are continuously robbed, systematically plundered and burdened with debt.

– 12 –

Certain directors operated the factory only for the According to their names, they did not produce, but rather cultivated mainly, used all cash resources and used the entire credit to get to the
to play the stock market. As long as they were lucky, they pocketed the profit, whereas later
their huge losses on the shareholders' account transferred, saddled them with bad papers or other rather worthless and very superfluous
Things were charged at the most outrageous prices.
Only in a few cases are the perpetrators brought to justice.
held accountable, and strange
In this way they are always accompanied by an extraordinarily received a lenient sentence.

Among the startups that are more or less scandal excited include: |

Iron splittery in Neustadt-Eberswalde, the Magnus Levy, and allegedly with 370,000 thalers,
the stocks not included (!) paid. Founded in 1872 with 500,000 Thaler shares and 155,000 Thaler mortgages, 1873/74 closed with a loss of 134,000 Thaler. The Founder 100,000 Thaler shares; the chairman of the Supervisory Board member, Julius Schiff in Berlin, generously waived on claims totalling 65,000 thalers, and in the rest half of the shares were massacred. The company was take for "reconstructed", and the one with 4000 Thaler salary Acting Director Bormann assured that it was "completely consolidated. But barely two months later (end of 1874)

– 13 –

The half-yearly balance sheet already showed a new loss of 36,000 thalers. In 1875 the company was liquidated and in 1876 for sale, which produced a ridiculously tiny result. How It seems that the establishment was bought by one of the "supervisory boards", Ironworks director Förster in Berlin, for his son. The action naries have almost nothing to expect. Exdirector Bor- man claimed his salary of 4000 thalers annually until 1882 and initiated legal proceedings against him.

Fabrik for railway material, formerly G.Hambruch and J. Vollbaum in Elbing. Founded February 1871 by HC Plaut and Paul Gravenstein & Co. in Berlin, from the ordered, former mayor Phillips in Elbing etc. Initial share capital was 1 million thalers. The previous owners retained the management, and the signed by Mr Phillips Prospect promised not only a "significant" but a "extraordinary" profitability. Supervisory Board members and others: Justizrath Ahlemann, Ferd. Meyer, Ed. Mamroth and court assessor a. D. Löwenfeld in Berlin, Commerzienrath Damme in Danzig, Assessor Sauerhäring and merchant Litten in Elbing. April 1872 the share capital was increased to 2 million thalers. increased, and the new shares to the old shareholders at the price of 105. For the first business day, year a dividend of 9%, and for 1872 even 10%. against closed in 1873 suddenly with a loss of 548,000 Thaler. February 1874 Mr Phillips again applied for an issue of 500,000 thalers shares or priorities, but pushed no longer possible. In August 1874, the liquidation was decided, was in reality already bankrupt, because when 3 January 1875, the bankruptcy was declared, the set it back by 6 months, i.e. the longest period, which is legally permissible. The establishment came under the hammer, the creditors had come to an agreement, and the well-known founder, Geh. Commerzienrath Moritz Simon from Königsberg i. Pr., was awarded the contract for 320,000 thalers.

previous liquidator, had an even lower bid Mr. Simon sold the factory to Strousberg, who gave it back to Mrs. Strousberg. But when they Moscow arrested the miracle doctor, the factory was resubmitted, and this time Mr. Simon was the only bidder. For fun, he offered to buy the three million thaler burdened establishment – 100,000 thalers, and it fell to him. The creditors received approximately 20% of their claims, while the shares once quoted at 120 were self-evident waste paper. Mr Phillips, who was also other foundations, received October 1875 from Honorary citizenship of the city of Elbing.

Rolling mill West Prussian Ironworks, formerly Kutteneuler, Dehring and Lorenz in Elbing. Founded September 1872 by Geh. Commerzienrath Stephan and Eduard Schmidt (Stephan & Schmidt) in Königsberg i. Pr., Jacob Litten in Elbing, Simon Lipmann in Berlin etc. The previous owners took over the management and took over 110,000 thalers of shares. The first supervisory board members were still serving and have the prospect co-signed: Carl Bittrich (JC Bittrich & Söhne), F. Oltersdorf (Sanio & Oltersdorf) in Königsberg i. Pr., Legal lawyer Heinrich and Rentier Jebens in Elbing, Director Adolf Rosenstein (Norddeutsche Grundcreditbank) and Alexander von Loeben (Rob. Thode & Co.) in Berlin. On behalf of Mr. Stephan bought the establishment from Litten for 220,000 Thaler and personally received a commission from the sellers of 2200 thalers. The prospectus, however, gave the price to 330,000 thalers and raised as start-up capital 450,000 thalers. On November 9, 1872, the drawing took place

3

– 124 –

Assessor Löwenfeld, the former supervisory board member and subsequently of the shares, and already on 31 December the first Financial year of three months (!) with a dividend of 14%, !! This brilliant dividend was the result of a falsified balance sheet, but probably only came to the founders and supervisory boards, because the shares were mostly still untouched, and arrived only later, without the first Dividend certificate, into the hands of the public. The shares Mr. Simon Lipmann, formerly Commis at Mr Stephan, in association with Mr Michaelis, who had been a clerk at Lipmann again, and now as Director of the Halle'sche Creditanstalt, which latter shortly before by Stephan, Lipmann and the North German Grundcreditbank was founded. So we have a formal chain of founders, and the founding goes under

– 125 –

They happily circle around in circles. By clicking on the dividend of 14%, and a new one of 20% by presenting an exposé signed "Direction of the West Prussian Ironworks", which portrayed the situation of society in the rosiest colours, but, as it later turned out, many false Mr Lipmann and Mr Michaelis knew that to place the shares at a price of 125 to 130. in Halle ad Saale and the surrounding area are said to benefit from this famous Paper was sold for about 70,000 thalers. March 1873 the 300,000 thalers new shares were manufactured, but May 1874 by Combining the shares, about 300,000 thalers were murdered, and Soon after, 200,000 Thaler priorities were issued again. striking example of what the founders and supervisory boards not allow everything! Despite these ingenious operations closed the balance sheet on 31 March 1875 with a loss of 192,000 thalers, and three months later the shares were capital was again murdered for another 200,000 thalers. Even- Understandably, all this did not help; in January 1876, here to bankruptcy, which the court also postponed by six months and the West Prussian Ironworks, which was invested in shares and priorities had spent 950,000 thalers, and in addition who still owed 100,000 thalers, was finally Gebr. Michelly in Königsberg i. Pr. for a total of – 48,000 Thaler

– 126 –

The priority owners received about 23%, all other creditors and shareholders nothing.

It was not until the spring of 1876 that the "Ostpreussische Zeitung" was Königsberg i. Pr. the scandalous history of this society in a series of articles, the State Attorney General walt intervened, and Jacob Litten was arrested, due to illness but was released again. Since this is a founder and Jews, the "liberal" press was discreet enough to only with its initial letter L. In contrast, She accused the editor of the Ostpreussische Zeitung, Otto de Grahl, with Koth, and the "Elbinger Post" accused him the most unworthy motives. But the stock market traders still took another revenge, and fixed the price of the shares of the "Eastern Prussian newspaper" from 85 to about 60.

Railway supplies and mechanical engineering Arthursberg, formerly H. Kolesch in Stettin. Founded October 1871 by the Stettiner Vereinsbank, S. Abel jun. and A. Paderstein in Berlin. Share capital 300,000 thalers; plus approx. 300,000 thalers Mortgages and priorities. First supervisory board members: Otto Kühnemann, Rudolf Abel, Julius Hildebrandt and Amandus Strömer in Stettin, Julius Nelke (A. Paderstein) in Berlin. The Prospect promised 200%, the previous owner guaranteed 15%, and the first Financial year resulted in a 10% dividend. 1873 closed with 177,000 Thaler loss; in 1874 the company went into liquidation, which was divided into two years and ended with the Concurs. Cours once 110, now 0. Amandus Strömer and "chief engineer" Louis Meyer were subsequently (1876) accused of concealing the location of their Company accused, acquitted in the first instance, in second sentenced to a mere fine.

Union Eisenwerk, formerly Gebrüder Miether in Pinneberg near Hamburg. Founded April 1872 by Theodor Miether in Pinneberg, Carl Miether, Gustav Bath, Gabriel Hermann Michaelis, Leo Wollenberg and Eduard Mamroth in Berlin, Michaelis was the previous buyer or agent, and is said to received the small sum of 60,000 thalers. The purchase price of allegedly 400,000 thalers was at least twice too high. Share capital 500,000 thalers and 100,000 thalers Mortgages. Gebrüder Miether guaranteed a 5-year Dividend of 8%, and deposited 100,000 Thaler as a security. The previous owner Theodor Miether remained in charge. the first financial year of several months, 16% dividends were given, but they were probably not deserved; and then the share capital by a new 500,000 thalers, i.e. to a Million Thaler, whereupon, quite uselessly, a Ironworks in Sweden (1) and a defeat for Cookware was established in Vienna! In 1873 there was the guaranteed dividend of 8%, since then 0. Finally, 100,000 Thaler priorities issued.

– 127 –

In February 1875, the founders Gustav Bath and Carl Tenants from the Supervisory Board, but not voluntarily. In the General Assembly on 6 March 1875, one of the newly elected supervisory board that from the company's funds disappeared: 1) Shares with a total value of 180,000 Thaler, 2) the deposit of Director Th. Miether with 5000 Thaler, 3) the reserve fund with 5673 Thaler, 4) the deposit of the Previous owner Gebrüder Miether regarding the dividend guarantee of 100,000 thalers. Nevertheless, the founder, Mr. Eduard Mamroth, with noble indignation: to him, as the former Supervisory Board, the Assembly deserves its thanks. This Thanks were duly expressed to him – "The debate increasingly took on one of the strongest attacks," reported the "National-Zeitung". The director Theodor tenants descended from the stands and horrified him in office.

But now the unbelievable happened. Mr. Th. Miether, the ex-director, made various claims to the Society, and on 12 October 1875 the majority number of the new Supervisory Board a Public Certificate of Honor in which all accusations were dismissed as being based on 'regrettable errors'. thümern" were expressly revoked. – On 20.

– 128 –

May 1876 saw the arrest of Mr. Th. Miether, and in October he stood before the jury court in Altona, which found him guilty of forgery, but under Acceptance of "mitigating circumstances" only to three months imprisonment niss condemned.

The "Allgemeine Börsen-Zeitung" in Berlin reported in its Number of October 7, 1876 also contains the following:

Hugo Mamroth, son of Eduard Mamroth, bought in Sweden an old iron hammer, "Olafstrém", as it is called, to 80,000 thalers – the actual value was not 20,000 Thaler. The company had to sell this ruin for 209,000 Thaler, and with the new buildings that were carried out, It ultimately cost her over 300,000 thalers. In 1875, however, The current Chairman of the Supervisory Board, L. Pauly, bought the whole thing to a Swedish bank for about 33,000 thalers, whereupon he took over "Olafström" as a tenant. – – The Shares that were once worth 190 are now worth about 5.

Cast steelworks, formerly Moritz Heilenbeck & Co. at Milspe in Westphalia. Founded September 1872 by Max Nolda, Hermann Leubuscher, Emil Isaacsohn and Heinrich Philippson in Berlin, Albert Sternenberg and August Schmidt in Heilenbecke, Friedrich Schmidt in Haspe. Actiencapital 350,000 Thaler, introduced on the Berlin Stock Exchange with 103 and driven up to 110. There was never a dividend. The The proposal to set up an investigative commission was the founding party. In 1875 the bankruptcy which was however cancelled and instead the liquidation dation was initiated. Course 0.

Steelworks, formerly Carl Otto Arntz in Remscheid. Founded in April 1872 by Siegfried Geber, Otto Ramdohr and "General Director" Julius Müller in Berlin. The previous owner retained control and promised a 30% dividend!

– 19 –

The opening of the competition took place in 1874. In addition to 240,000 Thaler Actien capital were 94,000 Thaler mortgages and 160,000 Thaler other debts exist, but that brought Establishment on sale for only – 30,000 Thaler!!

Halle–Leipzig Iron Foundry and Mechanical Engineering Schkeuditz. Founded March 1872. Board of Directors: Robert Baumann in Berlin, Siegfried Schiff and S. Elkan in Hamburg, Jakob Löwendahl, Paul Kuhl and Wilh. Bode in Halle, Sanitätsrath Dr. Eltze in Schkeuditz. In 1873 the stock capital increased from 250,000 to 400,000 thalers. In 1874, man, and bankruptcy followed in 1875. The liquidator Robert Bauman was smart enough to take over the establishment for himself and Samuel Löwendahl in Halle – a cheap one, of course. Not even the mortgage creditors were satisfied, not to mention the shareholders.

Mechanical engineering company, formerly A. Münnich & Co. in Chemnitz. Founded in March 1872 by RA Seelig and Adolf Martini in Berlin and Carl Mankiewicz (Philipp Eli-meyer) in Dresden. These three people were the previous buyers, the first subscribers and the first supervisory board members, and they The company's creditors, who later hard pressed. In addition to them, the administrative board still: Beer director Hermann Gratweil in Berlin, Rob. Büttner and Advocat HA Widemann in Chemnitz; while the Management of the company by the previous owner Gottlieb Behrend

On 1 April 1873, he drew up a balance sheet which for the first financial year 20% dividend and huge tantièmes. Mr. Behrend charged the Supervisory Board 22,663 Thaler, the director, thus himself, also 22,663 Thaler, and the other civil servants 9320 Thaler. In– It was striking that the same balance sheet of 930,000 Thaler Book and bill debts noted! June 1873 it was decided to double the share capital from 700,000 to 1,400,000 thalers

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 9

– 130 –

to increase; which is also the case, despite the fact that the “noise” has now But already in the

In September, money was again urgently needed, and now a change of riding that borders on the fabulous. 1874 A priority loan of 1,000,000 thalers was attempted, but only 100,000 thalers were accommodated. A then–selected The investigation commission concluded that the disease ity of society can be traced back to “four follies”

Apart from the great booty of the founders, but the real main folly in economic management of the Director. Mr. Behrend was very involved with green ations and stock market speculation, and had it reported in the Factory Five straight ahead. Captivated by the example of the boss, the procurator also speculated and stole from the cash register 6000 Thaler, which Mr. Behrend "generously" donated to his own account. Afterwards it turned out that that thieving procurator does not do his job at all had grown and therefore had to be released. Mr. Behrend, in constant financial embarrassment, sought help from the original original founders, and they granted it to him by they drained the blood of society.

The report of the Commission of Inquiry, which was published in General Assembly on 25 August 1874, burdens the founders, the supervisory board and the director with the most serious charges, but nevertheless comes to the conclusion that the company's assets are is not bad and the company is still profitable But this claim and this hope have been proved to be very misguided. The foundation was lazy, and the management of the director is quite equal, so that all rescue attempts remained fruitless. The balance sheet of ult. 1874 still calculated 42% of the share capital as existing, but was just as fake as the A new audit report found that there has always been a "disguised" guilt of Director Behrend. which finally reached almost 200,000 thalers; that the Prices of materials and goods partly double pelte was set too high; that ult. 1874 actually was a loss of 800,000 thalers and the total debt was not was less than 1,450,000 thalers!!

– 131 –

On 3 April 1875 the bankruptcy was declared, in June Director Behrend was arrested and in December provisionally released on medical grounds "against high bail". In 1876, the Leipzig Credit-Anstalt was acquired, which was the first mortgage of 400,000 thalers on the establishment, the same for 210,000 thalers. The shares once paid for with 190 are of course worthless, Thuringian railway material in Erfurt and Gotha. Founded October 1871 by Heinrich Moos, Rochs and Blachstein in Erfurt, AR Blachstein in Mühlhausen in Thür., S. Frenkel and Rauff & Knorr in Berlin. Share capital 400,000 Thaler, of which the previous owners, Julius Unger in Erfurt and Rothenberg in Gotha, 150,000 thalers. Julius Unger, a "technical authority," was appointed as Director. For the first financial year, a dividend was paid of 5%; but already in September 1873 the bankruptcy broke and the shareholders lost everything.

The bankruptcy administrator reported that the two Etablissements, which the shareholders received 268,000 thalers had a real value of about 80,000 thalers and for this price they are also later sold to the Thüringer Eisenbahngesellschaft. Furthermore, the Report: the "technical authority" Mr Unger had miserably lish violence, conventional penalties and objectionable products would have absorbed the earnings, and the material was unmanaged responsibly. Nevertheless, the state seems lawyer did not bother the attackers.

9*

– 12 –

The area of the foundations developed so far resembles a battlefield, covered with corpses and wounded. Many societies are affected by Course sheets have completely disappeared; many who still have not had a course for a long time more, their fate is in silence and darkness The mechanical engineering, railway and and similar shares, the public has a Losses estimated at 100–120 million Thaler can be appreciated.

A number of members of parliament are in those companies as founders or supervisory councils involved; so: AG Mosle in Bremen, Consul G. Müller in Berlin, City Director Rasch'in Hanover, Louis Berger in Witten, Count Johannes Renard on Gross-Strehlitz, Prince Carl of Hohenlohe, Privy Admiralty Counsellor Theodor Jacobs and Privy Government Councillor Ludwig Heise in Berlin, City Councillor Lüders in Görlitz, Ironworks Director Ferdinand Koch at Delligsen in Braunschweig, Chamberlain Carl von Metzsch on Reichenbach in Saxony, August Walter in Dresden, Attorney Hermann Schreck in Pirna, Former Mayor Phillips in Elbing. No one of them has reason to join the relevant society, everyone wants to boast about their now forget about the situation and can be very reluctant to remind people of this. But the people should Remember the name well!

– 13 –

As difficult as the audience is, for cause of the foundings, the iron and machine industry She is suffering from a crisis that has who even Minister Delbrück, the Manchester man, in the Reichstag had to admit that they would still is not completed, not even the height point. It suffers from the excess, which she herself has created, in her own over-production. She produced in the period of dizziness without measure and purpose, as if the need were infinite As F. Perrot wrote in the Dresden "Neue Reichs-newspaper", iron production in Germany from 1861 to 1864 annually about 50 pounds, from 1866 to 1869 about 66 pounds per capita annually of the population; as a result of the rearmament of the Railways and the construction of many new lines increased Production in 1871 to 94 pounds, in 1872 to 118, and in 1873 to 144 pounds, whereupon in 1874 it suddenly ly dropped back to almost 100 pounds. After a other composition, the Prussian Iron and steel works still in 1874 on whole products (Rails, axles, wheels, plates, sheets, wire, etc.)

– 134 –

25 $\frac{1}{2}$ million centners, 1875 – 23 $\frac{1}{2}$ million centners ner, which production still has the far exceeds domestic demand, and therefore must push prices down even further. Most of our iron industrialists fear the mighty tive competition from England, and especially with reference on England, where overproduction is also occurring They demand the retention of the Iron tariffs. At their head are men who have influence at the highest level, like Krupp in Essen, his representative and partner, Commerzienrath Carl Meyer in Berlin, Vice President of the Association German iron and steel industrialist. various MPs, such as von Kardorff, Löwe-Calbe and recently also Mr Hammacher, for them in Parliament, and also several financial kings, especially Mr. Gerson von Bleichröder, move due to certain foundations (Laurahütte, Hibernia and Shamrock etc.) with them at a Strick. The protectionists, however, have a principal opponents at the real Manchester financial

Minister Mr Camphausen, who, after comments by the Newspapers threatened with his departure (?) and once-while maintaining the upper hand in the Council of Ministers, changed the minds of the Kaiser and Prince Bismarck

– 135 –

Already in favor of agriculture, which deserve at least equal consideration – it was said – the government must support raising the iron tariffs. However, as already mentioned, this repeal cannot apply to the In-industrial nor for the farmers a special have meaning.

The protectionists now claim that the German Iron industry will be with England, if only for reasons of the soil wealth, the geographical location and the means of transport, never successfully compete and this may be more or less true. They also complain bitterly that the state, like Municipalities and private individuals import their needs from abroad e.g. locomotives from Austria, steel and iron, sewer pipes and street signs from England, agricultural machinery, road locomobiles and horse-drawn railway carriages from America etc. But consumers are now rightly protesting one: they did so out of necessity because the German product is much more expensive and worse. Farmers, for example, call the American mowers machines “disgusting”, and the large horse-iron bahn company in Berlin has publicly discussed set, which is why they brought their wagons from America

– 136 –

She claims that they are not suitable for her, despite of the transport surcharge by 20%, cheaper; they are far more elegant, comfortable and practical in every way. tischer. They provide excellent ventilation, every child can climb on it without danger, the brakes The facility is exemplary, and relatively Low weight saves a significant amount of horses. – In any case, German industry has Period of dizziness in technology no progress, rather made backward steps, in terms of solidity very sensitive lost and prices rose unnaturally So it is losing out in several ways

now for their own sins.

But the hardest hit by the consequences of the
The workers suffer from fraud and they deserve as much compassion as that shown by the founders and Stockbrokers plundered the public. If they are in the dizzy era, while housing, food and all goods rose rapidly, including their demands increased, this was not only justified, but necessary. Even where they demand excessive wages, and enforce it through strikes
knew, this was by no means absolutely reprehensible,
but very excusable; what even Manchesterual sheets have been subsequently added, e.g. the

~

– 137 –

“Vossische Zeitung” in the already mentioned Editorial from July 22, 1876. Strikes are always only a product of the circumstances of the time, and if they succeed, so they are justified. Immediately after the “crash”
the leaders of the Social Democrats began to strike and the strike that the Berlin writers setters tried in the summer of 1876, failed, because it was simply out of date. With the crisis wage cuts also began, and the workers
ter have, by and large, the same quietly
In the spring of 1875, Mr. Achenbach, the Prussian Minister of Trade, Mr.
Camphausen is the guiding star, a circular to the mining authorities, in which he announced the reduction of wage rates and at the same time an extension of working hours. It was completely unnecessary that the “Nationalzeitung” reported this process to the recommended to industrialists for imitation; the same did what they could anyway. Most superfluous was it is that the Jewish “economist” HB Oppenheim in February 1876 in a public meeting
The manufacturer has granted too much to their workers, and now they lack the courage to raise wages to the appropriate level point down. The gentlemen should

– 138 –

but take an example from Krupp in Essen. –
He was answered by a man who had himself been taken away from work.
ter rose to the position of factory owner, with drawn mender indignation: What happened to the workers from 1871 to 1873, the manufacturer has long since have to cut again. And that should be enough
A poorly paid worker is the most expensive, because he becomes unable to perform and stops con-sument To be.

Hand in hand with the wage cuts came the Unemployment, and it is growing alarmingly. Many Iron and machine works have completely collapsed or celebrate for the time being; everyone else is working only with a fraction of their performance.
At Krupp in Essen, too, the army of workers
In the five largest machine factories
In Berlin, the number of employed people has increased by 10,000 shrank to about 3,000.
Everywhere, operations are at a standstill, workers are being Hundreds and thousands laid off, worries and Misery is on the agenda, and already
A terrible specter appeared: hunger typhus!

It is doubly necessary that the rich man
remember the poor neighbor that the factory owner take care of his workers. And such a

– 139 –

The press recently reported on this case. In The Berlin newspapers reported in full chorus:

“Privy Councillor Borsig has, with regard to the ongoing bad times, 8000 tons Coaks and to sell them to his workers for the next winter at cost price. A Such action is also to be taken by other factory owners recommend.”

The noble deed of Mr. Borsig, which of course not cost a penny, was in all “liberal” times to read; but more strikingly, he told of the same man only the ultramontane “Germania”
the following piece:

“A hard fate awaits the 61-year-old, who suffers from deafness and other suffering workers H. thereby that he deviated from the straight path by only a hair's breadth

The same has been the case for almost a quarter of century in the engineering institute of the secret Commerzienrath Borsig, and wants to get his Suffering in the service of the same. On May 12 c.
H. put a small quantity of copper and iron filings
to sift them at home and turn them into grit
At Borsigs, the doorman has the right vindicated to inspect every worker when leaving the factory tiren, and so these iron filings are that evening at
H. was found. On the premises of Privy Counsellor Borsig H., who was also accused of this false statement, was dismissed and lost his invalidity claim declared, on charge of simple theft and on Friday by the fourth criminal deputation to two days in prison."

– 140 –

The poor devil had illegally
thing that might be worth a few pennies might be worth. Mr. Albert Borsig, on the other hand, founded, among others, in conjunction with Jabob Löb Eltz-bacher, Paul Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, Adalbert Delbrück, Ferdinand Güterbock, Julius Alexander, Theodor
Hertel etc., the railway construction company F. Plessner & Co., which eventually increased its share capital to 41, million thalers, whose shares once stood at 180
the and now 0, which went bankrupt in 1875, in which the creditors received about 5 million thalers and the shareholders, as a result of the price-driving, together 8 million thalers lost. Mr. Borsig has as Founder and Supervisory Board of this company large sums as premium and royalties; he has per 1872 a dividend of 14°/, which is now,
as being based on a falsified balance sheet,
of the civil proceedings is contested, while the
The public prosecutor is said to have refused to intervene.
In the spring of 1873, Mr. Borsig openly declared meeting for the current year a higher Dividend promise, and thereby many people, tempted to buy the shares in order to increase their
may have brought. |

German industry is sick and ailing.

– 141 –

has a sad story at the World Exhibition in Philadelphia.
made a fiasco, she looks with concern and fear into the future. Entrepreneurship and trust have disappeared, a stock company, an establishment ment after another is liquidated or fails, the times
are full of payment delays and bank
An army of workers celebrates and looks for bread. In a frightening way,
the trials and executions increase,
the crimes against property and morality ity, the number of homeless, vagabonds and the and the – suicides. This is the triumph of the Industry, the work of the founders and co-founders!

Not enough of the countless mechanical engineering green ations of Germany, with whose shares one can Market flooded, the Berlin Stock Exchange, so “international”, that is, as unpatriotic as hardly any other,
also carried out the papers with skill and luck-
domestic companies that are active in their home found no accommodation and now the German
The audience was smeared. As soon as a society schaft has eaten up the share capital, and new shares
no longer dares to manufacture, tends to issue them of priority bonds or mortgage debt

– 142 –

to proceed to issue certificates which would completely deprive the shares worth, and itself a more or less questionable worthy security. With the price of shares
the course of priorities naturally also decreases, because they determine the value of the establishment in question.
ments, and the falling price means that the company is stalling or ailing, suffering or is in danger. Priorities of factories, Mines or the like. therefore do not grant removes the security such as mortgages of municipal or rural land; they are also mere Stock exchange and speculative securities, which the public kum is deliberately concealed what is being
It is downright deceptive. Such priorities of foreign Companies were moved from Berlin houses to market brought, of course under insurance of the most unconditional security, which insurance the Newspapers also repeated this in their editorial sections.

February 1872, the Prussian Boden-Credit-Actien-Bank of Mr Richard Schweder 1½ million Thaler six-percent priority bonds of the Russian company for Mechanical Engineering and Metallurgy near Petersburg (Administration: EM Meyer & Co.) to the course of 94½. Since then, this company has had great success every year suffered losses; in 1874 it closed with a deficit of almost 3 million rubles, and was forced to repeat the. She received help from the Russian government from the same also the permission to contract a new loan, and a number of larger orders; but the establishment was in June 1876 a victim of flames, and thus the operation temporarily suspended. The registered capital is 5 million Thaler, and the shares were valued at around 5 before the fire. Now the interest rates of the priorities introduced in Germany were still paid, the course of the same but already from 94½, to 40 letters decreased, i.e. they were bid at 40.

– 143 –

In February 1873, the Berliner Handelsgesellschaft issued and the bank FW Krause & Co. 1,088,000 Thaler six-percent priority bonds of the Moscow Joint Stock Company for supply of railway supplies to the course of 80. The prospect was given a special certificate from the "Legal Consultant of the Imperial German Embassy in St. Petersburg". January 1876 the interest on these priorities was no longer paid. The previous owner Meyer has died, the company is in liquidation. The Berlin trading company sent a lawyer to Moscow, who represents the interests of the priority should represent creditors, but the outcome of this mission has not been announced. Of course, the priorities of each course have been lost, but a resolution of damages claim against the two Berlin issuing houses not without prospect. |

If these foreign priorities are bad, then it is a domestic one that also raises great concerns. This is the "five percent mortgage bond from Friedrich Krupp's cast steel factory to Essen" in the amount of 10 million thalers.

According to reports from the stock exchange newspapers,

Autumn 1871 the temptation to be “founded”, at the same time to the “locomotive king” Borsig, as to the “cannon king” Krupp. But both Gentlemen are said to have refused. Whether they did it out of honor feeling or out of caution and prudence,
The “foundation” of such great establishments
ments is for the seller if he does not agree to the price bare and on a board, but partly in shares and in longer periods, not without Danger; he can be deceived just as much as the Shareholders. Enough, Privy Counsellor Alfred
Krupp is said to have rejected the founding applications.
But the “Big Crash” did not miss
the famous gun factory to make an impression.
Its effects were evident in a number of Ukasen, with which Mr. Krupp demanded the wages complaints and other complaints from its workers These usually read something like so: I came from your ranks, I worked like you 25 years ago; I know what you need and what is good for you, better than you, and I grant you what you need and what you long, in plenty. That is why I advise
To you in a friendly way: do not argue and be pretty satisfied. I will not tolerate any contradiction; whoever

If you are not happy, get out of here! – Mr. Krupp reigns absolute, and he makes all laws alone.

But not only a constitutional one, but also a Absolute monarchs can run out of money, and Alfred Krupp also became embarrassed in early 1874.
He turned to Berlin, and like a Vienna's official stock exchange organ told that he had a Audience with the emperor, to whom he presented a picture of his distressed ten situation. The emperor is said to have replied:
he recognized Krupp's merits and his genius;
but he regrets all the more when a man of such skills does not set the limit for the Expanding its business activities to I knew how to find.

On 4/5 May 1874, the “General Direction of the Seehandlungssocietät”, supported by their ordinary satellite: Disconto-Gesellschaft, S. Bleichröder and Berliner Handelsgesellschaft, Bank for Trade and industry in Darmstadt, A. Schaafthausen'scher Bankverein, Sal. Oppenheim jr. & Co. and Deichmann & Co. in Cologne, a loan of ten million thalers to the course of 96, which ran from 1876 to 1883. cessive is to be repaid with 110, and for which Mr. Krupp founded his establishments, mining and Steelworks mortgaged.

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 10

– 146 –

This process was unheard of in Prussia. Although in Austria Rothschild and others Financial institutions partial bonds and loose bonds from issued by noble landowners; but that the state – because the maritime trade is a state institute – secured the loan of a private individual, has probably never happened in any country Of course, the bond would not have been Sea trading never succeeded either, because where the private credit fails, the general public still maintains to be much more reserved.

What value the pledged objects have ly, is neither in the prospectus nor in the Bonds said. Undoubtedly, the same be assessed in advance by experts, and the tax will far exceed the amount of the bond But collateral objects of this kind are the largest subject to price fluctuations, they are entirely even dependent on the economic situation, and the economic situation has been extremely unfavourable to them since the “crash”. new invention, even a new fashion, and the Krupp Cast steel guns can be easily displaced. The ongoing crisis, which is becoming ever greater Rising unemployment is also making itself felt in the Krupp schen workshops, and as the newspapers reported, are already at the Krupp's steelworks several furnaces blown out. Mining and steel works are also exposed to all possible dangers, losses and accidents, and natural events can destroy them completely.

– 147 –

In a word, the pledged objects offer for the colossal loan of ten million thalers
no special security. However, the maritime trade is, as expressly stated in the bond terms and conditions noted, the bondholders "are not arrested",
They must assert their rights against Friedrich
Krupp itself. If the priorities Despite all this, over 100 are listed, so this course is probably only the maritime trade and the engaged stock exchange powers to thank, and a larger offer
he would hardly be able to hold his ground.

10*

"Strong tobacco".

Eduard von Hartmann, the share philosopher, and "economist" HB Oppenheim, the "knower" – Privy Councillor Oechelhäuser and Minister Achenbach – Gas companies: Dessauer Gas, Wiener Gas and Nolte & Co.; Gothaer Water supply, central heating, Mattison & Brandt, waterworks in Frankfurt a. O., Neptun, Schäfer & Hauschner, Granger & Hyan, Globus, Saturn, Internationale – Paper foundations: Berliner Papier, Berliner Pappen, North German, Wolfswinkel, Kiauten, Hohenkrug, Gebr. Rubens, Alfeld-Gronau, Sinsleben, Rhenish, Hessian, Cröllwitz, Muldenthal, Weissenborn, Königstein, Köttewitz, Sebnitzer, Bautzen, Einsiedel, Penig, Lösning, Schlema, Berliner Patent – Sugar foundings: Trachenberg, Alt-Jauer, Rostocker, Wildunger, Glauzig, Bredow, Körbisdorf, Nienburger, Schwedisch, Braunschweiger, Berliner, Altenburger, Seeler & Moiske, Dutalis, Köhlmann – Glass foundings: Deutsche Spiegelglas, Albertinenhütte, Charlottenhütte, Niederlausitz, Radeberger, Westphalian, Rheinische, Penziger, Stollberger – The founders in danger – Leather and rubber: Beck, Bierling, Thiele, Dohna, Bolle, Fonrobert & Reimann, Volpi & Schlüter, Voigt & Winde, Schwanitz, Cologne rubber threads, Continental-Caoutchouc, Harburg-Vienna – The Berlin "Tribüne" in moral indignation – The humor of the Germans Industry – Tobacco companies: Prätorius, Brunzlow, Union, Collenbusch, G. Müller, Dressler, Ritter, Ansbacher – Deficient supplement – "Listen Israel!"

November 1871, when the stock exchange and founding fraud was in full swing, the "National-Newspaper", which has done such great work for the same acquired an important feature article by Eduard von Hartmann. Mr. Hartmann is the "famous" Berlin philosopher, a philosopher of the first order, because he speaks of Kant, Hegel and even of

Schopenhauer, whose successor he is, with sovereign
His main work, the “Philo-sophie of the unconscious”, as the title suggests shows, a “witty” nonsense; it explains the world
for a rotten foundation, life for a misery, that you can’t escape fast enough, and praises as the highest happiness the destruction, the return traffic into the “unconscious”. Mr. von Hartmann owes its fame to an extremely clever advertising, with which his book was staged, and mainly mainly the young fish. The educated daughters educated classes cite the “Philosophy of Unbelief” knew” with enthusiasm, and recently also Honourable craftsmen to study them with benefit *).

Mr. von Hartmann is a daring autodiver

*) A lithographer suddenly attacked during the breakfast break ally his comrade and killed him. He had told his friend just do him a favor, free him from the torment of existence want, explained the unfortunate man, and referred to the “Philosophy of the unconscious”, which teaches that non-being is infinite better than being. This prompted the “Berlin Stock Exchange Courier”, which is now enjoying the stock market slump, to become a Attack against the “system” of Mr. von Hartmann, and the great philosopher called the prosecutor, who also strangely cially brought charges. But the result was a very
The brother of the “Börsen-Courier” told the court

hof a big drum, and the verdict was: because of insult punishment in the form of a fine of ten thalers!

dact, a knight of the market today-the half-educated. He dabbles in all kinds of Arts and sciences: he paints and composes,
he writes tragedies and philosophical works,
and he also makes in Feuilletous. Such an er-appeared from him at that time in the “Nationalzeitung” under entitled “The Modern Stock Industry”, and celebrated the founding era as the dawning morning of the golden age. Mr. von Hartmann had can be heard, among other things, as follows: |

"Like on a warm summer night after the rain, Mushrooms, that is how industrial stock companies shoot up in the fertile atmosphere of the new German Empire partly new establishments, but even more conversions of of standing factories. – "For the shareholder, the real Capital value of a company is absolutely equal valid; what he wants to buy with his share is a pension.
– "The pension is now partly conditioned by the capital talwerth of a company, but it still depends on very other factors which may affect the capital value can completely outweigh the negative aspects. – "It is not only the Value of movable and immovable property, but also the value
the company, the secured clientele, the location of the establishment ments, in a word, the experience of the same paid for the net profit generated. – "Whether the nominal capital are not still too high on average, that is only calculated from the average dividend of all now of existing companies after about five years with certainty
The failure of this decision
By the way, the decision is only made for the private

– 11 –

society of shareholders, not for the economy of the German Reich." – –

As you can see, Mr von Hartmann justifies the activities of the founders completely; he himself considers fraudulent foundations for permissible, even for calculable because he believes that even in these cases the shareholder can still drive very well, and mostly drive well
The joint-stock companies are a continuation step in cultural development and in the general my welfare. They will give the industry the to allocate previously withdrawn capital, and the Con-currency in an unprecedented way. Even the largest private factories in order to compete able to remain, must be established, since the Stock companies operate much more economically, can be produced much more cheaply. The shares industry will make products cheaper, wages
increase the material situation of the working classes improve significantly. Yes, Mr. von Hartmann believes hopes that the stock industry will settle the social struggles, the satisfaction of the social demo-
crate and says literally:

"In my opinion, this is the way to

Solution to the social question: there is no other than the Productivassociation, there is no Productivassociation without own capital, there is no reasonable form of productive

– 12 –

association with capital other than the form of a joint-stock company, There is no other option for the workers, members of productive associations than by becoming shareholders of the large industrial stock companies.” – –

This article was itself part of the readers of the “Nationalzeitung” too strong, and the Redaction felt compelled to ask the shareholder philosopher to have something called to order. This happened eight days later in the feature “On the new Forms of work and – idleness”, which an economist, Mr HB Oppenheim, as the author. i

First, Mr. Oppenheim, probably out of consideration for the work of Mr Hansemann and Miquel led Discontogesellschaft, a lance for the limited partnership on shares, which Herr von Hartmann as a Caesarean Institute of last French Empire, while he called the pure joint-stock company a “demo-democratic form of society.” Mr Oppenheim noted: against:

The Commandit business has much older origins and was particularly native to England, “where the form of the shares society until recently was viewed with suspicion. was taken and was limited as much as possible. This is precisely in keeping with the constitutional spirit of England, because in the Commandit business, personal responsibility is responsibilities of the leader and the active participants much stronger than in the joint-stock company. The latter carries however, a certain modern character of false democracy itself by being based on universal suffrage which is actually just a deceptive illusion, and neither borne by personal responsibility nor supported by precise expertise, nor by a strong personal interest is controlled.”

– 13 –

Mr. Oppenheim then signs the stock exchange and entrepreneurial activity of those days in such short, sharp outlines that one can talk about the loyalty and truth. The authenticity of the image today is simply astonishing:

“It would also take its revenge on the industry if you. In one fell swoop, capital was transferred which until then had been to improve agriculture or to mobilize the land property. – “In contrast to the Kreuzzeitung we fear the dizzying and uncontrollable overgrowth of the share business more a reduction and threat to the solid middle class. – “First of all, new banks are constantly being founded, banks for places where naturally no banking business can flourish; then money changers and broker banks; then “issuing” and “representation” banks”. The same entrepreneurs are now creating new banks founded which resembled their own earlier creations are intended to compete in the same places. – “Those numerous banks only bear their name for appearance; they are rather the centre and focal points of the different various speculations, purchases of land and soil, houses, streets, newspapers, factories, mining factories and railways. But these items are also not managed by them in a professional and competent manner, but into joint-stock companies. That is the whole secret of the matter. Some banks are created only to participate in the

– 154 –

to take part in the general spoils; the same people founded three to four banks to three to four times the new emissions. The actual business the potentates of stock market power continue to have no interest; they do not keep the shares longer than until their “consortium” the first significant premium from the pockets of the gullible. Yes, you still have the chance to later against the company whose weaknesses they know best and can uncover at any moment, with to speculate on success à la baisse. We know high-respected stock market men who are wary of overestimating of their own undertakings in confidence. – “We see today that the owners of factories are pushing en masse to convert their businesses into joint-stock companies. Their main aim is to create a consortium to find the whole property at a higher rate

The Consortium has little interest in identifying the true value; it depends only on the golden appearance, because the more shares it can accommodate, the larger its Agiogewinnst. If the coup succeeds, the manufacturer receives kant a sum far beyond his previous assets and also retains a considerable share in Stocks. While he has invested all his assets in his industry, he now only has for J or 1}, of his assets. With the rest ®/, he is perhaps involved in many other ventures which It is clear that this development development process a general overestimation and indi- real squandering of the people's wealth. – "Already The new stock companies openly accept the Characteristics of gaming societies. For example, we see all- found common railway construction companies (cf. the "Deutsche Railway Construction Company" of Messrs. Hammacher-Hagen, and the "German Imperial and Continental Railway Construction Company" partnership of Messrs Bleichröder- v. Kardorff), whose shareholders not even know for which lines their participation and their money. – "We even wanted to Effects of a sophisticated newspaper press a picture design, we would be considered bile-mad splinter judges, without having exaggerated in the slightest. Because The feeling of most people has already become dull, that the craft-based falsification of public opinion in these matters no longer makes a fuss – "We are also in danger of being subjected to the perverted moral Rule of a wild hedonism and a tasteless Luxury. After our bourgeois society hardly differ from the prevailing customs and traditions of the freed from the aristocracy of birth, their customs are threatened by a to be corrupted by impudent plutocracy. This is partly also the cause of the lack of ideality on our show stage ("Maria und Magdalena" by Paul Lindau was not yet listed!) and in our daily entertainment literature (See Gregor Samarow and Sacher-Masoch)."

– 155 –

In fact, it is astonishing how clearly and sharpness of the Jewish "Volkswirt" the main mainly run by his co-religionists Deception immediately sees through and exposes; how .he like a prophet of the Old Testament all Phases and stages of the great dizziness already in advance; with what openness he shows in House of the Hanged Man (in the "National-Zeitung") from

Strick (about the vulgarity of the press) dares to speak!
But this is the same Mr HB Oppenheim, which was published at the same time in the same "National-Zeitung"

– 156 –

tion" and later in the one by Mr. Paul Lindau founded "Gegenwart", the professors Adolf Wagner, Gustav Schmoller, Gustav Schönberg etc. as denounced "Chair Socialists" because they were Dangers of Manchester legislation and for the working classes, for the declining German crafts against the bourgeois geois and capital rule; the same HB Oppenheim, who was appointed to the "Communism" because he declared that Shylock's usury in houses and construction sites,
the unbearable rent dodging in the big cities
easily lead to a restriction of land ownership,
On the part of the state or the municipality,
right into the hands of the Social Democrats
the same HB Oppenheim who was responsible for the "Ent-founding of the Pflug'sche Waggonfabrik), for the Demolition of the workshops and the dismantling ation of the terrain in construction sites because the Stock company must profit more from this;
the same HB Oppenheim, which after the "crash"
in the Nationalzeitung" the "Economic Writings" of Privy Councillor Otto Michaelis spoke, and with this brilliant man the "Specu-

*) See p. 53 ff.

– 157 –

lation trading", difference trading and stock exchange game, all bans against it are "incomprehensible useless and futile" and his current knowledge: "The harmfulness is decreasing deliberate currents should not be denied,
but who will amputate a suffering limb want! – "The general spread of economic cial education must help ensure that everyone protect themselves; the naked deception may be law and court relentlessly pursue. But not beyond this!" – –

As you can see, there is no special Difference between the Manchester "Volks-wirth" and the newest "philosopher". Both know to adapt their views and teachings to the circumstances of the time fit, and both extend their adoration and defense of founders and stock market economists finally shakes hands. In that article against Eduard von Hartmann emulates Mr HB Oppenheim even just in general against dizziness; he is careful not to give examples and names and he says goodbye to the reader with the express assurance that his polemik not the "form that is justified in many cases of the stock company" that he does not provide any relief

– 158 –

away from legislation or state power.
long that here only "the enlightened understanding and the common sense of the citizens" could help.

Without question, Mr HB Oppenheim belongs to the "knowers"; knowledge is in the blood, in the Race, is inherited by all children of the chosen People, even those who instead of trade and the exchange business, today the science
or art, poetry or writing,
engage in legislation or journalism.
Mr. Eduard von Hartmann, on the other hand, is probably only the number of "believers"; he himself believed to the dizziness and was blinded by it, which
Of course, this does not excuse him from talking about things about which he understood nothing. His article was priceless for the founders and stockbrokers, not worth its weight in gold. Their activities defended and now the philosopher also praised, and he demanded his fellow citizens, rich and poor, they want to for the sake of their salvation All the new industrial shares buy, everyone, everyone become shareholders!

No wonder that the founders, so celebrated as the benefactors of humanity, as the Knights of the solution of the social question, even more mad in stuff went! Supported by the economists and

– 159 –

Parliamentarians, with whose names they put their prospectuses decorated, they created new "share companies" every day. ceptions", they threw themselves now on this, now on that Industry, they founded in a systematic way: gas, Water and heating systems, paper, sugar and Glass, leather, rubber, tobacco and chemical factories , weaving, spinning and dyeing mills, construction clubs and breweries, mines and steel works and very diverse "diverse". On all these offer, as the prospectuses assured, and as the newspapers confirmed in the editorial section, a There is an urgent need to achieve high profitability stability is undoubtedly the case, and in fact the Demand and consumption suddenly increased, the prices of all brands and products are rapidly The demand seemed to continue to outpace commandment to leave behind, but the swinging The increasing supply and demand were partly also of artificial nature; the former was in clever Speculation suppressed, this by all means fed, the public to luxury and extravagance seduced; in which points the founding who and his fellow founders did their utmost. And the stock market proceeded just as systematically. In One week she let the gas stocks jump

– 160 –

rise, in the next the paper shares, in the third, the sugar stocks, so that every industry the turn came and for each the amount prepared and The public buys, like the stock market very well knows, only with rising prices, and sold at falling prices, while it is actually would have to do again. The rise of the course, in the In most cases, it is just a stock market gimmick, he thinks unmistakable sign that the inner value the stock has risen so that it pays a good dividend promises, and a particularly solid investment paper From the tricks and intrigues of speculators has of course the public outside kum no idea. But how could it not where, as he was told daily, there was a shortage of money abundance;suffered, where buying industrial stocks not only a safe business, but also a was a charitable work, where it received its income and improve his wealth, and at the same time the social misery! Indeed, the Audience would have consisted of !only "knowers" It would have been necessary for the networks, the founders and sians threw at him, the speckles that

Press, "economists" and "philosophers" asked him, should be missed!!

—

— 161 —

In the field of gas foundations, a outstanding personality of the "Royal Prussian Privy Commerzienrath" Mr. Wilhelm Oechelshäuser, "General Director" of the German Continental-Gas-Gesellschaft zu Dessau, which since 1855 exists, supplies 16 places with gas and high dividends. In addition, the Board of Directors, here the Directorium, for which a royalty fee is paid annually. A tip of about 25,000 thalers is usually received, include: Member of the Government Council of Unruh, Privy Commercial Councillors Wilh. Conrad and L. Schwartzkopff, Julius Ebbinghaus, Gustav Coqui and Wilh. Nolte in Berlin. In 1872 the company increased its capital from 3 to 4, and in 1875 to 5 million thalers; the new shares were added to the old Shareholders in 1872 with 10%, 1875 with 20%, premium over. Recently, where there is a need for money, however, it seems that this No longer daring to take agiotage, but negotiating, as the newspapers reported, because of a loan.

Mr. Oechelhäuser, whose motto is that of the Goethe: "More light!" served as a reminder Board of Directors of the Austrian Gas Lighting Company company, helped the Vienna Gas Industry Company in 1872 found a company (capital 6 million thalers);

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 11

— 162 —

and in community with Julius Ebbinghaus, Fr. Wilh. Heckmann, Th. Sarre, Albert Pfaff and CEF Gelpcke in Berlin, as well as with Julius Harck in Leipzig — the Commandit Company New Gas Company Wilhelm Nolte & Co. into a pure stock company with 1½ million Thaler Capital. in the latter, although on average they only 5½ % dividend, and the shares of 110 to 80, the Supervisory Board included a Tips of about 5000 thalers per year. Partly with the same gentlemen Wilhelm Oechelhäuser founded Furthermore, the Berlin-Anhalt Mechanical Engineering Company

(p. 37), and he is also a member of the supervisory board of Banks, mines, spinning mills, etc.

But that's not all. The versatile genius Man is also a poet in his leisure hours and "Volkswirt" As a poet he has the Shakespeare edited and improved. William Shakespeare is now in the process of editing and improving
by Wilhelm Oechelhäuser on the stages, and especially Mr. von Hülsen lets him do such Gestalt in the Berlin Schauspielhaus. As "Volkswirth" Mr. Oechelhäuser wrote a paper
"The economic crisis", in which he, who
the founding but also its modest part

– 163 –

has strongly condemned it and called for "reforms of economic legislation" and "in the
He demands that the management chester wisdom is taught in all schools and states: "Economics has the psychology chylogy is a prerequisite. Its laws are based on the psychological behavior of humans
the questions of work and pleasure, and their
The task is to express this behavior from within form and regulate from the outside that the economic objectives with the general state and human cultural tasks harmoniously together
fall." – – These, through such phrase bombast
as well as incorrect number groupings.
drawing brochure, quoted the Minister of Trade Mr.
Achenbach in the Prussian House of Representatives on March 29, 1876, when the report of the Special Commission to investigate the railway concession system,
after being buried for three years,
was brought into the light of day for a few hours,
and now staged a comedy in which the grim founder-killer Mr. Lasker such a pitiful played a crucial role. Mr. Achenbach called the writing of Mr Oechelhäuser with high recognition and read the following passage:

11*

“The main blame does not lie with the governments or exchanges or fraudster categories, but rather to the general Wealth fever that had gripped the nation and the Individuals, killing the finer moral impulses, with It has now become fashionable to see oneself as a victim of secret fraud, when the founding system with the Openness of the permitted business was carried out, and especially thereby dragging so many into its vortex. Scienti non fit injuria. Did the programs like the original purchase sums, it may remain unknown whether these or those who shared the profits – the decisive Facts that and how much about the previous normal prices that had been raised above the actual values, Everyone knew. Didn’t everyone know about Berlin’s construction companies that their objects were only a few months ago, weeks, to a third, to a quarter of the amount price from the previous owners? If This did not prevent participation, the highest degree was of delusion, or the shareholder only entered into the footsteps of the founders by taking over the business of gens to the original price on the stock exchange thought. The agioteur is only the continued and multiplied Founders; both have no right to accuse each other.”

Of course, the reading of this famous quotes the founders and founding partners in Parliament with deep satisfaction. “Very true!” they cried out, moved, and thanked the Minister of Trade with a loud “Bravo!” Mr Oechelhäuser condemned, like Mr. HB Oppenheim, the founders and the stock market fraud in general, but how to he excuses the founders and stockbrokers in the Special, he relieves them at the expense of the publisher kums, to whom he simply assigns the “main blame”. He gives a speech pro domo, in which he says, among other things:

“And yet the sins of individuals, in times powerful currents, measured with a milder scale, than in normal times or in light of the setback. – “That fraud, recklessness and seduction in all degrees and Nuances were active, who would deny it? But even among the founders, how much more among the men ners who, often completely uninvolved, use their names to The number of those who were appointed or had appointed at the top is which, in the absence of any economic and often business knowledge, from the general signature of the period, which in good faith in the billions of dollars and in the continuation duration of increased prices and consumption, and believed they were not doing anything dishonorable or reckless, infinitely greater than the number of those who knowingly deceive,

The general example is the most powerful seducer on earth,
and nothing is more dazzling than success."

Mr Oechelhäuser, who of course also belongs to the "knowers", repeats and varies only the old song of the founders and founder advocates, which culminates in the refrain: We are actually the Seduced, and the audience is our seducer!
– Those phrases and sophisms are so threadbare nig that they do not deceive any innocent people and with two words back to their miserable nothingness–
The founders made everything essential

– 166 –

behind the scenes and knew their ma-chinations. The audience
only learned what the prospectuses and the newspapers told him boasted and lied, and the fraud that Fraud always came later, over the years to light. Not the public, but the stock exchange first took up the shares, drove them up and then knew through their agents, the Ban-quiers, to be sold all over the country. The "Agioteur", who "follows in the footsteps of the founder stepped", the "continued and multiplied founder"
was the "stockbroker", not the captured Private shareholder, who usually has the paper that he still has today. Finally are the supposedly innocent men who are not were not founders themselves, but rather inspired by the founders only allowed themselves to be placed at the top, which through their Names that attracted the audience, but also always been richly paid by giving a portion Shares received far below the actual price,
and as "supervisory board members" receive brilliant tips
The comrades and assistants of the founders are just as guilty as they themselves, even more so to condemn them, because they have their reputation, prestige and Influence for the foundation, and only through

– 167 –

they made the disaster possible. Incidentally, also the repeatedly recurring names that it no less professional “supervisory boards” like pro- There were professional founders that those as well as these, for the sake of the loot, the matter as a “business” drove. D

Mr Oechelhäuser generally criticizes also a little the legislation and the government, but In particular, he praised the Finance Minister, the President President of the Reich Chancellery, the President of the Sea trade, the president of the bank etc. He praises and praises everything that is in a high influential position, what is rich and powerful; he also defends the stock exchange and the bankers, and knows their “popular economic importance” in the brightest light against which he gives full expression to his indignation Run against those who dared to Founders and co-founders personally, to go, and he looks for her as an unfortunate speculator lanten. The accused press He takes her warmly and assures her that she is wearing “in the crime a smaller part of the blame than one often burdened with”; “the positive or negative influence of the actual stock market papers” only slightly, in many of the major political times

– 168 –

tions is indeed a consideration of the editorial team on the advertising section unmistakably”, “it would have, as long as it was time to warn more urgently and specifically must be”, only from corruption, as in Austria, “hardly any trace has reached us”, and “as a counterweight to some shortcomings and guilt”, the press has “more sobriety and foresightedness, as the one in the maelstrom captivated audience.” – Mr. Oechelhäuser guards well, to spoil it with the press, because he needs her as a writer and as a businessman, and he especially celebrates the leaf that is great influence in literary matters as well as in Bör- senate affairs by mentioning in a footnote noticed:

"For example, we have the weekly reports of the "National-Newspaper" about the stock market movements and the economic conditions in Germany, as a model of impartiality, clear understanding and complete, scientific and technical mastery of the subject, through the whole crisis."

Of course, the stock market editor of the "Nationalzeitung", Mr. Julius Schweitzer, now Ver-occasion, in one of those famous weekly reports the writing of Mr. Oechelhäuser is highly recommended;

for one love is worth another, and one hand

– 169 –

washes the other. Mr. Wilhelm Oechelhäuser and Mr. Julius Schweitzer is an old acquaintance and good neighbours: they sit (or sat) side by side in the supervisory board of the Anhalt-Dessauischen Landeskank, and have for their efforts received nice tips here.

If the founders and founding partners today Do everything to burn yourself white, that is the to understand; but it is almost incomprehensible that these People, instead of forgetting something, repeatedly address the public and the to the fore that, after being so un-committed such terrible crimes and caused such nameless misery caused, nevertheless dare to be called a Kri-ticians and moralists, the question raised by them to label the plundered audience as a scapegoat and to insult and mock it. Such should only be possible in Germany!

On 29 March 1876, the Minister of Commerce Good day to Mr Achenbach. In addition to the writing of Mr. Oechelhäuser he also quoted the Report of the Economic Committee of the Austrian House of Representatives, in order to of the same with Mr. Oechelhäuser: the The malpractice of founding companies is far worse in Austria.

– 170 –

being; the events that take place there are "almost pyramidal compared to what is has been tempted to us". As previously stated, referred to"), this is totally incorrect. Mr Han-Minister of the Interior was in a double error
He overlooked the fact that in Austria-Hungary
From 1867 to 1873, 1005 joint-stock companies
Concessions granted by the state government,
Of these, however, only 682 actually came into being;
and he did not know that in Germany from 1870 to 1873, i.e. during a period only half as large period of time, actually to 1300 companies
The Minister of Trade had evidently through systematically false information of the "economists" and concluded his speech with the words: "I wish on the Areas of economic legislation no Reaction" – which again earned him warm applause of the "people's" movement, which is so numerous represented in Parliament.
wirth", because they understand "reaction" as even the slightest curb on freedom of action.

To the above-mentioned foundations of the Lord Oechelhäuser joins the following companies

*) See p. 11.

for gas, water and heating systems, which, with Exception of the first, all located in Berlin:

Water supply in Gotha. Founded July 1871 by Isidor Richter (Richter & Co.) in Berlin and Geh. Commer-zienrath Moritz Simon (J. Simon Wittwe & Söhne) in Königsberg i. Pr. Basic capital 300,000 Thaler. The prospectus presented 10% dividend in sight, but the shares were difficult and in fact, from 1873 to 1875 –
2, 3 and 3½% respectively. Supervisory Board members: Financial Councillors Hopf and Kühn in Gotha. Course ca. 80.

Central heating, water and gas systems, formerly Schäffer & Walcker. Founded in June 1871 by Isidor Mammoth, Hermann Bein, Ferd. Meyer and the deputy, Privy Admiralty Counselor Jacobs. The management initially remained the previous owner, Berthold Schäffer. Share capital 750,000 Thir.
April 1873, 250,000 Thaler of new shares were added to the Course of 120 issued, but only 175,400 thalers taken, so that the total share capital amounts to 925,400 thalers.

Supervisory Board Members: Benno Beer, Otto Oechelhäuser, Geh. Regie-Councillor Dr. Esse, Wilh. Nolte etc. Dividends from 1871 until 1875: 191/,, 19, 121%, 121% and respectively 90%. Cours once 160, now about 90.

Continental Company for Water and Gas Plants, formerly Mattison & Brandt. Founded November 29, 1871 by Wilhelm Koch, Adolf Stein, Franz Henckel, engineer Johannes Büsing, "Economist" Dr. Ed. Wiss, Lieutenant Colonel Wilh. von der Horst and city councillor Ferd. Krebs in Berlin, Baron Peter von Gerschau in Meiningen. Supervisory Councillors: Chief Building Councillor Moore, Moritz Goldstein, Government rath a. D. Wilh. Jungermann. The first director was the previous owner, Carl Adolf Brandt. The prospectus emphasized, that the foundation was at the sole expense of Mr. Brandt. by Vereinsbank Quistorp & Co. "agency-wise"

- 172 -

and that the permanent appraisers of this bank: Building Inspector Vogler, "General Director" Julius Müller and building Master F. Uterwedde the business cleanly and undoubtedly For every 4 shares of the Vereinsbank, which At that time, about 130 was quoted, a 50 percent interim certificate of the Brandt foundation, so that the new shares that-cost 148%. In such a sophisticated manner, Heinrich Quistorp the Agiotage, he knew with each new Founding also to acquire the shares of his association bank 146,000 thalers, almost half of the share capital Mr Brandt had reserved the right to do so, which meant that made a good cut. Four weeks after the founding A dividend has already been paid, and for the first Financial year of three months (!) 16%, ie in reality 40% is paid, but from this the interest has to be deducted, which the shareholders pay back for about two months 1872 resulted in a 25% dividend; then the Shares up to about 210, and the Supervisory Board decided on its own Hand, for which the statute empowered him, the share capital of 300,000 to 600,000 thalers. This time, Mr Quistorp on two shares each of his association bank, which now also over 200, A young Actie Brandt à 140°/,, which actually corresponded to a course of 180. One half of the new shares were given to the shareholders, the Quistorp took over the other half himself at a price of 176' /,, but did not pay them in cash, but wrote them off to the company good in its books. The dividends were it has been over since then, which is partly due to the fall of the club bank, but to a large extent the company's own gross mismanagement owed Spring 1874 the previous owner resigned as Director and owed the company over 100,000 thalers, which is why the Supervisory Board reported him to the public prosecutor. cirte. In the style of the founders, Mr. Brandt publicly declared this accusation for "infamous slander" and threatened with legal charges. However, he seems to be under-to have let him go, but there has been a lot of suspicion against him for some time

– 173 –

Time to investigate. The second director, Carl Rüster, accused of various bill forgeries, which he committed on the Internet esse of society, poisoned himself in the Police office, and found in the pocket of his coat still a loaded six-barreled revolver. 1875 concluded with a Underbalance of almost 400,000 thalers, and the Con-curs. But this has been averted for the time being, the Basic capital by murdering the shares from 600,000 to 125,000 thalers and the issuing of a loan of 150,000 thalers decided! – The shares, which once 210
lost almost every course.

The ruins of this society include the Waterworks in Frankfurt an der Oder, which has 350,000
Thaler, not including the building interest, were on the books of the city Frankfurt were allegedly offered for 250,000 Thaler, and eventually sold to a consortium at an even cheaper price.
In January 1876, this ruin was converted into a new green construction and had signed the prospectus: Com-merzienrath JM Mende in Frankfurt a. O., Government Councillor
a. DW Jungermann, City Councilor Ferd. Cancer, Banker Reinhold Rudloff-Grübs etc. The cat simply lets the Not mice! But the bold attempt seems to be to have found little resonance, and even the stock exchange
The authorities only gave him a cool endorsement.

Continental Waterworks Neptun, formerly Elsner and Stumpf. Founded November 1871 by Joseph Jaques, Hermann Leubuscher, Eduard Mamroth, Magnus. Hermann, Director E. Kaselowsky and the deputy and "Volkswirt", Justice Counsel Dr. Carl Braun. The first supervisory board members are mentioned in the prospectus: Wilh. Borchert jun., Member of Parliament, Senior Government Councillor and Director of the Statistical Bureau
Dr. Engel. The previous owner Gottfried Stumpf became director.

– 114 –

The final basic capital was 1,100,000 Thaler, plus 180,000 Thaler.
Mortgages and 187,000 Thaler priorities. The first issue was 550,000 thalers, and November 1872 were von Lamm-

Brecht & Lange, Beer & Herzberg, Hugo Mamroth, Julius Pickardt, Siegheim & Simon 550,000 Thir. new shares subscribed, which was emitted in such a way that on 2 old, approximately 120 noted, a young one to the course of 105 By May 1873 the entire share capital had been sold. needs, and since then society has been wrestling with death. An audit commission elected in 1874 accused the Director Stumpf wild enterprise and coarse frivolity skill; she found that the books were extremely sloppy and that in particular the balance sheet for 1872 was falsified; that the dividend paid for the first financial year of 13½% is not earned but artificial, and that Therefore, the Supervisory Board members also received the bonus of 10,000 Thalers were wrongly pocketed. Stumpf resigned and in his place Robert Herbig, the founder of the sad "Residenz-Baubank" . 1873 closed with 302,000, 1874 with 478,000, 1875 with a loss of 900,000 Thaler; and it remains questionable whether the shares once quoted at 120 still have the slightest Werth. The prosecutor does not seem to have intervened to be. |

Gas and water plants, gas crowns and zinc industrie, formerly Schäfer & Hauschner. Founded August 1872 by Ferd. Meyer (Oppenheim & Co.), Carl Kiesel (Leg and Co.), bookseller Dr. Julius Friedländer and Adolf Salomon. Board of Directors: Benno Hauschner and Ludwig Goldstücker. Shareholders capital 500,000 Thaler and 125,000 Thaler mortgages. The The foundation was considered from the outset to be immodestly expensive, The first 5-month business year resulted in a artificial dividend of 8%, later 0. In 1875 the company was liquidated. The director and previous owner, Benno Hauschner, suddenly claims against the company, and he was left the de-founded object for about 14% of the share capital, the but will only become due after a year and a day.

sa o

Water heating and water pipe, otherwise Thomas Granger and Paul Hyan. Founded September 1872 by the exchange office company, which now also liquidirt, by Hermann Baschwitz, Eduard Abel, Julius Grelling, Adolf Sobernheim, Paul Kahle, Fritz Kindermann and Dr. juris Gustav Girau. The previous owners retained the management and took over the share capital with 500,000 Thaler a fifth. There was no dividend; in 1874 with a loss of 342,000 thalers, after which two thirds of the shares assassinated, and the conclusion of 1875 proved a hypo-counter load of 240,000 Thaler. Since the course is now about 9 , the original shares have a value of 30%.

The prosecutor has investigated and the investigation seems to float.

Gas and water pipes and central heating Globus, formerly JJ Hollerbach and FW Toepe. Pre-purchased by Abraham Henoch, and founded September 1872 by Jacques Coppel, Isidor Itzig and Nachmann Hirsch Neumann. Share capital 300,000 thalers and 100,000 thalers mortgages. The previous owner Toepe became director, and lawyer Ludwig Meyn, before whom the statute was announced, Chairman of the Supervisory Board. In the prospectus, the purchase price is 300,000 Thaler, but the previous owner made Hollerbach publicly announced that Abraham Enoch as a whole only 152,500 Thaler, about half of the price. The founders did not want to refute this claim, they replied only that Hollerbach had kept silent about the payment of several thousand thalers. Nevertheless, the General Depository bank bought the shares at a rate of 102, and they were driven to 133. – “For the current year, 10°/, dividend secured,” announced the prospect, and this proved to be true quite, insofar as for the first financial year of 4 months (!)

– 176 –

90%, so actually 3%. In 1873 there were 2%, in 1874 – $2\frac{1}{2}$ % and for the Supervisory Board 1000 Thaler bonus (ö), 1875. – 0. Cours about 10. From a criminal court Nothing was heard during the investigation.

Water and gas pipeline supplies Saturn, formerly L. Röde r and Co. Founded March 15, 1873 by Jacques Coppel, Isidor Itzig, Nachmann Hirsch Neumann, Abraham Henoch, Carl Mohr, bookseller Franz Grunert and Dr. Heinrich Ebeling, Stock exchange editor of the “Vossische Zeitung”. As a supervisory councilors had signed the prospectus: manufacturer Frieese, Director Leopold Günther and lawyer Ludwig Meyn, the The statute is also included here. Share capital 350,000 thalers. and 63,000 Thaler mortgages. The first business year threw 50%, dividend and for the supervisory board over 3000 Thaler In 1874 the shareholders received $1\frac{1}{2}$ %, and in 1876 liquidation was decided. Without a course.

International Gas Company. After the “crash”, founded in July 1873 by Commerzienrath Anton Schlittgen, Emil Barschall in Liegnitz, engineer Dr. Hugo Sackur and Engineer Rudolf Adam Otto Schulz. Share capital 200,000 Thir. In 1875, Schulz and Sackur went bankrupt, the company itself seems to still exist.

Of these 9 companies, only the first
both: Gotha Water Supply and Central-Hei-tion, tolerable and viable; all the rest awaken Suspicion and horror are already in the Dissolution or just vegetate. Particularly Neptune is notorious, the creation of the parliamentary rian "economists" Dr. Braun and Dr. Engel, which | the unfortunate shareholders against 1,300,000 Thaler costs. Mattison & Brandt, Schäfer & Hauschner,

*

– 177 –

Granger & Hyan, as well as Globus, although not less malicious, have come up with an actien-capital from 600,000 to 300,000 thalers. Saturn and International Gas Company are delayed green ations and their history are obscure; what is particularly of the latter, about which little is said
The whole industry is, because of the large Losses suffered by the audience are disreputable.

In December 1871, a group of number of paper manufacturers and let through the newspapers the following resolution:

"As a result of the continuous improvement of all materials it is a necessity to call it a necessity until further notice a price premium against paper prices in the spring after amount of at least 12 percent. The average
The average calculation results in an additional cost of $16\frac{3}{4}$ percent in manufacturing, but they were still satisfied with the increase of 12 percent, because they want an early moderation of some material prices and especially coal believed he could expect".

With the founding of the companies, the increase in Paper prices. Paper and rags rose sharply in Prices because consumption suddenly doubled and tripled. The countless foundations many thousands of bales of beautiful paper, which was printed with nothing but bad stocks. The newspaper

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 12

increased their format and scope, brought several sheets daily, exclusively covered with editorial stock exchange notes, lengthy course leaflets, powerful prospectuses and advertisements and other advertisements about new companies and Emissions. A lot of new newspapers were created, primarily stock market papers, most of which have since been received. Brochures and memoranda on new ventures, the Annual reports of the new companies, from each scattered in many thousands of copies, an in-mass of new business and trading books, and an avalanche-like growing correspondence between the stock exchange, bankers and the public! Enough, Paper consumption was evidently an un-heurer, and that is why so many paper foundations; however, these mostly refer to the Conversion of existing factories
We record the following:

Berlin paper factory. Founded in July 1871 by Emil Heymann, Meyer Cohn, Abraham Hamburger, Hermann Lask, Emil Holländer and Albert Hofmann, owners of the “Kladderadatsch” in Berlin, Moritz Cohn and the Guttentag brothers in Breslau, Meyer Samuel Meyer in Magdeburg. The founders bought to the paper factory of Fr. Hendler in Alt-Friedland (Waldenburg i. Schl.) and the paper shop of Leopold Ullstein in Berlin, who was both a city councillor and a founder

Mr. Ullstein delivered, as the prospectus highlighted that the paper was for the “Kladderadatsch” and for the Berlin “Volkszeitung”, and was therefore the “Business”, ie the company, the shareholders with 50,000 Thaler calculated! Share capital 550,000 Thaler and 50,000 Thaler Mortgages. Lask and Ullstein took over the management, and The following served as supervisory board members: Justizrath Primker, of whom the statute was announced. For the first financial year of 6 months, 9% dividend was distributed. The company announced that they were selling “share paper in the purest hemp fabric”, which finds such enormous sales that even orders came in from America. In 1872, the Shareholders 7 1/2, 1873 – 6%, and later 0. It was just no longer demanded “share paper”, and thus the Price of the company’s own shares, which were once quoted at over 100, to – –? The balance sheet of ult. 1875 showed, in addition to the mortgages, approx.

360,000 Thir. other debts, totaling over 400,000 Thaler Liabilities, and the whole thing should not be that much be worth it. Poor shareholders!

Berliner Pappenfabrik, formerly Ferd. Biermann and L. Wiganckow. Founded March 1872 by Moritz Eduard Meyer, Gustav Thölde, August Aders, Hugo Schalhörn and Franz Wiganckow Jr. The latter two took over the Direction. Share capital 900,000 Thaler and 250,000 Thaler Mortgages. Chairman of the Supervisory Board: Attorney Hecker, who had adopted the statute. Dividend The Central Bank has set a minimum of 5 years for cooperatives. at least 6%, guaranteed, and have been paid so far: 13, 11%, 67, and 60% respectively, while the Supervisory Board and Management in royalties 13,000, 10,000, 6000 and 4800 Thaler respectively The last dividend was no longer but required a subsidy from the previous owners of about 7,500 thalers, which is why one now thinks of the murder of the Actien thinks. The price, once 120, is now about 60.

12°

– 180 –

North German paper factory. Founded June 1871 by Adolf Abel (S. Abel jr.) and Eugen Dzondi (Robert Thode & Co.) in Berlin, which was the factory of Bernhard Behrend and his sons, Moritz and Georg Behrend in Cöslin. When "First Supervisory Board Members" appeared in the constitutive General Assembly collection still on: Alexander von Loeben, RA Seelig and Hermann Lebuscher in Berlin, Wilhelm Wolff in Cöslin. The share capital of 500,000 thalers was taken over by the Previous owner 200,000 Thaler, and Moritz and Georg Behrend retained the leadership. The prospectus states: "What the As far as wood pulp is concerned, the current business owners in the nearby Varzin, which belonged to Prince Bismarck a factory, and they have committed themselves to the joint stock company covers the necessary requirements up to 4000 centners at 3 thalers on 10 years, while the hundredweight otherwise cost $4\frac{1}{2}$ thalers costs. This also benefits society." – Not without any justification, this foundation called itself "Norddeutsche Papierfabrik", because it supplies, as the prospect also emphasized that the telegraph paper for North German country. It also supplied the postal services for the German Reichspost cards, and one will remember how rough these were in 1872 and became so woody that it was difficult to write on them The Varzin wood pulp factory had it too good Chairman of the Supervisory Board: Commerzienrath Johannes Quistorp in Stettin. Dividends for 1871 until 1874: 81/,, , 8, 0 and respectively 4%. For 1875 promised a much more favourable result was achieved, but the balance sheet with a loss of about 50,000 Thaler, and in July 1876 the Con- curs here. Because the Prussian House of Representatives approval for the purchase of the Berlin-Dresden railway was refused, fell to S. Abel Jr., who bought a share of this railway had a large supply, and because S. Abel Jr. fell, The North German Paper Factory is also said to have collapsed. In fact, however, it has always been suffering from the consequences of the evil kind of foundation, and it had long been deeply in debt. The main creditors of the company are what one cannot overlook may see the previous owners and the founders, who, by they now also take the last, of course for the shareholders are left with nothing. With the bankruptcy filing the operation ceased; however, as it is said, now Fürst Bismarck had his own paper company on his estate in Varzin. create a factory.

– 181 –

Paper factory, formerly Car! Marggraf in Wolfswinkel near Neustadt-Eberswalde. March 1872 by Heinrich Quistorp Founded "by commission". Share capital 350,000 thalers. For every 5 shares of the Vereinsbank, which at that time numbered 180, Quistorp generously granted a share of Wolfswinkel, which which actually cost 150. The management was retained by the owners, and the first supervisory board members were named in the prospectus. named: City Councillor Holtz in Charlottenburg, pharmacy owner H. Augustin, Commercial Councillor E. Schering, Banker Adolf Russ and city councilor Arnold Marggraf in Berlin, Carl Wrede in Stettin.

The first and only dividend was 8%; in 1875 the Company under a debt burden of approx. 800,000 Thaler Mr. Carl Marggraf, the previous owner, later Director and later liquidator, who was responsible for the establishment ment had received 875,000 thalers, bought it back for 137,000 thalers, which does not even cover the covered by the mortgage.

Kiauten pulp and paper factory in East Prussia. Founded in 1872 with 200,000 thalers of registered capital and 80,000 thalers. Mortgages. Supervisory Board: Adolf Samter, A. Simon, Fried- länder, Count and Attorney Hoffmann in Königsberg i. Pr. Introduced on the Berlin Stock Exchange at a price of 101. The first financial year of 6 months resulted in 30%, 1873 – 2 740% Dividend, 1874 – 0.

Stettiner R Hohenkrug. November 1871

founded with 400,000 Thaler share capital and 230,000 Thir. : Mortgages. Supervisory Board members: Amandus Strömer, Otto Kühnemann, Julius Hildebrandt, W. von Kloeden etc. in Stettin.
Board: Reinhold Guleke. Castle built in 1873 with approx. 83,000 Thir.
Loss and went bankrupt in 1875.

Paper and business book factories, otherwise Gebr.
Rubens in Oldesloe and Hamburg. Founded August 1872 from the Anglo-Deutsche Bank in Hamburg, which owns 160% dividend and for at least three years 81/0/, guaranteed. Share capital 800,000 Thaler, if Berlin on-deposited at Hess & Katz. Later, 500,000 Thaler Priori-Board: Bernhard, Siegmund and Charles Rubens.
Supervisory Board: Woldemar Nissen, Lorenz Booth, Consul JF
W. Reimers, von Meding and Gustav Tuch in Hamburg. First Dividend 0. Castle 1875 with a deficit of approx. 650,000 Thaler.
The factory in Hamburg is out of operation and is to come under the hammer. |

Hanover Paper Mills Alfeld-Gronau, formerly Gebr. Woge. Built in August 1872. 350,000 Thaler
Share capital and 100,000 Thaler mortgages. Supervisory Board:
Senior Court Attorney Benfey in Hanover, Moritz Ehrlich, Gustav Woltereck. Dividends from 1872 to 1875: 12, 10, 6°/; and or 5%. Course, with 50% deposit, once equal to 120, while while the full share is now trading at around 50.

Paper factory and lime kiln, formerly Rudolf Kefer-stein in Sinsleben. Founded October 1871. Actiencapital 300,000 Thaler and 65,000 Thaler mortgages. Issuing house:
Ephraim Meyer & Sohn in Hanover. Supervisory Board: August
Basse, Ed. Spiegelberg. Dividends: 1872 – 7%, 1873 – 5%, 1874 – 0. Course?

Rhenish paper factory in Neuss. Founded in 1873 by the A. Schaaffhausenschen Bankverein in Cologne and the Essener Creditanstalt in Essen. Share capital 700,000 thalers.
Supervisory Board: E. Bennert, Theodor Deichmann, JH Andly.

= 483 –

Does not seem to have paid any dividends in recent years and intends to assassinate half of the shares.

United Hessian Paper and Paper Goods Factory, otherwise G. Bodenheimer & Co. in Cassel. Founded December

1872 with 750,000 Thaler shares, which in February 1873 with 103 were introduced on the Berlin Stock Exchange. Dividends: 1873 – 5%, 1874 – 4%. Course?

Paper factory, formerly Keferstein & Sohn in Cröllwitz near Halle a. S. Founded October 1871 by Becker & Co. in Leipzig, HF Lehmann in Halle, Delbrück, Leo & Co., and Carl Coppel & Co. in Berlin. Share capital 600,000 thalers. and 200,000 Thaler mortgages. Direction: Ernst Carl Louis Keferstein. – “The drawings are fully taken into account”, it said in the stock market newspapers. A bad omen, because This message actually meant: The shares issued have only been partially subscribed. Dividends: 1872 – 7%, 1873 – 8%, and then 0. Cours about 5. The action naires intend to take action against the founders. Many of those unfortunates are said to have benefited from these famous shares for 26,000 thalers!

Muldenthal paper mill, formerly Schmidt & Mehner in Freiberg. Founded in June 1871 by Heinrich Rode, Herm. Pässler sen., JG Johnel, Advocat Heim etc., which 300,000 shares and promised a 14% dividend. In 1875, a priority loan of 200,000 thalers. tried to Payments stopped and the director of the factory, as well as the both directors of the affected Freiberg Loan office, arrested.

Freiberg paper factory in Weissenborn. Founded May 1871 by Emil Quellmalz (AL Mende), Carl Mankiewicz (Philipp Elimeyer), Alfred Bach, Factor Franz Müller, Director Ewald Bellingrath and City Councillor Gustav Schilling in Dresden, which issued 350,000 Thaler shares and 13% lividende Supervisory Board members: businessman Büttner in Chemnitz,

– 184 –

Advocat Kugler and Director Hinke in Freiberg. Dividend per 1875 – 0. Price about 30.

Paper factory in Hütten near Königstein. Founded June 1871 by Claus & Oberländer, Albin Ellezinguer and Lawyer Curt Seyler in Dresden, Carl Pflugbeil in Hütten. 360,000 Thaler shares were sold to M. Schie Nachfolger in Dresden and Ed. Hoffmann in Leipzig, and 16% Dividend calculated. Board of Directors and A.: Gustav Dörtling, Berthold Wuttig, Carl Kaiser and Hugo Grumpelt in Dresden. Gerieth 1876 in Concurs and was sold for 120,000 Thir. which sum does not yet cover the priority debt covered. |

| Paper factory in Köttewitz near Dresden. Founded in 1868

by HW Bassenge & Co. and B. Gruner in Dresden, F. Förster in Dohna. 260,000 shares were issued by Michael Kaskel in Dresden, Becker & Co. in Leipzig, S. Bleichröder in Berlin. Administrative Board and A.: Moritz Bretschneider in Pirna, Carl Hartmann in Dohna and Member of Parliament, City Council Reinhard Fröhner in Dresden. 1870 – 10% dividend, 1874 attempted a loan of 200,000 thalers, bankruptcy in 1876. Fröhner, director of the equally endangered Dresden Commercial bank, and involved in various start-ups, was arrested in November 1876, but then released foot set.

Sebnitz paper factory, formerly Gebrüder Just & Co. Founded in December 1871 with 500,000 Thaler share capital, which is colossal for such a small establishment A portion of the shares were allegedly taken over by the owners, who retained the management; the rest were, under careful calculation of a dividend of 14.5%, placed by M. Schie Nachfolger, Ed. Rocks Nachfolger, A. Gerstenberger and S. Mattersdorf in Dresden, Aron Meyer & Sohn in Leipzig. In 1874, a loan was attempted, and Last year's dividends were 0. Price approx. 40.

– 18 –

United Bautzen Paper Mills, formerly CFA Fischer and Grimm & von Otto. Purchased for allegedly 860,000 Thaler (!) and founded in December 1871 by Robert Thode & Co. in Berlin and Dresden and by GE Heyde-man in Bautzen. "The company is not affected by any Founding and consortium fees," assured the Prospect and issued a capital stock of 1!/, million Thaler! Oscar Grimm and August Fischer retained the leadership ation, and the following were named as supervisory board members in the prospectus: Member of the Reichstag, lawyer Rudolf Thiel in Bautzen, Chamber of Commerce President Adolf Wauer in Herrnhut and E. Röder (Vetter & Co.) in Leipzig. For 1873, the shareholders received 13%, Supervisory Board and Management 15,344 Thaler bonus. In 1874, a new priority loan of 250,000 thalers was nōthig. In 1875 the dividend was only 5%. Cours once 180, now about 90.

Paper factory in Einsiedel near Chemnitz. Founded May 1871 to 300,000 Thaler shares, for which one in the prospect calculated an interest rate of 12%^e by Gustav Gerstenberger (Gerstenberger & Rocks), C. Hermann Findeisen, R. Grahl, Director of the Saxon Gussstahlfabrik, Medicinal-rath Dr. F. Küchenmeister, Justice of the Peace Ernst Meinert and Lawyer Hermann Ullrich in Dresden and Chemnitz. The

The company got into financial difficulties, the attempt to issue a priority bond failed, and she found finally some help from the Chemnitzer Bankverein. Dividends in the last few years 0. Price about 15.

Patent paper factory in Penig. Founded November 1872 with 1 million thalers shares and 200,000 thalers mortgages! The previous owner, Ferd. Flinsch, took over 100,000 Thaler in Leipzig. The rest was put up by: the Dresdener Handelsbank, AL Mende, Guttentag Brothers and Günther & Rudolph in Dresden, Becker & Co. in Leipzig. Supervisory Board members include: Emil Quellmalz in Dresden, Wilh. Stalling in Pleschen. Here too

– 186 –

In May 1875, an application was made to issue a priority loan. Dividend per 1875 – 5%. Course approx. 30.

Paper factory in Lösning near Leipzig, formerly Krüger & Hennig. Founded in July 1871 by manufacturer Richard Bruns, master grocer FW Sturm, publisher and bookseller Friedr. Fleischer and Hermann Friderici in Leipzig, manor owner H. Graichen on Lösning; who raised 270,000 thalers and 14 to 15% dividend. The shares are is probably still in the hands of the founders, of whom Fr. Fleischer died, H. Graichen came to an agreement with his creditors.

Wood pulp and paper factory in Schlema near Schneeberg. Founded in August 1871 with 268,000 Thaler shares. Supervisory rath: Advocat Weber I. in Chemnitz, Wolfgang Gerhard in Leipzig, August Hentschel and Oswald Meyh in Zwickau, Theodor Schneider and Ernst Seydel in Glauchau, Conrad Anton Clauss in Hohenstein. Course?

Numerous other paper startups that have a small neres share capital, from about 100,000 to 200,000 Thalers, we will pass over in order not to tire; and only remark summarily:

The Magdeburg paper mill was able to no dividend was to be distributed for the financial year 1875. len; the paper factory at Alt-Damm near Stettin had to resort to a loan; the Dombacher Paper factory is in dire financial straits and thinks to its dissolution; the Seifersdorf paper factory is in exactly the same position; the Paper factory in Radeberg decided to sell of the establishment; the paper factory at Strass-

y

-

-

- 187 -

burg i. E., founded by the Provinzial-Discontocompany there, liquidated in May 1875; the Paper factory Porschendorf-Zschopau failed; the Förster's paper factory in Krampe near Grünberg i. Schl. was auctioned off and sold at 100,000 Thaler debt, for about 25,000 Thaler gone;
The Lockwitz paper factory fell into disrepair in 1875. curs, and was supervised by Eduard Meyer (M. Schie Nach-follower in Dresden) for 80,000 Thaler.
However, special mention should be made of the Patent paper factory in Berlin. It exists since 1819, is in a sense under supremacy supervision of the Prussian Seehandlung, from which they was founded at that time (not "founded"), and enjoyed a high blossom until one in the swing
delperiod the share capital from 395,000 to 600,000
Thaler, whereupon the dividends quickly fell.
For 1873, the shareholders who participated in this society have hardly changed, still 8°/,; for 1874
only 2% and for 1875 - nothing. The balance sheet closed with a loss of 72,000 Thaler, and it turned out that the previous ones were falsified, dividends and tan-
. tièmen in previous years unlawfully distributed were. ; Among other things, incorrect information was discovered ventardn and a manco of 1800 quintals of rags.

8th

- 188 -

The first director was the former employed by the Royal Maritime Trade and only recently recently retired Privy Senior Finance Counsel Scheller; next to him was a Mr. Louis, and
The Supervisory Board was formed by: the Member of Parliament, Baron

Ernst von Eckardstein-Prötzel, Commercial Councillor and City councilor Emil Ebeling, banker Louis Steinthal etc. In the general meeting on 1 May 1876 The representative of the Royal Maritime Agency requested: to declare the previous discharges null and void and the "unheard-of decay" of society Accordingly, a revision was also sionscommission was set up and after the same Report submitted, decided: against the gentlemen Scheller and Louis in civil proceedings. -A Further motion: refer the matter to the public prosecutor The majority did not agree to transfer the money to the police! through poor management, if not through bad meres, a well-known and well-off society ruined in a short time, and the establishment ment put up for sale. Since the "crash", demand has been very decreased, we now have a great abundance of Paper and rags. The manufacture of shares has completely stopped; a large number of Actisnge-societies have died, the others are just vegetating still; the stock exchange and the bankers are without employment, the battered audience mourns. The Newspapers have shrunk considerably; there are no the advertisements, the subscribers are dwindling; many Newspapers, especially those that lived from the stock market, have died, have disappeared just as they appeared in the period of dizziness. On July 1, 1874 The Reich Press Law came into force; it the bailouts were dropped, the newspapers were finally tax, but these benefits only benefited the newspaper owners, neither the public nor the press The press has no freedom gained, but lost; the newspapers are not cheaper and better, rather worse, more boring and drier. Nor are they, as There was hope on various sides that "mass" peue leaves emerged; the time is too bad for that and the audience too uninvolved.

- 189 -

Among the paper industry, whining and Lamentations. They lament the overproduction, the they themselves created the centrifugal process many factories, the fall in the price of silver, which the Austrian manufacturers the competition by about 20 percent; they demand the

e

tad

– 1% –

abolition of import duties on chemicals and revision sion of trade agreements with foreign countries, so that e.g. Russia, France and Austria the also abolish the customs duty on rags, and the Import of paper is not taxed more heavily than Germany-country does this. Their demands and complaints are partly not unjustified, but partly also sought after and ridiculous, as the Cröllwitzer Paper mill in the last annual report its suffering
the elements, snow and floods

The actual

Blame for the collapse of the paper industry

The stock market nonsense that is currently taking place in this industry was a terrible one. Of the above-mentioned

Of the 32 companies mentioned, 13 have failed or become liquid dirt, 13 are without any course or the course is hardly worth mentioning, and only 6 still record above 30 percent. These figures require no further Comments.

A very similar picture is provided by the sugar start-ups, where huge sums of money are which also leads to overproduction

As among the paper mills
are not found among the sugar factories either

– 191 –

few who offer shareholders 3/, to 1½ million
Thaler were handed over. Very insignificant Establishments are, including mortgages, charged with 300,000 to 600,000 thalers. Where is a prosperity, an interest rate possible; especially since the Sugar prices, which rose from 1869 to 1872 went, since then as a result of overproduction by 23 to 28 percent have fallen!

Of the numerous companies we mention:

Sugar factory in Trachenberg (Silesia). Founded April 1871 with 200,000 Thaler shares. Supervisory Board: Geh. Commercial Councillor von Ruffer in Breslau, Chief Financial Officer Baron von Cohn in Dessau, Commissioner S. Schlesinger in Trachenberg etc. Distributed 1875 – 16% dividend.

Sugar factory Alt-Jauer. Established in November 1871 with 380,000 Thaler shares, which the Gewerbebank H. Schuster and Co. in Berlin and Heinrich Sachs widow in Jauer Last dividends 0 and 11/,0/.

Rostock Sugar Factory. Founded in March 1872 by the Central Bank for Cooperatives in Berlin, with the help of Kaufmann F. Schwarz in Rostock. The purchase price was In the prospectus it is stated to be 630,000 thalers, but in reality only 430,000 thalers. Share capital 700,000 thalers and 600,000 Thaler mortgages! As the first supervisory board named the prospectus: Consul C. Ch. Lesenberg, Director C. Abendroth, Rentier W. Burmester and Landsyndicus Advocat Groth in Rostock, Director Gust. Thölde and Exdirector HP Kreiner in Berlin. The first and only dividend of 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ % was artificially made, people were constantly in financial difficulties, and the debts finally amounted to 1 million thalers. To exonerate themselves, the founders violently pursued the removal foundation and sold the property in May 1876. For the actionnaires will have nothing left. Cours once 105. The state A lawyer is said to have intervened.

– 192 –

Wildunger sugar factory (in Waldeck). Chairman of the Supervisory Board: Otto Swoboda in Berlin. Gerieth 1874 in Contest. |

Sugar factory Glauzig near Cöthen. Founded April 1872 from the Leipzig Wechsler- und Depositenbank, the Berlin Wechslerbank, Bein & Co. in Berlin, the Saxon Creditbank in Dresden, BJ Friedheim & Co. and Gebrüder Herzberg in Cöthen. Share capital 1,500,000 Thaler and over 500,000 Thaler mortgages! Director R. Richter. Supervisory rath: Attorney Lezius and Mayor Joachimi in Cöthen, bank director Sernitsch and Adolf List in Leipzig, Gustav Ziegler in Dessau. The first dividend of 3%, was financed by subsidies from the previous owner, was therefore made, and in the second fiscal year there were 0. In 1874, however, 93%,, and distributed in royalties over 22,000 thalers (!). 1875 In 1876 there was 0%, and in 1876 a full 2%. The course is still about 40.

Bredow sugar factory near Stettin, which the founders in November 1872 by the Ritterschaftliche Privatbank in Pomerania allegedly acquired for 530,000 thalers. Actiencapital 500,000 Thaler, issued by FW Krause & Co. in Berlin and at S. Abel Jr. in Berlin and Stettin. Plus 150,000 thalers. Mortgages! The following were named as supervisory board members in the prospectus: District Administrator A0 Koppe in Amt Kienitz, sugar manufacturer Miner on cloth band, Commerzienrath Quistorp and banker director Hindersin in Stettin, Otto Hessenland in Berlin. videnden from 1873 to 1876: 6¼, 0, 2 and respectively 0. Cours once 110, now? The publication of financial statements seems the board does not love.

Sugar factory Koerbisdorf near Merseburg, formerly Brum – hard, Koch & Co. Founded in March 1872 by the German

– 193 –

Cooperative Bank Soergel, Parrisius & Co. and Carl Coppel & Co. in Berlin, the International Bank in Hamburg, the Thuringian Bank in Sondershausen and the Bank Association by Kulisch, Kämpf & Co. in Halle. Share capital 900,000 Thaler and 900,000 thalers. Mortgages and priorities! The Prospect stated the purchase price at 1,209,000 Thaler (!), and promised a dividend of 11 to 12%. Supervisory Board members: Director Soergel in Berlin, Commerzienrath Bör in Sondershausen, Banquier Kulisch, merchant Mrs. Pfaffe and bailiff Reinecke in Halle, Deputy Attorney Wölfel in Merseburg. The first and only dividend of 8% was not earned. Cours once 126, in the summer of 1876 about 20.

Sugar factory Nienburg a. S., formerly H. Zuckschwerdt & Beuchel. Pre-purchased by Hermann Geber and founded in February 1872 by RA Seelig, Hermann Leubuscher Ed. Stahlschmidt and "General Director" Julius Müller in Berlin. Share capital 500,000 thalers and 200,000 thalers mortgages. Wilhelm Meissner and Gustav Dorendorf remained in charge, As the first supervisory board member and directly employed by the company shared, called the prospectus: Representative merchant Herm. Zuckschwerdt, Max Dulon (E. Ch. Helle) and Gustav Meissner (E. Musmann) in Magdeburg, Julius Schweitzer, stock exchange editor of the "National-Zeitung" in Berlin. The first and only dividend of 60% was not deserved. September 1874 it was decided to Liquidation, and after it had lasted for two years, drawn, shareholders will receive approximately 3% back. Mr. Julius Schweitzer, Chairman of the Supervisory Board elected, laid this high honor after distribution of the dividend down. \ `

Stock company for beet sugar industry in Switzerland was formed at the end of 1871 under the financial direction by Eberhard Mencke in Braunschweig, with an equity capital of 3 million thalers, of which 360,000 thalers were initially were given. Course?

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 13

– 194 –

'Brunswick Sugar Works, formerly Bautler Brothers. Founded in 1871 by Commerzienrath Ritter von Voigtländer, Commerzienrath Albert Oppenheimer and Carl Uhl in Braunschweig, Gustav Seeliger in Wolfenbüttel. The Actiencapital of 250,000 Thaler was issued at a rate of 105. the prospectus contains false information, various Shareholders against the founders for the repurchase of the shares and in July 1876 in the second instance a successful The defendant's objection that the The Higher Court of Wolfenbüttel rejected the appeal. büttel, stating that this objection would be in the case of a Fraud is not permitted.

Berlin Sugar Refinery, otherwise Gebr. Schickler. Pre-purchased by Paul Munk, and founded October 1872 by Commercial Councillor Meyer Cohn, Gustav Böhm, Leopold Hadra, Georg Beer, Aron Hirsch Heymann and Commissioner Jacob Goldmann in Berlin, factory owner Friedrich Bergmann in Cloth band. Share capital 1,200,000 thalers and 650,000 thirs. Mortgages! Board member: Hermann Löwinsohn in Berlin. 1875 closed with a deficit of 43,000 thalers. In reality the loss will be much greater; but the Shares are still in the hands of the founders.

Altenburg sugar factory in Zechau near Meuselwitz. Founded in April 1872 by Robert Baumann (Berliner Bank) and the ducal domain tenant Naumann, and the handed over to unfortunate shareholders for 700,000 thalers. In addition to the share capital of 600,000 thalers, they tried later to issue 250,000 Thaler priorities. In 1874 the bankruptcy, and a debt burden of 425,000 Thaler, while the necessary sale only 179,000 Thaler.

Starch syrup, glucose and sugar coloring | Factory, formerly Seeler & Moiske in Frankfurt a. O. and in Beeskow. Founded September 1872 by the Niederlau-

– 19 –

sitzer Credit-Gesellschaft in Berlin and Frankfurt. Actien-capital 300,000 Thaler, of which the previous owners owned a third B. Moiske became Director. The prospectus net 14%, dividend and named as Supervisory Board members: Mr. Zapp, brewery owner II. S. Muth, master carpenter Wilhelm Stumpf and City Councillor Dr. juris Adolph in Frankfurt a. O., Paul Helm and factory owner GFW Noack in Berlin. In 1873, 7½% dividend was paid, in 1874 – 7%. April 1876 broke the Conkurs. | `

Starch and syrup factory, formerly Dutalis & Co. in Brandenburg a. H. Purchased for allegedly 315,000 Thir. (!) and founded September 1872. The share capital of 300,000 Thaler was listed on the Berlin Stock Exchange by Beer & Herzberg introduced at the rate of 105 (!!). In addition, 75,000 Thaler Mortgages. Supervisory Board members include: Joseph Herzfeld, Emanuel Nathan, M. Alberts, R. Keller and Ed. Marwitz. Dividends never. The balance sheet of August 31, 1874 closed with about 200,000 Thir. Loss, and in February 1876 the liquidation began.

Starch sugar factory, formerly Carl Aug. Köhlmann in Frankfurt a. O. Founded November 1871 with 600,000 Thlr. Shares. The previous owner retained management. Supervisory Board: Ferd. Jaques, Carl Coppel, Walter Bauendahl and "General-director" A. Zimmermann in Berlin, City Councillor August Pahl in Frankfurt a. O. Dividends from 1872 to 1876: 5, 10, 12, 6 and respectively 71/,% Course about 60.

Of these 15 companies, 6 entered bankruptcy or in liquidation, 4 are without a course, and 5 are listed still over 20. At the end of 1876, allegedly in As a result of the poor beet harvest, an increase in Sugar prices, which, as with petroleum, is probably artificial in nature, and mainly 13*

– 196 –

ly serves the stock exchange, which has since been a price-driving in sugar stocks. May the public Be warned of this new scam!

We come to the glass foundations, whose first Result: an increase in glass prices by 25 percent cent. They are not as numerous as the paper and sugar start-ups, but on average also malicious, and we record here:

Deutsche Spiegelglas-Actiengesellschaft, formerly Gebr. Koch in Grünenplan near Delligsen in Braunschweig; founded July 1871. Of the share capital of 1 million thalers, initially 600,000 thalers in 50 percent interim notes issued by Hugo Pringsheim on the Berlin Stock Exchange with 118, i.e. at a course of 136, and which one up to about 145, which corresponds to a course of 190!! The Co-owner, Dr. Friedrich Koch, who "with all his Capital remained involved", retained the management and took over the The first supervisory board members to name the editorial advertisements of the newspapers: Geh. Commerzien-Councillor Louis Ravene, bank agent Theodor Hertel, building councillor Wäseman and manufacturer Albert Pfaff in Berlin, Dr. Aug. Seyferth in Braunschweig, Gustav Seeliger in Wolfenbüttel. In December In 1872 the second share issue took place in the amount of 400,000 Thaler; the founders left 200,000 Thaler to the shareholders to the course of 110, and gradually brought the other half to the market, which together gives them a premium of 70,000 to 90,000 Thalers must have been registered. For 1873, a Dividend of 2°/); since then 0. Price approx. 25.

Albertinenhütte glass factory, formerly Georg Leuffgen

– 197 –

in Charlottenburg near Berlin. Founded November 4, 1871 by Georg Beer, Isidor Platho (Platho & Wolff), Ignatz Witkowski, Justizrath Gustav Wolff and the Prussian Boden-Credit-Actien-Bank (Richard Schweder) in Berlin. The prospectus presented 16% dividend in prospect, and the previous owner, who had a Posten Actien took over, guaranteed for 5 years "under Caupformance' 10%. As a result of these brilliant promises The issued share capital was oversubscribed five times. the first financial year, the shareholders received the guaranteed 10%, but then nothing more. The supervisory board, these are the Founder, has the director and previous owner Leuffgen of his obligations. Apart from the share capital of 395,000 thalers. burden the company with over 500,000 Thaler mortgages and Priorities. This explains why the shares that were once with 110 were wanted, today 1 letter stands, ie with 1 – Mr. Leuffgen is also involved in the equally notorious German Marezzo marble company ity, which has been supporting the public prosecutor for two years busy.

Charlottenhütte glass factory in Waitze in Posen.
Founded in March 1873 by manor owner Adolf Wollmann to Waitze, banker Adalbert Nitykowski to Hirschberg i. Schl., Editor Alexander Hoffers in Berlin, manufacturer Jul. Fahdt and steelworks owner Friedrich Siemens in Dresden. Board:
Dr. L. Hoffmann in Berlin. Share capital 425,000 Thir. Already In December 1873 the bankruptcy broke out, which was
was made common, but in its place the subhastation
Of course, the shares are worthless. The state
Lawyer in Meseritz has researched.

Adolf Wollmann and his son were involved in the poisoning process that caused such great suffering in the province of Posen in 1875.
caused a stir, and because of her the director and the department conductor of the ee Birnbaum from the office suspended.

– 198 –

Niederlausitz Glassworks in Fürstenberg a. O. Ge-founded in February 1873 by the Maklervereinsbank in Berlin with 300,000 thalers shares. Supervisory Board: Otto Kaufmann, Eugen Hainauer and Hermann Jagodzinski in Berlin. Board:
Manufacturer Moritz Beichler in Fürstenberg and Mrs. Wilhelm Kaessee in Berlin. For the first financial year 3%, dividend, then 0 and in 1876 in liquidation.

Vereinigte Glashütten, formerly Wilh. Rönsch and Gebrüder Hirsch in Radeberg near Dresden. Founded November 1872 with 265,000 Thaler shares, which & 105 issued were! Supervisory Board: Attorney Dr. Hermann Sintenis, Otto Harlau (HW Bassenge & Co.), Hugo Grumpelt and reindeer Berthold Wuttig in Dresden, lawyer Paul Oertel in Radeberg.
Last dividends 0 and 1%.

Westphälische Glashütte, formerly Haarmann, Schott and Hahne in Witten on the Ruhr. Founded Novbr. 1872 from the Bank for Rhineland and Westphalia in Cologne, the Elberfelder Disconto- und Wechslerbank and JH Brink & Co. in Elberfeld. Share capital 1 million thalers and 200,000 thirties.
Mortgages! The previous owners retained the management, and a
A note in "Saling's Börsenblatt" on December 7 already hope for a dividend of 13 to 14%. 1874 closed with 573,000 Thaler loss, whereupon the previous owners 100,000 Thaler and a "shareholder" received 180,000 Thaler in shares "free of charge"
Then the share capital was reduced to 600,000 Thaler. Nevertheless, the balance sheet of 31 August 1875 showed again a loss of over 375,000 thalers, and the

The outstanding debt was about 270,000 thalers. – Prize task:
What could this famous hut actually be worth?

Rheinische Glashütte in Cologne. Founded in June 1872 with 250,000 thalers. Shares. Supervisory Board: Attorney-at-law Esser II, Baurath Raschdorff, “General Director” Martin Neuerburg, Ad-lawyer Schnaas, Ernst Leybold. Course?

Penzig glassworks near Görlitz, formerly Baenisch, Menzel

– 19 –

& Co. Founded in February 1872 with 340,000 Thaler shares, which S. Abel Jr. published in Berlin. Supervisory Board: Go.
Commerzienrath R. Schmidt (Gevers & Schmidt), City Council
Head of the Board Halberstadt, Head of the Bank Ruscheweyh, Legal lawyer Dr. Dreyer and Albert Katz in Görlitz. The previous owner Menzel remained in charge, and the prospect provided at least 10% dividend in sight – “even if you take into account that a joint-stock company has a more costly administration than the private owner,” it said in the call for Subscription. – – Just as strange as this admission-nis is the fact that the promises of the prospect have proven themselves here. For 1874, the Action-nary 17°/), and for 1875 – 10%. May it stay that way!

In addition to these companies, the following are also known became: the Neu-Friedrichsthaler glassworks near Schneidemühl, originally the “famous” malt manufacturer Johann Hoff in Berlin, which 1876 its share capital from 400,000 to 100,000 thalers and then filed for bankruptcy; the Glass and mirror factory in Schalke near Gelsenkirchen with a registered capital of 1,200,000
Thaler; and the Creuznacher glassworks with 150,000
Thaler Actien, a doubly strange foundation, insofar as it still dared to come forward in April 1874,
and was brought into the world by a society,
which was already in the process of dissolving, namely lich from the liquidating Aachen Bank for Trade and industry. Furthermore, the following companies went into liquidation:

– 200 –

Gdansk Glassworks and Elisenbruch Glassworks
near Conitz in West Prussia; while the glassworks Westerhüsen near Magdeburg 1875 in Concurs

rieth. The Stollberger glassworks finally became the subject of an important criminal case and therefore deserves a closer discussion:

In September 1872, this society: A. Charlier in Burtscheid, K. Delius, H. Steinmeister and Advocat Koch in Aachen, as well as the Rhenish-Westphalian Comradeschaftsbank in Cologne, represented by its directors: W. Keussen and Advocat-Rechtsanwälte a. D. Bloem. They bought the glass factory of Moritz Kraus in Stollberg, which of these four years previously by 34,000 thalers purchased for 130,000 thalers; a price that, according to The expert's assessment of the actual The Rhenish-Westphälische Genossenschaftsbank and In this contract the purchase price was set at 160,000 Thaler. The new company now acquired company took over the establishment from the Rhenish-Westphälischen Genossenschaftsbank, which in turn the former owner Kraus, for other allegedly 200,000 thalers, and set the share capital to 260,000 thalers, which the above-mentioned green

– 201 –

The difference between the actual and the fictitious purchase price of together 70,000 Thaler was exchanged between them in this way. that they will purchase the new shares at the price of only 73. They searched and found a Consortium, which offers them the shares at the price of 92, and together with this, thought to delight the public, to give them the shares above par (100). The events behind However, the scenes became known, even the time conditions were less favorable and the foundation fell into Water, while the consortia with the 92 shares taken remained sitting. |

The consortia were therefore not serious shareholders, but mere speculators who founders secured a profit of 19%, and to derive their own advantage from the audience The mysteries of the founding of they may not have been initiated, but rather the false the information in the prospectus itself. Nevertheless, it seems that they called not the judge, but the senior prosecution curatur at Aachen officially appointed and raised against the founders for fraud. The-

However, the same were in the first and second in-

- 202 -

ance; both the police chamber as the Appellate Chamber of the Regional Court of Aachen missed the requirements of fraud.
The Public Ministry reported the Cassation recurs, whereupon the Supreme Tribunal in Berlin granted the free Speaking judgment by decision of 4 May 1876 destroyed, and the matter for further negotiation decision to the Appeal Chamber Düsseldorf. What the appeal judge denied,
The High Court affirms this. There is a financial damage and unlawful property
advantage in that the contract specifies the purchase price correctly stated at 200,000 thalers. There is a Deception in that the founders the difference of 70,000 thalers were concealed from the consortia and states that in every partnership relationship the individual shareholders "to mutual respect of good faith" and to open Communication of facts essential to the business circumstances. |

Unfortunately, this very important decision is struggling as well as the findings of the first and second instance, on a cumbersome file style, on a Periods that are difficult for the layman to unravel tangle; but it is of incalculable consequence.

- 203 -

If it obliges the founders to provide the consortium, their comrades and assistants, nothing essential to conceal anything, but to disclose the facts to communicate openly and truthfully, there is Such an obligation undoubtedly also affects the cial shareholders. According to the judgment of the Supreme Court, all foundations
the period of fraud from 1870 to 1873, Public prosecutor expires, because no one is without significant profit, but this is always Even if the prospectuses are not always contain positively false information, so conceal they regularly receive the founder's premium, and the
The Supreme Court has previously ruled that the Concealed founder profits considered fraud

and should be punished.

The founders, who, in order to put the industry on the legs to help, not forgetting any industry, have also made in leather, rubber and tobacco, and let us first characterize the following societies
ties: |

Saxon Leather Industry, formerly Daniel Beck in Döbeln near Riesa. Founded in January 1872 by Philipp Eli-meyer in Dresden with 700,000 Thaler shares, which in Berlin Moritz Löwe & Co. The first supervisory board members to name

– 204 –

the prospect: Knauth, Nachod & Kühne in Leipzig, Götze & Popert in Hamburg, Hermann Schlesinger in Berlin, CF Forster in Riesa and lawyer Carl Speck in Döbeln. The Former owners Oscar Beck and Paul Beck took over the Management and a “very considerable sum” in shares.
Dividends of “at least 10 to 12%” were promised and actually paid 12% for 1872. On the other hand, closed 1874 with 102,000, 1876 with 187,000 Thaler loss, and In October 1876, half of the shares were sold off.
smile. Cours once 140, now about 15.

Dresden leather factory, formerly F. Robert Bierling IV.
Founded in March 1872 with 475,000 Thaler shares and 100,000 Thaler mortgages. The previous owner retained the management, and The first members of the supervisory board were: FA Rudolph (Günther & Rudolph), M. Schie Nachfolger, B. Gutmann, Hermann Bierling, Rudolf Müller and Georg Lemcke in Dresden.
Shareholders have so far received dividends of 13, 5½, 9 and respectively.
5% . Price approx. 80.

Leather, machine belts and military effects factory, formerly Heinrich Thiele in Dresden. Founded April 1872
by AL Mende, Lüder and Tischer. Share capital 275,000 Thaler, Supervisory Board: HG Lider, Emil Quellmalz and Adolf Josky in Dresden. The previous owner retained the management and guaranteed a dividend of 8% for three years. 1875
a part of the shares was massacred, and 1876 – 5%) Di-paid in cash. Price approx. 50.

Leather factory in Dohna, formerly Prietzelt & Silbermann. Founded April 1872 with 160,000 Thaler shares, which issued: the Thüringer Bankverein, the Pirnaer Bank and A. Gerstenberger in Dresden. The previous owner was Director, and Deputy Attorney Emil Lehmann in Dresden Chairman of the Supervisory Board. 1874 closed with a loss.

Berlin rubber and gutta-percha factory
Bolle & Co., formerly W. Elliot. Founded October 1871

– 205 –

by Henry Sachs, Th. Henschel (J. Henschel Sons), Albert Borchardt, Adolf Kessel and steelworks director Hellmuth Förster. The previous owner and co-founder Henry Sachs sold for 193,000 Thaler, and was appointed director of the company with a salary of 5000 thalers and royalties. At the same time, He provided a minimum of 250,000 thalers for the share capital. nimal dividend of 8%, for 5 years, which can also be increased by shots he made were paid regularly. After At the end of these five years, in June 1876, he bought the factory for 104,000 Thaler back by paying cash approx. 43,000 Thaler and mortgaged the rest. Meanwhile, the Shares have fallen from 120 to below 50.

North German rubber and gutta-percha fabrics company
brik, formerly Fonrobert & Reimann in Berlin. Founded October 1871 by Joseph Jaques, Rauff & Knorr, Oscar Hainauer, Eduard Stahlschmidt, Louis Gratweil, Hermann Leubuscher, Joseph Seelig, Commissioner Richard Wentzel and City Councillor Rudolf Pohle. 480,000 Thaler shares and 165,000 Thaler Mortgages. Directors: Jules Fonrobert and Albeit Reimann. 8 to 10% dividends were promised, and pays 7, 6, 5½ and 5% respectively. Course still about 45.

German rubber and gutta-percha goods factory, formerly Volpi & Schlüter in Berlin. Founded Novbr. 1871 by Rauff & Knorr, Gebrüder Niedlich, "General Director" Fr. Waltz, August Lemelson, Chief Engineer Gustav Gruson and Wilhelm Hennig, Eduard Stahlschmidt and Reinhold Alexander Seelig. The purchase price was 550,000 Thaler, without the stocks! Share capital 4f0,000 Thaler, of which the Previous owners allegedly kept 230,000 thalers for themselves, and 120,000 Thaler mortgages. August Schlüter became director, and dividends were paid: 8, 8, 71/2 and 6% respectively. about 50 more.

Rubber goods factory Voigt & Winde in Berlin.
founded in June 1873 by Dittmar Leipziger, Emil Wolff, Nathan

– 206 –

Schlesinger, Julius Sisum and Hermann Winde. 400,000 Thaler Shares and 100,000 Thaler mortgages. The previous owners and Co-founders Sisum and Winde retained the leadership, and Dividends have allegedly been paid so far: 10, 5 and respectively. 9%. Without stock exchange price. |

Technical rubber goods factory C. Schwanitz & Co. in Berlin. Founded in March 1874 by the Schwanitz family with 227,000 Thaler shares. Like the previous one, a delayed Founded and without stock exchange price.

Rubber thread factory, formerly Ferd. Kohlstadt & Co. in Cologne. Founded in March 1872 with 400,000 Thaler shares. Director: Ferd. Kohlstadt sen. Administrative Board: Justizrat Fay, Bank-director Smidt and Ferd. Kohlstadt jun. in Cologne, Banker Herz in Düsseldorf and Banquier Holthausen in Crefeld. First division end 7½0%. Course?

Continental-Caoutchouc- & Guttapercha-Compagnie in Hannover. Founded October 1871 with 300,000 Thaler shares and 163,000 Thaler mortgages. Direction: Jacob Frank and Conrad Köhnel. Board of Directors: Ferd, Meyer, Hermann Peretz, Commercial Councillor Otto Köhnel, Moritz Magnus, Moritz Meyer Otto Stockhardt, Daniel Heinemann. Senem, 1874 with loss to have closed.

United Rubber Goods Factories Harburg-Vienna, pre-mals Ménier and JN Reithoffer. Share capital 3 million lion thalers! Later reduced to 1,800,000 thalers. distributed dividends of 12½% for 1874/75 and 10% for 1875/76.

"Rubber shares" enjoyed on the Berlin Stock Exchange no particular smell, and were from her, the otherwise was not at all disgusting, with suspicion taken; which was partly due to the fact that the Introduction of these shares took place at the end of 1871, where after a period of continuous reasoning, the first

– 207 –

setback occurred, the first big panic which, however, quickly passed. It was particularly difficult to accommodate the shares of the two factories of Fonrobert & Reimann and von Volpi & Schlüter, both of which founded the previous buyer family Hermann Geber and Con-varieties. The consortium, which is responsible shares of the latter company,

As the "Neue Börsenzeitung" revealed, to deduct only 100 thalers for every 10,000 thalers, so that a participant with 10,000 thalers 9900 thalers on the neck, and only gradually to could get rid of quite low prices.

J. Henschel Söhne, who introduced the "
Gummigesellschaft, formerly Bolle, learned
Another mishap occurred. They sent the necessary Advertisement for inclusion in the editorial section to the various newspapers, and added, depending on the meaning of the leaf, a corresponding drinking money. The "Tribune", a subordinate Local and gossip paper, received the note and plus two hundred-thaler notes, but sent the money back and made a big noise about the "Be-attempted stabbing", to the justified astonishment of the other journals. – Remember, my dear friend,

– 208 –

the worldly poodle Ponto speaks to the philosophical cat Murr that it is advisable to
To be honest about little things; about big things
it matters less. – The "Tribune", which, because of this small imposition, in such Indignation, the drum beat very loudly, deeply moved for Baruch Hirsch Strausberg, and this Benefactor of humanity in a nice feuille-ton with the headline "The Man Who Buys Everything" celebrated. The stock exchange laughed at J. Henschel Söhne because they had handled the matter clumsily started. Such envelopes are used not to address openly to the newspapers, but them in the coat pocket of the person concerned.
to the stock market editors, where they always found and used as desired. J. Henschel sons, then still newcomers, have since become became wiser and surprised the stock market after whom she had just returned from a summer stay in Italy returned home in the autumn of 1876 with a small Fallissem ent.

Strangely enough, the rubber stocks have performed far better than their original reputation would have you expecting it; today they are among the industrial stocks that are at the highest price.

– 209 –

Fonrobert & Reimann still note about 45, Volpi & Schliiter still about 50; and at Bolle, where the pre-sitter Henry Sachs bought back the establishment, The shareholders should even be paid 70 percent Truly a foundation that is worth seeing can, and which at the time was also a recommendation the "Tribune" would have deserved! Fonrobert & Reimann have once again rendered services to the fatherland. While German industry in Philadelphia made such a sad fiasco, she was, according to report the "National-Zeitung", in Berlin again honored brought, namely at the festival which the Narrenklub "Humor" on August 6, 1876. On this memorable day, three Action-hungry people like Captain Boyton in swimming suits, which the rubber company Fonrobert & Reimann, and which the American Manufactured by greater durability of the material and due to the absolutely waterproof closure very "Our domestic industry celebrated a great triumph!" exclaims full of ghosts the "Nationalzeitung". – A car-nevalsgesellschaft has the honor of the German Industry saved. That's the humor of it!

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 14

– 210 –

The most famous tobacco companies are:

Tabaksfabrik, otherwise George Prätorius in Berlin. founded 30 January 1872 by Robert Beuther, Louis Böger (Gebr. Junge), Moritz Goldstein (Marx & Goldstein), Dr. Gustav Levinstein, editor of the "Tabaks-Zeitung" and Heinrich Quistorp. First supervisory board members include: J. Platho (Platho & Wolff), Moritz Treitel. Chairman: Judas Neumann and later city councillor Robert Lauber from Rochlitz in Saxony. Share capital 450,000 Thaler and 100,000 Thaler mortgages. Quistorp, who was the green „commission-based" again, assured in his Circular that the price for the land, factory facilities and Stocks are fixed "very moderately". "It is the most unconditional guarantee rantie commanded that the highly respected name of George Praetorius in business circles and subsequently preserved and from this Names not at the expense of shareholders capital The newspapers also asserted that the conversion

the business, which has existed since 1808, with "respectful consideration view of the testator" (George Prätorius), and a "lucrative" interest rate is undoubtedly. Quistorp the Great müthige granted on 5 shares of his club bank, which at that time about 160 listed, A tobacco share: "We (Quistorp) are pleased also on this occasion again a discount for you
A sharp contrast to These fat promises are offset by the meager dividends that previously 4, 2½, 2 and respectively 23/,°/) and the course which caused shares to fall to 45.

Deutsche Tabaks-Actiengesellschaft, formerly W. Brunzlow & Sohn. Also a well-known business that opened on 26. October 1872 by Oscar Hainauer, Ferd. Jacques, Hermann Reimann, Paul Calmus, Theodor Munk and Hugo Fuchs was founded. 600,000 Thaler shares and 100,000 Thaler Mortgages. The first financial year ended with a dividend end of 3?/,%/, and then they went into liquidation; what inwhich is just hocus-pocus, because the founders were the stock

– 211 –

Fortunately, they were not able to get rid of it. Apparently, the establishment: Salomon Lachmann, Eduard Hirschberg and Habakuk Lachmann, and a new society was formed, which had a share capital of 200,000 thalers.
These shares are also said to still be in the hands of the first illustrators, and may the audience always be preserved!

Tabaksgesellschaft Union, formerly Leopold Kronenberg in Warsaw and Dresden. Founded Decbr. 1871 by the Berliner Handelsgesellschaft and the Saxon Creditbank in Dresden with 1,100,000 Thaler shares!! Supervisory Board: Representative Advocat Hermann Schreck in Pirna, Advocaten Hermann Oehme and Dr. Stein I. in Dresden, Anton Laski and Adolf Wenzel (Samuel Anton Fränkel) in Warsaw, August Wolf in Dresden, Mankiewicz & Co. in Hamburg. 11% were promised to the shareholders, and they received 1872 – 9%, and 1873 – 5%. Last year's two dividends were 0. Cours?

Saxon tobacco factories, formerly A. Collenbusch in Dresden and Frankenberg. Founded March 1872 with 300,000 Thaler Actien. The previous owners FA Collenbusch and EF Friedrich retained the leadership and took over a position Shareholders: Robert Thode & Co., Georg Stiebel (Gera Bank Agency), Attorney Dr. Gustav Lehmann, Rudolf Völcker, Heinrich Kloss and Adolf Graf in Dresden. Dividends 6% in 1874 and 1875 respectively. Course approx. 80.

Tobacco and cigar factory, formerly Gustav Müller & Co. in Dresden. Founded March 1872 with 300,000 Thaler Actien. The previous owner took over the management and a third of the share capital. Supervisory Board: CW Meyer and Georg Moritz Weber (Eduard Rocksch's successor), Victor Blachstein and Member of Parliament, Advocat Emil Lehmann in Dresden. February 1875 in liquidation, and paid October 1876 the Shareholders receive a 25% discount.

14*

– 212 –

Dressler's cigar and cigarette factory in Dresden with 350,000 thalers shares. Went into liquidation in May 1876. Course approx. 40.

Tobacco and cigar factories, formerly AM Ritter in Leipzig. Founded in November 1872 by the Dresden Handelsbank with 300,000 Thaler shares and 25,000 Thaler mortgage counters. Mr. Moritz Ritter remained in charge and took over 100,000 Thaler shares. Already in 1873 it closed with a loss, and it was decided to dissolve the company.

Actien-Cigar- and Tobacco Factory in Ansbach.
In liquidation at the end of 1875.

When Leopold founded his tobacco factory Kronenberg the monstrous case occurred, that the "Berliner Börsen-Zeitung" the company was subjected to harsh criticism and the audience warned against it. Presumably the founders submitting the editorial note forgotten, or the usual side dish was missing, or it was found to be insufficient. Regardless, the otherwise so pleasing "Berliner Börsen-Zeitung" failed to recommend development, and the new tobacco shares had to pay the price. They were never able to trade properly on the Berlin Stock Exchange and they almost always wrote "letter".

At the tobacco company founded in Dresden ties, two lawyers were appointed as supervisory board members both of which are based on the not unusual

– 213 –

Hear the name "Lehmann": Dr. Gustav Lehmann and State Parliament member Emil Lehmann. Both are in numerous, predominantly bad foundations Mr. Emil Lehmann, however, was among the lazier, for which he seems to have a preference. The talented man has also made a name for himself as a writer and produced a brochure entitled "Hear Israel!" This is a warning and wake-up call from the equally pious and worldly-wise supervisory board his Jewish co-religionists. "Blessed are you, Eternal our God, who has reached this time and let us experience!" With this old blessing he welcomes the latest phase of the German Ge- history, where Rothschild and Bleichröder rule, where Lasker and Bamberger make laws, and then expresses his rejoicing in the words:

"What Lessing will achieve with his Nathan in a hundred years What I had hoped to achieve has now come true. Not pressure, not rejection, not even more benevolent tolerance – no, full equality, fair treatment recognition, that is the watchword for Jews and Jewish thum. Wherever we look in the vast realm of history, We find no era in which both Jews and Judaism would have enjoyed such freedom, such prosperity. – "The mercury on the heat gauge of education are the Jews; and because our time in education and morality has progressed far, far – that is why freedom and equality of Jews in our days and for all future times a secure one.'

– 214 –

Mr. Emil Lehmann is an enlightened Jew. He does not believe in the ceremonial and dining he abhors circumcision, but by no means away the pork and the veal hindquarters; He is enthusiastic about non-denominational schools and recommends his fellow believers to join the Christian Sunday day celebration and Christian calendar, and to marry the Christians. What he still misses is the social social equality for Jews, and this must be achieved through close cooperation keep the "chain that stretches across the whole earth-around, which twitches electrically as soon as a limb is injured", and which already has a form accepted by the Alliance Israé Foundation-lite Universal.

This significant brochure was published in 1869
and certainly into eager ears and hearts.
Since then, the power and influence of the Jews have not grown to such an extent that they actually Germany already has dominion. They today hold the highest state offices, they fulfill the colleges of judges and the higher teaching posts, they

re

mix with the nobility and become themselves raised to the nobility, they publish in the press, in sets the tone in parliaments and in society.

Their great superiority is based on their empire
thum. While the Jews at all times had the most money because they always kept the same Like a sponge, they now own almost everything Money alone. The French "billion dollar business"
The Russian war contribution is mainly due to them
Good things come; the stock market and start-up boom del, in which they hold 90 percent, and which is their real work, has brought them millions and billions were registered.

If you consider what the "economists" and the founders promised everything, and what they did-have now achieved; when you realize, what colossal wealth the Jews have accumulated since French Wars, and how in-between the Christians are improved – so one can,
following on from the tobacco establishments of the gentlemen Gustav Lehmann and Emil Lehmann, probably a popular use a silly saying and exclaim: The is strong tobacco!

fx } ' ;

There is a lack of iodine!

The trading reports of a Christian department store – Stock market game on the Commodity markets – Chemical companies: Schering, Vilter, Farben-Fabrik, Aniline dyes, Alizarin factory, Charlottenburg, Köpenick, Oranienburg, Schönebecker, Gothaer, Corbetha, Mügeln, Union, Ascania, Leopoldshall, Ver-united Leopoldshall, Stassfurter, Heinrichshall, Hanoverian Ultramarine factory, Egestorff's salt works, Oker and Braunschweig, Eisenbüttel, quinine Factory, Elberfeld Industry and Alizarin, Chemical Industry in Cologne, a Pommerensdorfer Soaps, Bredow and others, Danziger, Silesia – Vertigo – Adulterations – Dr. Oscar Liebreich's chloral hydrate and pepsin wine – Schering's dialyzed salicylic acid – A chemical writer – Two stock exchange Editors: Dr. Heinrich Ebeling and Julius Schweitzer – "Doctor Schweiger" – Mr. Schweitzer's anniversary – The „Slander Era" – The association "Berliner Presse" – Mr. Schweitzer complains – Noble openness of the "Berliner Bérsen-Courier".

*

There was not a complete lack of voices
already complaining during the dizzy spell and issued warnings that
how much the start-up endangers the real business,
the public is disadvantaged, the general moral ity – but these isolated voices were drowned out, smothered by the wild chorus of Press, and they found, especially when they had certain Expose damages and certain undertakings

*

– 217 –

wanted to mark, hardly any organ that could opened its columns, because all the leaves, large and small, the newspapers of every political color, even the officiating, had already given up on the precious infor the sake of the founders and the Stock exchange, whose interests they enthusiastically on which they are more or less dependent.
gig. Those who opposed the fraud at that time, to whose disclosure even the governments do not have the
The slightest actions were ignored and either not mentioned at all or dealt with in passing
, called an eccentric or a regressive person, even accused of despicable motives. Anyone who Nevertheless, do not shy away from the press conference
Sorteria did not let himself be intimidated, he will be a good Courage cannot be denied, and if his efforts have been in vain, it deserves
At least he should be mentioned with honor today.

The drug store of Gehe & Co. in Dresden, which has existed for more than a quarter of a century
is one of the largest in its industry on the continent is both a world-renowned company and a flawless Renommées enjoys, lets her numerous customers
every six months a so-called trade report in which they assess the economic situation of the individual

– 218 –

Article discusses, and at the same time in an introduction
currently on the agenda commercial and industrial issues were discussed. These trade judge what is happening in the midst of the Jewish haggling and usury, which has devoured the entire business world is still a large Christian department store today,
and they again fill with involuntary respect
before the German merchant who once founded the Patri-ciat of our cities. These trade reports, which unfortunately remain unknown to the general public,
of which recently, however, the Newspapers took note, all economic topics, are a veritable treasure trove of popular economic knowledge, directly related to practice
taken, as is the case with the Manchester "Volks-wirthen", which the equally narrow-minded and narrow-minded press behind them, searches in vain.

Gehe & Co. are fighting tirelessly against the many burglary legislation and mismanagement,
They are also present in petitions to the parliamentary bodies and in special brochures, eager to point out the evils in industry, trade and transport and to propose appropriate reforms.
Against the founding and the activities of the stock exchange
They declared themselves to be jobbers from the outset, and

– 219 –

the dizziness, while it was still in bloom and was accompanied by a devastating criticism.
They wrote in their April trade report 1872:

"We can speak of a true embarrassment of wealth speak, because this sudden change is more of a hindrance than a help.
capital surplus to regular trading. It acts like a cloudburst after a prolonged drought, more destructive as fertilizing. Since the basis of real business is the unable to absorb the sudden influx of capital,

This independent investment in railways, banks, Factories. – "In business transactions, the converted Factories usually play a completely different role than before. As the
A building contractor acts differently than someone who
If you build a house for your own use, then a Money power that deals with factories or factory shares, unlike a private citizen who is permanently concerned with his – "Industrial enterprises offer the Speculation is a very productive field. All those on the stock exchange ongoing operations: taking supplies, spreading false news, the refutation of which is all the more difficult as one journal after another asserted its independent position with the quality of a tool of certain financial circles exchanges, arbitrary picking up and pushing, then just as Sudden throwing of individual articles: all these habits which have given the stock market the reputation of a game, are increasingly spreading in the trade in goods, and the in-
It is primarily industrial enterprises that are Penetration of this stock exchange practice into the commodity trade Stigen. The state authorities would certainly be able to and our
It is our opinion that we are committed not only to the trade in goods, but also to the aid of the entire consuming citizens

– 20 –

In their hands are the means to publicize kum to be clarified by properly organized statistics. But Such statistics, which are used in England, Holland and the Hanseatic cities, but unfortunately has little prospect on generalization, after the statistics of the German Reich did not take practical benefit as its goal and only bureaucratic considerations have gained the upper hand have."

In their trade reports from 1872
and in 1873 Gehe & Co. repeatedly complained about the large fluctuations in commodity prices, which each Foresight, mock every combination that does not other causes than arbitrariness and stock market job
The modern stock industry, instead of competition among themselves and thereby the prices cheaper, join forces with the unjust produced the most rapid price increases. The shares companies pounce on any branch,
monopolise it, dictate the prices,
produce, regardless of sales and expenses,

into the blue, then throw the prices
and thus destroy any solid private competition.
about the "darling of the almighty high finance",
the "golden stock market game", the real commodity trade is already being ignored. Hand in hand with the Stock economy and generated by it, the

– 21 –

general, constantly increasing price increase of all things; all commercial and conventional Barriers were torn down and the audience exposed to unbridled greed for money.

Of course, the criticism is directed at Gehe & Co. especially against the then in such A huge number of chemical factories were founded, "which pursue no other purpose than money and therefore only engage in profitable mass business,
also only deliveries in the quantities that suit them
tities, qualities and forms that suit them-
It is precisely here that the artificial scarcity a colossal increase in price of products, namely the so-called chemical Staple items, from which such an indispensable medicinal substance such as iodine in a few months by three times of the previous price. But the inevitable overproduction will be enough to bring about a turnover, and the prices could easily become cheaper than they have ever been before.
This would also cause dividends to fluctuate
those which are currently so abundantly available for distribution and the shareholders would hardly have been able to permanent profit can be expected.

If Gehe & Co. were so zealous and prophesied,

– 222 –

They did it without any jealousy, without any addiction; with complete impartiality and truth-love, in the interest of their business friends and the large audience. The flood-like growth of Actien-Concurrenz was unable to maintain its long-established works: not to do any damage; their articles and manufactured goods remained, especially with pharmacists and doctors, still valued and sought after,
while the products of the stock factories are far too

complaints, often enough by experts Customers did not find it "chemically pure" and therefore were objected to. The imposition of Gehe & Co.
but in their views and principles
Any such attempt was doomed to fail.
Many of her colleagues who were in the Rule pushed themselves to the founders and joined the
who were involved in the founding with full understanding.

The number of companies converted into joint-stock companies chemical and similar factories is legion.
We review the following:

Chemical factory, formerly Commerzienrath Ernst Schering in Berlin. Founded October 1871 by the previous owner and Heinrich Quistorp, as well as by pharmacist H. Augustin, Government Councillor A. Bühling, Dr. Emil Jacobsen and Commer-Councillor Gustav Jürst in Berlin, Councillor Julius Holtz in Char-

- 223 -

lottenburg. The last five persons mentioned signed the share capital with 500,000 thalers, each of them hundred thousand thalers! Later, 100,000 thalers were Priorities have been issued, and in addition 100,000 thalers Mortgages present. The previous owner allegedly took over the founding costs and retained the management. 1871 and 1872 8% dividend was paid each, then nothing more. The ee until about 140 driven, is about 15.

Berlin Chemical Products and Steam Bones
flour factory. It manufactures chemical fertilizers and glue; it was given to the tenant of the executioner's office, Com-missionsrath FW Vilter for allegedly 606,000 Thaler (), the Stocks not included (), purchased, and September
Founded in 1872 by Felix Mammoth, Samuel Caro, Ignatz Hantke, Oscar Kohn, Gustav Scheeffer, Rudolf Noack, engineer Ewald
Fr. Scholl. Share capital 600,000 Thaler and 175,000 Thaler Mortgages. The first and only dividend was 40%.
Since the summer of 1875, a party had been working to dismantle and _ it was implemented in February 1876, which completely abolished the shares.
werthete. Liquidators: Adolf Löwe and Julius Hahlo. A Part of the land was bought by the Berlin magistrate, who a particular inclination towards dealings with distressed stocks companies, a bit in a hurry and quite expensive for 150,000 Thaler, which brought him much criticism, and not the shareholders, but only the founders.
for dear Mr Vilter of the Märkisches Provinzial-Museum

the axe and sword, with which the robbers and Gaaner received their wages. Regarding the very suspicious The public prosecutor has researched the foundation, but a No charges have been brought yet. The February 1873 with about 115 paid shares are worthless.

Chemical paint factory in Berlin. Founded April 1872 with 250,000 Thaler share capital from Eduard Mamroth, Julius Sternfeld, Gabriel Hermann Michaelis and Hermann

– 224 –

Lask. closed 1874 with a loss and went into liquidation in May 1875. dation.

Stock company for aniline production in Berlin. Late foundation; launched in July 1873 by Eduard Veit (Robert Warschauer & Co.), Johann Heinrich Albert Ehrenhard, Emil Hallensleben, Dr. Paul Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, Dr. Carl Alex. Martius, Dr. Max Aug. Jordan, Töpke & Leidloff. Share capital 340,000 thalers. Without stock exchange price. :

Alizarin and chemical factory in Potsdam. founded in October 1873 with 350,000 Thaler shares from Werner von Lockstädt, Carl Seefeld, Johann Lehmann, Dr. Heinrich Ebeling, stock exchange editor of the "Vossische Zeitung" in Berlin u. A. Was liquidated again in August 1874, came to Subhastation and was sold to Caesar Chaskel for 32,000 thalers struck! |

Chemical factory in Charlottenburg, formerly Carl Dear. Founded October 1871 by Raphael Eisenmann, Wilh. Eisenmann, Joseph Goldschmidt and Julius Guttentag in Berlin, with 375,000 Thaler shares. First supervisory board members: A. Hasse and FE Bercht. Directors: the previous owner and Theodor Goldschmidt, later Bernhard Roge and Dr. Roseck. Terrible foundation and terrible mismanagement! Already the first financial year closed with a loss of 105,000 Thaler, and they went into liquidation, Bernhard Roge and Wilh. Pfitzinger, Hermann Golde and Carl Häsicke executed, and which of course left nothing for the shareholders. The company's land was sublet in 1876. The The public prosecutor has been dealing with this foundation for years. without anything coming out of it. Only against Bernhard Roge was facing criminal proceedings for under- of 3529 thalers, but it was decided in two instances acquitted. Both judges stated: the removal of those The sum is illegal, but probably a legal error that is particularly common among merchants. – –

Köpenicker Chemical Factory, formerly R Lomax.
founded in May 1871 by Eduard Mamroth and Leo Wollenberg
in Berlin and Michaelis Breslauer in Poznan. Actiencapital 750,000 Thaler and 60,000 Thaler mortgages. First subscribers except the founders: Julius Heinemann in Hanover, Heinrich Hertz in Posen, manor owner Wilh. Lau in Heyde-Wilaen near Trebnitz. Supervisory board and others: Emil Caro in Berlin.
was Dr. Emil Meyer in Berlin. For 1871, an artificial dividend of 10%; 1872 resulted in a fortunate speculation in sulphur still 6%; 1873 – 1%; then 0.
The chemical factory converted to wallpaper printing, Blacksmithing, coopering and basket making! In 1875 with a loss of almost 90,000 thalers. However, this must be far be larger, because the shares once paid for with 120 are listed still about 1.

Chemical Factory Oranienburg, originally the Prussian schen Seehandlung and then to Commissionsrath L. Röhr
Founded in July 1871 by Rauff & Knorr, Samelson &
Sackur, S. Frenkel, City Councillor Otto Kunz and Pharmacist Carl
Young in Berlin. First supervisory board members include: L. Krautheim, Professor R. Weber and manor owner Crüsemann in Berlin.
Board: Dr. Ferd. Dronke in Berlin and Dr. Otto Hübner in Oranienburg. Share capital 550,000 Thaler and 220,000 Thaler Mortgages. Dividends: 1871 – 8, 1872 – 71/20/,, and since-
On 0. 1873 the founders returned 120,000 Thaler shares,
In 1874 and 1875 the share capital was increased to 215,000 Thaler murdered. Cours once 115, now about 9.

Chemical factory in Schönebeck, formerly Vester & Co.
Founded October 1872 by Carl Keferstein, David Tobias, Moritz Michels, Julius Pickardt and Julius Hahlo in Berlin,
Franz Vester in Schönebeck. Director was the co-president Adolf Pflugmacher, owner of Schönebeck. Share capital 325,000.
Thaler, issued by Zippert & Co. in Berlin, and 50,000 Thaler

Mortgages. First and only dividend 5%. The founders
Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 15

“gave back” 10,000 Thaler shares, and the basic capital tal was massacred by two thirds. In 1876, the liquidation dation, and the establishment was sold for 70,000 thalers.
The shares are trading at around 3.

Gotha, salt works and chemical factory, otherwise Louis Engelhard in Gotha. Pre-purchased by Max Schneidemühl, and October 1872 founded by the General Depository bank, by Otto Clement, Jacques Coppel, Nachmann Hirsch Neumann and Dr. Heinrich Ebeling, stock exchange editor of the „Vossischen Zeitung“ in Berlin. Share capital 200,000 Thaler. Director became the previous owner. Already in January 1874, Liquidation. Liquidators: Jacques Coppel and Attorney Ludwig Meyn in Berlin, the latter of whom presented the statute of the 'society had taken up. Cours once 110, now ?

Chemical factory and glassworks at Corbetha railway hof, formerly Louis Neudeck & Co. Allegedly acquired for 355,000 Thaler, and founded with 400,000 Thaler shares and 100,000 Thaler priorities. Supervisory Board: Carl Büttner, Fritz Lüdecke and Franz Pfaffe (Weise & Pfaffe) in Halle, Albert Kühne (JFA Zürn) in Zeitz, Ms. Lösener in Hamburg, MS Meyer in Magdeburg. The noble previous owner, who took over the management and 100,000 Thaler shares, represented 15% dividend and waived any royalties, before the shareholders did not receive at least 10%. Unfortunately they have never seen a penny, and now they go to assassinate three quarters of the shares.

Chemical factory Mügeln near Pirna, alum works of A. Hayn. Founded August 1872, with 525,000 Thaler shares and 100,000 Thaler priorities, from Gebrüder Guttentag and M. Schie successor in Dresden. November 1874 assassinated one part of the share capital, in 1875 “shareholder” Emil Quellmalz from Dresden proposed the lease; however, liquidation was decided and the establishment was handed over to Gustav Löwig for 170,000 Thaler. Against this purchase agreement

– 227 –

The General Assembly protested and decided dei the public prosecutor's office "the strictest investigation of the to apply for a “company formation”.

Union, factory of chemical products, formerly commercial rath Quistorp in Glienken near Stettin, and cheese maker & Schäfer in Magdeburg. Founded in February 1872 by Heinrich Quistorp in Berlin, with 500,000 Thaler capital stock. 5 shares each of his “Vereinsbank”, which at that time was quoted at 160, Quistorp the Magnanimous received a chemical share of 104. Director: the co-owner Hermann Käsemacher in Magdeburg. Chairman of the Supervisory Board: Pharmacist H. Augustin in Berlin. In 1874 the share capital was increased by 200,000 Thaler The first two dividends were 0, the two last 20% each. Course still about 30.

Ascania, chemical factory in Leopoldshall near Bernburg, otherwise FR Kiesel. Founded July 1872 by RA Seelig in Berlin, and the unfortunate shareholders with 505,000 Thaler calculated. Share capital 460,000 Thaler and 100,000 Thaler Mortgages. The first and only dividend for a company financial year of 6 months was == 6°/,0%. May 1876 four fifths of the shares were massacred. The noble previous owners A. Kiesel and Th. Korndorf have referred to the contractually fee of 5000 thalers per year", as well as on interest on the mortgage registered for them! – – Course approx. 3. |

Chemische Fabrik Leopoldshall, formerly LWS Ziervogel in Stassfurt and Dr. W. Th. Tuchen in Leopoldshall. Founded 26 October 1871 by Volkmar & Bendix (, Volkswirth" Michael Levinstein) in Berlin. First supervisory board members: Michael Levinstein, chemist Max Levinstein, Dr. C. Scheibler and city court counselor, now chamber court counselor Hugo Keyssner in Berlin, M. Fliess in Magdeburg. Actiencapital initially 367,000 thalers. The previous owners, who retained the management, 100,000 thalers. In Prospect was immediately given a 15% dividend for the second semester 1871, i.e. for 4 months backwards, and for the I. Semester 1872 – 12% dividend calculated. In such a raff- In no way did they drive the course to about 180, and made then 133,000 thalers of new shares, which partly represent the "first The end was, March 1873, a Merger with the following company, whose shares today note about 8.

15*

– 228 –

United Chemical Factories of Leopoldshall, formerly Douglas, Jena & Winterfeld, Dr. Lossen, widow Lücke, Thiemann & Förster. Founded in February 1872 by Delbrück, Leo & Co. and Volkmar & Bendix in Berlin. First Supervisory Board: Commerzienrath Adalbert Delbrück, "Volkswirth" Michael Levinstein, Dr. C. Scheibler, Dr. Emil Meyer and City Court Counsel, now Chamber Court Counsel Hugo Keyssner in Berlin, M. Fliess in Magdeburg and Commerzienrath Hermann Kühne in Dessau. Mr. Michael Levinstein, Dr. Scheibler, Rath Keyssner and M. Fliess acted simultaneously as board members of two companies that are mutually indirect competition. Even more interesting is that Mr Ziervogel, the director of Leopoldshall, now also took over the "general management" of the new company.

 sees that things are going very well at the joint-stock companies
 – Initially 1,600,000 thalers were issued in 60 percent
 Interim notes were issued and these were driven up to about 120, which corresponds to a rate of 133. September 1872 bought the patented potash factory of Ad. Frank was built; later, to eliminate the competition, Alt-Leopoldshall, and finally In April 1873, a coal mine was opened, with the Capital stock increased to 3 million thalers!
 still figure 350,000 Thaler mortgages!! After merger
 The two companies were founded by Dr. A. Frank and Max Levinstein took over the direction. The first dividends amounted to 11 and 3%, but were only achieved at this height by guaranteed

– 229 –

Subsidies from previous owners are possible. For 1873/74, 1%, since then 0. In the last financial year, the 7 che-Factories are already running on a deficit that can only be remedied by the profit from the coal mine could be offset, and the society will probably only be supported by those who are interested in it.
 ten banks kept afloat. Price about 8.

Chemical factory formerly Julius Vorster and Dr.
 Hermann Grüneberg in Stassfurt. Pre-purchased by Hermann Geber in Berlin, and October 1871 founded by HC Plaut, Rauff & Knorr, Eduard Stahlschmidt, City Councillor Theodor Risch
 and Julius Schweitzer, stock market editor of the "Nationalzeitung" in Berlin, with 530,000 Thaler shares and 100,000 Thaler mortgage counters. First supervisory board members include: August Neubauer in Magde-burg, Hermann Rauff and Professor Rudolf Weber in Berlin.
 Directors: Friedrich Bettelhäuser, Dr. Emil Pfeiffer and Dr.
 Bruno Bernhardt in Stassfurt. The first and only dividend for a financial year of 7 months was 8%. September-
 In 1874, Hermann Geber had the previous owners sell 100,000
 Thaler shares "give back" in order to destroy them,
 since they had no value for him; also took over 50,000 Thaler priorities al pari. Nevertheless, in 1875/76 with a new deficit of about 270,000 Thaler, which is why it was decided to increase the share capital to 192,000 Thaler to assassinate. The price of the shares was still about 8. After a while According to a note from the prosecutor, he is said to have finally intervened.
 Chemical factory Heinrichshall near Köstritz, formerly
 H. von Seckendorf. Founded August 1871 by the Coburg-Gothaische Creditgesellschaft and the Geraer Bank. Actiencapital 260,000 Thaler, issued by Platho & Wolff and Moritz Löwe & Co. in Berlin. In addition, 85,000 Thaler mortgages and 100,000 Thaler Priorities. Supervisory Board: Bank Director Eisen-traut and Adolf Schwenker in Jena, JR Geith and Bankdirector Riemann in Coburg, Otto Schwartzkopff in Magdeburg, former representative and banker Friedrich Feustel in Baireuth.

Dividends: 8, 12, 10, 5 and 7% respectively. The price, once over 140, had already dropped below 50, and is now about 70.

Hannover'sche Ultramarinfabrik, formerly August and Georg Egestorff in Linden. Founded November 1871 by HC Plaut in Berlin, the Hannoversche Bank, B. Magnus and MC Sternheim in Hanover, with 300,000 Thaler of land capital and 70,000 Thaler mortgages. : The previous owners took 100,000 Thaler shares and retained the management. Sichtsraith and others: Director Carl Schanzenbach, Mining Commissioner Strohmeier, senior court attorney Abel, bankers Hermann Sternheim and Moritz Magnus in Hanover. Dividends from 1874 until 1876: 1.4 and respectively 4%. Course?

Georg Egestorff's salt works, chemical and dye Factory in Linden near Hanover. Founded December 1871 by Ephraim Meyer & Sohn and MJ Frensdorff, Provincial Disconto-Gesellschaft in Hannover. 2 million Thaler shares capital and 700,000 Thaler priorities. Supervisory Board: Excellency President V. von Alten and Commerzienrath F. Buresch in Linden, Banker MJ Frensdorff, Commercial Councillor Louis E. Meyer and Fritz Hurtzig, President of the Chamber of Commerce in Hannover, Senator Gustav Godeffroy and engineer Chr. Timmermann in Hamburg, the members AG Mosle in Bremen and senior court attorney Wilh. Laporte in Hanover. Dividends from 1873 to 1875: 3% each. The exchange rate was once 185, now about 30.

Chemical factories Oker and Braunschweig. founded in September 1871 with 150,000 Thaler shares. Management: Ernst Hampe, Wilh. Hasenbalg, Dr. Curt Stalman. Supervisory Councillor: Eberhard Mencke, Commercial Councillor Ritter Fr. von Voigt-countries in Braunschweig. Course?

Chemical factory Eisenbüttel in Braunschweig. founded in November 1871 with 100,000 Thaler shares. management Council of Ministers: Commercial Councillor Ritter Fr. von Voigtländer, Eberhard Mencke, Hermann Buchler, Dr. August Seyferth and August floor in Braunschweig. First dividend 5%. Price?

Quinine factory Braunschweig. Founded November 1871 with 180,000 Thaler shares. Direction: Hermann Buchler and Dr. Otto Popp. Course ?

Chemical Industry Company, formerly Gebr. Ges-located in Elberfeld. Founded January 1873 with 1 million Thaler Shares and 200,000 Thaler mortgages. The previous owners, Dr.
Julius Gessert and Theodor Gessert retained the management and took over 700,000 Thaler shares. Supervisory Board: Commer-zienrath Wilh. Meckel, Consul Gustav Gebhard, Gustav Platzhoff and Robert Wichelhaus in Elberfeld, Emil Blank in Bar-
The shares were also listed on the Berlin Stock Exchange.
and traded here at 116-120°/, . For the
In the first half of 1873 there was a dividend of 8%. In 1873/74, with 33,000, 1874/75 with 270,000 Thaler loss, and Dechr.
In 1876 the liquidation was decided.

Alizarin and aniline dye factory in Elberfeld.
founded in 1872 with 480,000 Thaler shares. Board of Directors:
Mrs. Wilh. Strücker. Castle in 1874 with a loss of 9300 thalers.

Stock company for the chemical industry in Cologne.
Founded in January 1872 with 500,000 Thaler shares.
455,000 Thaler mortgages and bonds. Supervisory Board:
Bank Director Theodor Movius, Ed. Bennert, Julius Joest, Jacob Löb Eltzbacher and Albano Korte in Cologne, Friedrich Grillo and Wilh. Schürenberg in Essen, Rudolf Pönsen in Düsselvillage. Castle in 1875 with a loss of 81,000 Thaler, and intended completed the partial sale of the real estate in Cologne and Mulheim.

Pommerensdorf Soap and Chemical Factory in Szczecin. Founded April 1, 1872 with 300,000 Thaler shares.
Administrative Board: Dr. Otto Schür, Consul Rud. Scheele, E. Köppe, Banquiers Scheller and Degner in Szczecin. Dividends?

In addition to this, there seems to be a whole series of similar companies, such as:
Chemical Factory Bredow (C. Metzenthin), Association for

- 232 -

chemical industry (Joh. Quistorp), chemical factory in Bollinchen, Chemical Factory for Superphosphates in Glienken, Stettiner Fettwaarenfabrik etc., Ceren Schicksal is dark.

Chemical Factory in Danzig, R. Petschow and Gustav
Son of David. Founded in 1870. Supervisory board: City Councillor R.
Damme, Commercial Councillor R. Goldschmidt and Member of Parliament
Th. Bischoff, JJ Berger and Otto Helm in Danzig. Course?

Silesia, Association of Chemical Factories in Wroclaw. Founded det January 1872 with 1,880,000 Thaler shares and 879,000 Thaler

Mortgages. Board of Directors: Moritz Cohn, Siegmund Sachs, Consul L. Molinari, Deputy Attorney Freund, Geh. Government Councillor Prof. Dr. C. Loewig, Commercial Councillor of Kulmitz, Dr. P. von Kulmitz, Oswald von Uechtritz etc. Dividends from 1873–75: 8.5 and 5% respectively. The course was 120 to below 50.

Jod fell even faster than even Gehe & Co. Already in early 1873 the ounce from 25 Sgr. to 9 Sgr., and immediately after the crash The prices of all other chemicals also fell down. The dizzy spell was only too short blossoming of the newly founded chemical factories beings; they now sank continuously in the course, the vast majority no longer distributed dividends, and not a few dissolved completely. Of the above mentioned 34 companies is a strong third have since faded; only about 10 have Stock exchange price, which is only 4 over 15; and only of 5 is a dividend distribution in the last year known, which only at 1 more than 5% fraudulent.

– 233 –

“It is only eternal necessity,” say Gehe & Co. in their trade report of September 1876, “if now after those years of seemingly unprecedented prosperity (in Truth but of misfortune and corruption) the doom is in the price level of factories and their products wrapped.” –

Older companies, however, which have not owe their existence to the period of dizziness, despite the sharp price declines, continued to offer its shareholders to ensure good net returns; in particular, various companies in southern Germany, Austria-Reich and on the Rhine; yes, the chemical factory Pommerensdorf also has 25%, dividend per 1875 distributed!

The course losses that the audience experienced at the Shares of chemical factories suffered, are on not less than 20 million thalers. In addition to the building associations and building material companies ties, the chemical foundations shine as the laziest and most dizzy. But this to Most of the shares are in their final stages companies still give on the goods market always sets the tone by, as in the past, through artificial rarity, now through senseless price-

- 234 -

spinning the products, which they naturally deliver in the lowest possible quality, the real business
On the other hand, the same people took over Fraudulent companies taking over the leadership of the chemical Industry at the World Exhibitions in Vienna and Philadelphia, where they manufactured monstrous Dimensions that had practically no value and are only expensive showpieces for account of the unfortunate shareholders; where they through such hawking, according to insurance
wisher newspapers, celebrated "true triumphs".

Likewise, the falsification of the life,
nut and medicinal products, a consequence of the unlimited Freedom of trade and the lack of state supervision, significantly promoted by the chemical re-greening ations of the fraudulent era. This sacrilegious falsification research, which is spreading further and further, of the body Food is wasted, life and health are endangered has already become a dynamically operating industry, which quite openly has a long Series of surrogates and articles for transfer which offers a wide variety of things, so that e.g.
for spices, essential oils and the powdered goods sold in a poor condition, the coarsest Fraud is commonplace.

- 235 -

To the first-mentioned company, the chemical Factory on shares, otherwise Ernst Schering, tie themselves
a few more characteristic processes that we according to Gehe's trade reports.

In 1869, Professor Dr. Oscar Liebempire in Berlin that was invented three decades ago Chloral hydrate is an excellent sleeping aid in the medicinal treasure and transferred its production
first the factory of Dr. Mendelssohn and Dr.
Martius, later the Schering factory. The pre-

However, it was so valuable that only the rich remained affordable, which was worth 80 thalers per pound, had to pay 1 Thaler for each sleep.

In order to make it accessible to the common man

Gehe & Co. also laid down on the manufacturing and only stopped when the price of the pound had fallen to 1 thaler.

Then they obtained the needs of their customers

again from the factories privileged by Dr. Liebreich ken and from other places. Dr. Liebreich, who did not know, let the alleged Gehe'sche, in truth

but Liebreich's preparation in specialist journals and daily newspapers as inadequate; and as

It is a "high-ranking patient in Saxony" who will soon died and was no longer effective, Dr. Lieb-

- 236 -

Reich to come to Saxony himself and that after his instructions and under his guarantee

Chloral hydrate presented to the "high patient" in to administer to one's own person – an offer, which was unfortunately rejected. Dr. Liebreich, who on the one hand, under his supervision in the Schering

Factory-made preparation as unmistakable in the Effect recommended, on the other hand in the Berlin clinical schen Wochenschrift explained that the production of chloral hydrate in its chemical purity is not

can be controlled, responded to a request from

Gehe & Co., how he got his guarantee on the

I understand the labels of the preparation, no answer

– Thanks to a wonderfully organized advertising

in the domestic and foreign press, the Chloral hydrate, first monopolized by Dr. Liebreich quickly and was a hit for years.

sales, especially in England and America, where it soon became a fashion and luxury item that

Men and women as self-anaesthetic and

Intoxicants, and as one might say

the body constitution and the nervous system

a whole generation weakened and shattered

Under such circumstances, a return impact cannot be avoided and is certainly not to be

- 237 -

complain. Fashion made the sleeping pill fall away again and chloral hydrate was only used in medicine, where there is also no such thing as the tried and tested Morphine and chloroform to replace liked asked.

The second case concerns salicylic acid, an even younger preparation, but which has already become a university has become a versal remedy, just as strongly influenced by the healing art as well as from industry and in everyday household is needed. Professor Dr. Kolbe in Leipzig, who first presented it, took out a patent on it and sold it to Dr. von Heyden in Dresden. Nevertheless, Schering's Factory in Berlin producing salicylic acid, until the unlawful imitation by the knowledge of two instances was prohibited; whereupon she brazenly declared: she was now compelled to "legally prepared crude salicylic acid to produce their chemically pure, completely odorless loose, absolutely clear and colorless soluble acid and to produce their salts." What this finesse and how it aims at nothing more than a Deception of the uninitiated public, goes from the reply of Dr. von Heyden, which read: "Crude salicylic acid is obtained from

– 238 –

I never brought it to market. My Preparations are of course also chemically pure, completely odorless, absolutely clear and colorless soluble ly, but also absolutely free of carbolic acid, and my recrystallized salicylic acid there is absolutely nothing left to dialyse. – However, the Schering factory remains committed to do this anyway, and there is no law that you could prohibit such humbug, because it invents only a competition with the patent holder, which they actually no longer dares to exercise.

The "Chemical Factory on Stock" was founded special expectations, namely for various reasons various reasons: 1) it was created under the that of the inventive and very fortunate Heinrich Quistorp; 2) was the name of the previous owner, Commerzienrath Ernst Schering, a good sound, and he also retained the leadership; 3) was at the A literary figure helped with the foundation. The latter subscribed without hesitation to 100,000 Thaler shares, although he certainly did not have 100,000 groschen, and took over the necessary recommendation of the new company in the press. He also touched upon the drum for Dr. Oskar Liebreich's chloral hydrate, for Dr. Oskar Liebreich's Pepsin wine and for the

– 239 –

dialyzed salicylic acid, all three of which are only available in the Schering ian factory. After the

The assurance of this literate man is the “Chemical Factory on Stock” the most solid and pure most important foundation in the world, and its entire painting hour (price of shares: 15 letters) is only the fault of the expensive new building, the exemplary beautiful, but also fabulously expensive furniture.

Apart from this, so to speak, chemical literary figure
There are still two stock exchange companies in the chemical start-ups Writers involved: Dr. Heinrich Ebeling at the Alizarin and chemical factory in Potsdam (p. 224),
as well as at the salt works and chemical factory Gotha (p. 226), and Julius Schweitzer at the Stass-furter chemical factory (p. 229).

Dr. Heinrich Ebeling, according to his profession, as It is said that classical philologist, served during the Period of dizziness as stock market editor of the Vossischen Newspaper”, was also at times on the course sheet of the “National-Zeitung”, also published a Correspondent with stock market report in several languages and also found time to relax at a long line of the most foul-smelling foundations
Only in 1875, when the fraud had already spread exhausted, and the disaster had long since happened

9

– 240 –

was, the “Vossische Zeitung” put him up for sale sition. Moreover, since he is only a Christian, he is supposed to all these foundations have left nothing behind.

Mr. Julius Schweitzer, a man from Breslau successful Jewish businessman, edited the Stock exchange section of the “National-Zeitung”, and he boasts also the current Director in the Reich Chancellor’s Office,

Real Privy Senior Government Councillor Mr. Otto Michaelis, initiated into his science, the stock exchange. Mr. Schweitzer founded with Hermann Geber and comrades the notorious Stassfurt factory, and it is interesting to see how he sees this, his daughter, in his own Blatt, in the virtuous "National-Zeitung", the Audience recommended. In No. 490, Bleiblatt, dated 19. October 1871, he first takes the following note from the Berlin "Bank- und Handelszeitung":

"New Stock Company. The most famous Chemical engineering from Vorster & Grüneberg to Stassfurt near Schönebeck has also been converted into a stock company Through consortium participation, the share capital capital by the local banks HC Plaut and Rauff & Knorr has been placed."

In No. 510, Supplement, dated 31 October 1871, he then heard himself say:

e

– 241 –

"Stassfurter chemical factory, formerly vorster & Grüneberg in Stassfurt. Under this company a Actien-Gesellschaft was formed, which the two in Stassfurt factories of Mr Vorster & Grüneberg for sale The latter still have other significant industrial establishments and have become the simplifying their business operations to sell the two, well-profitable factories. The shares are sold to drawing should be placed on the table."

"The shares are offered for subscription be laid." – What nobility of the founder; what a consolation, what rosy hope for the dear Audience! And now finally comes the important hot day. On November 6, 1871, in No. 520 of the "Nationalzeitung", supplement, reports Mr. Swiss:

"Stassfurter Chemical Factory, formerly Vorster & Griineberg, Actien-Gesellschaft. On 7 and 8 November

Of the 530,000 Thaler share capital, 400,000 Thaler in Berlin at the banks HC Plaut and Rauff & Knorr for subscription. The relevant advertisement will appear in the morning paper. We note the following here. The sellers, the gentlemen Vorster & Grüneberg, also own important establishments in the Rhine Province, whose expansion would allow them to sell made the Stassfurt establishments desirable. Stassfurt is the seat of a large industry which produces chemical bricates and in recent years has had a very significant The upswing is not based on only to a large increase in demand in Europe, but also to an expansion of the sales area, especially after Glag an, the stock market fraud. II.16

– 22 –

America. The prices of chemical products have increased, the increased demand, significantly increased, among other things. for the main product Chorkalium from 21/,-21/,, to 3 to 3¼ Thaler, depending on the delivery, i.e. around 40 percent. The Production costs have increased relatively little and Therefore, the Stassfarter Factories achieved very good results. The Prussian and Anhalt administration dictated increase However, the crude salt prices require an increase in 1872 of the production costs, but the prices are already of the brands, so that the previously existing ratio has not changed. The one article Chorkalium, by which has already produced 95,000 Ctr., secures According to the information available to us, a dividend of 9 to 10 Percent of the share capital. The so-called by-products, over which the prospectus provides information on, such as kieserite, chlormagnesium sium and 8. w., which in previous years due to inadequate were almost worthless, find takers for export. So conditions here are very favorable.”

If in such a laudatory manner a sub- take part in the great, highly respected “Nationalzeitung who wouldn’t want to draw,

Who wouldn’t buy the shares? Can you in this case – and the cases have always been like this – probably by a foolish, uncritical audience speak without asking, without orienting oneself ren, blindly greedily bought it just because it was on hoped for an effortless profit; he was right, which is not to be regretted at all if it is his sees money cheated and plundered? For what,

– 243 –

Gentlemen “Economists” and your knights of the Press, which you have the same audience that you Rules of art, with infinite refinement lured and seduced, still today reviles and You who mock the people who are now accusing you and hold to account the “defamation” and Accused of “defamation” – Your impudence speaks exactly of your indebtedness and activity!

A similar ascending advertising
Mr. Schweitzer made in his “Nationalzeitung” also for the “Nienburg Sugar Factory”, where he is also involved*). At Stassfurter as well as at of the Nienburg factory he served as president of the Supervisory Board, and it was said in 1872 that the positions he held as a member of the Board of Directors at various companies, he receives a royalty from which he could live comfortably. The Stassfurter and Nienburg factories he turned to the noise, as they began to stink, their backs,
and his withdrawal from the Stassfurter Actiengesell-
He showed his work in issue 457 of the “Nationalzeitung”, second supplement, dated 2 October 1874 with the following,

*) See p. 193.

16*

– 244 –

have now achieved classic fame
Words: “In place of the outgoing supervisory Council member, Dr. Schweiger, was Mr. Engineer Böcker from Duisburg was newly elected.”
– The other newspapers also had the collegiate lic favor, instead of the real name Julius Schweitzer, the witty misprint “Doctor Schweiger”.

Only after some time, when, in order to deal with the “Na-national newspaper”, the “era of slander”, that means in English: the movement against the Founders and founding partners, began, came that ominous printing errors. On February 11, In 1876, the Berlin "Staatsbürger-Zeitung" under the heading "Mr. Schweiger" Letter that was allegedly sent to her by a reader He tells how, as a result of the war, men recommendation of the "Nationalzeitung" the shares the Nienburg sugar factory and the Stassfurt chemical factory and thereby acquired all its Lost his savings. But he still believes as before to the "Nationalzeitung", as it is Mr. Lasker, the "greatest enemy of the founders", before the assembled lament called it a "very worthy paper" and because their stock market share is so excellent

– 245 –

Manne, like Julius Schweitzer, is edited. his misfortune, in the shameful fall the Nienburg sugar and the Stassfurt chemical schen Actien is only the outgoing president of the Board of Directors of both companies, Doctor Schweiger is to blame, and after this "dangerous He had been looking for a long time for "people" to make him accountable. society until a student who was a meu- living in a blurred room with him and a "bad communist", gave the following information, which he admittedly I didn't quite understand:

"Don't waste your efforts. Mr. Schweiger is not a person of flesh and blood; Mr. Schweiger is the Everywhere and Nowhere of Corruption; Mr. Schweiger is the genuine and true archetype of the founding, which everything for the sake of ignoble gain and finally themselves. They are all silent; all the "noblest and Best", to whom the German people owe the "industrial blossom" and the "economic recovery". Have you ever experienced a time when there was so much silence as now? is the silence of moral indignation, the silence of silent contempt, the silence of noble dignity, the Silence of impressive innocence, and for you poor creatures also the silence of the churchyard. And when they start to talk, then – they remain silent even more. Then They tell a long and detailed story of 6-8000 thalers stop and – keep quiet about 6-800,000 thalers royalties. Let You run the silent one and keep quiet about your huge embarrassment."

But this revelation of the misprint happened long afterwards, and in the meantime it was Mr. Julius Schweitzer still had a great triumph to celebrate. Almost at the same time that Dr. Heinrich Ebeling, the stock market editor of the "Vossischen Newspaper", from which he was dismissed in the morning year 1875, the good-natured Aunt Voss brought a Article that read:

"Next week, a journalistic anniversary will be celebrated. On Tuesday, April 20, It is 25 years since Dr. JE Schweitzer joined the editorial team of 'National-Zeitung' and that he published this paper in his economic and stock market part. Just as long Dr. Schweitzer is on the stock exchange as a reporter for the Newspaper, to which he belongs. He was, like the "B. Börs.-Cour." noted, the first and is certainly the oldest stock exchange journalist in Berlin. During the first years of his career Activity also the only one that remained is the press on the stock exchange now perhaps represented by thirty or more of its members. The well-known Councillor Michaelis, the author of the Bank-law, was for a long time before his appointment to the ministry initially his student in the financial field and then his colleague, Dr. Schweitzer, has been in the quarter Century, during which he was economically active, the most general sympathies; for certain financial Specialties, especially for the financial side of the railway He is regarded as an undisputed authority. He has been in the two half decades with the Berlin Stock Exchange many good and much experienced bad times, but at all times he remained a universally respected and popular personality. Already yesterday In the evening, a pre-celebration of the anniversary was to take place in a small circle

The older sworn brokers of the Berlin Stock Exchange had organized a banquet in his honor, while the The actual celebration is reserved for the anniversary itself."

In a similar way, all the leaves Berlin, and, as is fitting, in modest modesty last, the "Nationalzeitung" itself heard men. She recorded the gifts and honors that her Swiss, she published the Addresses that he received. The association of the "Berliner Presse", of which the celebrant is a treasurer, on whose board he sits, had a deputation tation a bound in blue velvet, with a document decorated with a silver laurel wreath which had the following content:

"Dear Sir and College, As of today complete the long period of a twenty-five-year highly significant journalistic activity on a Areas whose powerful and far-reaching influence is the largest ten as well as the smallest relationships of the state and the Society is not left untouched. Her clear view, her practical tical understanding, which is characterized by the scope and the your knowledge, have your judgment very soon elevated to that of a professional authority and you the respectable position you currently enjoy. rightly claim.

But while on the one hand you have to meet the requirements and requirements of this position conscientiously taken into account, have – Nevertheless, so heavily burdened by their own editorial Duties, for the benefit of the association "Berliner Presse", the

– 248 –

You have been a co-founder of the association for 13 years now, yet another time-consuming obligation. And you have been so conscientious in every respect of the Preservation and increase of our assets, that the club feels even more compelled to today as well as in general its greatest personal personal respect, and especially his warmest To express my gratitude for everything you have done with your own sacrifices for have done to him. Let us add that this Thanks not only to the honest and skilful administrator of our property, but at the same time to the benevolent and amiable comrade, who in the exercise of his Volunteering also never ignores the considerations of humanity May you continue to be blessed with full Power of mind and body Your influential activity ity and to support the association "Berliner Presse" to commit myself to renewed thanks." |

The elders of the Berlin merchant community gave the following address:

"Dear Sir!

The undersigned members of the Stock Exchange Commission
It is a great joy to welcome you to the morning, where you joined the editorial team of the "National-Newspaper" to offer their warmest congratulations.
You have, dear Sir, through the
with great prudence, experience and expertise edited popular economic part of the newspaper in question a large service; we gratefully acknowledge this and wish with all my heart that Divine Providence has enabled you May I allow you to continue for another 25 years on the
to be able to act as impartially as we have also hope that the pleasant relations that we have with

– 249 –

connect with you, remain the same during this time
become.

We greet you with the greatest respect.
Berlin, April 19, 1875.

G. Dietrich. Fz. Arndt. Wm. Herz. Delbrück.
F. Mendelssohn. A. Frentzel. J. Kaufmann. EVER
Meier. R. Hardt. G. Müller. Schwabach. Simonson. Kochhann. Lewinstein. J. Alexander. Anton Wolff. Ms. Meyer. Carl Meyer. Ed. Help.
A. Schüler. C. Schwartz. Hirschberg. Güterbock."

The majority of these gentlemen have become founders first-rate, and their recognition was only a guilty one, but certainly also an correct. The Statistical Bureau also congratulated of the city of Berlin (); in the Royal York Lodge, where the Jubilarian reigned as master of the chair, found a solemn nes meal, and even the chapel of the Emperor Alexander Regiment performed a serenade!!
"The number of congratulations was almost unmistakable, including many sent by telegraph
run"; and the celebrated, who in the founding era a valuable house in the most exclusive district
and has furnished himself here like a prince,
could hardly accommodate the crowd of well-wishers.

Like Polycrates of Samos, Julius Schweitzer
on this warm spring evening on the balcony

– 250 –

his beautiful house on the Schöneberger Ufer and looked “with happy minds” at the “West End” of Berlin, the proud palaces and magnificent Villas of New Jerusalem, where his believers live fellow countrymen in vain splendour and abundance. “But with
There is no eternal bond between the powers of fate and the misfortune advances quickly.” – On The golden founding period followed, as the “National-newspaper” says, the “shameful era of slander”, and the “slander era” has Mr. Julius Schweitzer deprived of all honours and wreaths. From the various Serious accusations were made against the “stock market backstory” of the “Nationalzeitung”, that they undermine the activities of the founders for filthy money.
has deceived the trusting public;
and Mr. Schweitzer came hard into the crush. Namely it was the evil “Staatsbürgerzeitung” which Since the spring of 1876, heavy gunfire from Leitarticles against the former jubilarian. She directed to the association “Berliner Presse” the question: whether this I do not consider it necessary to reiterate the accusations investigate any allegations made publicly against one of its against a member of its board of directors because Bribery and involvement in bloody green ments were raised.

– 21 –

The “Berliner Presse”, founded in 1862, is a Association, which in the first years pretty much included all writers and journalists in Berlin.
With the penetration of the Jewish element, which 1866 gained more and more the upper hand,
the most respected members, or they participate
no longer attended the meetings;
the Dii minorum remained, and the actual
Today, the leaders and spokesmen are Semites.
As mentioned, the same is the case with the so-called Journalists and writers days, which take place every summer ly perform in any city in Germany. The Association “Berliner Presse”, which supports its invalids all annually appeals to public charity,
is hardly entitled to call itself that today,

because he is one of the journalists and writers only a fraction of the capital's employees, and
The most sonorous names stay away from him.

The imposition of the "Staatsbürgerzeitung" continued
the club in great embarrassment; but since Others, especially foreign newspapers, warned that He had no choice but to do something and called an extraordinary ordinary assembly, which, however, had a strange
As some journals reported, after a short discussion on the agenda

– 252 –

gone, because the club has no right and no cause" to take action against Mr Schweitzer.
the less so as the burdening material
"not sufficiently clarified." Mr Schweitzer, who was also present, did not even have the
– As much as this outcome was welcomed by the audience surprised: for the initiated, it is only to be understood Mr. Schweitzer did not need to to answer for himself, because he was sitting under all friends, among professional and tribal comrades, who formed an overwhelming majority. And woe to those,
if they had forced him to talk; he would told nice things and obediently told his judges | shone!

However, the "Staatsbürgerzeitung" did not allow deterred; she explained that Mr Schweitzer was a Founder and Silent" and attempted to make this claim in a new series of articles. Even then Mr Schweitzer was still silent, and the "National-newspaper" remained silent until various the liberal newspapers, such as the "Magdeburgische", the "Augsburger Allgemeine", the "Schlesische", the "Neue Stettiner Zeitung" among others made it clear to her that she owe it to himself and the press in general to

– 253 –

to clean somehow. Then finally decided the "Nationalzeitung" put its Schweitzer at the disposal
On 13 June, Mr Julius Schweitzer announced that he would sue his attackers, and he ceases its activities until the matter is resolved

in the editorial office of the "Nationalzeitung"; and the
the latter declared with obvious resentment: she forbade
"any kind of proposals or regulations" for their behaviour, "as they have recently shown in various those places, all previous custom in the constant press, have become loud". The "Nationalzeitung" thus explained those mentioned above, quite respected "liberal" papers, which the Levites, as in a sense no longer belong to the "decent press". The "citizens' newspaper" but replied: "The arrogant tone
a press organ that can only be activated by the strongest whipping attacks by party comrades closest to him his, the reputation of the German press dishonoured silence can lead us to not give rise to any polemics".

Mr Schweitzer, as the "Staatsbürgerzeitung" reported that legal action was taken against this Lawsuit filed for "defamatory, possibly Serious, eventualissime simple insult"; it

– 254 –

However, conspicuously failed to enter the circle
the action also includes those articles of the said
paper, which him or the "National Gazette tung" in a specific case of bribery
Whatever the outcome of this lawsuit, may fall – the "Staatsbürgerzeitung" can easily convicted of insult in the form
– the facts that are the main focus ly arrives, are in the records: – Julius Schweitzer like Dr. Heinrich Ebeling, each of the two stock exchange editor at a large, influential newspaper,
have participated in the laziest start-ups,
and for this in the newspaper entrusted to them a made a nasty advertisement. They were taken by the Greens but used their names to describe the evil
to cover start-ups that might not exist without them.
not come about, or not so bad
They, who instruct the audience,
should have misled it and
This is no different than if the priest betrays, the judge steals, the doctor poisoned! No decent honor-loving newspaper may such disloyal employees in their posts
but must adopt it without further ado
This is a damn duty and obligation against the readers, and certainly a very insufficient atonement!

For the newspapers, since the “crash” a gloomy Time has come, and the worst thing about it are the Stock exchange papers, many of which have already been published, and various are close to collapse. The Advertisements, the “participations” are missing, the proper subsidies and the extraordinary gratifications, the number of subscribers is dwindling every day. Among these distressed stock exchange papers is the “Berliner Börsen-Courier”, which, although with chic and witty edited, a really amusing leaf, but probably never more than 1000 to 2000 subscribers, but now significantly less. As is well known, its owner, Mr. Georg Davidsohn, also a tireless fighter for Richard Wagner, but from the music of the future he cannot live; what he did in the founding period earned, has, as a result of careless speculations, the “noise” was taken away again, and against Wärtig's business is so bad that he has to quit logically considered advisable to rename the journal to his brother. The heavy The hard times now seduced the “stock market Courier” to a violent step that even in the Press attention, and from the “Vossische Newspaper”, which still has a tries to show a certain decency, quietly reprimanded became.

The glue that holds the close friendship between the stock exchanges and the press. The so-called society papers contain the information contained therein. Every joint-stock company of the last founding period has, in its constitution, the greatest possible Number of newspapers included in the statute and undertakes to provide through each of them its annual financial statements and all other announcements, two or three times. This multiple Publication is as unnecessary as it is costly; it is not for the benefit of the shareholders, but the newspaper owner. After the crash, however, the Stock companies have become more frugal, and even many have also named the "company" with the Actien-capital. schäftsblätter" (publications). They are limited to the most necessary announcements, summarize these as short as possible and do not publish them anymore in 10 to 20, but only in 3 or 2 sheets. Hence the major failure of all newspapers in the for advertisements! But to achieve the "reduction" To achieve this, the convening of a general meeting, a resolution of the shareholders is necessary. For this purpose, the Supervisory Board of the chemical factory Schering a general meeting development, but one of the chosen "social blätter", the "Börsencourier", refused to publish acceptance of the advertisement, and explained with noble openness ity: he could not and would not offer his hand to harm to his own interests, rather he considered it necessary to reject the advertisement and planned decision impossible. The establishment The court had the refusal confirmed by a notary and the General Assembly decided after the application, but the commercial judge dismissed the decision as illegal, and the higher court rejected the appeal filed against it; because the famous Act on Stock Corporations, which the shareholders subject to any arbitrariness, the main emphasis on such unimportant and useless formalities, which must be observed in the most embarrassing way. The Supervisory Board of the Schering factory was in no small embarrassment until the trade judge gave a hint. Instead of the rebellious "Börsencourier" was founded as a "social newspaper" another newspaper, and now a new generation

– 257 –

ral Assembly, which will then decide on the reduction
Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 17

– 258 –

of the company newspapers in a legal manner
Of course, these extensions have caused a lot of expenses, and in any case serves the original and naive way in which the "stock market Courier", alongside Wagner's music of the future, the

"legitimate interests" of the press,
hollow admiration.

Textile start-ups.

Manchester Liberalism and the Bourgeoisie – "Bourgeois Democracy"
crats" – Political and parliamentary humbug – "Interest groups tung" – Mr. Schulze from Delitzsch and Ferdinand Lassalle – "Unleashing Don't bite the beast!" – The cooperative banks and their founding
– Max Hirsch, the new "King in the Social Empire" – The Chair of Socialism lists and the Association for Social Policy – "The social question and the Prussian sian State" – Mr. von Treitschke writes: "Socialism and its Patrons" – Lasker mediates – The "Congress of German Economists" and the "Economic Society" in Berlin – How the Socialdemo-crats multiply – Talents and Arts of the Semites – Ludwig Bamberger's "Workers' Question" and Adolf Samter's "Socialpolitik" – Tuchgrünations: Luckenwalder, United Luckenwalder, Martini, Fischer and Schmidt in Sommerfeld, Peitzer, Forster, Langensalsaer, Saxon, Bautzener, Rhei-nische, Aachener, Hessische, Schlesische, Bischweiler, Berliner Velvet (construction bank Metropole) – The Grünberger Quistorp and the Grünberger Krach – Spinning and weaving mills; Winckelmann, Dannenberger, Societe d'impression alsacienne, Beer blessed widow, Eilenburger, Kramsta, Erdmannsdorfer, Heydenreich, Solbrig, Meissner Jute, Eckhardt, Braunschweiger Jute etc. –
The Prussian Sea Trade, its fate and aberrations, its Plaintiff and defense counsel – Appretur Ullrich, Thiele & Seegers, Gebauer, Gebr. Alexander, Heinrich Körner, Berliner Wollbank, Woll-Import, Central-Wool laundry, Uckermärkische Wollbank, Bremer Wollwäscherei – Courslosses and "involved" parliamentarians.

"The ruling spirit of our time, the modern Liberalism is the natural son of the new nation national economics. He has his soul from Manchester and here alone is he mortal." So says Mr. Joerg, the well-known Bavarian archivist and ultramontane

Members of Parliament, in the foreword to his "History 17*

– 960 –

of the social political parties in Germany", a very instructive booklet, which was published by the "libera-len" press has of course been silent. Mr Joerg claims: the currently prevailing "liberal rale" party is the product of Manchesterism, and it was created according to him as follows.

The movement of 1848 only wanted a political demanded mainly constitution and parliament ments; but soon the owning class realized that a social revolution was taking place and even the gained the upper hand. Then she was frightened by the "red Ghost", in front of the "Bassermann figures", and she extended her hand to the governments and Help for reaction. This is the movement of 1848 as political liberalism is not very honourable But on the other hand, as an economic Liberalism has remained a clear winner.
What is more, the existing powers have, according to the noisy events of Louis Napoleon, in First and foremost, the promotion of material interests and thus liberal economism placed on the throne.

The "liberal" party since 1848 does not represent so-both the land and the movable property. Their Members have worked their way up to rich

- 261 -

Carriers of large trade, large industry, of modern capital economy. This class is not the German bourgeoisie, which used to the so-called middle class, but it is the exact opposite of it; it has arisen from the destruction and the decaying remains of the citizenry, and therefore it can only be rightly with the French name of the bourgeoisie be referred to.

The liberal party, which in the years of Reaction had proved to be very docile and supple, took a political turn with the "New Aera" Upswing, and especially in Prussia the parliamentary struggle an uprising of the bourgeois geoisie against the military monarchy. The "Conflict" was settled in 1866 by a "compromise" which also politically makes the bourgeoisie the ruling
the party, and since then it has not been a class, but the class in general. She calls nobility and Clergy - "Junker and Priesthood", and clarifies them for overcome viewpoints; they refers to the parties to the dispute as Reactionaries, dark men or demagogues, and declares them all to be "enemies of the Reich". The Bourgeois geoisie wants sole rule. The state wants would prefer to abolish them altogether and incorporate them into the bourgeois Let society perish; but resolutely hates

they every strong state.

That is roughly what Mr Joerg says, and in any case
if the above representation corresponds to the facts.
As a political party, the bourgeoisie has repeatedly – changed its name to Gothaer, Progressive people, called National Liberals, Democrats: in truth
It was always the same caste. Even the pure or “bourgeois democracy”, as it is called scheid from the Social Democrats, the small “People’s Party” of Mr. Johann Jacoby, Guido Weiss, Ludwig Löwe, Leopold Sonnemann etc. (mostly Jews) belongs to the bourgeoisie; and they certainly
The “Nationalzeitung” which was initiated by the Number 314 of July 9, 1873, with the following words:
ten: “Civil Democrats are people with considerable possibly rising to 10,000 to 20,000 thalers.
gender annual pension, and with the firm intention of Annual pension is not in any way comparable with the other democratic Species, the “social democracy”. Citizens ual democrats are those who have no, even not the most refined pleasures of bourgeois life wish to miss, and which of their democratic spirit by

curse tremendously against government and militarism,
but only as a joke, not with the intention that something should be changed because it then you might miss out on the fat annual pension.”

Between the National Liberals and Progressive
There is no other difference than that those
a little more servile and agile, this somewhat heavy-are more mature and full of phrases. Everything else is political trickery, and the greatest humbug is the alleged split of the National Liberals into a right and left wing, the latter of which Mr.
Lasker commands, who thus covers both factions supported by national liberals and progressives is immediately revered and celebrated. Incomprehensible
It is therefore when in the summer of 1876 the official

"Provincial Correspondence" the progressives violently and praised the National Liberals.

The "Kölnische Zeitung" immediately declared that the National liberalism pursues the same goals as the Progressive Party; and the "Nationalzeitung" expressed (No. 371 of 11 August 1876) is very correct: "National Liberal and Progressive Party are two separate parliamentary groups that are referred to as parties may draw, if one follows the idealistic view is that parties are formed in advance by "principles"

– 264 –

The special social basis but is the vast majority, if not the entire unity of the parliamentary Progressive Party with the National Liberals. It is the educated German citizenship, the independent and self-confident rural population In the vast majority of constituencies, the distinction between the two groups of large liberal party as a whole is not expressed at all come or have long since been blurred." – A grey Humbug was the alleged overthrow of the two Parties because of the judicial laws, their mutual Combating the elections to the Reichstag; and you will get them back together soon enough walk See.

What the bourgeoisie does not suck or does not want to submit to her, will denounced as illiberal by both factions. step and national liberalism both emulated very much against the agrarians and against the artisans party, as they put forward their own candidates for Parliament they accused "agricultural socialists" and "guild ler" and accused them of "representing interests" The bourgeoisie, which in Parliament as well as in the Press constantly the special interests of the capital advocates, the advocacy par excellence, can cannot bear it if the classes oppressed by it the interests of work and honest earnings assert.

– 265 –

With the growth of the bourgeoisie, with the

As large-scale industry flourished, crafts disappeared and the middle class, increased terribly
the proletariat. At the time of the Frankfurt Parliament ments are from the circles of the German citizenthumbs 540 petitions have been received calling for the protection
the assembly for the endangered craft and from 15 July onwards a the whole month long the big craftsmen's congress, which "a solemn, sealed by millions protested against the freedom of trade." But when The National Assembly opted for the system of liberal economism, the situation was reversed
in the middle classes of the people the sympathy in indifference and hatred, and now governments should remember to avoid the uncomfortable "liberal ral" movement to the forefront.

In 1852, an apostle appeared to the small business community in
In the capacity of the District Judge Mr Schulze from Delitzsch. He preached saving and self-help, He founded advance and credit, raw material and

– 266 –

Consumer associations. Initially, the bourgeoisie considered his social experiments with suspicion; as soon as but they are convinced of the harmlessness of the
she supported him most willingly, and when finally Lassalle called on the masses to pro-she declared Mr Schulze the "King in the social Reich" and gave him a large capital as "National gratitude". The "liberal" party has always been endeavours to keep state and society separate,
to fundamentally separate the political and the social.
Even Mr Schulze, although he supports the "National Association"
co-founded the company, advised his craftsmen to refused to join it; they should only concerned with their economic affairs and consider politics as a foreign matter
And on the other hand, he again zealously advised as the proposal of a general German Workers' Congress appeared. Violent action was taken tig in "Education", in district and craft kervereine have been giving lectures continuously; today about aesthetics, tomorrow about Buddhism, about tomorrow about spectral analysis; and the bourgeoisie delivered the "highly revered teachers of the people".
1863, in the middle of the Prussian conflict,
A Jew from Breslau appeared as a social agitator, who had Frenchified his name Lassal into Lassalle, and boasted of himself: "I write every line, armed with 'the whole education of my century derts!" He also belonged to the bourgeoisie, was friends with the leaders of the Progressive Party and initially swore by the "organ for everyone-mann", to the "Volkszeitung" of Mr Franz Duncker, in whose house he frequented. Suddenly he turned against his former comrades, whom he had met in the most contemptuous way. He spoke of the "intellectual simplification of the bourgeoisie" that they all their thoughts ready and finished from the factory of Newspapers, the latter of which are in the "miserable that even their spokesmen "terrible mental cripples." The state He called the bourgeoisie's grip a "night watchman's idea" that privileges and protects the rich, against the poor, leave them to themselves and praise He accused the bourgeoisie of destroying their class moral the coldest, most refined, with iron conviction quency carried out egoism is the most disgusting Hardness of heart and inhumanity; that you Economic system was only conceived in the interest of large capitals, for the unlimited exploitation of the working classes. He emphasized Ricardo's iron

Wage law, according to which wages are fixed for the duration does not rise higher than the most necessary livelihood, and that it is therefore ridiculous nity to demand "saving" and "self-help" from the worker. On the contrary, he demanded State aid and state credit for the formation of productive cooperatives, and he called for political The means of agitation was universal and direct suffrage. He turned to the working world, which he, in contrast, to the bourgeoisie, proclaimed as the fourth estate, and he made for him all rights and of the third estate.

Ferdinand Lassalle and his predecessor Karl Marx, also Jewish, both are from the propertied classes both driven by the ambition to to play a political role. Marx, today the Head of social democracy throughout Europe, is Revolutionary; he dreams of overthrowing all existing states, and has in all socialist Lassalle wanted to play a role in the uprisings. only the democratization of the state; in the rest he was a Prussian monarchist, as his 1859 published brochure proves: "The Italian War and the task of Prussia – a voice from democracy". In it he praises

– 269 –

Duncker's "Volkszeitung", which he later called attacked violently, as a genuine popular newspaper; and he castigated here his later friend, Mr Lothar Bucher, the current aide of Prince Bismarck. With Lassalle had met Mr. von Bismarck in the Conflicts-time a conversation, and he should remember to join forces with the Labour Party against the to ally himself with the progressives he hated so much. Ferdinand Lassalle, Lothar Bucher and the former Prussian March Minister Rodbertus agreed in the condemnation of Manchesterism. The The latter two entered into a relationship with the Leipzig workers' association, and Bucher gave this about the declaration that the Manchester wisdom neither from history nor from practice Lassalle founded the "Allgemeiner Deutsche Workers' Association", of which he became president. elected and which he ruled as a dictator. Soon, however, as can be seen from his letters, tired of the socialist role; he lost In a love game and fell in a duel for the new Helena on 31 August 1864. In his testament ments he has given Mr. Lothar Bucher a considerable Annual pension suspended and the copyright of his Transfer fonts.

– 270 –

As for Lassalle's actual character,
A voice from the Socialdemo-cracy deserve special faith. Bernhard Becker, whom the dying agitator himself appointed as his successor ger on the presidential chair, says among other things.):

"Lassalle had great weaknesses and profound sufferings
His girlish vanity, combined with the Circumstances that he was susceptible to the most insipid flattery;

his domineering, which has increased to the point of unbending stubbornness Being, which sometimes gives way to the clearly present better his hedonism in relation to women, who him forget everything and give him his annual pension of more than 5000 thalers did not seem sufficient; finally his Chasing the approval of authorities, which often out of stock, and even the alliance of a Kreuzzeitungs-Wagener, an ultramontane bishop Ketteler and e made acceptable by a reactionary Professor Huber:
These were vulnerable spots on the otherwise well-armed man, well suited to lead the Social Democratic Party to urge caution. – “The year 1848 introduced the young Lassalle to socialism, and that,
what he later set up as a worker agitator was merely a Reverberation weakened by the long-term reaction of what was sought to achieve on a much larger scale in 1848 Lassalle was one of the workers’ leaders who So anyone who believes that in 1863 he was founded a new religion, knows the history
history of the last thirty years. – “Would Lassalle
– not to associate with women from the bourgeoisie and aristocracy–

*) “Revelations about the tragic end of Ferdinand Lassalle's“. Schleiz, 1868.

– 21 –

driven, but less arrogance towards the daughters of the People and therefore, if he were to marry had to (!) get along with a girl from the working class
If we had gotten married in this situation, everything would have been different.
He would probably still be alive today. But he had aristocratic customs with democratic belief nisse. His inner contradictions destroyed him.
Although he finally tried to get away from Countess Hatzfeld,
but he now decided to make himself to bind him to an aristocratic woman who makes a fool of him held."

In fact, the real motive behind Lassalle's
The only thing that dominated my life was vanity, and it drove him to death. Immeasurable vanity, such as his people, let him successively the Seize the most diverse, as scholars, poets, Politicians and agitators try to lure him into all sorts of inconsistencies and changes. What he did and drove, wrote and spoke, everything had a theatrical touch, everything was aimed at the effect

For the worker, he had no
a heart like the bourgeoisie; he looked haughty down on him and took out his moods on him,
he only used him as a means for his ambitious purposes. Nevertheless, he served the cause, he was, whether probably without religion and morality, a tool in the hand of the idea. Of great fluency, inventive rically in slogans, but he lacked the popular

– 212 –

eloquence, he remained partly unknown to the masses.
Just as doctrinaire and cumbersome is he
in his writings, which even the educated little appeal. On the other hand, he excels in spirit and knowledge far the Manchester “economists” and in particular Mr Schulze-Delitzsch, and In the history of science, he is considered Marx. From the “liberal”
By the way, both of them, because they are Jews,
always treated with great respect.

Lassalle has shaken up the masses, and since then the social democratic movement is no longer
After the agitator’s death, the “General German Workers’ Association”; it Various sects were formed, which bitterly fought against the regime; numerous workers’ leaders emerged pretenders who shamelessly compete against each other triguir and offered many a disgusting spectacle.
Nevertheless, the agitation made rapid progress;
The “stomach question” no longer came from the daily order. At the beginning of 1865, the “highrevered teacher of the people” by the workers summoned to the court; they were arrested because of the coalition right to speak to them, accuse them of lying, and they could only escape abuse by fleeing

naan DZ as

In the House of Representatives, the conservative Party for the demands of the workers, and also the government showed itself to be inclined towards them; on the Progressive benches, on the other hand, were filled with lamentations cry about the alliance with the Communists, through which they wanted to crush the “liberal” party.
Even men like Twesten and Waldeck, pure honorable characters, became concerned. "We can may help some workers, but not the profession", said Twesten. "The solution to the social question is not yet time," said Waldeck. Mr. But Schulze groaned: "Unleash the beast not!"

The workers rightly turned against the "Educational fraud", whereby they claim that the "high-revered teachers of the people" material received listic worldview was exploited to great effect. The tanner Hasenclever, later president of the "General German Workers' Association", said in a club speech in Solingen: The equal Education of workers can begin in the next generation, and only thereby brought about that the people are given better food; the worker's table should be as good as the

of the bourgeoisie, only then would the vaunted Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud, II. 18

– 274 –

Education. – And the party organ, the Pe dene: krat", it was heard:

"The struggle of the liberal bourgeoisie against the Christian thum has become a blatant inconsistency. Because Whoever takes away the heaven from the people must take away the earth. – "You miserable Pharisees from the Free communities and the liberal citizenry, who give the people the consolation of pious faith snatched away: heaven is over – we reclaim the earth!" |

At the end of 1864, Mr Schulze founded his Friends, Alwin Soergel and with the progressive Member of Parliament, District Court Judge a. D. Rudolph Parri-sius the German Cooperative Bank in Berlin, which primarily "meets the needs of the self-aid based German economic and business cooperatives after bank credit as much as Capital, ur- originally only 270,000 thalers, was increased in 1868 to 500,000 Thaler, increased to 850,000 Thaler in 1870, and For this purpose a Commandite was established in Frankfurt am Main.

Since then, the shares have been listed on the stock exchange, and Although the statute prohibits speculative transactions by the bank prohibited, but took part in the dizzy period full share, she also operated the agiotage and the Founded according to all the rules of the art. In 1871 Mr Schulze and his comrades closed the Capital to 2 million, 1872 to 3 million Thaler Both times the new shares were issued with a high premium; in 1872 the 50 percent interim certificates at 115, which is a price of 130, and they drove it to 150, which is a Course of 200. Today this 50% centige interim certificate, which at that time was worth 100 Thaler was paid, only 40 thalers, because the full share noted about 90.

– 275 –

In addition to this wild agiotage, the German cooperative bank in the era of fraud still a number of predominantly bad start-ups and Emissions:

- 1) City bank in Berlin. Founded in February 1873 with 1 million Thaler basic capital, by Alwin Soergel, Otto Soergel, Rudolph Parrisius, Siegmund Weill, City Councillor Meyer Magnus, City Councillor Joh. Georg Halske, City Councillor Otto Kunz, Rudolf Bensemann, Ferd. Reichenheim and Ludwig Hache in Berlin. Had absolutely no purpose, found no employment and entered January 1874 after major losses in Liquidation.
- 2) Königstadt Brewery in Berlin. Founded on May 19th 1871 by Alwin Soergel and Anton Securius in Berlin, Johannes Kämpf in Halle. Supervisory Board members: Arnold Witkowski, Louis Feig and Heinrich Booss in Berlin, Deputy City rath Hausmann in Brandenburg. "Auditors": Carl Weber and Otto Penzhorn in Berlin. "First shareholder": E. Schlesinger (S. Mossner & Co.) in Berlin. The establishment was the unfortunate shareholders for the colossal sum of

18*

– 276 –

1,050,000 Thaler were transferred, and the company with 800,000

Thalers in shares and 412,000 Thalers in mortgages.
December 1872 it was decided "400,000 to 600,000 thalers"
to issue new shares, which only the approaching crash
The previous owner, Julius Busse, became director.
For the "first financial year" of 4 months (ö), nominal
10% dividend distributed, driving the shares up to 120.
Now the course is about 20.

3) Admiralsgartenbad, swimming pool in Berlin.
founded in September 1872 by Rudolph Parrisius, Rudolf Bense-mann, master builder Walter Kyllmann, Dr. med. Wilh. Engman, Dr. Alex. Jürgens, Dr. Bodinus and Albert Brockhoff, Editor
the "Berliner Börsenzeitung" in Berlin. Actiencapital 500,000 Thaler and about 200,000 Thaler mortgages. Dividends-the 0. course still about 5.

4) Halle'sche Creditanstalt. Founded August 1872 with 1 million Thaler shares. Supervisory Board: Attorney Lau, Simon Lipmann and Adolf Rosenstein in Berlin, Geh. Commerzienrath Stephan (Stephan & Schmidt) in Königsberg i. Pr., Th. Eisentraut, W. Zörn (Zörn & Steinert), H0 Brandt (Brandt & Lölöff) in Halle, State Council of Economics
Schäper in Wanzleben. The 40 percent interim certificates were introduced at 104, i.e. at the course of 110, and for the first financial year of 4 months (!) nominally 61/, % Dividend distributed, 1873 resulted in 0, and April 1874 decided you get the resolution.

5) Rhenish-Westphalian Cooperative Bank in Cologne. Founded in March 1872 with 500,000 Thaler shares.
September 1873, the Supervisory Board decided to increase the 2,600,000 thalers; but only 316,000 thalers were taken. Last dividend 0. Price once 110, now about 40.

6) Halle'sche Maschinenfabrik. (See p. 89). Shares capital 300,000 thalers. Course approx. 60.

7) Koerbisdorf sugar factory. (See p. 192). Shares

– 277 –

capital 900,000 thalers and 900,000 thalers mortgages. Course |
once 120, now about 20.

All these foundings and emissions occurred under the "supervision" of Mr Schulze-Delitzsch, who for his royalties, and alongside him acted as "administrative council", except for those at the city bank
mentioned gentlemen Meyer Magnus, Joh. Georg Halske, Otto Kunz, Rudolf Bensemann, Ferd. Reichenheim,

also the MPs Dr. Buhl in Deidesheim and lawyer Schenck in Wiesbaden.

But that is not enough. To avoid a screaming
To alleviate this need, arose during the swing
delperiode a second bank for cooperatives, which was formed exactly according to the pattern of the previous one and also refer to Schulze-Delitzsch's principles cipien. On March 10, 1871, Jacob Ball, Gustav Thölde, Gustav Röhl, Member of Parliament
Dr. Georg von Bunsen and Member of Parliament, City Council
Head of the Order Dr. Wolfgang Strassmann in Berlin, Julius Kugel (Dicke & Kugel) in Lüdenscheid the Central Bank for Cooperatives, with 500,000
Thaler Actien. The first supervisory board members included:
Lawyer Ewald Hecker, who drafted the statute
Wilh. Itzinger (Riess & Itzinger), Salomon Ball, Isidor Blumenthal and Robert Bau-

– 278 –

man; and the directors were: Ferdinand Strahl and Carl Stöter. The original determination which speculative transactions are expressly prohibited.
was soon abolished, the society of "free leeway" was granted, and now it was time to the agiotage game and the founding.

December 1871, 500,000 thalers were manufactured new shares, which were listed on the stock exchange at 109 each; March In 1872 the third issue followed at a price of 110, September 1872 the IV. Issue at the rate of 112, and the total three million thalers shares were driven to almost 160. In 1871, 12, 1872 – 14% dividend, 1873 – 0. The balance sheet reported a loss on effects of 112,000 thalers, and a loss of provisions for doubtful debts and con-assortial holdings 280,000 thalers; and the shares fell until about 60 July 1874 it was decided to Dissolution of society, against the will of many Shareholders, and the public sale of the shares pieces. Instead, you move to a free-hanging sale, and as one of the supervisory board members
When he objected, he was, at the instigation of the Liquidators: Gustav Thölde, Carl Stöter and Ferd.
Strahl was thrown out of office and charged with insult judge, even threatened with the public prosecutor!

From start-ups and issues, this famous cooperative bank, except for the Rheinisch-Westphälischen Genossenschaftsbank, which they in community with the Deutsche Genossenschaftsbank by Soergel, Parrisius & Co., also says the following:

1) Berliner Bauvereinsbank. Founded February 1872 by Jacob Ball, Max Mossner, Julius Guttentag, Hermann Geber, Reinhold Alex. Seelig, Julius Wolff jun., Eugen Riess, Wilh. Itzinger, Gustav Thölde, Commerzienrath Gilka and Baurath Waesemann in Berlin. Share capital 2 million Thaler. Dividends from 1872 to 1875: 11, $2\frac{1}{2}$, $2\frac{1}{2}$ and resp. 0% . Went into liquidation in May 1876. The price of 110 fell from 1875 to about 25.

2) Dortmunder Actien-Brauerei, formerly Herberz & Co. Founded in September 1872 by RA Seelig in Berlin, and the unfortunate shareholders for 1 million thalers, without the Stocks, transferred! Share capital 900,000 thalers; plus to 400,000 Thaler mortgages!! Supervisory Board: Lawyer Storp in Hagen, Heinrich Mauritz in Iberdingen, Heinrich Herberz in Dortmund, Hermann Gratweil and Ferd. Strahl in Berlin. The shareholders called for an "investigation commission", and the founders or previous owners could be moved, a sum of 100,000 or 200,000 Thaler. Nevertheless, the exchange rate fell from 1875 to 7 and is now – –?

3) Leipzig-Gaschwitz-Meuselwitz Railway. June In 1872, the Central Bank opened cooperative and at Riess & Itzinger 780,000 Thaler five percent priority ty ordinary shares were issued at $89\frac{1}{2}\%$ and listed the same At the end of 1876 there were still about 60.

4) Rostock sugar factory. (See p. 191). 700,000 Thaler shares and 600,000 Thaler mortgages. Cours once 105, now about 0.

5) Berliner Pappenfabrik. (See p. 179). 900,000 Thaler shares and 250,000 Thaler mortgages. Cours once 120, now about 60.

6) Joint Stock Company for Public Transport.
founded in March 1873 by Wilhelm Horn, Gustav Röhll, Gustav Thölde, Carl Stöter, Ferd. Strahl and lawyer Ewald Hecker in Berlin with 2 million Thaler shares. The 40 per-cent interim notes were issued & 118, which represents a Price of 125 means dividends never. After the Share capital "reduced", the full share is quoted at about 30.

7) Hagen cast steel works. (See p. 76). 750,000 Thaler shares and 130,000 Thaler mortgages. Cours once 110, now about 5.

8) United Bischweiler Cloth Factories. 120,000 thalers. Shares and 200,000 Thaler mortgages. Originally price 106, now 1 letter.

The two cooperative banks & la Schulze-Delitzsch, and the foundations they made and emissions cost the affected shareholders Losses that together amount to 12 to 13 million Thaler. If the audience here the name of the well-known "highly revered" folk friends who, as founders and administrators, councils appeared, it is certainly excusable and deserves regret. Unfortunately, it has had similar experiences

– 281 –

also at the Schulze'sche Creditvereine and so-called commercial and cooperative banks, several of which, as a result of embezzlement, dissolute economy and wild stock market speculation, collapsed. Although Mr Schulze as "Advocate of German Cooperatives" annually with large figures on the cooperative movement, which in 1875 allegedly had 1,360,000 members, with a turnover of 2600 million marks, understood – but nevertheless the whole "self-help" is in ridicule and disrepute, and Mr Schulze is now only for a social quack. Even less is he as a politician. He, who once dared to say that he wanted "To drive out Prussia's great power thrills", and the 1866 declared: "Not a penny for this ministry!" – he has also become a quiet man in Parliament and lets his chest voice here only rarely heard. Instead, he presides over the "Gesell-Society for the Dissemination of Popular Education", and in addition

He is working with the sweat of their brow,
Founders, such as Mayor Miquel, Justice Councillor Makower, Dr. Dr. Friedrich Ham-macher etc. Mr. Hammacher also does special work in Women's Education and Employment; and in the Committee of the Letteverein, which pursues similar goals, sit

– 282 –

\

Attorney Hecker and Mr. Julius Schweitzer, the Stock exchange editor of the "Nationalzeitung.")

Although Mr Schulze is still among the living walks, he no longer rules as "King in the social realm", but he has abdicated and his throne to the Jewish progressive,
Dr. Max Hirsch, who founded Community with his friend Franz Duncker, following the example of the English Trades Unions, which German Trade Union Association and appointed himself
"Association lawyer" of the same. As such, he stopped the Walden strike that broke out in late 1869.
castle in Silesia. 6000 miners laid the Work, and 1000 migrated to Commando by Max Hirsch, who within his party is in favor of the strikers collected 26,000 thalers. Soon these and the workers' own savings and after about six weeks they saw each other

*) Mr. Schweitzer founded the company in 1875, shortly before his Anniversary, in connection with Commerzienrath Otto Janke, broker Martin Stettiner, Rentier Jacques Meyer and others the "Berli-nerBuchdruckerei-Actien-Gesellschaft". The same follows the purpose of training girls to be typesetters, and since it is of a real nature, it has as basic capital only the modest the sum of 27,000 thalers was thrown out. Mr. Schweitzer himself subscribed 500 marks, so it is not a special Risk taken.

– 283 –

forced to make peace with the mine owners close. Mr. Hirsch, when in August 1872 the 2000 workers of the Pflug'sche Waggonfabrik (see p. 53); but only 2000 thalers were contributed here, and therefore The strike was over after just four weeks. Although the trade unions are still entirely based on Manchesterly ground, and generally very harmless nature, which is why they are not particularly thrive, they were nevertheless rejected by some die-hard "Economists" referred to as "guild associations" net, which tend towards "commercial unfreedom". Mr. Ludwig Bamberger seems to have mentioned it in his book "The Workers' Question" (Stuttgart, 1873) not with favorable eyes, and of course he reprimands the assistance which the "Association Attorney" provides to those Strikes. But Mr Max Hirsch, when he Anyone who allows himself to make such jokes is a real Manchester man, for whom the "liberals" are not to be feared When he delivered his candidate speech for the last Reichstag, he apologized for supporting those Strikes as youth pranks, he explained the acquisition of the railways by the state for a "socialist idea" (), and also wanted to change the trade regulations he knows little has changed. If the "organ for Everyone" as the cause of the current crisis "the misfortune of billions", Mr. Hirsch, although employees of the same Reform Jewish schen "Volkszeitung", a different opinion. He finds a connection between the decline in the industry and the three-year period of service, which young man from becoming a professional perfect. – – As you can see, the researchers think schrittler to stop the military budget "Conflict". 'But verily, against Mr. Deer, even Mr Schulze was a big Man, and you understand that the new "King in social empire" among the workers is still far finds less appeal.

– 284 –

The "liberals" deny the existence of the "social question" at all, and if they should exist, they believe in the | Cooperatives of Schulze-Delitzsch everything necessary, and with the trade unions of Max Hirsch the To have done the utmost. Not so the others Parties which challenge the legitimacy of social movement and the danger it poses.

Mr Wagener, the actual social policy
ker of the Conservatives, has partly on his own Hand, partly on behalf of Bismarck, with the

– 285 –

He never lost touch, several times a cross
against the Manchester economy, and thereby the “liberal” party in anger and In 1865 he had the private lecturer Dr. E. Dühring, who was rewarded with a Professorship is said to have been promised, a thought-provoking
write a paper on the social conditions of the time and the same will appear in print afterwards, which will lead to gave rise to an annoying lawsuit. In Parliament he has the Manchester freedoms of the Freedom of trade, freedom of movement, unrestricted Marriage etc. revealed in all its nakedness and demonstrated that they only belong to the industry and capital, not the small craftsman and benefit the worker. Mainly to overthrow Wagener, who served as a councilor in the state sterium was to receive the presentation to the king, led Lasker on February 7, 1873, the bold comedy of “Revelations” by sharing some founder dilettantes aunts of the conservative party, against it with no syllable of the professional bloody Founding group, whose united “Liberals” enjoy. Wagener, as founder of the Pomeranian Central Railway by the virtuous Lasker, had to say goodbye, he

– 286 –

but appeared the next year, with his aide, Rudolph Meyer, at the Social Policy Congress to Eisenach, where he in a fairly transparent manner acted as an emissary of Prince Bismarck. In As a result, the “liberal” press raised again
a bone-piercing cry of sorrow.
The orgy which the founders and stockbrokers after the war with France, and at who are the spokesmen and “economists” of the united ten “liberals” played such an outstanding role, raised concerns even within his own camp.
Mr. HB Oppenheim at the end of 1871 in the “National-newspaper” (No. 573): “The economic freedom party has recently achieved such brilliant victories worn (!) and is the final fulfillment of its programme so close (!!) that the younger Supporters of the same may well be reeling.

From this intoxication a doctrine has emerged which transform the state into a joint-stock company and his great tasks to the minimum demanders
It denies the moral nature of the State and regards it only as a necessary
The government, however, seemed hardly understand what was going on around her. November In 1871, the Prussian Ministry of Commerce held conferences

– 287 –

References to the “Discussion on social policy issues
gen”, which mainly included Manchester people, including founders and stockbrokers such as Dr. Friedrich Hammacher, Commerzienrath Benjamin Lieberman etc., were loaded, and of course
Nevertheless, that shameless Orgy gradually gave rise to an opposition, namely the same from science. Our Manchester-
The “economists” are mainly journalists,
who only know what they, one from the other,
learned; they move forever in the same Thought circles and swear by the founder of the Free Trade School, which they only very superficially know them personally; their own studies are nor do they take part in the Research by third parties. They master the press, while the actual scientists who hold professorships at the universities.
From the professors of economics, namely by the combative younger ones, now went the opposition to the Manchester economy and the capitalist rule. There appeared, just during the period of dizziness, a series of writings
by Gustav Schmoller, Adolf Wagner, Hermann Rösler, Gustav Schönberg and others, all of whom more or less

– 288 –

less for the working classes against the bourgeois geisie, the naked self-interest in the people-economy against moral and humane principles and against the abuse of the “free con-currenz” legal restrictions. These were dangerous opponents, and Mr HB Oppenheim called them immediately "Chair Socialists" In this regard drawing was a suspicion, a denunciation: the teachers of the student youth were Government denounced as socialists. In the "Nationalzeitung", as in the new edition by Mr Paul Lindau founded "Present", in which quden and Jewish comrades were attacked on attack; Mr HB Oppenheim accused the Professor Adolf Wagner, who for reasons of well-being nungsnth, rent evasion and usury in houses and construction sites, even the "Communism" (see p. 156); and Ludwig Bamberger, who likes to revel in titles"), wrote in his witty and humorous manner an article "Romanticism in the Chair of Popular economy" (No. 37 and 38 of the "Present" of

*) See "Deutsche Rundschau", First Year 1874/75, Issue 4 "On the Embryology of Banking Law", and Issue 6 "On the Birth of the Banking Act", 1872), in which he described the "Cathedral Socialists" as enthusiasts and utopians.

– 289 –

Adolf Wagner's answer: "Open letter to Mr. HB Oppenheim" (Berlin, 1872) is less of a divine more than of boyish coarseness, but especially in the tone that was necessary here. Only in The author goes too far on one point by his opponent in favor of his comrades When comparing with the Mr Ludwig Bamberger, Alexander Meyer, Braun-Wiesbaden etc. can only win HB Oppenheim; he has learned something decent, he is busy not with this and that, it is exclusively literary and in a specific field active, and he shows much more impartiality and modesty. Nor is he in his writings so pale and so boring, such as Bamberger and Lasker, but his language is full of content and Precision, simple, clear and fluid. From 1861 to In 1864 he edited with skill and prudence the "German Yearbooks", which mainly to certain employees, including through the dreary treatises of the then rising Mr. Lasker on the Constitution, Legal protection and police violence etc. and by the, their

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 19

– 290 –

because of the terrible style, the almost unreadable aesthetic
tic article by JL Klein, the Israelite Power genius and Jewish Shakespeare. HB Oppenhome is just less lucky because fewer daring ity than Messrs Lasker and Bamberger. These, his students, so to speak, had long been sitting in the par-lament; he, on the other hand, managed to
of waiting and toiling, after he had finished with the tolerance of an ant in countless constituencies.
dirt, only in 1874, and that for the ominous country
chen Reuss older line to penetrate the Reichstag;
and here he had barely warmed up, he had to
He was defeated in the new elections in January-1877 against an obscure Social Democrat. For-true, it is in the fate of this man who today be patronized by Lasker and Bamberger must be something tragic!

1871, Professor Adolf Wagner gave a speech about the social question on the so-called "church-October meeting of evangelical men", which was soon dubbed "Muckercon" by the Manchester people.
gress". In the autumn of 1872, the "Cathedral Socialists", as they now called themselves, their like-minded people to Eisenach – Heinrich von Treitschke had co-signed the invitation –

– 291 –

and October 1873 the "Association for Social-" was founded here.
politics". A telling name. The economic Economic issues should no longer be discussed, as the "Liberal rals" still preach today, the political under-but are placed on an equal footing with them and
But the club that Scholars and laymen, men of science and of practical life, from the outset composed of all possible party elements.
The first president was Professor Gneist, who Rubberman; participated in the debates
the trade unionists Max Hirsch and Franz Duncker,

Jewish lawyers and Jewish bankers, as well as outstanding founders, such as Geh. Oberregierungsrat Dr. Engel and factory owner Wilh. Borchert jun. from Berlin, Adolf Samter from Königsberg i. Pr. etc. Despite all this, the "Association for Social Policy" aroused the Manchester people were terrified and became never tired of denouncing him and of envying him. At the beginning of 1874, when the economic hardship began to stir, Professor Gustav Schmoller from Strasbourg in the Singakademie Berlin gave an important lecture, which was also attended by Empress attended: "The social question and the Prussian State". The speaker declared himself against 19*

– 292 –

the outdated theory that wealth and poverty, Luxury and misery from the different talents

of the individual, and said among other things:

"Was the Greek slave in Rome less skilled, less industrious, less educated than his brutal ignorant the Lord? Are the owning classes the only ones today? ultimately gifted? – "No, the historical origin of the social classes, like the beginning of history in general, the violence. – "The social movement which in France which brought about the revolution of 1789, is not And this is primarily thanks to the Prussian state and the social policy of its great Kings. They protected the peasant class from mistreatment, from protected from expulsion from his land, giving him a firm right to his landed property, freed him from burdens and feudal duties liberated. For two centuries, the state power has fought for this great goals with the higher classes, and thereby saved the small property, and thus probably our entire social future. Also in the area of urban and commercial life was the activity of the royalty and civil service a struggle against class domination community of the property owners, a bold stand for equal Law and equal taxation, for the elimination of all privileges legien, for the upliftment of the little people. For them houses were built and schools established; the spinner and weaver raw materials, credit and sales were created. Millions and Millions were made from the time of the Great Elector to

on the death of Frederick the Great in a way which certain school theories of the present day as well as some would have to call anything other than socialist if they were to knowledge of the historical development of the Prussian state. – “The inexhaustible capital of love and trust, which the Prussian Royal thum still has today in the broad mass of the people, has its roots not only in German politics but also in Hohenzollern – because for them only the made sense – than in the social policy just described.”

– 293 –

Schmoller presents this old Prussian social policy the new reform introduced by the United Liberals German Manchester policy, which he even aptly characterized:

“The economic ideal of the new era was believed to be achieved by formal legal and tax equality, Freedom of land, acquisition and settlement It was expected that now the Everyone can help themselves. If there are thousands of people somewhere. proletarians were in a state of unrest, it was decided the chimney, bar and pharmacy trades are still not free enough. The dull complaints that come from the social Discontent arose, the purely political leaders sought by extending the electoral, association, assembly cessation of migration.”

From Manchester politics, Schmoller from the materialism and egoism of the sitting, today's social question has arisen, the bitterness of the fourth estate. And the green the obviously dishonest acquisition of large wealth, the sense of justice of the masses had to be ends. The kingdom cannot more directly the leadership of the lower classes take, but the government must in the fight a neutral position between capital and labor assert itself, and it must vigorously oppose the

– 294 –

the overwhelming influence that the parliamentary ten as in the press the large private railways, the large banks and stock companies that have large Industry with its paid, well-trained agents
The dangers of the social future cannot
The tip can only be broken off by the royal and civil service, supplemented by the best elements of parliamentarism, the initiative to a major social reform legislation
How the kingdom managed to conquer the ten-year struggle to save the Third Estate and to raise it, it must now the dispute of the fourth class with the other classes, the fourth estate harmoniously again in the state and social organism.

This speech was frank, but also loyal and patriotic; she breathed warm feelings acceptance and faithful understanding for the well-being of working classes, but also equally noble classical Calm and complete scientific impartiality.

While the lectures in the Singakademie by the entire press regularly reported, the "liberal" newspapers observed this time there was deep silence. Instead, the speech

– 295 – printed in the April issue of von Treitschke und Wehrenpfennig published "Prussian Yearbooks",

The magazine "Neuer Socialdemokrat" also published a partial reprint, and now the
The storm broke out. Bamberg residents and comrades shouted that this is a socialist fiery speech; the liberal Press called the author a "temple desecrator
in the social realm" and called the Minister of Culture;
yes "individual voices seemed very inclined to support the sentence to the father's eye of the public prosecutor len". But the strongest thing was that Professor Heinrich von Treitschke. Probably at the insistence of the Manchester people, and for this an atonement
To grant him this, he undertook to take his friend and long-time employee, Gustav Schmoller, in the
the same "Prussian Yearbooks" and to formally deny it. For this purpose,
He published in the July and September issue (1874) of his newspaper two articles under the famous title "The Socialism and its patrons".

Mr. von Treitschke has less as a scholar and professor, as a keynote speaker and journalist, and you can do all your work activity a declamatory one. All his speeches and fonts are of beautiful form, ideal curve

– 296 –

and rich jewelry, and they have for the multitude much enchanting; but this high sustained tone,
This abundance of images and sentences must be the duration is tiring and exhausting, and in
In comparison, the author offers too little position
tives; his real force is pompous words and dazzling phrases. Yes, it happens to him well, that he says more and says different things than he actually wants to say and should say that he is in blind zeal far beyond the set goalshoots, proves the opposite and beats himself.
Evidence of this is provided by the articles "The Socialist mus and its patrons".

Mr. von Treitschke, who in November 1871 in a Parliamentary speech about the disappearance of ideal attitudes complained, and quite clearly pointed out the activities of the Founder and stock market fraudster; the autumn
In 1872 the invitation of the "Cathedral Socialists" to first Eisenach Conference, says about this point in those articles no different from Gustav Schmoller, against whom he zealous. Listen:

"Our citizenry has lost a lot, a lot in the recent years, has succumbed to the temptations of a Era of feverish speculation has not held up well; many new fortunes have been created, from unclean hands through

– 297 –

reprehensible means have been accumulated, and in a part of the
The press reveals the greed of these circles, the Shylocks
Character of the worse elements of our Judaism often in ugly meanness. – "Among all social evils, stances of the present day, no one has influenced public opinion so passionately excited, like the monstrous fraudulent deals of the associated capital. Even today, after the great increase collapse, the insulted public sense of justice feels by no means satisfied. A thorough history of this period of fever would be a service to society; the German conscience rebels against that shameful To sink their hustle and bustle in Lethe, as the satiated founders The worst sinners have has long since pulled its head out of the noose, and our Criminal law offers only inadequate weapons, as it had to a decision of the Supreme Court has just been obtained to establish the simple principle: a founder is guilty of fraud if he estimates the value of the Company overstated the value of items purchased has! – “Certainly, cosmopolitan big capital is beginning bold start-ups only with the prospect of big profits, as Mr Löwenfeld just said with praiseworthy impartiality admitted; but then the audience must also Be able to appreciate the magnitude of this gain and the true To get to know the character of his selfless benefactors – “The dominance of big capital is very evident conspicuous in our tax system; it remains the task of the Financial policy the enormous and so often completely unproductive Profits from the stock market game of effective taxation submit.”

Mr von Treitschke strongly condemns the Era of dizziness, and he speaks so unconditionally of the “Superiority of big capital.” But in the same

– 298 –

He also apologizes to the founders again, in the manner of the stock market lawyers and manchester “economists”, through the immense stupidity of the public; he praises the press that Immediately after the foundings “everywhere in the public opinion, a very strong reaction the moral feeling that the venal stock exchange papers fell into general contempt”*); he asks very unwillingly: “When has there ever been a economic class exploited the state for its own benefit, since the Hohenzollerns conquered the brazen rock of their kingdom thums?” He comfortingly assures: “Policy tic talent and political ambition are found conspicuously rare among the upstarts of the stock market. We have the justice of our legislation to be carefully protected from the widespread Middle influence of big capital; a rule of the

*) Where, Mr. von Treitschke, was that when you were in July and September 1874 when these articles were written, had this already happened? It was not until December 1874 that the "Gartenlaube" began, as the first and only newspaper of importance, the founders and founders comrades, and soon the "loving" ral" press, the leaders of the Liberal Party shouted about "Slander", preached Bamberger, Miquel and Lasker against the "Delatorenthum", and the "fine stock market papers", which as before asserting their influence, threateningly demanded the entry face the "founder hunt"!

– 29 –

-Wallet but is not in Germany's close (!!) view."

Mr. von Treitschke, who was involved in the dispute between Manchester people and academic socialists to the judge, is still entirely based on Manchester soil, and takes in all essential points for the Manchesterthum party. "The natural course of modern large-scale industry leads to create great wealth," he says calmly. He declares himself against the "social question" – "this hawkish expression nine-apocalyptic 'Leonine invention'; he rejects the term "bourgeoisie", and does not want to speak of a "fourth Stande", at least nothing about an "emancipation" of the fourth estate, which, in his opinion, has long been carried out. The civil society ity is a class order that cannot be abolished can be – and that's it! The sentence: the 'historical origin of social classes is the Violence – is a socialist "fire word"; the Expression "the disinherited classes" is "the street speeches borrowed from the Social Democrats" – and therefore Mr. von Treitschke calls his former friend, Gustav Schmoller, a "patron of socialism", "The German Social Democracy is really so black, as they are formed by the majority of the leaves is described," he exclaims. "Envy and greed are the Levers that she uses to free the old world from the Fishing, it lives from the destruction of every Ideals" Her faith is that of a whore; her means bottomless meanness, grinning cheekiness, dog-like Flattery and cheeky digging. As soon as the party lament a Social Democrat speaks, "fulfills a thorough urgent smell of petroleum the high house" etc.

– 300 –

– No wonder that the Hamburg-based "Social Democrat" replied: Mr. von Treitschke was a "moron" who, quite rightly, never should have been allowed to "study"! Moreover, even Duncker's "Volkszeitung" the social democratic leaves that, compared to the desert Curses of the aristocratic professor, a maintained a moderate tone.

Mr. von Treitschke suffers from the error of to be too enthusiastic about the powerful and the ruling, where he often loses his composure and can become completely tactless. Jakob Venedey has already proved to him that in 1864 he had the incorporation Schleswig-Holstein declared impossible, in 1865 this Annexation enthusiastically preached, and in 1866 by force also nor wanted to annex his immediate fatherland Saxony.

– 301 –

In his brochure "The Future of the North German Middle States" he writes about the King of Hanover: "If the blindness, instead of the soul of the defeated man, to ennoble and deepen him, to give him a source of lies and pride, then it is sinful to spare the blind man." – Well! answers him Venedey; then I will not spare "the deaf Junker in professor's coat, called Heinrich von Treitschke". Yes, Mr. von Treitschke has been performing the same "jugglery" for years, which he so cruelly accused George V. He cannot hear what is going on around him, he is stone deaf to the misfortune to be, and yet he regularly lets himself be in the Reichstag and gives long pompous speeches, of whom he himself does not hear a word, and the also become increasingly incomprehensible to the listener, cause discomfort and torment! Mr. von Treitschke is involved in almost every personal contact hindered, and yet he wants to meet the needs of the people, the situation of the working classes, the struggle of the Know the parties!

After he had described in that paper the Chair of Sociology After having thoroughly processed the lists, he suddenly finds that between them and the Manchester people "a "deep fundamental contradiction no longer exists"; and he explains: both directions are determined to “to complement each other, not to fight each other.” Man. should just keep in touch with the be-- sitting classes, their moods and preferences judge with due consideration. Very Gustav Schmoller aptly replies: Then we set the motto over our writings: “Wash my fur, but don’t get me wet!” – But what happened! The “Cathedral Socialists” who made good attempts, made on their last Club days, October 1875, in Eisenach completely halted and followed the advice of Mr. von Treitschke, by deciding with the Manchester people “Contact” and the Jewish “Silesian Press” reported the happy event to the world with the following words:

“In view of the result of this year’s economic scientific congress in Munich and the appearance of Dr. Rudolph Meyers in Eisenach, was appointed to the committee of the association for social policy the expediency of a merger with the Committee of the Economic Congress in discussed the customs issue and finally decided to Committees, the Association for Social Policy planned to hold its next annual meeting (1876) and its members would take the next annual economic congress, if the Economic Congress in 1877 was cancelled and the Members of his committee at the meeting scheduled for this year next annual meeting of the association: for social policy. Also for the later Both assemblies should alternate year after year. This proposal of the Eisenach Committee was accepted by the Berlin members of the Standing Committee of the Congress German economists agreed. The main achievement of The achievement of this result is due to Lasker, who his personal acquaintance and his position in economic questions the most suitable person to mediate On behalf of the Eisenach Committee,

2: 903: 2

Prof. Brentano in Breslau with Lasker the negotiations, and Lasker sat down with Braun and the other Heads of the Economic Congress.

In a few days, the decision of the Association for Social policy of its President Nasse to the standing committee of the Economic Congress officially communicated and be accepted by this person."

Yes, the great inevitable Lasker took over the mediation and carried it out, as he also always conveyed with luck, for example when his Friends Ludwig Bamberger, Eugen Richter etc. by careless statements run the risk of in front of the muzzle of a gun. He is really the "most suitable personality" to mediate it", he makes all compromises, and he knows everything, which is uncomfortable and threatening to Manchester will be eliminated from the world.

With that resolution, the "Association for Socialpolitik" declared itself dead, and he is on

– 304 –

went to the "Congress of German Economists", which is presided over by the great founder Dr. Karl Braun, and which consists mainly of founders and Founding members such as Bamberger, Hammacher, Kapp, Geh. Commerzienrath Stephan etc.

The same is the case with its offshoot, the "Volkseconomic society" in Berlin, where the blatant Manchesterism finds its expression. "The Economic society has always been for the free reign of all economic forces declared", spoke at the meeting on 25 October 1873 Mr Alexander Meyer, and he claimed at that time boldly: the crisis in America is in a A period of barely three weeks gone without leaving any painful traces – just because the government did not

Mr David Born, founder of the "Land acquisition and building association on Actien® – Cours once 200, now about 15 – meant: the big Calamity. The problem is that the people's addiction to gambling is to blame. Mr. Otto Hübner, multiple founder, praised the shares societies, without which "our current development (!) would not have been possible. In the meeting of 21 February 1874, Mr. Kammergerichtsrath pleaded

Hugo Keyssner, simultaneously member of the supervisory board of both

– 305 –

competing chemical factories Leopoldshall and United Leopoldshall (see p.
227 ff.) for maintaining the famous Actien-law of 11 June 1870; and he found lively Approval from Dr. Eduard Wiss, the assistant of Heinrich Quistorp, as well as a Mr. Neumann, who also opposed a change in the law declared and solemnly assured: only one “greater economic education” could Protect the public from harm. – Education, “Education
ment progress” are preferably the Manchester ical “economists”, and therefore these also, as the “Volkswirth” of the “Vossische Zeitung”
(No. 172 de 1876) boasted that the “social elite”, the “new nobility of the intellectual and personal politically and economically active Europe”, the global famous Cobden Club in London, where he was a member He includes Jews and founders of all countries counts.

Unfortunately, the maintenance and dissemination of the “folk economic education” will not help against the Social Democrats, who always threatened the bourgeoisie
With the general
and direct suffrage, which in 1866 Count Bismarck

the “liberals” and that Mr.
Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 20

– 306 –

von Treitschke described as one of the two errors,
which the great statesman ever committed,
the workers had achieved what Lassalle had hoped for them demanded, they entered the Reichstag, and with every New election they appear here in greater numbers. Wol screamed
On November 8, 1871, Mr. Lasker said: Only the cowardice of the bourgeoisie of Paris would have rule of the Commune; the Social Democrats in Berlin or elsewhere in Germany-country to perform a similar spectacle, the “honest and property-owning citizens” would beat them “with clubs
But afterwards the brave man got

Tribune of the People feared, and struck the killing with the baton from the stenographic report. The Social Democrats are also already in Parliament feared people, and the "liberals" are caught in a Horror of universal suffrage. The big Wars of 1864, 1866 and 1870 hindered the Spread of social democracy; for this, the political and judicial persecutions, which she has suffered since then, especially the shameless Activities of the founders and stockbrokers, the plundering of the people and the subsequent economic economic crisis has fed them extraordinarily and The founding period

– 307 –

The "era of slander" did not follow, but rather on the founders and fraudsters the – Social- democrats, and they describe the natural Reaction.

Although Manchester and the national liberalism, to which the vast majority the founder and stockbroker admits that the actual religion of the Jews, but recruit from the chosen people also the leaders of all other political and social parties. Professor Steel, which the old conservatives still was a Semite. The industrialist and Wholesaler Friedenthal, who was the chief of the Free Conservatives to the ministerial bench, is of Jewish descent. Lasker and Bamberger, the Leader of the National Liberals; Max Hirsch, who against current "King in the social kingdom"; Löwe-Calbe, the former progressive man who today is among the protectionists; Sonnemann, who Spokesman of the People's Party; Marx and Lassalle, the Founders of social democracy – they all belong of the Semitic race. As a speaker of the workers, as editors of the socialist press, more Jews. One and the same Jewish family supplies

Agitators from different parties, even from different 20*

– 308 –

Nations. Nathan Schlesinger, formerly the terror of the Berlin district associations, now serves under Max Hirsch at the trade unions; while his cousin, Alexander Schlesinger, as a traveling preacher of the social Democrats wandered around. Ludwig Bamberger sat in the German Reichstag and produced the coin and Banking Act, while his cousin, Karl Bamberger, in the French National Assembly as Prussian mustard eater debuted.

An astonishing versatility as the Race, also shows the individual personality. Jewish Founders and bankers are simultaneously dealing with Solution to the social question. Ludwig Bamberger wrote not only about "Reichsgold" and the Reichsbank, but also about "Berlin in Paris" and the life of Jesus by Renan (ö) – he also wrote, as mentioned earlier, a Book: "The Workers' Question". "A social question", says he in the "preliminary consideration", reasonably exists only for those who also have a social answer Nevertheless, Mr Bamberger also has his "Workers' question" no "answer", and the result his confusing and long-stemmed under-investigations is that it is a workers' issue does not exist at all, that they are only used by malicious people, such as academic socialists, trade unionists and social was invented by the democrats. Ludwig Bamberger has So they made things easy for themselves.

– 309 –

Of a similar nature is Mr Adolf Samter's "Social Theory" (Leipzig, 1875). The same if Jewish author was owner of a book in 1848 printing house in Königsberg i. Pr., and gave a »Political Monthly Calendar« at 1 Sgr., as well as the The "democratic" "Neue Königsberger Zeitung" was published. Later he became a banker, and during the Depression delära he has, in connection with the secret Commercial Councillors Moritz Simon and Emil Stephan, East Prussia with a lot of foundations thought that the predominantly very offensive character and some of whom also include the public prosecutor Already in 1872, in the middle of the founding era, he wrote "The Reform of the Monetary essence", and after the "crash" he developed a rich literary activity. His educational straight after he is on the same level as Wilhelm Oechelhäuser (see p. 161 ff), his books are in the main thing is reading fruits, being philosophical wanting style is a completely indigestible jargon.

There is hardly a person who has the whole “Social Teaching”, 25 sheets of close printing in large octav, most of them will be familiar with

– 310 –

the “conclusion”, which is $3\frac{1}{2}$ pages
and from which one can roughly deduce what the author actually wants. The first 10 sentences put together would be with his own
In other words: “Work and property belong together, they are through the violent behavior of people torn apart; this separation has survived to the present day, but is incompatible with the new social order and has to disappear in it.” – Herr von Treitschke, who opposed this writing to the academic socialists (), says quite seriously: “Here a calculated philanthropic idea in misleading expressed in an unscientific manner; it lacks the clear limitation, which only gives the postulate meaning and support.” – – The author himself concludes as follows: “With blood and tears the Life of individuals, as well as of humanity, but the eternal progress that is manifested makes the hardships recede and the social Present-day suffering in a less glaring light seem.” How touching and edifying this is in from the mouth of a founder! – Mr Adolf Samter is finally also an employee of the Paul Lindauian “present”; he recently published the

– 311 –

Rau-Wagner's Textbook of Political Economics
mie reviewed, and hopefully also Mr. von Treitschke proved his “scientific nature”.

This is how we see the united “liberals”, and namely the “liberal” Jews, on the various areas, in a variety of roles and Changes are taking place; and now we want to
to their actual work, to the foundations turn around.

After the iron and steel industry, it was mainly mainly the so-called textile industry, which Founders, and which they through their misdeeds have also ruined themselves. Of the countless establishments ments that fell victim to them here,

We first look at the cloth factories and name the following:

Luckenwalder cloth and buckskin factory, otherwise CF Boenicke. Founded November 1872 by Isidor Mammoth, Gustav Mammoth, Louis Sachs and Maximilian Adler in Berlin, Gustav Boenicke, Albert Boenicke, Carl Boenicke, Hermann Boenicke and city councillor Heinrich Birner in Luckenwalde. Carl and Gustav Boenicke, the sons of the predecessor owner, took over the management. Share capital 440,000 Thaler, December 1875 reduced to 406,000 Thaler, and 160,000 Thaler mortgages. Initially only 220,000 Thaler shares were issued, and when these rose to about 125% 220,000 thalers of "young shares" were manufactured, which again the founders subscribed. Last dividends 1% and 0. Cours about 40 more.

– 312 –

United Luckenwalde Cloth Factories, formerly Emisch & Schlüter, Gebr. Münnich & Co. and Gustav Laue. Founded November 1872 by Beer & Herzberg, Aron Neumann and the Allgemeine Depositenbank in Berlin. Actien-capital 570,000 Thaler and about 75,000 Thaler mortgages. Supervisory board members or "auditors": Hofrath Moritz Alberts, Hermann Leubuscher, Retired Chancellor Dr. Georg Kurs. Dividends never. July 1875, half of the shares were assassinated. Course approx. 2, Sommerfelder Tnchfabrik, formerly Ad. Martini&Sohn. Founded September 1872 by Carl Miether, Leo Wollenberg, Julius Sternfeld and Gabriel Hermann Michaelis in Berlin, Carl Martini and Adolf Martini in Sommerfeld. Supervisory Councillors: Gustav Bath and Hugo Mammoth in Berlin. Actien-capital 900,000 Thaler (!) and 200,000 Thaler mortgages!! The first issue was only 360,000 thalers, but already After 4 months it was decided to purchase the factories of Paulig & Sohn and Paulig & Weise, and manufactured for this Purpose 540,000 thalers new shares. The first and only Dividend for the financial year of 3 months (!), which which was standardized at 12'/, % was a mere bait to to drive up the shares, which then went up to 130. Today the course is about 10.

Sommerfelder cloth factory, formerly August Fischer and Martin Fischer. Founded September 1872 by the Previous owners, the stock exchange bank for brokerage transactions, Hermann Donors and associates in Berlin. Chairman of the Supervisory raths: Julius Pickardt in Berlin. Share capital 400,000 Thaler and 100,000 thalers mortgages. Dividends never; although the Prospect 111/,°%) and Mr Fischer for the first three years at least 8°/, guaranteed. October 1875 Half of the shares were massacred. Price about 10.

New Sommerfeld cloth factory, formerly Friedrich Schmidt & Co. Founded February 1873 by Hermann Zapp in Frankfurt a. O. and Berlin, Franz Harenburg in Fürstenwalde, Hermann Richard Schreiber (FE Schreiber Sons) in Berlin, Robert Paulig and Friedrich Weise in Sommerfeld. 250,000 Thaler shares and 50,000 Thaler mortgages, dividends: 5.2 and 114.%. Without stock exchange price.

– 313 –

Niederlausitz cloth factory in Peitz, with 200,000 Thaler shares. Supervisory board: AG Böttcher. Directors: Ernst Trauschke and A. Plaumann. Dividend for 1874 – 41/,0/, April 1876 in liquidation.

Cloth factory in Alt-Forst i. L., formerly G. Thomas, Founded in January 1873 by Wilhelm Wolff and Dr. med. Philipp Herzberg in Berlin, Martin Herzberg, Carl Thomas and Friedrich Thomas in Forst. Board: the co-preparatory seat Carl Thomas, who earns a high salary. "First Auditors": Alexander Dietz and Albert Tepper in Berlin. Share capital 340,000 thalers and 100,000 thalers mortgages; whereas the real value of the factory is at most 60,000 Thaler. The previous owners, brothers Thomas, guaranteed a dividend of 8% for five years, which also up to and including 1875 through subsidies they provided was, but is still not expected to be, In such circumstances, the value of the shares is likely to be very be more questionable, and the establishment to .Gebrüder Thomas, who own that mortgage, will soon fall behind. The last general meetings were very stormy in nature.

Langensalza cloth factory, formerly Graeser Gebr. & Co. Founded October 1872, with 600,000 Thaler shares and 100,000 Thaler mortgages, from the Saxon Bank Association in Dresden and by Robert Thode & Co. in Berlin and Dresden. The previous owners: Heinrich, Julius and Bruno Gräser remained in charge. Supervisory Board: Max Berg in Göttingen,

Franz Jokusch in Gotha, Fr. Hahn in Langensalza, Georg Arnstädt and Fr. Wiedemann in Dresden. The first and only dividend for 9 months backwards and 3 months forwards warts was 8%, so it was artificial. While the Shares were introduced at 103, they are now about 15 more.

– 314 –

Saxon cloth factory, formerly Commerzienrath Fedor Zschille in Grossenhain. Founded December 1871 with 350,000 Thaler shares, of which Mr. Zschille received 150,000 Thaler "reserved". Issuers: Julius Alexander and Gebr. Meyer in Berlin. Supervisory Board: Geh. Hofrath Kohl and Commerzienrath Keller in Chemnitz, August Groos in Grossenhain, Rosenkrantz junr. (Georg Meusel & Co.) in Dresden, Ernst Meyer (Gebr. Meyer) in Berlin, H. Bodemer in Naundorf near Grossenhain, L. Grossmann-Herrmann in Bischofswerda. For the first financial year of 4!/ months, a Dividend of 12°, and so the shares were raised to 130 In 1873, the figure was 5 ½, in 1874 – 2%, in 1875 and 1876 – 0. The course is about 20.

Bautzen cloth factory and art mill, formerly CG Mörbitz. Founded March 1872 by Günther & Rudolph in Dresden, with 650,000 Thaler shares. Supervisory Board: City Councillors Reinhardt and Rudolf Heydemann, merchant Kohl, Carl Mörbitz and Advocat Tietze in Bautzen, Albert Katz in Görlitz. Last dividends 0 and 2 ½% respectively. Price approx. 30. – June 1876, Director Huschke was arrested for sentence of one year in prison, various other Officials of the company were sentenced to imprisonment and fines judges. |

Rhenish cloth factory in Aachen. Founded in 1873 with 480,000 Thaler shares, which were issued at 105 (!) and with 105,000 Thaler mortgages. Chairman of the Supervisory Board: Th. Nellesen. In 1873 the profit was 10,700 Thaler, Jacob Lippmann paid 18,000 Thaler, and so 6% dividend was distributed to shareholders. For 1875 they received 71/,%/, . Cours?

Aachen cloth factory, formerly Schéller & von Alpen.

– 315 –

Founded in 1873 by W. von Lockstädt & Resag in Berlin with 430,000 Thaler shares and 21,000 Thaler mortgages.

Directors: Erich Schöller and Ulrich von Alpen. Supervisory Councillor: Commercial Councillor Robert Schöller (Joh. Peter Schöller) in Düren, C. Mehler (Nolten & Mehler), Georg Printz and Advocat lawyer Dr. Käuffer in Aachen. The 50 percent Interim certificates were issued at 105, which corresponds to a course of 110. The prospectus stated: The preliminary sitzer guarantee a dividend of at least 10%, although the purchase price (450,000 Thaler!!) by no means reached the estimate, not the slightest surcharge, and bear all the costs of setting up the company alone. – Beautiful Prospects, but things turned out differently! The first and only The financial year ended with a loss of 108,000 Thaler, and nobody thought about paying the guaranteed dividend. July 1874 was dismissed by Alpen as director, and the company entered liquidation; whereupon 1000 shares will be "gifted back" The establishment itself was acquired in October 1875 by the Father of the co-owner and Chairman of the Supervisory Board, Commerzienrath Schöller, who, it seems, is moving to Frankfurt furt a. M., for a whole 40,000 thalers! How the newspapers reported, the public prosecutor's office has finally intervened.

Hessian cloth factory in Wanfried on the Werra. founded in November 1872 with 850,000 Thaler shares, which were 1873 Windtaus & Brodtmann on the Berlin Stock Exchange Course of 105. Already in October 1873 the Concurs, and it now turns out that the founders or first subscriber to the entire share capital no penny had been paid!

Silesian cloth factory Jer. Sig. Förster & Co. in Grünberg; Limited liability company. Founded 1 July 1870. Personally liable partners: Friedrich Förster jun., August Förster, and later, when the company was actually already insolvent, Gustav Grawitz. Advisory board: Director Fromberg of the Silesian Bank Association and Max Alexander (Alexander brothers) in Breslau, ordered Consul Gustav Müller (G. Müller & Co.), Hermann Bein and Ignatz Leipziger in Berlin. Actiencapital finally 2 million thalers and 310,000 thalers mortgages! The first The issue was 1 million thalers; in order to keep the factory running and to buy other establishments, November 1872, after the Cours had already been 130, One million thalers of new shares were produced. For 1871, the Shareholders 91}, for 1872–11°/), and then nothing more, neither Dividend nor Capital. Not only the connection with the Lower Silesian Cash Association, whose head is the same Mrs. Förster

– 316 –

jun. was, but also his own guilt, excessive Speculation and gross mismanagement brought the society society collapsed. After desperate resistance, October 1875, the bankruptcy was declared, which the court postponed for 6 months. The claims filed reached the amount of 1 million thalers. August Förster, who, like his brother, Friedrich Förster, is now in custody for etiquette forgery, and Gustav Grawitz offered the Creditors for every 1000 thalers – 11/, thalers or 15 groschen, and the Grünberg District Court confirmed this splendid accord. The two higher courts, however, overturned it for reasons of public order. In the Subhastation The original establishment went through the process. The Silesian cloth factory, which was used solely for the Silesian Bank. association 300,000 Thaler mortgage deeds were held for this 150,000 thalers, which was the only bid.

United Bischweiler cloth factories in Alsace. Eight Factories whose owners "work for the French nationality opted", were sold at a relatively low price pre-purchased by Beer & Herzberg in Berlin, and 26 August Founded in 1872 by Benno Beer and Commerzienrath Louis

– 317 –

Pollack in Berlin, Ferdinand Schönheimer and Reichstag members member Professor Dr. Carl Birnbaum in Leipzig etc. The shareholder capital with 1,200,000 Thaler laid on the Schönheimer'sche Bankverein in Leipzig and the Central Bank for Cooperative ties in Berlin (Gustav Thölde). In addition, there are 200,000 Thaler mortgages, The prospectus stated: Mr. Scheuerle from Bielsko, "known for his witty essays about the wool trade" and Mr. Winkel from Düren, so far Director of the Johann Peter Schöller factory there, take over the management. – Supervisory Board: Mayor Carl Weiland in Lambrecht (Palatinate). The unfortunate shareholders The factories were calculated at 980,090 thalers; however, the founders or previous buyers subsequently agreed to a discount of about 160,000 thalers, because the prospectus contained false information. For this reason, even Mannheim merchants accept the subscribed shares and won their case in two instances. The company results were very sad: 1873 closed with 61,000, 1874 with 218,000, 1875 with 290,000 Thaler loss. Already in 1875 liquidation was sought, and for this purpose the Shareholders, who are mostly based in eastern Germany, Bischweiler to the Hotel "Zum Ochsen". Meanwhile, the Resolution is still postponed, and in the meantime half of the Shares were murdered. A lawsuit which the company brought against the founders demanded a refund of about 550,000 thalers led to a settlement whereby the defendants about 66,000 thalers. But individual shareholders made such claims. In most cases, the plaintiffs, because not private individuals, but businessmen and speculators, finally dismissed; other processes, however, are by the Reich Higher Commercial Court recently to the detriment of the Green who decided and used them to repay Capital and Interest. – The shares initially quoted at 104–106 have now dropped to 1 letter.

– 318 –

What benefits this society has created and what Blessings that foundations grant at all, is based on a Correspondence which the "Karlsruher Zeitung" January 1876, which reads: "In the cloth Bischweiler, the place known for its production, is now the long-feared calamity of the cessation of work in the spinning mills of the "Vereinigte Bischweiler Tuch-factories" and thereby increased the number of several Hundreds of workers have lost their jobs. The work cessation is all the more regrettable as it is the result of an unscrupulous Founder fraud, which is caused by Old Germany speculators who had come over were put into action. After the events of the war, the previous Owners of the extensive spinning mills, their establishments, etc. to a German company at a ridiculous price, and from The factories were soon sold to a consortium of resold at a price that actually from the outset every The rise of this industry even in the best will of the new buyers made it impossible. The deserved Loose working-class families are currently supported partly by private, partly supported by public funds, and is at least for the moment of the most pressing need. The formerly a busy place with more than 1800 houses, which was still populated with 9200 souls in 1871, is now desolate and quiet and has every prospect of becoming to fall to half of its previous population."

According to a report by the "Berliner Börsen-Courier" The public prosecutor is said to have finally intervened and the founders have requested the preliminary investigation.

Berliner Velvetfabrik, founded May 1873, with 650,000 Thaler shares and 200,000 Thaler mortgages, by Eugen Dzondi (Robert Thode & Co.), Gustav Noah, Adolf Gans, Martin Mengers and engineer Friedrich Carl Glaser in Berlin. Never dividends. The shares are not listed on the stock exchange.

The Berlin Velvetfabrik is a late start-up that was born just in the days of the "Great Crash", and a natural subsidiary of Baubank Metropole in Berlin. Her mother was born eight months earlier (October 1872) and the founders were: Julius Samelson (Samelson and Sackur), Louis Feig, Louis Landsberger, Gustav Noah, Eduard Neisser, Albert Neisser, master builder Nicolas Becker and city councilor Leopold Ullstein in Berlin, which the maid "Metropole" with 500,000 Thaler shares and 200,000 Thaler mortgages. As supervisory board members The much-mentioned gentlemen Hermann Gratweil and Julius Pickardt; and Ernst Rüb became director, who was soon made a name for himself. He was educated in a school Delitzsch'schen Consum-Verein, and then managing director at Franz Duncker, with whom he founded the "Sonntagsblatt", published the literary supplement to the "Volkszeitung". In this position he met Mr. Ullstein, who was a member of the "Organ for Everyone" and on Mr. Ullstein's Recommendation, who had proven his talent, he was appointed Director of the "Metropole". "Metropole" went with with a great noise and made, just before the Crash, extraordinary luck. Your 40 percent interim certificates rose to almost 150, which corresponds to a price of 225 speaks, and the founders smiled and crossed out the colossal Premium.

The achievements of his principals made Mr. Rüb He couldn't sleep and began to emulate them. Even earlier he had speculated with some success in houses, now he speculated he on the stock exchange, but unfortunately also in shares of the "metropolis", and largely with foreign money, which he gave to relatives, friends and his own bank. The "row" made a big mark through his speculations, he felt at home in the villa he had built outside Berlin's built, was no longer comfortable and moved to America

"Metropole" lost a round sum on him, and Among the many people he had harmed, Franz Duncker also belongs to the same family. Existences like Ernst Rüb shot up like mushrooms during the dizzy spell, and they are the necessary product of it. Such undertakings embezzlement and theft by the directors, cashiers, Clerks, messengers, etc. were almost the rule, because the property of the shareholders was considered ownerless, and those officials did only on a small scale what the founders in made big.

Ernst Rüb disappeared in disgrace, but his protector, Mr. Leopold Ullstein, lives as a rich man in his villa in the Thiergarten and enjoys all honors. After having founded Bauverein Friedrichshain and Baubank Metropolis, Berlin paper factory and the fashion newspaper "Bazar" after the evil days of the Great Crash and the serious crisis, Mr. Ullstein wrote on 28 June 1874 to the trade judge, in which he says: I have decided to make my participation in the various joint-stock companies – Since then, Leopold Ullstein lived only for the public welfare; in the Berlin City Council of which he was an influential and eloquent member, he fought bravely for the interests of the citizens, and saw in all expenses and demands the splendid Magistrate sharp on the fingers. Very indifferent it is against him that the full share of the "Metropole" today is about 8 letter, and that Berliner Papierfabrik in the course sheet for some time with two content-heavy – – thoughts – However, when the last elections were held, City Council meeting from time to time the founding past of the candidates was investigated, against Mr Leopold Ullstein a very strong opposition, and, despite all his efforts, he was no longer given a mandate.

– 321 –

Metropole owned shares of the company it co-founded Berlin Velvetfabrik more than half, a full 350,000 Thaler, and this large amount was like a stone in her stomach until she managed to get rid of the ballast in the autumn of 1876. to get rid of.

Grünberg i. Schl., a town of about 12,000 inhabitants, has been famous for its wine production

known, and has recently gained another reputation 3 ` inde stepped hi
an ang. While, the TOR none 8 S here relatively large number of start-ups in the Life, and all these foundations were the work of a single man, the merchant Friedrich Förster Jr., who at that time held the title of "Commerzien-rath".

The company Jer. Sig. has existed for almost 100 years. Forester, who was involved in cloth manufacturing and cloth trading It has been claimed several times that the same had already been bankrupt in 1857; in fact, They then and later received not insignificant financial had to overcome difficulties. Nevertheless The Förster family was held in high esteem and had a major impact in Grünberg and the surrounding area. river. May 1870, the chief, Geheime Commer- zienrath Förster, partly back from business, the Cloth factory was converted into a commandit company

Shares and as personally liable
Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 21

– 322 –

, the two sons, Fried-
3 rich and August Förster. March 1871 was also 8810880 the previously established Lower Silesian
They are a cash association in a limited partnership on shares
8 reorganized, and personally liable partner
The director was also Friedrich Förster. He was thirdly those officials are now also co-partners of the old company Jer. Sig.

Big make

~ ana Förster. which strangely enough remained. ung

as it seems, only for the purpose of helping him with his
to serve endless financial and exchange operations.
Friedrich Förster Jr. wanted Grünberg to
to a "world city" or at least to an in-industrial city of the first order, and so founded he has a dozen companies, some of which other competition, as the various Cloth factories, some of which were very expensive for the town.
liquid, such as the Actienbauverein and the Omnibus company. "Against the creative and creative to fight the urge of Commerzienrath Förster, was almost impossible," says one of his employees,
Mr. Carl Triepel, Procurist of the Lower Silesian Cash Association, in a brochure. "From an idea
one company called the other and before anyone knew exactly how it happened,

The cash association was involved in each of them."

E Pe e

– 323 –

– And in another place: "They drove into green berg a formal forester cult. The view, that every company of Commerzienrath Friedrich Förster must prosper, was considered in Grünberg
as a dogma, and everyone would have been heretical, who did not believe in the same
And then again, when he was told by certain con-currency foundations and the excessive expansion of business: "In fact, if you look at today with a cold mind these contradictions clearly one must admit that at that time, as all others, as a sighted blind and as a sober must have been intoxicated." – – Mr Triepel, although a great admirer of Fr. Förster, and in its founding, must but admit: "The main cause of the collapse
The breakdown of the Förster companies lies in the exaggerated extension of it. Its creator wanted to do this with relatively little capital achieve what otherwise only a capital power
first rank is possible. The simultaneous position of Commerzienrath Friedrich Förster, as personal Liable partner of the cloth factory and the Cassenverein, as well as head of the company Jer. Sig.

Forester, had to get into serious complications, to 21*

– 324 –

crude fusion of the most opposing interests." |

As head of these three companies, which are mutually most willingly with Accepts and Giros
Mrs. Förster continuously made changes, which together amounted to millions of thalers, was
He has worked tirelessly in founding companies, consortium transactions and stock exchange operations. Almost all companies that he hatched or "financed", was he himself as first draftsman, board member or Supervisory Board, or he was involved in the boards, supervisory boards, etc. gert, or he did business with them personally, which always led to the detriment of the institutes he headed He speculated in shares of his own

Companies that he used to drive the course or to hold for own account in large items He had the procurators and officials of the Cash club and the cloth factory speculate; he was occupied with speculations and operations that were far from his actual sphere of influence, but directly against his position and his duties which is why it is also mentioned in the annual report of In 1872 he assured the opposite. He financed Tiedemann's clay and fireclay factory,

– 325 –

Runge & Co. in Charlottenburg, just because Mrs. Tiedeman was a native of Grünberg; and granted a Mr von Lepel, Supervisory Board Chairman of the Cash association, a credit for the purchase of the Schönhof near Berlin; two shops which belong to the cash register cost over 200,000 thalers. He formed November 1872 with the same Mr. von Lepel a Consortium to acquire 500,000 Thaler young shares of the Silesian cloth factory. The consortium bought all the pieces that came to market, at an average price of 124, until it finally perceived that not the audience, but the own supervisory board of the cloth factory the main sellers, to whom Mr. Förster against his will the new shares with a premium of 24%. A new example of how the Christian is always opposed by the Jews is "glued"; and proof that in the light see, the brilliant Mr. Fr. Förster jun. his position actually hadn't grown at all.

The supervisory authority of the Cash Association, in part Relatives and good friends, made no Difficulties; they only came when Mrs. Förster and they were content with what he offered them The supervisory board of the cloth factory was equally lenient, and more focused on their personal advantage than that of society. Two As Mr Triepel tells us, the Cloth factory to purchase the establishments of Gebhard & Wirth in Sorau, which she herself originally for the purpose of founding a company, now

but, as the period of dizziness came to an end, wanted to get rid of. Mrs. Förster resisted in vain, because he rightly feared that the resources of the cloth factory: the two gentlemen eliminated justified his refusal by vowing not to
to be embarrassed. Of course They forgot their promise, and one of them
the “head of a large Silesian banking institute”, even forced the cloth factory to ensure his claim a mortgage of 300,000 Thaler
He had barely got it in his hands when he returned the bills of exchange from the cloth factory under protest.
let go, thereby giving the first impetus to the fall of the company. The same “supervisory board” later held a remittance of 8000 pounds sterling illegally, and when Mrs. Förster brought the case
When he tried to bring up the subject, he was threatened: “One will trample him and his family if he word about this matter”. The same “upon Sichtsath” finally acquired the original

Establishment of the cloth factory for the tete “large Silesian banking institute” by 150,000
Thaler, while at that establishment for this Bank institute 300,000 Thaler mortgage deeds were worn.

The following are Mrs. Förster’s “creations”:
gen”, as Mr Triepel calls them:

1) Fallier Association Factory, cloth factory in Grünberg.
“Managing Partners”: Friedrich Förster Jr.
and Emil Paulig. With only 20,000 Thaler deposit, 500,000 thalers debt contracted!!

2) Züllichauer Vereinsfabrik, cloth factory. “Ge-Managing Partners”: Friedrich Förster Jr. and August Förster. It cost 250,000 Thaler and is in the Liquidation proceeded for 53,000 thalers.

3) Saganer Vereinsfabrik, cloth factory. Actiencapital 150,000 Thaler, mainly subscribed by Mrs. Förster Jr. Costs the cash association a loss of about 100,000 thalers.

4) Silesian cloth factory in Grünberg (p. 315). Personally liable partners: Mrs. Förster Jr. and August Förster. 2 million Thaler shares, which were once quoted at 130 and are now worthless. In addition, about 1% million thalers Debts.

5) Lower Silesian Cash Association in Grünberg. Personally liable partner: Mrs. Förster Jr. Directors or authorized representatives: G. von Buchholtz (brother-in-law of Förster), Carl Triepel etc. Board of Directors: August Förster, Robert Eichmann (brother-in-law of Förster), Martin Sommerfeld, Emil Paulig, Fr. Rättsch, Ed. Seidel, Sigismund S. Abraham. 1 million Thaler shares, which once stood at over 130, are worthless, Among the first signatories are: Louis

– 328 –

Grossmann (brother-in-law of Förster) and A. von Lepel in Berlin. February 1873, it was decided to issue 1 million thalers of new shares which fortunately the crash prevented. the suspension of payments in November 1873 were over 1 million thalers in debt.

6) Wool washing plant of Grossmann, Stephan & Co. in Grünberg with 120,000 Thaler capital, of which the cash club has lost about half.

7) Rothenburg Wool Washing Establishment Despa & Co. Began to falter just a few months after its founding and costs the cash association and the cloth factory Losses.

8) Tiedemann clay and fireclay factory, Runge & Co. in Charlottenburg. Gerieth in Concurs and caused the cash association a loss of 170,000 thalers.

9) Grünberger Baufabrik by Rudolf Veit. "Silent Participant": Mrs. Förster jun. Gerieth in Concurs and costs The cash association suffered a loss of about 130,000 thalers.

10) Grünberger Baugesellschaft. Board of Directors: Friedrich Förster jun. Share capital 100,000 Thaler, which is largely lost.

11) Grünberger brewery and spirits factory.
Share capital 150,000 thalers. Gerieth in bankruptcy.

12) Omnibus and cab association in Grünberg, with 25,000 Thaler capital, which was mainly provided by Mrs. Förster jun., and is for the most part lost.

13) Lower Silesian Mechanical Engineering Institute in Grünberg and Görlitz (p. 88). Administrative Board: Friedrich Förster jun., Louis Grossmann (brother-in-law of Förster), Carl Triepel, Conrad Schiedt etc. Share capital 500,000 Thaler, mostly by the Förster family, by Carl Triepel and A. signed by Lepel. Gerieth in Concurs.

– 329 –

Friedrich Förster Jr. was considered to be providence, the Benefactor of Grünberg, and even after thousands became unhappy because of him, there were people there,
who continued to give him and his family an ovation
to offer”), who still claim today that he was only the vengeance of a “personal enemy”

In May 1873 Vienna, in November of the same year Grünberg had its “noise”. 800 people sons from the city and surrounding area, mostly small businesses worker, cottager, coachman, widow, unmarried Women, besieged the building of the cash register club, where they can use their long-standing, hard-earned The deposits, often only 100, 25 or 20 thalers, amounted to to 650,000 thalers, half of which, because without any coverage will fail completely. “Too late, says Mr Triepel, one had the experience of how Such interest-bearing deposits are particularly dangerous can be achieved if the same are used to support used in industry.” He believes that dangerous for the banking institution; but probably even more dangerous for the poor trusting depositors!

*) August Förster, although in bankruptcy and because of Punished for label forgery, became a member of the Green berger Chamber of Commerce elected!

– 330 –

The passionate founder and speculator Friedrich Förster Jr. is now popularly known as the "Actien-Fritze". But you can also call it the "Quistorp Grünberg's", because he shows with the Berlin Quistorp has a great affinity. He too was in all his "creations" more or less personally "involved", and he had them all to one inextricable rat king, so that finally always one company pushes the other into the concurs riss. He too has caused nameless harm, plundered an entire region. Even Mr. Triepel says that for the sake of this one man, "a lot of large and small companies are making payments have had to stop, and the recently flourishing Grünberg's industry was destroyed for years to come, the "The prosperity of its citizens is totally undermined."

A number of the defrauded depositors have to form the Supervisory Boards, as well as the later liquidator of the Cassenverein, August Lübke in Berlin, through the process for their losses responsible. During the year In 1876, the public prosecutor's office was also charged with various ner Fr. Förster's Creations", but Nothing is said about the result of the measures.

– 331 –

We come to the other weaving mills and Spinning mills:

Berliner Kammgarn – Spinnerei, formerly Friedrich Christian Winckelmann and Carl Heinrich Ludwig Schwendy. Founded November 1, 1871, with 480,000 Thaler shares and 150,000 Thir. Mortgages, by Max Geim and Louis Löwenherz (Berliner Wechslerbank), Julius Guttentag (Gebr. Guttentag, Louis Liepmann (David Liepmann), Gustav Frenkel and the Previous owner Fr. Chr. Winckelmann in Berlin. Directors: Arthur Winckelmann and Clemens Winckelmann. Supervisory räte and others: Hermann Reimann (FW Reimann), Gustav Frenzel, Julius Liepmann and Commerzienrath Hermann Egels in Berlin. The first and only dividend for the The fiscal year 10 months back was 71/3%. Course end of 1876 about 10.

Dannenberger'sche Kattunfabriken, formerly Benjamin, Louis and Georg Liebermann in Berlin. Founded October 1872 by the Preuss. Boden-Credit-Actienbank and its

Daughter of the Preuss. Credit-Anstalt (Richard Schweder and District Councillor (ret.) Alfred Jachmann), from Geh. Commercial Councillor Benjamin Liebermann, Chamberlain Louis von Prillwitz and the Member of Parliament, Senior Government Councillor and Director of the Royal Prussian Statistical Office, Dr. Ernst Engel in Berlin. Chairman: Chemist Nicolaus Heinrich Schiffert. The alleged takeover price was $2\frac{1}{2}$ million Thaler (), without the copper rollers and the supplies which were paid extra!! Share capital 2,900,000 Thaler and 500,000 Thaler mortgages!!! Mr. Engel has 50,000 Thaler shares subscribed. – – The previous owners took over 850,000 Thaler shares and paid to the company, schaft 70,000 Thaler as alleged profit per IV. quarter 1872. A lure for the unfortunate stockholders The founding was so cruel that Mr. Richard Schweder

– 332 –

the introduction of the shares on the stock exchange by March 1873, where there was now a serious scandal, delayed which the Procurist of the Preuss. Boden-Credit-Actienbank and Schweder's adjutant, Mr. Wilhelm (Wolf) Paradies was in great danger and could only escape by hasty flight The Israelites, whom Schweder called "Cattun", "be- and who were now supposed to "take over" "Cattun", because of the loss they were threatened with, they were in a serkerwuth, because this was a peculiar case, that the Jews had deceived each other. A A whole series of good men were persuaded to accept the "Cattun" sued, and some also won the case, because of the "unfairness" that occurred during the company's founding.

Among others, a Stuttgart bank had 10,000 Thaler shares subscribed to a consortium at a rate of 92, and paid 1000 thalers on account. When, after the fiasco on the Berlin Stock Exchange, 9600 Thaler, refused, and Mr. Schweder had the shares sold by auctioned off to a broker who only got $40\frac{3}{4}\%$ for it. Now the Stuttgart bank has been sued for reimbursement of 4447 Thaler, but the claim was dismissed because the Preussische Boden-Credit-Actien-Bank always only the Actien-capital with 2,000,000 thalers, while in The actual amount was 2,900,000 thalers. The judge found that that the bank acted fraudulently, and Mr Richard Schweder was also ordered in three instances to repay the condemned to pay the 1000 thalers he had refused.

The first financial year resulted, mainly due to the Grant of the above 70,000 thalers, a dividend of 6%, and for the board 4600 Thaler royalties! For 1874 received

The shareholders received 1%, for 1875 and 1876 – 0. The price was still about 15.

Alsatian Printing Company, textile printing company, formerly Frank and Boeringer in Mühlhausen in Alsace. Founded March 1873 with 1 million Thaler share capital, by Hugo

– 333 –

Hermann Bodstein, Hirsch Beer sen., Georg Boer and Rudolf Molenaar in Berlin, Heinrich Alexander in Hamburg etc. Operating results are not published. Without stock exchange price.

Silesian Wool Factory, formerly Joseph Beer blessed widow in Liegnitz. Founded January 1872 by the previous owners Beer, Hermann Geber, Rauff & Knorr in Berlin, Ferd. Schönheimer. in Leipzig etc. Actiencapital 530,000 thalers. Supervisory Board: Hermann Leubuscher, Moritz Michels, Julius Pickardt and Ed, Herzberg in Berlin, Max Beer in Liegnitz, Dr. Salo Feige in Breslau. Director: Feodor Beer. In the prospectus, the previous owners stated a dividend of 15 to 20%, and guaranteed for three years 8th%; but only fulfilled this guarantee in the first year, refused to pay any more and were, with the help of the other founders, against a compensation of 10,000 Thalers Individual shareholders filed suit, but did not get through. The Berlin City Court rejected them, as the processes are not legitimate, simply reject them. The district Liegnitz court, however, sentenced the defendants, who raised the usual objection of the founders: the prospect was issued without their knowledge and without their consent – to pay if they do not confirm this claim under oath. “The General Meeting is only the organ of the shareholders society as such,” the first judge explained, “not of individual shareholders in their opposition to society, and therefore the General Assembly can only decide on Rights of the company, not individual rights of shareholders The Liegnitz District Court therefore rejected the hocus-pocus of the general assemblies, which are always founders, and took on the defenseless shareholders. But what happened! The appeal – The Glogau court overturned this decision and agreed with the Berlin City Court The individual shareholder is entitled to the resolutions of the General collection, which here is based on the guaranteed dividend

– 334 –

– The opinions are often so contradictory

Legal opinions and rulings of the courts; in particular especially in founders' cases, where the judges waver back and forth, and until recently, in both civil and criminal proceedings, mostly decided against the shareholders.

December 1874, when the Cours 15 letter was written, two thirds of the shares were massacred, June 1876 the liquidation decided, and then bought the establishment for a Billiges the former director and co-owner, Feodor Beer, in conjunction with the previous Supervisory Board member, Dr. Salo Cowardly.

Hirsch Beer sen., the father of Feodor Beer and Beer & Herzberg in Berlin, the father-in-law of Ferdinand Schönhaimer'schen Bankverein in Leipzig, is an old mossy Founder, among others at the Bischweiler cloth factories and the Société d'impression alsacienne.

Eilenburger Kattun – Manufactur, formerly Robert Schwerdtfeger and Hermann Thikötter in Eilenburg, which retained the management, and in the prospectus 17½ / dividend calculated. Share capital 300,000 Thaler and 100,000 Thaler Mortgages. Founded in early 1873 by the previous owners and from Halle'sche Credit-Anstalt. Supervisory Board: HR Michaelis, Albert Levin and William Daus in Berlin, Richard Michaelis and Theodor Eisentraut in Halle a. S., citizens master Emil Schrecker in Eilenburg, banker H. Pückert in Leipzig. The shares were issued by the Nord-German Grundcreditbank in Berlin and at Stephan & Schmidt in Königsberg i. Pr. Dividend for 1875/76 – 20%. Course approximately: 20.

Silesian Linen Industry, formerly CG Kramsta & Sons in Freiburg i. Schl. Founded November 1871 by the Deutsche Unionbank in Berlin, the Schlesisches Bank-association and the Guttentag brothers in Breslau. Actiencapital

– 335 –

3, 600, 000 Thaler!!! The previous owners, Georg by Kramsta and Emil Wuthe in Breslau, 1 million thalers. Supervisory Board: Commerzienrath J. Friedenthal (Gebr. Friedenthal), Moritz Cohn (Gebr. Guttentag) and Director Fromberg. (Silesian Bank Association) in Breslau, Julius Kauffmann (Meyer Kauffmann) in Tannhausen (Silesia), Louis Liebermann (Liebermann & Co.), Julius Reichenheim (N. Reichenheim & Son) and Member of Parliament, City Councillor Adolf Hagen in Berlin, ordered Dr. Egmont Websky (E. Websky & Hartmann) in Wüste-Waltersdorf (Silesia), and the previous owners Georg von Kramsta and Emil Wathe, For this extremely expensive green

tation made a very special advertisement the "National-zeitung" in Berlin and the "Breslauer Zeitung". The gentlemen Supervisory boards have agreed, if the dividend reaches 5%, 5% royalty was promised in advance, and the same amounted to 1872 to 1875, at 10, 9, 7½ and 8% dividends respectively – 15,000 to 20,000 thalers per year, which is one Tips of almost 2000 thalers per year resulted. In 1876 Only 5½% dividend fell, and as a douceur for the rise Council of Views only 9600 Thaler. In contrast, the shareholders surprised with the news that the villa of the Mr. von Kramsta in Freiburg! Cours once 120, now about 60.

Erdmannsdorfer Spinnerei in Silesia, formerly the Prussian Sea Trading Company, founded in September 1872 by Robert Thode & Co. and the Prussian Credit-Institution (Richard Schweder) in Berlin, which 1½ million Thaler shares at a rate of 103 ½ (!), and in addition the 1 million thalers were used to manufacture priorities that the sea Supervisory Board and others: Geh. Com-merzienrath Emil Stephan, and Privy Senior Finance Councillor Scheller in Berlin, "General Director" Kolb in Viersen and Commercial Councillor Richter in Muskau. The prospectus states: "According to the own statements of His Excellency the Lord

– 336 –

Finance Minister (Camphausen) in the Chamber, the passage average yield, after very high depreciation, 8% of the total capital used." – The new company schaft distributed for the first financial year of 3 months (!) 9%, 1873 – 7% dividend and 13,800 thalers royalties! In 1874 there was a 4% dividend, in 1875 – 1%. In 1876, according to the Stock market papers report a large loss. Course still about 15.

Saxon sewing thread factory, formerly Rudolf Heyden-empire near Chemnitz. Founded in February 1872 by M. Schie Successor in Dresden with 850,000 Thaler shares, which also Bein & Co. in Berlin and Becker & Co. in Leipzig. In addition, 150,000 Thaler mortgages. The previous owner took over a position as shareholder and joined the Supervisory Board, which belonged to: Privy Counsellor Kohl, Geh. Commerzienrath Richard Hartmann, Commerzienrath Max Hauschild and Alexander Wiedemann in Chemnitz, Franz Hachez in Dresden, FW Duerfeld in Zschopau. Board of Directors: V. Duerfeld. Divi-9, 8, 5% and 0. The former Director, who also had a profit of 55,000 thalers, whereas his successor 33,000 thalers loss. Major irregularities became known, and some shareholders intended to take the preliminary sitzer liable for recourse. Cours once 110, now about 25.

Saxon worsted spinning mill, formerly CF Solbrig in Harthau near Chemnitz. Founded September 1871, with 680,000 Thaler shares and 150,000 Thaler mortgages, of M. Schie successor in Dresden, Bein & Co. and Julius Alexander in Berlin. Director: Fr. Aug. Solbrig. Chairman- of the Supervisory Board: Advocat Hermann Weber I in Chemnitz. Dividends: 12, 5, 0, 2½ and 0%. 1875/76 closed with Loss of about 50,000 thalers. Price once 120, now about 20.

German jute spinning and weaving mill in Meissen. 400,000 Thaler shares and 200,000 Thaler priorities.

– 337 –

Council of Views: Gustav Schmidt, Hugo von Boddin, Emil Quellmalz, Ernst Justus Burckhardt. Dividends 0.

Saxon wool yarn factory, formerly Gebrüder Eckhardt in Grossenhain. Founded February 1872 with 350,000 Thaler Actien. Board of Directors: Eduard Eckhardt. Supervisory Board: Financial Prosecutor Gustav Lorenz and factory owner August Zschille in Grossenhain, Privy Counsellor Kohl in Chemnitz, M. Schie successor in Dresden, brothers Alexander in Breslau, Julius Martin Friedländer in Berlin. 1875 liquidated man, and one of the liquidators was Mr. Emil Quellmalz in Dresden. The liquidation resulted in 1 thaler per share. 10 Sgr., and Mr. Eduard Eckhardt, who founded the establishment took over again, was so noble to give each shareholder 10 Thaler extra to "gift"!

Brunswick Stock Company for Jute and Flax industry. Founded in 1868 with 750,000 Thaler shares. Supervisory Board: O. Häusler, Knight Friedrich von Voigtländer and Ferd. Ebeling in Braunschweig, F. Dubbers in Bremen, Julius Nelke (A. Paderstein) in Berlin. Last dividends 0. Cours once 112, now?

The fate of the following companies is dark, insofar as the stock exchange newspapers no longer and either remove them from the course sheets have disappeared, or never at all on them figured:

Chemnitz Silk and Silk-Shoddy Spinning Mill in Erfenschlag. Founded in March 1870 with 300,000 Thaler shares, by Commerzienrath EA Krause and L. Eichborn (, , Effecten-Licitations- und Disconto-Bank") in Berlin, lawyer

Richard Schanz in Dresden.

Saxon Floret Silk - Spinning Mill in Falkenau near Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 22

- 338 -

Chemnitz. Chairman of the Supervisory Board: Commerzienrath Fedor Zschille in Grossenhain.

Lower Rhine flax spinning mill, formerly Mevissen and cook in Dülken. Founded September 1871 with 600, 000
Thaler shares. |

Synthetic wool factory of Kückelhaus & Co. and cotton wool spinning mill of Troost & Co. in Louisenthal near Mülheim ad Ruhr. Founded in 1872 with 425,000 Thaler Actien. - The 1856 by the deputy Dr. Hammacher and comrades founded the Louisenthal printing works,
Weaving and spinning mills went into bankruptcy.

Dresden sewing machine - thread - factory. Founded December 1871 with 150,000 Thaler shares, which Lüder & Tischer in Dresden. Direction: Wilh. Eichelt and Albert Greve. Supervisory board: Attorney Max Zwicker in Dresden.
No dividend in 1873.

Machine ribbon weaving mill in Johannegeorgenstadt, times Max Unger. Founded July 1871 with 225,000 Thaler Shares issued by Hammer & Schmidt in Leipzig and
M. 'Schie successor in Dresden. The prospect, which 10-14°/, dividend promised, had signed: Com-
City Councillor Breitfeld, City Councillor Wilh. Kircheisen, CG Dörffel Sons in Eibenstock, Advocat Bornemann, Georg Claus and City elder Franz Wilisch in Schneeberg.

Rope factory in Wurzen. Founded April 1872 with 250,000 Thaler shares, from the Geraer Bank, from JGA Scyffert, lawyer Carl Ludwig Langbein and Mrs. Krietsch sen.
in Wurzen, Joh. Fr. Aug. Schiitz, Gustav Goetze and Richard Fränkner in Leipzig, HH Bodstein, Director of the Allgemeine
German trading company in Berlin.

Mechanical flax spinning mill in Tilsit. Founded September 1871 with 235,000 Thaler shares, which Helfft Ge-brothers in Berlin.

Insterburger Actien-Spinnerei. Founded April 1871

– 339 –

with 275,000 Thaler shares. Directors: BM Weinstein and Julius Blechschmidt in Insterburg. Administrative Board: Geh. Commerzienrath Moritz Simon (Simon Wittwe Söhne), Adolf Samter and Carl Jacob in Königsberg i. Pr., Member of Parliament Manor owner of Simpson-Georgenburg etc. For the first financial year of 7 months (!) 53/, Thaler were paid as 9% dividend distributed. 1876 closed with a loss of 17,000 thalers.

Elbinger Dampfspinnerei. Founded in 1872 by the Geh. Commerzienrath Moritz Simon (Simon Wittwe Söhne) in Königsberg i. Pr.

Hagenauer spinning and weaving mill, formerly Horstmann & Co. in Hagenau in Alsace. Founded October 1872 with 200,000 Thaler shares, from the former deputy, Consul Gustav Müller, Ismar Neumann and Max Altmann (Neumann & Co.) and Louis Lübke in Berlin.

Weissthaler Actien-Spinnerei, formerly AH Reimann to Weissthal-Kockisch in Saxony. Late foundation, dared in June 1875 by August Hermann Reimann (FW Reimann), Paul Calmus etc. in Berlin. Basic capital 200,000 thalers.

The founding of the Erdmannsdorfer Spinnerei, until there belonging to the Prussian Sea Trading Company, and the sad fate of this foundation again provide a striking example of the disastrous activity the Manchester “economists” in Parliament.

The Seehandlung, a state-owned company founded in 1772, Institute, owned a number of industrial establishments sements, which are more or less in blooming condition, and consistently a good pension Despite this, or perhaps because of this,

the “economists” demanded the sale of these 22,*

– 340 –

establishments by soon increasing the revenues for low and emphatically assured that a Private companies must achieve much higher profits, soon regurgitated their old nonsensical doctrine: the state as such should not be concerned with such may not engage in any business or trade Unfortunately, the government was unable to yes even Manchester people sit, this pushing could not resist, and so the sea trade had to one establishment after another. The Finance Minister proved to be particularly lenient Mr Camphausen, and when the parliamentary "Volkswirte" in the session of 1871, i.e. in the middle in the period of dizziness, stormier than ever before demanded that the government should stop the "unproductive" To clear the possession of the shipping company, The minister also visited the Erdmannsdorfer Spinnerei According to a statement from the "Neue Börsen- newspaper" buyers "who are suspected of having are", but especially professional sional founders were awarded the contract: Robert Thode & Co. and the Preussische Boden-Credit-Actien-Bank (Richard Schweder). What price they paid, is not even known to the state parliament but Mr. Sonnemann from Frankfurt a. M., type

– 341 –

who is one of the "knowers", assured on 4 April 1873 in the German Reichstag, the founding merit was so great") that the Re-Government would have been obliged to pay the purchase price to publish, and since they did not do so, she is accused of having contributed to "deceive the audience". Despite the enormous founders' premium, the shares were Course of 103 $\frac{1}{2}$ launched!

Not only did the government stop the robbery of the unfortunate shareholders, they proved itself to the founders in another way Apart from 11}, million thalers of shares manufactured Thode and his comrades paid another 1 million thalers Priorities, and these entrusted the shipping company with which on the sold establishment a Cau-tion mortgage was registered. While the Erdmannsdorfer Spinnerei under fiscal administration

ment, with "very high depreciation", average net yield of 8%, the 21 million Thaler debt to the joint-stock company

*) According to one version, the previous buyers paid 950,000 thalers.

and they brought the establishment into the stock company for 1,250,000 thalers, but without the "supplies"! The booty
The founder would therefore have 400,000–500,000 thalers, equal 50% should be estimated!!

– 342° –

per 1875 only 1%, dividend can be distributed, and 1876 is even expected to end with a large loss. Therefore the shares have fallen to about 15, so the Seehandlung, for further retention of the Lombarddarlehns, recently difficult, and easy can they will be able to reopen the establishment to have to take back.

One would think that such scandalous acts
would intimidate the "economists" somewhat.
But far from it! As late as March 2, 1876,
the progressive MP, merchant Louis Uhlenhorff from Hamm in Westphalia, under demonstration.
the same stereotypical phrases, frankly and freely the Sale of the Bromberg mills, which also suitable for maritime trade; and the government com-missar, instead of addressing the Lord with a reference to the fate of the Erdmannsdorf spinning mill trump, only replied timidly: The
The government is not in principle against the sale, but in the meantime the same must be Objection of the Minister of Trade, in the interest of Rafting and shipping, which would otherwise be severely damaged would still be omitted.

At the same meeting, Mr Eugen Richter
the courage expressed by Finance Minister Camphausen

– 343 –

to praise him for "opening up the circle of business of the sea trade reduced by the sale of the Erdmannsdorfer Spinnerei", and that he "the Dissolution of the Berlin lending institutions in suggestion

Mr Camphausen is the constitutional Model Minister of the united "Liberals", and the
According to the demands of the parliamentary "economists",
He wanted to end the year 1875 with the Royal Loan Offices in Berlin, which are also under Administration of maritime trade, cancel and they left it to the city. But the municipal Authorities refused to take over, and the great people's tribune Eugen Richter explained in the City Council meeting: the loan offices served preferably to recklessness.
the poor little people their last refuge lost, they would be like vermin to the people in Berlin increasing bloodsuckers of pawn ticket fraud bern and buyback dealers at the mercy of mercy – then mercy
the government and let the pawnshops once still exist. But Mr Eugen Richter is an "economist" of unshakable fundamental sentences, and therefore he added to the praise he the Minister of Finance, the warning: "I – 344 –

wish that the dissolution (of the loan offices) in the interest of the Berlin population as soon as possible
"I am carrying out" – but Mr Camphausen seems to be Recently no longer comply with reminder to want.

On that day, the sea trade was over-haupt, which as a banking institution to the Jewish bankers
a thorn in the side, a new big rush
But the roles had changed. Previously Lasker and Eugen Richter had the Seehandlung, as harmful to society and dangerous to the constitution, sharp and ensured that the financial minister had to reduce its capital;
but today they both defended the sea trade with all the Christian and Jewish dialectics. The attack was led by the Mecklenburg Knight, Lord von Kardorff, the confidant of the Lord Gerson von Bleichröder, whom he assisted in various helped to create huge companies, and for his sake he also moved from free trade to protection customs. Out of tender love for the necessary suffering Laurahütte, a natural but terrifying utterly misguided daughter of Mr. von Bleichröder, which was launched by Herr von Kardorff, enthused

this changeable nobleman for the continued existence

– 345 –

of iron tariffs, and out of grateful reverence for He agitated Laura's deeply distressed father for the Repeal of the maritime treaty, which he had three years against Messrs Lasker and Eugen Judges highly praised and praised because the-same meanwhile Mr. von Bleichröder in favor the Disconto-Gesellschaft had neglected. In order to
To understand this, you need to know the following:
Before Mr Camphausen left the Ministry of Finance
He was known to be president of the Seehandlung.
Even then he was part of the Disconto-Gesellschaft in friendly relations, and after meeting Minister, he showed her even greater favor.
So in 1872, during the founding boom, he had dels, through the sea trade from the stocks of the Treasury three million thalers against $2\frac{3}{4}$ % Interest and advance without documentation! A friend-piece of business, which nevertheless reflects the authority of the Lord Minister's mandate and was very important to him.
could have been dangerous!! This unauthorized Grant of state funds to the Disconto-Gesellschaft, which at that time was partly on its own account, partly in Connection with Gerson Bleichröder passionate the founding was responsible, hurt the sensitive nature of the latter's courage very much, and brought the two

– 346 –

comrades somewhat apart. There was also a certain rivalry between the sea trade and the Prussian Bank, whose president, Mr. von Dechend, not the Finance Minister, but the Trade minister. Mr Camphausen has repeatedly does not agree with the measures of the main bank agreed, and on the other hand, Complaints that the Seehandlung discount policy of the main bank. After the Preussische Bank, thanks to Mr. Ludwig Bamberger, into the Reichsbank, the rivalry is still more clearly, these complaints resound even louder.

On that day, Lord Kardorff used eloquent expression; he went so far as to the claim that "the great over-speculation

lation" (meaning: founding frenzy) of the dizzying years mainly contributed to the maritime trade and that the independent existence of the same next to the Reichsbank was not to be tolerated. Professor Nasse from Bonn, a very pale, still strongly stuck in Manchester "Cathedral Socialist", who also advocates the abolition of Sea trade pleaded, and it was wiser and more constitutional, disposable state funds of the Reich bank, even if necessary interest-free (!)

– 347 –

Conservative MP von Wedell–

Malchow did not want to cancel the maritime trade, but but only participation in consortium transactions and although this gentleman also in several foundations, his speech deserves but full attention.

He rightly accused the shipping company of compromised its character as a state institution, by supporting the most questionable startups and Emissions from S. Bleichröder, the Disconto-Gesellschaft and helped others, as an agent and . Commissioner of the great founding houses, and thereby both the audience and the Reich. For example, the sea-treatment in the dizziness period consortialiter be-participates in the Russian Central Land Credit Pledge letters, shares and bonds of the God-hardbahn, on the priorities of Halle-Sorau-Guben and Hannover-Altenbecken, in the shares of the mining werk Gelsenkirchen and the partial bonds of the Dortmund Union – all papers that today are more or less disreputable, and almost all lost so terribly on the course. Gelsen-churches, committed shortly before the crash, the peak of the premium. The 50 percent interim notes were issued at 118°), so at Course of 136, and soon driven to 175, which corresponds to a course of 250. Since the basic capital 4% million Thaler and the full actie today only quoted about 80, the public is at this single foundation by 4–5 million

– 348 –

Thaler cheated. The partial bonds of the famous Dortmunder Union in the amount of 6 million Thaler found no more accommodation on the stock exchange, and the shipping company has mortgaged them, but cannot be very damaged, since the whole "Union" is hardly worth as much as the ordered mortgage. The Seehandlung has donated to the Reichsinvalidenfonds the vast amount of unguaranteed railway priorities which are hardly saleable today and are of dubious value; and even Mr. Eugen Judge stated in that session that she had been out of friendship Society for their consortia somewhat expensively, and she might have obtained other papers if she had not at Halle-Sorau-Guben and Hannover-Altenbecken itself. All these consortial investments, Lombard transactions and purchases for the Reich Invalids Fund were mostly love services provided by the Disconto-Gesells shipping company. partnership of Mr. Hansemann and Mr. Miquel pointed out, and partly the public, partly the state have have to bear the expenses.

– 349 –

All parties, all speakers, including Mr Las-ker and Eugen Richter, were unanimous in condemning division of the maritime trade; nobody wanted to absolve the sins committed, the whole house silently admitted that she was in bad shape society and through their performance also has brought the government into disrepute. The Defence of the Government Commissioner, "reserved ly a better understanding of his high boss", was dull; and the "high boss", Minister Camp-hausen, actually didn't know what else to say, than that he alluded to the "slander era" and asked melancholy: "What is there anyway? in recent times against complaints and suspicions protected? Was it some institute, Was that any person?" – – This touched the united "liberals", and although Mr Eugen Richter called the maritime trade "a piggy bank for state cuts", a means whereby "the Ministry without the approval of the state parliament, can create" – they voted against their their own convictions and against their own wishes, for the continuation of the maritime trade in undiminished lerter Competence, just to, as they explained,

Not to allow a vote of no confidence in the Finance Minister.

Mr. Camphausen proved himself again as the con-institutional model minister, saying: "The Sea trading is one of the peculiarities of the Prussian state, and if the task
this peculiarity purely from a philosophical point of view.
sophical reasons, if I
the obligation would be imposed to demonstrate the absolute necessity ability to prove that the State has such an institute, then I would be in front of this Mr Camphausen seemed to suggest that a repeal or
but reorganization of the sea trade probably in later
"quieter" time; and in particular the won him the votes of the united "Liberals".
But there is not the slightest prospect of this happening
The government would be acting very carelessly,
She wanted to, especially now that she had already won the Prussian Bank has sacrificed, also the sea trade
The Seehandlung is the banker of the State, which has always rendered him the greatest services which helps him with bonds, financial operations, etc.
always stood by to give advice and help.
Without the maritime action, the government, e.g.

,

— — —

— 351 —

in a conflict with Parliament, checkmate
can be placed in the most oppressive undignified utmost dependence on the Bamberger Imperial bank, which is actually run by a predominantly composed of Jews and Jewish comrades
"Central Committee", of which the Sanhedrin or High Council of New Jerusalem is governed. Between
There is a huge difference between the two institutes
The Seehandlung is a German conservatory tive state institution, the Reichsbank, on the other hand, is merely a Semitic-national liberal stock company, which can also crash and liquidate one day.

A third group of start-ups are the following companies:

Finishing, decaturing and dyeing, formerly CG Ullrich in Berlin. Founded November 1871 by Isidor Mamroth, Oscar Mamroth, Ferdinand Oppenheim (Oppenheim & Co.) and the representative, Admiralty Counsellor Theodor Jacobs in Berlin, with 130,000 Thaler shares and 100,000 Thaler Mortgages. For the first financial year of three months (!) 2½ thalers per share were artificially distributed, and this as 10 percent dividend!! In 1872 and 1873 there was 0, 1874 – 2 and finally 1875 – 5%. The shares, once 115, were In 1873, when attempts were already being made to “disestablish” the church, under 40 and have now recovered to around 55. The public prosecutor's office is conducting research which, however, did not lead to any charges.

Immediately after the company was founded, the

– 352 –

Brother of the previous owner a similar institution, and sought the to attract former customers, which is what the two Establishment a competition for the coachman of the old business, which the “Neue Börsenzeitung” described as amusing described as follows:

“A finishing and decaturing, recently with much effort into a joint-stock company, and now only therefore Actien-Gesellschaft, because the former private owners Major shareholders have had difficulty finding a director to get it, since the old owner is known to be from the management resigned, and his brother also did not not only rejected, but also a competing business in in the immediate vicinity of the old company. Heavy but it was still the old coachman's turn to get the old finish If such a coachman gets into trouble, he faster than Lombards when a bull market consortium. The competitor finisher, probably a seeing that a good coachman is the real director of a old finish, and through his knowledge of the customer etc. are of great benefit to a new company should be, let the siren sounds of a salary increase go off. sound, instead of 15 thalers he offered 20 thalers monthly wage. The old finish again. Everything had to be done to new director to get the old coachman, she outbid therefore the competitor and granted 25 thalers. This set now 30 thalers on the coachman's card, which in turn is a This resulted in a bid of 35 thalers from the opposing party.

And so on. The driver of the horse was thus supported by two rubbing enemy elements on a monthly salary of 60 thalers, and at this price the old finish Regarde over the coachman. 60 thalers are for a coachman quite a price increase, and what Ullrich's coachman has accomplished here, Lehmann's Coachman not."

– 353 –

The allusion to "Lehmann's Kutscher" is in Berlin generally understandable, but unfortunately not for foreigners. This story, however, is one in a hundred Examples that the wage increases and the strikes, on the part of of workers and servants, a necessary consequence of the were founded, and from the joint-stock companies system-were fed automatically and operated by themselves.

Art and beauty dyeing, formerly Thiele & Seegers in Rummelsburg near Berlin. Founded September 1872. The Share capital of 323,000 Thaler was issued by Albert Hoffmann & Co. in Berlin, Rosstrasse 6. Plus 97,000 Thaler Mortgages. Supervisory board and others: Consul Lesenberg in Rostock. In the prospectus, the previous owners, who were in charge retained and took over 60,000 Thaler shares, 151/,°/) Divi- and guaranteed at least 10% for three years. They were released from this obligation in the General Assembly. meeting on May 7, 1875, where the real shareholders violently opposed, and at the same time it was decided to release half of the shares in order to cover the huge losses. Last dividends 0. Price also 0.

Piece dyeing, finishing and machine factory, formerly City Councillor Gebauer in Charlottenburg. Founded August 1872 by the previous owner, who retained the management, from Isaac Simon (Simon brothers), Commercial Councillor Victor Ludwig Wrede, Paul Gravenstein and bank assessor Hermann Löwenfeld in Berlin, Government Building Councillor August von Derschau in Charlottenburg. Supervisory Board and A.: Hermann Richter in Berlin. Purchase price 650,000 thalers, without supplies! Actiencapital 650,000 Thaler, which the Central Bank for Industry and Commerce to the course of 102! 200,000 Thaler mortgages!! First and only dividend 5%. Course about 10 more.

Dyeing and finishing, formerly Gebrüder Alexander in Schönweide near Berlin. Founded October 1871, with

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 23

430,000 Thaler shares and 100,000 Thaler mortgages, of Attorney Seelig, Hermann Frenkel (S. Frenkel), Julius Friedländer, Jacob Landsberger, Leopold Ring, Siegmund Sobernheim and Adolf Sobernheim in Berlin, First Auditor: Hermann Leubuscher in Berlin. Director: the previous owner Elias Alexander (Gebr. Alexander) in Berlin. First and only, artistically dividend of 6%. December 1874 began the "de-foundation", and the establishment should be opened before the notary Hecker sold. But there was only one bidder, and that The same offered 105,000 thalers, which after deducting the mortgages, would have resulted in about 2% for the share.

Dyeing and finishing, formerly Heinrich Körner in Chemnitz. Founded in March 1872 with 400,000 Thaler shares and 50,000 Thaler mortgages. The prospectus began very lively: "In Chemnitz, the German Manchester etc.", and named as supervisory board members: Leopold Hadra and MS Meyer jun. in Berlin, Rudolf Körner (Beyer & Körner), Bruno Sieler and Hermann Breyer in Chemnitz. From the shareholder capital, which the Weimarische Bank and the Geraer Bank The previous owner, Oscar Körner, took over 80,000 Thaler, and he also retained the management. The first dividend of 7% was made; the second and last was 4%. to raise the rapidly falling price again, published the direction, which is characterized by various inconsistencies lucky coincidences, periodically a comparative review View of the dyed and finished pieces – one of the numerous loose tricks that make the audience bite After the share capital had been reduced by half is shortened, the shares are still trading at around 15.

Piece dyeing factory in Elberfeld. Founded in March 1872 with 500,000 Thaler shares. Board of Directors: August Prisack, Eduard Gebhard, Hermann Boeddinghaus, Hermann PE Georg Cohnitz and Albert Kaufmann.

Berlin Wool Bank and Wool Laundry.: Originated

by pre-purchasing the business of Alexander Krüger and various properties of Siegfried Lövinson, which both the company December 1871 founded in community with: Louis Lövinson, Ferd. Jäger, Robert Kemnitz, Hermann Schomburg, Otto Nitze, Director of the Romanian Railway society and Eduard Nitze in Berlin. Actiencapital

250,000 Thaler, which H. Hirschberg, Spandauer Brücke 7,
In addition, 193,000 Thaler mortgages. Directors:
Alexander Krüger and Ed. Nitze. Supervisory Board: Freiherr Otto von Schleinitz. The shares, which once stood at 112, have lost every course, and the public prosecutor's office is an investigation was carried out.

The co-founder Ferd. Jäger, now in Wiesbaden, directed to the author of this book a letter in which he says:
Having recently returned from America, I was in the Masonic Lodge of Siegfried Lövinson to the company persuaded, trusted in his brother's word, and perhaps the only one who paid the full amount. When I later the actions of the directors and supervisory boards did not want to approve, I was removed from the Board of Directors
– If the story is true, it proves only that even in certain (simultaneous) lodges foundations were carried out, and that Freemasons and fraternity brothers have “glued” each other.

Wool import company in Berlin. Founded April 1872 by Julius Nelke (A. Paderstein), Eduard Freiherr von der Heydt, MP Richard Hardt (Hardt & Co.), Franz Mendelssohn (Mendelssohn & Co.), Adalbert Delbrück, Ernst Hergersberg, Hugo Oppenheim (Robert Warschauer & Co.),
Wilhelm Rhodius, Hermann Wallich and MPs Dr.
Georg Siemens (Deutsche Bank), Nahum Joseph, Gustav Ebel, Philipp Henschel (Berlin Product and Commercial Bank), Georg Fraustädter and Albrecht Witte (International Trade society) in Berlin, Conrad Gädecke (Johann Conrad Jacobi)

23*

– 356 –

in Königsberg i. Pr., Commerzienrath Samuel Salomon in Schwerin (Mecklenburg). Share capital 1 million thalers. Has liquidated, and the paid-in share capital may have been lost.

Agricultural Central –Wool Washing– Stock Company–
Society in Berlin. Founded in April 1873 by the private writer Richard Seydler in Berlin, who called himself “Doctor” and “Professor”, in association with the merchant Hildebrandt various very notorious foundations, such as “Mortgage Credit and Construction Bank”, “Stock Company for public transport in Potsdam”, “Provincial Building Bank” etc., and in 1874, just like his companion, 1½ years in prison. As co-founder
The statute states: Manor owner Paul Sommer on Grunau, Hartwig von Behr–Negendank on Lübschin, Emil Sommer,

Rudolf Noack, Paul Bischoff, Bruno Weimann, Louis Benken-dorf, Anton Hildebrandt and Colonel z. D. Hermann von Gleissenberg in Berlin. Share capital 300,000 thalers. 1874 liquidation was decided, and in 1875 the necessary
Subhastation of the properties.

Uckermark Wool Bank and Wool Laundry in Prenzlau. Founded in May 1872 with a final capital of 120,000 Thaler Shareholder, Supervisory Board and others: Wilhelm Flügge in Prenzlau and representative, Knighthood Councillor of Wedell – Malchow.
Last dividend 0.

Bremer Wollwäscherei. Founded March 1872 with 200,000 Thaler shares. Dividends from 1873 to 1875: 0, 0 and 6° respectively.

The course losses that the audience experienced at the Textile start-ups are estimated at around 25 million million thalers; in the chemical factories ken they amounted to about 20 million thalers, for the Gas, paper, sugar, glass, leather, rubber and

– 357 –

Tobacco factories about 30 million thalers, together
i.e. about 75 million thalers.

A considerable number of parliamentarians are
been active and helpful in these foundations, either co-authored it or at least supported it Giving their name to the audience recommended, and in the last three chapters the following Gentlemen mentioned: Guido, Count Henckel von Donnersmarck, Privy Admiralty Counsellor Theodor Jacobs, Justice Counsel Dr. Carl Braun (Wiesbaden) and Privy
Senior Government Counsellor Dr. Ernst Engel in Berlin, City-rath Reinhard Fröhner in Dresden, lawyer Rudolf Thiel in Bautzen, Baron Ernst von Eckardstein-Proetzal, Attorney Wölfel in Merseburg, Hermann Zuckschwerdt in Magdeburg, Attorney Herman Schreck in Pirna and lawyer Emil Lehmann
in Dresden, banker Friedrich Feustel in Baireuth, AG Mosle in Bremen, Higher Court Attorney Wilh.
Laporte in Hannover, Commerzienrath Theodor Bischoff in Danzig, lawyer Freund in Breslau, district retired judge Schulze-Delitzsch, retired district court judge Rudolf Parrisius in Berlin, City Councillor Hausmann in Brandenburg, Dr. Buhl in Deidesheim, lawyer
Schenck in Wiesbaden, Dr. Georg von Bunsen, city

Head of the Council Dr. Wolfgang Strassmann and

– 358 –

Consul Georg Müller in Berlin, Professor Dr. Car
Birnbäum in Leipzig, City Councillor Adolf Hagen, merchant mann Richard Hardt and Dr. Friedrich Hammacher in Berlin, Dr. Egmont Websky in Wüste-Walters-village, manor owner of Simpson-Georgenburg, Knighthood Councillor of Wedell-Malchow.

Almost all of these gentlemen confess to the “liberal” party, only the last two are Conservatives
tive. A few have since dropped out,
Most of them are still in parliament, and they were despite the accusations that have been made publicly against them lifted, re-elected; yes, several founders and founders only received in the last elections
a mandate. Isn’t that grist to the mill of the Social Democrats, because the most striking proof of the deep corruption in our public Life? No wonder, when the new teaching of the Messrs Bebel and Liebknecht from the masses like a gospel is welcomed!

The benefactors of society.

From the Founders’ Advocates – Why the Fraud of 1870–1873 was Blu-more powerful than all previous ones – The new Tower of Babel – “Participation” the brokers, the press and the bankers – The “depots” and the laundry gutters – foundations for building materials: Berliner Holzcomptoir, Potsdamer Wood factory, Anhalt wood factory, Herzfeld, Dresden and Frankfurt Steam brickworks, Birkenwerder, Central Factory – City, Central Bank for Buildings, Ostend, Südend and Cottage – Eduard Mamroth – Antonienhütte, Oderwerke, Tippelskirchen, Greppiner Werke, Wusterwitzer Ziegelei, Cement factories –
German and Saxon wood industry, barrel factory Wunderlich, Neustädter Baroque frames, Breslau furniture, Rathenow and Berlin woodwork, Renaissance – Telegraph construction and telegraph supplies – Stove factories by Dankberg, Arneburg, Keppler and Teichert – Berlin, Silesian and Tiefenfurter porcelain, Bunzlau tableware, clay and chamotte wares –
Metal industry, optical industry, horseshoeing, Spinn & Sohn, Stobwasser, Neuss, Mosgau, Neue Berliner Messingwerke – Mr. Christian Wilh. Borchert and Dr. Engel finally solve the social question – Bernsteingesell-schaft, Westphalian Marble Works, Thuringian Slate, Westphalian Draht, Westphälische Union, German Mining Corporation and Dortmunder
Mining – Mills – Kaiserhof, Hotel du Nord – Baths: Nudersdorf, Jastrzemb, Chrysoprass, Liebenstein, Heiligendamm, Heringsdorf, Rothenfelde and Salzungen – Baltic and North German Lloyd, Central-Tauerei, Elbshipping company, furniture transport, parcel company, Grosse Berliner Horse-drawn tram – German Art Institute, oil print Borussia, Bazar, Deutsche Buchhändlerbank – Sport – The Old Testament on Horseback – Fishing Society of Weser and Emden Herring Fishery, Berlin Dairy, Breslau oil factories – Stolzenburg, Vietmannsdorf, Altmärkische, East Prussian and Pomeranian industry, German-Hungarian, Kaizer, Rhenish-Westphalian and Bergisch-Märkisch Industrial Society – Tivoli, Kroll, Friedrich-Wilhelm-Strasse, Flora and Passage – Aron Hirsch Heymann – Berlin Cattle Market – Magistrate and City Councillors of Berlin – Berliner Neustadt – New Berlin Horse-drawn Tram – Hagen City Council and the Deutsche Unionbank – Municipal Mental Hospital – Business with Hermann Geber – Costly administration – The sewerage and the irrigation fields – Debt burden and tax screw – The mathematician of “Vossian Newspaper”.

“It has founders and stock market jobbers in the allonge wig and hair bag. The swing the entrepreneurs' spirit, the credulity of the Shareholders, the acquisitiveness and pleasure-seeking of the masses – all this has always been there, in the Tulip mania in Holland 1634, as in the Rue Quincampoix to Paris under Law, and in the Coal Get to New York before Black Friday. – These profound words belong to the “Volkswirt” the “Vossische Zeitung”, and they escape him at a review of the “History of Trade Crises” by Max Wirth, which book he dedicated to the “Roman History” by Mommsen, while he the author as “Publicist, economist, historian and statisticians” with overflowing pen. Justice Counsel Lesse expressed similar views in the German Reichstag on 4 April 1873, when the terrible Founder-killer Lasker the second part of his “Ent-revelations”, this time without mentioning names, to Mr. Lesse, who wrote the Act on Stock Corporations “was of course against a rapid reform of the same, and he believed that Germany Already in 1857 a “perhaps equally bad” crisis experienced that the founding fraud in England from 1862 to 1866 a far, far larger been sel.

– 360 –

It is not surprising that the press and the "economists" now as defenders of the founders and stockbrokers appear that they are the horrific the damage they have caused, as far as possible reduce and add as a natural necessity looking for jobs. – What do you want?! they shout with virtuous indignation, with moral disgust the "delators" and "slanderers". Do you know the story? Have you never heard of the tulip swindle in Holland, by the Compagnie d'Occident in France, by the South Sea Company in England country? Founding periods are pathological trends, that are taking hold of the public like an epidemic, and they are return! Is the economic Crisis only in Germany, it does not rage throughout Europe and across the globe?!

– 361 –

So these people know the story for their purposes, to distort the facts exchange and embezzle. But positive numbers prove that at no time and in no country as many companies were founded as from 1870 to 1873 in Germany – to 1300 stock companies; that the price and asset losses which the audience, never and nowhere such a colossal reached the same amount as in Germany today – about 1500 million thalers. Against the current crisis hold, the one from 1857 was not worth mentioning; it passed quickly, while the present one now has been going on for four years and is not yet over cannot be foreseen. In England, in France, in North America, even in Austria, the shrinking del has always only affected and affected certain circles dignified, and the main issue was each time only about a stock market crisis, while with us Trade and commerce, business and industry, all shops and workshops, large and small, because the founders and stockbrokers plundered the entire people from top to bottom.

– 362 –

The foundations from 1870 to 1873 were so numerous and more vicious than in any other period. The longer the dizziness lasted, the more and they became more evil; most and the bloody most recent dates from the second half of 1872 and from Early 1873. The Vienna "Krach" naturally brought

ly a major setback, but in Germany
The founding did not end there;
continued, albeit weaker, throughout the year
continued, and even in 1874, and even in 1875, some individual start-ups, because you always come across an early end to the crisis, and then to a continuation continuation of the fraud.

– 363 –

The shares of the foundations from 1870 to 1873
stacked on top of each other, would form a mountain, against which the Montblanc appears like a dwarf
Where should this mass of paper go? even the Stock exchange newspapers, when a gust of wind arose and the paper Chimborasso began to wobble. Even Mr. Julius Schweitzer from the "Nationalzeitung" warned against the general "optimism" and blamed his "pessimism" – two keywords,
which in each of his philosophical stock market articles return. But these were and remained general mean sayings to save appearances, to to cover your back for later times. In Every company was recommended in particular; only Sometimes, when the foundation is too scandalous or the founders were obscure people, from from whom there is nothing to fear and little to hope the financial newspapers attacked it and slaughtered
They offered them as guilt and atonement sacrifices. But the »Nationalzeitung« to participate in such things, too "decent" and too noble; she praised everything and Each, and where she could not praise or wanted, she preferred to remain silent.

It took time and detours, many lists and Ranke, until these million shares gradually enter the hands of the audience. A consortium took over the new paper from the other, and the last brought it to the stock exchange, where it sold weekly and For months by agents and professional jobbers

– 364 –

"given" and "taken" was artificially driven.
Even the brokers who only broker the deals,
but should not speculate themselves, were given the title "posts", di larger sums "involved", and "interested ten" now opted for the paper. Likewise, the Representatives of the newspapers, each with a few shares for free or at a lower rate so that they can obtain the necessary But mainly they were looking for to win over the bankers by offering them "bonuses fications" of 5 to 20 percent. The Bankers then strongly recommended the paper to their customers, and had it promoted by business friends and Agents across the provinces, in every town and Villages. Only stockbrokers and speculators Professionals subscribed to the new shares, the publication kum had to go through the press and the Bankers had to be captured. It also had to be change his papers frequently, otherwise the Hundreds of bankers who were caught up in the fraud period, cannot exist. So- soon the effect increased by a few percent, advised the banker eager to "realize" the profit and another "upgradable" paper to buy something that he usually had back in stock. He forced the customer to pay advances, granted him a current account, and kept the shares as a If they fell in price, a bear market occurred he demanded "cover", and if they did not could be obtained, he sold the "depot". In this way, harmless private individuals were systematically Speculation seduced, little by little, for their entire brought wealth.

– 365 –

Of all stock market effects, industrial securities the most questionable, but precisely they, precisely the laziest of them, went into the hands of the little man After Lasker's "revelations", the Jewish "Volkszeitung" a feature section, which told a very touching story about a poor laundress, who have their savings in a share of the Prince Putbus founded Berlin Northern Railway and now lost everything. Washerwomen and widows, coachmen and house servants did not use railway papers, but industrial to buy things, such as the Neptune of the Gentlemen Dr. Braun and Dr. Engel, the Steinhäuser Hut of the Dr. Hammacher, the Dortmund Union of

– 366 –

Mr. Miquel, the Lindenbauverein of Mr. von Bonin, and similar shares, because they are widely were better known and more popular, in the newspapers and were much more highly praised by the bankers.

The most popular foundations were probably the construction associations, for which press and "economists" the They were seen as noble men and women friendly enterprises, as a rescue remedy against the housing shortage and found the audience's full trust. In Berlin, her Number soon legion, but also in all other major cities they shot up merrily, and finally was not a medium-sized town without one or more Building societies on shares. Numerous Building material companies, some of which produce wood traded other bricks, lime, cement and the like. They were also produced with the best Hopes welcomed, and their shares found willing Recording and large course increases. We be- _ limit ourselves to presenting the following.

Berliner Holz-Comptoir. Founded in March 1872 by Fr. Wilhelm Schramm, Wolf Hermann, Carl Wilhelm Eger, Benny Wolff, Maria Wilh. Theodor Müller, Th. Ferd. Schönemann, Th. Ferd. Mencke, Carl Coppel, Moritz Löwe, Albert Jonas, Farmer Julius Taddel, master builder Mrs. Koch, Dr. Gustav Lewinstein, Justice Counsel Otto Lewald and Deputies, Geh.

- 367 -

Admiralty Counselor Jacobs in Berlin, Albert Fr. Kogge in Charlottenburg, Otto Heinrich Sasse of Neustadt-Eberswalde. 2 million 100,000 thalers in shares and 150,000 thalers in mortgages. Sichtsrath u. A.: Bank Director Eisentraut in Gera. Dividends 8, 8, 6, 6% and - 0. Price once 125, now about 40.

Potsdamer Holz-Factorei, otherwise Gebrüder Saran. founded in September 1872 by Heinrich Quistorp in Berlin, with 500,000 Thir. shares, of which the previous owner Ferd, Saran allegedly 300,000 thalers. Supervisory Board: Attorney Engels, Kallabis, Julius Köppen and E.Peltzholtz in Potsdam. Dividends from 1872 to 1875: 16, 6, 6 and respectively 5%, %/. Cours once 145, now about 60.

Berlin-Anhalt Wood Factory. Founded March 1873 by Martin Fränkel, Siegfried Lövinson, Louis Lövinsohn, Adolf Ellenburg, Robert Kemnitz and Baron Otto von Schleinitz in Berlin, with 200,000 Thaler shares. Late foundation; already in October 1873 the dissolution was decided.

Herzfeld steam brickworks near Berlin, formerly the fief schulzen A. Schultz. Founded November 1872 by Moritz Bamberger, Louis Schwartz and Wolfram Meyer in Berlin. 300,000 Thaler shares and 50,000 Thaler mortgages. In Prospectively, the share capital was only 250,000 thalers. stated, and was published by Wolfram Meyer in Berlin and at Meyer & Gellhorn in Danzig. "Technical Head": the previous owner, and also the "Pre-stand": Justice Counsel Slevogt, District Architect Wendt and Salomon Lewin in Berlin. Bamberger and Meyer guaranteed the next 2 years a dividend of at least 6%/, and the Prospect was a report by the Government and Building Council C. Schwatlo and the district architect Carl Wendt, which has a net profit of 44,000 thalers per year, i.e. a Interest rates of around 16% were calculated. The balance sheet for 1873 closed with a loss of 5000 Thaler, while one of the supervisory räte wanted to determine 17,000 Thaler profit, but for that was thrown out of the temple by his colleagues. scandalous, public disputes and mutual ous accusations, the founders were sued for the dividend guarantee and because of the unaccepted Shares with 50,000 thalers. October 1876 the competition was opened, and the March 1873 with 110 paid shares are worthless. The prosecutor has investigated, but it seems without success. |

– 368 –

Dresden steam brickworks in Alt-Striessen. As author The "Allgemeine Börsenzeitung" called the city councilor Lawyer Ludwig Meyn and the brothers Emil Cohnfeld and Eugen Cohnfeld in Berlin. (Emil Cohnfeld was editor publisher of the "Berliner Figaro", whose justification Hermann Donor had given the money.) The very insignificant drawing gelei was allegedly purchased in the summer of 1873 for 192,000 thalers. and the new company with 275,000 Thaler shares and established 162,000 Thaler mortgages. However, the Dresden Stock Exchange introduced the paper, and in Berlin Shares are said to have been circulating without dividend coupons! In November 1874, operations had to be stopped, and the The establishment, which was charged with 437,000 thalers, went into liquidation in the au in the judicial subhastation for not yet 26,000 Thaler to the previous owner, Ernst Friedrich, in August 1876

The Berlin public prosecutor's office is to file a suit against the founders 120 sheets long denunciation, and the under-search is now pending in Dresden.

Frankfurt Steam Brickworks founded in Frankfurt a. O.
February 1873 by W. von Lockstedt & Resag in Berlin, the
the dilapidated establishment to the shareholders for 249,000 Thir.
Supervisory Board: Manor owner von Suckow, Ren-tier C. Brandes and banker Sorsky in Berlin. In 1875 28,000 Thaler shares "returned", 1876 the Concurs opened.

Birkenwerder, Society for Building Materials in Berlin.

– 369 –

Founded in March 1872 by Georg Beer and Max Munk, and the unfortunate shareholders for the colossal sum of 890,000 thalers transferred. 560,000 thalers shares and 410,000
Thaler mortgages. "First subscribers": Aron Hirsch Heymann, AH Heymann & Co., Paul Munk, Max Munk, Georg Beer, Master builder Walter Kyllmann, Director Wilh. Kremser and the Previous owners: Commercial Councillor Oscar Krause in Berlin and Wilh.
Borgfeldt in Birkenwerder. Chairman of the Supervisory Board: Gotthold Heymann; Chairman: Franz Pernet in Berlin. For
The first fiscal year of 9 months accounted for 11% dividend and 5600 Thaler royalties; from 1873 to 75: 4, 2 and respectively.
0% . Price used to be 115, now about 5.

Central factory for building materials in Berlin. Founded December 1872 by Eduard Mamroth, Hugo Mamroth, Jos.
Wilh. Bergmann, Heinrich Wilhelm Bergmann, Leo Wollen-
berg, Ignatz Hantke, Amandus von Lieben, City Councilor Dr. Aloys Stort, Paul Emil Rosenfeld, Louis Fonrobert, painter Carl Sievers in Berlin. 650,000 Thaler shares and 250,000 Thaler mortgage counters. A foundation that was founded shortly before the crash
The audience was particularly impressed by the 106 Shares went up to 220 in a few months, while today they about 10. The first business year ended with a great loss, since the chairman, master builder Hilke, made a big mistake with bricks that he bought on delivery.
speculated.

Almost the same people, namely Eduard and Hugo Mam-roth, Joseph and Heinrich Bergmann, von Lieben, Rosenfeld, Fonrobert, Hilke, Dr. Stort, Georg Sievers and Carl Sievers
founded the

Baugesellschaft City in Berlin with 600,000 Thir. shares, which were driven up to 175 and then to about 8 sank.

The parent company of both companies was the built

Glag au, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 24

– 370 –

Central bank for buildings in Berlin. Founder: Geh. Admiralitätsrath Wandel, Dr. A. Stort, Ferd. Oppenheim, Leo Wollenberg, Heinrich Bergmann, Ignatz Hantke, Isidor Mamroth and Hugo Mamroth. Actiencapital finally 5 million Thaler. Originally 420, now about 12. This very fruitful The bare mother also gave birth to the following children:

Baugesellschaft Ostend in Berlin. Born on October 5th. 1872. Godparents: Master mason August Siecke, Heinrich Bergmann, Emil Rosenfeld, Editor Alexander Hoffers, City-prescribed by Dr. Carl Erich. 300,000 Thaler shares. Price once 120, now 0.

Construction company Südend in Berlin. Born on 13 August 1872. Godfathers: Samuel Heinrich Ellon, Georg Neumann, David Tobias, Robert Peters, Wilh. Gumpertz in Berlin. 850,000 Thaler shares. Price once 125, now 0. |

Construction company Cottage' in Berlin. Born on 25 October 1872. Patron: Dr. Theodor Eulenstein in Dresden, Architect Heinrich Kaiser, manufacturer Hermann Blume, Leopold Löwy and August Waldmann in Berlin. 500,000 Thaler shares. Cours 0. This former villa colony is now again sheep pasture, and the weeds are thriving here. flower, since the crash also called "founder's flower". The Land was provided for the necessary sub-hastation, and for this purpose was valued at 44,000 thalers.

In addition, the Central Bank has committed for buildings: pinneberger Union (see p. 126) and Iron Foundry Rockstroh (see p. 108), and finally five other "central banks" in Nuremberg, in Munich, in Stuttgart, in Carlsruhe and in Frankfurt a. M., who all found no employment and therefore liquidated had to.

The father of the Central Bank and the actual originator of all these evil foundations is Eduard Mamroth in Berlin, also involved in Neptune (see p. 173) and in the Ostdeutsche Bank and Ostdeutsche Wechslerbank in Poznan. Mr. Eduard Mammoth costs the audience many millions, but has become a rich man himself.

Antonienhütte in Coswig in Anhalt; clay goods, Brickworks and coal mining, formerly Grosse, Schreyer & Co. Founded on 350,000 Thaler shares by: Adolf Salomon, Jacob Meyer and City Councillor Meyer Moritz Stadthagen in Berlin. Board: Wilhelm Bauer and Gotthilf Salomon in Berlin, Samuel Schreyer in Coswig. 1873 closed with 21,500 Thaler Loss, in 1876 the company's properties were sold to Subhastation submitted.

United Oder Works for Building Materials and Lignite near Schwedt a. O., formerly Baron von Werthern. founded in June 1872 with 150,000 Thaler shares and 60,000 Thlr. Mortgages. The prospectus named the following members as supervisory board members: Baron von Werthern, Jacques Coppel, Otto Clement, Nachmann Hirsch Neumann, master builder E. Titz, engineer R. Henneberg (Riet-schel & Henneberg) and Dr. H. Ebeling, stock market editor of "Vossischen Zeitung" in Berlin. Chairman: Baron von Werthern, Abraham Henoch and Theodor Morgenstern in Berlin. The shares, initially quoted at 102–106, soon lost every Cours and are completely worthless. Already in 1873 the dissolution decided, in 1874 the necessary subhastation followed, and In 1875, an investigation was initiated, the But no result has been announced so far.

United Works at Tippelskirchen near Calbe ad Saale; brickworks, quarry and planned beer brewery. founded in May 1872 with 350,000 Thaler shares, which Libbert and Hirsch in Berlin, B. Gutmann in Dresden, MS Meyer in Magdeburg and others at a price of 105. Supervisory Board: Th. Oscar Ulrich in Dresden, Chr. W. Rande in Giebichenstein, Louis Ehrenberg in Halle a. S., FLH Härter, Fr. Ad. Schweter and WH Wiesel in Leipzig. Board: Gottlieb Gaeschke in Tippelskirchen. In the prospect 30%, in view provided, 15% as a minimum, and 9% guaranteed.

24*

But bankruptcy already broke out in July 1873.

Greppiner Werke near Bitterfeld; lignite mine, Steam brickworks and clay ware factory, formerly CA Stange in Dessau. Founded November 1871 by Ferd. Jaques, Baurath Hermann Waesemann, building councillor Ludwig Quassowski, master builder Mrs Koch and City Councillor Rudolf Pohle in Berlin. Supervisory Board Among others: Attorney Hecker, who recorded the statute. "Auditors": Bernhard Maywald and Hermann Leubuscher in Berlin. 660,000 Thaler shares, 200,000 Thaler priorities and 150,000 Thaler mortgage. The previous owner Stange remained "with a significant capital" and took over the Management. In 1872, 9½% dividend was paid, in 1873 – 9% dividend dende and 12,300 Thaler royalties, 1874 closed with 41,000 Thaler loss. Price once 125, now about 10. Baurath Wäsemann, a multiple founder, is the builder of the Berliner town hall, and he was named among the highly deserving Men whose relief portraits depict the façade of the proud buildings.

Heegermühle, brickworks near Berlin. Founded May 1872 by Robert Baumann, Julius Heyne, Eduard Abel, Hermann Samuel, Albert Rathenau, Ignatz Witkowski and Julius Valentin in Berlin, with 350,000 Thaler shares and 100,000 Thaler hy-pharmacies. Distributed for the first fiscal year of 8 months a dividend of nominally 10%, closed 1873 with 14,000 Thaler loss and entered March 1875, after the property already been sub-merged, in liquidation. For the shareholders about 2% should remain. Since autumn 1874, a Investigation against "Unknown"!

Wusterwitz-Rathenower brickworks. Founded September 1873, with 200,000 Thaler shares and 72,000 Thaler mortgages, by Dr. Carl Assmann, Theodor Hildebrandt, Daniel von der Heydt, Lawyer Franz Lorek in Berlin etc. Dividends are not became known. The public prosecutor has repeatedly investigated.

"

– 313 –

Märkische Portland Cement Factory near Zossen, formerly HG Klau. Founded on July 1, 1870, with 400,000 Thaler shares, by the deputy Consul Gustav Müller, the building council James Hobrecht and the architect Wilhelm Boeckmann in Berlin. Among the first signatories are: the Ab-Dr. Fr. Hammacher in Essen and LA Jordan in Deidesheim, Finance Councillor Hasselbach and Government Councillor by Kathen, Hermann Kremser in Berlin, J. Marx-Hansemann in Bonn etc. Novbr. 1873 the union with the following society.

Märkische Cementfabrik. Founded in August 1873, with 150,000 Thaler shares, from Consul Gustav Müller, Nathan Schlesinger, Hermann Kremser and Julius Caro in Berlin. This company proved not to be viable and decided January 1876 its dissolution.

Hermisdorfer Cement, facing bricks and clay wares, formerly Lessing, near Berlin. Founded October 1871 by the Berliner Wechselbank and Julius Alexander in Berlin, with 425,000 Thaler shares and 223,000 Thaler mortgages. Administrative Board: Dr. Ziurek, Manor Owner Leopold Lessing, Commerzienrath L. Schwartzkopff, Adolf Abel, G. Kerting, Director Heimann and Dr. Girau; Board: City Architect Gerstenberg in Berlin. First and only dividend for a business year of 2 months (!) 5%). Each subsequent (full) year with greater loss, and in some cases the liquidation requested, especially since there was a continuous lack of money, but the company decided to continue to vegetate. The shares have lost every course.

Portland cement factory Bredow near Stettin. Built July 1871. "Founding Committee": E. Aren, landowner Ferd. Graves, City Councillor Reinh. Schöpferle and Justice Counsellor Dr. Zachariä in Stettin. 300,000 Thaler shares, issued by Scheller & Degener in Stettin and Joseph Leipziger in Berlin; 50,000 Thaler mortgages. 12 to 15% dividends were promised, and March 1873 the increase of the share capital for 150,000 Thaler. Administrative Board: CF Bärenroth and von Köller. Dividends for 1874 and 1875 – 0. Course?

– 374 –

Bohlschau, Portland cement factory near Danzig. Assessor Schulze-Billerbeck, retired, left the August 1871 company 340 acres of land and a "hydropower of 220 horsepower", which "prevents the use of Steam power" saves a sum of 15,000 thalers per year was to be built for the price of 128,000 thalers. committee: Stettiner Vereinsbank, City Councillor Olschewski (Brothers Baum) in Danzig, Chamberlain Count of Keyserling-Neustadt, District Administrator Vormbaum in Neustadt. Share capital 300,000 Thir. Administrative council members: von Blankensee, W. Schumann in Stettin. Although the prospectus for dividends is "some thirty percent" As expected, the shareholders do not seem to have received any In 1875, however, action was taken to ensure that to raise funds for the issue of land charge certificates.

In addition, in the summer of 1871, a second Portland Cement Factory Joint Stock Company in Danzig, with 90,000 Thaler shares and 35,000 Thaler mortgages. Administrative Council: H. Pape, P. Rempel, L. Liepmann, Building Councillor Licht, Bank director Schottler. Nothing further has been disclosed.

Just like the building societies, the building material societies only of the wildest speculation, They increased the price of apartments and construction costs unbelievable. The central factory of Messrs. Mamroth and comrades bought 25 million bricks and lost 107,000 thalers. A thousand bricks of medium quality cost in the Swindle time 25 to 30 thalers and has been since then until

– 319 –

6 Thaler. Of course, such a price the brickworks founded so expensively not exist, and since they hardly exist at all find a market, most have closed their business. At the Berlin Stock Exchange alone, the shares of almost 100 building societies and building rial companies, their number throughout Germany will have reached 200, and the The audience's losses here are estimated at around 150 million thalers.

We come to the foundations of the wood, clay, Porcelain and metal industries, which show a similar picture of devastation.

German wood industry (steam cutting mill), formerly Basch & Rosenthal in Landsberg a/W. Founded March 1873 by Siegfried Basch in Landsberg, Moritz Rosenthal, Salomon Wolff, Siegmund Kapferer, Marcus Engel, "General Director" Mrs. Waltz and Dr. Carl Esse in Berlin, with 300,000 Thaler shares, which were introduced & 105–107, and 105,000 Thaler mortgages. The first business year resulted 11.0% dividend; May 1875 the dissolution was popular and Liquidators appointed: Moritz Rosenthal, Siegmund Kapferer and Robert Kemnitz. The last balance sheet showed a loss of approx. 180,000 thalers, but the shares are probably worthless. Prosecutor has researched.

Saxon wood industry in Rabenau near Dresden.
founded in May 1869 with shares of 316,000 Thaler. management
tungsraht: Otto Seebe, Consul GA Hofmann, Advocat Hippe

– 376 –

and Rentier Otto in Dresden, Professor Pressler in Tharandt.
Dividend for 1875/76 – 0. Price?

Wunderlich barrel factory. Founded in July 1872 by Purchase of the cooperation of Eduard Wunderlich in Zwickau, which was transferred to the new company with 240,000 Thaler was established, whereupon a second workshop was opened in Berlin and tried to build a third one in Wolgast, where Attempts remained, however. The founders were: Heinrich
Quistorp, Wilhelm Koch, Moritz Goldstein, Beer Director Armand
Knoblauch and Julius Meyer Lehmann in Berlin, engineer
Otto Büsing in Charlottenburg. Share capital 300,000 thalers.
The Chairman of the Supervisory Board was the former Member ordered, Government Councillor Wilhelm Jungermann in Berlin; and The previous owner Eduard Wunderlich took over the direction and Wunderlich Jr. The first business year yielded 12% dividend 3000 for the Supervisory Board, 3000 for the Management Board 9000, for the civil servants 3000, and for the workers' support find 1500 thalers. Quistorp was always noble, admittedly at the expense of the shareholders "and he never forgot of civil servants and workers. 1873/74 brought only one clean profit of 1778 Thaler, whereupon Eduard Wunderlich received trip to Italy, and in his place the Co-founder Wilh. Cook was in charge. In 1874/75 with a large loss, they went into liquidation and left the business to Wilh. Cook. Ernst Wunderlich, against whom the
The company took legal action and was charged for failure to file a bankruptcy petition and for preparation of a false balance sheet, but only a fine of 100 thalers condemned! The shares, which were once quoted at 115, are worthless.

Neustädter Baroque frames and moldings in Berlin and Neustadt-Eberswalde. In November 1873, with 150,000 Thaler Actien founded. Board of Directors: Mrs. Wilh. Minck in New city of Eberswalde and Alexander Lange in Berlin. Without sencours. The public prosecutor has intervened.

– 377 –

Breslau furniture, parquet and wood construction, formerly Ge-brothers Bauer and Fr. Rehorst. Founded November 1871 with 1 million Thaler shares. Supervisory Board: City Judge (ret.)

Friedländer, Emil Friedländer, Siegmund Sachs, Max Alexander, Robert Caro, Justice Councillor Friedensburg, Building Councillor Lüdecke and "General Director" Schmieder in Breslau, Deputy Ritter-landowner Elsner von Gronow. Board: Ernst Bauer and Otto Bauer. Dividends: 1874 – 1%, 1875 – 0. Price once 115, now about 30.

Rathenow factory for woodwork (carpentry), formerly. W. Köhler Jr. Founded in February 1872, with finally 260,000 Thaler shares, from Heinrich Reh, the famous Director of the Societätsbrauerei in Berlin. Supervisory Board: Legal attorney Schultze in Rathenow, CA Arndt and Joh. Gottlieb Mäcker in Berlin. Director: the previous owner Wilhelm Köhler. For 1872, 20% dividend was paid, after which the share capital doubled and the course was driven to 165; 1873 the shareholders held 12%, in 1874 and 1875 closed with desire. The dissolution took place and the "Direction" offered agreed to take over the establishment against payment of 2¼% take!

Stock company for woodwork (parquets) in Berlin. Founded in May 1869 by the members of parliament, Baron Ernst by Eckardstein-Prötzel and Consul Gustav Müller in Berlin, Com-Merzienrath Johannes Quistorp in Stettin. Supervisory Board members include: Banker Albert Kämpf and Commissioner Louis Cahnheim in Berlin. Director: Hermann Simon. The share capital is originally only carried 200,000 thalers, but was in the fraudulent period brought to 1,000,000 thalers. In addition 180,000 Thaler mortgages. Dividends from 1870–1875: 61}, 101 121, 7, 5 and 0% respectively. 1872 to 1874 accounted for the Director and the Board of Directors high royalties. Course once 115, now about 15.

Renaissance (carved furniture) in Berlin. Already existed

– 378 –

since 1861 and made, with a capital of 100,000 thalers, good business; but was sold in June 1872 for 500,000 Thaler Shares founded by: Siegfried Lövinson, Ernst Heene, Hermann Schomburg and the MP, "Professor of the Na-economics" Dr. Julius Frühauf in Berlin. As supervisory The following people served as councilors: Dr. Moritz Lövinson, Dr. A. Jacobius, H. Hirschberg, F. Jäger, Simon Lipmann, "General Director" Mrs. Waltz, Baurath E. Römer, Otto Nitze, Director of the Romanian nian Railway Company, Director Herbig and Member of Parliament neter, Geh. Admiralitätsrath Jacobs in Berlin. Directors: the Previous business owners: Louis Lövinson, Siegfried Lövinson and Robert Kemnitz. Right in the Prospect, where the Name of the MP and "economist" Professor Frühauf emblazoned with the slogan, a 14% dividend was promised, and due to a mathematical feat, they were, according to their name, also paid, ie only for six months and after deduction of 5 % Interest which the captured shareholders will receive for three months To defeat this illusion of division to enable the development of the project, at the request of Simon Lipman who took care of the placement of the shares, 30,000 Thir. by the previous owners. However, it was known to compensate themselves in any other way. The Directors agreed to high salaries, and one of them, Siegfried Lövinson, sold to the other two, ie to the new Company, the properties Holzmarktstrasse 8, 9 and 10, which he had acquired a few months earlier for 160,000 thalers, for 280,000 Thlr., ie with a premium of 120,000 Thlr. In the prospectus the purchase price was only 150,000 thalers. given, and the mortgage on the houses was remained silent. The three directors soon bought a Building land in the north of the city, which belongs to the Commerzienrath Gruson in Magdeburg, and gave him 15,000 Thaler. cost, for the company by 289,000 thalers. It This was, as the annual report openly admits, a mere

– 319 –

Speculation purchase; it was speculated that the Berlin Stadtbahn the houses in Holzmarktstrasse must be acquired, which they but did not do so, and so they remained with the large area at North bank. The second fiscal year showed only 2%: Dividend, and closed 1874 with a loss of 112,000 Thaler. In return for compensation, the shareholders received a clean bill of health the construction sites on the north bank – a very remote, eerie area, between prisons, reformatories, petrol stations, leum magazines, hospitals and churchyards. Mortgages There are no less than 380,000 thalers available, and therefore The Norddeutsche Grundcreditbank once listed 103 issued shares only about – 3. |

But while the company was withering, Director Siegfried Lövinson was a rich, distinguished man. On many beautiful houses in Wilhelmsstrasse, Dorotheenstrasse etc. in Berlin his name was written in golden letters, and He also purchased Steglitz Park and Castle as a summer residence near Berlin, which he decorated with carved furniture as well tastefully and comfortably furnished. Only at the General At the meeting on December 20, 1875, “revelations” occurred. For the wisely absent Siegfried, he boldly stood Louis Lövinson put himself in his place; he compared the leaders of the Opposition with the mass murderer Thomas, who carried out the terrible explosion in Bremerhaven, and he shouted: The “Renaissance” has grown close to his heart like a daughter and he will, despite all the stabs of the accusers,

He showed himself all the more brave when he was given a
A band of comrades and allies stood by his side, and With these he voted down the opposition. But the won, called the prosecutor, and since then the Investigation.

International Telegraph Construction Company, formerly Wilh.
Horn in Berlin. Founded January 1872 by Eduard Abel, Robert Baumann, Julius Heyne, Heinrich Valentin, Hermann Samuel,

– 380 –

Accountant Ludwig Bernhard and building inspector Eduard Thiele in Berlin; with 350,000 Thaler shares, issued by the Berliner Maklerbank à 103. Director: the previous owner Wilh.
Horn. Distributed 5% dividend for 1872 and decided because it was not viable, it was dissolved in May 1874. Liquidation tors: Julius Hahlo, Julius Herz and engineer Julius Meyer in Berlin. Only 6% seems to be left for the shareholders.
remained to be.

Actiengesellschaft für Telegraphenbedarf, formerly HermannSchomburginMoabit near Berlin. Founded January 1872, with 400,000 Thaler shares, of which only 220,000 Thaler were given, and 144,000 Thaler mortgages, from Siegfried Lövinson, Robert Kemnitz and master carpenter Rudolf Hosemann in Berlin. Board: the previous owner and Paul Hosemann.
The supervisory board also included: Railway director Otto Nitze and telegraph director H. Schulz in Berlin. From 1872 to In 1875 the dividends were: 8, 6, 6 and 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ respectively. Cours?

Dankberg'sche Ofenfabrik in Berlin. Founded in September 1872 with 500,000 Thaler shares and 215,000 Thaler Mortgages! The first negotiator was the "New Börsen-Zeitung" Mr Jean Fränkel; the surcharge is to be 200,000 thalers. The shares were sold to the market brought by AH Heymann & Co., which also published the Prospect signed; and the founders were: Paul Munk,
Max Munk, Leopold Hadra, Eduard Hänseler, sculptors CL Dankberg, master builder Adolf Heyden etc., all in Berlin. Supervisory Board members: Max Heymann and Franz Pernet in Berlin. First dividend 3%/, of which the previous owners paid 10,000 thalers. contributed. In 1874 there were still 2 %, in 1875 – 0. Cours once 110, now about 5.

Arneburg stove factory near Stendal, the manor owner
H. Schwenke. Founded in May 1872 by Baron von Werthern, by Carl Graeper, Julius Ende and Emil Mar-kau in Berlin, with 150,000 Thaler shares and 100,000 Thaler

Mortgages First dividend 5%/, then 0. At the last General Assembly, the “representatives of the press” were not no longer allowed in. Course approximately 1.

Keppler'sche Ofenfabrik in Stettin. Founded February 1872 with 150,000 Thaler shares and 300,000 Thaler mortgages. Director: Georg Keppler. Supervisory Board: Senior Government Councillor Gustav Seelmann, who, however, on the instructions of his superiors, had to resign from the appointed authority; bank director Ludwig Hindersin, Hermann Reinhardt, Ernst Böttcher and Fr. Marggraf in Stettin. Last dividend 0. In May 1876 the land belonging to the company for 36,000 Thaler sold.

Saxon stove and fireclay factory in Cölln near Meissen, formerly Ernst Teichert. 300,000 thalers shares, published in October 1872 à 106 by M. Schie Nachfolger and Gebr. Guttentag in Dresden. Plus 50,000 Thaler mortgages. Dividends for 1874 and 1875 4% each. Price about 40. Mr. Teichert, the previous owner, kept the management and “donated” At the beginning of 1875 the company had 50 shares.

Berlin Porcelain Manufactory (Ad. Schumann). Verbuys from Eduard Appelhans and Albert Zäpernick, and Februar 1871 founded by: Hofrath Moritz Alberts, Bernhard Lucae, Aug. Sponholz, Samuel Falk (Heinitz & Falk), Carl Uno (Dahlmann & Uno) and Ludwig Pollborn in Berlin, with 800,000 Thaler shares and 150,000 Thaler mortgages. In Prospect was calculated as “over 12% dividend” and up to 1873 paid: 10, 8 and 6% respectively. Later there was 0, and the The formerly privately owned and flourishing factory now only operates at a loss. Price about 15.

Silesian Porcelain and Stoneware Manufactory, pre-mals FN Matthiessen in Tiefenfurt near Bunzlau. Founded August 1872, with 200,000 Thaler shares and 100,000 Thaler Priorities. The previous owner retained the management, and as a result Advisory councillors were named: GR Besser in Berlin, CG Schüller in Tiefenfurt, City Councillor Haucke sen. in Zittau, manor owner Richard Sporleder on Kostemke. 1873 – 7% dividend; then 0. Cours once 110, now about 10.

Tiefenfurter Porcelain and Chamotte Ware Factory, formerly Carl Raedisch. Founded September 1872 by the Communal State Bank in Görlitz with 175,000 Thaler Shares, issued by S. Abel Jr. in Berlin, and with 60,000 thalers. Mortgages. The previous owner took over 25,000 Thaler shares and retained the management. Supervisory board members: HF Hecker, Th. Roeder and master builder Fischer in Görlitz, H. Engelhardt in Lauban. 10–15% dividend was promised and for the first fiscal year 71% paid, then nothing more. Autumn In 1875 the Supervisory Board resigned from office, none of the The shareholders wanted to be elected. Three Absent, in the hope that they would accept, and combined 10 shares into one.

Bunzlauer tableware, oven and clay pipe factory, pre-mals Lepper & Küttner. Pre-purchased by Siegmund Löwy in Berlin and founded November 1872 with 25,000 Thaler Hypo-counters and 200,000 Thaler shares, which Alwin Philipp on the stock exchange. 1874 – 2% dividend. Since there was a lack of Due to a lack of operating resources, the company went into liquidation in January 1877.

Pommer'sche Chamottewaarenfabrik in Podejuch near Stettin, formerly Toepke & Seehausen. Founded November 1872 with 150,000 Thaler shares and 45,000 Thaler mortgage The prospectus named the following members of the supervisory board: Dr. G. Weissenborn, G. Bergschmidt, SA Eppenstein, A. Martin and Bau-master Emil Gette in Berlin, Professor Dr. H. Hellriegel to Dahme. Already in October 1874 in Concurs.

Muskauer Thonwaaren, formerly Bergschmidt, Schlieben & Hentschel. Founded in February 1874 by the forefathers owners and others, together 18 persons, among whom also a "Fräulein" is located, with 150,000 thalers shares. November

– 383 –

In 1874 the public prosecutor intervened, and in October 1876 the Concurs out.

German clay tube and chamotte factory in Münster-mountain in Silesia. Built in September 1874 by Heinrich Quistorp, who in public assembly declared himself Founder called out of passion and conviction; founded, while he was still in bankruptcy, by him and Carl Adolf Brandt in Berlin, Carl Winckler in Rostock, Oscar Freund in Breslau, head teacher Emil Mehlhose in Berlin etc. Actien-capital 275,000 thalers. Of course without stock exchange price.

Metal industry, lead pipes and brass goods, formerly ErnstBucholt & Hahn in Berlin. Purchased for 200,000 thalers. and December 1872 founded by Carl Seefeld, Leopold Cohn, Nachmann Hirsch Neumann and Dr. Heinr. Ebeling, stock exchange Editor of the "Vossische Zeitung" in Berlin. Actiencapital 300,000 Thir.; plus 48,000 Thir. mortgages and 125,000 Thir. Priorities. Directors: the previous owner Max Jasper Hahn and Joh. Aug. Oscar Hahn. As a newspaper advertisement announced, The society took a position on the sewerage system of Berlin, which "affected the area of their activity very advantageously". A account of this position she threw for the first financial year a dividend of 31½%, but did not pay it, and decided to dissolve it in May 1874.

Optical industry (eyeglasses), formerly Commerzienrath Emil Busch in Rathenow. Founded October 1872 by H. Quistorp in Berlin. Share capital 275,000 Thaler and 100,000 Thaler Mortgages. Dividends: 9, 5, 4 and 3% respectively. Price once 115, now about 20.

German Society for Horseshoeing (Horse Nails), pre-mals Möller, Schreiber & Co. in Berlin. Founded after the "Krach", August 1873, by Commerzienrath Hermann Egells, Heinrich Cohn, Anton Cohn, Julius Cohn, Hermann Mortzfeld, Hugo Möller and Julius Möller in Berlin, Clemens

– 384 –

Ewald Schreiber in Neustadt-Eberswalde. Share capital 500,000 Thaler! Dividends? – Without stock exchange price.

Bronzeware and zinc casting, formerly JC Spinn & Son in Berlin. Founded August 1872 with 300,000 Thaler shares and 125,000 Thaler mortgages. Otto Spinn sold for 284,000 thalers to Carl Black, and he for 384,000 thalers, i.e. with a surcharge of 100,000 Thaler, to the company, which owes his work to the following gentlemen: Otto Wendland, Fritz Beermann, Mosca d'Israeli, August Kilz, Ferdinand Vogts, Hermann Würz, Amand Bloch, hut director Hellmuth Förster and Professor Martin Gropius in Berlin. The first, probably artificial dividend was 10 %, in 1874 there were still 6 %/, and then 0. Cours once 130, now about 30.

Lamp factory Stobwasser in Berlin. Founded Oc– tober 1871 by Max Munk and Emil Heymann in Berlin. "First Illustrators: Aron Hirsch Heymann, Meyer Cohn, Mendel Cohn, Sigismund Süssmann, Paul Munk, Joseph Pincuss, Max Kruse, August Jacobs, Anton Wolff (Hirschfeld & Wolff), Director Gustav Dittmann, Justice Counsel Carl Drews and Commercial Counsel Gustav Stobwasser in Berlin. "First auditors": Siegmund Heydenreich and Gustav Kutter in Berlin. As supervisory board members also acted: H. Reimann and Julius Ebbinghaus in Berlin. The prospectus stated: "The deal yields at the purchase price price of 650,000 Thaler already has a benefit of over 10%, and the profit will increase even further." For Er-advertising of inventories and as working capital () were – 350,000 thalers, so in total – 1,000,000 thalers thrown out. Among these colossally paid "stocks" there is said to be a entire floor space with outdated, more or less unusable lamp harnesses, etc. that had become bare. From the The previous owner took over the share capital of 800,000 thalers Stobwasser 200,000 Thaler, and in addition a hypo– 200,000 Thaler for him. The dividend was never higher than 6%, and was only 4% in 1875/76; nevertheless

– 38 –

The Supervisory Board approved 2125 Thaler royalties! about 30 more.

Wagenfabrik Neuss in Berlin. Founded August 1872 by the previous owner Joseph Neuss, the beer director Hermann Gratweil, the rubber director Jules Fonrobert, the hotel owner Jul. Alex. Hendtlass, Dr. Alexis Bertram and the Banquier Ferd. Jaques in Berlin. 600,000 Thaler shares and 150,000 Thaler mortgages. The first dividend was nominally nell 13%, fell to 4% in 1873, and then stopped completely, The shares are now only trading at around 10. Since the Founders no longer drive on rubber, the desire for Luxury cars very low. Mr. Joseph Neuss, however, was happy with the command of a steam ferry in Swinoujscie, where in the summer of 1876, as the newspapers reported, he which put the passengers in great danger.

Silver ware factory Mosgau in Berlin. Pre-purchased by Paul Munk for 450,000 Thaler, and October 1872 the unfortunate transferred to the shareholders for 750,000 Thaler, i.e. 800,000 Thaler surcharge, The founders were: AH Heymann & Co. (Gotthold and Max Heymann), Sachs & Edinger Aron Hirsch Heymann, Emil Mosgau, Reinhold Mosgau, Max Munk, Rudolf Seidel (HA Jürst & Co.), Ignatz Witkowski, Dr. Anton Daffis, publisher Theodor Heymann and

Retired Financial Advisor Eugen Kühnemann in Berlin. Actiencapital 700,000 Thaler and 180,000 Thaler mortgages. Board member: Emil Mosgau and Reinhold Mosgau, later the previous owner Franz Mosgau. Other members of the supervisory board included: Louis Sachs and David Hirschfeld in Berlin. For the first financial year nominally 8% dividend was distributed, in 1873 1% was distributed, 1874 and 1875 – 0, and in 1876 the dissolution took place. The same was simply by the founders and their allies which for this purpose used large amounts of the already up to 3 letters of fallen shares were ready.

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 25

– 386 –

Paul Munk represented 1000 votes.
and for Max Munk... . 150 years
AH Heymann & Co. 498. "
Sachs & Edinger. . . 129 5
Dr. Dafis . . . 2 52 years
Franz Mosgau 119
Emil Mosgau 100 "
Reinhold Mosgau – 5 5
Georg Beer for Meyer Cohn . . 260 se
David Hirschfeld » 327 5

together 2640 votes.

The opposition, on the other hand, had only 108 votes. The dissolution was protested by Isidor Itzig, also a more founder, by submitting a petition to the commercial judge claimed that the balance sheets were all wrong, with the green dung is barely a quarter of the share capital available and the liquidation only happened because Franz Mosgau wanted to buy it back cheaply. In any case, Isidor Itzig, the suddenly fell silent, in the last point right: the pre-owner Franz Mosgau, for whom a mortgage of 140,000 Thaler, the business received a sandwich back, and the shareholders have a quota of 5 to 6% is expected. The first liquidators were: David Hirschfeld, Samson Sklower and Commercial Councillor Salomon Weigert; later Julius Herz and Dr. juris Emil Lehmann in Berlin. A number of shareholders intended to form a civil to file suit against the founders. But because the prospectus contains gross untruths and conceals essential information, e.g. certain burdens on society and its designated properties, the public prosecutor is also involved stepped.

Neue Berliner Messingwerke, otherwise Wilh. Borchert jr.
Founded in March 1873 by the previous owner, as well as by the

– 387 –

Members of Parliament, Senior Government Counsellor Dr. Ernst Engel, Louis Caplick, Bernhard Lucae and Ernst Wartenberg in Berlin.
Share capital 850,000 thalers and 150,000 thalers mortgages.
Dividends: 10, 8 and 10% respectively. Price 120–130.

At the end of 1867, Mr Christoph Wilhelm Borchert in Berlin a printed letter “To my officials and workers”, in which he told them:
I, as far as I know the first in Germany, want following the example of the English Industrial Partnerships the net profit of my factory and also share this factory with you, you, if You want to raise everyone from workers to factory owners
I estimate the value of my factory at 300,000 Thaler, divide this sum into 6000 share certificates & 50 thalers, and now leave you, all shares gradually available for purchase from me. – This further miraculous document had Dr. Engel to Author; he had it in the Berlin municipal Yearbook for 1868 and wrote:

“It is inevitable that this system will rapidly spread find, because it is as practical as it is scientifically correct, and it can be implemented immediately and anywhere. It is also eminently political. The difference between Employer and employee is gradually eliminated, and thus the almost artificial contrast between Bourgeoisie and proletariat abolished. Every worker is the prospect of capital accumulation opened, everyone is, although

25*

– 388 –

Worker, but also employer and co-owner of his workshop
– – “So the social question is not a question more, the accumulation of masses of workers in the big cities

no longer a danger, but a blessing; because so much work
ter, so many small owners, so many loyal, ambitious citizens, so many true friends of the immobile and mobile property, and therefore also just as many defenders of the public ual order.“ – –

Dr. Engel, who, it seems, is in the science in society as well as in business life a lovely is a sanguine person, and the New Testament has faith that moves mountains, assured
in a ceremonial session of the Legal Society schaft in Berlin, in the presence of the Crown Prince of Prussia: through the noble deed of Mr. Christoph Wilhelm Borchert is now the final solution
the social question.

As you can see, the story was just a variation version of the old Schulze-Delitzsch song of Savings of the workers and their self-help; and the press tried to get excited about it. But Despite all the advertising, the process found little follow-up imitation, he aroused both men and workers only Laughter, and also the Engel-Borchert Society
Soon nothing more was heard from the community.

Then came the era of fraud. Mr Borchert had has now also acquired a banking business

– 389 –

and found a taste for greening. April
In 1871 he founded with Otto Harlau, HW Bassenge & Co., M. Schie Nachfolger, Philipp Elymeyer and the Sach-Lombard Bank in Dresden, with Rudolf Hart-wig in Fiirstenwalde, Emil Brebeck, Carl Homburg, Eduard Nesselmann, Gustav Schwendy, lawyer Riemann and Geh. Government and Building Councillor Nietz – the Berlin Lombardbank*), notorious thinking, whose shares once stood at 110 and today
4, and which for years the public prosecutor
In the spring of 1873 the foundation of the Brass factory, which is not co-owned by the “officials and workers”, but rather as before, belonged to Mr. Borchert alone. Again, pure love for humanity; “without direct

*) Share capital 500,000 Thaler. As “first subscriber”
Also featured: Director August Zimmermann in Berlin.

Board of Directors: August Waldmann and Dr. Julius Hensel in Berlin.
For 1871, the shareholders received a kind of "building interest" with 5%; for 1872, 11¼% dividend was distributed because the bank profited from the sale of a property of 133,000 Thaler
But this belief turned out to be superstition, by the splendid buyer not making payment afterwards.
The company decided to dissolve in September 1874 and elected as liquidators: Hugo Vetter, Alfred Peters and Paul Look in Berlin. The Director Dr. Hensel became the dearch refused, and initiated a judicial investigation against him. directed.

– 390 –

come", as it was said in the newspaper advertisements, he wanted to gradually withdraw from the business, the advantage to the public; but calculated he left the small, insignificant factory he had built five years ago at 300,000 thalers, the new Stock company now with 1 million thalers! In Furthermore, in his capacity as "President sitting member of the Supervisory Board" the overall management, and appointed the co-founder, Dr. Engel, as Vice President denten. As with the Schulze-Delitzsch comrades, In this case, too, the issue was to establish a social-political flag, for the benefit of the working classes. Meanwhile, the founders were late, because soon the Crash came in. Nevertheless, the shares were still in July 1873, introduced on the stock exchange at 130, and bought briskly at this high price and above. While all other papers plummeted, Brass stocks remained unshaken, and the note read to this day "paid and money", and often just "money", ie desired, but not available. Ongoing There were good dividends and it is even, still from Preparation of the balance sheet, regular interim (Interest) dividend paid. In fact, a rare Society! But the shares were probably no longer accommodate them, and they are now The vast majority are still in the hands of the Mr Borchert, who therefore received dividends and super-pays dividends mainly to itself. The "capital contributions of the workers" are Balance sheet only about 7000 thalers, certainly a very modest sum, and it remains questionable whether this work ter capitalists are also shareholders, or whether they are merely believers are bigger.

– 391 –

About the partnership system, which can also be used for the agricultural industry has recommended expressed himself very clearly in a public lecture
due to the national liberal MP, General Secretary tair Dr. Thiel, who belongs to the agricultural Minister, Mr Friedenthal in confidential relations
"The low cultural state of our working population in general," he said

According to the "Nationalzeitung", "which gives every individual the tendency to work at the expense of his employees lazing around, and which only too often leads to the hard-earned weekly wage without regard to the very near future on Saturday and Sunday is squandered, this cultural state is unreceptive ally for the attraction of a bonus, which only after year and day is due, and from the good will

– 392 –

of all employees, as well as of completely unpredictable Natural events are dependent on it." Without question, that are as unjust as unreasonable words. The Granting a bonus to the worker cannot be indifferent, it will also raise him morally and tie him to the owner, but she must not,
like the games à la angels, only in the air float and it must in any case be supported by some Recently, the city councillor
Keilpflug in Berlin, owner of a cigar factory, offered to share the net profit of his "retail business" with to divide the workers in half, and if this Arrangement is honestly meant, it can bring good fruit
Only real sacrifices, on the part of the owners
the victims of privileges and goods, the lot can of the working class, the social-democratic movement that occupies our entire time reigns and rises ever more threateningly, moderate and soothe.

A third group is formed by the following societies:
ties:

Prussian Bernstein-Actiengesellschaft in Berlin and East Prussia. Founded October 1871, with 2 million Thaler

Actiencapital, by Adolf Levien, Isidor Oelsner (Berliner Bank-association), Berthold Bensemann, Benoit Oppenheim (R. Oppenheim & Sohn), Friedrich Meyer (EJ Meyer) and Commercial rath Adalbert Delbrück in Berlin, Max Sonnenburg in Vienna. Purpose: Exploitation of amber and trade in amber. Directors: Moritz Becker in Königsberg i. Pr. and delegates Dr. Friedrich Kapp in Berlin. The two close friends The economists Carl Braun (Wiesbaden) and Mrs. Kapp tend to support each other literary and business. The One always reviews the other's books, writes about them long essays in the "Nationalzeitung", in which Paul Lindau's "present" etc. Carl Braun also travelled in Summer 1872 along the East Prussian Amber Coast and published very instructive articles about it in the "Nationalzeitung". same feuilleteons. Nevertheless, the stock exchange wanted to Preussische Bernstein-Actiengesellschaft does not warm up, and so it went into liquidation.

– 393 –

»

=

Westphalian Marble Works in Allagen near Soest, formerly Prang & Co. Pre-purchased by Hermann Geber, and March 1872 the unfortunate shareholders with a huge surcharge, for no less than 625,000 thalers; while The Prospect called this price "unprecedentedly cheap", brought about by "a peculiar chain of circumstances den': "One of the previous owners, the boss of the company, has namely his residence in Java", which is why he had to leave wanted. The noble founders were: Isidor Platho, Eduard Bercht, Attorney Seelig and Eduard Stahlschmidt in Berlin, Johann Baptist Prang in Allagen, Gustav Siegel in Magdeburg, Bernhard Hüffer in Leipzig. The prospectus also named the following as supervisory board members: still: Landscape Councillor F. Lehmann, "General Director" Julius Müller, Baurath Wäsemann, . Master builder Nicolas Becker, Architect Paul Rasche, sculptor Professor Gustav Blaeser, member the Academy of Arts, and Dr. phil. Adolf Widmann in Berlin. This was an artistic-philological foundation presentations that artists and scholars presented to the audience. But the result was all the more sad: the 725,000 Thlr.

– 394 –

Stocks never paid a single cent in dividends, and the price fluctuates between 1 and 0. The directors were the co-owner JB Prang, Dr. Widmann and co-founder Siegel, who The latter, as the Supervisory Board announced, was dismissed because he had managed his business "irrationally". Mr Siegel publicly and claimed that he had left voluntarily and he was urgently asked to stay, even to transfer him want to talk about leasing the marble works. if the situation of the company under his successor did not improve; 1875/76 also closed with a loss. Thuringian Slate Mining Company at Gräfenenthal in Saxony-Meiningen. Purchased from the manufacturer Rossbach for allegedly 350,000 Thaler, and September 1872 founded by Nachmann Hirsch Neumann, Otto Clement, In-engineer Rudolf Henneberg and Dr. Heinrich Ebeling, stock exchange editor of the "Vossische Zeitung" in Berlin, with 400,000 Thaler Shares issued by Abraham & Meyer in Berlin. Prospect were two highly recommended reports from the Geh. Bergrath Professor Bernhard von Cotta in Freiberg and the Bergassessor Dr. Kosmann in Berlin, and further it said: "Among the general motives which led to the conversion, here comes an eminently popular economic interest: our German fatherland in the important roof slate independent of the mono-pol England." – Supervisory Board: GA Breusing and Bau-Master Felber in Coburg, as well as lawyer Meyn in Berlin, before which the statute was announced. Director: Heinrich Rossbach in Oeslau. Dividends were never paid, and in 1876 it was decided finally the dissolution, and the shares were always wasted. As Mr Sonnemann the "knower" said in the Reichstag, The object founded should have a value of approximately 4000 thalers The public prosecutor did not intervene. Westphalian Wire Industry Association (Wire Factory), formerly Hobrecker, Witte & Herbers in Hamm. Founded det November 1872 by the Berlin Trading Company, with 2,000,000 Thaler shares and 500,000 Thaler priority bonds Chairman of the Supervisory Board: Geh. Commerzienrath W. Conrad in Berlin. Supervisory Board and Auditors: Wilhelm Nolte and Julius Ebbinghaus in Berlin. Chairman: Stephan Hobrecker and Hermann Hobrecker in Hamm. Although the alleged purchase price of 2½ million thalers the actual value of the establishment three to four times, were the shares are issued with a colossal premium of 125 and in the spring of 1873, shortly before the "crash", up to almost 140 The first dividend of 12% was artificially made (Supervisory board, management board and officials charged 27,800 thalers.

– 395 –

Tantième!); 1873/74 closed with a loss of 195,000 Thaler, which the previous owners covered; in 1875 the shareholders received 3%), supervisory board, board of directors and officials 7150 thalers; at the same time decided to issue a loan of 250,000 thalers; In 1876 there were only 1½% .. A branch that was adventurous ious way in Riga, the barrel was completely blown ground, and the course had already dropped to about 30. It seems that the establishment is to be closed down as part of the "de-greening" dung" back into the hands of the previous owners.

Westphalian Union, Mining, Iron and Wire Industry
 strie in Hamm. Founded Feb. 1873 by RA Seelig in Berlin. Hermann Geber in Berlin and his associates bought:
 1) the factory of Cosack & Co. in Hamm; 2) the steelworks by Ed. Schmidt in Nachrodt; 3) the puddling and rolling mill by A. & T. Linhoff in Lippstadt – which of the new companies schaft for 3,025,000 thalers. In April 1873 were purchased 4) the works of Fr. Thomée in Wer-dohl and Uetterlingsen for allegedly 1,250,000 Thaler, also a branch in Petersburg. Share capital 4½½ million lion Thaler (), issued by the Provinzialgewerbebank (Martini) in Berlin at 112!! Plus 1,150,000 Thaler mortgages and 750,000 Thaler priorities. Board: "General Director"

– 396 –

Ernst. Supervisory Board: Commercial Councillor Wintzer, "General-director" of @eorgs-Marienhütte near Osnabrück, Commercial rath Schlittgen, Dr. Wilhelm Rentzing, Siegfried Filehne, Hermann Gratweil and Wilhelm Eschmann in Berlin, A. Linhoff and Theodor Linhoff in Lippstadt, Heinrich Thomée jun. in Werdohl, Member of Parliament Dr. Feodor Goecke (special friend of the MP Dr. Friedrich Hammacher) and Theodor Böniger in Duisburg, Justice Counsellor von Briesen in Hagen, Albert de Gruyter in Ruhrort, Dr. Adolf Lasard in Berlin.
 The first financial year ended with a loss of 526,000 Thaler, after which Hermann Geber, RA Seelig and Ed. Stahlschmidt in Berlin for 1,130,000 Thaler shares. The preparatory sitzer, however, refused such a donation. Cours about 5 more.

German Mining, Iron and Steel Corporation
 Steel industry in Berlin. According to the statute, which neither dates still bears signatures, but in the Strausberg print
 rei, Unter den Linden 17 (later "Lindenbauverein")
 , the new company acquired: 1) the Neustädter Hüt-tenetablissement near Hanover; 2) various coal mining works near Langendreer and Bochum; 3) the iron ore mines works in the Siegen region and the Harz – by Baruch Hirsch Strausberg, called Dr. Strousberg, for the small matter of 5½ million thalers. In mid-March 1872, the Newspapers published the prospectus, which estimated the registered capital at 6 million Thaler, of which 4 million Thaler were shares and 2 million Thaler mortgages, and for the shareholders at least at least 10%, dividend. As directors, he named Prospect: Daniel Hilgenstock and Eduard Blass in Dortmund, Dr. Hermann Pauly in Siegen; as administrative board member: Justice rath Karsten, Anton Wolff (Hirschfeld & Wolff), Martin Frege (Frege & Co.), Dittmar Leipziger (Joseph Leipziger) and Paul Kuszynski (Louis Kuszynski) in Berlin. In the editorial According to the Börsenblatt, Dr. Strousberg was appointed as chairman of the Administrative Council, Justice Councillor Karsten as Vice President, and the seventh member was Amand Bloch in Berlin. Hirschfeld & Wolff initially issued 2,650,000 Thaler shares, and they received for the first financial year of three months ten (!) nominally the promised 10% dividend. Then The rest of the shares were put on the market and the price rose February 1873 to about 130, whereupon Louis Kuszynski “provisionally” 1 million Thaler of new shares of 102 each. The Announcement dated 26 March 1873 and signed net: “The Supervisory Board. Karsten. D. Leipziger. Anton Wolff.” The noble intention was to raise another sixth million thalers to manufacture shares, but now the “crash” occurred and the Scene changed completely. The balance for the second (full) financial year 1 July 1872/73, despite 2,458,000 Thlr. mortgages (!!), a net profit of 288,000 thalers, and paid out a 5% dividend to the lucky shareholders; but there was a lack of cash, and the coupons had to be redeemed, as soon as a mortgage on the Bohemian dominion of Zbirow which was due to the miracle doctor Strausberg but went bankrupt and was burdened with debts so that the mortgage will definitely fail. What follows now is so wonderful that it almost sounds unbelievable, namely in a States like Prussia, which has always been known for its prompt Justice was distinguished.

– 397 –

The Neustädter Hütte and the Siegener Hütte were sold Iron ore mines returned to Strausberg with great losses, assassinated nine tenths of the shares, and formed a new company, the Dortmunder Bergbaugesellschaft, which relates to the yield of hard coal and coaks and except for the remaining 472,000 thalers old shares for 628,000 thalers, thus dealing with a Basic capital of 1,100,000 thalers was constituted. over 700,000 Thaler mortgages. Nevertheless, and although the new company still owns the coal fields near Langendreer sold, it also lacked “operating resources”, also found she was always in financial difficulties, and she was just as unable to distribute a dividend. To the Grabencomplex at Langendreer, she had to sell it to the Romanian Railway company, for which Strausberg was based on his former had created a general mortgage on all of his former possessions, 200,000 thalers, and the excess last year’s deficit to cover “debts” applies.

Since the original prospectus in the actual information on the financial situation, in the profitability calculation and gross untruths in the cost estimates and shameful deceptions, a Part of the shareholders to the public prosecutor, and this actually opened an investigation against “unknown” – as in the case of fraudulent foundations, Rubrum usually reads. But Mr. Karsten and comrades simply stated that the prospectus was not an official document, rather, just like all other announcements without their knowledge and without their will – and at This miraculous apology was enough. The prosecutor ordered the defrauded shareholders to pay the part, and since they could not do so, the Files put away. Mr. Karsten and his comrades have actually issued against 5 million Thaler shares, they continued to function in their offices, and they also formed the supervisory board of the new company. The scandal was so big that even the stock market papers made noise, but a newly elected member of the Supervisory Board, Railway Director Gustav Schmidt in Magdeburg, wrote to one of the ruined shareholders To console you: those papers only wanted to extort money, and Mr. Karsten has already called the public prosecutor. of the founding itself, Mr. Schmidt says literally: “The mazes of Strousberg's financial economy are so convoluted, that no other mortal who has not experienced it, can find their way through.” – Indeed, this story is outrageous!

Some companies took over mills, managed inns and baths, but the Shareholders also fared very badly.

Dresden Mills, formerly the Royal and Fulling Mill of E. Kittler. Founded November 1871 with 300,000 Thaler Shares, Board of Directors: Attorney Dr. Gustav Lehmann, M. Schie successor, C. Knoop, Carl Schlossmann, hotelier Kayser and Eduard Kittler in Dresden. Direction: Joh. Bernh. Kittler. Dividends from 1873 to 1875: 4, 5 and 2% respectively. Price approx. 90.

Märkische Mühlen in Witten a. Ruhr, with 200,000 thalers. Shareholders: H. Hemmer, W. von Born, C. Humperdinck, O. Wuppermann, W. v. Recklinghausen. 1873 accounted for 12% dividend, for 1875 – 0.

Schöpfurther and Steinfarter mills, formerly Scholimsche Erben, on the Finnow Canal. Founded November 1872, with 200,000 Thaler shares and 76,000 Thaler mortgages, of Humphrey Davy, Carl Weinstein, Heinrich Wisotzky and Bau- master Carl Reiche in Berlin, Otto Fröhlich in Hanover, Lucian Lewandowsky in Königsberg i. Pr., Wilhelm Herschel in Dresden. Dividend for 1873 – 5%, for 1874 – 0.

Pinnauer Mills near Wehlau in East Prussia. Founded det December 1871 by the Königsberger Vereinsbank with 550,000 Thaler shares and 200,000 Thaler mortgages. Councillor of State: Geh. Commerzienrath Emil Stephan (Stephan & Schmidt), Commercial Councillor Andersch, Conrad Gaedecke (Joh. Conrad Jacobi), H. Hirschfeld (Gebr. Hirschfeld & Graf), Ludwig Leo (Marcus Cohn & Sohn), Franz Schrötter (v. Gyczki & Schrötter), Moritz Stettiner, Fritz Wien (Ernst Castell) and

– 400 –

Otto Willert in Königsberg i. Pr., mill owner Lipmann in Rossau. Even the stock exchange speaker of the Moritz Simon- founded “Königsberger Hartungschens Zeitung” declared that it would be best to talk about this mill foundation and about the Distribution of shares – to remain silent. Price?

Stralsund Steam Mills. Founded April 1872 with 500,000 Thaler shares and 112,000 Thaler mortgages! As The Prospect named the supervisory board members: Commerzienrath Otto Holm, EJ Matthies and Otto Siebe in Stralsund, Emil Latz, Hermann Löwenherz and Siegfried Sobernheim in Berlin; later Otto Kaufmann from the Makler-Vereinsbank also acted in Berlin and lawyer Schömann in Wolgast, and as Chairman of the Supervisory Board was Justice Councillor Karsten in Berlin. The previous owner, Hermann Lehl, allegedly took over 150,000 Thaler shares, retained the management, provided 15 to 20%

Dividend in sight, guaranteed at 8% for ten years, and deposited 210,000 thalers as security. For 1872 the guaranteed 8% was paid by Lehl contributing 9000 thalers; In 1873, Lehl gave 20,000 Thaler, but calculated that he and the Supervisory Board 4000 Thaler bonus, and the shareholders received only 4%; in 1874 Lehl contributed 5000 Thaler, another 2300 Thaler royalties and another 4% dividend; for In 1875 there was nothing left. There was not a word in the statutes about the dividend guarantee, and Lebl was convinced by the same A shareholder sued and won in three instances that he should be paid a full 8% for 1873 had to, but regarding the following years, the manifestos of the Supervisory Board are incontestable. Meyer Ball in Berlin with 102 issued shares are still listed about 20.

Berliner Hotel-Gesellschaft (Kaiserhof). Founded in 1872 by Commerzienrath Adalbert Delbrück, Baron Eduard von der Heydt, Gustav Kutter, Berthold Bensemann (Berlin Bank-Association), MPs, Mayor Kieschke and city

– 401 –

rath Risch Deutsche Baugesellschaft), MP Dr. Georg Siemens Deutsche Bank). "Auditor": Member of Parliament Dr. Friedrich Capital stock 2 million Thaler; plus 500,000 Thaler Mortgages and 700,000 Thaler priorities! Barely opened, The "giant hotel" burned down due to loose construction on 10 October. 1875, the city's fire fund 177,000 thalers in compensation. A dividend is it had not yet come. At the end of 1876, the Prussian Boden-Credit-Actienbank (current director: Geh. Commerzien-Councillor Emil Stephan) granted the Kaiserhof a non-cancellable mortgage thek of 1 million thalers, which was a very daring piece The shares have no stock exchange price.

Hotel du Nord in Cologne. Founded September 1872 by the Deutsche Unionbank in Berlin. Board of Directors: Heinrich Stein Attorney-at-law Robert Esser II, Jacob von Kaufmann- Asser and Baurath Raschdorf in Cologne, Commerzienrath Wilh. Herz in Berlin. 900,000 Thaler shares, issued at 102½. In addition 378,000 Thaler mortgage. In the summer of 1876, the previous owner Friedrichs, who also retained the management, the inn for 700,000 thalers.

Lignite mining and Bad Nudersdorf near Witten-berg. Founded March 1872 by Hans Emil von Oppenfeld (M. Oppenheim's Sons), General Consul to DLP Spiegelthal, Otto Moeser, "Legal Consultant of the Company", and the Calibration inspector and city councilor Dr. Bernhard Kosmann

in Berlin, with 600,000 Thaler shares. The brown coal mines did not yield any significant yield, the brickworks came into The water stopped flowing and the bathers stopped coming. Already in November In 1873 the bankruptcy broke out, which was however eliminated, whereupon the dissolution was decided. The liquidator was Dr. Albert Jausel in Berlin, and the shareholders received about 5½% back.

According to the "Neue Börsen-Zeitung", Mr von Oppenfeld the property was pre-purchased for 100,000 thalers, it was sold for 520,000 thalers

Glagau, The Stock Exchange Fraud. II. 26

– 402 –

left to the company, and then it arose again from of the sub-contracting mass for a cheap one. At the request of the The public prosecutor had initiated an investigation, but finally only the two directors: Dr. Kosmann and Berg-civil servant Knaut, because she did not report the bankruptcy in time. reported, sentenced to two and one weeks in prison respectively.

Bad Königsdorff-Jastrzemb in Silesia. Founded November 1868 with 250,000 Thaler shares. Personally liable Shareholder: Eugen Heymann in Breslau. Board of Directors: H. Hinrichs, M. Cohn (Gebr. Guttentag), former mayor Fritze, Privy Councillor Professor Dr. Lebert and Justice Counsellor von Wilmowski in Breslau, district administrator and owner of Brauns, Deputy Victor Herzog von Ratibor. August 1876 was the bankruptcy is opened.

Chrysoprase, Bath and Spa House at Blankenburg in Thuringia Founded in June 1872 with 300,000 Thaler shares, laid at FE Schreiber Söhne in Berlin. Board of Directors: Reindeer CF Bernhardt, master builder F. Waldeyer, citizen Master Dr. Hopf and Captain (ret.) Lambrecht in Blankenburg. Promised 6°/ for the two-year construction period, interest, and later 11-12°/, dividend, but decided because the shares were not able to accommodate, already in December 1872 the solution.

Bad Liebenstein, formerly owned by the Duke of Meiningen serf, and founded June 1872 with 210,000 Thaler shares, which David Liepmann released in Berlin. In addition, approx. 111,000 Thaler mortgages. For 1874 there was 1%, for 1875 already 1½% dividend. Without stock exchange price.

Seaside resort Heiligendamm near Doberan in Mecklenburg. late foundation, which only saw the light shortly before the "crash" the world, and was baptized by the following gentlemen was raised: Louis Fonrobert, Dr. Theodor Eulenstein, Justice Counsel Felix Primker, Captain Baron Adolf von Thielman, Captain Feodor André, Captain Max von Katte,

– 403 –

Captain Otto von Kahlden, Director Heinrich Bergmann and Architect Heinrich Kayser, Member of Parliament Count Johannes von Renard and MP Prince Carl of Hohenlohe-Ingelfingen in Berlin, Director Ludwig Karrig in Schwerin. Actiencapital 1 million Thaler and 250,000 Thaler mortgages. The supervisory board also included: Ferd. Jaques, Eduard Jaques, Member of Parliament Victor Duke of Ratibor and Ludwig von Kaufmann (Jacob Landau) in Berlin. In 1878, per share 2 Thaler, 1875 – 1%, Thaler, and is the largest Part of the paper is probably still in the hands of the founders.

Seaside resort Heringsdorf near Swinoujscie. Founded February 1874, also very late, with 150,000 Thaler shares. Board: Master builder Julius Hennicke in Berlin, Dr. Hugo Delbrück and Albert Schlutow in Stettin. Without stock exchange price.

Rothenfelder Salinen- und Soolbad. Founded April 1872 with 200,000 Thaler shares. Board of directors: JM Simmersbach. Administrative Board: Albert Lohmann and L. Hanf zu Witten, Heinrich Schüchtermann in Dortmund, Mrs. Rüping in Gedern, AG Meyer in Melle, C. Henrici in Osnabrück. In the first Dividends for the financial year amounted to 5'/(,°/), in 1873 and 1874 – 0.

Saline and spa Salzungen. Founded September 1872 by the Preussische Creditanstalt (Richard Schweder) in Berlin. Pre-purchased for 830,000 Thaler and the new company transferred for 1,350,000 Thaler, thus with 520,000 Thaler surcharge strike; whereupon 1,500,000 Thaler shares were manufactured and the same January 1873 at 102!/, on the stock exchange! In the same year the course collapsed to about 25. The management Dr. H. Hoffmann took over, and as supervisory board member or “reviser The following persons served as “soren”: R. Hertel, W. Paradies, L. Paradies, J. Schwerdt, Bank Director Lübke (Mitteldeutsche Creditbank in Meiningen), M. Goldstein, Commissionsrath Ad. Hausmann, Dividends from 1873 to 1875 were: 2'5/,4, 3½ and respectively.

35/, percent.
96*

Also mentioned as founded were: Bad Kahlberg near Elbing and Saline Königsborn. The miracle doctor allegedly competed for the latter Strausberg and Fr. Grillo in Essen, while Marcus from Kamen was awarded the contract for 290,000 Thaler. Bad Kreischa got into competition, Augustusbad should be leased, potash mining and saline Kalusz closed 1874 with a loss of 780,000 guilders and entered liquidation, Alexandrinenbad at Freienwalde a. O. was sold at the end of 1876 for 15,000 Thaler fort, Freienwalder Bath and Real Estate Company schaft, by S. Heinrich Philippson and Hermann Founded by the donor with 500,000 Thaler shares, be withdrawn by the latter. Similarly It was with the inns, of which Badhotel in Konstanz declared itself insolvent, Blasewitzer Park-Hotel entered liquidation and was put up for sale was placed, while Hotel Bellevue in Dresden in 1875 – 5%, in 1876 only 3½ % Dividend. If anywhere, the stock market is society in these areas disadvantageous, and a private company is always far more profitable. In the stock hotels and spas, everything is more expensive and poorly ter. It was very interesting to observe how the baths were soon overrun by Jews were flooded, during the birth and beam tenaristocracy withdrew more and more.

Of the also very numerous

We only name transport companies here:

Baltic Lloyd in Stettin, steamship connection between the Baltic Sea and America. Founded September 1870 with 650,000 Thaler shares, which were sold in March 1872 by Heinrich Quistorp in Berlin to 2 million thalers. Shortly before, the "Ostsee-Zeitung" in Stettin and other papers describe the company as a company in the great upswing understood and very promising. Board of Directors: ordered Dr. H. Dohrn, Commercial Councillor Joh. Quistorp, C. Fraude, A. Weylandt, TR Oswald, Carl Arlt, Carl Fr.

Braun, W. Schliemann, R. Abel, C. Domcke in Stettin. 1872 and 1873 closed with large losses and the price fell On about 20 April 1876 the dissolution was decided.

Norddeutscher Lloyd in Bremen. Has existed since 1856, also increased its share capital during the period of fraud, and later suffered great losses and the pressure a senseless competition which the various steamship Lines made each other. Share capital finally 6,600,000 Thaler and 8,000,000 Thaler priorities. Supervisory Board: ordered HH Meyer in Bremen. Dividends for 1875 – 0. The price of shares has fallen enormously since 1872,

Central-Actiengesellschaft für Tauerei (Cable-Steam-Tugboat Company in Cologne. Founded December 1871 by Schaaffhausen'schen Bankverein there, with 1,200,000 Thaler Actia. Board of Directors: Th. Deichmann, Theodor Movius, Eugen Langen, Emil vom Rath and Robert Peill in Cologne, Hermann Becker in Mülheim a. Ruhr, Julius Brockhoff in Duisburg, Baron Friedrich von Holstein, Imperial German

– 406 –

Embassy Secretary in Paris. According to a newspaper article in 1876 merged with the Ruhrort-Mülheimer Dampfschleppshipping company, founded March 1872 with 700,000 Thaler shares (Supervisory Board: Geh. Commerzienrath Hugo Haniel in Ruhrort); and the mutual shares should be 660% will be credited.

Freight forwarding and Elbe shipping company, formerly Carl Fritsche zu Schönebeck. Founded December 1872 by the Magdeburg Wechsler- und Discontobank, with 180,000 Thaler Shares and 100,000 Thaler mortgages. Seems to be from a storage facility and distributed per 1874 – 5% dividend; In 1875, the aim was to “reduce” the share capital.

Furniture transport in Berlin. Founded November 1872 by Gustav Borchardt, Carl Jacob, Simon Schüler, Isidor Kadisch, Ferd. Vogts, Moritz Eduard Meyer, Albert Meyer. From a haulage business, for which they paid 5750 thalers, and The founders made the property at Köpenicker Strasse 127 a company with 250,000 Thaler shares and 100,000 Thaler. Mortgages! Albert Meyer, brother of Moritz Ed. Meyer and in business with Ferd. Vogts was appointed Director of the new company, for which he received 3000 Thaler but had little to do. May 1874 laid
He resigned from his post, became a member of the supervisory board and resigned in April whereupon he submitted a petition to the Handelsrichter turned out to be an unfortunate, misled shareholder, also the Chairman of the Supervisory Board, Gustav Borchardt, and the officiating notary of certain irregularities Equally touching is the annual report, which the co-founder Ferd. Vogts in the spring of 1875, and in to which he expressly says: "But mainly, and This is the cancer of society, is our Property too expensive." The prospect had a dividend of 15% "in safe prospect", but there were per 1873 only 2%, 1874 and 1875 – 0, after which the course rose to about 15

–

– 407 –

Only after 75,000 Thaler shares had been massacred, A dividend was again distributed for 1876 and amounted to the same 13, %/. The following also served as supervisory board members: Robert Macks, Accountant Rudolf Müller and Attorney Ewald Hecker, who recorded the statute. The State lawyer has intervened.

North German Packet Transport Company. founded in June 1869 by the freight forwarders Ed. Reinecke in Leipzig, Louis Henze and H. Vallette in Berlin, by Hermann Paderstein in Bielefeld, Ferd. Randel in Halle a. S., Hofrath Robert Kleinschmidt in Leipzig and Finanzrath Eugen Kühnemann in Berlin. Share capital 500,000 Thaler. Wanted in real Manchester-style competition to the Reichspost, but returned miserably and was liquidated in January 1871. The liquidators also included: Theodor Lassally and the inevitable Hermann Geber.

Big Berlin Horses – Railway. Like from a Complaint by the then Mayor Seydel of 13 November 1871 to the Ministry, argued about the Concession two parties. Magistratus wanted to give them to the government assessor Plewe and Dr. Martin Ebers, whereas the police headquarters certainly supported Joseph Pincuss Finally, the enemy brothers united, and there appeared. apart from them as "first illustrators": Director Gustav Dittmann, General Consul Hermann Kreismann, Dr. Georg Kurs, Senior Chancellor. Supervisory Board Members: Michael Simonsohn, Sigismund Samuel, bookseller Alexander Duncker, City Councillor Risch, Government Councillor Otto Windmüller, Moritz Hirsch. Actiencapital finally 3 million thalers. Although from professional founders, this company belongs to the few from the period of fraud that have a real needs, which is why it is making good progress. One line after another is completed, the cars are always overcrowded, and the passengers, sitting and standing, pressing together like herrings, without complaining. Dividends so far have been only moderate: 1874 – 4% and 1875 – 614%. Nevertheless, the price remains at of about 110.

LS

– 408 –

Various societies dedicated themselves to the Art, literature, sport and social Union.

German Art Institute in Berlin. Delayed foundation, which only dared to come to light in June 1873. Emil Pfeiffer sold his "Art Institute" to the new Society for 134,000 Thaler, and Arwed Römer his "Art Painting Magazine" for 86,000 Thir., whereupon the share capital was increased to 250,000 Thaler. Except for Mr Pfeiffer and Mr Römer, who The founders who formed the new board were: David Schwoeder, Louis Simon, bookseller Richard Lesser etc. On the stock exchange The shares have never been listed, but the company seems still to exist.

Borussia, oil print – painting association in Berlin. Founded in November 1871, with 150,000 Thaler shares, by Isidor Danziger, Paul Reschke and the city councilor Dr. Erich in Berlin. First illustrators include: Louis Simon, Maximilian Rasch and David Schwoeder in Berlin. Board: Paul Reschke. Soon after the constitution, the "Neue Börsenzeitung": "As one of the many smaller stock companies Companies that care less about shareholders than about profit winn the administrative clique, the "Borussia", Oil-coloured printing company in Berlin, denounced. The definitive pieces of the same have not yet been issued and The Directorate is already making itself weak in such a way that it fully paid interim certificates only offers 662/,%/." The "Directory" thus fixed its own shares, which of course also occurred in many other companies. On April 4th

– 409 –

In 1873, the Society sent out a circular which, among other things, Sentences included: "The first financial year has yielded a 10% dividend

We can already give 15% dividend per 1873.
The shares will soon be valued at 110 introduced on the stock exchange. We offer you and your recognized amounts of up to 500 thalers at par." One of the Advisory Councillor, Professor Ferd. Beller mann, resigned from his post because without his knowledge and against his will had put his name under that circular. May 1875 the dissolution was decided and co-liquidator of the previous current Director, Paul Reschke, was elected, but he will step down had to, since he had meanwhile become bankrupt. What the actual As regards the social character of the company, an act from Lindau on Lake Constance wrote a letter to the author of this book, which may be excerpted here: "In the
During the war years 1870/71, the Oil Painting Print Society sent "Borussia" Loose on his paintings here with the determination that half of the net proceeds will go to the German Disability
This patriotic idea sparked also with us, and as far as I can remember, a well-known
The amount will be transferred to the fund mentioned above.
At the beginning of 1873 I received – probably others here too – an invitation to join the club as a shareholder. It was said in the same that the shares in southern Germany, in order to
to announce that they would be given to the paricourse, on the other hand, on the Berlin Stock Exchange, 110 would be introduced, since a net profit of 15% is guaranteed for the current year
etc. The names under this invitation:
Dr. Erich, Professor Beller mann etc. had a good Sound, I took over five shares of 100 thalers each and 5% interest, paid cash and the matter was settled. Neither Billing nor interest, not even for the first year
I have since received a meaningless
Answer came to me at the beginning of 1874 to a request, since then

= AI0) ES

my letters have remained completely unanswered. Various His letters to Berlin bankers were answered, that the shares were not even introduced on the Berlin Stock Exchange and therefore no information can be given. I can hardly believe that under the guise of Patriotism was a fraudulent transaction here."
Bazar – Actien – Gesellschaft in Berlin. The well-known Fashion magazine that made its founder a millionaire and to him, in recognition of his 'patriotic services', the character "Secret Commercial Councillor" and the elevation in the nobility, was October 1871, on The bookseller Albert Hofmann was prompted to invest in a stock company. Mr. von Schäfer-Voit wanted to not founded at first, but the versatile and highly industrial publisher of the "Kladderadatsch" knew him to reason in a truly ingenious way. After the amicable negotiations failed, announced Mr Hofman suddenly sees a competitor's paper under the seductive Title "The Elegant World", and engaged the entire Editorial and expedition staff of the "Bazar", from the technical chief editor and the fiction-poetic Editor-in-chief down to the youngest errand boy. As Mr. von Schäfer-Voit on a rainy autumn morning awoke, he found himself abandoned by all his faithful, and had to, for better or worse, face his small, but in terms of ingenuity, they faced a very great opponent. "The elegant Welt", of which a few issues had been published in the meantime, went back in, the "Bazar" gathered around itself the old employees and became the property of the founders. The statute names Julius Schiff, Julius Weissenburger, Oscar Hainauer, Hermann Herz, Leopold Ullstein, Paul Markwald, Commercial Councillors Moritz Gerson and Wilhelm Herz, Deputy City Councillor Adolf Hagen and bookseller Albert Hofmann in Berlin etc. Mr. von Schäfer-Voit received a colossal price – 400,000 to 500,000 thalers, as says; but the founders transferred the "Bazaar" to the new Company for 850,000 thalers, about twice as much. Nevertheless, the shares, which initially passed through the hands several consortia, about 110 went public and were driven until about 140. Eduard von Hartmann, the Actien-Philosopher, made for this foundation in a feuilleton the "National-Zeitung" (see p. 150) still has special advertising, by saying: "Think, for example, of the fashion magazine 'Bazar', which was recently sold by a stock company for the sum of 850,000 thalers. This sum is not all in relation to the real capital value of the company and thus appears to be completely dizzy; but if you this payment as the annuity purchase of an annual net profit of about 160,000 Thaler, it appears very low." – Although so far, apart from high royalties for Supervisory Board, Management Board and officials, in dividends 10, 10½, 10.8%; and 8 ½% respectively, the course is but dropped to about 90. And with full justification. The actual object, with the enormous price of 850,000 Thaler, consists of the company, and this has but only a very relative value. If the subscriber number decreases, and naturally it must decrease; when a competitor sheet appears and there already exist Papers that give the "Bazar" a very threatening Concurrence make – the value also disappears, and it can completely disappear. Mr. Albert Hofmann, who Director of society and as such a nice pocket money, the matter also seems problematic to keep; because in the summer of 1876 he requested the reduction Declaring the security he paid in bazaar shares, from 10,000 Thaler to 10,000 Marks! If that doesn't mean anything, have interpreted?

– 41 –

– 42 –

German Booksellers Bank in Berlin. Founded February 1872 by Robert Baumann, Friedrich Rennemann and Rudolf Mosse in Berlin, the bookseller Wilhelm Moeser sen. and Wilhelm Moeser jun., Paul Parey and Albert Cohn (A. Ascher & Co.) in Berlin, Friedrich Luckhardt and Wilhelm French (Joh. Fr. Hartknoch) in Leipzig, the deputy Dr. Carl Braun (Wiesbaden) and the former MP Dr. Julius Faucher in Berlin. The latter two wanted the company, partly with capital, partly with their material knowledgeable advisory board to assist you." When the foundation The "Neue Börsenzeitung" also named the Bookseller Carl Rümpler in Hanover. The bank was supposed to be a Credit Institute for the German Book Trade, with the operation all bookselling and related business sectors. In particular, the aim was: 1) Centralisation of the Commission and credit business; 2) operation of all bookselling and related business branches; 3) Establishment of joint-stock companies of a similar nature; 4) Purchase of relevant establishments; 5) Participation in other companies of this Industry. A fabulously great program, the implementation of which, the share capital of only 1 million thalers hardly suffices. However, even before the opening of the business has already led to a schism. The Supervisory Board dismissed the two directors Luckhardt and French, and they declared publicly that 'they were only rejected because because they were "for good reasons against the Purchase of the company A. Ascher & Co. Protest lodged" This enabled the great booksellers' bank to reach its End, fortunately without offending the audience; But even the attempt to set up such a company is punishable.

West Club in Berlin. Built December 1872 by Salomon Lachmann, Adolf Salomon, William Schönlanke, Julius Jacoby, Geh. Admiralty Counsel Ernst Gäbler etc. Characteristic of the capital of the German Empire is that this club, which the society of the most distinguished quarter of the city before the Potsdamer and Anhalter Thore should unite in the main cause was brought into being by Jews and founders.

– 413 –

Tattersall-Actien-Gesellschaft in Berlin. Concessioned in 1868.

Administrative Board: MP Count Johannes von Renard, MP von Bethmann-Hollweg on Runowo, Count of Lebndorf-Steinort etc.

Union Stud Hoppegarten in Berlin. Founded May 1870 by the deputies Victor, Duke of Ratibor and Count of Renard, by Wilhelm Herz and Adolf Abel in Berlin. Fe- In bruary 1875 the dissolution was decided.

Berlin Riding Institute in Berlin. Founded December 1872 by Felix Meyer, Hans von Adelson, Oscar Bennewitz, Samuel Heinrich Ellon, Justice Counsellor Hermann Riem, Government Assessor George Magnus, manor owner Dr. Emil Eschwe, James Saloshin etc. Castle 1873/74 with about 10,000 Thaler lust, and was transferred in October 1875 to the previous operations director leased.

The last four companies were merely private foundations, and their shares are never publicly It is just interesting to see how high nobility and high finance join hands, as the stock market also does in noble passions. The so-called "Millionaire Club" in Berlin, where in the fraudulent period only millionaires accepted and mere five hundred thousand thaler men harshly were rejected, often saw counts as guests and dukes with them, and vice versa, in the noble casinos also rich stockbrokers and Semites. The races at Hoppegarten included

- 414 -

Baron von Oppenheim and Lord von Oppenfeld of the Matadors, and also the great founder RA Seelig has won several prizes here. The same kept a valuable stable, has the same but after the crash it was abolished again. The avenue in the Thiergarten, which leads to the Victory Monument, was then popularly known as "Founders' Alley", because Here the founders drove in carriages with rubber wheels, here they trotted, more to others than to their own pleasure, on the noblest horses. The stock exchange on horseback, the Old Testament on horseback - what a wonderful sight! And not infrequently An accident happened. One of the most violent Founder fell with the horse and was killed dragged, in front of his wife, who

a spring morning on a ride slid.

To provide Berliners with fresh sea fish every day
Strausberg founded, as he wrote in his Memoirs told, in connection with Ferdinand Jaques in Berlin, Commerzienrath Albert Cohen in Hanover,
the MP, manor owner EF Adickes on Heuhausen, Consul F. Lentz in Geestemünde and others.
the Weser fishing company in Bremerhaven

– 45 –

on 300,000 Thaler shares. A no less laudable
The Emden herring fishery pursued a similar purpose, founded in April 1872 with 100,000 Thaler shares, of the representative Dr. Georg von Bunsen in Berlin, Bernhard Brons in Emden and W. van Freeden in Hamburg. Unfortunately, both companies are The audience did not benefit from it. Although in 1875
the German sea coast so many herrings caught that large quantities were spoiled there because the necessary salt was missing, the price was Berlin is not cheaper, and anyway fish in has become increasingly expensive in recent years – thanks the government, which in 1874, already during the crisis, nor did the railway freight rates increase, thanks to the usurious middlemen, which in particular Needs of the little man by hundreds
Percent more expensive, and thanks also to the Berlin
Police, which in favour of the shopkeepers and hawkers,
the sale of herring in the river barges
bot. Everything goes to Manchester-principles!
We also note:

Berliner Molkerei. Founded in April 1872 by Ritter-landowner Dr. Max Bauer, Commercial Councillor Meyer Cohn, Julius Alexander, Justice Counsels Gustav Wolff and JJ Geppert, Dr. Otto Huebner, Dr. Wilhelm Abegg, Beer Director Robert

– 46 –

Rhens etc. share capital 200,000 thalers, for which according to the newspapers, 470 dairy cows were to be placed,
so that each cow cost the shareholders about 425 thalers.
"Neue Börsenzeitung" also commented: "There are many Joint-stock companies that raise as many dairy cows, than they have shareholders." In April 1876, the cows were Slaughtered in silence, and the beautiful stables for rent "For shareholders?" asked the "Allgemeine
